C. A. Lindbergh Is Witness At Pelley's Trial

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh made a brief appearance as a defense witness Tuesday in the sedition trial of William Dudley Pelley, testifying that he had made no effort to learn of the public's attitude toward the war since the United States entered the conflict.

"I have devoted my time and energy to doing what I can to help with the war effort," the aviator replied when Floyd G. Christian, defense attorney, asked what he had observed as to any change in public opinion about this nation's participation in the war.

"I have made no effort to learn of any change in the public's attitude since the United States went to war."

Trial Is Adjourned

Earlier Lindbergh, who was active in the America First Movement prior to America's entry into the war, had testified it was his impression that "the majority of the people of this country were opposed to going into war—that is before we were attacked."

Lindbergh was not cross examined by the government.

After he left the stand, the trial of the former Silver Shirt leader and two associates, accused of interfering with the war effort by the publication of seditious statements, was adjourned because defense attorneys said they had no other witnesses immediately available.

Merchants Must File Ceiling Price Lists On New Merchandise

Retail merchants of Midland and of Midland County must file by August 10 a list of ceiling prices on cost-of-living articles received since July 1, said Addison Wadley, chairman of the County War Price committee of the rationing board.

"The filing of such lists by the tenth of the month is made mandatory under the general price regulations," said Wadley. He called attention to the fact that some merchants still have not filed the initial lists, which were due July 1.

"Failure to file that list is a violation of the regulation, and we have been advised that the state office of Price Administration now is making a field survey to locate the merchants who have not filed."

Results of this survey will be turned over to the OPA compliance and investigation department for immediate attention.

Any merchant who still has not obtained a copy of the general maximum price regulations, or Bulletin No. 2 on "What Every Merchant Should Know About The GMPR" can get copies by applying to the Midland board office on the second floor of the courthouse. Wadley asked immediate compliance in these matters, pointing out that they are definitely part of the program to win the war.

American Bombers Hammer Enemy In Many Sectors

(By The Associated Press)

Japanese sea-borne reinforcements were reported moving down the coast of New Guinea Tuesday, bolstering a land threat to the United Nations outpost at Port Moresby, while elsewhere in the far Pacific theater Allied fliers hammered the enemy in many sectors.

Advices to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia said enemy ships were on route to the Papuan Peninsula, presumably to strengthen Japanese forces which landed July 22 in the Gona-Buna area across the 120-mile-wide peninsula from Port Moresby.

Allied headquarters said the situation was still unchanged at Kokoda, halfway across the Peninsula, the farthest point of the Japanese advance toward Port Moresby. United Nations planes strafed Japanese troops and positions in the sector Monday, starting numerous fires.

Other Allied planes raided the Lae-Salamaua area, 150 miles north of Buna and hit a Japanese cargo ship which was beached in flames.

Meanwhile, the Japanese broadcast an imperial headquarters announcement that Japanese planes attacked the airport and harbor at Port Hedland on the Northwest Australian coast Tuesday.

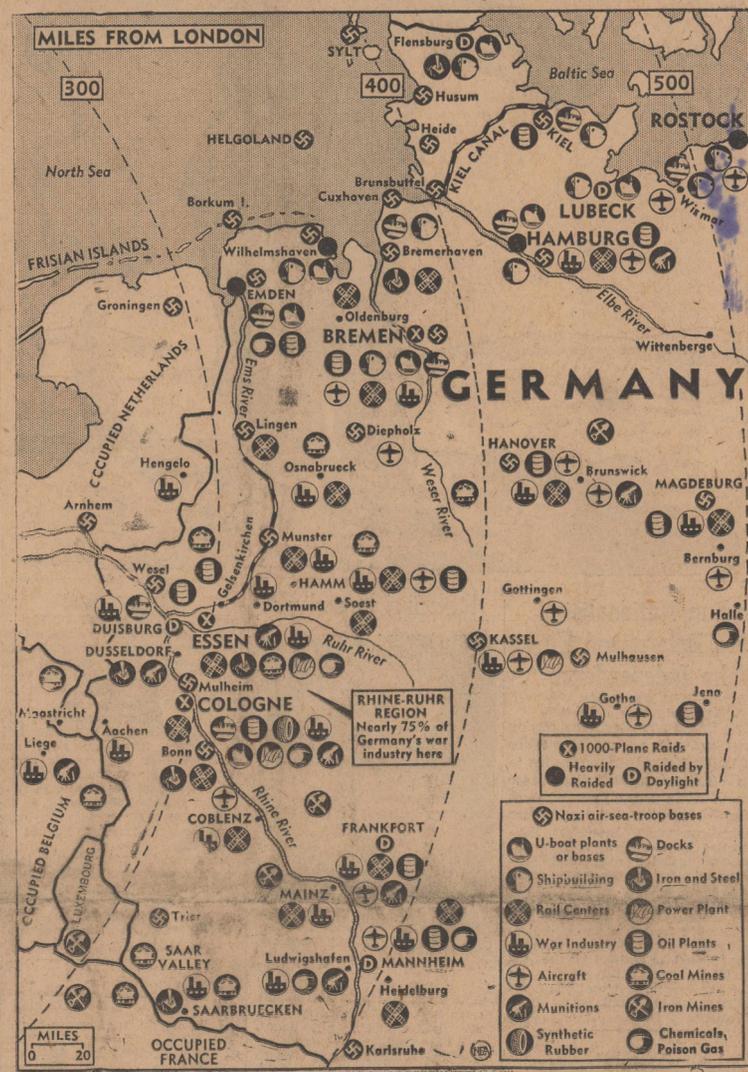

The strength of the attackers was given as "squadrons."

On the China war front, Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced that U. S. Army air raiders dropped a 550-pound bomb squarely on Japanese headquarters at Linchuan and machine-gunned two Japanese river transports.

American fliers also rained quarter-ton bombs on Japanese barracks and troop positions at Linchuan.

Simultaneously, a Chinese Army spokesman reported, Chinese troops encircled Linchuan and reached the city's west and south gates.

These Are the Allied Bomber Targets in Germany

Already heavily raided or potential targets of British and American bombers in the round-the-clock summer air campaign are these key industrial cities and bases of western Germany.

Timoshenko's Armies Cut Off German Drive In Stalingrad Area

By Roger D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor

Soviet dispatches declared Tuesday that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies, sweeping around the German flanks, had cut off Nazi forces in the "Battle of the Bend" 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, but the invaders continued to surge forward on the lower Don River and in the Caucasus.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted German mechanized columns had rolled up to the Kuban River deep in the Caucasus at several points and had captured the town of Voroshilovsk, 180 miles south east of Rostov.

British Airmen Attack Calais

LONDON (AP)—British Spitfires swarmed over the English channel in a mid-day attack on the Calais area Tuesday while Nazi raiders damaged two English towns in scattered bombing forays.

A third English town on the South Coast was saved from bombing by a blistering anti-aircraft barrage.

Observers at Folkestone reported the sky over the channel was dotted during the afternoon with Spitfires returning from the Calais attacks. Clouds kept the planes so low that some of them swept in at rooftop level.

Ban Use Of Iron Or Steel In Mattresses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The War Production Board Tuesday prohibited use of iron and steel in mattresses after September 1, and in studio couches, sofa beds and lounges after November 1.

Simultaneous, WPB fixed strict quotas on production of bed springs, and prohibited the use of metal in the manufacture of spring frames.

The order will stop production of innerspring mattresses entirely and force bed spring makers to use wood or some other substitute in spring frames.

The order does not apply to production of bedding products for the government or for hospitals and sanitariums.

The Army asked Jaycees to undertake the program throughout the state, so constant service may be maintained in all communities where recruiting offices are not maintained.

Gambler Kills Associates Who Double-Cross Him

NEW YORK (AP)—Old-fashioned gamblers' justice—revenge with bullets for a double-cross in dollars—was the motive given by a Broadway bookmaker who admitted slaying two former associates as they sat playing cards.

Not since the notorious Arnold Rothstein paid with his life 14 years ago, apparently for welching on a bet, has New York had such a vengeful killing as that which Monday left Robert B. Greene, 40, and Morris (Dimples) Wolenski, 54, dead and Max Fox, 48-year-old ex-convict, behind bars.

"Did Me Dirt"

"They did me dirt," Fox was quoted by Assistant District Attorney Louis A. Pagnucco as saying in confession he was the masked gunman who shot the pair in a mid-town bridge club.

As Fox was booked on homicide charges, Pagnucco said the former bookmaker poured out a tale of how Greene and Wolenski had reduced him from a big-time bookie to a virtually destitute gambler.

It was on $350,000 of election wagers in the 1940 presidential campaign that Fox claimed Greene and Wolenski "double-crossed" him, their partner, by "hedging" bets without informing him and leaving him holding the bag.

Allred Opens Runoff Campaign In Abilene

(By The Associated Press)

Challenger Jimmy Allred opens his fight Tuesday night to wrest the junior senatorship of Texas from W. Lee O'Daniel, now engaged in his first run-off campaign.

Allred opens up at Abilene, with indications that he intends broadening the theme of his speeches to include more stress on farm relief and opposition to forced enrollment in labor unions.

Both Are Confident

Senator O'Daniel, who missed re-nomination for his first six-year term by less than two per cent of the total vote cast July 25, still was silent on his plans. He has from now until Aug. 22 to give his fight.

In pre-speech statements, both candidates have expressed confidence of victory.

House Of Commons Holds Secret Meet

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons held a secret session of almost an hour Tuesday to hear a statement by Deputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee.

In later open session the House completed parliamentary action on a bill permitting United States Army courts to handle criminal cases involving his own men in Britain, despite some expression of fear of "detraction from Washington." The bill now awaits the king's assent.

The secret session was called without previous notice when Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal, announced Attlee wished to make a statement which should be given in secret. Its nature was not suggested. (The BBC, in a broadcast heard by CBS, said the House of Lords also held a short secret session.)

PHYSICAL AND SPIRITUAL LAWS ARE IMMOVABLE: The way of the ungodly shall perish.—Psalm 1-6.

Studying Inflation

President Roosevelt is making a study of inflation. This is supposed to be in preparation for action in some form or other, perhaps a new executive order, perhaps recommendations to Congress, perhaps both.

First, the factories that used to make consumer goods now are making armament and munitions and supplies for the fighting forces. To do this, they are employing every worker they can get.

Therefore we have more money but fewer consumer goods. This year, as a nation, we shall have close to 110 billion dollars of income, but not more than 70 billion dollars' worth of goods on which to spend it.

That leaves 40 billions for savings, including war bonds, for taxes and for inflation. Out of that 40 billions we can and will pay excessive prices for anything we want and can buy, unless Leon Henderson can keep prices down.

Second, Henderson has imposed ceilings on almost everything. But not on farm products, and not on wages. Third, prices already are very high.

Fourth, the wages paid to workers — whether computed hourly, daily, weekly or yearly — are at an all-time high. Almost no group has failed to profit from this.

Fifth, all these and other economic developments are based upon efforts to maintain the American standard of living, and if possible to improve it. But we can't do that until we have beaten Hitler.

In the words of a man who should know: "Our standard of living will have to come down." Who said that? President Roosevelt.

Truth About The Airlines

A good many people seem to have gained the impression that the government has taken over the commercial airlines—and that you can't travel by air unless you are armed with a federally-issued priority certificate.

Fortunately, for the welfare of the country, there is no truth in that. The fact is the airlines are still under private ownership and private operation.

If you wish to travel by air you can still do so, precisely as you can send your letters and your express by air. It is obvious that not every plane can be filled to the limit with blueprints, war cargo or big-shot officials.

The fact that transport service is still available to civilians is a tribute to the airlines' efficiency. In a recent 7-day period, for example, it was anticipated that 70 planes would have to perform work for the Army exclusively.

Naturally, war needs come first with the airlines, as with all other businesses. But the rumors that the airlines are now a government operation, and can no longer serve civilians, are completely unfounded.

Industrial Shift

One salutary effect of the war production drive has been a decentralization of industry. Studies reported by the National Industrial Conference Board show that only seven states — Arizona, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Vermont—did not have higher incomes last year than ever before.

New England, traditional manufacturing capital of the nation, had the lowest. The Middle Atlantic and East North Central regions also were below the national average.

A National War

Ours probably is as nearly perfect a selective service system as has been devised. Its administration has been remarkably intelligent and free from serious errors.

Scarecrows?

Indian Nationalists Are Determined To Take Independence

By De Witt MacKenzie, Wide World War Analyst. As things now stand the coming week-end will see untold millions of Indian Nationalists committed to an effort to exact independence from Britain through one of those terribly explosive civil disobedience campaigns which heretofore have resulted in bloodshed and in the present instance may easily develop into one of the major crises of the World War.

Swami Nehru, who next to Mahatma Gandhi is the most powerful Nationalist leader in India, declared Tuesday that the projected movement would be ratified by the All-India Congress which meets in Bombay Friday, and that the campaign probably would start in a fortnight.

Patriotically Inspired

THE uniform in the Treasury Department's "Minute Man" poster inspired this dashing khaki hat and undyed suede trenchcoat for fall 1942. Lovely Elaine Shepard, actress-model, takes her stand in them. The coat has rich brown beaver revers. John-Frederics did the felt hat, which is worth remembering when you buy a beret and seek interesting ways to crush it becomingly on your head. This original concoction has a strap buckled smartly to hold the crush-just right.

Girls, If You Want To Wear A Sailor's Blue Uniform—Here's How: Enlist For Service With Uncle Sam's New WAVES

By Ruth Cowan

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you think you look well in blue, here are a few pointers on how to be a candidate for an officer in the WAVES, the new feminine naval reserve.

Where to apply? Ask the post office for the address of the naval procurement officer for your district. Then write for an application blank, telling him specifically your age, no judging, for you'll be asked to prove it later), education and business or professional experience.

Qualifications. There are three groups in the first 1,000 would-be ensigns and lieutenants:

Group One. This will be composed of about 45 teachers, personnel directors, physical educationalists or supervisors of women, who will be invited to apply for commissions. They will train to be future naval instructors in the women's training school.

Group Two. About 300 women will be commissioned on a probationary basis and assigned to administrative jobs to get the "WAVES" rolling.

Group Three. From 500 to 650 officer-candidates, enrolled as apprentice seamen, who if they stay in the swim will come out ensigns.

Age. Group One and Two must not be less than 21 or older than 30. Group Three must be from 20 to 30, inclusive.

Matrimonial status. Marriage is no bar. But the unmarried must agree not to wed during their training. After that it is okay. Group One and Two must have no children under 18, and Group Three must be childless.

All must be citizens, able to pass physical and mental tests, and of good reputation.

Education. A baccalaureate degree or two years of college leading toward such a degree are required, plus not less than two years business and professional experience in fields the Navy needs. Also two years of mathematics.

Training. What training will the student-officer get? You'll go to Smith College at Northampton, Mass., the first week in October for a special course. If you survive the first month's instruction that you'll see if you've got what it takes, you'll be a reserve midshipman and assigned to a three months' specialized course.

Where you might serve? Anywhere within the United States, but you won't go to sea. The law forbids that. What will you get in the pay envelope? The same as a man of equal rank.

Will you get a uniform? Yes, but you'll buy it yourself out of an allowance, not to exceed $200 the Navy gives you. You'll be eligible for the same benefits for death or injury as civil employees of Uncle Sam.

What kind of specially trained women are wanted? Those trained in business administration, engineering—civil, mechanical, aeronautical, electrical—in physics, radio engineering, astronomy, metallurgy, modern foreign languages, political science, economics, transportation, psychology, personnel, library science, teletype operation, for example.

Will you be in the Navy? You certainly will.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland

There's nothing like a quick shower in the heat of a summer day to make you believe there's going to be coolness—whether there actually is or not.

One of those small adventures which give a lift of the spirit most any time is trying out a new shade of nail polish. Hopefully we buy a new bottle of liquid polish, thinking that surely, surely this will be the exact shade that we want—that conservative but not dull, softly-glowing but not too bright tint that we can visualize in glory but that we can't see in our hand's eye as being exactly right for our nails should gleam. We have a big sigh and resolve that when this bottle of lacquer is used, we'll try out that very newest shade that we read about in the latest magazine. Maybe it is the all-perfect tone that we want.

Wonderful, how stubbornly hopeful human beings are—how sure that if they just keep on, they will eventually get what they want.

Well, maybe that's the greatest wisdom after all.

Souvenir plates are again in demand. We've been looking at a new series of patriotic ones. There's one commemorating Pearl Harbor, for example, and one honoring General Douglas MacArthur, and one about Roosevelt and Churchill. There's a series honoring the war presidents, such as Roosevelt, Wilson, and Lincoln.

But the one which strikes the most original note is the "Deep in the Heart of Texas" plate with words and music for the famous song. It carries pictures of cattle, too, and a chuckwagon, and other typical Texas emblems. It's our favorite of the group.

Save Way

"Collars away" is a 1943 fashion headline. And this means that if you want to give a new look to have your "little tailor" remove the collar and gently round the neck closing. Or cut in a long V from the shoulder and wear with bright-colored scarf.

Make something of last year's suit with saddle stitching. Simply run the saddle stitching around revers and collar, and outline pockets. Stitch a navy suit with white, a brown suit with beige, a grey suit with black, or use gayer colors if you like them.

Make a dressmaker suit look entirely new and feminine. Edge the pockets and possibly the collar with perky ruffles of bias taffeta. The New York shops are showing this. They are also featuring edgings and darts of bright color which can be added at home.

If your coat lining is frayed around the bottom, this Waste Warden trick will make it last another season. Buy a length of wide grosgrain, or some ribbon which contrasts with the texture of the lining, and sew it in a wide band over the bottom of the lining.

Called for EXTRA DUTY On the Home Front

Have Your Electric Refrigerator Checked by an Expert

Hot weather puts an added load on your refrigerator, so if it doesn't operate properly, you may save money by having an experienced refrigerator serviceman check it over. Having repairs made promptly is usually an investment that means longer life and more economical service from your refrigerator.

Sizzling summer weather demands extra duty from your electric refrigerator in its battle to protect you and your family from harmful bacteria and to save food. The hotter the weather, the harder and longer your electric refrigerator works to keep your food fresh and wholesome, and to make added quantities of ice cubes for cooling drinks.

No matter how hot the weather, you can depend upon your electric service to provide constant food-saving cold. And, if hot weather adds a little to your electric service bill, that is just a sign that your electric refrigerator is paying you far more in food savings.

country. This year 11 Life Masters and more than 40 National Masters participated, but big shots in bridge meant nothing to Pvt. Melvin Lobell and Mrs. E. M. Goddard, who won the mixed pair event.

Today's hand helped our soldier boy win the tournament. With the South cards, he played three no trump. The opening lead brought out the jack and queen of spades. East exited with a heart, though a club lead would have caused the declarer more trouble. Dummy won with the jack of hearts and led a diamond to the king. Lobell now led a diamond toward dummy, and when West played low, the eight was put on. The object of this play was to be sure of four diamond tricks. Declarer could afford to lose a trick in the suit, provided that East won it instead of West.

Lobell was rewarded for his care when the duck turned out to be a winning and very necessary finesse. He cashed four no trump while the contract of three was lost at other tables because declared assumed the diamonds to be solid.

Seek Radio Talent At Bombardier College

The search for radio talent is on at Midland Army Flying School! Last week the bombardier college presented its first radio program—a half-hour broadcast over the Texas State Network. Technical difficulties encountered in the initial program are being corrected and the scope of the program may be enlarged.

All enlisted men, cadets or officers on the post, who are interested in comedy or dramatic skills on the air, are urged to communicate with the public relations office in Post Headquarters building.

First auditions for dramatic talent and vocalists will be held Wednesday night with Lt. Louis Horowitz, bombardier instructor and former New York radio director, in charge.

Hay Plays Part In Iron Ore Industry

HIBBING, Minn. (AP)—Iron ore operators in this mining capital are using hay to help supply the major share of about 90,000,000 tons of iron ore scheduled for shipment this year for war production. The hay is used to line the bottom of cars before loading to prevent seepage and loss of ore en route from the washing plants to Lake Superior docks. Up to July 1 more than 26,000,000 tons of one were shipped from Duluth-Superior and Two Harbors, Minn., docks. A contract to furnish 500 tons of hay was awarded recently.

Tournament Golf Has Crowds, Pays Big Relief Fund

ST. PAUL (P)—Tournament golf is about ready to end its war year on a financial par with other seasons.

Pros will have collected just as much prize money and will have been trailed by just as many spectators as before.

That's the word passed along by Irishman Fred Corcoran, PGA tournament manager.

Like all seasons, this one has produced players who appear destined to take places next to the immortals. Chick Harbert, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one such a fellow.

He won the St. Paul Open championship Monday in a playoff with Dutch Harrison, the lean, drawling Arkansan from Harrisburg, Pa. He won it sensationally by melting six strokes off par on the Keller public links for 66. Harrison came in with a 75.

Harbert's 31-35 trick gave him $1,000 first prize, boosted his year's winnings to $4,692 for sixth place among the top 100 headed by Ben Hogan, $12,143. Harrison took $750, bringing his earnings to $4,100 and seventh place.

While most of the other pros high-tailed it to Toronto, Ontario, Tuesday for the $3,000 Canadian Open Thursday through Sunday, Harbert was on his way home, planning not to enter.

Following the Canadian tournament is the $5,000 Rochester, N. Y. Open August 13-16. Chick is planning to go to that one.

"There are six tentative dates set after the Rochester meet before the season officially ends," Corcoran said. "So far the pros have collected a total of $130,000 in prize money and should reach the six-year average of $175,000."

"Some $100,000 has been given to war relief through tournaments and Red Cross benefit matches and in 22 tournaments thus far the golfers have played before 400,000 persons, as many as at any time in the past."

There are about 25,000,000 insects in the air above each square mile of the earth's surface, according to estimates.

Fort Worth Too Much For Tulsa; Caldwell Wins

(By The Associated Press) Aging Earl Caldwell, who has been playing baseball for 16 of his 36 years, hurled his 17th victory of the season Monday night as the Cats defeated the Tulsa Oilers 7-2 at Fort Worth.

The string of triumphs put him within striking distance of last year's record of 22 won and seven lost. Caldwell, who specializes in control and change of pace, yielded but four hits, three of them in the fourth inning, when the Oilers scored both their runs.

Although admittedly the veteran will have to extend himself to excel his 1941 mark, his admirers argue that he has a good chance to do it if he goes along at his present gait.

The Missions slid into fifth place as a result of a double beating by Houston, 5-3 and 6-1, at San Antonio. The win put the Buifs into the third spot.

In the only other game of the night the Dallas Rebels continued a disheartening losing streak by dropping a decision to the visiting Oklahoma Indians, 5-3. The Rebels had calculated that if they had beaten the seventh-place Indians Monday night and won the game scheduled for Tuesday they could have climbed out of the cellar for the first time since May 25.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr., Wide World Sports Columnist
NEW YORK — A lot of light-minded folks around New Orleans, including several city and state officials, are trying to get up a three-day fair carnival there Sept. 5-7 to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the great event when championships were settled for the first time by fighters wearing big padded mittens.

If you can find the record for 1922 you'll see that Jack McAuliffe knocked out Billy Myer in 15 rounds for the lightweight title on Sept. 5; the next day George Dixon kayoed Jack Skelly in eight heats to take the featherweight crown and, as the grand windup on Sept. 7, Jim Corbett knocked out John L. Sullivan to inaugurate a new heavyweight title.

The big job facing the New Orleans folks now is to get three champs released from the Armed Forces to put on a similar show.

No Words Wasted
Tech of Weatherford, Okla., quit football this week and here's the reason given by its to-the-point president, G. Y. Sanders, who played football himself before the first World War: "We have a parachute that will fit any pair of shoulders; they can learn how to click hell out of Japs instead of training pants."

Today's Guest Star
Art Edson Oklahoma City Times: "Eastern writers just can't believe that Van Lingle Mungo, who soared to fame with the Brooklyn Dodgers, should now be toiling with the once hated, hateful Giants. A major league ball player, however, never seems to have any trouble putting his loyalty where his money is."

Polly Wants A Winner
Racegoers up at Rockingham Park say there's one feminine hoss fan who brings her parrot to the races every day. Comes time for a race, she shows a program to the bird and Polly calls out a number to bet. So far, they say, Polly has been doing all right. If she ever hits a slump—well, parrot one day, feathers the next.

Dimout Halts Benefit Game Before Finish; May Stop Twi-Night Games

Brooklyn Was Leading As Blackout In Effect In Vital Ninth Inning

(By The Associated Press)

The dimout in East Coast blacked out the ninth inning of a bitter battle between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants Monday night, leaving 57,305 spectators in confusion, and made continuance of the twi-night form of baseball in New York a matter of doubt.

Above all the fans were sure of as they scrambled out of the Polo Grounds was that the National League champions had won the ball game 7-4 with Dixie Walker belting a three-run homer in the third inning and Dolph Camilli hitting the jackpot in the seventh inning with a clout against the rightfield roof while the bases were loaded.

These two tremendous blows gave Whitlow Wyatt his 13th victory against three defeats and spoiled Van Lingle Mungo's outing against his former teammates.

To prevent stalling, no one except the umpires knew exactly when the game would be halted and even the players were confused by the sudden stoppage. The Brooklyn team remained in the field for several minutes while the big crowd that had turned out for the benefit of the Army Emergency Relief Fund boomed long and loud.

The boing continued even after all lights were extinguished except a spotlight on the American flag and while amplifiers intoned the Star Spangled Banner and thousands of fans waved lighted matches in what had been intended for a patriotic ceremony.

The same teams were scheduled for another past daylight part flood light game at the Polo Grounds Tuesday night and the same thing in Brooklyn Wednesday night.

But President Horace Stoneham of the Giants said that there would never be another twi-night game in his ball park.

The Giant-Dodger contest was the only major league game Monday, an open date which most of the clubs filled with exhibitions including one in which the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Athletics 5-2 at Cooperstown, baseball's birthplace.

Aggieland News

An engineering drawing defense course is offered at A&M College this summer for 12 weeks. Two Midland boys, David Bizzell and Bert Streeter, are taking the course.

Bert graduated with the Midland High School class of 1941 and was employed by the Amerasia Petroleum Corporation before taking up the defense course.

David was a graduate with the class of 1942 and was working for a cleaning establishment before he took up the course.

The boys have four more weeks in the course.

Several other boys are here who were formerly in Midland.

We have the Post boys, John and Charles, and the Sessums brothers, Ernest and Thomas. Fred Pipkin lived in Midland before moving to Odessa and later to Penwell. Steven Stookey was popular in younger social circles of Midland before moving to Fort Worth.

Well, so long from—Aggieland.

MacArthur Praised As Censor In 1917
NEW YORK (P)—Newspapers of April 7, 1917, carried dispatches under Washington datelines that brought one Douglas MacArthur, then a major in the U. S. Army, into the headlines 25 years before Bataan.

Twenty-nine newspaper correspondents assigned to coverage of the War Department, the dispatches said, paid a joint call on War Secretary Newton D. Baker to present a commendation of "Major" MacArthur's work as military censor.

The commendation expressed the reporters' thanks and appreciation of the services of the military censor in expediting release of war news to the correspondents.
