Twenty Thousand Thrill To Big Tokyo Bombing Raids

Around The

BULL PEN

By Ray Camp
Turned the milk cows out... after milking them dry... and letting the calves have all the strip-pins... and driving them into the trap... we boarded the old hack... and started to town... to celebrate the Fourth of July!

We was kinda diked out... with boots and shoes shined... and smelling pretty strong of polish... and with Mother wearing a chambray skin mask... to keep the dust... and the blistering sun... from doing away with the few days of "complexioning" she had done for the occasion.

Off to town... through the winding roads... around the mesquites... with only a couple of gates between the ranch and town... and a good team of stepping horses... harness all shined up and seeming to know that we was anxious to get to Uncle Bill's before good dark... and rest overnight for the big goings-on on the Fourth.

And... such a Fourth... Flags out everywhere... and all the kids carrying little flags... and there was a speech by the "best lawyer" in that section... and it was certainly a flaming speech from the heart of a man who really loved America... made even a little boy... tingle clear down to his heels... and love America.

Then there was a mad scramble for the eats... a lot of barbecued beef... and pickles... and coffee... and lemonade. And... every family had a big basket... likely a coconut cake... or a lemon pie or two... or other fine eats... some for other folks in addition to what the family could eat... just swapping this and that... for this and that... and stuffing to the gills... with good food.

And... the sun was a boiling down... and nobody cared... it was the Fourth of July!
Wagons and hacks parked about... sort of a crescent layout... and right out front... and middle... was the place to ride the broncs... and do a little roping and tying... and hold the "tournament." Lots of folks don't even know what a tournament is... but it (Continued on page 3)

Another son of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, J. D. Robinson, who has been in the Army for more than two years, is now stationed with a Field Artillery unit in Camp Blanding, Florida.

Mexican Leaders Observe Fourth Ceremoniously

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexican officials celebrated the United States Independence Day with more ceremony than the American colony Saturday, as symbol of the new sympathy between the two nations.

There were no official United States celebrations except a dinner at night. Ambassador George S. Messersmith cancelled the usual Fourth of July reception at the Embassy, following the White House's policy of having no large gatherings during the war. However, the Ambassador was kept on the run during the day, making three formal speeches.

West Texans Get Taste Of Air Raiding, As Midland Army Flying Aces Stage Big Show

West Texas got a taste of war Saturday as 75 twin-motored bombers of the Midland Army Flying School roared over a miniature Tokyo and demolished it with bombs.

It was Midland's biggest Fourth of July celebration and probably the greatest in the history of West Texas.

Brigadier General I. Davies, commanding officer at the Bombardier College, conservatively estimated the crowd which witnessed the spectacular demonstration of the "Hell from Heaven Men" at 20,000.

Right on schedule the thunderous crash of hundreds of bombs and the vicious roar of the bombers gave West Texans a taste of war.

Accurate, Deadly
Sweeping over the model of the Japanese capital which was erected 17 miles south of the Bombardier College, the planes dropped their eggs with accuracy and methodically reduced the miniature city to rubble while the crowd watched grimly.

The attack staged to demonstrate the skill of bombardiers of the Army Air Force and to stimulate national interest in the training of bombardiers, was described by General Davies as "a grand thing for the school."

"Bombardiers gave an excellent performance and the program moved like clockwork."
Two attacks were staged, one at 2 p. m. The other at 10 p. m.

News, Cameramen Here
Newspaper and magazine writers, news camera men and news reel cameramen from New York, Los Angeles, Dallas, Fort Worth and other large cities were here for the bombing demonstration and witnessed it from the air. They rode with the pilots and the bombardiers in the twin-engined bombers.

Thousands of cars were parked only 600 yards from the model city in the ranch country when the first attack opened.

The model of Tokyo was laid out to scale, 300 feet representing a mile. Offering a tempting target were docks, forts, breakwater, warehouses, refineries, factories, ships, railroads, homes and other structures. All were made of cardboard and scrap lumber.

Twenty Thousand Shudder
Twenty thousand West Texans shuddered, tried to calm the cold chills which ran down their spines during the thunderous crash of the bombs and during the precision flying of the planes in the various formations. But they stayed to see the bombing of "Tokyo" by the (Continued on page 3)

Testing these fast warplanes is one of the easiest and most simple jobs, or rather, pleasures that a man could undertake. CHUNGKING (AP)—An important portion of the American volunteer group, the Flying Tigers, spent Friday and Saturday in fierce air battles with the Japanese, downing at least five enemy planes in a parting fling as a separate fighting force, according to incomplete reports. The United States ship was sunk off the northern coast of South America and survivors were landed at an East coast port. The Panamanian vessel was torpedoed in the Gulf of Mexico and survivors were landed at a Gulf port.

Attacks on Hankow by the Chinese Air Force and an announcement by the United States Navy of losses inflicted in the recent Battle of Midway have raised the total of Japanese ships sunk since Pearl Harbor to approximately 303 vessels of all classifications. The total is based upon official admissions by the United Nations and Japanese official admissions.

British Halt Nazi For Third Successive Day

By Richard McMurray
Associated Press War Editor
The determined British Army of the Nile stayed for the third successive day the critical German threat to Alexandria and all Egypt and the Axis forces Saturday night showed signs of weariness and lost momentum.

In the equally vital battle of the Ukraine, the stalwart Russian Army met and contained the full fury of a 100-mile-wide Nazi offensive and counterattacked with success while consuming the enemy's mechanized might at the rate of an armored division a day.

Light Army Bombers Strike At Germany In Initial Offensive

By J. Wes Gallagher
LONDON (AP)—The United States Army air forces set off their first fireworks in Western Europe on this Fourth of July with bombs and strafing raids on German airdromes, planes, installations and enemy airmen in Holland and on Nazi patrol ships offshore.

Home nis battered and tattered plane on one engine after it was all but knocked out by anti-aircraft fire.

Two American-manufactured planes were missing after the operation but one was officially declared to have been still under control when last sighted over its target. The other was shot down by anti-aircraft fire—the first American Army air casualty on the continent. One of the six British planes also failed to return.

It was stressed in the first two American communiqués and in the British Air Ministry communique that the raids were carried out just over the ground—"hedge-nopping."

Bombs were sent bursting on hangars and administration buildings at three airdromes and at least one enemy fighter plane was set afire on the ground. The damage was declared to be "considerable."

One propeller and the starboard nose of his plane were shot away, bullets clipped his tail section and one engine caught fire.

NEW BAR OFFICERS
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Claude E. Carter of Harlingen was installed Saturday as the new president of the State Bar of Texas.

Other officers installed as the bar closed its annual convention were Major T. Bell, Beaumont, vice-president, and William J. Park, Tyler, secretary.

Meanwhile, at home, the day was dedicated, not to the usual fire-crackers, picnics, and motor tours, but to whirring factory wheels and busy assembly lines lest, said President Roosevelt, a single hour be wasted, or a single shot withheld.

Daylight Ahead

For the first time since the United States began its mad race to arm the anti-Axis world before Hitler could blitz democracy out of existence, we begin to see daylight ahead in the steel situation.

So far as it is possible to determine, pressure upon steel is beginning to lessen. Unless we are obliged once again to increase our production goals, soon the world's greatest and most efficient metal industry should prove ample for our needs.

Ample, that is, for our military needs, which today are all that really matter. There is not going to be any steel to waste. There is not going to be enough steel for ordinary civilian goods, even if the plant and the manpower were available to use it.

Industrial and governmental experts say our ingot capacity—the plant with which to make raw steel in its elementary form—is sufficient.

When the conversion of automobile continuous strip mills is completed, by the end of 1942, the bottleneck in steel plate probably will be broken.

With the completion of the world's greatest rush building program, and in view of the shutdown in non-essential civilian construction, the bottleneck in structural shapes should disappear.

The principal fly in the ointment today, looking ahead to tomorrow, is whether even a three-ship-a-day maritime program will suffice to overcome sinkings and build up the merchant marine and transport service we must have to beat Hitler.

If sinkings continue at their present pace, we may have to shoot for a yet higher level of ship construction. Then, indeed, we might find a new bottleneck in steel plate.

Without letting optimism run riot, we believe the sinkings are going to be brought under control to such an extent that three ships a day seven days a week, will do the job.

That confidence looks forward not only to improved naval technique, which insiders profess to see working out, but also to the building of hordes of small anti-submarine craft capable of overwhelming the decreasing number of U-boats the Axis can produce and man and send into shipping lanes.

The steel industry undoubtedly has made mistakes. So have governmental agencies dealing with steel. But considering the monumental task and the pressure under which it had to be accomplished, we believe that both are entitled to sincere commendation.

Hitler On The Spot

We have pointed out that the United Nations' current military setbacks are no more than inevitable incidents in the process of beating an enemy who, not long ago, was supposed to be invincible.

Here are some further thoughts which are not wishful thinking. By keeping them firmly in mind, we can maintain a sane perspective.

The United States is the greatest industrial nation in the world. The resources of the United Nations, in materials and plant, infinitely surpass anything to which the Axis has access.

For that reason, as of today, we cannot lose this war. We could have lost a few months ago. We should, in all logic, have lost in the autumn of 1939 and the spring of 1940. Then the United States was asleep. Britain had just awakened, to find herself naked and unarmed in front of a murderous maniac with every conceivable weapon at his command.

We might easily have lost in 1941, if brave Serbia had not ruined Hitler's schedule and Russia had not refused to be beaten.

When Hitler did not win in 1940 or 1941, he gave us an opportunity to retrieve ourselves.

Up to late last year, all we possessed was potential power, unusable against Hitler. It was like a safe fence, a long way off, with a mad bull chasing us through a pasture. The fence would stop the bull, but how could we reach it before we were gored to death?

Then the bull permitted himself to be diverted. Hitler stopped to polish off Russia, and caught a tartar. We kept racing toward the fence—toward building the armies and armaments which would make us, and not Hitler, invincible.

Now we know we can make the fence. We're not out of danger. We may yet stumble and fall. But if we do, we can blame only ourselves.

In 1940, General Marshall told us frankly we should have to spend 100 billion dollars to put our military might on a parity with Hitler's. Thus far we've spent less than 35 billions. Meanwhile Japan's entrance has raised the ante. We may have yet to spend another 100 billions.

We're pouring out war material at the rate of four billion dollars' worth a month, while Hitler fiddles in front of Moscow and daren't stop.

He can't beat us after this year. Therefore he is putting everything he has into a knockout attempt. He is hurting us. But while he grows weak, we grow strong.

Save Now To Avoid That Two-Front Problem

O'Daniel Condemns Gasoline Ration Plan As Rank Folly, Speaking Here

Condemning the rationing plans invoked or threatening to be invoked, and predicting that gasoline would not be rationed in the Southwest, Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, speaking in Midland Friday night in the interest of his candidacy for reelection, declared that the sugar and the proposed gasoline rationing plans were utter foolishness. He said that they were or would work untold hardships on the folks who are in danger of being so impoverished that they could not even make a normal contribution to the national war effort. He said, however, that if President Roosevelt came to the conclusion that such rationing should be carried out, that he would support the President.

O'Daniel spoke to several hundred people on the courthouse lawn, outlining his views of national problems, of Texas' industrial opportunities, and roundly condemned the activities of those men whom he termed "labor racketeers." He spoke briefly of Dan Moody and Jimmy Allred, his opponents, and predicted that he would defeat both in the first vote, saying there would be no runoff.

He declared that the war is not an issue in the senatorial race, but that war is a problem, not a political football, and an issue far afield from politics. "The real issue," he said, "is 'Shall we be able to maintain and preserve our American form of democracy after the war is won?'"

"The American people have already lost their greatest freedom," he continued, "the right to work. Now before a man or woman can work for the defense of his country he is stopped at the factory gate by a labor racketeer and made to pay for the privilege of working."

"Why? Because that is the aim of Communism, to get control of the nation, not by violence and revolution, but by a sly and silent plan of action, one intended to infiltrate our full way of life, and lead us to destruction." He then told of support of the bill which he had sponsored in Texas outlawing strikes, and of the quick reception which it is having by states, though it is still spurned by the United States Senate and House.

He roundly condemned what he termed the "racketeer" leaders of labor unions, and cited cases of malfeasance on the part of some leaders.

O'Daniel then spoke of the need for further industrialization of the state.

Candidates Announce Week's Itineraries

By The Associated Press
Texas' Senatorial struggle—only three weeks from decision day—moved toward the Northern sectors of the state as the three candidates announced itineraries for the coming week that would give none a chance to rest.

Two to four major public meetings a day, plus several radio appearances, were on their schedules. James V. Allred's campaign dates will take him from West Texas across Central Texas, and from thence East and Northeast. Dan Moody was booked in towns and cities in East and North Texas, and W. Lee O'Daniel will continue to comb the Panhandle, Plains and Northwest Texas.

Hal H. Collins

Hal H. Collins, Mineral Wells, spoke in Midland Friday night in the interest of his candidacy for governor of Texas. He condemned lobbyists, liquor near military camps, and horse racing, and promised a fight to the finish to control these factors.

Texas, and outlined somewhat of the part which he had in this movement while governor and which he now continues as a Senator.

Before and after his speaking engagement, the Senator had many visitors at the Scharbauer Hotel, with whom he discussed many of the current economic problems which he feels are being forced on the people for strictly political reasons.

He left with his party by train for El Paso, where he spoke twice Saturday.

Midland Woman's Brother Dies In England June 25

Sergeant Eddie Brown, brother of Mrs. R. DeChicels, 1601 College Street, Midland, was reported killed in action over England June 25.

The Royal Canadian Air Force advised his parents of his death and reported his funeral was held in Stafford, England.

A memorial service has been scheduled for 3 p. m. Sunday at the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, in Big Spring. Brown was a member of this church.

Last November, Eddie, only 20 years old, visited his sister, Mrs. DeChicels, in Midland for the Thanksgiving holiday. Brown attended the first few years of grammar school in Midland.

He enlisted 17 months ago with the RCAF at Windsor, Ontario, Canada. On December 9 he graduated from a training school at Calgary, Alberta. He sailed for England January 12, 1941.

Sgt. Brown had planned to get married on July 14, and was on his last flight prior to a scheduled six-months' leave. He was buried in Suffolk, England.

Survivors include: His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. L. Brown; five brothers, Donald Brown, Sam Brown and Lloyd Brown, all of Big Spring; Albert Brown of Buenos Aires; Argentina, and T. J. Brown in the Marine Corps, at San Diego; Ruby Brown, a sister, of Fort Worth and his sister in Midland.

Engineers, Scientists Await Canada's Call
OTTAWA (AP)—Registration of engineers and scientists with the wartime bureau of technical personnel is nearing the saturation point, according to H. W. Lea, of Montreal, bureau director.

"We estimate there are 25,000 engineers and scientists in Canada and we have complete information on 22,000 of them in our files," Mr. Lea said. "Of those who have registered, more than 75 per cent have expressed a willingness to undertake work which may be considered more essential to the war effort than what they now are doing."

The bureau's power is largely along the lines of the "negative compulsion" policy of Canada's entire manpower program. The bureau's director, representing the labor minister, may require any employer to make provisions to re-instate an employee who leaves temporarily to undertake essential war work but it is seldom necessary to exercise this power, Mr. Lea says.

The 22,000 completed questionnaires in the bureau's files constitute the most complete record ever compiled of Canada's technical manpower. Greatest shortage is in research scientists, of which Canada has only about 2,500.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William R. McKenney
America's Card Authority

One of the surprises of the recent intercollegiate championship tournament was the large number of the 432 contestants who earned a par on Hand No. 3, shown today. East and West can make four hearts or three no trump, but either contract takes care in play.

South West North East
Pass 1 N.T. Pass 3 N.T.
Opening—A J.

Against three no trump North will open the jack of spades. Some West players will go wrong by letting the jack win—a duck that is sometimes right, but incorrect here. Now the problem is to develop enough tricks without letting South in to lead through West's remaining spade stopper. The right plan is to go over to dummy with a diamond, lead a heart, and just cover whatever card South plays. If the heart loser goes to North, declarer can still hold the spades at bay.

A contract of four hearts can be made if the clubs are developed with only one loss. The percentage play is to lead the queen toward the ace, planning a second finesse against the jack if North produces the king.

He Just Held The Stalls In Storage

DENVER (AP)—A Denver dairy, returning to horse-drawn wagon deliveries, decided to install a 40-horse barn in the warehouse district. Seeking material for stalls, the dairy officials found some in a junk yard. They turned out to be the same iron-partition stalls that the dairy had sold to the junk dealer about 20 years ago when it abandoned its horse equipment. The junk dealer sold the stuff back at a good profit.

Buckwheat Utilized As Source Of Honey

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—To the average American buckwheat means breakfast pancakes, but in these days of sugar rationing and labor shortage the crop is being used for honey production and economic poultry feeding, says J. W. White, professor of soil technology at Pennsylvania State College.

When the plants are in flower, an acre of buckwheat may supply enough nectar for bees to make 100 to 150 pounds of honey, he says. Buckwheat blooms after clover is gone and before other flowers develop on which the bees may work. After the grain ripens, it may be used for turkey pasture. "Turkey-down" buckwheat is a new and economical way of harvesting the grain, he points out. According to poultrymen who have tried it, labor is saved and there is a complete utilization of the crop in addition to high replacement of other feeds.

51 Bible School Pupils Receive Certificates

Fifty-one pupils of the Calvary Baptist Church Bible school received certificates for perfect attendance at commencement held in the church Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

A total of 150 were students at the school which has had an average of 104 students attending. Divided into four groups they rank as follows: The Junior group is first; the Primary group is second; the Beginner group is third, and the Intermediate group is fourth in attendance at the Bible school.

About 75 people attended the commencement last Friday. There are more than 8,800,000 autos over ten years old in the United States. In the coming months it is expected that some half million jalopies a month will be reborn as tanks, guns and ships, after their trip from the auto graveyards to the war furnaces.
