

Allies Set Up Second Front Slaughter Thousands At Sevastopol

Fierce Fight Undecided As Russia Holds

Nazi Seek Victory As Anniversary Gift To Bloodthirsty Fuehrer

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW. — Ten German divisions, numbering nearly 150,000 men, with hundreds of planes and tanks charged the north and south sides of the fortress of Sevastopol Sunday morning in a peak effort to break into the Black Sea naval base.

Soviet dispatches said the Germans made eight successive assaults on the south side June 18 only to be repulsed each time by the Red Army defenders. One repulse was carried out at bayonet point, the Russians destroying a regiment of infantry and destroying about 20 tanks.

Even fiercer fighting was reported around the northern fortifications where the Germans exerted their greatest effort, with several infantry divisions and many heavy tanks massed in single sectors.

Reds Grow Stronger.
The Red Army, both at Sevastopol and on the other fronts, was considered far stronger, better organized, armed and trained after almost a year of war in which millions have fought, bled and died. Across Hitler's path they stood, from the Arctic to the Black Sea, determined to make 1942 the year of his debacle.

The Germans at Sevastopol, no longer the cream of Nazi manpower, hurled themselves against the flaming trenches and concrete blocks in the hope of presenting their fuhrer with the naval base as a present on the first anniversary of the Russian-German struggle, next Monday.

Fleet Shells Nazi.
The Black Sea fleet continued to shell the enemy lines and to bring supplies, arms, munitions and food to the besieged garrison.

Warships and long range guns wiped out numerous enemy troops in positions well behind the front, military advisers said. The cruiser Red Crimea escaped repeated attempts of the Luftwaffe to sink her near the city.

Soviet military authorities were silent on German reports that a new Russian offensive had been opened against Smolensk, with waves of infantry attacking behind tank and air support.

Police Conference To Be Held Here Tuesday

George Franklin, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent from the El Paso office, will be in Midland to conduct a national defense police mobilization conference at 1:30 p. m., Tuesday in the county court room. Initial plans were that D. A. Bryce, special FBI agent in charge of the El Paso office, would conduct the conference, but he has been called to Washington.

Police mobilization conferences are being conducted throughout West Texas, and are considered of the utmost importance. The conferences are open only to members of the sheriff's department, police department, and sheriff's posse.

Police officers of the region are given special invitation to attend the conference by the Midland police department.

Midland Fire Chief To Attend Convention

Midland Fire Chief Luther Tidwell will attend the annual summer convention of Permian Basin firemen at Wink Friday. Tidwell is striving to have a team of Midland firemen accompany him to the convention but has not reached a definite conclusion as yet.

Plans are going forward for entertainment of visiting firemen, it has been announced by Chief Steve Stephenson of the Wink department. The convention will be highlighted by a barbecue and dance at the firemen's hall.

'Tokyo' Of West Texas To Be Raided By Bombardiers

Famous Doolittle Foray Will Be Duplicated By Midland Army Flying School Bombing Aces

The prairies southwest of Midland will be the site of one of the nation's most unusual Independence Day celebrations when a full-fledged precision bombing attack on an aerial map of Tokyo, laid out in scale on one of Midland Army Flying School's targets, will be staged before representatives of national news agencies, newsreels and radio net works.

Plans for the unusual demonstration, which is designed to give the American public its first opportunity to gauge the effectiveness of the Army's fast-growing army of bombardiers, were announced here Saturday by Brigadier General Isaiah Davies, commanding officer of Midland Army Flying School, world's largest bombardier college.

Effectiveness Proved.
"Precision bombing," said General Davies, "has given spectacular proof of its worth in the battles of the Coral Sea, Midway Island and in the Mediterranean where American bombardiers scored 35 direct hits on two Italian battleships. It is our intention to demonstrate for the public the skill being acquired by America's bombardiers for further attacks of this type."

Competing flights of the big school's several bombardier training squadrons, with the gallery of distinguished guests as an audience, will stage a "battle of bombing accuracy" in blasting areas of the scale map of Tokyo designated as military targets of high strategic value, General Davies announced.

South Target 10 of the MAFS bombing range is the site of the demonstration. A large dry lake bed is being used to represent Tokyo Bay, with important Tokyo streets, railways, docks, supply depots and other military objectives outlined on the surrounding terrain. The scale replica measures approximately 2,000 by 1,500 feet.

Target Designer.
Designs for the unusual target were executed by Lt. Robert A. Strauch, MAFS technical inspector, who in civilian life won a Beaux Arts Institute certificate. Details of the construction are being handled by Lt. Col. Richard H. Smith, director of training, with the assistance of the Midland and Odessa Chambers of Commerce.

The bombardiers participating in the "attack" will take off in their twin-engine training planes under simulated combat conditions. They will carry special orders specifying the exact targets to be hit. General Davies added that plans are being made for representatives of the press, radio and newsreels to accompany the bombardiers on their aerial mission. Other press representatives will witness the attack from special stands erected near the target.

Press Leaders Coming.
Among those who to date have accepted invitations to attend the demonstration are representatives of The Associated Press, United Press, International News Service, King Features Syndicate, Western Newspaper Union, the New York Times, New York Herald-Tribune, NEA Service, Transradio Press Service, and Southern Flight. Newsreels expected to film the event are: Paramount, Pathe, Universal, News of the Day and Fox Movietone, according to information received from headquarters of the Gulf Coast Air Force Training Center.

Camera Crew Accepts.
The camera crew from RKO Picture Studios of Hollywood has asked permission to make shots of the bombing for inclusion in that studio's forthcoming feature, "Bombardier," it was announced.

Collier's Magazine has also accepted the invitation and will be represented by editor Walter Davidson, and Denver Lindley, associate editor of the national weekly magazine.

A number of other guests, including high military dignitaries, may also be present for the occasion, General Davies said.

To Clarify To Public.
The pictures and descriptions resulting from this demonstration will undoubtedly give the American public an inspiring outline of the might of the aerial offensive now being groomed by the Army Air Forces," General Davies declared.

A second attack will be staged for the benefit of newsreels and news picture photographers after dark on the evening of July 4th. As the "invaders" approach the replica of the Japanese capital, a simulated anti-aircraft barrage will burst into the sky, adding further realism to the raid, it was announced.

Further plans for the demonstration will be announced later when the full guest list has been completed, it was stated.

Just as well set . . . rest a while . . . neighbor. It's a little too hot to do much . . . Kinda like it was the year I came to this country . . . back in 1865 . . . shore was hot. Me and Ma was a-moving out here . . . driving a little bunch of doggies . . . looking for a place to settle . . . and it shore was hot.

They was not a soul . . . living out here . . . and me and Ma had our choice. Well . . . we settled just west of here . . . cause the wheels melted off . . . it shore was hot . . . besides the trace chain had got so soft they was stretched a mile . . . and the reins wouldn't reach . . . so I was out leading the hosses . . . it shore was hot . . . and a-walking . . . and it shore was hot.

So we just settled down . . . and Ma unloaded the victuals . . . I rode up to the hill . . . and killed a antelope . . . and by the time I got back to . . . Ma and the wagon . . . that antelope was roasted . . . ready to eat . . . plumb done . . . Mister . . . it shore was hot.

We just rested . . . out under the stars at night . . . under the wagon . . . all day . . . and you could see the old mesquite bushes curl up . . . and fall over. And the grass was so dry . . . most of our doggies choked to death . . . and it shore was hot.

Then it rained . . . it got cooler . . . the prairies started greenin' up . . . and I rode out and staked me a big ranch . . . north . . . south and west . . . big ranch . . . and we was mighty happy. And the rains kept up . . . and for three years it was fine . . . until the last year . . . when it rained so much . . . it filled up all the country . . . west of here . . . what they calls . . . the Permian Basin . . . now. When the rains stopped we had a lot of big lakes . . . full of water . . . mighty fine.

But . . . then it got hot . . . the sun beat down again . . . the hot winds blew . . . the grass dried up . . . and the water . . . all except our lakes . . . was dried up. But . . . my herds started growin' . . . for cattle . . . and buffalo . . . and deer . . . and antelope . . . all movin' in . . . to water at our lakes. Then . . . bull mooses . . . and polar bears . . . and every sort of animal . . . was movin' in . . . for the drouth must be a bean all over . . . the continent. And . . . our lakes was just plain drunk up . . . and finally . . . they was dry. Me and Ma kept a moving back . . . away from them angry critters . . . and me a cussing cause they was drinkin' my water . . . and it shore was hot.

Them as was at the last water hole . . . was surrounded by millions . . . and millions . . . of thirsty critters . . . and finally they was just a mad . . . seething mass of animals . . . and they climbed over one another . . . and piled as high as mountains . . . and the live ones . . . kept a scrambling right up . . . to the top of that pile . . . and fall dead . . . and get covered up . . . by the next bunch . . . and it shore was hot.

It was a sight . . . Mister . . . and the sun gettin' hotter and hotter . . . and them critters stacked sky high. Well . . . me and Ma was just settin' on a leetle rise . . .

97th Materiel Squadron Holds Picnic Saturday

War Bonds and Stamps were even a topic of conversation of the 97th Materiel Squadron at its picnic at Cloverdale Park Saturday evening. Captain Allen M. Floyd, squadron commander, said that more than $2,500 in bonds and stamps are purchased each month under the salary allotment system by members of the squadron. Pic Harold Dennis is in charge of bond and stamp sales for the group.

More than 200 members of the squadron enjoyed the outing, picnic and entertainment. Lt. Col. John Ransom, group commander, and Captain Floyd were in charge.

In a baseball game preceding the picnic lunch, the privates tied the non-coms 7-7. Several boxing matches were staged, with Pvt. Tommy Moreland officiating. Running of the belt line by both officers and enlisted men featured the outing.

High Schools Will Teach Air Courses

AUSTIN. (AP)—A pre-flight aerobatics course for Texas high schools has been approved by the state committee on classified and accredited schools, state superintendent of public instruction L. A. Woods announced Saturday.

Woods, who said the action was taken at a committee conference Friday, urged school administrators to offer the course to lead the war effort and to spread knowledge of aviation.

Sunday Is A Good Day To Ransack Place For All That Scrap Rubber

While the family is home over Sunday will be a good time to ransack home, attic, garage and the entire premises for scrap rubber of any kind. Monday would be a good day to turn in a record-high amount of this scrap to the assembly points here in Midland. Every day will be a good day to take an active hand in the work of salvaging scrap rubber, as a means of keeping the wheels of traffic rolling; and as a means to stay in the oil fields to work on the oil fields of this area.

British Hold At Egyptian Border Line

CAIRO, Egypt. (AP)—Britain's bloody but unbowed Eighth Army stood firm Saturday night 30 miles inside Eljiza from the Egyptian frontier after turning back two main columns of Axis forces which by-passed encircled Tobruk and drove to within 25 miles of Bardia.

The armored columns of the Axis Africa Corps withdrew after a brief fight with the sun-blacked veterans of Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie and it appeared they were only testing the strength of the new British positions and consolidating their own stand.

Military experts said no Axis tank or man came nearer than 30 miles from the frontier—the approximate position of the new and stronger imperial defense line.

Although driven out of their main positions in the loose triangle bounded roughly by Tobruk, El Gazala and Bir Hachem, British armored patrols still were operating extensively in Cirenaica, especially in the inland desert stretches, and were harassing the enemy with repeated raids. Their attacks were exploiting the main problem confronting Marshal Erwin Rommel—his lengthened supply lines.

The Germans surrounded Tobruk but have not yet moved up to lay siege or assault that stronghold which hurled back every Axis attempt to take it last year in the eight months it was isolated. The strong defense works of the port continued to threaten the Axis rear.

MIDLAND COUNTY HAS TWO PRAIRIE FIRES

Alarms were sounded for two prairie fires in Midland County Saturday, one starting on the Golladay ranch south of town and the other on the Scharbauer Ranch near Midland Army Flying School.

The fire south of town spread over a wide area of range land, burning parts of the Golladay, Andrew Faskan and possibly McClintic Brothers ranches, while the other burned an estimated one-half section of grass.

Besides members of the Midland Fire Department, many volunteer workers helped extinguish both blazes.

Owners of the ranches expressed their sincere thanks to the host of fire fighters for the effective work in the intense heat.

To German Fathers

The 21st day of June, 1942, is a day of deep and varied significances.

At 17 minutes after 8 in the evening, summer arrives formally. Previously, however, the passing of midnight of June 20 ushers in Father's Day in the United States.

It seems fitting, then, that the fathers of America, on their day, should send greetings to the fathers of Germany, along these lines:

We're sorry for you fellows, a little, but we can't grieve too much. You, and you only, are responsible for the sons you have lost and the sons you have yet to lose in Western Europe, in Africa, on the high seas, over Britain, and most disastrously in Russia.

While we devoted ourselves to the ways of peace, you spent your time and substance making guns and tanks, warplanes and bombs.

While we were asserting and exercising the right of free men to govern themselves, you permitted a warped-minded egomaniac to control your every action and most of your thoughts.

While we defended the right of every person to worship his own God in his own way, you protested only ineffectually when your fuhrer closed churches, persecuted your clergy, and led you backward toward the paganism of your race's darkest ages.

While we strove to make racial bigotry a stench in the nostrils of decent men, you stood by cravenly at best—and co-operated actively at worst.

This, fathers of Germany, is not alone the first day of summer and the day dedicated to the fatherhood of democratic America.

This also is the anniversary of the occasion when your despotic fuhrer turned treacherously upon his Russian ally and plunged you and your sons into an unnecessary adventure from which there can be no return until your place in the international sun has been destroyed.

Today, fathers of Germany, ponder on the sons who lie in unmarked graves somewhere in Russia, because you failed in your duty toward them and permitted Adolf Hitler to do with you as his diseased mind suggested.

Think of your sons who will live, maimed, shattered in body and mind and soul, because you were not men enough to stop Hitler when you discovered the evil thing he is.

Think of the fatherless sons of other men—of your own sons, who will become fatherless as you die at the whim of Adolf Hitler.

To you, fathers of Germany, we extend sympathy—a little—since we, too, are fathers.

We Hope

The visits of Vyacheslav M. Molotov to London and Washington were the best guarded secrets since Jimmy Doolittle blasted Tokyo. No hint, so far as we know, leaked out.

We hope that the similarity will end there. We hope that newsmen will not be twitted because the governments' secret was well kept, as was the case when almost every correspondent who ascertained the identity of the Tokyo bombing leader played the game and didn't tell.

Nevertheless, as insurance, let it be recorded that newspapermen did know, and didn't tell, and that their restraint was dictated by patriotism; that they were not a group of zany who can properly be held up to light ridicule at some future press conference.

Personal Aide

Larry Lehrbas was a competent press service foreign correspondent, whose accurate and readable reports appeared regularly in American newspapers. Commissioned a lieutenant-colonel, he was assigned as public relations officer for the Australian sector. Now Lehrbas' assignment has been changed. He is aide to Lieut.-Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

If Lehrbas still is delegated to see that correspondents attached to the MacArthur forces get the news and get it straight, we think the appointment is tops. If, however, Lehrbas has been shifted from public relations work for the Australasian army as a whole, and assigned to personal publicity for the commanding general, we are filled with regret. We should hate to see the public adulation which General MacArthur has won subjected to the strain of a political buildup.

A lot of people finally have all the junk cleared out of the house—but they had to wait for a war to get up the ambition.

A conceited person is one who is suffering from I strain.

On furlough from the world's largest bombardier training center, he reported to "Mom and Pop" carrying a pound of sugar—his weeks ration.

However, he says it took a bit of doing to convince the clerk at the Calhocka, Tenn., rationing board that he was entitled to purchase sugar. Not until he produced his furlough papers was the clerk satisfied.

"I hope the sugar doesn't go against me on my service record," says private Denton.

Physicians Will Get Commissions Quickly In Army

Opportunities for able physicians to obtain immediate commissions have been made available by the Army Air Forces through a wide-scale Flight Surgeon Procurement Program, it was announced Saturday by officials at Midland Army Flying School.

The need for qualified men to fill the office of Flight Surgeon in the Air Forces has been emphasized in War Department communications from Washington, bombardier college officials added.

It is preferable that applicants be thirty-five years of age, or younger.

Physicians who wish to apply for commissions in the Army Air Force are requested to write directly to the Air Surgeon Headquarters, Army Air Forces, Washington, D. C., officials said, adding that quick action will be taken on all applications.

Army Opens Pagoda Pool For Personnel

Pagoda Pool was opened formally to men of the Midland Army Flying School and their families Saturday and a number of the soldiers were on hand early to enjoy cool dips.

Captain R. Brown, special service officer at the Bombardier College arranged for the use of the pool by the men of the Air Force and supervised remodeling of the buildings.

Buildings were remodeled and showers added to meet Army health requirements. The buildings and the pool were repainted in Air Force blue and white and decorations, including a couple of large bombs, have been installed. One bomb is atop the fountain in the pool. Another hangs over the entrance to the bath house.

All personnel of the Midland Army Flying School and members of their families will enjoy swimming privileges. A program has been worked out, designating days and hours officers, cadets and enlisted men may swim.

Life guards and attendants for the pool are furnished by the Army and are on duty all hours the pool is open.

Brooklyn Slams Out 15 Hits For Wide Victory To Increase Loop Lead

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers took care of whatever was crucial about their series with the second place Cardinals Saturday, pounding the St. Louis club into submission, 10 to 4, for their third successive victory over Billy Southworth's men.

The Cards came into Ebbets Field two days ago riding high on a seven-game winning streak and with high hopes of cutting into the National League leaders, pace-setting margin. After dropping two close ones and then seeing four of their pitchers walloped for 15 hits, the Redbirds found themselves trailing by seven and one-half games and the Dodgers enjoying their biggest advantage of the season. The final two games of the season will be played Sunday.

For five innings the Cards kept pace with the Dodgers and as early as the third inning led by 4-2 as both of the starting pitchers, Lon Warneke and Curt Davis, were pounded hard. Hugh Casey relieved Davis during the Cards' third inning uprising and checked them with two hits the remainder of the game to receive credit for the victory.

Texas Horse Runs One Of Fastest Mile-And-A-Quarters In History

NEW YORK (AP)—The three year old racing situation became as scrambled as a platter of boarding house eggs again Saturday when Shut Out was soundly beaten in the Dwyer Stakes by the Texas Flier, Valdina Orphan, in one of the fastest mile and a quarter races ever run.

Victor over Alsab in the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes, and generally conceded to have a strange hold on the championship of three year olds Mrs. Payne Whitney's chocolate colt came from last place to run second—but he couldn't do a thing to catch Emerson Woodward's high speed galloper over Aqueducts lightning-fast layout.

For, with a crowd of 23,833 looking on in amazement after backing the so no Equipse down to 13-to-20 in the betting, "The Orphan" led from end to end under Jockey Carroll Bierman's blistering ride to hit the wire in 2:01 2/5 in the 54th running of this ancient grind. And in disproving the theory that he couldn't run that far, even with an outboard motor, the pride of the Valdina Farms Stables posted a mark that has been bettered only rarely in racing history.

At the finish, it the Orphan by two lengths to pick up the $21,150 pot o'gold waiting there and return his backers $7 for each $2 win ticket. Shut Out was $2.40 for place, and Joseph M. Robeling's Lochinvar, ran third to pay $2.40 for show. The rest of the field of six ran so far back they didn't resemble horses in the distance.

Barna And Ott Homer As Giants Win 8 To 1

Joe DiMaggio Doubles For Only Hit Off Al Smith As Yanks Lose

CLEVELAND (AP)—Throttled by Lefty Al Smith's one-hit pitching, the pace-setting New York Yankees dropped their fourth straight game and their fifth in their last six outings Saturday at the Cleveland Indians took a 1 to 0 pitching duel.

Smith, who stopped Ernie Bonham's string of pitching victories at eight games recently, again outpointed the Yankee righthander with the Indians pushing over the lone run of the game in the seventh on successive singles by Ken Keltner, Les Fleming and Eustace Mills. Joe DiMaggio, whose 56-game hitting streak was broken last year by the combined pitching of Smith and Jim Bagby, got the only hit off the Indians' southpaw—a double in the second inning. DiMaggio and Buddy Hassett, safe on Smith's error in the seventh, were the only Yankees to get on base as Smith didn't issue a pass. He fanned five.

Bill Day, known to Midland for his basketball achievements with the Midland Army Flying School team last fall, took the biggest step of his life Saturday—the matrimonial step. A lieutenant at MAFS, the world's largest bombardier college, Bill uses the handle of Wilford K. Day while making business contacts.

Bill hails from Hiram, Ohio where he attended college and was a one-man basketball star. For four years he saw plenty of Bill Day up in that country, and now he is set to hit the basket for Uncle Sam—bombs for the basketball and any enemy objective as the basket—the Japs and Nazis will be seeing plenty of Bill Day, the basketball star, if he is ever called for foreign service.

The Feud Never Dies

The feud never dies between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals. Spikes were riding high, decisions were close, and fists flew while umpires administered the heave-ho when the smoke cleared away at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn Thursday.

The same old thing was the spark. Ducky Medwick tried to steal second after he had walked in Thursday's game. Catcher for the Cardinals missed the pitch, Medwick ran, the catcher threw to the shortstop, Medwick elevated his spikes to a dangerous height, the umpire shouted OUT and the shortstop contested Medwick in a little game of back busting. Players moved in from positions and out of the dugouts, and one of the most beautiful feuds in history took new form. There's just one thing I can't understand and that is where Leo Durocher was all the time. Probably letting loose his lip as usual.

One of the most successful, yet unsuccessful, coaches in West Texas, joined the armed forces Thursday. Joe Coleman, veteran Odessa High football mentor, will do his coaching for Uncle Sam for a while, having enlisted in the Navy.

Coleman has been coach at Odessa for several years, and he has always turned up with some sort of a ball club. He has never had a team win district 3-AA, but I'll wager that he has had a couple that came as close not to win as anyone ever heard of. Back in 1939, the year district 3-AA took on its present form, Coleman's squad started out with a bang—but ended sounding like a penny pack of firecrackers. The same thing happened in 1940, and in '41 the big guns were rolled into position. Odessa whipped the tar out of everything in the conference except Lamesa, but were robbed of the championship on an intelligence charge by Sweetwater. Hard luck just seems to ride with Coleman, but maybe it will change.

Cornelius Warmerdam Is Big Gun In A.A.U. Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—Cornelius Warmerdam, a cloud-bruising vaulter from California, and Gil Dods, a scripture-quoting miler from Boston, all but ran away with the National AAU senior track and field meet Saturday.

Warmerdam established one of the day's two record by hinging the pole vault bar to 15 feet, 2 1/2 inches, adding one and three-eighths inches to the mark he set in 1940. Dods repeated his indoor triumph over Lester MacMitchell, New York University graduate, in the 1,500 meters, or metric mile.

Browns Make It Two In Row Over Philadelphia

ed a foul into the stands. The spectator who caught it was reluctant to throw it back.

"You'll have to return all balls," chided a soldier. "We give them to the Phils." The Phils must be in a tough spot. There is no end to the slanderous (or are they) remarks and jokes about them, and the rough part is, they can't do anything about it. Things wouldn't be so bad if they could sort of jump out of the cellar division sometime and make the fans eat their words.

RIGHT WRONG

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney

During a recent championship bridge tournament, a blackout occurred at the moment when one declarer was confronted with a problem as to which way to take a finesse. The declarer remarked later that the blackout gave him more time to concentrate, and he was able to figure out the correct play. Here is the hand.

After taking the ace of diamonds, East led the spade, which was won by the declarer. The ten of diamonds was led and the jack held. East led the queen of diamonds and declarer ruffed.

South led a trump to North's jack. East discarding the heart deuce. North led his last diamond and the declarer ruffed it.

Then came the blackout. When the lights went on again, declarer unhesitatingly cashed the ace of clubs, and finessed against West for the club queen. He made five-odd, the extra trick being vital in match point play.

During the blackout, South had been able to reason his play out as follows: West had opened the fourth-best diamond from king-x-x-x. Most players will not lead away from a king if the hand offers a reasonable alternative. Why did West fail to open the mild club suit? It must be because he held the queen-x-x. If he held four clubs to the queen, or even three small clubs, he probably would have preferred that lead to the diamond.

SERIAL STORY

SPORTING BLOOD

BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

OUT ON BAIL CHAPTER X

HUNTER DENT gawped at Sheriff Anderson. "What do you mean, Sheriff—burn out the seat of my pants? What is all this, anyway?"
 Anderson, grinning, unlocked the cell door. "Come along. You'll know all in good time."
 Hunter followed the officer a block along the side street to the court house. In a few moments they were with Judge Elkins.
 "Young man," Judge Elkins said, "you are free. Go your way."
 "What—what do you mean?"
 "Your bond has been posted, and until your case comes up for trial you may come and go as you please."
 "But—who went on my bond, Judge Elkins?" Hunter still was dazed.
 "Your bondsman wishes to remain anonymous. You are dismissed."
 "Well, what do you know?" Hunter said wonderingly as he went out into the free, open sunshine. He stared all about, at the sky, the trees, the busy little city.

From the newspaper Hunter had the place where the girl, Sally Kiker, lived. He was remembering something about Sally, too. When he had first read the name it was oddly familiar to him. Then he remembered, Sally Kiker was Sam Doolittle's girl. Sam was the son of Squire Doolittle, the constable and owner of the little store out Hunter's way. Hunter and Doolittle were good friends; and it was more than likely that Sam Doolittle was the escort Sally had so far shielded. It was a lead worth following.

HUNTER made his way there. Once past the bad corner the street became somewhat better and Hunter knocked at the door of a small but neat house of recent FHA vintage. Sally herself came to the door. She was a buxom girl, with a milkmaid freshness; she was the authentic thing, instead of the synthetic type that Red Ballard had been.
 "Good morning. This is Hunter Dent, from the Ballard Estates. You are Miss Kiker? May I come in a few moments? I wanted to talk with you about the bank-messenger matter." He added quickly, seeing the swift hostile change that came upon her. "I happen to have been put in jail charged with that murder, Miss Kiker. I'm out on bond now. I had no more to do with that unfortunate matter than you did. I have to find out all I can about it, because my case will come up at the winter session of criminal court, and—well, you can see how it is with me." He smiled at his best smile. "I know Sam Doolittle," he added. "I know his father very well."

 "Well, Mr. Dent!" she smiled. She had read about him in the paper, as he had about her. They talked of the Doolittles, father and son. "If you'll call Mr. Doolittle and ask about me I am sure you will feel free to help me. What I wanted was for you to tell me exactly what you saw the other night; better still, go with me and let us go over the ground together."
 "As soon as I can change my dress," she said.
 He heard her telephoning Doolittle's store. When she reappeared she was cordial. Hunter found her one of those people you seem always to have known. They walked up the street to the corner, crossing to the east side, they stopped at a dark doorway which led into the stairs mounting to the top of the unpainted frame vacant store here.
 "If I tell you who was with me you won't give me away?" she asked.
 "I've already guessed it was Sam. Go ahead—I don't know, so you're safe."
 "Well, the other night we were coming from the picture show uptown. This is a pretty bad part of town—you know that. We heard somebody coming along. Sam pulled me in the door here. He has a milk route and he knows what a wicked spot it is. We saw a young fellow come past. He was walking fast. He carried something under his arm. His hat was pulled down over his face, so we couldn't tell anything about him much. He had dark clothes and maybe a colored shirt. He looked clean. Sam thought he had his hand in his coat pocket as if on a gun. You know how they keep them ready. I couldn't tell, myself."
 "Just as we were about to come out and start off again, here came somebody running like everything. We jerked back in here. This time I saw a good-looking young man all dressed up. Had on a silk hat and tails, and I saw the pistol in his hand. He was yelling at the one ahead to halt and stick 'em up—you know how they do those things. Then it just happened so fast you couldn't make heads nor tails of it. Shooting and yelling and when I looked out, like this—from right here," and she stood so she peered around the edge of the door facing, at an angle across the street. "I saw two other men. They seemed to come from around the corner of the pressing shop there, or maybe they could have been hiding in that stairway yonder."

 "You know, though, there were two?" Hunter said.
 "I'm sure," she said.
 "What did they look like?"
 "Well, the street light here is so sorry I couldn't tell, very well. Besides, they were under the awning there, and you couldn't see much."
 "Would you say they were just about of a size, and kind of sleek like, and maybe a little under average height?"
 She nodded, adding, "And dressed in dark, too. They looked almost dirty. But they were not. They were fixing the street, there—putting down fresh tar and gravel. There was a long plank on barrels across the street, and these kerosene flares. Well, the shooting started and I was so scared I didn't know which way was straight up. All I seem to remember was the dressed-up young man running out of sight that way," she pointed down the side street, toward the river road. "He must have had a car down there somewhere. I heard it when it went off with a big roar. And that's all I can remember. Sam and I ran. We saw the man lying in the street, where he had been shot and killed. I lost my purse in the door here, or they'd never have known I was about. Well, that's the way of it."

HUNTER took her home, and went back uptown. He took a taxi to the hospital and was allowed to visit Junior a moment. The boy grinned at him wanly. He was still too weak to talk. As he went out on the street, Red came up in her car. She was the very person Hunter wanted to see, though he just then thought of it. "Did you go my bail, Red?" he demanded.
 "If you must know, and I suppose you must, it was Hank Temple's father, at the bank."
 "Red, I've been over that ground down there, and I have a theory. Junior was in that crazy stick-up, all right. He was the young man in tails who started it on a bet. But the parties who changed the joke into a tragedy were not fooling. They saw a chance to pick up seventeen thousand bucks. They didn't get the money."
 "No, Hunter," Red said. "But I know who did, and who has it now!"

Rubber Salvage Drive Nets 60,000 In First Week In Ward County

MONAHANS, (Sp1)—An estimated 60,000 pounds of rubber have been collected in Ward county in the first week of the nation-wide rubber salvage drive, local service stations operators report. More than 100,000 pounds are expected to be collected before the two-weeks drive ends.
 Running hand in hand with the nation wide rubber salvage campaign, the City Council has announced that city trucks will pick up metal, rags, bones, and paper which are also vital in the war effort. The trucks are to make the main pickup on Thursday and Friday. Residents are being urged to gather up all salvageable materials and place them in front of their homes by Wednesday evening.

 The material collected other than rubber will be sold and proceeds will be donated by the city to some war-time welfare organization.

May Delay Monahans Army Port Building

MONAHANS—A Monahans site for a primary training school for the Army Air Force has been approved, but it is reported that construction will not begin before March of 1943.

Heavy building programs already under way, and the need for the training planes at sites already built and being built, was reported to have delayed the starting of the proposed field.

McCAMEY BOY ON CARRIER
McCAMEY (Sp)—Rex Gilbreath, son of Mrs. Lela Gilbreath of McCamey, is home on a 12-day furlough. He was among the survivors of the Lexington which was sunk in the Coral Sea battle May 8. Young Gilbreath enlisted in the Navy a year ago, and was a gunner on the Lexington. He helped man the anti-aircraft during the Coral Sea naval conflict.

'Kings Row' Vibrant And Memorable Screen Drama With Matchless Cast

Ann Sheridan and Ronald Reagan, co-starred for the first time, prove tempestuous screen lovers in "Kings Row", the Yucca's new picture, which brings Henry Bellamann's well-known novel to vibrant life on the screen.

These Flying Dutchmen - They Have Been Through Hell, And Going Back

Dutch soldiers who have seen the "hell" in Holland, Java and the East Indies are now among the "Hell from Heaven Men" at Midland Army Flying School, world's largest bombardier training center. Head instructor of this group of Dutch aerial fighters is a young lieutenant, Henck Paalman, who justly deserves his place among the ranks of the "most dangerous men in the world." When the Jap invasion of Java began, bombardier Paalman in an obsolete bomber sank more than 30,000 tons of Jap shipping and accounted for approximately 15,000 Jap troops. He is considered one of the finest bombardiers in the Royal Dutch Air Force. Will Go Back Soon.

According to the lieutenant, the Dutch bombardiers will go to tactical duty with their own air force upon completion of the course here. However, some will receive advanced training in navigation and observation at other fields.

Lieutenant Paalman is an ardent admirer of General MacArthur and says that nothing would suit him better than to be assigned to a Dutch squadron under the American general.

However, among the student bombardiers, opinion is divided. Some would like to go to England and help chase the Axis out of the "hell" in Holland, Java and the East Indies and others would like to return to Australia and fight on the Pacific front.

Like West Texas
According to the cadets, West Texas is a peculiar place, but they say they believe they'll like it as soon as they become accustomed to the altitude and the heat. They wouldn't comment on the dust! The sight of cowboy hats and teggallon hats, they say is, extremely amusing.

Commanding officer of the detachment is lieutenant Theodore J. D. Sizoo, who has along with a few of the other students seen active combat duty in Java and in the East Indies.

Like Bombsight
According to the students, the American bombardier and his bombsight are famous the world over, and they expressed the feeling that it is a great privilege to learn bombardiering the American way.

The Dutch take essentially the same course of ground school and aerial instruction as that given to aviation cadets, but they do not receive a commission at the end of the course.

The American military system of schooling is very good, they say, and so far they have had but little difficulty mastering the intricacies of the fine art of bombing.

WAR DAMAGE INSURANCE

Available July 1, 1942

SINCE before Pearl Harbor, officials of the National Association of Insurance Agents, Insurance Companies and of the Government have been hard at work in the preparation of a plan to protect both the national public interest and private interests against war damage without endangering the present fire insurance protection of millions of home and property owners.

Successful completion of the plan has been announced by Mr. Jesse Jones, the basic points being:

Automatic Insurance Ends July 1st

Soon after Pearl Harbor, Congress passed legislation providing temporary automatic war-damage protection for nearly all tangible property. By the legislation, such protection terminates July 1, by which time a permanent plan was to be worked out.

Joint Agent-Company-Government Plan

The new protection is to be provided by the Government owned billion dollar War Damage Corporation. The established fire insurance companies will act as Fiduciary Agents for the War Damage Corporation, furnishing the organization and sharing in the risk through reinsurance. Recognized insurance agents will service the business, advise with property owners, take applications, issue policies, collect and remit premiums.

Coverage Provided

The War Damage Corporation "agrees to indemnify the insured against direct physical loss of or damage to the property described in the application which may result from enemy attack, including any action taken by the military, naval or air forces of the United States in resisting enemy attack." It is important to remember that damage by fire resulting from such an attack is war damage and not covered by fire insurance.

This Information Furnished As A Public Service by

Glass & Myrick, Mims & Crane, Sparks & Barron
INSURANCE AGENTS

Risks Not Covered

(1) Policy does not cover burglary, robbery, theft, larceny, pillage or looting during blackout; (2) neglect of insured . . . after a loss; (3) confiscation, nationalization, expropriation, requisition, commandeering, capture, seizure, sequestration or detention; (4) use and occupancy, rents or consequential.

Property Not Covered

Policy contains the same exclusions as standard fire policy, unless specified in writing, on intangibles, art objects, dies, etc., plus furs, jewelry and precious stones (except $1,000 limit), pleasure watercraft, standing timber.

Underwriting Rules

Written application and full pre-payment of premium required. Insurance effective 3 days after receipt of application. One year policies only. Minimum premium, $300 per policy.

Rates

The rates vary according to the class and construction of risks and are sufficiently low to make war damage protection available for all property owners.

Changes In Wink Airfield Plans Are Said Likely

WINK — The possibility of the Wink airport being built for use only by the CAA, while the Army moved to a site at Pyote and developed another field for the training of British airmen, has been rumored here for several days. In the meantime, Army engineers are proceeding with the work of fencing the site, and adding other preliminary work as no orders have been issued to the contrary.

It is reported that the nearness of the proposed field at Wink to the present beam of the regular scheduled passenger airline has brought consideration of the advisability of keeping the training pilots at a greater distance from the regular beam.

The Army had planned, it is reported, to build a supplementary landing field at Pyote, and if the rumored change is made, it will develop that site into a full-fledged field instead of an emergency landing place.

Texas has a maximum length of 801 miles from the southern tip near Brownsville to the northwest corner of the Panhandle.

With its six million inhabitants, Texas ranks sixth in population among the 48 states.

Wedding Here Climaxes Couple's College Romance

A college romance was climaxed in the wedding here Saturday afternoon of Miss Jeanne Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hartman of Wooster, Ohio, and Lieutenant Wilford K. Day of Midland Army Flying School, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Day of Hiram, Ohio.

The Rev. Robert J. Snell, Episcopal minister, read the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock in Trinity Episcopal Church in the presence of a group of military and civilian friends of the couple.

Mrs. Robert S. Dewey was at the organ for the wedding music, playing "Because" and "O Promise Me" as the prelude; "Oh, Perfect Love" during the recital of vows; and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

The bride, who was attended by Miss Margaret Topovski of Wooster, Ohio, as maid of honor, wore a street-length dress of white pique with sweetheart neckline, full skirt and fitted bodice. Her accessories were all white and her flowers an orchid corsage.

Miss Topovski wore a street dress of powder blue silk jersey with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Lieutenant Edward A. Van Dyke of Midland Army Flying School was best man.

Visit Ruidoso

After the wedding, Lieutenant and Mrs. Day left by automobile for Ruidoso, New Mexico, on their honeymoon. On their return they will live at 305 S. Pecos.

Both bride and groom are graduates of Hiram College where they met. Lieutenant Day was a four-year letter man in basketball at the college and a star player there and on the MAFS team here. He came to Midland Army Flying School from Ellington Field, Houston, in January, and is a pilot with Squadron One.

Coffee Odality.

When serving coffee to an unbeliever, Arabian sheiks pour the beverage into the cup carefully two or three drops at a time. They prevent the vapor from rising and going back into the spout thus defiling the coffee pot.

Rebekah State President Holds School Here

Mrs. Ruby Jobe of Waco, state president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, conducted a school of instruction here Friday evening for members of the Midland and Odessa Rebekah chapters.

Proceeding the school, a dinner was given at the Crawford Hotel honoring Mrs. Jobe. Tables in V-shape were decorated with patriotic colors. Red, white, and blue candles and flowers and victory symbols furthered the patriotic theme.

Mrs. Hugh Coplin gave the salutation and presented the visiting official with a corsage of War Savings Stamps as a courtesy from the Midland chapter.

The response was made by Mrs. Grace Hendricks of Odessa, who presented Mrs. Jobe with a gift from the Odessa chapter.

Piano selections were presented by Elaine Hendrick who also accompanied Joyce Adams in her violin solos. Billy Coplin played a piano solo and duet with Elaine.

Twenty-four were present for the dinner.

The school of instruction was held in the I. O. O. F. Hall with about 30 in attendance.

The group sang "God Bless America" and Mrs. Grace Bishop of Odessa offered prayer.

Mrs. Jobe urged that all Rebekahs buy War Savings Stamps each month.

Trio Of Hostesses Has In-Honor Affair At O. C. Harper Home

Three girls who have been friends since grammar-school days of Miss Jeanne Davis, bride-elect of Captain William W. Walmsley, and who will attend her as bridesmaids in her wedding July 11, entertained in her honor with a miscellaneous shower, Saturday p. m.

The hostess-trio included Miss Jean Lewis, Miss Barbara Jean Harper, and Miss Jessa Lynn Tuttle. The courtesy was in the form of a tea from 4 o'clock until 6 at the home of Mrs. O. C. Harper, 1901 Brunson.

Guests were greeted by Miss Davis, her mother, Mrs. W. Chappell Davis, and Captain Walmsley's mother, Mrs. E. H. Walmsley.

The three hostesses, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Walmsley had tailored corsages of yellow calla lilies. The bride-elect's corsage was of yellow gladiolus and white lilies-of-the-valley.

Yellow and white daisies and other mixed garden flowers decorated the reception rooms.

Gifts were on display during the tea hours.

A cream lace cloth was used on the tea table, with flat massed bouquets of blue delphinium, yellow calla lilies, and white gladiolus as floral decor. Centering the table was the cutglass punchbowl where Miss Freda Fae Turner, who will be maid of honor for Miss Davis, presided for the first hour and Miss Montez Downey, sorority sister of the bride-elect, presided for the second hour.

Only the younger friends of Miss Davis and their mothers were on the invitation list. About 60 guests called.

Midland Cookie Corps Is On Job

The Midland Cookie Corps is on the job! About 200 women have signed up in the organization to assist in keeping enlisted men who visit the Soldiers Center on N Main Street plentifully supplied with cookies like mother used to make.

Included in the number are members of the various Federated clubs of the city, church organizations, smaller clubs, and some individuals. To understand the work of the Corps one need only to take a look at its past record. In one week recently members supplied twenty-one dozen cookies for a Thursday night's square dance and thirty-six dozen for a Saturday night's dance.

During the past week, there were three dance nights at the Soldiers Center, which meant many more soldiers equalling dozens more cookies. Punch served at the dances is not supplied by the Corps members. Their job is confined to cookies—and plenty of them!

And just in case the cookie baker has wondered whether to use her family's favorite recipe for the little cakes, the answer is yes. YES. The boys prefer the home-baked cookies and eat them first before finishing off the commercial-made ones.

So no matter whether they're thin and crisp, or have delightful surprise chunks of fruits or nuts or chocolate, the Cookie Corps cookie maker can know that her cakes are going to be enjoyed just as much by the boys in khaki as by her own lads who get them hot from the oven.

Each club in the corps will supply the cookies for a week in its turn.

But it isn't necessary to belong to some organization in order to serve in the corps. Mrs. Ben Rogers, Cookie Corps chairman, has a list of women who have joined the corps as individuals and she will welcome all others interested and call upon them when they are needed. She invites anyone wishing to join to call her at telephone 466.

Square Lake Pool
In the active Square Lake pool of Eddy Sanders Brothers No. 1-E Etz, section 34-16-30e, flowed 230 barrels of oil per day through 2-inch tubing set at 2,722 feet. It topped pay in sand at 2,940 feet, is bottomed at 2,985 feet in lime and was shot between those points with 240 quarts.

S. P. Yates and associates are rigging up spudder at No. 1 Evans, Square Lake location 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 5-17-30e, Continental Oil Company staked No. 1-36 State 1,960 feet from the north and west lines of section 36-16-30e.

Nell H. Wills of Carlsbad No. 5-C Keyes, section 15-20-30e, in the Barber pool of Eddy, was completed on pump for hourly natural production of 11 barrels of oil cut 11 per cent with water. It topped pay at 1,578 feet and drilled to 1,641 feet in lime. Wills has spudded and is drilling below 150 feet in his No. 4 State, 1,650 feet from the south and 2,310 from the east line of section 17-20-30e.

Richmond Drilling Company of Midland No. 1-B Shell-State, Western Lea County wildcat between the Vacuum and Maljamar pools, is drilling past 3,982 feet in anhydrite. Driller called top of brown lime at 3,143 feet. The test is in the center of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 10-17-33e.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett

Just because they can't feel they shouldn't take a trip this summer is no reason why Mama and Papa can't have a vacation.

They won't get one, though, if they plan to spend their two weeks like fourteen Sundays in a row, sticking around home, getting in a little reading, a lot of puttering, and complaining bitterly about the heat.

The couple who intends to spend its vacation in town ought to plan it as carefully as it has always planned it cross-country marathons. Husbands and wives without children can vacation in their own homes by spending some of the money a trip would have cost them, having the cooking and housework done, so that Mama gets a real rest, too.

NEED A REST MORE THAN EVER
But, where there are children Mama and Papa need to turn the house over to them—with someone called in to take charge—and find other, quieter lodgings for themselves.

A cabin, if there is a lake or mountains nearby, a tourist camp if there is one in a cool, quiet spot, or a restful downtown hotel will give them the freedom and brief escape from responsibility they need. Men and women both are working harder than ever—and if they ever needed a vacation, they need it this year. So, they shouldn't let themselves be gyped out of it, if they do have a week or two off from work, just because a real trip is out of the picture.

They won't be if they plan ahead instead of kidding themselves that they'll both get a good rest just because Papa doesn't have to report to work for two weeks.

Splash Fashions

That it doesn't take a high dive to make a nice splash at the beach this summer is indicated by the great, splashy print that decorates Shirley Hinze's black and white, de-lustered rayon swim suit at left, above. At right, she displays a suit of shimmered green, glazed chiniz, worn with matching shoes of two-way stretch fabric.

FEMININE FANCIES

Father's Day—it's a phrase much less familiar than Mother's Day and yet we think it should mean practically the same as the better-known memorial day. Mothers are often neglected, we grant. But not as often or as badly as fathers are. We think Mrs. B. H. Watford, a Midland woman, expresses the idea of a father's services very well when she writes: "Fathers live a multitude of lives; bread winners; home and war front defenders; public servants; with new responsibilities added to old burdens."

Something of the attitude due them she stresses, too, in saying: "How many homes would be maintained in their present luxury, beauty and comfort if it were not for the fathers? Then is it too much to expect that those homes should be an altar, a shrine, a heaven from the storms and troubles of the world that the sheltered and proected home knows nothing of but that fathers must contact every day?

"Ordinary human pleasantness and kindness, justice and sympathy in everyday living will go farther to keep Father safe and contented than all the convicts that sail the seven seas."

Long live Father's Day!

Who said people were not willing to learn? The Reporter-Telegram has exhausted two consignments of the booklet of sugar ration recipes put out by the office of Emergency Management and has asked for a third shipment to be sent.

Not only women and children but men have called at the office asking for the pamphlets. Maybe the men were sent by their wives but we prefer to think they were themselves interested enough to want one of the booklets.

Things we like a lot: Yellow-meated, yellow-cheeked apricots, juicy sweet; the delightfully fresh scent of four o'clock blossoms; sunset colors and a silver of golden moon craned in clouds, even when these things must be seen through the interstices of light, power, and telephone lines from a backyard in town; people with laughter crinkles at the corners of their eyes; hair that naturally curls and long, long eyelashes that sweep upward, curling back from the cheeks; anybody who smiles with quick spontaneity.

Low Brothers PLAX THE UNIVERSAL BEAUTY FINISH

FOR PERFECT ENAMELING RESULTS

Experts and amateurs alike claim LOWE BROTHERS PLAX, the universal beauty gloss for all enameling. And no wonder! PLAX makes it easy to obtain expert results. Adaptable to any surface PLAX hides effectively, covers solidly and flows freely. What's more, PLAX resists wear and weather and many stains and acids—as dramatic "abuse tests" prove. And PLAX, the universal beauty finish, is economical, too, because ordinarily only one coat is needed for refinishing.

Your car and your tires are a vital part of our wartime economy and must be kept rolling for the duration of the war.

It doesn't do a bit of good to put your car up, either. Because rubber deteriorates much more rapidly, when not in use for an extended period of time, than it does when it is kept alive through reasonable and conservative use.

Have your tires serviced regularly, watch your tire pressure carefully, keep your speed under 40 miles per hour, avoid quick stops and starts and MAKE EVERY MILE COUNT!
