Russians Attacking On Four Fronts

Reds Slow Nazi Drive Near Stalingrad And Battle In Caucasus

By Henry C. Cassidy
MOSCOW (AP)—The Red Army has taken the initiative in battles developing on four key Central Russian fronts along the 400 miles from Bryansk to Lake Ilmen while holding doggedly before Stalingrad and in the Caucasus, battlefront dispatches reported Thursday.

Centers of the Russian attack were listed as the Bryansk front, 210 miles southwest of Moscow; the salient 130 miles west of Moscow in the Vyazma area; the Kalinin-Rzhev salient, 130 miles northwest of the capital; and the Lake Ilmen front south of Leningrad.

(This was the first specific mention of Red Army offensives on these fronts in Russian dispatches, although German communiques for days have told of desperate resistance there by Nazi forces hurled into the defensive by strong Soviet attacks.)

Great losses were suffered by the Germans on the Bryansk, Western, Kalinin and northwestern fronts where the initiative in active military operations belongs to our troops," said Red Star, the army newspaper.

The Russians apparently were striking out along this whole line in a carefully-timed series of sharp assaults.

Defeat German Drive
In the South, where the Germans concentrated ever-reinforced troops and air strength, the Russians said some Axis troops had forced a crossing in the elbow of the Don in their drive upon Stalingrad, but were "completely wiped out" on the east bank.

While Red Army men on the steppes between the Don and the Volga thus were reported to have accounted for Nazi bridgeheads, Russians withdrew again in the battle of the Western Caucasus behind screening cavalry counterattacks and the Kuban city of Krasnodar.

Tom Sealy Departs For Officer Training

Before leaving Midland he attended a meeting of the city council and was presented with a gift from other councilmen. Sealy is a former president of the Rotary Club.

Nelson To Speed Material Flow To War Factories

WASHINGTON (AP)—Positive and prompt action to forestall any war production shutdowns due to lack of materials appeared imminent Thursday in consonance with Donald M. Nelson's newly enunciated "get tough" policy.

The production chief was expected to give his regional directors throughout the country power to issue "quickie" priority ratings to provide needed small quantities of materials or parts.

This holders of war contracts threatened with stoppage or curtailment of output because of an interruption in the flow of materials or a breakdown of machinery, could obtain readily the materials needed to keep going.

Official Washington watched closely for more drastic action from Nelson, who Wednesday made it clear that he had taken his gloves off for a finish fight on the question of his administration of the war effort.

"From now on anyone who crosses my path is going to have his head taken off," he said in discussing statements from congressional and other sources that the War Production Administration was planning to

That Was How General Davies Started—It Must Be Okay Sergeant Who Helps Keep Those Big Bombers In Shape To Fly Says He Has Swellest Job In The Air Forces

By Ray Camp
When you see a big bomber driving through the skies, you know that the Ground Crew Chief said it could go! And, when he said it could go, he meant that it was ready to go . . . and come back!

For he loves that plane! Take it from Sergeant L. Holliday, with the 486th School Squadron, at Midland Army Flying School. He is one of those boys who say when a plane can go, and when it can't go. Why? Because he knows when it is ready to go!

And, one marvels on finding that just a few months ago he and many others, about three-fourths of them to be exact, knew nothing about a plane, and little or nothing about a gas engine. But Sergeant Holliday wanted to know, and when the Army said it needed mechanics for the Air Forces, and that it would give him the finest training in the world for that job . . . well, it was just like a bugle call to him! Uncle Sam had himself a soldier mechanic in a hurry!

Magnolia 1 Glenn Cores Oily Sand In McKee Section

By FRANK GARDNER
Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 D. K. Glenn, Southwestern Crane County wildcat between the Sand Hills and Abell Ordovician fields, occupied the spotlight Thursday when it cored sand showing oil staining and bearing an odor of gas.

No. 1 Glenn topped the McKee sand at 4,125 feet. The McKee is the upper of two sands in the Simpson, middle Ordovician, thus far found productive in West Texas. The Magnolia well had topped the Simpson at 5,500 feet and the Tulp Creek red shale at 5,845 feet. It was cored from 6,130-40, recovering nine and one-half feet. The top six inches was sandy green shale; next two feet was sandy gray lime streaked with sandy shale; next five feet was hard green sand, and the bottom two feet was brown to green, fairly soft sand carrying some staining and gas odor. Operators are coring ahead in the test, for which revised Form 1 has been filed with the Texas Railroad Commission asking permission to deepen to 7,700 feet.

No change was reported as The Texas Company No. 1 G. C. Fraser-TXL, Northeastern Crane wildcat, drilled to 5,673 feet in lime.

Oil Show In Texu
Baroid logging device indicated a slight showing of oil from 9,300-03 feet in Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A Texu, Southwest Central Andrews County wildcat and deepest active operation in West Texas. The well is drilling ahead at 9,353 feet in lime believed to be pre-Pennsylvanian.

O'Daniel Continues War Policy Defense

CARTHAGE (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel pushed up into Northeast Texas Thursday with the hard-driving "appreciation tour" which he hopes will send him back to the Senate an overwhelming victor over James V. Allred in Saturday's runoff primary.

The senator told a radio audience that "the charge I voted to disband the American Army is another charge so baseless that it does not merit an answer. Since we entered the war I voted for every war measure, and every war appropriation."

War Plant Opened By Army Troopers

BOSTON (AP)—Production of war materials proceeded without let-up Thursday at the S. A. Woods Machine Company plant after the Army took possession because of the management's refusal to comply with a War Labor Board directive.

Acting on presidential orders, the Army sent seven truckloads of troops, equipped with rifles, machine guns and gas masks, into the premises Wednesday night.

Allred Proposes Federal Pension For Aged People

(By The Associated Press)
The old-age pension question came to the fore Thursday in a bitter campaign to be decided next Saturday, when the Texas electorate will choose in a runoff election whether to return W. Lee O'Daniel to the U. S. Senate or to send James V. Allred.

The question, a moot one in recent Texas elections, was brought before the voters forcibly by two developments.

One was a plan enunciated by Allred to provide a pension of not less than $30 a month for every aged person with an income of less than $600 a year. The pension would be paid from the U. S. Treasury.

Roberts Is Declared Andrews County Judge

County Judge C. W. Roberts of Andrews County Wednesday was declared reelected to that office by a two votes majority. He had filed a contest over the primary vote, in which his opponent, H. T. Wilson, led by two votes.

When the case came to trial, both parties agreed to leave the decision to the county election board instead of by trial in county courts. Both agreed that they would not appeal the decision of the board.

The contest was based on Judge Roberts' contention that certain absentee votes were cast by parties who were no longer legal residents of the county. Klenworth and Hamilton, law firm of Midland, represented Judge Roberts in the proceedings.

Jap Warships Hit Heavily By Bombers

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia (AP)—Allied bombers struck a new blow in support of United States Marines fighting to dislodge the Japanese from the Solomon Islands by blasting at enemy warships almost 400 miles north of the battle area Wednesday, General MacArthur's headquarters announced Thursday.

The communique disclosing the attack also announced the loss of the 10,000-ton Australian cruiser Canberra in the first stages of the Solomon Islands battle while serving with United States naval forces under the command of Vice Admiral Robert Lee Ghormley.

Australian authorities listed casualties aboard the Canberra—which carried 816 men—as 84 dead and 100 wounded. Among the fatalities were the commander, Capt. Frank Getting of Sydney, and Ensign J. W. Vance of the United States Navy.

I-B Registrants Will Be Called Into Army Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Selective Service registrants rated as having minor physical defects officially became eligible for military service Thursday with elimination of the I-B classification.

The Selective Service system announced abolishment of the "limited service" class Wednesday although the Army, nearing exhaustion of the pool of I-A registrants, recently called for induction of men in the I-B group.

Consequently Selective Service said, reclassification of men in this group will begin Sept. 1 and will be completed Jan. 1. They will be rated as I-A, the group free of any known physical defect, or placed in Class 4-F comprising those totally unfit for service.

During reclassification, however, Selective Service added, no more than one-fourth of the I-B registrants in any local board will be placed in Class I-A in any single month. After their induction, the Army will determine whether to assign them to full or limited duties.

Dieppe Wrecked And Hitler's Air Force Suffers Severe Blow

By The Associated Press
Secrets of Germany's anti-invasion coastal defenses were studied by the Allied command Thursday amid predictions that titanic new blows would fall soon upon the jittery Nazis in the wake of Wednesday's history-making attack on Dieppe, France.

As first fruits of the raid, informed London quarters declared probably one third of Adolf Hitler's fighter plane strength in Western Europe had been destroyed during the nine-hour assault.

Dieppe itself, once a famous spa, transformed by the Germans into a bastion of anti-aircraft defense, was pictured as lying in charred, shell-torn ruins Thursday.

Eyewitness stories reaching Vichy by telephone said fierce hand-to-hand fighting raged in the streets of flaming Dieppe under a rain of British artillery fire.

U.S. Bombardiers Are Accurate In Abbeville Attack

By Wes Gallagher
WITH THE UNITED STATES ARMY FORCES IN BRITAIN (AP)—While flying fortresses of the United States Army were knocking out the largest German fighter field in the Dieppe area Wednesday, United States fighter pilots scored three probable victories in one of the war's biggest air shows.

Altogether the Allies made 2,500 sorties from dawn to dusk Wednesday. (In aviation terms, a sortie is one flight by one plane.)

The American fighter pilots came home with sore necks and experience crowded into one day which might have taken weeks of non-combatant training to match. They made four trips across the Channel, spending more than six hours (Continued on page six)

War Production Board Representatives To Be In Midland Friday

ERIC J. BYMARK and Norvell W. Harris, representatives of the War Production Board district office in El Paso, will be in Midland Friday to confer with persons relative to WFB orders and regulations.

Destroy 91 German Planes

British accounts listed 91 German planes definitely destroyed and 100 others shot down or damaged. The RAF lost 98 planes out of 1,000 aircraft in action, but 30 of the RAF pilots shot down were known to be safe.

Jaycees Start "Get Out Vote" Campaign

Urging residents to express their citizenship by voting in Saturday's run-off primary election, members of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce have started a county-wide "Get Out The Vote" campaign.

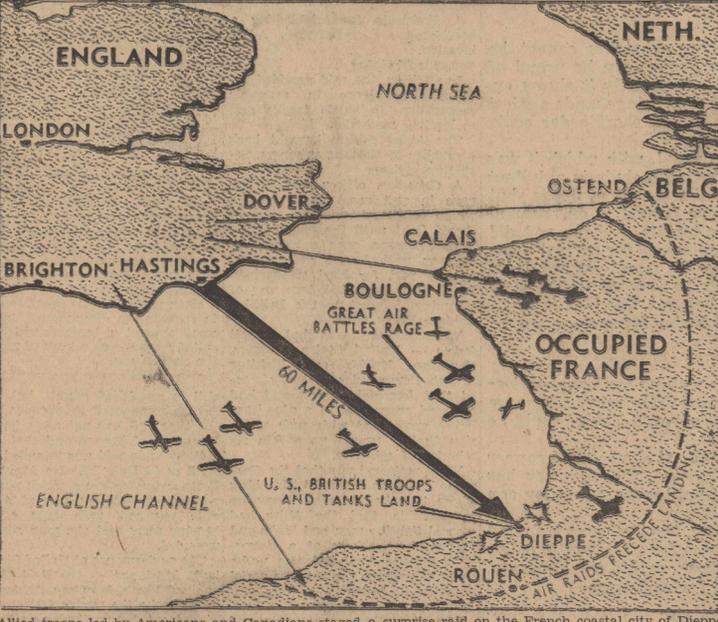

Clint Dunagan, Jaycee president, announced the appointment of U. A. Hyde as chairman of the special "Get Out The Vote" committee.

Vote campaigns previously sponsored by the Midland Jaycees have been successful and each time have brought out an increased percentage of the voting strength of the county. Getting out the votes is one of the major objectives of the national junior chamber of commerce organization.

Vote As You Wish, But Vote
Jaycee officials pointed out it is the duty of every qualified voter to go to the polls on election day to cast his or her ballot for their chosen candidates.

"Vote as you wish, but vote" is the slogan of the committee. Newspaper and radio publicity, stickers and handbills will be used in the campaign to interest people in voting in Saturday's election. Hyde said. A song "Vote as you wish" by John A. Sales Co., will be used to remind citizens to vote.

Let's Not Fight Each Other

Out of Washington come disturbing reports concerning the inability of our war administrators to work together. It would appear that too many of the nation's capital are not looking up, occasionally, at the government-prepared poster that suggests:

"Let's fight Hitler, not each other."

In general, it would seem that the civilian side of the war effort, represented by Donald Nelson, and the military side, represented by Lieut.-Gen. Brehon Somervell and Vice Admiral Samuel Robinson, are at loggerheads.

As described by one veteran observer, the controversy rests upon a fundamental disagreement in philosophy. The civilian attitude is said to be that the armed services can have all that is left after important non-military needs have been met. The Army and the Navy, on the contrary, contend that they should have first call upon everything and then, if there should be a surplus, that can go to civilians.

If one had to choose between two such extreme viewpoints, in times like these he probably would side with General Somervell and Admiral Robinson.

Unless the Army and the Navy get what they need, there won't be anything at all for civilians—not even the fundamentals of liberty.

Fortunately, it is not necessary to go to either extreme. Both Nelson and Somervell—and Robinson, by repute—are too decent, too sensible, too tolerant to let stiff necks interfere long with the co-operation without which our war effort must suffer.

Unquestionably the Army and Navy must have everything they need with which to fight, even though that forces civilians to go without every luxury and most comforts. Donald Nelson would be the first to concede that.

On the other hand, General Somervell and Admiral Robinson would not question that there are certain essentials without which the civilian production system cannot continue to function.

We at home can and must give up much that we have retained thus far in the war. The Army and the Navy must toss tradition out of the window and accept substitutes in laundry equipment, cots, broom-bindings, utility hardware, oil can and other non-critical items.

That such compromises can be worked out is evidenced in the discovery that cartridge cases, a highly critical military item, can be made from steel just as well as from brass.

The good will of big men will not permit silly disputes to go on.

Men—Machines—And Money

Most of us think of war exclusively in terms of men and machines. But there is another essential to the prosecution of war—money.

The role played by banking in this war is, therefore, of the first importance. Men must obtain money to expand their plants—and they go to the banks. Men must receive advice on difficult financial problems—and they go to the banks. Men seek understanding of the many complicated financial restraints laid down by the government—and they go to the banks. Billions of dollars worth of War Bonds must be sold to the public—and the banks do a large part of the job. The Treasury freezes the vast financial holdings of enemy governments and enemy nations in this country—and it is up to the banks to see that the freeze goes quickly, efficiently and completely into effect.

So the story goes, in a hundred varied fields of financial activity. Banking is in the war to the hilt. Men, machines and money make up the combination which is necessary to eventual victory.

Sabotage

The FBI's record in catching saboteurs cannot be praised too highly. John Edgar Hoover can be proud of the organization he has created. Ordinarily it shows excellent judgment. But the charge of sabotage made against Edward Jones, former Newark, N. J., short order cook, seems too drastic.

Jones lost his grip on an iron rod, with which it was his job to keep plastics from clogging a chute in a duPont plant. The rod went down into the conveyor. Jones shut off the current. Another employe turned it on. Fearful of losing his job, Jones held his tongue, and the rod did damage which shut down the equipment for several days.

Obviously Jones proved himself a moral coward, lacking in good judgment. Probably he showed unfitness to work around machinery. But sabotage? The idea is silly.

Our Copper Nickel

The Treasury must continue making our popular five-cent piece, the "nickel," out of four-fifths copper, because the price of silver is so high that silver "nickels" could be melted down and sold at a profit.

Since we are up against a critical shortage of copper and a troublesome shortage of nickel, the Treasury has stopped making five-cent pieces until some new alloy can be found.

Silver is high because, by law, the Treasury is forced to pay at least 71.11 cents an ounce for all domestic offerings—and jewelers, to obtain silver, outbid the Treasury.

dians, British and Fighting French—"without calling up reinforcements of important strength."

London advices said the entire machinery of the German defense plan in the West apparently was set into frenzied motion, and declared the Allies not only achieved every major goal but completed the vast operation within six minutes of schedule.

Power-driven steel barges and other ships returned to British bases throughout the night, bringing the tired but elated troops home. Many of them, singing despite their fatigue, still had their faces daubed with Indian-style camouflage of green, black and yellow paint for the daylight assault.

The last wounded Commandos were brought ashore Thursday morning, while squadrons of RAF Spitfires and Hurricanes kept vigil overhead and other fighter planes streaked across the Channel in the direction of Dieppe.

Losses Are Severe

Losses in killed and wounded were admittedly severe, as had been expected for so daring an attack against the gun-studded Nazi coast, but the British said there was no confirmation of the German claim that "hundreds" had been killed, 1,500 prisoners captured and 28 armored cars destroyed. Some tanks, used for the Commandos, were known to have been lost.

Also without confirmation, the Nazis listed three destroyers, two torpedo boats and four transports as Allied sea losses.

French Followed Instructions

Thursday the Paris radio cited "the discipline and calm of the population of Dieppe," and there was no indication that French patriots had ignored the BBC's admonition to keep out of the fight and thus avoid giving the Axis an excuse for bloody reprisals.

British Military Experts Said

The operation showed: 1. That the British Royal Navy and the RAF still rule the English Channel. 2. The real strength of German land and air defenses in Western Europe. 3. Prospects for establishing a beachhead for a full-scale Allied invasion.

Valuable Training
In addition, the raid provided invaluable experience in army-air cooperation, in battle tactics and in landing methods.

The Allied raiders brought back a number of German prisoners, including officers.
A Canadian officer said, "They gave in and came along quietly, which surprised us. We thought they'd fight until the end."
That Dieppe, once a bastion of German anti-aircraft defense and a sally port for Nazi submarines, lay flaming and shell-torn was of secondary interest to the British.

Achieve Every Goal
What mattered was that assault forces—United States, Angers, Canadian, British and Fighting French Commandos—had stormed that formidable coast and had achieved every goal in a nine-hour battle engineered with such precision that it wound up within six minutes of schedule.

What mattered was that the Germans had been dealt a jolting blow where they had boasted they were invulnerable, that the Allies had massed fighting men and tanks and ferried them ashore at a strong-point of the Nazi defenses under cover of perhaps the greatest aerial umbrella in history.

Lieut. Heikkila And Midland Girl Wed In Big Spring

Announcement is made here of the marriage of Mrs. Juanita Dorsey and Lieutenant Edwin C. Heikkila which was solemnized at Big Spring, July 15. The Reverend Smith, Methodist minister, read the ceremony. The couple had no attendants.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Heikkila are now at home at 808 Lancaster, Big Spring. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bertha Johnson and is well-known in Midland. She is a graduate of Midland High School. For more than a year before her marriage she had been employed in the offices of Wright and McMillen, oil operators.

Lieutenant Heikkila is from Brooklyn, New York, and is the son of Mrs. Ellen Heikkila of that city. He is a graduate of Clemson College, South Carolina. He reported to Midland Army Flying School December 12, 1941 from Ellington Field, Houston. A first lieutenant, he was adjutant of the 852nd Ordnance Service Company. Recently he was transferred to Big Spring.

Can You Help These Three Children To Health?

Tonsils—they're just those little things that the average lucky American child has removed when the family doctor first suggests it would be well to have out. But to some children they're much more than that—to some a tonsil operation may mean the difference between a happy and an unhappy childhood, between illness and health, perhaps between life and death.

Here are three cases where a tonsil operation is urgent: There's a 12-year-old white girl in Midland who has been ridiculed in school by other children because of a disability she cannot control. The doctor says that if infected tonsils are removed and her physical condition improves, this disability will disappear. A tonsillectomy—the price of possible health and normal childhood over a life of childish torture.

Case: A little 4-year-old Mexican girl has a chronic mastoid condition. If tonsils, one source of infection, are removed, the trouble can be treated in the ear.

Case: A 7-year-old Mexican child needs tonsils removed. The father in this family of several children can not do full-time work. The grandfather will assist in paying for the tonsil operation if the remainder of the fee can be raised.

Anyone interested in assisting the Children's Service League to care for these cases is asked to call Mrs. John Ellis at 643W or Mrs. T. S. Jones at 986J.

War Contracts Needed Where Labor Plentiful

WASHINGTON (AP) — War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt said Thursday that 19 per cent of the total volume of war production contracts awarded between May 1 and June 20 went to areas where the labor supply already was inadequate.

An additional 56 per cent went to areas of prospective labor shortages while only 17.5 per cent was directed toward areas where there was a surplus of workers, he reported, declaring that much greater attention must be paid to the labor supply factor in awarding contracts.

Rationing Get Headache

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Tampa rationing board was thrown into confusion by an application for a tire for a private airplane. Nobody could find anything in the rules about airplane tires, but Administrator Frank M. Traynor explained to the board that rationing airplane tires was an exclusive duty of the War Production Board.

The Trouble LIVINGSTON, Mont. (AP) — When members of the Park county rationing board met to allocate some tires they found that Chairman R. A. Thornton was absent. He phoned. The reason for his absence—tire trouble, and he had no spare.

Tune in each morning this week at 8:15 through Friday, to KRIL-Adv.

SOCIETY

Sergeant- Hold Everything
 Field, then to Chanute Field to school, and he went down to Ellington, and in January was in Midland. And today he can take one of those big bombers down, put her back together, and drive her around, fly her around, and send her off on a mission... purring neat as a cat! He can cock one ear at her, and tell whether or not she is fit to go. Best of all, though, he knows that he can send a bomber crew aloft and feel that those fine boys, the good fellows who must bear the brunt of battle, have a sound plane under them, a good plane ready to go... and fit to come back!
Greatest Job In World
 "For me, well, it is the greatest job in the world! Look at that big bomber. Why it is just like a child in your hands; it is sensitive as a race horse; it is a wonderful thing, and a fellow really gets a kick from knowing that he can keep one flying! Mister, that is something!"
 And it sets one to wondering a bit, for he just wakes up to the fact that this 19-year-old Waco boy not only has a high school and who never "finked a tank" with a gas engine before he entered the Army is one of the men who keep these bombers flying. Without men like him there would be no bombing missions, no pursuit flights, no transport of troops by air! Literally, it is men like Sergeant Holliday who "keep 'em flying!"
Gave Him A Rag
 Of course, he must have had some instinctive ability as a mechanic, and certainly he had a love for an airplane, but he gives all the credit to the Army training. "They sent me up to Chanute Field," he said, "gave me a rag, and told me to start wiping off that plane. I fooled around with that baby, shined her up like a million dollars, and was plenty proud of her looks."
 "Pretty soon, they got me a bit farther along, and I was even prouder of what I could make an engine do than I was of how the plane looked. I tell you, when a fellow gets to where he can make that 450 horsepower, or that 1,000 horsepower engine purr like a kitten, and respond to every call for power, that's my idea of heaven on earth."
Learned About Engines
 "Everyday in classes they showed us how those engines are built, how to keep them in tip-top form, until a fellow got to where he could tear one down, put her together, and know how to keep her in prime condition. Then, he can put them in the air... and bring them back again!"
 "It was fine when a fellow got to know about a single engine, but when they introduced him to a two-engine job, and he found out how to synchronize them, make them purr together, respond, pull together... at the same speed, same power... working as one. Well, that was another thrill."
 "Oh, I like to fly," said the sergeant. "A fellow gets some heroic notions once in a while and wonders if he is missing something by not getting into a more spectacular job. But when they 'flew from Heaven Men' come trotting on the apron to go on a mission, a fellow gets a thrill out of seeing them hop right in, because they know you have that job ready for them... they know they don't have to worry about their plane. Could you think of a better thing to be doing for victory?"
And, After The War
 "What are you going to do when the war is won?" we asked.
 "Do! Why, man, I'll keep right on at this job. Personally, I would like to spend the rest of my life with the Air Forces. That's what General Davies has done. He started in as a mechanic... looks like opportunity to me! It's a swell spot to be in, but say they won't need all of us in the Army. There will be hundreds of thousands of planes flying, doing everything, after the war. Somebody is going to have to take care of them. A good aviation mechanic is fixed for life... he will always have a good job waiting for him!"
 "Could a man afford, financially," we asked, "to stay with the Army?"

"I think it's silly, too—but they told me to mount some cannons!"

"Well, sort of. A tech sergeant draws down $114 and his board and room and clothing, not bad, eh? A staff sergeant gets everything and $96 a month; while a buck sergeant draws his $78 and clothes and a living. A first class private gets everything and $54, and a private gets his $50. And that's not all. If he has to do some regular flying, and most of them do, well his pay is increased half again! That private would be drawing $75 and his clothes and keep; the rest do the same, with that tech sergeant getting his $114, plus half that much more, $180 a month and nothing to pay out, for living. Believe me, I can show you some worse jobs, eh!"
His Bomber Rolls
 And, there the talk with Sergeant Holliday ended... they had rolled his particular pet bomber out on the apron, and he walked off with "Say, enjoyed the visit, and come back to see us. But I got to run over and put an eye and an ear over that twin job they just rolled out. That's my baby! You ought to hear her hum. She's ready to go out, and she's fit to come back! So long!"
 Then he stopped, ran back a few steps and added, "Say, if you are gonna write something about this for the paper, tell these boys to join up with us. The Army is sure needing a lot of good boys, and it will give them the best training... and they sure will enjoy working on these planes. Tell them to join up and help us keep 'em flying."
 And we slowly walked off, glancing back at the sergeant and his "baby," and saw the crew crawl in and take her for a run... and she hopped off for a turn through the skies. And... Sergeant Holliday was standing there, a hand shading his eyes, watching "her" out of sight.
 That boy! He is in love with that plane.

SERIAL STORY

LUCKY PENNY

BY GLORIA KAYE

A TRIP TO KANSAS

CHAPTER XII

THE campaign for an honest city government was a triumph for the Courier. Never had there been such interest in an election. Jim worked endlessly, tirelessly. Absorbed in the campaign, Jim found little time to check activities on the plateau above Kirktown. Steam shovels were busy now, digging foundations, clearing the land for the ambitious project Charlie Jones had undertaken for Penny.
 "Why don't you take a little vacation?" Penny suggested. "You certainly have earned one. Now that the election rush is over, I can handle the paper. You really should take it easy—for your own good."
 "I wish I could get back to Kansas," Jim chuckled. "Mom would fill me full of corn. I'd cluck like a chicken. And speaking of chicken, Penny, you should taste the ones she fries. Nothing like it in the world."
 "Go ahead, Jim," she urged. "Visit your folks. Forget the paper. You'll be better for it when you come back."
 "Penny," Jim said, "I will go back! I want to tell the folks about you. This time I'll go alone. Next time, you're coming with me."
 He babbled happily, excitedly, about his folks and the scenes of his childhood. Once he had made up his mind, he couldn't bear the delay of packing and waiting for a train.
 At the station he poured last-minute instructions to Penny.
 "I'll miss you, Penny," Jim whispered. "A month is a long time to be away from you." Yes—a month was a long time, she reflected, as she waved goodbye to the fast-receding train.

IN the busy weeks that followed, she found time to visit the Kirk offices once more. "Mr. Stimson," Penny told the executive, "I've come to ask you to accompany me on a trip through the mills. I want to meet all the men. I want a speaker's platform, and a microphone. I have something to say to them. Can you have everything ready tomorrow?"
 Stammering, the surprised Stimson agreed to make the preparations she demanded.
 Daily, Penny drove to the plateau where construction of New Kirktown was progressing with amazing speed.
 "There's one building that must be finished within a month," she told Charlie Jones. "That's the Courier building."
 "We'll have it done," the architect assured her, "well ahead of schedule."
 Penny arrived at the mills to find the steel workers gathered curiously about the flag-draped platform erected for her.
 "Fellows," Penny said, "I have a confession to make. I'm not Penny Kellogg. I'm Penelope Kirk. I came into the mills the way I did to find out for myself what you're like and to learn what we can do to work together so that everyone will profit and everyone will be happy." Silence filled the room.
 "I know some of your grievances," she continued. "They're going to be corrected. I'm going to have an office right here in the mill. I want you to come in and see me any time you have anything on your mind. We're going to work together to make this the swellest steel outfit in the country. What do you say?"
 They said it, lustily and loudly. Penny was happy now, happier than ever before in her life. Three weeks had passed since Jim left. In another week Jim would return to share with her the pleasures she had planned so carefully.
 She parked her car in front of the Courier office, late in the afternoon. She was surprised to find the front door open. She walked in.
 There stood Jim. The look in his eyes hurt her—worse than physical pain. "Jim," was all that Penny could say, "Jim." She had never seen him like this. "Tired. Bitter. His eyes harsh."
 "You wrote to me every day. You promised to write me about everything that happened in town. What changed your mind?" He didn't wait for an answer. "I know. It would be fun to surprise me. When I came back I'd find Penelope Kirk's name in the masthead instead of Penny Kellogg's, and a new building for the Courier instead of my dumpy basement."
 "You neglected one thing. You forgot that my folks are on the mailing list. I saw the last issue of the Courier in spite of your failure to send one to me. I saw the architects' drawings of New Kirktown." He laughed bitterly. "You certainly got a long way to carry out a joke. What fun it will be to tell your friends about the poor sap who wanted a new town and came back from his vacation and there it was. Like a kid getting a present from Santa Claus."
 "Tell them what a fool I was. I thought you were poor and friendless and wanted love. Tell them I actually made love to you. Tell them the poor sap actually thought you loved him. Good joke, isn't it?" He turned on his heel and walked out.
 Wearily, Penny closed the office door. She slid into her roadster and drove slowly to the apartment she still shared with Midge. She packed her clothes and a few little trinkets. Her luggage was placed in the trunk of her car. To Midge she wrote a brief, friendly farewell note.
 When she reached the Courier office the sun had already descended. She groped for a light switch, and the bright glare momentarily blinded her. As her vision cleared, she stared in astonishment.
 Grotesquely uncomfortable, Jim was slumped in the swivel chair he had rescued from the ruins of the old office. His head rolled crazily along the back edge of the chair. On the table in front of him stood an empty whisky bottle.
 Shocked, Penny stood still, debating what to do next. She remembered his steadfast resolution to refrain from drinking. Once before, drink had ruined his career. Suddenly the answer she sought dawned on her.
 "Don't you see?" she asked herself. "He needs you! He can't get along without you! You've won him! He's yours!"
 Jim had thrown his ancient valise in a corner. She carried it out to his dusty car, placing the heavy grip tenderly on the back seat. She removed her own luggage from the roadster and placed it beside his. She had some difficulty in rousing him sufficiently so that he could walk with her, unsteadily, to the decrepit vehicle he loved so well.
 "Jim needs me," she repeated over and over again. "He needs me. He needs me."
 Now there was music in Penny's heart. Never had the night seemed so glorious. Never had a trip seemed so pleasant. Jim's car creaked and groaned protestingly, but she wouldn't want it otherwise.
 "Okay, Jim," she said softly. "Just take it easy. You still have another week's vacation in Kansas coming to you. Remember your promise? You said you'd take me with you next time you went to Kansas. I want to meet your mom and dad. Besides, I'll need your mother's recipe for fried chicken."

Nelson-

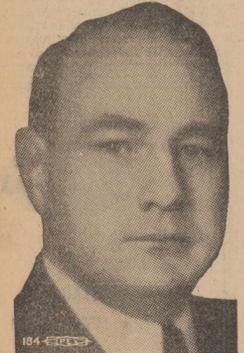

(Continued from Page 1) tion Board has mishandled its job. Denounced Loose Talk Nelson denounced "loose talk" about wholesale plant shutdowns and flatly contradicted recent reports that as many as 1,000 plants might suffer slowdowns of shutdowns because of lack of steel, copper, aluminum and other materials. "I can see the way ahead and we're going to come out on top," he said. He did not disclose what steps he contemplated, but gave a clear hint that subordinates who failed to meet their responsibilities would get short shrift. Dismiss WPB Engineer "There'll be no more alibis," he said, "I'm sick of them." A new and minor irritant was the "leak" of internal WPB reports, and one such alleged instance led to the dismissal of Frederick I. Libbey, an engineering consultant. Libbey was accused of discussing with outsiders a report he was preparing on operations of the iron and steel branch.

SILVER TAKES PLACE OF TIN IN PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Substitution of steel, silver and plastics for tin and aluminum in the manufacture of various ordnance items is expected to save more than 42,000,000 pounds of those critical metals in 1942 and 1943, the War Department has reported.

Brooks Favored For Rail Commission Race

Tyler, Aug. 20: The man favored by Texas voters for the unexpired term of Railroad Commissioner is Pierce Brooks, Dallas.

Brooks polled a plurality of more than 64,000 votes in the July primary, with eleven in the race. In the previous primary Brooks polled 420,000 votes.

Throughout the State Texans are saying, "We'll finish the job we started in 1940. Brooks is entitled to the unexpired term."

Brook's campaign cry is "Win the war first." He pledges to conserve Texas' natural and physical resources; to get every available ounce of energy from transportation and freight lines for all-out war effort.

Brooks has never legally, does not now represent a major oil company, bus line or railway company. He is a wide-awake, a capable, efficient business man. He thoroughly understands the problems our Railroad Commission must face in these times of stress.

Voters who want a conscientious, fair and friendly representative on our Railroad Commission will vote for Pierce Brooks on August 22. Paid Political Adv.

"THE BOMBARDIER SONG" — have you been hearing it on Midland's juke boxes and wishing you knew the words? Here they are — and our thanks to Corporal Tanner Laine of MATS, the world's largest bombardier school, for supplying them for this column:

THE BOMBARDIER SONG

Verse One:
Said the Bombardier to the pilot, "Give us a little ride,"
The Pilot said to the Navigator, "Won't you slide inside?"
The Navigator he looked around and said to the Engineer,
"Your hands are dirty, your pants are dirty, you're dirty behind the ear."
Said the Bombardier to the Gunner, "How are we fixed for lead?"
The Pilot said to the Radioman, "How's the weather ahead?"
Chorus:
The weather's fine for flying, the fog has gone to bed,
There's such good visibility, you can see victory ahead,
Let's fill the air with eagles, let's fill the clouds with men,
And we will see a world that's free when we fly home again.
Verse Two:
Said the Bombardier to the Pilot, "Give us the pretty crate,"
"And five degrees to the right will make it just as sure as fate."
The ship belonged to the Bombardier, who opened his little bay,
He saw the target, the lovely target, and suddenly "Bombs Away,"
Said the Bombardier to the Pilot, "Call it a day," and then
The Pilot said to the Radioman, "Say, we've done it again."

Drilling declined sharply last week as only 282 wells were completed, a drop of 62 from the week ended August 8. Incidentally, completions reported last week were only slightly more than 40 per cent of the number drilled during the corresponding week of 1941. Oil wells were down 42 and gas wells and dry holes were each down 10.

Illinois recorded a drop of 50 per cent during the week and its present level of fewer than three wells completed daily constitutes a low since the beginning of the boom in 1939. Ohio and Texas also dropped considerably.

Although a single week's completions are not particularly significant, the lessening of activity is emphasized by last week's record and this diminution in drilling may be expected to have far-reaching results. With pyramiding war production, the supply of steel available for the oil industry cannot be expected to increase and the labor supply can be expected to diminish. Already war industries have made severe inroads on the drilling crews and, although there is still considerable activity, it is scattered among the same number of areas with greater irregularity in employment for the individual drillers and roughnecks. These men can easily find other work and will undoubtedly do so in a fairly continuous stream.

The government has encouraged wildcatting with a view to guarding against a shortage of oil in the future. The oil industry has responded to such an extent that the number of discoveries has not fallen below last year's high level while the potentialities proven by the discovery of new pay horizons and major extensions are greater than during recent years. However, the discovery of an undeveloped pool may add much to our reserves but gasoline and diesel fuel are not obtained from reserves but from oil actually produced. If restrictions on drilling result in a loss of manpower then the industry will be unable to meet a demand for crude which may arise in the next two years when wells now on production together with an abnormally low number of development wells may be unable to meet requirements.

TEXAS GULF COAST: Production from a new deep sand in the Dredsale field, Harris County, is in prospect and casing has been cemented for a production test in the second well in the new Stewart field, Jackson County.

INDIANA: A Devonian test in the old Dodds Bridge field, Sullivan County, has been completed as a large producer and is expected to stimulate Devonian exploration in the state. A new McClosky pool was opened three miles southwest of Mount Vernon in Posey County.

ILLINOIS: A northwest extension is indicated for Jefferson County's new Bluffton field but an attempt to extend the pool to the west met with failure. A new field has been opened in Hamilton County and two Aux Vases pools are in prospect in Wayne County.

NORTH TEXAS: Saturation in the Simpson sand is reported in two areas in Montague County and a Wise County wildcat encountered a show of oil in the Strawn section. Location for a 5,000-ft. test in Palo Pinto County, the county's first deep test in more than 15 years, has been started.

CALIFORNIA: A new gas pool was opened in San Joaquin County but Solano County's prospective gas discovery has not yet been completed. A second producer has been completed in the extension area of the South Belridge field and a deep test in the Rincon field was plugged back to straighten the hole.

PERMIAN BASIN: An attempt is to be made to complete a Gaines County wildcat in the upper Yeso section of the Permian lime. The Fullerton pool, Andrews County, has been extended to the south and the Clara Couñ pool of Crockett County was extended to the southeast.

OKLAHOMA: Production has been opened from the Belle City lime in the Otco City field of Noble County. This is the first production from this horizon in the state. A pooling well in Carter County is reported to be flowing at the rate of 90 bbl. of oil and 44 bbl. of water an hour.

KANSAS: A stratigraphic test has opened a new Arbuckle lime pool four miles southeast of the Webster field in Rooks County. EAST TEXAS: A show of crude oil was reported on the flank of the Waskom field, Harrison County, and a deep test in Cherokee County is scheduled to test the Pettit and Rodessa zones.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS: A new Wilcox sand pool is in prospect in the Berclair area of Bee County and the Midway field, San Patricio County, has been extended to the southwest. A new producing sand was opened in the North Sun field, Starr County.

NORTH LOUISIANA: A new field was opened in the Morehouse Parish about 10 miles north of the old Monroe gas field.

MICHIGAN: A test in Franklin Township, Clare County, has been completed as a large flowing well but a wildcat about four miles southwest in the same township failed to find commercial production. A deep test in Richfield-Roscommon has been completed as a small producer.

MONTANA: An attempted extension to the Cut Bank field is being abandoned after finding some commercial showings of oil in the top of the Madison lime.

Air Scouting Will Be Jaycee Subject

"Air Scouting" will be the theme of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Crawford Hotel luncheon Friday noon.

Clint Duncagan, president of the Jaycees, announced the program Thursday and said, "This section of the country is a 'natural' for the organization and promotion of this 'air-conditioning' program for boys 15 years of age and above, and the Jaycees have taken this project on to acquaint the young men of our town with the biggest and most promising field of interest which our country and the world at large has seen in many decades."

The program will be presented by senior boys who have made aviation airplane structure and aerodynamics their hobby, giving the outline of the ranks available in Air Scouting, the material projects at their disposal and the full program of social and advancement interest which will be featured under the sponsorship of the Midland Jaycees.

Indian And Red Collapse Has Fans Guessing; Both Head Toward Cellar

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the baseball fans of Ohio have any knack for solving puzzles, they might use that talent to good advantage right now by finding a reason for the sudden collapse of their two entries in the major leagues.

Not so many days ago the Cleveland Indians were runners-up in the American League, the Cincinnati Reds were skipping along in third place in the National loop, and citizens of the Buckeye State were speculating on the possibility of an All-Ohio World Series for the first time in history.

On The Skids Now

But today the Indians and the Reds look as if they'll be extremely fortunate to finish in the first divisions.

Each team has lost nine of its last eleven games. The Reds have dropped into fourth place, only three games away from the second division. The Indians are hanging on to third in the American League, by four percentage points but will find themselves sharing that position if the St. Louis Browns win Thursday.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, gunning for Cincinnati's first division place, handed the Reds their sixth straight loss in a row Wednesday and beat Paul Derringer in the bargain, 9-2. The drubbing left the Reds 5 1/2 games behind the third-place New York Giants, who were idle.

Tigers Beat Indians

The Detroit Tigers pasted the third straight loss on the Indians, 6-1, in a twilight game. Virgil Trucks pitched six-hit ball for the Tigers and had the help of a three-run by Rudy York.

The Philadelphia Athletics shut out the Washington Senators, 8-0, in a night game and the Boston Red Sox divided a doubleheader with the New York Yankees, continuing a stretch duel that would be more interesting if the Yankees were not 11 1/2 games ahead.

A pair of homers by Jim Tabor and another by Ted Williams accounted for all of Boston's runs and a 6-4 triumph in the first game.

Charlie Keller, who hit his 20th home run in the opener, smashed No. 21 with the score tied in the ninth inning of the nightcap to break up a pitching duel between Ernie Bonham and Joe Dobson and give New York a 2-1 decision.

In the National League pennant chase, the Brooklyn Dodgers crushed the Boston Braves, 11-1, but the St. Louis Cardinals stayed 6 1/2 games behind by walloping the Chicago Cubs, 5-1, in a night contest.

Maryland Firemen On Fire Duty At Home

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Firemen on the eastern shore of Maryland have been kept busy — right at home.

Lightning struck the Salisbury fire department building, tearing out a portion of the brick front and damaging the interior of the building. Then Centerville, Md., volunteer firemen, scurrying to answer a call, found a blaze in their own building. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Beaumont Beats Indians, Wallop Pitchers Hard

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weather permitted the top-league Beaumont Exporters to extend their lead over the runner-up Shreveport Sports Wednesday night. The Beaumonters defeated Oklahoma City 5-3, but the Tulsa at Shreveport contest was deferred.

The listless Indians dropped their third straight game to the Exporters at Beaumont. The Shippers launched a 15-hit attack, with each member of the team annexing at least one hit. J. P. Wood paced the Exporters with two singles and a double in five trips to the plate.

At San Antonio Fort Worth defeated the Missions 2-1, and the Buffs won by the same score from Dallas at Houston.

Merv Connors clouted a seventh-inning homer to score himself and Bill Lillard, giving the Cats all the runs they needed for victory. Earl Caldwell contributed by distributing two hits to the Missions. The Missions also scored in the seventh, Floyd Baker singling and Nick Gregory doubling for the tally.

Jack Creel helped the Buffs by pitching a six-hitter, although he was in trouble in the third inning when the Rebels collected their sole run and in the sixth when Dallas filled the bases with two out.

But You May Not Be Too Old For Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — Tennis may be a young man's game in some circles, but you'd have a hard time convincing Charles A. Spahr and Charles A. Robinson, Spahr, 70, and Robinson, 76, have entered the National Veterans Singles Championships at Forest Hills and say they hope to meet in the finals.

Racing War Relief Fund Near Two-Million Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Racing hasn't far to go to attain its goal of a $2,000,000 contribution to War Relief. The Turf Committee of America announced Wednesday that $1,340,189.55 already had been contributed and that approximately $400,000 raised within the past week was not included in that total.

NEW YORK — The Berlin radio is broadcasting the glad news these days that Walter Neusel, who was knocked out by Max Schmeling, Primo Camera and Tommy Farr, will fight Adolf Heuser, who is champion although he was flattened by Neusel in 1941, again Sept. 6 for the German heavyweight championship. They fought a "hotly contested draw" in Hamburg a few weeks ago and you know what happened to Hamburg afterward. They might try matching the winner with that great Japanese battler, "Piston" Horiguchi. Of course, Piston is only a featherweight, but who likes an even match over there?

Baseball Brain-Teaser

The other night manager Ducky Holmes of the Dayton (Ohio) Middle Atlantic League club raised a ruckus about the decision; the umpires in Canton were giving him. Finally the umpire ordered Ducky out of the game, and, when Holmes refused to leave, called a cop to escort him off the field. There wasn't a policeman present, so the arbiter forfeited the game to Canton. New Ducky is protesting the forfeit on the grounds that the home club is required to provide police at the park and violated the rules by not having a cop there to toss him out. How would you decide it?

Service Dept.

Lieut. Jimmy Christy of the Army Air Corps, a former high-ranking featherweight, studied art between his ring engagements and many of his pictures were of the Pacific Islands. He hopes to see some of them again before long. When Jasper (Jap) Davis, former Duke fullback, joined the West Coast All-Army football squad he was handed a questionnaire which asked, among other things, his hobby. Jap's answer was: "Eating large, gory steaks." P. S.: The Army boys figure that they'll stop the Wash. Redskins, Aug. 30—if they can stop Sammy Baugh. Mrs. Jean Shiley Reps, who captained the American women's Olympic track team in 1932, has applied for enlistment in the WAVES. And why not? She has one brother in the Coast Artillery and another has signed up with the Navy.

Scout Cubs Guests Mr., Mrs. J. L. Greene

Mrs. J. L. Greene, Scout Cub mother, and Mr. Greene rewarded the Cubs who have passed the rank of wolf, bear, or lion, or all three, this year with an overnight trip to Cloverdale Park, Wednesday.

Assisting the host couple were C. A. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sevier, and Paul Davis. The group went to Cloverdale about 6 p. m. Wednesday and supper was served.

They remained with the boys overnight at the Park. Mr. and Mrs. Greene, Mrs. Sevier, and Davis returned to Cloverdale Thursday morning and prepared breakfast for the group.

Boys attending were: Eddie Clark, den chief, Walter Smith, assistant, and Jimmie Greene, Gilbert Sevier, Eugene Hejl, Harold Harkins, Donald Droppelman, Richard Clark, Bob McDonald, Johnny Murray, Herman Hankla, and Eddie Richardson.

Destroy Tanks

Details of the Trans-Don engagement were few, but the Soviet information bureau said that "in one sector alone, about 17 enemy tanks were destroyed and more than 500 Germans were killed."

Several Russian counterattacks were launched in the area of Klet'skaya, within the Don Bend 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, and seven enemy tanks were destroyed and a German infantry battalion was routed, it was announced.

More than 2,000 Germans were reported killed and 79 tanks destroyed or burned out in action Wednesday and the communiqué said 5,500 Germans were slain and Nazi materiel heavily damaged during the last five days about Voronezh, a battle-scarred city on the Upper Don.

See-Saw Battle

Southwest of Stalingrad, a see-saw battle was reported in progress for a railway station on the Caucasian line from Kotelnikovsk, 95 miles away.

The German high command claimed Krasnodar Aug. 9, the same day it announced the fall of Mal'kop, the oil field center 60 miles to the southeast.

Field dispatches said the Russians were maneuvering southward toward foothills of the Caucasian Mountains, evidently a prelude to a swing westward for the protection of Novorossiisk and other Russian-held Black Sea ports.

In making public Dr. Townsend's espousal of Allred's candidacy, Wilson declared the Townsend organization had approximately 150,000 members in Texas, of whom 75 per cent voted for O'Daniel in the first primary. He predicted that Allred would win the runoff election by a safe majority.

There are about 84,178,000 persons 21 years of age or more in the United States, according to census figures.

Stars Gone, But Football To Be Good This Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—Although college footballers by the hundreds have entered the Armed Services, competent coaches promise that you'll get your money's worth each time you plunk down $3.30 for a seat on the 50-yard line this fall.

Most of the mentors acknowledge that the polish and finesse of former years may be lacking in a slight way but all agree, in a survey made by The Associated Press, that the spectacular will become much more common and that upsets will be lurking behind every goal post.

Another coach compared the drop in quality with a track meet, declaring that the average fan "can't tell the difference between a 4:08 and a 4:12 one-mile run without a stop watch."

Many conferences, led by the big three of Yale, Harvard and Princeton, will use freshmen—forecasting fumbles and surprise touchdowns.

Some To Use Freshmen

Only the larger circuits—Big Ten, Pacific Coast, Big Six, Southwest, Southern and Southeastern—have remained firm in their stand not to use newcomers. The Southeastern loop, however, has a meeting in Atlanta next month at which the question will be studied again.

So universal has their use become, however, that Amherst and Tufts are the only schools in New England not playing the neophytes.

The Mountain Six, formerly the Big Seven, Rocky Mountain, and Missouri Valley loops have endorsed the youngsters.

The sprawling, informal Eastern football circuit has made the question one of local option.

Although the Big Brethren failed to accept freshmen, the Big Six voted to make freshmen eligible to transfer students eligible at once and the Big Ten decided that a year of residence meant two semesters, approximately seven months, instead of 52 weeks.

Despite this influx of untried talent there will be little difference in the caliber of play, the coaches said, because the veterans will be asked to stay in the fray as long as possible. Wholesale substitutions will be out for the duration; iron men will be the rule.

In Northwestern Gaines, Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 D. N. Leaverton, scheduled 7,500-foot deep Permian test, is drilling below 640 feet in red shale.

Continental Oil Company No. 1 Dan Auld, Terry County wildcat 10 miles northeast of Brownfield, is shut down for water at 5,190 feet in lime. Samples from 5,000 to present depth are said to have shown good porosity but no staining.

Magnolia No. 1 Earl B. Powell, Southeastern Martin County test, is drilling below 7,996 feet in sandy lime. Magnolia has filed application to drill to 8,500 feet in the test, the revised Form 1 superseding original application for a 7,700-foot try.

J. R. Sharp No. 1 Ira Elliott, Northwestern Lubbock County wildcat one mile southwest of Shallowater, is unchanged at 5,125 feet in buff to gray, anhydritic dolomite.

Pecos Deep Tests

Magnolia No. 1 Alan Robertson, North Central Pecos County deep project, is drilling at 4,990 feet in lime.

Seeking Ordovician production in Northeastern Pecos, M. D. Bryant No. 1 J. A. McDonald is drilling past 4,220 feet in lime.

An 8,500-foot Ordovician test in Eastern Whittier County, Shell No. 1 W. D. Blue estate, is drilling below 1,784 feet in salt.

Shell No. 2 Sealy Smith Foundation, deep Permian test in the Monahans pool of Northeastern Ward County, is drilling anhydrite at 2,929 feet.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 W. T. Newman, Western Surry County wildcat headed for 8,500 feet or Ordovician production, is drilling in Permian lime at 2,324 feet.

Mrs. A. L. Clebosky was admitted Wednesday night to Ryan's Hospital.

Ralph Lasky Punches Out Decision Over Joe Vindish At MAFS Fights

Ralph Lasky, 175-pound 83rd Air Base Squadron scrapper, was not in the crowd a few "fite nites" ago when Joe Vindish also an 83rd 175-pounder, challenged any man present to fight. But the hard, straight-punching Lasky was all there Wednesday night, and he punched out a decision over talkative Joe.

In the best fights thus far served up at a MAFS "fite nite" program, the Wednesday night bouts pleased a howling crowd, especially the Lasky-Vindish set-to, in which the taller Lasky solved Joe's crouch and raked him back when he straightened up.

Lewis Johns, 493rd School Squadron, ex-Golden Glover, laid a left-handed tattoo on John Perise, 489th S. S., to win a decision. Johns had a 10-pound weight advantage, and the clever welter got the best of some toe-to-toe windmill fighting that had the fans on their feet.

Perise was game all the way. Mel Hoxter, 862nd Squadron blasted ex Still, 490th S. S., with a TKO in the first round. Hoxter flurried lefts and rights at the baffled Still and had him groggy and out on his feet early in the fracas.

Congratulations to:

AT&T Maintains Dividend Rates

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., with more than 600,000 stockholders, has declared a quarterly dividend of $2.25, a continuation of the rate of $9 paid annually for the past 21 years.

The annual rate was maintained in the face of recent dividend reductions by several of the parent company's subsidiaries from which much of its vast revenue is derived. Whether American Telephone

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A magazine fell from a news stand and opened at the feet of Mrs. Clayton A. Manners Jr., revealing a photo of her soldier-husband from whom she hadn't heard for eight months. Car: Peaches This Way To Make The Most Of "Victory Food Special"

When canning peaches is taking up most of your kitchen time, serve a tasty, yet quick to prepare, dessert like this one. It includes grapes, crackers, Liederkranz and other domestic cheeses.

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

Peaches are a "Victory Food Special." Make the most of them by canning.

The following tips from home economists of the United States Department of Agriculture, will prevent waste in money and flavor.

First wash peaches in cold water, but do not soak. Remove skins. Pare them thin in order to save all of the peach fruit possible. If skins are hard to remove, stand the peaches in hot water for no more than half a minute, or until skins will slip off easily. Then immediately plunge the fruit into cold water for a few seconds before peeling.

To keep hot water treatment from turning peaches brown dip them in a solution of salt, vinegar and water, using 2 teaspoons salt and 2 teaspoons vinegar to a gallon of cold water. Dip peaches in solution for about 2 minutes. Can fruit in its own juices to hold its flavor and conserve all its food value. Can fruit in slices, to get more into each jar. That is important today because of the shortage of jars and rubber rings.

First, cut the peaches in slices. Then put the sliced fruit in a kettle and add sugar. But putting sugar directly on the peaches, you help draw out the juice and thereby waste no natural sweetening. Let the sugared fruit stand a few minutes, then place the kettle on stove and heat fruit slowly until it is hot throughout. But do not cook peaches to soft stage.

milk, whole wheat muffins, soft cooked eggs, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Black bean soup with frankfurter rings, hard enriched rolls, cabbage and apple salad, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Boiled tongue, tart grape sauce, parsley potatoes, buttered beets, enriched bread and butter, green salad, peach pie, coffee, milk.

Two Husbands Too Many, Seeks Help Of Court
BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—Most women going into divorce court are glad to get rid of one husband at a time, but a complainant here has filed suit to free herself of two husbands at once.

The complainant says she married No. 1 in 1933 and No. 2 in 1937 without first getting a divorce. She asks a divorce from No. 1 and an annulment of her marriage to No. 2, charging both with desertion.

FORMAL WINDOWS
For a formal window treatment, let simplicity of design and dignity of material strike the keynote. Use sheer, lovely materials for glass curtains under rich, deep-toned drapery fabrics cut full and long so that they hang in deep, graceful folds. A deep thick fringe in a matching or harmonizing color attached to a wooden cornice at the top of the window is simply effective; or tiers of narrow fringe stitched to a firm cloth backing hung from the wooden cornice. Don't skimp on curtain materials. Curtains just a few inches too short or too scant, no matter how beautiful the materials of which they are made, will throw an entire decor out of balance.

No Real Shortage Of Meat Expected

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Housewives may have fewer cuts to select from than they found in the butcher shop a year ago, but this should not be taken as representing a serious shortage of meat.

According to Roy W. Snyder, animal industries specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, the reason for the apparent shortage is that much of the pork, beef and lamb which ordinarily is sold in the fall months is not quite fat enough, nor in a condition to make good meat just now. This has been true for the past 25 years, or even longer.

"We are not short of meat animals here, nor in the United States. They are not quite ready for market."

Indicating the meat resources of the country, Snyder said that more hogs were slaughtered in June than in any corresponding month heretofore, excepting December, 1934. Around one million head of cattle were killed in June, and the beef slaughtered from January through June, was more than in any previous six months on record. More than one and one-half millions were killed in June, and the total for the first six months of the year was the greatest on record for that period.

"Beginning in late September and onward through the winter, American meat eaters will hear a different story," Snyder added. "Farmers are rushing the feeding of meat animals as fast as they can, and they will be coming on the market soon. Farmers are doing the patriotic thing in feeding their best and pork so that animals of maximum weight will be sent to the stock yards."

Doughboys Making Movie In Ireland

BELFAST (AP)—Three doughboys have leading parts in a movie which is on production in Northern Ireland. The story is the United States Army there, the title "A Letter Home" and the stars are Sergeant Don Prill, twenty-year-old student from Minneapolis, Private Wally Newfield, of Minneapolis, and Corporal Billie Graham, of Duluth, Minn., who was a policeman in private life.

The film is for release in the United States only, and is largely possible because of the Army's full cooperation. At one large camp housing the regiment of artillery, the electric current was cut off at nights to supply lighting in the big concert scene.

Another doughboy figuring in the film is First Class Private Kenneth Wong, from Minneapolis. Sequence in which he was shown reading a letter from his best girl was "short" half a dozen times. Wong said: "I'll have to have a first page worn reading it so often, it beats rat racing." (Modern slang for a fast route march.)

Sub Best Place To Study Philosophy

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—"Torpedoes directed by a sound philosophy ought to be rather effective. The combination of submarines and metaphysics is not as paradoxical as it seems."

That is the word of the Rev. Edward A. McGrath, S. J., head of the department of philosophy at Marquette University, who reports the strangest request he has ever received—from an ensign on submarine duty for books on philosophy.

The ensign is Edward F. Sullivan, Jr., of Sheboygan, Wis., who received his bachelor of science degree from Marquette in 1941.

"My taste of the scholastic system of philosophy at Marquette," wrote Ensign Sullivan, "left me with ambitions of further delving into the subject. The long patrols of a submarine leave me with an opportunity, in fact an exigency, to read."

Father McGrath is assembling a library to send to him.

BUG CARE
Your rugs will last longer if they are kept free from dust and dirt; vacuumed regularly once or twice a week, according to the use they get; they are turned about in the room approximately four times a year to equalize wear; spots and stains are removed carefully as soon as they appear (don't experiment with cleaning agents you are not sure of, so have an expert cleaner do the job if you have any doubts); professional cleanings once a year; a rug cushion is used under carpet and the floor is smooth and even (no loose boards, protruding nails, electric cords). Rugs should not be hung over a line nor beaten.

Axis Scalps Hunted By American Indians As Warpath Is Taken

By Margaret Kernodle
WIDE WORLD FEATURES WRITER
WASHINGTON — The American Indian is on the warpath again. Seven per cent of his eligible manpower is in uniform to give him, according to the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the largest percentage for any race represented in the U. S. armed forces.

On an average 500 Indians are entering the service each month, answering both the call of country and of tribe. For the red man has his own tomahawk to grind. The Iroquois Confederacy of the Six Nations has formally declared war on the Axis. So have the Cheyennes, who call the Axis "The Unholy Alliance."

8,000 In World War I
As soon as the Selective Service Act went into effect, Indians reported at the induction centers—many with their own rifles. Already their number approaches the 8,000 who served in World War I, when their valor won them citizenship.

The women are doing all right, too. A score of Indian girls are working in Washington war agencies. Laughing Eyes, a 29-year-old Creek, was among the first to storm a recruiting office in New York for enlistment in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

Form Rifle Brigade
Forty Chippewa women organized a rifle brigade to be ready to pop off parachutists. In North Carolina, Indian women familiar with farming but not farm machinery have learned to operate and repair the machinery as their men go off to war. A Seneca miss, Bernice Blueye, is a machinist in an Eastern war plant.

Education and experience of the Indian have advanced since the last war. Even then, he showed an outstanding ability to resist mental strain. It is notable, too, that few of the many Indians serving in this war have been killed. All his training and instincts serve to make him a good soldier.

Tire Girdle Ready for Service

This is how Firestone's new cotton "girdle" for inner tubes is applied to a tube which is going back into service in a tire which would ordinarily be unfit for use because of body cuts and breaks that would chafe through the tube in a few miles of driving. Miss Dorothy St. Lawrence of Providence, Rhode Island, a trainee for a Firestone Store Managership, sees the step-by-step procedure that will return to service a tire hitherto condemned to the scrap pile.

United States Becomes 'Have Not' Nation In Less Than Six Months

By Peter Edson
Washington Correspondent
The shoe is on the other foot now.

The United States has become one of the "have not" nations. This has happened faster than most people have realized—faster than even the experts thought it could ever happen. It has happened in less than six months. And few people yet appreciate how serious a situation this is.

You remember everything that was taught you on this subject in school. The United States was the richest nation on earth with plenty of everything for all, even without colonies. The United States was a definitely "have" nation. Great Britain was also a "have" nation, though it depended on its colonies for most of its raw materials.

In the other category were the

"have not" nations—Japan, Germany and Italy, for instance—which not only were far from self-sufficient in their own economy but also did not have the colonies to give them the things they lacked. From the Hitlerian point of view, that was one of the reasons for this present war.

It may have been hard for the United States to appreciate such a situation before the war began, but it shouldn't be hard to understand now. The "have not" business extends right down to the American family icebox and pantry shelf.

In the larger fields of industry and manufacturing the "have not" list is longer than both your arms, stretched out horizontally, from finger tip to finger tip. The United States has not sufficient of even such basic stuff as iron and steel and copper and more than 500 other officially listed materials, including even junk. Within the last few days the War Production Board has issued a list of 500 commodities it had placed on an emergency shipping priorities list. They are vital to the nation's wartime economy. They must all be imported, from all parts of the world.

Isolationists Debunked
The faster you let that fact sink in your stream of consciousness, the faster you will realize that all this talk about splendid isolation—the ability of this country to crawl in its shell and let the rest of the world go by—is utter and complete bunk.

A lot is said about these Four Freedoms that the United States is fighting for. Yes, they're wonderful and everyone would like to have them sticking around. But you'll soon realize there is something much more fundamental than that this country has to fight for if you give this "have not" situation its full and proper significance.

As a "have not" nation today, the United States is fighting for just simple subsistence.

The United States is fighting for its very existence.

There is much more to this war than just ridding Europe of Hitler and Japan of its arrogant, double-crossing military martinet. This is a fight for life. At the start of the war in Europe, it was assumed that the British had succeeded in blockading the Nazis, and that because Germany was a "have not" nation, it could be starved into defeat. But now the other shoe is pinching the other foot in that regard. Germany made herself self-sufficient by sacrifices, synthetics and stockpiles and by submarines she has in effect established a counter-blockade which interfered seriously with the goods brought into the United States. It is not at all out of order today for a neutral to ask, "Who is blockading whom?"

Really Hurts
Viewed in that light, winning the war is not just a question of how much material of war the United States can export to Britain, Soviet Russia, China, Australia. Before sufficient war materials can be exported, there must be imported into the United States the raw materials needed to manufacture the munitions that must be exported. That's where your "have not" comes in and hurts the hardest.

It is because of these shortages that this agitation for cargo planes assumes its present importance. Building enough cargo planes to haul all the war goods that must be imported and exported and supplied to American expeditionary forces in the seven seas is out of the question. A fleet of planes that could hurdle the submarine blockade to bring in all of the 500 critical materials isn't necessary. All that is needed, according to Donald M. Nelson's WPB committee on cargo planes, is a fleet that will bring in

How To Make, Use Invert Sugar Is Fully Explained

When sirups and maple products are substituted for sugar, their differences must be kept in mind. Sorghum, molasses, and cane syrup, for example, are less sweet than maple sugar, honey, or sugar itself, and require the use of 1 1/2 times as much to get the same amount of sweetness. Corn sirup is even less sweet and twice as much as sugar is required to get an equally sweet flavor. In addition, sirups add water as well as their own characteristic flavor to food. All this must be taken into account when using these sweeteners.

The amount of sugar that will be available for home canning is not yet certain. The sweeter fruits can be put up in their own juices if the juice is extracted from the crushed portions. Many families will want to save sugar from their regular allowance for canning. To make this sugar go farther, use just enough sirup to make the fruit palatable. This may require cooking outside the jar and hot packing so as to draw the juice out of the fruit in order to have enough liquid to cover. Honey or corn sirup may be substituted for half the sugar without affecting the delicate fruit flavor.

In jams, jellies, preserves, and marmalades, sugar acts as preservative and gives consistency to the product. You can accomplish the same end by using three parts of sugar to four parts of fruits and sugar as usual. This will also give you more of the natural fruit flavor. Honey when available, may be used to replace half the sugar. It is not practicable to make jellies entirely without sugar. In making preserves, corn sirup may be substituted for as much as half the sugar. But in jellies, jams and marmalades corn sirup can replace only 1/4 of the sugar. Since sirups contain water you may have to cook slightly longer to get the same consistency as when using sugar alone.

How to make Invert Sugar:
A Florida experiment station scientist recommends making Invert Sugar to make it go farther. To do this, mix one cup of sugar and 14 tablespoons water. Add one-fourth teaspoon of tartaric acid (which you can get at any drug store). Cover this sugar, water and tartaric acid mixture and boil gently for thirty minutes. Allow it to cool. Then you have invert sugar sirup. Each cup is equal in sweetness to a cup of sugar. In other words it is about 1 3/4 times as sweet as the same weight in plain sugar.

Use of invert sugar: This sirup is excellent to use in canning, and it may be diluted one-half sirup and one-half water. It is also good in sweetening fruits, cereals, ice cream and beverages.

Ward County Group Stages Navy Drive

MONAHANS—Ward County is conducting an intensive drive for the Navy, and has set up as a recruiting committee a group of community leaders, including L. O. Newton, Ernest Lee, L. B. Fuller, George Steadman, M. L. H. Baze, G. S. Kidd, J. L. Shawn and J. L. Pinkerton.

Literature has been distributed throughout the county, and members of the committee are assisting any who wish to know details.

Ward County has shown a preference for the Navy since before the declaration of war. It is estimated that more than 75 Ward County men have volunteered for the Naval service.

GOOD SHOW, BUT HE DIDN'T MEAN IT
MARION, O. (P)—Sidney Brown, billed as a "fire eater" in a carnival, went to a hospital when his act went awry.

While "swallowing" flames, Brown accidentally spilled gasoline on his shirt front. When the gasoline ignited he leaped from the platform and rolled on the ground. Spectators watched, thinking it was part of the act.

The flames were extinguished, but Brown suffered burns about the face, head, hands and chest.

adequate supplies of just 37 strategic materials. The list is restricted, but it is permissible to say that the United States can conceivably lose this war for being a "have not" nation in just 37 items. That's how important it is that this country get out and stay out of the "have not" category. That is a new reason No. 1 for fighting and winning the war.

SUMMER APPETITES

Summer appetites call for lots of vegetables, attractively prepared. This tasty dish of broccoli, with a cheese cream sauce fills the bill to perfection.

Mrs. Gaynor Maddox

NEA Service Staff Writer
The summer appetite calls for vegetables in liberal amounts. Whether you use them fresh or quick-frozen will depend on price, quality and how good your local vegetable markets are.

Broccoli With Pickle Relish

One lb. fresh broccoli or 1 box quick-frozen broccoli, 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons India relish or other chopped pickle relish.

Cook fresh broccoli in salted water until tender. Cook quick-frozen broccoli by placing, unfrozen, in 1 cup boiling salted water. Drain and arrange on serving dish. Melt butter and India relish together. Blend well. Pour over hot broccoli and serve at once.

Broccoli served with a cream sauce with melted cheese added, makes a substantial dish for luncheon or supper.

Beet And Celery Salad

Serves 4 to 6
Four cooked beets, 4 stalks celery, 1 white onion, 1-4 cup French dressing, crisp lettuce.

Cut beets and celery into small cubes. Chop onion fine. Pour French dressing over the mixture and stand in bowl for one hour. Serve in crisp lettuce cups.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Honeydew melon with slices of lemon, cracked wheat cereal, enriched toast, jam, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Beet and celery salad, toasted cheese rolls, fruit bowl, iced tea, milk.
DINNER: Broiled round steak, fried potatoes, broccoli with India relish, blackberry pie, coffee, milk.

SIMPLE DESSERT IS GOOD

A smooth, boiled custard over fresh or stewed fruit is just about as good as any dessert you can think of. Crush berries or chop fruit, such as peaches or apricots, sweeten to taste with a little sugar or honey, fill sherbet glasses about half full, top with custard and garnish with chopped nuts. Chill thoroughly.

Canada has a population of 11,419,000, less than that of New York state.

They're Old

The geysers and steaming pools of Yellowstone Park are a hang-over from the time millions of years ago when all the earth's area broiled over subterranean fires.

Conservative Measure

In England, it is now against the law for a motorist to stop his automobile without stopping the engine. This is done to conserve fuel.

Large Crater

Every building in New York City could be dropped into the volcanic crater of Alaska's Mount Matmai, and still leave a hole twice as large as Hawaii's Kilauea.

The Chinese invented or discovered silk, porcelain, tea, printing and gunpowder.
