Nazi Beaten Off In Africa Marshall Says Will Invade Europe

Tells Cadets To France To Be Invaded Soon

Millions Now In Army, Predicts Will Avenge Axis Wrongs, Win War

WEST POINT, N. Y. (A)-An invasion of the European continent was promised Friday by General George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff, who told the West Point graduating class that American troops "are landing in England, and they will land in France."

Marshall said the Army would total nearly 4,500,000 men by the end of this year, instead of the previously announced estimate of 3,-600,000. During the past four weeks alone, said the Chief of Staff, the Army has grown by 300,000 men. "Your utmost endeaver, backed by high and unselfish purpose, will be required to bring this struggle to a triumphant conclusion," told the graduating cadets.

"No compromise is possible, and the victory of the Democracies can only be complete with the utter defeat of the war machines of Germany and Japan."

Gaining significance in view of the current discussions of high ranking American Army officers with British officials in London, Marshall's assertion that American forces "will land in France," was the first definite statement by any American official that a ground offensive against the continent was part of American-British strategy.

Marshall recalled that prior to December 7, members of Congress

WE NEVER UNDERSTAND MEN TILL WE SYMPATHIZE WITH THEM: That I may know Him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings.—Phil 3:10, 11.

Experts Agree

American newspaper correspondents, released from internment in Germany and Italy, seem to agree unanimously that the economies and morales of the Axis nations are low and sinking lower.

This coincides with the most credible information we have been getting out of enemy countries for some time. The reporters are unanimous likewise in warning that they have seen nothing that would justify belief that either Germany or Italy is close to the cracking point.

They say that while the tide is turning, Hitler's armies will have to be licked on the battlefields before the war is

The trained observers who have just left Germany and Italy agree with information reaching official Washington, that Hitler is forced to shoot the works this year. If he does not win in 1942 he never can.

This is very cheering. We believe that we can prevent Der Fuehrer from achieving victory this year. So the war is won. A wave of optimism sweeps the country. Increasingly we hear and read very tentative suggestions that we might-probably we won't, but who knows?—we might end the war this year. Any such idea, however hedged, would seem to be a dangerous misinterpretation of all the expert opinion we have been getting. This warning is supported by a high To Make Life Worthy Washington official, who does not want Hitler aided by an over-optimism that might first lead to slackening of our effort and later, when defeats come along, to a reaction resembling defeatism.

The conclusion upon which experts agree is not that we can end the war this year. They say only that, if we go all out, we can prevent Hitler from winning this year, and thereby can put ourselves in position to beat him in 1943, thereby can put ourselves in position to beat him in 1945, Even that is cause for great elation. This is the first time that the best-informed experts have been in position to be so positive even that we could win at some future time.

It is odd how tense some of us become when we play bridge. Of course I think that is one of the best assets of the game. We become so intent on a little deuce or five-spot that we forget our real worries. But occasionally you play a hand that may worry you for quite a while. I know the player who went down to today's hand in the Vanderbilt Tournament wil brood about it for a year. At the half-way mark, his team was up 1700 points on the opposing team--then lost 2300 points on this one

When East opened the king of hearts and got the deuce from his partner, he realized West's double must have been based on a strong club holding. He led the nine of clubs, and the opponents cashed six club tricks and six hearts, defeating the contract eight tricks for 2300 points.

What Men Have Done Can Still Be Done

> AND SHALL BE DONE TODAY

Sad, vet proud, Uncle Sam thinks of all the soldier dead of wars gone by. The faces of the men who fought in the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and World War I pass in review. And on this Memorial Day, soldiers of World War II are added to that parade of heroes.

Americans everywhere feel sadness for the lives lost, but only pride when they think of the justice of the cause for which these soldiers died, and for which they die today. LIBERTY is the name of that cause. Today we are asked to defend that cause once more. And we will succeed, for what men have done can still be done, and shall be done today!
