Allied Air Raids Speed Confusion Among Invaders

CAIRO. (AP).—Under continued pressure on the ground and heavy attack from the air, the Axis invaders of Egypt have drawn back westward on their southern flank in the battle area of El Alamein, a British communiqué disclosed Tuesday.

Several small enemy columns were engaged and dispersed, the British announced, but the principal land activity was cannonading on both sides.

Aloft, American and British heavy bombers by daylight set fires and hit shipping at Bengasi, principal Axis supply port deep in Libya, and British air raids just behind the lines spread fire and confusion among the enemy.

The main Allied blows appeared to be these widespread air attacks. The fact that the Germans and Italians were pulling back their southern flank despite absence of any great land fighting indicated a fear of being outflanked.

A British military commentator in London said the line once straight north and south, now was bent like a fishhook and that Rommel appeared more reluctant to join action as his communications came more into danger.

While the enemy struck at the Nile Delta area, 65 to 70 miles eastward, with an overnight air raid described as "full scale," Allied aircraft bombed and strafed areas about El Daba and between Matruh and Tobruk.

The British nevertheless were under no illusion that the threat to Egypt and their Alexandria naval base was erased.

Although a steady stream of troops, tanks and guns was moving up to strengthen the British, they conceded that Rommel's position was strong and that he probably was receiving reinforcements also.

Both sides are spent after almost six weeks of ceaseless battles in the tiring dry heat of the desert and it is too early yet to say whether the British have the strength left to try for a knockout.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN EGYPT (AP)—Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck appeared Tuesday to have the Egyptian battle in hand and to have temporarily Marshal Erwin Rommel stopped, but it is still too early to say whether the Allied defenders of Egypt have enough strength left to destroy the invaders or push them back into Libya.

It was cored from 4,705-25 feet, recovering 20 feet of oil-stained lime bearing a sulphur odor. Operations are coring ahead in the prospect. It originally was announced as an 8,000-foot test. Location is in section 25, block A-21, public school land, two and one-half miles west and slightly north of the old Landreth Production Company No. 1 Kirk, discovery pumper of the one-well Kirk area.

Depth of 4,680 feet in anhydrite and shale has been reached by Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 H. B. Granberry, rank wildcat in extreme Western Gaines.

Retail Merchants Report Big Sales Of Bonds, Stamps

Retail merchants' big boost in the sale of War Bonds and War Savings Stamps has given Midland County a new record to date for the month, it was revealed Tuesday by Paul A. Nelson, chairman of the retail merchants' drive.

During the first three days of the month, the sales reported were more than $33,000. This did not include the bonds issued through one of the local banks, as that report is made direct to the county chairman, who is out of the city. It is possible that the first week of the month will see the county well past the half-way mark on the July quota of $97,900.

"We are surely grateful for the great support that the people are giving the movement through the stores," said Nelson. "On that first day the purchases were high, with one store exceeding $5,000, another $2,000 and a third $1,500. When the full reports are in they will be something that all the city will be proud of."

Free Theater Party For Boys And Girls Who Collect Rubber

Yo Ho Skinny. Bring all your old rubber and let's go to the show. J. Howard Hodge, manager of Midland's Theaters, Tuesday announced all youngsters, boys or girls, under 16 years of age will be admitted free to either the Yucca, Ritz or Rex Theaters between 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. Thursday if they bring 5 or more pounds of rubber with them.

Hearing the news, Clint Dunagan, chairman of the salvage committee, said the Midland Bottling Company will give a prize to the youngster who brings the most rubber to each of the theaters, a total of three prizes. The regular theater bills will be shown at each house for the big rubber matinee and in this way Midland hopes to wind up its rubber campaign with a large total.

Boys and girls are urged by Dunagan to canvass their neighborhoods for rubber and get every available scrap to the theaters. Visit your neighbors and turn in their rubber.

America's Armed Forces need this rubber and it is the duty of every citizen to see that they get it. To make the drive a pleasure for the youngsters, Dunagan and Hodge arranged the big party Thursday.

Expanded Medical Education Project Being Studied

AUSTIN (AP)—University of Texas regents are studying a six-point recommendation by President Homer P. Rainey for an expanded program of medical education, research and public service.

The President's proposals, made public as he left on a tour to interview men under consideration for appointment as vice-president in charge of the program, included: Expansion of the medical branch at Galveston.

Enlargement of the College of Nursing at Galveston. Establishment of a state school of dentistry through acceptance of an offer by the Texas Dental College of Houston to donate its facilities to the state.

Inclusion of the University's present College of Pharmacy in the general program. Development of a cancer research project and hospital authorized by the Legislature which appropriated $500,000 and supported also by the Anderson Foundation with a $500,000 grant.

Increased activity in public health and preventive medicine. The President recommended that details of the general plan be worked out by medical experts and that the question of location of units be decided by impartial citizens, including medical educators.

Labelling the proposal "The State of Texas Plan for Medical Education," Dr. Rainey said that he had been studying medical education in Texas for three years and that it was his belief the plan would at least approach Texas' present medical needs.

"It is a program we are able to finance in Texas," he added.

Wire-Trailing Rockets New British Weapon

LONDON (AP)—Wire-trailing rockets were disclosed officially Tuesday as one of Britain's newest weapons of defense against aerial raiders. The weapon, which has been in use to protect merchant ships for more than a year, was described as an apparatus which shoots a projectile that opens into a parachute from which long wires dangle.

The rockets, fired up as planes swoop to attack, often force them to veer off course or risk entanglement in the wires.

Lay Pontoon Bridges To Cross Don River, Seize Rail Center

By The Associated Press. Adolf Hitler's invasion armies, exploiting a swift 120-mile break through, appeared to have cut direct communications between Russia's northern and southern armies in a grave turn of events in the Soviet campaign Tuesday.

German mechanized divisions battled realigned Soviet troops Tuesday before Voronezh, on the Moscow-Rostov railway at the approximate junction of southern and central Red Armies, and a dispatch from the city said "conditions here are extremely hard."

(Adolf Hitler's high command reported the capture of Voronezh, which lies 10 miles east of the upper Don River. The Nazi-controlled Paris radio went further, declaring the Germans were already pushing on from Voronezh "in the direction of Povorino," another important rail junction 140 miles to the east, implying a major breakthrough.)

A dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star said the enemy laid pontoon bridges, repaired damaged spans and sent barges and boats swarming at several points to the east bank of "an important water-line" (apparently the Don) under the cover of bombardments by artillery and aerial squadrons.

Upper Don Is Objective. The upper Don, a major objective on the push from Kursk, lies about 50 miles beyond the point of the Germans' greatest advance across the region in 1941 campaigns.

Soviet tanks were ranged along the east bank of the German-forced water line and were reported throwing back successive waves of Nazi attempting further crossings.

This indicated that the Germans had failed in initial efforts to penetrate the Russian defenses in depth.

On the opposite, or western shore, tanks and troop-laden German trucks were backed up for some distance awaiting a chance to cross, and Red air force bombers were blasting them in unending waves while Soviet fighters were in constant clashes with Nazi fighters.

Cutting through a massive curtain of German anti-aircraft fire, Russian bombers were reported to have destroyed two large crossings and damaged two others, then to have bombed Nazi engineers trying to repair the damage.

At one point where the Germans crossed the water line 40 tanks negotiated the stream only to fall into a circle of Soviet artillery fire which smashed them. The Red air force was credited with destruction of 59 more enemy tanks and 72 troop and supply laden trucks.

Fresh Divisions. Fresh divisions, including the 8th German Infantry, were moved into the battle after being rushed from another sector, increasing to 12 the total number of divisions and to almost 200,000 the number of Nazi troops in the drive, the Russians said.

Thousands of Germans were killed, the Russians said, and a dispatch from the front declared six trains totaling 247 cars, each crowded with wounded, had been sent moving to the German rear. Hundreds of Nazi tanks, planes and guns were declared battered out of action.

Two attacks by German armored detachments and infantry against Soviet positions on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow, where fierce thrusts have been executed for several weeks, cost the invaders 900 dead, 20 tanks, five armored cars and field guns, the Russians announced.

Germans succeeded in pressing back Soviet forces in one sector, it was said, but they were dislodged by counterattacks.

China Asks Allies To Make Pacific A "Second Front"

By Edward E. Bomar. WASHINGTON (AP)—Battered China entered the sixth year of its struggle against the Japanese invaders Tuesday with a renewed plea that the Pacific rather than Europe be made the United Nations' "Second Front."

Speaking for the Chungking Government, Maj. Gen. Chu Shih-Ming, military attaché, declared the United States and China could knock out the Japanese this year, if full American power were concentrated in the Pacific.

"A force of only 500 warplanes of all types would enable China to launch an offensive," he said. "The facilities, including gasoline, are still available. Despite Japanese advances, bases remain from which Japan can be bombed."

"If the Japanese are allowed time to consolidate their gains, it may take a very long time to defeat them, and meanwhile the United Nations would never be able to throw their full strength into a European second front."

"Russia is sure to stay in the fight whether or not a second front is set up but there is always the danger that China will be knocked out. There is little prospect of defeating Hitler this year, but crushing the Japanese would be a long step toward beating the Nazis. It is sound strategy to hit the weaker foe first, also if Japan is disposed of, the problem of supplying Russia would be solved."

At an embassy press conference, General Chu charged that the Japanese have used mustard or tear gas more than 800 times against Chinese forces, and have employed germs against civilians.

EVERY MOTHER KNOWS THIS: It is more blessed to give than to receive.—Acts 20-35.

We're Too Nice

Among other reasons why the Germans and the Japanese are pushing us so hard is the fact that we're too nice. We think and try to act like gentlemen. We refuse to recognize that war is a nasty, brutal business, which can not be settled with one hand while we hold our nose with the other.

We—meaning particularly the Anglo-Saxon peoples—are not irretrievably soft. We are as courageous as any—probably more than most. We are as clever, as scientific, as logical, as imaginative as our enemies.

Yet we let them shove us around. The time has come—Tobruk and Matruh are proof, if there were no others—for us to get tough, to forget Marquis of Queensbury rules, to inculcate ourselves with the fighting code of the lumber camps.

The time has come for us to develop a good ardent, let's knock-them-dirty-blocks off hate against any man who wears an Axis uniform or has to do with the Axis war effort.

It seems to be agreed by on-the-spot observers that we probably had at one time the men and the material in North Africa with which to beat General Rommel's armies.

Good, competent correspondents who watched the campaign from the fighting lines say that we lost because, instead of asking "Where will we hit Rommel next?" our leaders worried about "Where will Rommel strike us next?"

Everything else being equal, wars are won by those who are in there slugging every minute, taking the initiative, making the rules, barring no holds, missing no bets.

Right now that is the Germans, the Russians, the Japs. The Russians are doing a creditable job because they are as tough and ruthless as their enemies.

They're no braver than the British and Americans. They are no cleverer. They are no better equipped. They are no better led.

All they have that we lack, thus far, is the will to win at any cost. Every Russian fights with the feeling that upon him, individually, falls the entire burden of the war. They kick, they gouge, they bite, they claw. They recognize no foul zone. They fight the devil with fire, the Axis with his own callous rat-in-a-corner technique.

Before we shall win, we must forget that we are good sports. We must stop eyeing the net, preparatory to jumping across to congratulate the victor. We must get in and slug, resolved that in the end only the victor shall remain alive—and he shall be us.

Another Union

After all the evidences of organized labor's business-as-usual attitude during this war, it is a pleasure to find another item for the credit side of ledger—an item concerning deeds, not hifaluting words that stop short of sacrifice for democracy.

The International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, with more than 300,000 members, an outstanding opponent of Communism in labor ranks, has some 70,000 idle members in New York, center of the nation's garment industry. So its executive board, with too rare realism, has voted to waive peace-time wage scales, and work for Uncle Sam for less.

Patriotism is combined with common sense. The government will save money, employers can operate their shops, unionists will have work.

Women traffic experts met in Indiana. Our grandmothers used to make jams—now the ladies are undoing them.

A beautiful pair of eyes are okay—but need looking into. Stare directly at a wild animal and it won't harm you—if you're on the outside of its cage.

Money may be the root of all evil but some mighty nice things grow out of it.

Even in this hot weather you can't make friends by giving folks the cold shoulder.

Opposition Given Women's Reserve Bill In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Storm clouds loomed in the offing for Uncle Sam's prospective sailorettes Tuesday even before their organization was officially launched.

As Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Naval Affairs Committee disclosed he would seek congressional approval of legislation creating a women's Naval reserve, a fellow-committee man, Representative Vincent (D-Ky.), announced he would object to unanimous House consent for consideration of the measure.

Already passed by the House, a bill creating the reserve was amended substantially by the Senate and unless Vincent withdraws his opposition, will be forced into conference to iron out the differences.

Vinson contended at a committee meeting yesterday that there was no need for the projected force of 10,000 enlisted women and 1,000 women naval officers to take over non-combat shore duty.

The Kentuckian said the jobs could be filled by World War veterans who want to do something for their country and who are better qualified.

Prostitution Law To Be Discussed By Area Officers

Full discussion of the May Act, regarding prostitution in Federal offense areas, will be held in Midland July 14 at a policing conference, it has been announced by D. A. Bryce, of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Bryce will attend the meeting, which is one of several to be held in the area, and a part of the coordinating police training program.

"Up to the present time there have been no areas designated as coming within the province of the May Act," said Bryce, "which speaks well for the local law enforcement agencies. The purpose of the conference primarily is to acquaint all law enforcement officers with the provisions of the act, in order to forestall the necessity of any area being placed in a restricted status."

A physician will be invited to discuss venereal diseases, and motion pictures will be used to illustrate the effects of such diseases. A five-man advisory board of local law enforcement officers will be appointed at each conference to assist the officers on any problem arising from defense investigations.

Every constituted law enforcement officer is urged to attend this conference, as well as members of the auxiliary police and the Sheriff's posse.

Green Bay Boys Get To School Despite Chores

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UP)—The truant days of Peck's dad boy and the recalcitrant little red schoolhouse pupil are gone for good, it seems, judging from the perfect attendance records of two conscientious young farm boys living near here.

School evidently is a pleasure to Robert Bacon, 13, and Lloyd Gutzman, 12, who have gone a total of 15 years without missing a day or even being so much as tardy.

The deep snows and biting cold of northern Wisconsin winters have not stopped the perfect records, though Lloyd has often hiked the weary two miles from his home to the schoolhouse during his seven years of study.

Young Bacon, who has just graduated from the eighth grade, lives only about a quarter of a mile from the school he attended, but his prompt appearance before the school bell starts to ring is sometimes complicated by a heavy morning schedule of rounding up the cows, milking them and feeding the calves before breakfast.

Most difficult part of the program was avoiding the usual childhood illness. Neither of the boys escaped entirely, but both were fortunate, or unfortunate, in having them during vacation, when it interfered with summer fun, but kept the records intact. Young Bacon was the harder hit of the two, suffering with scarlet fever during one vacation and measles during another.

Colorado is seven times larger than Switzerland and its mountain area is six times as great.

All Dogs Should Be Given Rabies Serum

Rabies, or hydrophobia, is said to be on the increase except where annual vaccination of all dogs is generally practiced, and health authorities are urging that owners of dogs make a special effort soon to immunize their pets against this dread disease.

Knowledge of rabies and methods of combatting it have greatly advanced, but the general public should be guided by a competent veterinarian. When a dog is suspected of having rabies he should be penned up and kept alive until his exact status can be determined scientifically.

The impractical problem of keeping all dogs from exposure to other dogs and to rats, skunks, coyotes and perhaps other animals, makes it especially desirable to have all dogs immunized by vaccination. This should be done annually, and preferably at this time of year.

How to Make Your Iron Last Longer*

Electric irons, like many other household appliances, are out of production due to the war. You'll want to take good care of the one you have so that it will last for the duration.

Keep the iron cord plugged in tightly, for a loose plug makes the contact points corrode and lessens the efficiency of your iron. If your iron is the non-automatic type, be careful not to let it get too hot and be sure to disconnect it if left unused more than a few minutes.

FEMININE FANCIES

A Midland man spent his vacation building a barbecue pit at his home here. Speaks well for him as a home lover — and prophecies fun for the future when he and his wife will invite friends in for informal suppers.

All the same, we can't feature ourselves giving up our few days of freedom to work at home, no matter how much we loved our domicile. We take off our hat to those souls who can, however.

The magazine reader can get most any kind of literature, real and synthetic, in the "digest" magazines which have blossomed out in the publishing world the last few years.

About the nicest one we've seen in a blue moon is a magazine devoted to recipes. It is made up of recipes printed on 3 by 5 inch perforated slips which can easily be torn out and filed as the cook wishes.

Each slip has a recipe printed on the reverse side also and tells what classification it should be filed under as appetizers, beverages, or whatever.

The magazine is a quarterly publication and the first issue is off the press. In the interest of good eating we say more power to it! It's the kind of digest we like.

At Your Library

The latest installment of International Mind Alcove books, a gift to the library from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, has just been received. Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, division assistant, says of these books: "They all have to do with present world conditions, although none deals directly with the tragedy of the war. They hold out hope for the future and no one can read them without a renewed sense of responsibility and understanding."

Paddy the Cope, by Patrick Gallagher: "This title is very misleading. Americans may be inclined to overlook the final letter of the last word and think it is a detective story. Far from it! First of all, it is a most human story of life in Eire (Ireland) during the last 40 years, setting forth the incredible conditions under which the Irish of the past generation grew up. The fact that in the midst of affectionate family relationships it was taken for granted that boys of 10 should go out into servitude to help support the family, throws considerable light upon the distressing living conditions of that period. Secondly, the book is an inspiring story of the development of the cooperative movement in a remote section of Ireland and its final success. The 'Cope' of the title is merely the abbreviated title of a cooperative worker and fighter. The introduction by Dorothy Canfield Fisher points up the story and gives hope of new ways of living not only in Eire, but throughout the world."

Our India, by Mino Masani: "This book deals with another part of the British Empire. World attention has been drawn to India in these tragic times because of its attitude toward Britain and the war in which its domestic problems play an important part. The author, himself an Indian holding a high position of influence in his country, sets forth conditions as they now exist in a surprisingly fair and balanced account. He deals with problems in India which concern the people and their hope of better living and growth. Why are there famines in India? What about the farming situation, and cattle and crops? These questions and many others are answered in this book which is strikingly illustrated by drawings and charts and written in a simple and vivid style."

Toward Freedom, by Jevaharial Nehru: "Following immediately upon the book reviewed above, comes this remarkable biography of one of India's outstanding political leaders. First of all it should be noted that the book is a masterpiece of literature. It would be worth reading if only for its beauty of style and expression. But it is far more than that. It is the story of a man who has been faithful to his ideals—whether we agree with them or not—in the face of persecution and imprisonment and who sets forth his case in an intimate and moving record which is more possible for an Oriental than for a Western author. While reticent about his deepest personal relationships, he does not hesitate to show us the working of his heart and mind in all that deals with his devotion to his country. It is as fair a presentation of the case for India as has ever been published and in addition an absorbing story."

America in World Affairs, by Allan Nevins: "This little book was written especially to interpret the United States to British readers, but that makes it no less valuable—in fact, it makes it more valuable—to American readers. It is concerned chiefly with events following the first World War up to the present. It throws much light upon the development of our country, its traditions and its heritage. The author does not hesitate to set forth the failures of our foreign policy as well as the successes and emphasizes the responsibilities which rest upon us as one of the great nations of the world. It offers constructive suggestions for the future, which will appeal to all those who look forward to a better world when the tragedy of this present war is over. It is a book to read and think about."

Of the children's International Mind Alcove books Miss Jones says:

Auxiliary Assists In Furnishing Day Room For Squadron

The Presbyterian Auxiliary held its regular business session Monday at the church with 11 women present.

The Auxiliary has finished slip covers for three divans for the 489th Squadron's day room at Midland Army Flying School. The group has "adopted" the 489th and will assist the men further in furnishing their recreation center.

Mrs. W. P. Knight presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Frank Stubbeman brought the devotional.

"You will enjoy the three little Pictured Geography books which tell you many things about Alaska, Canada and Mexico. Did you know that Alaska has its own flag even though it is part of the United States, that Canada is larger than the United States and Alaska put together, and that in Mexico all the pupils recite or read aloud at the same time?"

"Another small book in this set is called 'Timothy Taylor, Ambassador of Goodwill,' and I think you will want to read this out loud. The story is of Timothy, a British, refugee child who comes to America, and it is written in rhyme.

"Tito the Pig of Guatemala" is a very mischievous pig and causes great trouble by eating the identification card which belongs to the father of the little Guatemalan boy who owns him. The father is sent to jail for not having the card, but Tito saves him from having to stay there a year. How do you suppose a little pig could get someone out of jail? The last pages of the book contain the secret.

"The final book of this group is entitled 'Kobi, a Boy of Switzerland' and I am sure you will be interested to read of his adventures and his training to become a goat herder in the mountains."

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney

Here is an interesting hand from the South, played in the Alabama State Tournament at Birmingham by W. N. Woodbury, president of the Alabama Bridge Association. Woodbury felt the seven-diamond sacrifice bid had him fixed. Of course in rubber bridge, he would have been satisfied to double and take his points.

East's natural opening lead turned out to be disastrous for his side.

It was won by the ace, and after two rounds of trumps, Woodbury (North) led a club for a winning finesse of the jack. A third trump lead put Woodbury in again to lead the second club for a finesse of the queen. Dummy cashed the club ace, North discarding a heart. Then North ruffed a fourth round of clubs in order to lead out the rest of his trumps.

At the eleventh trick East held two diamonds and a club. To save the club he had to let go a diamond on the last trump. Dummy then let go the club. West, having to discard from the top heart and two diamonds, could not prevent Woodbury from winning a trick either with the eight of hearts or the ten of diamonds.

Had East opened the three of hearts, he could have saved his ten-spot and West could have discarded hearts, defeating the squeeze.

Hitchhikers Help Police Capture 2 Escaped Convicts

DALLAS (P)—Home-made shot-guns, fashioned of gas pipe, were useless Monday night to Horace Posey, 25, and Jack Williams, 26, escaped convicts from Eastham Prison Farm.

They were captured after being taken by surprise and had no opportunity to determine whether their crude weapons would shoot.

Two hitchhikers, picked up by the fugitives, jumped out of their car in Dallas and called police. The hitchhikers were George Bynum and John Pesavento, both 17 and both of Clinton, Ind.

They accepted a ride in the escapees' car at Bastrop. Williams

Afterward Mrs. Kry returned to the United States, landing on the West Coast and traveling to Midland. Sgt. Kry remained at Hickam Field and his wife learned only this week that he had been sent back to the hospital.

JUDITH'S NEW JOB

CHAPTER XII

JUDITH opened her eyes and stared dazedly about the hospital room. At the foot of the bed a doctor and nurse watched her anxiously. She had slept for 24 hours, a sleep of exhaustion encouraged by a sedative the doctor had given her. She rose slowly to the surface of consciousness. Then suddenly all the events of the night on the boat came back to her. "Let me out of here," she cried, and started to get out of bed. But the nurse stepped forward and firmly forced her back under the covers. "You must be very careful," she insisted. "You are a sick girl," put in the physician, bending over her attentively. Judith pressed her lips together and pulled herself back against the pillows. She looked at the doctor defiantly. "I want to know if I look like a crazy person?" The doctor shook his head quickly and smiled at her. "Of course not, my dear, you're just a sick young lady."

"All right then, listen to me. Call up the Watson Airplane factory and ask for Mr. Mathews and tell him to come after Miss Kingsley at once. Will you do that? Promise?"

He nodded. "I'll do it right away, Miss Kingsley. Now you rest and have some food. You haven't eaten in the last 24 hours, you know."

"That isn't the half of it. I haven't eaten in two days. You had better tell Mr. Mathews to bring me some clothes too." She eyed him suspiciously. "You did promise to call?"

The nurse and doctor went out together. "Are you really going to call, Doctor Martin?" the girl whispered.

"What harm can it do?" he challenged. "I told her I would and I don't like to lie. Besides, there might be some truth in her words. It's a clever work on you, you know. But I am afraid it is just a mental case."

Judith was given food and after she had finished her hair was combed and curled and tied up. One of the student nurses brought some powder and rouge. But there were no clothes for her, so she stayed in bed obediently.

She was beginning to think her message had not been delivered or that Mathews had deserted her when the door of her room was pushed open and in came the manager of the factory, weighed down with boxes and bundles, and followed by the doctor and nurse. "Miss Kingsley!" he cried. "I've never been so glad to see a person in my life." He dropped the boxes on the floor and reached to kiss her cheek as if he were an old friend. "We've been crazy, Mr. Watson is flying out here—should be in here in a few hours now." Judith smiled, her eyes glowing. But before she could speak, the doctor was saying apologetically: "I'm so sorry about all this, Miss Kingsley."

She accepted the apology with a wave of her hand. "Mr. Mathews—what happened to Tom? Did the doctor—?" Her eyes were cloudy with tears. He smiled and nodded his head. "The detectives reached the boat right after you jumped overboard. There was some shooting but all the men were captured and Burke was unharmed. Even the ones at the hospital were caught. That's why the detectives were a little slow in catching up with you."

"Then Tom is all right," Gladness rang in her voice and the tears spilled over her lashes. She wiped at them with the corner of the sheet. "He will be in a little while," grinned the manager knowingly. "Just as soon as I get you out of here. I haven't told him yet about you. I have him out at my place. We'll go there immediately."

Two nurses came to help Judith dress in the lovely things Mathews had brought for her. The bandages were removed from her hands and Judith found that the scratches had healed nicely. "I had no idea you were so lovely, Miss Kingsley," said one of the nurses, as she stood off to have a better look. "Quite remarkable how a little fixing up helps," smiled Judith. "Think I'll do now?"

"If he doesn't say he loves you, something is wrong with his eyesight."

Mathews was waiting for her in the hall. He tucked her arm through his and led her away. Burke separated. I thought you two might patch things up if I threw you together." He sighed. "I had no idea I was letting you in for such an experience. I trumped up that excuse of a leak in the organization just to send you out here. It's a good thing I did."

"It's a good thing for both of us," said Tom. Judith turned glowing eyes to the man she loved.

"And for me too," she smiled. Mathews suddenly reassured himself as host. "Well, seeing that the future is taken care of, suppose you two explore the garden again. I'll entertain Mr. Watson."

Fort Worth Wins Close Game From Dallas Rebels

By The Associated Press
There was only one game in the Texas League Monday, but there was also a bit of dealing in and with players.

Fort Worth blanked the Dallas Rebels, 2 to 0, in a game marked by the pitching of Claude Horton and Sal Glatto. Horton permitted only four hits while the Cats made six off the Rebel twirler.

The deadlock was broken in the seventh when Ford Garrison's single sent home two.

Two games were postponed: Shreveport at San Antonio and Houston at Beaumont the only contests scheduled.

Meanwhile, President George Schepps of the Rebels acquired two outfielders from the defunct West Texas-New Mexico League, Mel Steiner of Clovis and Joe Isaacs of Pampa.

And the Oklahoma Indians signed Hugh Willingham, manager of the Berger team of the West Texas-New Mexico League. Manager John Kroner of the Tribe said Willingham, who was batting .452 at Berger, would be used at third base.

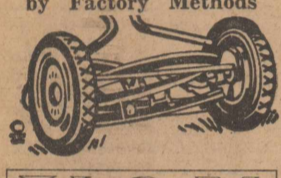

The Indians, starting a 16-game trip, left behind Steve Tramback, left fielder, who was suspended indefinitely by Kroner, who said Tramback in apparent disgust at a burst of Tulsa scoring in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader, stalked into the clubhouse, dressed, and failed to return for the second game.

Tulsa won the first game, 16 to 2.

American All-Stars Win Again

Beat National In Big Upset, 3-1; Dramatic Tilt Full Of Thrills

By Gayle Talbot
NEW YORK (AP)—Better All-Star games possibly will be played than Monday night's spectacle at the Polo Grounds in which the American League once again slugged the National into defeat, 3-1, before a benefit crowd of 33,694, but it is difficult to imagine one more dramatic.

One minute after Big Ernie Lombardi of the National Leaguers lifted a lazy fly to right field to end the contest, pitch darkness closed over the big arena as part of New York City's second wartime blackout.

For 22 minutes the crowd that had cheered itself hoarse for two hours sat tense and almost silent.

They sat as at a wake for the blasted hopes of the National Leaguers, who had entered the 10th annual struggle with a burning determination to win and had seen their chances vanish almost with the first pitch.

Here was Boudreau, who is not a distance clouter and had, in fact, hit only one previous home run this year, blasting for the circuit off Cooper.

Boudreau's blow must have unsettled Cooper, who had been Manager Leo Durocher's game-time choice to start instead of Claude Passeau of the Chicago Cubs, his original selection.

For the next American Leaguer, Tommy Henrich, bumped a double into right-center, and after the next two men went down big Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers lofted a homer into the upper deck in right field.

Stayed Ahead

From there on, with the Americans boasting a three-run lead and their pitchers—Spud Chandler of the Yankees and big Al Benton of Detroit—setting the Nationals down inning after inning, there never was much doubt that the Junior Leaguers had won their seventh victory in 10 all-star games.

Mickey Owen, the Brooklyn catcher whose failure to stop a third strike made him the goat of the 1941 world series, saved his side from a shutout with a pinch home run off Benton in one eighth. He was the only National Leaguer to get past second base, as Chandler and Benton issued only six hits.

Alaska's three most important industries are fishing, gold mining and fur, ranked in the order named.

70,000 Fans Expected To Witness Servicemen Against Big Leaguers

By Charles Dunkley
CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—A great, patriotic throng of 60,000 to 70,000 spectators is expected to comfortably fill Cleveland's massive municipal Lake Front Stadium Tuesday night to witness the greatest stars in baseball battle to swell the fund of the army and navy emergency relief funds.

The competing teams will be Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors managed by Lieut. Gordon "Mickey" Cochrane, one-time pilot of the Detroit Tigers, and the ever-familiar stars of the American League, victorious in New York's Polo Grounds Monday night over the National League All-Stars, 3 to 1.

The American Leaguers will be led by the veteran Joseph Vincent McCarthy, manager of the World's Champion New York Yankees.

Bobby Feller, Cleveland's own great 23-year-old fireballer, or John Duncan Rigney, former ace of the Chicago White Sox, both right handers, will be on the firing line at the start for the service all-stars, with Cleveland's Jim Bagby, another right hander, the choice of Manager McCarthy. Bagby has won nine and lost four to date.

The spectacle figures to produce between $75,000 and $80,000 for the service societies' funds.

Lieut. Cochrane, supremely confident and determined to triumph, nevertheless had not decided upon his positive pitching choice or his starting line-up today.

If Feller starts, his catcher will be Vinnie Smith of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who caught Feller at the Norfolk, Va., Naval Training Station. If Rigney goes, his receiver will be Frankie Pytlak, former Cleveland and Boston Red Sox star.

"We came here to win," Cochrane snapped. "We've got good pitching, a great defensive outfield and hitting power. We'll give 'em more than they are figuring on. They won't get many hits off us in that big ball park. If we can take 'em I'll be the happiest guy in the world."

The balance of Lieut. Cochrane's starting lineup probably will find Sam Chapman, Philadelphia Athletics, in right field, Don Padgett, property of the St. Louis Cardinals in left, and Joe Grace of the St. Louis Browns in the center garden.

The infield probably will be Benny McCoy of the Athletics at second, Cecil Travis of Washington at short, Ernie Andres, Louisville Colonels at third, and either Johnny Strum, Yankees, or Chester Hajduk of the Chicago White Sox at first.

SHORT OF BOXING TALENT IN CHICAGO
CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Stadium's outdoor boxing arena, seating 10,000, will not be opened this summer because of the lack of talent, General Manager William Henry Burke said Tuesday.

Cleveland Set For All-Star Tilt Tuesday

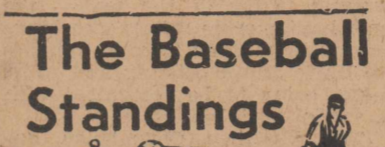

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland began taking on a world's series atmosphere with the arrival of Lt. Gordon "Mickey" Cochrane and his squad of 21 Army and Navy all-stars to battle the winner of New York's Major League all-star game in the vast municipal stadium Tuesday night.

With favorable weather, the game probably will draw 60,000 to 70,000 fans with receipts at $75,000 for the Army and Navy relief societies and the bat and ball funds of the two organizations.

Officials of the Cleveland baseball club were hoping that a combination of good weather and the homecoming of Bob Feller, former Cleveland fireballer, would attract a near capacity crowd to the lake front stadium, the nation's largest ball park.

"We'll be disappointed if we don't hit 60,000," said Roger Peckinpaugh, vice-president of the club. "We have 45,000 seats sold. With growing interest, we might draw a whale of a crowd. We can jam in 81,000."

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK (AP)—Look for Lou Boudreau to give another nifty performance against the Service All-Stars tonight. . . . Lou claims that the cares of being the Indians' manager haven't affected his play, but look what he did the first time he got out there on a ball field with no one to worry about but himself.

Even Leo Durocher picked him as the standout of last night's game and Leo wouldn't admit any one of his National Leaguers was any better than the others.

Bright Idea
After the brawl was over last night, someone asked Durocher what the pitchers were throwing to Gordon, who fanned three times. . . . "I don't know," Leo answered emphatically, "but I'm gonna find out."

All Stardust
Joe McCarthy, still looking pretty pale after his illness, says he's feeling "just fine." . . . It wasn't a case of misery loves company but Spud Chandler and Mort Cooper, who took their second warm-ups side-by-side, also sat together in the clubhouse during the late innings and discussed their favorite pitches.

The New York crowd didn't pay much attention to Ted (I'm a Bad Boy) Williams, but it did a lot of cheering and booing every time Joe DiMaggio came up. . . . Philadelphia story: Two pinch hitters (Johnson and Litwhiler) two hits—and not a run. . . . At least the A's and Phils go in there, which is more than some clubs could say.

Service Dept.
Lieut. Jack Sisco, former North Texas State coach, and Marty Karow of Texas A. & M. are expected to represent the Navy on the faculty of the Texas High School Football Coaches Association school next month. . . . And no one can squawk if they follow the usual custom of signing up a few players from the All-Star gridiron game. . . . A year ago Deway Frazetta sent heavy-buddy Buddy Knox against Billy Conn at Pittsburgh and they drew $68,000. Tomorrow Frazetta will have Conn working for him and won't even get a manager's cut. Billy will be guest referee when the Fort Hancock, N. Y., boxers visit Fort Monmouth, N. J., and the proceeds of the show will go to the post athletic fund.

Bombers Down Mechanics In First Game Of Series

Led by Pete Halford, capable hurler who also solved the deliveries of his rival moundman for a home run with one man on, the Bombers emerged victors over the Mechanics, 5 to 4, last night in the first of a five-game softball series to determine the winner of the first round championship.

The Mechanics opened the scoring in the first inning, after two men had been retired, and combined a walk, an error and a two-bagger in the order named—for two tallies. Kelly drew the free pass, then advanced to third while Foelsing reached first when an infielder mishandled the latter batter's drive. Both scored a moment later on Gallagher's clean two-base clout.

In their half of the same stanza, however, the Bombers came back with a base on balls, a two-bagger and a circuit clout to take a 3-2 lead. "Hank Gardley, lead-off man, was given the walk, and the following batter, Allen McBride, solved Pitcher Foelsing's offerings for a two-bagger. After being temporarily stalled on those bases, while Tony Endres was popping out, both came in ahead of Halford on the latter's clean home run.

The Mechanics again garnered a temporary lead in the fourth when Casey clouted a homer after Gallagher had singled. But the Bombers knotted the score in the fifth with one tally, garnered by way of an error and a triple, and chalked up their close margin in the following stanza when Enders singled, went completely around the sacks on sacrifice flies and a passed ball by the catcher.

The second game of the series will start at 9 o'clock tonight.

Texas Golf Season Now In Home Stretch

By The Associated Press
The Texas golf season rolls into the home stretch with a Camp Bowie soldier—Private Frank Stiedle—the only player able to boast more than one tournament championship.

Stiedle won the Phil-Pe-Co invitation and one month later—Sunday—captured the Abilene Invitation crown.

Three titles were determined over the week-end. In addition to Stiedle's victory at Abilene, Earl Stewart of Dallas took top honors in the Corpus Christi Invitation and Derold Lehman of Fort Worth won the Galveston Invitation.

Only four tournaments remain on the schedule but they cover a period of eight weeks.

Only four tournaments remain on the schedule but they cover a period of eight weeks.

The boys start the Breckenridge Invitation Friday of next week and the following week play in the Glen Garden Invitation at Fort Worth.

Two tournaments are in August—the Lakewood Invitation at Dallas and the State Junior boys at San Antonio.

The women golfers have finished their schedule for the year.

Johnny Mize Climbs Four Places In National League Batting Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Although he still is well down in the pack, the hottest member of the major league's hitting brigade during the past week was Johnny Mize, New York Giant first baseman.

Mize, who was handicapped at the start of the season by a waning tendon in his shoulder, vaulted from tenth to sixth place in the National League race, boosted his average above .300 to .301 for the first time and retained his home run clouting honors.

Ted Williams, the reluctant dragon of the Boston Red Sox, climbed to the top of the American league batting race for the first time this season, displacing both Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees and Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox, who have been alternating at the top rung much of the year.

Williams now sports a .348 batting average with Gordon second at .347 and Doerr third with .346.

There's nothing to compare to that tight race in the National where Pete Reiser, Brooklyn sophomore, is away out in front with .361, followed by Joe (Muscles) Medwick with .344.
