Winter fire outlook issued

Expect a slow fire season this winter.

Much of the state received above normal rainfall this year, helping to suppress fires and increase the moisture level—also increasing the amount of grass or fuel.

More fuels coupled with dry weather normally causes concern during the winter months since this combination supports significant fire activity, helping spread wildfires quickly across grassy areas. Although we have more fuels, we don't have the dry weather which reduces the threat.

Forecasted El Niño conditions may hinder wildfires this season. El Niño is a weather cycle that occurs every three to five years. It deviates from normal surface temperatures, causing warmer temperatures and wetter-than-average conditions across Texas.

"With El Niño in place, precipitation chances are expected to increase during the winter months.

This would help limit wildfires this season," Tom Spencer, Texas A&M Forest Service predictive services department head said. "However, with the surge of grass growing in the plains regions of the state, there could be opportunities for an occasional period of fire activity."

Although a rainier season is expected, Spencer urges residents to still use care through the winter months and limit activities that could accidentally start a wildfire.

TFS offers these tips for Texans to stay safe this holiday season:

- Check for and obey burn bans and fireworks restrictions.

- When and where outdoor burning is allowed, keep the fire small, never leave it unattended and remove leaves and other materials from the area surrounding the fire. Avoid lighting piles on windy days.

- Keep water nearby in case a fire starts. A spark or burning tumbler can ignite dry, fine-textured fuels like grass and weeds.

- Adhere to all county and city fireworks laws.

- Use only with adult supervision and only outdoors away from dry grass and buildings.

- Read firework labels and use only as directed. Do not alter the products.

- Keep water, wet towels and a garden hose nearby.

- Allow fireworks to cool completely before handling and discard them into a bucket of water.

- Remove your natural Christmas tree soon after the holidays and consider community tree recycling projects. Christmas trees can be ground up for mulch or provide shelter for birds and other wildlife.

- Dispose of wrapping paper, boxes and other holiday waste by recycling, when practical. Burn paper and cardboard in a burn barrel or other fire-proof receptacle topped by a metal screen or grill, as winds can carry embers over long distances.

Dear editor,
The Haskell Goodfellows would like to express sincere thanks to those who helped with our 2014 project. The donations of money, food, toys and time are appreciated.

A total of 44 packages were distributed to needy families. Volunteers helped pack the boxes that were delivered by members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Dept. and Haskell Lions Club.

Hantavirus precautions urged by DSHS

The Texas Department of State Health Services is reminding people to protect themselves from hantavirus pulmonary syndrome, a rare but sometimes fatal illness, after a resident of the Golden Crescent region along the central Texas coast was diagnosed with HPS.

Hantavirus is carried by certain species of rats and mice that shed the virus in their urine, droppings and saliva. The virus can be transmitted to people by stirring up nesting

BETTY SANDERS

Funeral services for Betty Jo Gideon Sanders, 84, of Weinert were held Mon., Dec. 29 at First Baptist Church in Weinert with Rev. Dan Bullock and Rev. Terry Sanders officiating. Interment was at Weinert Cemetery under the direction of Smith Family Funeral Homes.

Mrs. Sanders was called home to be with her Lord and Savior Sat., Dec. 27.

Betty Jo Gideon was born Feb. 4, 1930, the daughter of Ras and Katie Cannon Gideon in Winters. She attended Winters High School and graduated in 1947. In 1948, Betty met and fell in love with the love of her life, R.S. Sanders. They wed March 25, 1948, at her home near Winters, after three months of dating. R.S. and Betty moved to Weinert in 1951. They were blessed with two children, Larry Dwaine and Janice Elaine. Betty and R.S. were privileged to spend the next sixty years together.

After her children started to school, Betty attended Hardin-Simmons University and earned a degree in elementary education. She taught 20 years at Weinert ISD, retiring in 1981.

In the years that followed, Betty and R.S. traveled to Europe, the Middle East, Canada, Nova Scotia, Hawaii, and many of the eastern states where R.S. researched his family. With R.S. doing the research, Betty wrote Just Passing Through Weinert, The Alexanders of Plum Creek, Cowpokes and Sod Busters, and Gideons From Europe to America. In 2003, she edited R.S.'s biography that he had written in 1998. She added pictures and had it bound to give to her children and grandchildren.

Betty loved her church and was a faithful member for sixty-three years. She joined the Weinert Baptist Church in 1951, and served her Lord in numerous ways. She served on committees, taught the Friendship Sunday School Class, and assisted in Vacation Bible School. With her beautiful voice, Betty sang many solos and duets, and she also played the church organ for more than 30 years.

Betty loved to work in her yard and flower garden. She was also a professional artist working with oil paints, water colors and chalks. Betty loved to sew, crochet and helped her friends make several quilts to sell at the Rehab Auction. She was a member of several clubs such as the Brazos West Art Club, Extension Homemakers, Delta Kappa Gamma, Texas Retired Teachers Association, and Burger Buddies. Always active, kind, and thoughtful, Betty will be greatly missed by all of her family and friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents, husband, R.S., and son, Larry.

Survivors include her daughter, Jan Boatright and husband Randal of Brady; daughter-in-law, Linda Sanders of Los Alamos, New Mexico; sister, Virginia Gideon Black of Winters; sister-in-law, Betty Ann Sanders of Austin; two grandchildren, Robert Sanders and wife Claire of Los Alamos, New Mexico, and Lynette Kennard of Santa Fe, New Mexico; four great grandchildren, Chase Kennard of Santa Fe, New Mexico; David, Sarah, and Emily Sanders of Los Alamos, New Mexico. She also had many loving nieces and nephews who were always willing to help Aunt Betty with anything that she needed. Her pastor, Dan Bullock, was very special to Betty, and she treasured his friendship and the love that he showed to her.

Memorials may be given in Betty Sanders name to First Baptist Church, P.O. Box 98, Weinert, TX 76388.

Online condolences may be shared with the family at www.smithfamilyfh.com.

PD. NOTICE

materials or contaminated dust, allowing the virus to be breathed in by humans. Cases have been linked to cleaning out buildings where rodents live and working in dusty environments like ranches and oilfields.

DSHS recommends the following precautions:

- Seal openings that may allow rats and mice to enter homes and workplaces.
- Remove brush, woodpiles, trash and other items that may attract rats and mice.
- Tightly close garbage cans, pet food containers and other food sources.
- Wear protective gloves when handling dead mice and rats or cleaning up nesting areas, urine or droppings.

•Before cleaning up nests or droppings indoors, open windows and doors to ventilate the area for at least 30 minutes.

•Do not stir up nests by sweeping or vacuuming. Dampen areas with dead rodents, nests, urine and droppings before cleanup with a 1:10 bleach solution or other disinfectant.

•If dust will be stirred up, DSHS recommends using goggles and a HEPA or N-95 mask.

Early symptoms of hantavirus infection include fatigue, fever and muscle aches that may be accompanied by headaches, dizziness, chills, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and abdominal pain. Later symptoms include coughing and shortness of breath. If hantavirus is suspected, people should contact their health care provider immediately and mention any potential exposure to rodents, their nests or their waste.

There have been five HPS cases reported in Texas in 2014. A total of 43 HPS cases have been confirmed in Texas since 1993, the first year the disease was detected. Of those, 14 were fatal.

This Week's Devotional Message:

Let the New Year introduce a whole new way of living

It's only another night, followed by a day the same length as all the others. However, December 31st is an arbitrary dividing line between one year and the next, a part of the necessity for keeping track of time along with the days, weeks and months. We have further drawn attention to it with elaborate revelry, culminating at the stroke of midnight; and for some of us, followed the next day by a state of remorse and a determination to mend our ways. We begin every new year in this manner, with a list of sweeping reforms designed to correct all our faults at once; a task usually beyond human compliance. However, if we would just be sensible about both our actions and our expectations, none of this would be necessary. In fact, a regular trip to our house of worship can be far more effective than all those futile efforts at atonement. Try it and see for yourself.
