WORTH MORE THAN A WORLD OF MONEY

Since Taking Orgatone, Wichita Woman Is Now Able To Do Her Work

"I would rather be well and happy than to have all the money in the world," said Mrs. Rosie Coe, of 2115 Ave. C, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"Before I took Orgatone I had stomach trouble and headaches so bad that it just racked my whole nerve center. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I could hardly digest anything. The gas on my stomach would cause intense pains in my side and often times such palpitation of the heart that I could hardly stand it."

"My son advised me to take Orgatone and at the time I started I did not feel like doing my own house work. But it's different now, I am getting healthy as I ever was in my life. The headaches and stomach pain have all left me and I can do all my work and look after my family without the least trouble."

105 YEARS OLD AND LIKES HER COFFEE

MRS. ANNA SANDERS

Coffee and plenty of it is no bar to old age, according to Mrs. Anna Sanders, a resident of the Isabella Home at 150th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, New York. Mrs. Sanders, who recently observed her one hundred and fifth birthday, has coffee with every meal, between meals and in the evening before retiring. After her birthday, attended by 200 guests, it was nearly midnight before she retired, feeling none the worse for a double portion of ice cream, cake, banana and coffee.

FARM POULTRY

PASTURING GEESSE ON CLEAN RANGE

As General Rule Fowls Are Given Freedom of Field.

The raising of geese has not been specialized like duck raising, for the reason that geese secure most of their food by grazing. For this reason, except for raised on most farms in comparatively small flocks. These facts are the principal reasons why geese raising offers an opportunity for most farmers to add another source of income to their spring poultry raising.

Geese may be pastured in the same way as chickens, but as a general rule they are given free range. This is satisfactory so long as they are not numerous. However, if a large flock of geese is pastured on the regular pasture the live stock will not relish the pasture on account of the geese manure on the grass. Ordinarily, a number of geese raised on any one farm are not numerous enough to raise any trouble from this source.

Geese do not require a great deal of attention. After the first two weeks they are able to look after themselves if given a good range. The principal food of geese is grass, supplemented by insects and other low forms of animal life. If suitable range is not possible it is not advisable to go into geese raising.

Houses that will protect the geese from rains in summer and from snow, cold winds and dampness in winter are the only essentials from the housing standpoint. Low, open front sheds are often used for this purpose. Care should be taken to see that the interior of the house is dry at all times. Geese like to swim and they will exercise in the snow practically all day, but they should have dry places to roost in, they will contract rheumatism. The floor of such houses should be of earth. They should be covered with straw and renewed often enough so that it will be dry. A thin coating of sand often proves helpful in keeping the house dry.

Geese mate more successfully after they are two years of age than when mated earlier. This is more true of the females than of the males. Occasionally yearling geese will produce fertile eggs, but they cannot be depended upon. Small, undesirable geese should not be used for breeding purposes. On the other hand, extra large, coarse geese are not as satisfactory as those of full development, but not so coarse. With most breeds the gender will mate from three to four geese.

Ohio Station Advocates All-Mash Chick Ration

The raising of chicks to maturity is an elaborate ration in a rather narrow range in feedings, and one that still leaves to the grower of these chicks the task of feeding them. This system has been developed and advocated by the Ohio agricultural experiment station, at Wooster, and is truly described in a bulletin, issued by this station. They state that they have found the method successful on their experimental farm and equally so in the hands of other poultrymen of the state. Some other stations, where it has been tried, describe these chicks somewhat. There is no question as to the attractiveness of the plan and the results at the Ohio station should be sufficient to give warrant for trying it out.

Electric Brooders Are Clean and Convenient

The New York experiment station found electric brooders very satisfactory except in extremely cold weather, when this type of heat did not warm up the space in the house away from the brooder. Like electric incubators, brooders heated by electricity are clean, easy to regulate and very convenient. Individual farm light plants extend the advantages of this electrical equipment to farms which are not heated on an electric "high line." Because many farm plants are equipped with both generator and battery power, the supply of current for the incubator or brooder is constant and reliable.

In Case of Roup

Should any of your flock begin to show symptoms of roup, no time should be lost in starting measures to prevent further spread. All houses, pens and runs should be thoroughly cleaned and sprayed with a strong solution of a good coal tar dip and disinfectant. Droppings, litter and trash of every description should be removed and burned. All unnecessary equipment of every kind should be removed from houses and yards and stored elsewhere.

I. C. BRADSHAW FATHER OF MRS. W. M. CASS BURIED AT ROBY

I. C. Bradshaw was taken suddenly ill and died at his home in Roby, Texas, where he was buried just one week after visiting his daughter Mrs. Will Cass of Haskell for a few days. Isaiah Charles Bradshaw was born in Adams County, Kentucky, November 1st, 1847. When he was three years old his father moved to Russell County, Ky. The deceased was the eldest of six children, three girls and three boys of which only two, W. I. Bradshaw of Roby, Ky. and Mrs. Sallie White of Sabinal, Texas are now living. Seth Jefferson Bradshaw, the father of the deceased, died in service near the close of the civil war and the responsibilities of that home fell upon the shoulders of Charles, as the deceased was always known, during the trying days of the reconstruction. On Oct. 27, 1870 he was married to Satha A. Peyton. To this union ten children were born, five of whom predeceased him to the grave. At the age of eighteen the deceased was conscripted and joined the Methodist church, the church of his parents, and remained a member of that church for about twenty-five years, just before coming to Texas in 1890 he, together with his wife and one daughter, joined the Baptist church and in this church he remained a faithful member until his death. The deceased leaves a wife, five children and eight grandchildren. The living children are: Mrs. W. M. Cass of Haskell, George J. Bradshaw of Pendleton, Texas; J. Deina Bradshaw of Temple, Texas; and Cecil P. Bradshaw of Modesto, Calif. All of the children were present at the bedside of their father when the end came with the exception of Cecil P. Bradshaw, who could not arrive in time from California. The Free Press extends sincerest sympathy to all of the bereaved ones.

Two things a man finds hard to keep from his wife. Secrets and his money.

Five-Eyed Insects

All insects, with few exceptions, have five eyes. Two of these are the compound eyes, which are situated on each side of the head. The three remaining eyes are of the ordinary kind and are found on top of the head. These are usually clustered closely together in the form of a triangle. The compound eyes are for normal vision; the three single eyes being more light sensitive, are able to distinguish between light and darkness. This is very important especially for the night flying insects.

Radio Tends the Baby

An eastern mother whose husband is a radio expert, makes her radio tend her baby. When she puts him in his crib upstairs she places the loud speaker near him. By turning the loud speaker into a microphone, by use of an adapter, when the baby wakes up and cries, mother gets the signal by radio wherever her household duties may take her. This is done by reversing the radio set. No nursemaid was ever more watchful and unfailing. -Copper's Weekly.

REV. M. D. HILL PASSES TO HIS REWARD

Rev. M. D. Hill, local preacher of Haskell, after a long and lingering illness passed to his reward from the family residence last Sunday evening at 8:17 o'clock. Rev. Hill was born in 1860, February the 21st in Johnson County. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hill died when he was but a mere lad and the responsibility of helping his mother to rear a number of younger brothers and sisters fell on his young shoulders. He was converted when he was sixteen years old at a camp-meeting in his community and was reconverted in 1886. His higher education was obtained at the following colleges: Col. Johnston's College, Palestine, Texas and Grayson College, Weatherford, Texas. In 1898 Rev. M. D. Hill was united in marriage to Miss Beniah Pearl Newberry daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Newberry in Bonham, Texas. After serving as an honored itinerant preacher in the North West Texas and the New Mexico Conference since the above thirty years, Rev. Hill's health began to fail and he was forced to take a superannuated relationship, but true to the high calling that was his he suffered in body and mind, complaining to the hour when the divine call came for him to rest in higher spheres. He was buried and where awaited by his wife, a mansion not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. One outstandingly beautiful trait of character in Rev. Hill was his conversations. His heart was entirely void of offense toward God and man and as "Out of the heart the mouth speaketh" there only came from Rev. Hill praises for his maker and kind words for his fellowman. His collaborators in the ministerial field over this district gathered at the First Methodist church last Monday afternoon at five o'clock to pay their love and respect in the last rites. Taking part in the readings of scripture, prayers and special tributes were resident pastor, Rev. E. Gaston Foote, presiding elder of the Stamford District, Rev. J. W. Hamblin, presiding elder of the Abilene District, Rev. E. E. White, former pastor of deceased, Rev. W. B. Vaughn of Spur, Rev. Knowlton of Stamford Circuit, Rev. Thompson of Rule; Rev. Fox of Weinert and local pastors of the other denominations of Haskell, Rev. M. L. Baker, Presbyterian; Rev. G. R. Forrester, Christian and Rev. H. R. Whitley, Baptist. One tribute paid the deceased by his contemporaries in the gospel was his genial pleasantness at the Annual Conferences where he has been the Conference Post Master for a long period of years until his health became so bad he could not attend. Rev. Hill will always be remembered by the regular members of the Methodist Church at Haskell, for the days before he was too sorely afflicted to attend both morning and evening services he was always on the front seat singing the messages with his amen. It can be said that he had the heart of one of his compositions made at Willow Creek. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. L. Green of Haskell and one daughter, Mrs. L. Oklahoma, these and his friends mourn the great man.

FORD DEALERS' SELLING PRICES On USED CARS are low

Why not get a used car for the second car your family has been needing? Most of the cars we have accepted for trade-in on new Fords have a generous number of miles left in them—miles of unused transportation at a price you can easily afford. You'll find our used-car prices low because there is no "price padding" to make up for high trade-in allowances. The price of the Model A. Ford is so low, and the value so high, that excessive trade-in concessions are impossible. That, and our reputation for fair-dealing which we value so highly, protect you when you buy a used car from us.

When we offer a Model T. Ford for resale it has been thoroughly reconditioned. New parts wherever needed, everything properly tightened and adjusted—and with it goes a guarantee. We have a number of these reconditioned Fords now. Also several cars of other makes, priced according to the unused transportation they offer. Let us prove our prices. Stop in today and look over these bargains.

Card of Thanks
Death the one stark reality common to all life stalked into the home of Mrs. U. V. Thomas and brought to an untimely end the frail life of our dear wife, daughter, sister and auntie, Dora Thomas. Riding on the angry crest of a storm lashed wave the death angel beckoned and Dora followed beginning that last journey which is the destiny of all life. Words cannot express the appreciation for the kindness shown us during her long illness. We thank each and every one who visited her or helped in any way. May God's richest blessings rest upon each and every one of our prayer.

FARMER EXPRESSES APPRECIATION TO HASKELL
M. H. Harris of Sayles expresses his appreciation to the business men of the city for the 4th of July celebration which was held here. We give the letter in full in his own words.

A Return of Old Time Hospitality
I would indeed feel ungrateful if I failed to thank the business men and all who have contributed to the free barbecue and other entertainment given at Haskell. As I see it, they should consider it a wise investment that will bring many happy returns not only in business but in a more friendly feeling between town and country, a very much needed condition.

When I first came to this country the people gave many plums and barberries and everybody had a good time. There were farmers, stockmen and business men and you could mix and mingle with them and feel welcome. Everybody was glad to see you and talk about how you were getting along and all seemed to have an interest in you and if some were sick in the community, the good women fixed up a nice box of good things and sent it to them. Then we made good crops and prospered. Perhaps the way we lived had something to do with it. Who knows?

M. H. Harris.

O'BRIEN LADY CARRIED TO KNOX CITY SANITARIUM
Mrs. Wayne Barnett former Post Mistress of O'Brien was carried to the Knox City Sanitarium this week for treatment. It was thought that she might undergo an operation if necessary to her health. Her many friends are anxious about her and trust that she will soon return home much improved.

CANNING VEGETABLES FOR WINTER USE
Mrs. J. S. Stanford of Roberts and Mrs. H. K. Fry of Haskell, twin sisters have made special effort to can their vegetables grown this season. They have put up more than 300 quarts of vegetables and other eatables. According to Mrs. Stanford, 27 of these cans are chicken. They are not letting anything go to waste which they believe is worth canning for winter use.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN HAS FINE ORCHARD
The things which become a fixture in our mind are hard to erase, yet, when an idea is moulded into the mind, it takes strong facts to remove it. We have heard many times over that fruit, vegetables and flowers were hard to grow in Haskell. This has become so well established in the minds of many that very few make the effort to grow these things.

Under natural conditions it is a fact that fruits, vegetables and flowers do not thrive, but with a very little effort and plenty of water to irrigate, Haskell is second to none in growing anything our climate will permit.

Dr. A. Q. Gentry who seven or eight years ago bought the C. D. Long home in the north west part of this city and put out an orchard soon after moving to this place, now has numerous bearing fruit trees, peaches, plums, apricots, etc. He has some plum trees known as the "Gold Plum" which seems to be the most prolific bearers to be found for the plums to be so large and beautiful. The limbs are breaking with their load of fruit and the branches of the trees had to be supported by props that they might mature the enormous crop. The writer who made special note of these trees found one small limb supporting eleven large well matured plums.

The reason we do not have more fruit, vegetables and flowers in Haskell, we do not put enough effort in to it. Dr. Gentry has a fine garden and many beautiful flowers growing in the yard and some of the most beautiful shade trees in the city. All these things help to make home happy.

JOHN E. FOUTS JR. BREAKS COLLAR BONE
John E. Fouts Jr. was on his way to the Haskell County Fair Park early last Thursday morning July the 4th to assist the band boys in preparing a cold drink stand for the afternoon races and other activities and was running at a high speed and at the same time watching the motorcycle entrants in practice work when he struck a barbed wire fence breaking his collar bone, sustaining cuts about the face, neck and arms that necessitated the taking of several stitches and was rendered unconscious for several moments. He was immediately placed under the treatment of a local physician and is doing nicely at this writing.

What Is a Quality Tire?

A quality tire, so far as we are able to judge, is a tire that runs 20,000 miles before it's worn out.

But we can't tell by looking at a tire whether it will run 20,000 miles or 5,000 miles. We have to be guided entirely by the reputation of the personal word of the dealer from whom we buy.

All tires to the average buyer look very much alike. But there's a vast difference in results, as most car owners can testify.

The local dealer knows. He investigates thoroughly before he takes on a line. Then he backs that line personally.

Our tire dealers in Haskell carry lines that are known the world over. It pays to buy from the home dealer.

POULTRY

INFERTILE EGGS BEST PRESERVED

Only Fresh, Clean and Sound Should Be Used.

Only those eggs that are fresh, clean and sound of shell should be preserved or "put down" for use next winter. One spoiled egg will, in many cases, cause the entire lot to spoil.

To be absolutely sure that the eggs are fresh and the shells sound, they should be candled. Says A. G. Oliver, extension poultryman at the North Carolina State college: "An old shoe box may be used for this purpose by cutting holes in it to fit the egg and fitting it over a lamp or an electric bulb.

"This test will show up any porous or cracked shells and will also show if germination has started. This is a safety-first precaution and, as it takes only a few minutes time, should be practiced by every housewife before putting down any eggs.

For best results infertile eggs should be used, but fertile eggs can be used with good results if they are put down each day. If this is done the danger of germination will be eliminated. Never wash the egg before preserving as this removes the natural protective coating on the shell.

In preparing the solution, Mr. Oliver advises one quart of water glass to nine quarts of pure water. The water should be boiled and cooled before mixing with the water glass.

For containers, a clean stone jar is the best, but tin or wood vessels may be used. A six-gallon jar will hold about fifteen dozen eggs.

Mr. Oliver states that the eggs at the top of the container should be covered by at least one and one-half inches of the solution. It is not necessary to fill the jar at one time, as fresh eggs can be added each day, taking care, however, that the eggs on top are always covered with the solution.

The containers should be kept covered to prevent evaporation and should be stored in a cool place until needed.

Give Good Ventilation During Summer Months

Plenty of ventilation should be provided for brooder houses during the hot summer months, advises John Vandervort, extension poultry specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. Ventilators at the rear of the chicken house and windows at the front and on the sides should be kept open to allow free circulation of air, Mr. Vandervort says. Results of poultry demonstrations among college flocks prove that pullets reared in hot, stuffy houses are likely to be stunted and unprofitable.

Frequent cleaning of the house in the summer is necessary also to prevent flies from breeding and to keep the air in the building pure. Coarse wire netting placed around the roosts will keep the pullets from the manure, one means of helping to prevent tapeworm infection.

POULTRY FACTS

It requires 21 days to hatch hen eggs.

Pullets are not so easily culled as hens.

Home-grown feeds are the best for turkeys.

Ducklings can be brooded much like chicks.

It is always a problem to have the duck eggs down.

Baby chicks of a reliable hatchery is a sound investment.

Milk, cod liver oil, corn products, and leafy green food make chickens grow.

Flocks can be culled of any kind. The breeder must do if the chicken enterprise is to pay.

Gather eggs regularly, twice each day, during excessively warm or excessively cold weather.

Turkey hens will lay in places prepared for them. Hens or turkeys should naturally lay in any well.

Flocks, after young chicks, should be culled on a fresh basis—one which has not been culled by turkeys or chickens the year previous.

In order to make the greatest profit on chicks, it is necessary to raise as large a percentage of the chicks hatched as possible. In order to do this they must be kept warm and healthy.

If you were troubled last season with your little chicks dying with bowel trouble, try sulpho carbide of zinc in the spring in the drinking water, about three-fourths teaspoonful to each gallon of water.

Pullets should not be allowed to come into maturity too quickly. Normally, a pullet starts to lay eggs as soon as she has reached maturity and her body ceases to grow.

Records which have been kept on some farms indicate that the profits from poultry have doubled when the chickens were given skim milk or tankage to supplement the ordinary ration.

be exhausted if I walked a city block. I had not been able to do a day's work in five years. My system was full of poisons, and I suffered from constipation and bilious headaches.

"I started taking Sargon and began improving at once and now my rheumatism is better than it has been in years. Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcame my constipation and the bilious headaches, and I feel wonderfully strengthened and helped in every way.

"I believe I will soon be able to go out and work with the best of them."

The above statement was made by E. P. Russell, 1318 Royal St., Dallas.

Sargon may be obtained in Haskell from the Oates Drug Store.

Presbyterian Church

Last Sunday morning a large crowd filled the church to hear Rev. Lewis J. Sherrill, who brought a fine message from Eph. 3:18 on the subject, "Apprehending the Love of Christ."

Dr. Sherrill now occupies the Chair of Religious Education in the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Kentucky. He is one of Haskell's young men who receives a welcome from the entire community when he returns to visit the home people.

The regular services will be held here next Sunday morning, the Sunday school beginning at 9:45 a. m. The church service will begin at eleven o'clock. At the invitation of the pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. E. Gaston Foote, the people of the Presbyterian church will unite with them in the evening service at the Methodist church.

The revival meeting will begin in this church on the third Sunday in July and close on the first Sunday in August.

HALF FEED AND HALF COTTON PAYS THE FARMER

"For the past several years I have been planting my farm in half feed crops and half cotton and find that it is a good paying proposition," said R. L. Cooke, Haskell County farmer living in the Northeast portion of the county. Continuing farther he said, "I have also found that this method of planting my crops gives me a two year rotation. By planting cotton on feed land each year the percentage of dead cotton on my place is held down to the lowest."

"With the rotation of my crops in conjunction with terracing," Mr. Cooke said, "Each year I am building up my soil and in a few years hope to have a richer and better place than I have at the present time."

COWS ON FARM PAY GROCERY BILL

"From January 1st, until the last of June my three milch cows have brought me $169.00 from the sale of cream," said H. G. Hammer, Haskell County farmer living in the Howard community. According to Mr. Hammer these cows are not out of the ordinary but are like those found on most of the farms of the county. Also they have not had the best of conditions as the dry weather was hard on the sudan planted for them so they had been short on good green feed. Mr. Hammer thinks that the milch cow is a good investment for any farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Patterson of Sayles left last week to visit their old home in Calhoun County, Ala.

They drove through in their new car in four and one half days and had no trouble what ever. They will visit their children and other relatives in Anniston, Jacksonville, and other cities of the county. They are expecting a great time.

Rev. W. T. Priddy of Rotan was a visitor with C. I. Bird and family last week and spent Saturday in the city. Rev. Priddy is a former pastor of the Haskell Baptist Association and has many friends here. He lost his mother recently in death and has the sympathy of his many friends in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Isbell and little daughter, Bettie Jane and son Joe returned Saturday from Lamesa, Texas.

Mrs. W. H. Ellis and Mrs. R. T. Osborn and daughter have returned to their home in Sulphur Springs after visiting their sister and aunt, Mrs. W. M. Reid, who accompanied them home for a visit.

Rev. E. T. Miller a former Haskell county boy who began his ministerial work here a number of years ago passed through Haskell Monday morning and spent a short time in the city. He is now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Memphis, Texas, where he is doing a great work.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Elkins and their two sons Frederick and Campbell Hill of Lubbock spent several days in the city meeting old friends and looking after their business interests. They remained over for the 4th of July celebration.

C. Sears of Brownfield with his family were here for several days this week visiting friends and old neighbors. He came in time to take in the Fourth of July Barbecue and Picnic and he says that he has had the time of his life on this trip.

Lee Humphries, a former Haskell county school teacher was here Saturday greeting old friends. He has been located at Ralls, Texas, for the past several months, but he stated that his family was at Dublin visiting relatives while he came to Haskell to visit his old friends.

Where did you spend the 4th? Big doings here that day.

A sure way to get a swell funeral is to get into the bootleg racket in Chicago.

Connie Mack says he won't retire until he's 70. The grizzled veteran is 66 now, so he probably doesn't think his Athletics will win a pennant for four more years.

Depend upon Charley Dawes to keep things lively in London diplomatic circles. "Hell in Maria" has ordered the American embassy dry. He believes it will be healthier to drink to the king's health with water.

A doctor says that if you're getting bald-headed there isn't anything you can do about it. But optimistic barbers will continue to try to sell you their hair tonic.

Feed for Eggs
One can feed a flock of hens more economically than a flock of pullets because the hens need only a maintenance ration plus what is needed for eggs, while the pullets need maintenance—building material for feathers, bone and muscle—and egg material, too.
One can putter over a few hens and get fun from counting a good egg yield out of them by feed and care when too many hens are just a chore and portion a burden.

Neighbors are people who wonder how you manage to get by on your income.

The big traffic trouble is that too many six-cylinder cars are operated by one-cylinder brains.

Always Make Fowls as Profitable as Possible

There is a great temptation for the poultryman who is ambitious to equal the records made by others. Naturally any one wants to make his hens as profitable as possible, and as the rule generally applied is to keep a hen only to the end of her first laying year and then replace her with pullets, the effect of high egg production on the laying hens apparently is negligible, as she is sent to pot before any evil effects of force feeding can interfere with her laying.

Control Cannibalism
Cannibalism in pullets can be partially controlled by darkening nests. "Tie-outs," which is a term used when birds sit at the end of the nest, is often started when a bird is on the nest. Some birds acquire the habit of standing at the nest, and while the egg is being delivered they will attack the hen on the nest. If the nests are darkened the laying hen is in seclusion and the cannibal hens are not likely to attack her. A good play is to kill the cannibals.

Use for Vitamine D
Vitamin D, which is found in cod liver oil, is useful in helping to properly assimilate minerals. This vitamin is furnished by the direct rays of sunshine. During winter months, sunshine does not contain as many of these helpful rays as in summer. When sunshine passes through ordinary glass a great deal of the helpful influence is lost. These two factors make it possible to utilize cod liver oil to advantage in winter rations for laying hens.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL
Our doats still travel with us from afar. And what we have been makes us what we are.

"God intends no man to live in this world without working, but He intends every man to be happy in his work."

Various Good Things

DELICIOUS Fruit Cupplings may be made, baked and steamed, with any fruit at hand, making most dainty, attractive and appetizing desserts.

Prepare a baking powder biscuit dough, roll out one-fourth inch in thickness, cut into four-inch squares, one-half teaspoonful of salt with sugar, butter and any desired spice in the center and pinch the corners. If one desires, chopped apple may be used, or any sweetened fruit, such as peaches, apricots or cherries. Serve hot or cold with a hot sauce or with whipped cream.

Soft Gingerbread—Cream one cupful of soft shortening with one cupful of sugar, add one teaspoonful of ginger, the same of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of molasses, one cupful of raisins, three beaten eggs, four cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of soda and one cupful of buttermilk. Mix the dry ingredients alternately with the buttermilk and add the remaining ingredients. Bake in a slow oven.

Quick Candied Sweet Potatoes—Cut boiled, peeled sweet potatoes into halves, if small, in thick slices if large. Place in a frying pan with enough sweet fat to cover the bottom well, sprinkle with salt and thicken with brown sugar. Cover and cook slowly until the sugar is melted.

Veal Birds—Most people like this meat dish: Cut two and one-half pounds of veal into four-inch squares. Take one cupful of cream, two tablespoonfuls of finely minced suet and the scraps of the meat left from the trimming, finely chopped, add one egg, celery salt, salt and pepper and cracker crumbs, moisten with some of the cream. If not enough, place on the squares of meat, roll up, tie or fasten with toothpicks. Fry brown all over in butter. Place in the oven with a little hot water and simmer until tender. Add the cream and cook slowly another half hour.

WHEN possible to obtain it, buy the unpolished rice, it is much more wholesome and better flavored. The wild rice grown in our northern marshes is an especial delicacy, but its price is prohibitive for general use.

Rice Delight—Take one cupful of cooled rice, mix with one cupful of sugar. Drain a can of sliced or cubed pineapple from the liquor, using one cupful, add the rice with a little salt and fold in one cupful of heavy cream, whipped, sweetened and flavored. Garnish with strips of pineapple or the cubes rolled in chopped mint leaves.

Old-Fashioned Sponge Cake—Take eight eggs, separate the whites and yolks. Beat the yolks 25 minutes, add one cupful of sugar, beating constantly, the grated rind of half a lemon with its juice, then fold in two cupfuls of flour sifted five times before measuring; fold the stiffly beaten whites into the dough and bake in a moderate oven.

Strawberry Pie—Bake a rich pastry shell on the bottom of a pan. Cool and fill with sliced strawberries well mixed with sugar and one-fourth cupful of orange juice, all well chilled before filling the pie. Top with whipped cream.

Snowballs—Take one cupful each of sugar and butter, add one cupful of pasteurized cheese grated, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder with three and one-half cupfuls of flour. Roll in balls the size of a walnut and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for fifteen minutes. Dip into icing and roll in coconut.

HASKELL BOY KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION JULY FOURTH

Maurice Wimberly Meets Instant Death in Accident on Streets of Putnam.

LEAF WORMS APPEARING IN PARTS OF TEXAS

The following letter from R. R. Reppert, Entomologist in the Extension Service, A. and M. College has been received by County Agent Trice. Trice states that the letter came to him as advance information in regards to the outbreak of the cotton leaf worm in South Texas, yet due to the many acres of late planted cotton in Haskell County all farmers should be on the outlook for this pest which can be expected to appear in the cotton fields under favorable weather conditions during the next few weeks.

The sad news was wired into the family late Thursday afternoon of the tragic death of Maurice (Pete) Wimberly, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wimberly who met his death in a collision of two automobiles on Putnam streets Thursday July 4th, at 6:30 o'clock. Young Wimberly, who was just on the brink of attaining his majority if he had lived until September the 2nd, 1929, he would have been twenty-one years old, has been in the oil fields at Putnam for the past year at work and had spent the greater part of the fourth of July with a brother and family who had gone to Putnam, with young Wimberly hanging onto the running board in talking with them a few moments before he said good-bye. It is reported that a large touring car going at considerable rate of speed bearing a Dallas license met the car carrying Maurice Wimberly and that the two cars collided crushing the victim's head, and that he died instantly. He was brought to Haskell Friday and funeral services were held at the Wimberly residence Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. C. Jones, assisted by Rev. M. L. Baker. Then the funeral cortege wended its way to the little Pinkerton cemetery, six miles west of Haskell, the community where Maurice Wimberly with his parents and sisters spent the greater part of his young life, and there amid relatives and life time friends was laid to rest in the family burying lot. The deceased is survived by his parents and five brothers and sisters, all of whom were present at the last sad rite. The Free Press joins a saddened community in extending condolence to the bereaved family.

Delivery Started On Extension of Weinert Route

Service was begun on the 10 mile extension on Route one out of Weinert according to W. O. Lewis, carrier, Monday July 1st. Very few boxes were up on the new route for primary trip, but Mr. Lewis believes that the route will grow with each days service when the people see the route in operation. According to a Government ruling nothing but the large type of boxes can be used on new routes and they are more expensive than the smaller boxes. This route almost touches the corporate limits of the city of Haskell.
