Teams Play In Junior High Tournament

On Thursday of last week, the Silverton Junior High Owls played Phillips Junior High in a tournament at Claude. The Owls were defeated in overtime by a score of 29-24. The game was close up to the final buzzer as Wayne Henderson took a jump shot at the buzzer that put the game into overtime.

"In the overtime period, it was costly turnovers that constantly kept us from putting the game out of reach," said Coach Bob Loy. "On numerous occasions we had the opportunity to win the game, but the inconsistency of our offense and defense played a major factor in this contest."

Saturday, the Owls played Claude and this was the same type of game the boys have been playing all year. If the fans had left early they would have missed an exciting finish. This year's Junior High Owls are determined to play every game to the last second. The game was a see-saw battle back and forth and with eight seconds showing on the clock and Claude in possession, Kirk Couch and Wayne Henderson teamed up and stole the ball. It finally ended up in Wayne's hands and he raced half of the court for the lay-up that put the Owls ahead 26-25 as the buzzer sounded on the inbounds play.

In Thursday's game, the leading scorers were Bradley Brunson with nine followed by Wayne Henderson's eight. An overall hustle by Langdon Reagan was evidenced as he was all over the floor, being knocked down, bouncing back from these knocks and carrying on.

Saturday, Bradley Brunson's timely baskets continued to keep the Owls in the game, along with the play of some of the sixth graders, namely Casey Frizzell and Wil Bomar.

The Junior High Owls travel to Ralls on Monday, December 8, for a game beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Computers And Surgeons Create New Hip

Replacing hips crippled by arthritis with artificial implants is one of the most successful operations in medicine today. Each year approximately 150 thousand people in the United States receive new hips and report complete relief from the severe pain caused by arthritis prior to the surgery. In addition, a substantial improvement in mobility is reported.

Now, surgeons are using a new implant that will provide important advantages not previously possible. Called the Precision Hip System this new implant was created by a team of leading surgeons who conducted an unprecedented investigation into how the modern hip implant could be improved. Using computer models and detailed anatomical studies, the surgeons focused on strengthening the bond between the implant and the cement used to serve as a buffer between the implant and the bone.

Dr. Roger Levy M.D., Clinical Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery at Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York City, a member of the Precision Hip System design team said, "We are consistently seeing a uniform bond between the implant and the bone which gives the patient an excellent prognosis for long term durability and function."

Check Safety To Make The Holidays Bright

- Before hanging strings of lights, spread them on the floor and check for frayed or bare wires, cracked insulation, loose connections, and damaged plugs or light sockets.
- Check extension cords for wear or damage and don't run them across walking areas.
- Test lights before putting them on the tree. Unplug them before making repairs or replacing bulbs.
- Overloading circuits with too many lights can cause fire. Follow manufacturer's instructions about the number of lights allowed on one circuit.
- Choose a fresh, green tree, trim its base and keep it in plenty of water. If the needles are brown and break off easily, it could be a fire risk.
- If you buy an artificial tree, make sure it has been tested for flammability by Underwriters Laboratories (UL).
- Place your tree away from the fireplace or other heat sources and out of the traffic pattern.
- Never string lights on a metallic tree. Light strings with damaged insulation can electrically charge a metallic tree. Instead, shine unattached colored floodlights or spotlights on the tree.
- Always turn off lights before leaving home or going to bed. You'll save money and be safer, too.
- Never use lighted candles on a tree or near evergreens. And don't burn evergreens in the fireplace.
- Do not use inside lights on the outside. All outside lighting equipment, including lights, cords and plugs, should be waterproof and made for outdoor use. Also, hang sockets downward and don't leave a socket empty.
- When hanging lights on the rooftop or in tall trees outdoors, stay clear of electrical lines. Make sure you or your decorations don't come in contact with them.
- Should you receive a CB radio or television this Christmas, let a qualified serviceman install the CB base unit or television antenna for you. This delicate job is best left to the professionals.
- Be sure electrical toys are tested for safety. Look for the UL mark.

Check Heat Tapes Around Pipes To Avoid Home Fire

If you use electric heat tapes to protect exposed pipes from freezing, government safety experts ask you to check the tapes now for possible fire hazards.

Citing some 500 house fires believed to have been caused by heat tapes over a six-year period, the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission said tapes should be carefully inspected annually for cracked, baked-out, deteriorated insulation or bare wires that could cause a fire. Defective tapes should be replaced immediately. Always unplug the heat tape prior to inspection to avoid a shock hazard.

Heat tapes are routinely used in crawl spaces and in the substructure of beach homes, mountain cabins, cottages, mobile homes and similar dwellings to prevent exposed water and drain pipes from freezing. Some heat tapes are left in place the year-round and are activated by a thermostat when the temperature approaches 32 degrees. In other cases, homeowners plug in the tapes at the start of the heating season and unplug them in the spring.

Heat tapes have also triggered fires because they were improperly installed, the agency said. Some homeowners disregard label instructions and lap the tape over itself along the pipe in the belief that better protection will result. As CPSC pointed out, heat tape manufacturers specifically warn against overwrapping the tape around pipes.

Consumers should know the kind of pipe to be protected (copper, plastic, galvanized steel, etc.), also pipe diameter and length, when shopping for new or replacement heat tapes. Make sure the heat tape is approved for use on the pipe found in the home.

CPSC said tapes should never be wrapped around the thermal insulation on a pipe or used near a flammable object. Inspect existing heat tapes to make sure no such fire hazards exist in the home.

Pointers For Parents

It's more than nickel and dime psychology; teaching children the importance of giving and sharing is one way parents may ring in a happy holiday season.

Soon, feelings of goodwill and fellowship will fill the air. What better time to introduce children to the concepts of giving and sharing? Giving makes children more aware of the needs of others and promotes a positive self image.

Children should be encouraged to earn their own holiday spending money, say the experts. Dr. Lawrence Balter, noted child psychologist, author and radio and TV personality, cautions a distinction should be made between chores and jobs. "We all have chores to perform — cleaning our rooms, helping with the dishes, walking the dog. Children should not be paid to fulfill their obligations as members of a household.

"However, if there are jobs parents ordinarily would pay someone else to do, such as shovelling snow or washing the car, then it's appropriate to pay the child to do them," Dr. Balter concludes. This way, children gain the freedom to buy little things—candy canes or ornaments—which makes them feel more a part of the holiday season.

For economically disadvantaged children, the holidays can be particularly stressful. They don't have money to buy gifts for family and friends. Projects, such as Avon's "Christmas is for Children," are helping these kids develop a sense of self esteem by giving them opportunities to "earn" holiday gifts to give to loved ones at Christmastime.

Community service projects give children a chance to earn gifts for their loved ones — many feel it's part of the true meaning of the holidays.

Five thousand children in the nationwide Avon program participate in community service projects, such as cleaning neighborhood parks and running errands for senior citizens. For their efforts, the children receive holiday gift certificates which they redeem at pre-Christmas parties held for them by Avon. There, they select from over 50,000 gift items donated by the company, which they in turn can give to family and friends.

FARM BILL ATTACKING EROSION

As part of the 1985 farm bill, Congress included provisions that call for a soil and water conservation plan on farms with highly erodible soils. This plan will be required, by 1990, before any farm program benefits are made available to the farmer.

Under the guidelines handed down from Washington, D.C., nearly 57 percent of the total land in Briscoe County is considered as "Highly Erodible". Most of this land is located below the caprock. A farmer can go by the SCS office to see if his farm contains highly erodible soils. According to 1985 farm program regulations, fields that are "predominately highly erodible" will need a conservation plan to remain eligible for payments, loans and other farm program benefits. If a field has at least 50 acres of highly erodible soils, or if at least 1/3 of the field is highly erodible soil, the field must have a conservation plan to control erosion.

According to the farm program requirements, the plan must be in effect and practices started by 1990. All needed practices must be installed by 1995.

SCS is making a special effort to help farmers work out a conservation plan, because if they don't have one by 1990 on their Highly Erodible Land, they could be cut off from price supports, disaster payments, and FmHA Loans.

One conservation measure available to farmers is the Conservation Reserve Program. Rumors are that a signup will be held after the first of the year, in January or February. Since eligibility requirements may change, we suggest you continue to check with SCS for information on land eligibility.

Christmas Reverie

Christmas—and we crunch along the rutted lane to the house where Grandpa waits, white hair shining in the candlelight, to throw open the door before the biggest tree a child has ever seen.

Christmas—and I cry as I unpack the cardboard manger scene I made as a child, that Mother had set up every year 'till now.

Christmas—and our little girl kneels tenderly beside a homemade manger. Two brothers flank her, their shepherd hats askew, as Daddy reads by firelight, "And there were in the same country shepherds..."

Christmas—and in a world that knows war, bitterness, and pain, I praise God for the Babe who "grew in grace" and demonstrated perfect Love.

Christmas—and candlelight gleams on the altar of your church and mine as we thank God for the birthday of a King.

Cards of Thanks

Dear Friends, Neighbors and Family,

We would like to thank you for the visits, cards, food, calls and for each prayer. It is nice to have people who care.

Thanks Again
Mike and Estella Juarez and Family

We wish to thank each and everyone for their many acts of kindness and thoughtfulness in behalf of our loved one, Big Mama, before and after her passing.

The food taken to the church and to the home was appreciated very much as were all the beautiful cards, flowers, visits, the memorial donations to the Children's Homes, Cemetery Fund, Ambulance Service, to the Church and County Library Fund in her memory and for the very prompt answer to our call for the ambulance and EMTs, for each volunteer who came and especially for Mary Ann, Lynn, James and Roland who rode in the ambulance with her.

The love shown to us at this sad time is appreciated very much.

The family of Stella Davis

MY LOVING RESPONSE:

I only wish that I could command words to express my love and appreciation for the many, many cards that I have received bearing your messages of love and concern at the loss of my brother Jimmie. I wish all of you could have known him. He was a christian gentleman in every sense of the title. He spent many years as a gospel minister, and has now gone to the place of rest, that he had been telling us about for so long.

My response is simply spoken, I love and appreciate all of you deeply.

May our Heavenly Father surround you with richest blessings, and tender care.

Your Friend to the end
Earl I. Cantwell

We would like to thank everyone for the food, cards and phone calls while I was in the hospital and since I have been home.

Gwan and Mary Alice

Thank you for every act of kindness and concern during the loss of our brother.

May God bless each of you.
Freeman and Jackie Tate

We wish to express our appreciation and thanks for the cards, visits, phone calls and prayers in our behalf during our recent stay in the hospital and since we have been home.

Thanks to those that came to be with Ruby during the surgery.

May God bless you all, as he has blessed us.
