A Baylor County inmate being held in the Knox County Jail in Benjamin, Texas, was found dead in his cell on Monday, September 29, according to Knox County Sheriff Dean Homstead. The inmate was pronounced dead at the scene.

Guadalupe Gallardo Juarez, 41, of Seymour was awaiting transfer to the Texas Department of Corrections to serve a fifteen year sentence after pleading guilty to arson. Juarez admitted in open court to setting fire to his brother's house located at 603 E. Reiman in Seymour on Friday, March 14.

Sheriff Homstead stated that the official cause of death was not immediately known, but autopsy results are pending. The incident is also being investigated by the Texas Rangers.

KC Elementary Students Learn The Importance Of Fire Safety

Mrs. Byers English 3 class at Knox City High School have been studying Native American Literature. Including the Trail of Tears and the removal of Native American Children during the 1800's to be educated elsewhere. Mrs. Sandusky a Chickasaw Indian provided background information and some information on where the Chickasaw tribe is today.

On Tuesday she discussed Indian military leader, Tecumseh, and his efforts to rally the Indian Nations to unite and fight the "enemy". The class viewed a video about Removal of Southern Indian tribes to the New Indian Nation in Oklahoma know as the "Trail of Tears". Wednesday they were shown a projected video clip

Crime is on the Rise in Munday, Texas

By Brandy Wise

A 9-year-old girl was sexually assaulted Saturday, Oct. 4, in Munday, in her home. Police have description of the suspect.

The man entered the child's room through her window. The police have reason to believe he remained there for several hours.

The suspect is described as a Hispanic male with bad acne scars on his face and with thin hair, short in the front and long in the back. He is 5 feet 7 inches to five feet 8 inches tall. Police gathered evidence of the crime in cooperation with United Regional Hospital in Wichita Falls and also collected cigarette butts and beer cans found outside the child's room for DNA evidence. Munday police are following several good leads, Officer Paul Nix said. The department issued a regional police bulletin containing some facts about the case. As a result, Munday authorities are now working closely with the Lubbock County Sheriff's Office, where a similar case is under investigation. This is not the first sexual assault case in Munday this year. In the past five months there have been three cases -- one case involving an adult, one case involving a teenager and this case, involving a young child. The police do not believe the cases are related. The grand jury has indicted a suspect in the case involving the teenager. Besides these serious cases, there has been a rise in other crime in Munday. Several break-ins and burglaries have occurred in the past two months - some in instances when residents have left doors and windows unlocked. "In small towns people become comfortable and don't lock up their homes or cars," Nix said. "They even go as far as to leave their wallet sitting in plain view after just cashing their paychecks. Small town citizens need to realize that crime happens in small towns as well as big cities. Getting too comfortable could cost you."

AUSTIN - With thousands of families still unable to return to their homes because of Hurricane Ike, Gov. Rick Perry on Oct. 8 extended his disaster declaration through Nov. 6 for 90 Texas counties.

Also, at Perry's request, Federal Emergency Management Agencý extended Hurricane Ike assistance through Nov. 1.

Perry Speaks Of Energy Diversity

At an Oct. 9 forum hosted by the Clean Coal Technology Foundation of Texas, Gov. Perry said that as a matter of foreign and economic policy, the nation must reduce its dependence on foreign oil by building a deeper, more diverse energy portfolio.

Perry said Texas must foster collaboration among government, industry and academia to promote clean coal and other energy technologies, such as natural gas, wind, solar and nuclear.

He spoke in opposition to bills in Congress that would tighten pollution controls on carbon dioxide emissions.

Agency Rules Out Fish Pedicures

The Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation on Oct. 8 ruled that a procedure known as "fish pedicure" -- the use of a school of tiny fish to nibble dead skin cells off of the feet -- is not permitted under Texas health and safety rules.

According to a statement issued by the agency, the procedure could transmit infectious diseases because the same fish are used on multiple customers, and the use of live fish does not allow for the footbaths and the holding tank for the fish to be adequately cleaned and disinfected in accordance with the rules.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I am Debbie Sandusky, Librarian Aide for the Knox City Schools. I would like to respond to last week's "Letter to the Editor". While I understand the letter was strongly expressing how they felt, it was not completely factual, The letter last week made repeated statements that the school made no attempt to call or contact the parents, and that there was no one at the school to take calls. This is not true and I would like to enlighten citizens of what I know happened.

School was dismissed at 2:45 on Friday October 3rd, notes were sent home Tuesday, September 30th to notify parents of the early dismissal. The early dismissal was for the pep rally...I stayed in the Elementary Library (which is in the main building) to do some decorating...the phone is in the adjoining teachers work room. A teacher brought the said student to make a phone call to his father...there was no answer. I know because I dialed the number and used my long distance calling code issued to me by the school, to complete the call. A second call was made to their other contact nuber...that number had been disconnected. Attempts WERE made to contact them...the teacher and student left to go find the contact person at the pep rally.

I was at the Elementary School Building until 3:30 that Friday and to my knowledge there were no phone calls made to our building during that time nor did anyone come to look for the student. After reading the "Letter to the Editor" we looked at the caller ID on our school phone. I saw that a call had been made at 4:09 PM Friday from the father which was more than an hour after school had been dismissed. MORE THAN ONE PERSON WAS AT THE SCHOOL between 2:45-3:30 that day to answer the phone.

The Letter last week stated that all of this could have been prevented if the school had done their job. I think it may have been prevented if the parents had notified the school of who was picking up their child that day and had provided correct and updated contact numbers

MULE BUSINESS

I was sitting in the doctor's waiting room filling out the information sheet before my physical exam. As I zipped down the list of diseases, allergies, surgeries, and current bank accounts, I realized the list of boxes to check was incomplete.

My ol'friend Swanny worked in a factory. He was in maintenance. There was a breakdown in one of the forms for plastic molding. Antifreeze was leaking; a round hose clamp was Swanny knelt in the puddle and attacked, tightening the screw with his screwdriver. Everything was wet and slick. As he bent to the job, the screwdriver slipped and he stuck it up his nose!

Having a bear eat all your fingernails off? Even getting kicked squarely in the groin by a draft mule?

Suffice it to say they gathered up Swanny, called the paramedics and loaded him in the ambulance. In his confused, painful state, blood all over his Swanny tried to imagine life without the ability to see. He had dark moments, then miraculously he began to see light. It improved so much, by the time he reached the hospital he figured out what happened.

The annual Veterans Day activities are the next event on the calendar for the Knox County Historical Commission. Tuesday, November 11th, the KCHC will sponsor the annual program honoring the Knox County Veterans at 11 a.m. at the Knox County Veterans Memorial site in Benjamin.

Following the program will be a hamburger lunch at the Ex-students Memorial Building. Money from the lunch will go to the Veterans Fund to help with the site expenses and the Veterans Records Collections.

This year Veterans related expenses have included an intense effort to collect names of Veterans of Knox County whose names are not on the Memorial. There will be 67 names added; Civil War-4; WWI-3; WWII-23; Korean-9; Vietnam-20; Other Military Operations-7; and 1 Killed In Action.

The Knox County Veterans Memorial, erected in 2000, included a tremendous effort involving the committee members in every Knox County community seeking the names of Knox County Veterans. Over 2,400 names went on the Veterans Memorial, yet many veterans were missed, for various reasons.

The KCHC has been listing missed names for years. In 2008, an effort began to re-check that list. Through the years some who had turned in new names died or moved. Re-contacting was difficult and involved many phone calls, letters, e-mails, etc. as lost trails were picked up again. The original application form to put a name on the memorial was revised to make them easier to fill out, yet more complete.

Goree First Baptist Church to host a Healing school on Oct. 18th

Pastor Thurman teaches others How to Walk in Divine Health. Pastor Scrivner will hold a Healing School on October 18 from 11:00 to 3:00 in Goree at the First Baptist Church. The church will provide lunch. After teaching, Pastor Thurman will pray for the sick and those who need prayer. Goree First Baptist Church is located at 208 N 3rd St. (corner of E. Hickory and Oak St.) There is no charge for admission and everyone is welcome to attend. Child care will be available.

Pastor Thurman's wife, daughter and granddaughter were in a car accident in which his wife and daughter died. His granddaughter survived the wreck, but her body was crushed, she was blind and her brain stem was disconnected. Doctors gave no hope for her recovery. Pastor Thurman stood in faith and on God's word for the healing of his granddaughter. Today she is completely healed and leads a normal life.

Thurman Scrivner pastors his own church and holds healing school around the nation. He also made guest appearances on shows such as Sid Roth and Celebration with Joni Lamb. Pastor Thurman gives away free materials of his teachings. For more information, you may visit his web site at www.tlsm.org.

Undue Influence and Elderly Financial Exploitation

"Mr. Smith" awoke this morning with only the monotony and isolation of a typical day to look forward to. At 77 years of age, and a widower, the highlights of the day would be a favorite television show or perhaps the likelihood he'd get a phone call from one of his three children, none of whom live in the same town with him. Ah..... but today is Tuesday.... and his private-pay provider will come in later this morning. A smile forms on his weathered and lonely face... He'll have company through lunch, and maybe even through the afternoon—if only she'll stay a bit longer.

He's grown attached to her in a unique sort of way, and since she is his only regular form of contact, the bond sometimes overshadows that which he has with his own children. He rationalizes to himself that this is fine because he knows they are busy with their own lives and so the guilt of having assigned his unrelated helper as his power of attorney quickly diminishes. He won't even have to tell them because his "helper" understands and assures him his children will worry further if they know he needs help with writing checks. She will make sure he and his children don't have to worry...

Mr. Smith has become a victim. He is a victim of undue influence which is often a part of the scourge associated with elder financial exploitation. In its most simplistic form, undue influence is simply using trust or power as leverage for replacing a person's desires or wishes with another's. Sometimes it is subtle, or it can be as profound as "emotional blackmail."

Sadly, "Mr. Smith's" situation is only one of countless variations of financial exploitation. In his particular case a properly, but covertly executed legal instrument later proved to be the undoing of a substantial part of his life's savings. This should have been a warning sign, but it was noticed too late.

There are several red flags ---indicators of undue influence or potential exploitation. Isolation is a significant red flag----making the victim an easy target. Another potential warning sign is when an elderly person begins to have financial problems. It's sometimes a concerned banker who thankfully notices. Perhaps it's the claim by an elderly individual that things are missing from his house—a matter often dismissed as forgetfulness although later may be discovered to be a caregiver who took a little bit here and there.

Indeed, life was already tough enough for Mr. Smith without having to face the indignities of someone else's greed and deception. There is hope, how-

Adult Protective Services (APS), a division of the Texas Department of Family & Protective Services is the agency charged with investigating situations such as Mr. Smith's. Specifically, if abuse, neglect or [financial] exploitation is suspected of being perpetrated against an individual over age 65, or against a person with disabilities over age 18, then APS will investigate. The alleged perpetrator must be a person related or providing care to, or who has an ongoing relationship with the elderly individual or person with disability.

If you suspect abuse, neglect, or exploitation of the elderly or disabled, please call 1-800-252-5400. Your call can help stop exploitation. You can help protect the unprotected.

Named for the historic FW&D Engine 501, The 501 is always exactly 501 words and dashes long, whatever the topic. Welch freelance writer for Blackburn Media Group, divides her time mostly between Abilene and the family farm north of Vernon.

New Mexico is supposed to be the Land of Enchantment. Whoever came up with that slogan probably wasn't thinking of that homogeneous flat stretch between Tatum and Roswell. Or maybe they were. Perspective is everything.

Consider field mice. The native grass stretching endlessly in all directions must be their version of an enchanted forest. The elements of danger are circling hawks and prowling coyotes. Or maybe I don't know what I'm talking about. Hawks have nowhere to perch. But I did see one coyote cross that highway yesterday as my husband and I drove west.

It seemed then the monotonous sort of road that could drive a person to enchanting drugs or, on the other hand, the kind of trip that can put a motorist into a mystic trance, no drugs required.

Not that I'd know about either sort of experience. But I've read some stuff.

The speed limit is 65 mph, ridiculously slow for such a smooth flat highway - a 72-mile-long speed trap for Texans, as it were. No, I didn't get a ticket. I put the car on cruise control, forgot I was driving and listened to a book on it a CD, traveling back in space and of time to Italy in 1527 - Rome, to be exact. Rome was getting sacked.

My husband would have been driving, but he had laptop computer work - not easy with the sun hanging low in the sky and shining in his face. He hung his worksheets on the sun visor. I guess they're good for something after all, sun visors. Rarely do they block much

Meanwhile, the main characters in my book, a courtesan and a dwarf, managed to swallow the family jewels and escape Rome to make their way to Venice.

Around us, things stayed mostly the same, but our horizons lost some of their flatness. At one point, I bade my husband look left where it seemed as if God had scribbled a line and colored it in, between earth and sky - a silhouette of overlapping tilted mesas. Neat. Straight ahead, a pointy mountain loomed.

All mountains are pointy, but this one looked especially pointy, maybe because it was alone.

The sky was like the land mostly iclear, and free of flying saucers. A couple of early evening stars shone as the sun sank, slower than usual, behind the far edge of Next, a panoramic band of orange did battle with the blue above it, each color intensifying the other and playing some hard-to-describe tricks on my eyes. My college art teacher would have called it the simultaneous contrast phenomenon. The scientific name doesn't capture the magic.

Soon enough we were driving through New Mexico darkness toward a sparkling Roswell. At the same time, the courtesan and the dwarf were gliding toward Venice, also on a very dark night, seeing the faint twinkle of city lights on the lagoon "like the iridescence of mermaid hair caught by moonlight on the surface."

Mermaids? Why not? Next best thing to aliens.

God's Promises

By Jim Reid, Pastor O'Brien Baptist Church

The rain that we've had this week has been such a blessing. This gentle rain that has slowly soaked deep into the ground to nurture our crops and add to our water supply and prepare the ground for seed, assures our provision and increase in our prosperity. Whether the rain is a direct source of our income or an extension through other avenues we seem to always be happy to receive it. Most people tell me, "We always need rain." Rain is always refreshing to our attitudes and ac-

It is also wonderful to receive "spiritual" rain. "Spiritual Rain" would be our blessings, and instruction from God. These are the times that God speaks directly to us; softly, but direct. We may find ourselves living in the storms of life, believing the skies will never clear, or we may feel continually overcast; believing that this is just the way it will always be. Occasionally the storms threaten and the thunder claps, the winds may roar, but in conclusion the gentle rain removes all fear. God works this way as well; [2Timothy 1: 12] "for God has not given us a spirit of timidity, but of power and love and discipline." It is in these times of spiritual infilling of God's gentleness, kindness, and love that we fill the power of His gentle rains. This is His "spiritual rain" that calms and soothes the heart and removes the worries and stress. Look for God to bless you this week with gentle rain that will wash you clean and make you feel fresh and new, ready to nurture others and see yourself grow.

I pray you experience the love of God in every way ever day.

Thanks for your prayers, cards, and personal condolences made in regard to the illness and passing of our beloved Don Hertel. Many of you visited Don and attended his funeral services. For every kindness and expressions of sorrow we will ever be grateful. A special Thanks to Dr. Zeke Duke, Dennis and Pam, Bro Tim Trimble, and hospice who were always there for Don. BENJAMIN NFWS By Glade

By Gladene Green

It's Monday, Columbus Day and a holiday for many but around here it was business as usual. The courthouse was open, school went on, and everyone seemed to be content with their regular routines. And then by 9p.m. (or there about) the rain started, the temps dropped and it began to feel like fall-finally. Just imagine we will have some more warm days tho!

Not much news about the ill of our community. Good that we have none to report. Dutch Young was in Wichita Falls Wednesday for a check up. Got a good report. Just needs to get his strength back as he's still pretty weak. Deann Lamb was also in Wichita Falls to see her Doctor. She has some fractures in her back and is to have a procedure to fix it on Wednesday. It's not an invasive surgery. They use needles to separate the vertebrae and then put a cement like substance in there to keep them separated. That's' not a medical description but maybe clear enough that you can get an idea of what she will be dealing with. She will probably be in the hospital one night.

Misty Bohannon has been sort of "out of commission" the past few days. Fell and hurt her knee so is having to stay off that leg for a few days, till it feels better.

Sports

The Mustangs played Jayton here Friday night. Was a good game with Benjamin leading most of the time. But began to slow down and the visitors "overtook" them toward the end of the game. The final score was 66-53 in favor of Jayton. This weeks game is with Patton Springs, there.

The Lady Stangs defeated Aspermont Saturday in 3 games, making their record 4 wins 1 loss in district. This weeks games are with Knox City there Tuesday and Rotan here on Saturday. The Knox City game is at 6:30 and Saturday's game is at 10:00a.m.

Birthday Party

Chasity Benson turned 3 on Saturday, and her parents, Bubba and Wendy honored her with a family party in the home of her granddad, Billy Carl Benson. Special guest were her cousins, Braden, Kinsey and Will. Also several adult relatives were there to sing Happy Birthday and her sister Lilly, was glad to help her open all her presents. Refreshments of cake and punch were served to the guest.

Here 'N There

Teresa Patterson of Matador visited Debbie Moorhouse on Thursday evening.

Jan Carver was in Abilene recently to see her heart doctor. She still has not got a date set for her knee surgery. Still has more heart test to undergo before she will be released for surgery. She's ready to have her knee "fixed" but doesn't want to so it until she's able.

Among Benjamin folks is Canadian Saturday for the weddings of Edward Estrada (his brides name escapes me) were Mike and Tammy Lyles and Jimmy and Michele Barrientez.

Had a nice visit with Pearl Stevens recently. She lives in Roswell, N.M. and was in the ares to visit relatives and friends. She said her husband; Eddie Dean is doing pretty well. Is living in nursing facility in Roswell and has had a leg amputated but is being fitted for a prosthesis. It was good to see her and to get a report on them.

This past weekend was O'Brien Homecoming and I saw many who were "home" to attend it. Way to many to mention them all but did have a nice visit with Alton and Launa Hester on Friday. They now live near Panhandle, Texas and enjoy getting back down here occasionally to visit. Sunday, October 12, was their 67th wedding anniversary. What a blessing to have been together that long! It was good to see them.

Also Peggy Guitterez Driver. She and Trent and Family live in Midland. Said Trent is doing offshore drilling and is doing well. Trent is a former Benjamin resident, and son of Michael Driver. Also good to see her.

Sympathy to Sammy Abbott today. Sammy's wife Fran passed away on Friday. Her funeral was Monday at Gilliland.

May I just take a minute to say Thanks to everyone who has made such favorable comments about my news! Can't mention everyone but so much appreciate all the kind words. Some weeks there's more going on than others but usually there's something of interest. Again- Thank you

See you next week.

Bulldogs Drop District Opener

The O'Brien Bulldogs squared off with the Throckmorton Greyhounds on Thursday night in O'Brien. Both teams played hard, but it was Throckmorton who came out on top. After two weeks of solid play the Bulldogs struggled on both sides of the ball Thursday night. "Turnovers killed us tonight, we just couldn't hold on to the ball, and we also couldn't overcome the turnovers." said Coach Maxwell. The Greyhounds took advantage of the numerous fumbles and scored on the extra possessions. "It was just one of those nights, we couldn't get things started. You can't make that many mistakes against a team like this." added Coach Webb. There were some highlight on the night that included Jose Espinal picking up a fumble on the opening kickoff and returning it for a touchdown. Some others that contributed were Austin Sanders on offense and defense, as well as Tylynne Eaton and Zack Carter. "We had some injuries we were dealing with and I'm proud of the kids that stepped up and played through them as well as those who came in and played out of their ordinary position." said Coach Howeth. The Bulldogs continue their district schedule by traveling to Paducah next Thursday. "I think our kids will respond well to the defeat. "Hopefully they go out this week and work hard and understand that every game is going to be this difficult." added Coach Steele.

The Students at Knox City Elementary cracked the case of the missing mother on Friday with the help of Inspector Iwannano. To solve the case the kids received seven character clues, including responsibility, caring, fairness, and trustworthy. To earn the clues a volunteer out of the audience helped do a magic trick. The Inspector was teaching the children that all character can be seen by the way they act. He also wanted them to know that patience pays off in the long run. After they received all seven clues they had to rearrange the words that were on the back and make a sentence. When unscrambled the words read, Coal is the mother of diamonds. The Inspector then told them a story about a little boy who didn't have and patience and that he was not rewarded the way the other students were.

was going to discuss this week, I guess I'll get my mother's favorite one, Chicken with Wine and Mushrooms, out of the way. Especially since she's already told everyone to be "looking for it."

It's an easy dish that is very good and I generally make this any time my mom gets her pick of what she wants to eat such as birthdays, anniversaries, Mother's Day and so on.

I've made it numerous times and it is always good. I usually serve it with twice-baked potatoes and fried asparagus since those are pretty much her three favorite things.

I'll give you two for the price of one today with the chicken recipe and the potato recipe. I'll save that fried asparagus for a later date. Maybe next week, we'll see what mood I'm in by then.

Both recipes are painstakingly easy and in no way must be served together. I've made numerous side dishes for the chicken dish so you're favorites will work and the potatoes can go with virtually anything ... from a big steak all to way to burg-

In trying to figure out the recipe ily salt the skins before baking. Put more salt than you think is enough and then put some more. It doesn't affect the taste and helps the skins stay together when cleaning. I prefer Kosher Salt but table salt works too. I either pound or butterfly the chicken breasts just for quicker browning time in the skillet. Of course if you're using chicken breast strips (which work fine) you don't need to worry about that.

> Chicken with Wine and Mushrooms Ingredients

6 large chicken breasts 1 cup white wine (cooking wine works) 1 lb. sliced mushrooms

2 sticks butter seasoned flour

2 medium onions, diced 4 cloves garlic, minced

Chop the onions and the garlic. Coat the chicken in flour mixed. Melt first stick of butter in large skillet. Saute the chicken until brown on both sides. Set the chicken aside. Melt second stick of butter and saute the mushrooms, onions and garlic. Put the chicken in a large baking dish and pour the vegetables over the chicken. Pour wine over all and bake at 350 for 45 minutes to an hour.

Twice-Baked Potatoes

Ingredients 6 large baking potatoes

8 ozs. sour cream

8 ozs. butter 1 small bag of real bacon

2 cups shredded cheddar

salt and pepper to taste

2 tbs. chives

Directions

Preheat the oven to 400 and bake the potatoes for 1 to 1 1/2 hours.

Using oven mitts, clean the potatoes leaving only the hollowed out skins. Mix the potato, sour cream, butter, one cup of the cheese, bacon bits, salt, pepper and chives in a large bowl.
