SUMMERTIME IS A SPECIAL TIME--And lots of the local area youth take advantage of the time out of school and hot days to visit the swimming pool to the south of Muleshoe High School. Each afternoon, the youth while away the hours sunning, or diving, such as this young man pictured just after he left the 'high' diving board at the pool. Swimming lessons get underway tomorrow, Monday, at the Muleshoe City Pool.

Muleshoe AAU Girls Teams Well Represented In Clovis

Muleshoe has apparently taken another 'first' - and a good first at that. During the recent AAU Girls' Basketball Tournament in Clovis, Muleshoe led the list with nine teams, and 95 girls participating. Muleshoe marked up the largest participation in the tournament. Clovis, the host city, had five or six teams in the same tournament, according to Coach Jerry Johnson, who helped coordinate the tourney, as well as act as coach.

Muleshoe's 12 and under will have one team who will participate in the National AAU Basketball Tournament in July. The team will leave for Roanoke, VA, around July 15, with the first games to get underway on July 18.

The team from the Muleshoe District will be the South Plains Dusters, composed of South Plains All Stars and coached by Larry Gregory.

Team members include Carrie Ann Kindle, Three Way; Cynthia Feagley and Trudi Tye, both of Kress; Jonalle Stockett, Happy; Janay Johnson, Nazareth; Amy Chadwick and Denise Gonzales, both of Texico, and Misty Stewart, Becky Barnes and Amy Murry, all of Farwell.

This team finished first in the Clovis Tournament for the 12 and under age group.

In sixth place in the tournament was the team, Muleshoe Red Rage, who actually tied for that position. They were coached by Jerry and Roxie Johnson.

Team members included Tiffany Angeley, Latavia Copley, Jody Fields, Jill Foster, Erin Kelly, Chanda Kemp, Tory Matthews, Jill Noble, Burnley Riley and Andy Williams, all of Muleshoe; Nichole Maxfield, Sudan; and Holly Morris, Lazbuddie.

Also in the 12 year and under division, was the team coached by Roy Donaldson, the Muleshoe Blue, who tied for eighth place. Team members were D'Anne Box, Cynthia Chavez, Kathy Contreras, Becky Donaldson, Laurie Estrada, Patricia Finch, Berta Muyschondt, Sally Smith, Natalie Stout and Shea Wilbanks.

Muleshoe players with the West-Tex Stars, who placed second in the 14 and under division, included Heather Hutton, Amy Harrison and Wendy Green. Their coach was Larry Gregory.

Michelle Stout, Michelle Cox and Julie Crittenden were Muleshoe players for the Muleshoe

Westworld Fulfilling Hospital Commitment

During a telephone conversation Tuesday night with Michael D. Dunn, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Westworld Community Healthcare, Inc. he announced that the Board of Directors has elected to strategically reposition Westworld.

Dunn said Peter C. Donald, formerly President and Chief Operating Officer, has assumed the new position of Vice Chairman and Chief Development Officer. Dunn has also accepted the additional responsibility of president of the company.

Dunn said, "in this new position, Pete will be able to focus all his attention to the development of new rural healthcare opportunities."

Reporting to Donald will be Westworld Community Healthplans, Inc., the Company's rural HMO subsidiary, Westworld Healthcare Resources, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary which provided non-hospital based medical services in rural communities other than those in which the parent company operates complete rural healthcare systems, and a team which Dunn said will address the acquisitions and dispositions of new and existing rural healthcare systems.

The CEO said all the reorganization to reposition Westworld will help in its continuing efforts to serve the healthcare needs of rural America.

Dunn explained to The Journal, "with this revised organization, we can more effectively address new opportunities and at the same time, streamline the operation of our existing locations."

Dunn reminded that when they leased West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe, Westworld Community Healthcare, Inc. made a commitment to the people of Muleshoe and this area, to upgrade and continue to operate the local hospital.

Westworld has made a large investment to date in their continuing effort to upgrade the local hospital, and Dunn said they are continuing to fulfill the commitments made when they took over the local hospital. He cited the new ambulance building, the acquisition and remodeling of the former First Christian Church building, and currently the remodeling of the Muleshoe Nursing Home, along with the construction of a new dining room and offices for the nursing home.

Summer School Will Be Held

July 7-August 15

Superintendent H. John Fuller, announces that summer school for students in grades K-8, who registered before regular school dismissed, will begin July 7 and end August 15.

Classes will be held in the high school building, since construction is underway in the Dillman and Mary DeShazo elementary schools.

Students are eligible (1) if they live in the Muleshoe ISD, (2) if they did not meet state requirements the past school year (3) if they were recommended by their teacher, or (4) if parents signed a request.

Muleshoe ISD students who did not meet state requirements will be selected first, said the superintendent, students recommended by their teachers will be second, and if classes are not filled, parent requests will be honored.

"The six weeks summer school offers a great opportunity for students to correct deficiencies or to strengthen skills in language arts/math," says Fuller.

If you have questions relative to summer school, please call Elizabeth Watson, at 272-3325.

CofC Officers Asking More Project Support

More than 30 people struggled out of bed in time to attend a 7 a.m. breakfast at the Bailey County Civic Center on Thursday morning, Charles Moraw, president of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, presided over the CofC sponsored membership breakfast.

Moraw explained to the group that the meeting had been called to get input from the members of the Chamber of Commerce on solving problems, on re-activating a Business Activities Committee; to explain the activities of the Ambassadors-Ambassadors and discuss the upcoming Fourth of July celebration.

Shoplifting was discussed along with methods to combat such things. One of the CofC members reported that according to supervisors in the business he manages, 97 percent of shoplifting in their stores involve store employees; and that in recent months from 55 stores, more than 300 employees had been replaced for shoplifting.

Retired businessman Irvin St. Clair offered his observations on shoplifting and explained some of his own methods of combating shoplifting while he operated five stores in Muleshoe and the area.

He commented, "Every retailer in town is doing everything he can to make his business go."

"Instead of asking the retailer, you need to go to the customer and ask him why he shops out of town," emphasized St. Clair.

"If a town is sick, what is the cause? As for coming to a meeting, you have to have some solutions from the customer, you have to have something to talk about," concluded St. Clair. Muleshoe CofC manager Toni Eagle stressed that input is needed from the Chamber of Commerce managers, as well as volunteers to help conduct projects which would benefit all businesses in the city.

"We're cutting our own throats in Muleshoe," said Mrs. Eagle. "Anyone can pay dues, but we need people willing to help with the work to be done."

And the rains came! Friday night, local law enforcement officers and weather spotters from the Muleshoe Fire Department kept a watch on heavy clouds that moved into the Muleshoe area bringing several reports of funnels to the west and northwest of the city.

Several reports of funnels heralded the approach of a heavy cloud that slammed into the area with high wind, sand, and for a time, horizontal rain.

The deluge quickly turned city streets into mini-rivers, as the water fell to fast to be absorbed, and filled playa lakes on the outskirts of the city, and in the city park.

To the west, Marshall 'Catfish' Williams, at Progress, reported 1.7 inches of rain, no hail, and a lot of wind.

To the northeast, in the Y-L community, Mrs. Roy Atchison said they had received one and one half inches of rain on their cotton and maize that had just emerged from the ground after replanting following hailstorms a couple of weeks ago in that area.

Foster Fertilizer some three miles east of Lazbuddie said they received .9 at the fertilizer plant, with varying amounts of .4 to .9 being reported in the community for Friday night.

National Weather Service said unstable conditions would continue to produce rain throughout the weekend, with a slow drying process.

More rain had been predicted for Saturday night, and on Sunday afternoon and evening, before giving way to drier conditions to start out the week.

Especially hard hit was the Y-L community, where virtually all cotton crops were wiped out in a devastating hailstorm. Another area that lost the cotton crop was just to the west of Lazbuddie to near Clay's Corner.

Intermittent rains have been just enough to keep farmers out of their fields, and has halted the wheat harvest. Soggy fields have kept farmers from replanting where crops have been lost in some areas, and in other areas, the ground dried quickly, causing a reverse problem for dryland farmers who need more

Class Of 1976

10-Year Reunion Scheduled July 5

Muleshoe High School's Class of 1976 will have their 10-year reunion on Saturday, July 5.

Beginning at 11 a.m., a picnic lunch will be hosted in the new city park. All class members are urged to bring their family, and a lunch to the park, around the playground area, so everyone can meet the families.

This will conclude around 1 p.m. and that evening, beginning at 7, until 9 p.m., there will be a dinner at the Muleshoe Catholic Center. Following the dinner, KMUL will provide music for a dance.

The class of '76 would like to encourage any guest to attend the dance. You would enjoy visiting the class members. There will be a small fee for guests at the door.

Anyone who attended this class, and has not received an invitation is asked to contact Jana St. Clair at 277-3180.

July 4th Cards

At CofC Office

"The Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture has 'Fourth of July' cards for sale," says Toni Eagle, manager. She said the cards were designed and printed in Muleshoe and are 5x7 in. with a place inside for your message.

On front of the card is the caption, 'Land of the Free and Home of the Brave.' "The card is truly a Muleshoe product and the sender will show their pride in our town," added Mrs. Eagle.

Individual cards sell for 75 cents each and groups sell for less. Go by the Chamber office and pick up cards to send your friends and family, concluded the CofC manager.

Trina Wilson, director of nurses of West Plains Medical Center, ended her four year tenure at the hospital on a high note following the successful completion of the yearly Medicare Survey.

Mrs. Wilson, who moved to Muleshoe in 1982 from Brownfield to fill the position which had been vacated by Mattie Hicks, has submitted her resignation, effective July 16.

Mrs. Wilson said she plans to 'work on the floor' of a hospital for awhile, in other than a supervisory position, in order to spend more time with her children.

With the weather refusing to cooperate during this week, aerial spraying for mosquitoes could not be conducted, so City Manager Dave Marr said it has tentatively been rescheduled for Tuesday morning.

Marr said if weather conditions are not right, it will be conducted on the first day possible after that time.

Another Bailey County 4-H Youth attending the state 4-H Roundup and participating in "Companion Animal," was Carol Copley.

Carol Copley placed seventh in state competition, according to the Bailey County Extension office.

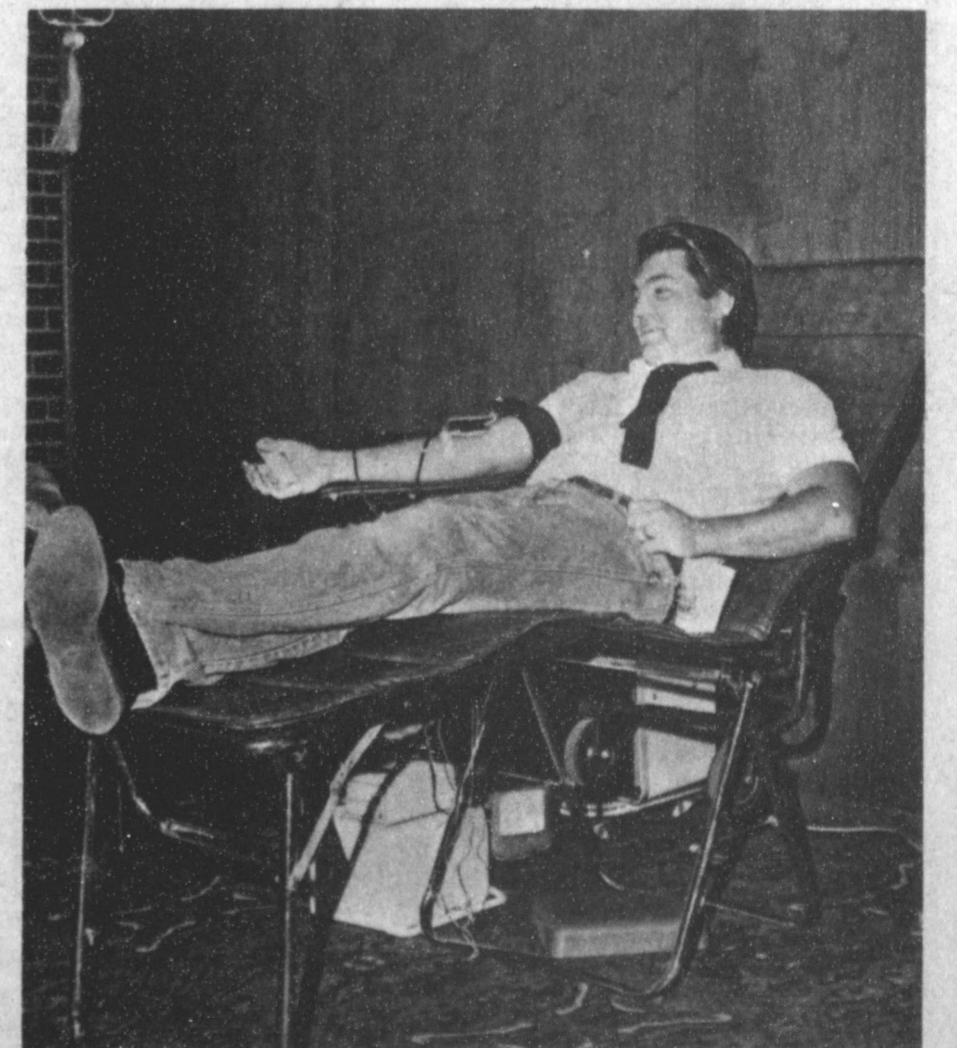

Visiting in Muleshoe for a month is RM/2 Blas Alvarado Jr., who is stationed at the Naval Air Station at Brunswick, ME.

Alvarado brought with him Jason Desjardins from Bath, ME. Alvarado works with the 'Big Brother, Big Sister' organization and Jason has been his Little Brother for the past three years.

Rick Copp, vo ag instructor at the Lazbuddie High School, said a rabies clinic will be held in the ag shop at the school from 2-5 p.m. on Thursday, June 26.

Rabies shots will be $6; distemper, $14, parvo, $7.50, or all shots for $27.50.

Protect Children

Almost daily one reads of the accidental death of little children. Many could have been saved by more careful parental supervision.

Too often parents' irresponsibility is to blame for fatal consequences. Few have the heart to say anything at a time of grief following the tragedy.

Children burn themselves up, fall from windows, drown, are hit by cars when playing by the road or in it, etc. How often does one see tiny tots playing beside a highway? What can parents who allow them to do so expect?

Low Truck Rate Ordered By Commission

The Railroad Commission has ordered Texas intrastate trucking firms to lower transportation rates because of recent declines in fuel costs, a move which is expected to save the state's shipping and consuming public more than $23 million a year.

Commission Chairman James E. (Jim) Nugent said the reduction could be achieved through a series of Commission orders reducing each major statewide truck rate tariff.

"Transportation rates are established based upon actual expenses of the carriers plus a small profit margin," Nugent said. "When these expenses -- fuel being one of the largest -- are reduced, shippers and consumers are entitled to have that reduction passed through to them."

"A few years ago when fuel costs were increasing rapidly, the Commission permitted trucking firms to recover such increases in the rates they charged," Nugent added. "It's only fair to the shipping and consuming public that rates be reduced just as fast when fuel costs decline."

expenses will be lowered as much as 5.85 percent to reflect reduced fuel costs.

Other tariffs have been reduced by lowering the fuel surcharge in the rates based on miles traveled when hauling a shipment.

Emphasis On Nutrition At Food Show

When teenagers get together, soda, chips and candy are usually the order of the day. But not at the state 4-H food show, where the emphasis is on nutrition.

With dishes such as "King Ranch Casserole" and "Spinach Strudel," 56 youngsters showed off their culinary skills and knowledge of nutrition in the June 10 event held at Texas A&M University.

They worked feverishly in local high school kitchens or laboratory kitchens at Texas A&M to prepare their foods and make them look good enough to appear on the cover of a gourmet magazine -- all within a four hour time limit.

Then each contestant stood by as the judges tasted the dish and asked some tough questions about the nutrient content of the food and how it would fit into a daily menu plan for a balanced diet.

"At a time when research studies show that the nutritional status of many children and teenagers isn't good, the 4-H food and nutrition program, which involves 44,000 youngsters statewide, is a step in the right direction," said Marilyn Haggard, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist, and the food show coordinator.

She pointed out that the average teenager's diet is often deficient in calcium and iron and too high in fat and sodium.

"How these teenagers learn to eat today will affect their weight and their health the rest of their lives," she added.

The 4-H'ers competing in the state food show have won county and district competitions to get here," said 4-H specialist Gayle Hall, "and they're participating in just one part of the 4-H food and nutrition project."

She explained that the program includes three levels of lessons on nutrition, which 4-Hers can begin at age 9 by studying the basic food groups. By 16 or 17, they're studying special diets and careers in all aspects of the food industry.

The 4-Hers choose from a variety of competitive and non-competitive activities, including food shows, record books and food demonstrations, said Hall.

But the state food show, which has been held annually for the past 25 years, is the highlight of the program.

For the 4-Hers competing in College Station it was a big event, as each contestant displayed his or her dish and menu plan for parents, onlookers and other 4-Hers to admire before the announcement of awards.

First place winners were Kelli LaBaume of Floyd County in the main dish category; Connie Cain of Lamb County in the breads and cereals division; Jill Jennings of Haskell County in the fruits and vegetables category; and in the nutritious snacks and dessert category, Donna Smith of Lamb County.

Milton Hill, president of Morrison Milling Co., sponsors of the event, presented a scholarship to each winner.

Library News

by Anne Camp

The third week of the "CELEBRATE TEXAS" Summer Reading Club at the library was hi-lited by a visit Thurs. morning of a Honest to Goodness, Real Live, Working Cowboy, Dean Butler, along with his horse, "Poco" and assisted by his cowpoke son, Nathan; told the 55 kids about a Cowboy and his gear, and answered questions the children asked.

They all seemed to enjoy his presentation, and getting acquainted with his beautiful red horse. He was presented a Sesquicentennial Coffee Mug in appreciation.

The boys and girls then came inside for the Texas and U.S. pledge to the flags. They were told about brands, and how in the early days, rustlers stole cattle and covered up the brands, and given an example.

They were also given a new puzzle "for points" to work before next week. Last weeks puzzle had a hidden message and it was "Remember the Alamo". There were many who got a point for that one.

This weeks' song was "Don't Fence Me In," and they have a chance at a prize for guessing how many beans in the jar.

Also two short Walt Disney movies were shown. There are now 155 kids participating and working for points for various awards. Deadline for turning in lists of books read is June 27th with Recognition and Award day being July 3...which will conclude this years Club program.

Two new sponsors this week are Anthonys and the Swimming Pool, and appreciation goes to all of the sponsors.

White Wing Dove Hunt Is Approved

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials are proposing to reinstate the special four-day white-winged dove season this September - because of increasing whitewing populations in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Last year's whitewing season was cancelled by the Parks and Wildlife Commission after surveys indicated the December 1983 freeze severely reduced nesting habitat in the Valley.

The commission will adopt hunting seasons and bag limits for doves, teal, rails and gallinules on July 24. No changes are proposed in dove hunting zone boundaries for 1986-87.

Proposed whitewing season dates for the Special White-winged Dove Area are Sept. 6-7 and 13-14. The proposed bag limit is 10 white-winged, mourning and white-tipped doves, not to include more than two mourning and two white-tipped doves. As in previous seasons, shooting hours will be noon to sunset.

Proposed regulations for the mourning dove season call for the season in the North Zone to be Sept. 1-Nov. 9; the Central Zone would Sept. 1-Oct. 30, 1986, and Jan. 3-12, 1987; the South Zone season would be Sept. 20-Nov. 18, 1986 and (Sept. 20-Nov. 14 in the Special White-winged Dove Area), and Jan. 3-12, 1987. Mourning dove shooting hours will be 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset.

The bag limit is proposed to be 12 doves per day, not to include more than two white-winged doves and two white-tipped doves.

Ron George, dove program leader for the TPWD, said surveys during May indicate approximately 472,000 white-wings were nesting in the Valley. "This represents a 31 percent increase over last year and is only 3.8 percent below the 10 year average," George said.

George added if good production of young birds continues through June and July, he anticipates a complete recovery of Valley whitewing populations from the effects of the 1983 freeze by this fall.

George also encouraged Valley area farmers to leave grain stubble unplowed until after the season to provide whitewing food.

The department also is proposing to move six days of the mourning dove winter season in the South Zone to the fall season. This change would result in a 60-day fall season (54 days in the special white-winged dove area) and a 10-day winter season for the South Zone. George said this would permit additional dove hunting opportunities in conjunction with the early portion of the quail season.

Seasons and bag limits for teal, rails and gallinules are proposed to remain basically the same as last year. The teal season statewide would be Sept. 13-21; bag limit would be four blue-winged, green-winged or cinnamon teal in the aggregate per day; shooting hours sunrise to sunset; the season for rails and gallinules would be Sept. 1-Nov. 9, with shooting hours from 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset.

The daily bag limit on king and clapper rails would be 15 in the aggregate; the limit on sora and Virginia rails would be 25 in the aggregate (25 in possession); the bag limit for purple and common gallinules would be 15 in the aggregate.

Except for sora and Virginia rails, possession limits for all early-season migratory game birds are twice the legal daily bag limit.

Persons interested in commenting on the proposals may contact George at TPWD headquarters, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744.

"Plans for the Fourth of July Celebration are presently in full swing with lots of activities scheduled for the weekend," according to Toni Eagle, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

Muleshoe classes of 1950 through 1960 are planning class reunions, with several other classes participating. Classes of 1966 and 1976 are also holding reunions. These classes are planning to be in the parade in cars from their graduation year and wearing the style clothing of the year. The weekend should see hundreds of past Muleshoe graduates visiting in town.

Muleshoe Pioneers will hold their annual meeting at 2 p.m. in the meeting room of the Civic Center. This year, the pioneers will be entertained by the Larry Buchanan Band from Portales. The group always enjoys several contests, such as the oldest pioneer, costume and others.

moisture in order to replant their cotton.

In the city of Muleshoe, .9 was recorded in rain that started falling around 7 a.m. on Wednesday morning. By the time the rain had stopped some two and a half hours later, the streets were mini-rivers as water rolled over the sidewalks in many locations.

Southwestern Bailey County, who had been by-passed by most of the rain during the month, finally received rain Wednesday evening. Near the New Mexico line, on the Arch highway, Mrs. Floyd Davis said they had recorded .7 which was "most welcome." She added it was the first measurable moisture for them in some time, as most clouds that had deposited rain in the Muleshoe area had formed between their location and Muleshoe.

Although clouds formed in the area on Thursday afternoon and evening, little to no rain was recorded in the Muleshoe and Bailey County area, as clouds moved out of the area before depositing rain.

Again on Friday afternoon, clouds were forming, and rain was reported in the Sudan area shortly after noon, with predictions of heavy rain for this area in the evening hours.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Acres this week discusses bathtubs as they relate to the economy.

Dear editor:
In a time when Washington is borrowing money to pay the interest on money it's already borrowed, I raised an eyebrow when I read in a magazine last night that Americans will spend about $13 billion on bathtubs this year.

Now that's not for new bathtubs in new houses or bathtubs in old houses which heretofore haven't had one; it's for restyling present bathtubs.

For example, some people are installing bathtubs with a gold-plated faucet that gives a digital readout of the water temperature. Who wants to stick his toe in first to see if it's too hot? When you're making $500,000 a year it's not hard to figure up what a big toe is worth.

Moreover, you can get a stereophonic tub you can call up from your car phone on your way home and it'll turn on the water and have it ready when you get there. I won't go in to what happens if the system mal-functions, the water keeps flowing and you get home to a foot of water on the bathroom floor.

Some people may poke fun at such elaborate, expensive bathtubs but that's because they don't understand the economy. Car manufacturers, dress designers and even barbers learned long ago that if you want to keep business humming you re-style your product every year or so. Plumbing manufacturers are now catching on and some people are responding. Who wants to have guests come in your house and notice you're still using last year's model bathtub?

Regrettably, piano people haven't caught on. They sell you a piano and they expect you to keep it a lifetime. They don't know that repeat-business is the key to a thriving economy and a soaring stockmarket.

What's more, piano people aren't alone. Millions of us keep using the same Congressmen year after year, regardless of how out of style they are and how much upkeep they require.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

We worked hard to keep electricity costs down... and, WE DID IT!

In the last three years, while national electric costs went up 12.7%, we held the line. Most SPS residential customers pay about the same for electricity as they did in 1983... some even less.

At SPS, we will continue to do everything we can to keep the cost of electricity as low as possible.

New Legislation To Bring Jobs To West Texas

Congressman Larry Combest (R-Texas) announced today that he is an original cosponsor of the "Farm Employment and Enterprise Development Act", a bill designed to stimulate employment and capital investment in rural areas through the creation of rural enterprise zones.

The "Farm Employment and Enterprise Development Act" ("FEED") would provide tax incentives, and encourage the cooperation of federal, state and local governments to ease regulatory and administrative burdens for investors. In addition hard hit rural businesses would be helped to remain in business or begin a transition to other job-creating enterprises, Congressman Combest said.

"Many rural areas throughout Texas and the country are in severe economic trouble. This legislation would bring some real help to many of our farm communities," Combest noted.

Combest pointed out that "The Secretary of Agriculture in consultation with officials of several federal agencies and department would designate 100 such rural enterprises zones. States and local government would nominate areas for the zones under the 'Farm Employment and Enterprise Development Act'."

The designation would last 25 years and would be based on 1) the areas within the jurisdiction of the nominating local government; 2) whether the area is considered a rural area and; 3) whether the area meets specified unemployment and poverty requirements.

The legislation also: Allows a 10% tax credit for employers and a 5% tax credit for employees plus additional credit for disadvantaged employees.

Allows a 10% investment tax credit for tangible property in the zone.

Allows nonrecognition of capital gain when property is sold and then replaced, as long as the gain on the sale does not exceed the replacement cost.

Allows the deduction for the purchase of enterprise stocks on the original issue of such stock.

Permits an ordinary loss deduction for securities of enterprise zone businesses which become worthless.

Increases the R&D tax credit in these zones from 25 to 37%.

Permits regulatory flexibility in zone designation and other activities except Davis-Bacon and other public health or safety rules.

Requires expedited and preferred consideration of foreign trade zone requests in enterprise zone areas.

The man who lacks patience also lacks philosophy. -Sadi.

All men commend patience, although few be willing to practice it. -Thomas A. Kempis.

A man must learn to endure that patiently which he cannot avoid conveniently.

With a propane furnace/electric air conditioner combination, you'll be more comfortable year-round than with a heat pump and you'll save money. And a propane water heater delivers more hot water for a lot less money than an electric water heater.

Precise cooking, smokeless broiling, faster clothes drying — it's all yours, along with a lower energy bill.

Camp Sweeney Opens For Diabetic Youth

With faces full of anticipation of the fun to come, children have begun streaming into Camp Sweeney on June 8, for the first of three sessions to be held this summer. This year will mark the 37th year of operations for the Camp.

Camp Sweeney is sponsored by the Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, located in Gainesville, Texas. The camp itself is located 10 miles northeast of Gainesville, not far from the Oklahoma border, nestled in the green, wooded hills of North Central Texas. The Foundation is a United Way Agency.

Camp Sweeney is one of the few places in the U.S. where diabetic children between the ages of 6 and 18 can go to summer camp that is designed with diabetic children in mind. In addition to the normal summer camp fare of hiking, swimming, sailing, fishing, arts and crafts, archery, riflery, campfires and other activities, Camp Sweeney helps its campers to deal with their lifelong companion in a healthy, balanced manner.

Time is set aside each day for educational classes that are so much fun that the campers don't realize that they are actually learning something. They learn everything about diabetes from the latest treatments to how to give themselves an insulin shot; from learning the proper balances in diet, exercise and medication to how to recognize the danger signs concerning not enough insulin—or too much insulin.

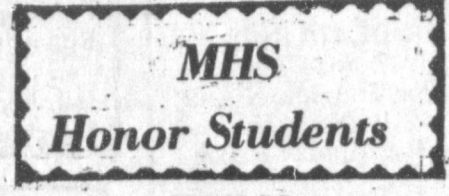

The approximately 100 campers that attend each session are closely supervised by a trained medical staff and experienced counselors. The medical staff helps to educate the children, as well as make several rounds per night through the cabins to check on the campers, help to keep the campers in good spirits. Many of them are former campers themselves. They live in the cabins with the campers and are always there, for guidance, discipline, or just a shoulder to lean on.

The camp also has an experienced kitchen staff, led by a registered dietician. Meals are individually prepared to meet each camper's specific dietary needs. There are also occasional "treats" for the campers, who are taught how to balance these treats with their regular routine. Some of the activities that are planned for this summer include visits by Dallas Mavericks, "Gum Drops," where sugarfree gum is dropped from an airplane over the camp, hot air balloon rides and skydivers, camp-outs, carnivals, parades, and many other activities designed to bring joy and excitement to the campers.

The dates for the remaining sessions are Session II: June 29-July 18 and Session III: July 20-August 8. There are still openings in the second and third sessions for diabetic children ages 6 to 18.

Anyone interested in attending the camp should contact the Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, P.O. Box 918, Gainesville, Tx. 76240 or call them at 817-665-9502.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

In the latest salvo of what promises to develop into a full-scale political struggle, Texas officials vowed to force the feds to put a proposed nuclear waste dump site somewhere besides the Panhandle.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby charged the complexion of summer political campaigning by confirming the likelihood of new and expanded state sales taxes next session.

Hobby said he would resolve a projected $1.3 billion deficit by broadening the state sales tax base to include several professional services now exempted. Food and medicine would continue to be exempted.

When the most powerful man in the Legislature speaks, all listen. While others tend to play coy or demagogue about tax issues, Hobby's expertise and reputation for integrity lend the aura of "bottom line" to his statements.

Govs To Debate

This year Texas Republicans are using the specter of new taxes to attract support. They say they'll cut state spending rather than raise taxes.

Whether or not that's realistic, they've scared such tax advocates as Gov. Mark White, a Democrat, into silence on taxes.

Last week, White and former Gov. Bill Clements agreed to a Texas League of Women Voters debate. Their handlers are arranging a date now.

The prospect of additional sales taxes, now vague, may be polarized into aye and nay by then, because Hobby has said it must be considered. He makes other Democrats consider a tax increase; he makes Republicans reconsider how frugal they want to be.

Breadbasket Nuke Dump

President Reagan last week chose the proposed nuke dump site in Deaf Smith County for the final three sites being considered by the feds. It made residents and some Texas officials hopping mad, again.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox vowed a lawsuit to stop the project's location in a major Texas farm and ranch center. And Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower and others swore to get in on the fight, too, to protect the Ogilala Aquifer, as well.

Reagan's decision is considered one that will drastically change the farming community there, whether the high-level nuclear waste dump is eventually built.

The U.S. Energy Department plans to spend $850 million in six years studying the nine-mile square site. While the study will employ some 800, as much as 350 acres of privately owned farm land may be purchased or condemned by the government.

The fight will go on for a long time. For now, this issue puts Texas Republicans on the spot, just as the tax issue touches Democrats in the '86 general election.

Other Highlights

Capitol architects planned to put up the aluminum Goddess of Liberty statue last weekend with a helicopter. In the time capsule were official letters, and a gold "GIB" lapel pin from Speaker Gib Lewis.

Gov. White indicated last week he may seek a third term if re-elected, a move to counter rumors he has visions of the White House.

The governor's wife hits the campaign trail this month to bring disillusioned and angry teachers back into his fold. A recent TSTA survey indicated some 41 percent of Texas' public school teachers are thinking of finding new jobs.

For those political observers who know Houston turns out the most voters, a local poll shows 21 percent of its residents plan to move within two years for economic reasons.

In the area of state agencies, the Department of Human Services plans to seek a 20 percent boost in state funding next year, while the Texas Education Agency said they have trimmed $140 million from this year's budget.

The longtime doorman of the Texas Senate, Joseph Lowell Gault, who died last week, drew tributes from Hobby and other leaders of the Senate.

State District Judge Byron Croiser of Cleburne was indicted on two misdemeanor counts of official misconduct related to jury empaneling.

Texas senior citizens are planning a "Silver Haired Legislature" for September, an exercise in electing delegates to participate in a mock government. The idea is to learn more about the legislative process in order to lobby more successfully for laws of interest to senior citizens.

A&M professor finds treated heroin addicts do recover from addiction

COLLEGE STATION — Recent findings from a 12-year nationwide study of 400 heroin addicts conducted by Texas A&M University's Behavioral Research Program show that daily use of heroin among the former drug abusers has decreased dramatically.

The results show 75 percent of the subjects in the study had not used heroin during the last year of the study and 63 percent had stayed away from drugs for the last three years.

The study is the longest-running examination from a national perspective of what happened to heroin addicts after they received help from federally funded community treatment centers during the late 1960s and early 1970s.

"The data addresses the old philosophy that once an addict, always an addict," said Dr. D. Dwayne Simpson, a Texas A&M psychology professor and project director. "There are many people who appear to have cleaned up and become well-adjusted. The long-term outcomes suggest that some people do recover from addiction."

A&M economist says state income taxes lower state growth rate

AUSTIN — State income taxes are major impediments to economic growth, a prominent Texas A&M University economist concludes in a study of such taxes throughout the United States.

"High-growth states have had dramatically lower income and property tax burdens than low-growth states," notes Dr. Melvin Greenhut, who holds the rank of Distinguished Professor of Economics at Texas A&M and is author of numerous books and scholarly papers.

Sales and luxury taxes increase the attractiveness of savings as a way of avoiding more taxes, he observed.

"Savings, in turn, permit more investment to occur," he added. "Simply put, sales taxes do not appear to have the same debilitating effect on growth that income and property taxes have."

He said the major problems associated with income taxes are that they destroy incentives for citizens to work harder and save money, thus reducing investment and the state's productive capacity.

Income tax encourages leisure instead of work and excessive consumption instead of saving. Greenhut noted.
