Thompson Asks Increase In Oil Price

Claims "Favoritism" Charges Be Avoided By State Regulation

An immediate increase of 25 cents a barrel in the price of crude oil and authority for state regulatory bodies, rather than the Office of Petroleum Coordinator, to determine fields from which petroleum needed in the war effort is to be produced were suggested Thursday by Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission, as solutions to problems of the oil industry.

Thompson testified before the United States Senate subcommittee investigating problems of the industry at its hearing here that the federal government should permit the oil regulatory bodies in producing states to determine fields where certain types of petroleum should be produced and thereby avoid charges of "favoritism."

He was questioned at length on this point by Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, chairman of the subcommittee, and by Senator Carl A. Hatch of New Mexico, chairman of the Senate's public lands committee and a member of the subcommittee.

William B. Heroy, director of petroleum reserves, C. C. and Watson B. Joyce, chief of the crude oil section of the Office of Price Administration, also questioned Thompson on specific points of his testimony. He was on the witness stand more than two hours and at the conclusion of his testimony, both senators announced that they agreed with his statements.

Beauford Jester, new member of the railroad commission, also was present and agreed with Thompson's description of the oil problems and needs of the industry.

Thompson said that in order to assure a continuation of non-wasteful practices and to fully and adequately supply our war machines, the regulatory bodies should only be advised of the total amount of crude, the type of each crude that is needed for a particular period, and then leave it to them to designate the field or fields from which this crude can be non-wastefully produced.

He declared that "this is much better than the practice of OPEC telegrams designating the fields from which they want a particular crude produced, when as a matter of fact many other fields in this state are as well located and can just as well produce this crude."

Thompson pointed out that "a major portion of all the nation's oil reserves have been discovered by the independents, by the people exercising freedom of initiative and under a system of free enterprise—by the so-called wild-catters."

To suggestions "in high places of authority" that the government undertake exploration for reserves, Thompson answered:

Warn Public To Be Ready For New Taxes

By Irving Perlmeter
WASHINGTON (AP)—Government economists warned the public Thursday to prepare for drastic tax and savings legislation early in 1943. Such steps, they said, were almost inevitable in connection with the stabilization of farm prices and wages which President Roosevelt has announced will be undertaken soon.

One of the economists, Prof. Alvin H. Hansen of Harvard University, who is a special consultant of the Federal Reserve Board on inflation and other matters, put it this way:

Huge Purchasing Power
"We are piling up an avalanche of purchasing power and we ought to be building a dam to hold it. I think that the pending tax bill ought to be passed as soon as possible and about in January. We ought to be drafting much steeper taxes, compulsory savings and other measures."

A Treasury expert, who declined to be quoted by name, said, "Wage and farm price stabilization, taxes, savings, price ceilings, rationing are all necessary to prevent inflation, which means a rise in the cost of living. If the President puts the emphasis at the moment on wages and farm prices, don't get the idea that the other things won't get attention, too."

From the Budget Bureau, came the reminder that "every 30 days we are spending more money than the government ever spent before in any previous 30 days in history. This can't go on indefinitely without some steps to prevent all this money being used to bid up the cost of living."

Ordovician Well In Crane County Readies For Test

By FRANK GARDNER
Oil Editor
Plug is being drilled from 7-inch casing cemented at 6,113 feet in Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 D. K. Glenn, Southeastern Crane County, wildcat discovery indicating the opening of West Texas' newest Ordovician pool.

Present depth of the strike is 5,186 feet in green shale of the Simpson, middle Ordovician. The well cored best pay sand in the McKee, upper Simpson, from 6,137-40 and from 6,164-66 feet. Before casing was set, a 40-minute drill-test was run from 6,115-86 feet, recovering 800 feet of oil, 100 feet of mud and 30 feet of light drilling fluid. The well blew 275,000 cubic feet of gas, rated, while test was being taken.

After plug has been drilled, Magnolia will circulate to clean out cement cuttings, then will pull drill pipe and run tubing. Following this operation, clear water will be circulated and it, in turn, will be displaced with oil. The operators then will swab the well through tubing in an attempt to develop a steady flow.

Five Die As Planes Collide At Lubbock

LUBBOCK (AP)—Military authorities inquired Thursday into a collision of two planes over the Lubbock Army Flying School which resulted in the death of five persons Wednesday.

One of the planes plummeted into the post tailor shop, killing three persons in the shop. They were Cadets Dale W. Harrison, Jr., 23, Greenville, Texas, and Clark J. Toombs, 22, Amarillo, and G. W. Singleton, about 36, of Lubbock, civilian operator of the shop.

The two cadet pilots who died in the crash were Jack J. Williamson, 25, son of Jackson Williamson, Elkville, Ill., and Andrew R. Wood, Jr., 22, Canton, Mass.

Cadet Owen Douglas Willard, who parachuted from one of the planes, was reported in a critical condition. Charles O. Wylie, Milwaukee, Wis., parachuted to safety from the other plane.

Cadet Ralph I. Ginn, Denver, Colo., who was standing near the tailor shop, suffered shock.

Hotel Coffee Shop Interest Sold To Simms

Carl Covington sold Wednesday his interest in the Scharbauer Coffee Shop to Eddie Simms, lately of Kilgore. Simms was taken over on September 1.

Simms and George Phillips, who retains his interest in the coffee shop, came here together in May, 1929, and opened the Scharbauer dining service. In 1932 Simms sold his interest and went to Kilgore, where he has since operated the well-known Blackstone Cafe. Lately he sold that property and since has visited Midland several times and finally closed a deal with Covington to return to his former association with Phillips.

Covington purchased interest in the coffee shop in April, 1940, and (Continued on Page 6)

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A meeting on a South Pacific island with 16 Navy and Army pilots and 17 other white persons who had been helped by friendly natives to escape from the Japanese was described by Lt. Harry Wood of Noble, Ill., a dive bomber pilot off the carrier Lexington.

With his radioman-gunner, Cyril Huvar of Corpus Christi, Tex., Lt. Wood said on an NBC broadcast, he was forced down at sea near the New Guinea islands when their plane ran short of fuel.

Helped ashore by natives, they were taken to an island where (Continued on page six)

Says Commandos Could Learn A Lot On A Wild Cayuse

PAMPA, Tex. (AP)—Howard Hamilton things brother John is definitely off the beam in starting to roundup "drug-store cowboys" for riding the range. Howard has a better idea, he thinks, and it is much faster.

"Let the War Department train Commandos and air cadets on the cowboy-drawn ranches," he says. "Put them on a loco-eating cayuse and send them into the brush after a steer that hasn't seen a human being in a year and after a month he'll be ready to jump a whole company of Japs with nothing but a lariat rope."

Howard Hamilton, Pampa News composing room foreman, came up snorting with this idea after reading that his brother John Hamilton, district attorney at Matador, was figuring on using drug-store cowboys for rounding up cattle.

High wages and the armed forces, John said, had drained cowboys out of West Texas until a critical situation arose. One of the largest ranches in the nation is reduced to three cowboys.

All his drug-store cowboys or other townsmen needed was the knack of riding a horse.

Howard thought differently. "Drug store cowboys," he puffed, "are like drug store generals. All they got is talk and boots."

"You can no more make a cowboy out of a drug store vaquero than you can make a MacArthur out of a pool hall strategist."

John and Howard used to run cattle on Motley County ranches, Howard recalled.

Last Showing Protective Films Required Subjects

Final session of the first class of the Midland County Civilian Protection school will be held Thursday night at the high school auditorium, starting at 8:15 o'clock. It has been announced by Berte R. Haigh.

State Ranger W. E. Naylor will present a group of sound films which will be interesting and informative.

Three of these have been shown previously in the course, but are being shown again as a review. The other films are new material, one of them being a Naval release on the bombing of Marshall Islands, and two on gas defense. These latter three are War Department films, and are restricted to those persons who have attended the course and those who are enrolling for the next series of lessons.

New Draft Bill Will Be Given Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP)—New draft legislation to make 18 and 19 year old youths eligible for armed service topped a program mapped out today for the waning months of the 77th Congress by Chairman Sabath (D-Ill) of the House Rules committee.

"In all likelihood," Sabath said in an interview, "Congress will be asked this session to permit the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds and will give its approval."

Barring any congressional repercussions from President Roosevelt's Labor Day cost of living message, the only other subjects that will be considered at this session, if Sabath has his way, are taxes, Senate changes in the service men's vote-by-mail bill, a new appropriation for defense housing, and a few relatively minor bills.

"There is no reason why, between the time we go back into regular session early next month and the middle of October, we cannot dispose of everything that is urgent and either adjourn or recess until the next Congress convenes," Sabath said.

That program, he acknowledged, precluded consideration of pending labor and farm legislation, among other things.

Allies To Strike Across Channel, Says McNaughton

By Drew Middleton
Canadian Military Headquarters in Britain (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Andrew G. L. McNaughton, Commander in Chief of Canadian Forces, Thursday predicted the opening of a Western European front, declaring powerful Allied armies "will have to cross the English Channel" to win the war.

The Allies can progress from Commando operations to "larger" attacks, he said.

McNaughton is among the several generals mentioned as a possible Allied Commander in Chief.

Extensive preparations necessary for the Dieppe raid of last week—which was largely a Canadian show—do not rule out a series of such operations, McNaughton added.

"It's like industrial production," he explained, "once the prototype is completed the rest is relatively easy."

Gravely considering the question of a second front in Europe, McNaughton said, "you've only to look at a geography. There are powerful British and Canadian armies in the United Kingdom."

"Our great ally (America) also has a powerful Army here."

"Anyone who thinks we are going to sit here in back of that ditch (the English Channel) has another think coming."

To win this war, the Allies will have "to cross the channel and fight their way through the beaches," he asserted.

Seize Bases Nearer Australian Mainland In New Guinea Action

By John H. Wiggins
WASHINGTON (AP)—The furiously spreading battle of the Southwest Pacific rolled closer to the Australian mainland Thursday as Japanese invaders paid heavily with ships, troops and planes for a savagely contested landing on the southeastern tip of New Guinea.

While American air power put one enemy invasion fleet to flight off Guadalcanal and inflicted mounting naval losses on another in the strategic Solomons, Allied ground troops and planes 600 miles to the west joined battle with a force of Japanese Marines that landed from a small convoy at Milne Bay.

Heavy Allied air action, General MacArthur's headquarters announced from Australia, destroyed an enemy transport, six landing barges and battered a cruiser, probably sinking it. Medium bombers and fighters also raked other Japanese barges and supplies, strafed landing troops and started many fires.

Red Assaults Break Drive Of Nazi Army

The Navy termed the continuing action in the southeastern Solomons "encouraging" with at least 13 Japanese ships damaged in the vain effort thus far to recapture the bases held by U. S. Marines.

The enemy landing in New Guinea cycling around the mountains that had barred an overland advance southward, obviously increased the threat to the Australian mainland, less than 500 miles distant. The landing was not unexpected for Allied observers have theorized that the Japanese would attempt the maneuver to get at Port Moresby, the strongest Allied New Guinea base, 230 miles to the northwest.

Establishment of a strong air-base at the Milne Bay site would facilitate Japanese bombardment of a string of Australian industrial cities across the Coral Sea to the south, and serve as a center for further counter-attacks on Allied positions in the Solomons.

Down Six Jap Fighters
Buna, apparent springboard for the advance of the small Japanese convoy, was attacked by Allied air forces with six Japanese fighters reported destroyed and two damaged. Thirteen enemy fighters were reported destroyed in surprise attacks Tuesday.

Hitlerites May Have Reached High Water Mark In Russian Campaign

By DeWitt MacKenzie
Wide World Staff Analyst
Disclosure of the heavy—and thus far very successful—new Russian offensive in the important sector northwest of Moscow, and a forecast by the Soviet Army newspaper Red Star that the Bolsheviks will halt the Nazis on the Caucasian Mountain line, are an invitation to examine the possibility that the Hitlerite tide may have about reached high water and be ready to ebb.

One approaches this idea with the utmost caution, because of the obvious dangers of the Russian position in face of the terrific striking-power being exhibited by the Germans. Still, this is the time at which military experts have thought the Muscovites might be able to stem the Hitlerite flood, namely, when the battle lines backed up against the towering Caucasian Mountains.

No Decision Yet Reached
Of one thing we are certain—the Battle of the Caucasus is still anybody's fight. Despite the Nazi gains over the bodies of Hitler's wholesale human sacrifice, the Fuehrer is by no means the certain winner. On that basis, having disassociated ourselves from wishful thinking, let's examine the situation.

The Red offensive in the Rzhev sector northwest of Moscow has been underway fifteen days already. The Reds claim an advance of 25 to 30 miles, the capture of upwards of 600 communities and the slaughter of 45,000 Germans. This drive has been undertaken for two reasons:

(1) To compel the Nazis to withdraw strength from the Stalingrad front and thus ease the fierce pressure on that strategic city, and (2) to eliminate a German salient and thus strengthen the defenses of Moscow.

The point about the Moscow defenses is this: If Hitler should be successful in capturing Stalingrad and crushing the Bolshevik resistance farther south, he likely would make another supreme effort to capture Moscow before winter shuts in. His idea would be to make his position impregnable as far down as the Caucasus range so that even if he didn't succeed in forcing the mountains he would be able to hold his lines easily during the winter while devoting his energy to other pursuits—quite likely development of the Egyptian campaign.

Battles Enter New Phase
As to the fighting in the Caucasus, Red Star says the battles there have entered a new phase now that (Continued on Page 2)

More Push Needed On The Home Front

Censorship

Perhaps the Office of Censorship looked a little silly, tearing pages out of a national picture magazine after the article in question had been examined and approved in advance of publication.

Probably there was a bit of misunderstanding involved. But actually the censors were following a consistent course which had been thoroughly considered and which is not illogical.

That course depends upon the theory that censorship in wartime divides into two dissimilar functions. The one is defensive—designed to prevent the domestic dissemination of war secrets which might be smuggled out of Axis capitals. The other is offensive—designed to beat Germany in the contest for Latin American co-operation.

Apparently there was some mixup as to whether Canada is domestic or foreign. Perhaps the nature of the censored article placed it on the borderline in determining whether Canada should see it.

The article in question painted a gloomy picture of the war production, and discussed such causes for the trouble as the bitter hatred between employers and unions; the Coughlin-Smith-Ku Klux Klan influence; the serious housing shortage; and the inadequacy of raw materials supplies.

Mr. Price has not told us, but we have reason to believe that for domestic use he would welcome the telling of such unpleasant truths to keep us on our toes, to prick our complacency, to needle us into correcting the maladjustments and doing a better job.

For export purposes, however, news is conceived of as a valuable weapon in total warfare.

There is a keen contest between Germany and the United States to determine just how wholeheartedly Latin America shall co-operate with the United Nations. One immediate prize of course, is Chile's decision whether to declare war on the Axis.

Rightly or wrongly, the Office of Censorship is determined to see that no articles shall be sent to Latin America which, by their pessimism, might help Germany to convince the Latins that our cause is lost and that the sister republics should play ball with the winners.

That is why many news stories which are passed unhesitatingly for domestic use are clipped from publications mailed abroad.

Inconclusive

The plane order given Henry Kaiser by the WPB has been interpreted as a "put up or shut up" affair. Kaiser must demonstrate that he can build 70-ton flying boats without endangering the fighting plane program. This interpretation is unfair for two reasons.

First, because the order is not big enough to test mass production methods. Therefore the interpretation is unfair to Kaiser. Second, because the builder might obtain enough materials for that number of craft without diverting from war planes, and then be unable to step up output on the basis of leftover materials.

Let's take the preliminary order as just what it is—an honest attempt to find out what can be done to beat the submarine blockade by use of air cargo.

Many Civilians Are Named To Navy Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has granted officer commissions to 66,506 men since enactment of the draft law on Sept. 16, 1940, and 55,668 of these have been appointments from civilian life to the Naval Reserve.

During the same two year period there were 30,532 officer promotions in the Navy.

These statistics have just gone to Congress from the Navy Department in response to an inquiry from Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, who said a number of members of Congress and civilians had sought the information from him. He would not say why the inquiries were made.

The McNary request brought the information from the Navy that of the 66,568 commissions in the Naval Reserve since Sept. 16, 1940, nearly all—49,379—were junior grade lieutenants and ensigns. A total of 4,878 were lieutenants and 1,411 lieutenant commanders.

Three German Ships Damaged By Bombers

LONDON (AP)—Three German ships of 1,500 tons each were damaged severely and a smaller vessel was hit Thursday by Hurricane bombers which attacked a five-ship convoy lying off Dieppe, the Air Ministry announced.

The bombers were escorted by Spitfire fighters.

All RAF planes returned safely despite intense anti-aircraft fire.

German night raiders again scattered incendiary bombs over parts of the East Anglian countryside Wednesday night in an apparent effort to destroy crops.

High explosive bombs also were dropped and three persons were killed in one town when a bomb hit a shelter.

For the second successive night there was no RAF attack on Germany, apparently because of bad weather over the continent.

Favoritism

the oil business is contrary to every concept of freedom of enterprise and freedom of initiative upon which it has grown and which we are defending."

Pointing out that Texas possesses in excess of 56 per cent of the nation's reserves and that it produces not more than 40 per cent of the total daily production, Thompson told the subcommittee that Texas can produce more oil to supply our war machines on all fronts.

In 1941, he stated, the petroleum industry experienced the greatest demand for Texas products in all history and "the figures for the first half of 1942 together with the anticipated war and civilian need for the last half would indicate that for 1942 the petroleum industry would be called upon to supply in ever increasing quantities more products."

Thompson declared the increase in the nation's crude reserves made last year and the first six months of this year was due almost entirely to new discoveries and extensions made by the industry in the Southwestern states and particularly in Texas.

"The Southwestern states now have approximately 70 per cent of the total reserves of the nation in contrast with some 68 per cent a year ago and 57 per cent five years ago," he asserted.

"The margin of the gain in the Southwest goes to the credit of Texas. We are and have been continually progressing very successfully. During this period Texas has added about 500,000,000 barrels of oil to its previous reserves to bring them in excess of 11 billion barrels as of June 1."

Thompson told the committee that two gallons of gasoline are required each day for every fighting-soldier in action and that this means 4,500,000 soldiers must have 9,000,000 gallons of gasoline every day.

"With 160,000 airplanes being built, we shall need undreamed of quantities of aviation high test gasoline. We are really going to need more and more oil."

"For example, the Russian invasion has cost Germany 21,000,000 barrels of oil and oil substitutes per month."

Predicting that the war would last at least three years, the chairman declared the oil discovery rate three years hence, "depends on the present price of oil. The present price is not getting the job done.

Need Wildcatting
"Raise the price of crude and get the needed wildcatting. We need a free play of economics. The rate of abandonment of oil wells is increasing at an alarming rate. Let us not be caught short because of too rigid control or delayed action of free price movement.

"Oil is the most essential thing in this mechanized warfare. Texas had 522 oil fields and will meet the war needs. It can produce 300,000 or 400,000 barrels of oil more per day without economic waste. Before long Texas, New Mexico and Wyoming probably will be called on to ship oil to the West Coast. We may have to put in a pipe line from here to the West Coast and can do so by digging up a line to the Gulf coast which is now not in use.

Use Steel For New Fields
"We must use our precious steel to find new fields rather than to drill old ones.

"The greater part of the additional reserves in the state has come about because of new discoveries and extensions in West Texas. We have hardly tapped our reserves out here. Men are anxious to go ahead with wildcatting and drilling and a two-bit increase in price is all that is needed.

"Military needs will force the movement of the oil. We are getting close to the danger point on reserves, and wildcatting are front-line soldiers. We must promote continuous exploration."

"After the war is won, we might try planned economy. But right now oil is becoming more and more difficult to find and more expensive to find. For this reason the additional incentive is necessary and essential to encourage the discovery of new reserves."

Urges State Control

Concerning the regulatory powers of states, Thompson asserted that some major companies with large war product plants have considerable ownership in some fields and for that reason charges of "favoritism" frequently are heard when federal agencies specifies fields which are to be allowed to produce oil.

"This couldn't happen," he added, "if the state agencies are given the right to say where the oil is to be produced."

"It is hoped that, we, the people, will not use the war effort or perhaps its use to accomplish something unnecessary by indirectness that cannot be accomplished by direct methods, under our form of government."

"Keep control close to the people."

Freedom of initiative and freedom of enterprise were urged by Thompson in the war program.

Erory suggested at the conclusion of Thompson's testimony that war economy may dictate new methods of doing things and consideration of many new problems. Joyce questioned Thompson on the price proposal asking how it should be spread to oil products. The state official said Texans expect a cent a gallon increase in gasoline prices when oil is increased 25 cents a barrel and that the prevailing method be used to spread the increased cost of oil.

At the opening of the hearing, Senator Hatch explained that the problems of West Texas oil men are about identical with those of the oil men of New Mexico and some other public land states.

The committee, he explained, is keenly aware of the importance of oil to our nation in this time of war. The discovery and development of oil must be encouraged, Hatch said, and the committee seeks the best way to help the men who are developing and producing oil.

Explain OPC Duties
The senator introduced members of the Washington party to the oil operators who crowded Hotel Scharbayer's ball room.

Senator O'Mahoney asserted the committee wanted to learn the facts concerning oil and the problems of the industry.

Erory explained the task of the party is to provide petroleum products to win the war and he explained the duties of the OPC.

"We must keep oil reserves behind our Army and our Navy. We must see that every foot of gas and barrel of oil is produced with a

Hitler

the enemy has reached the mountain barrier. The sweeping plains over which Hitler's tanks have been racing are giving way to mountainous terrain which these steel monsters operate with difficulty or not at all. Also, inside the mountain range it is virtually impossible for airplanes to operate.

The Germans have been depending heavily on their tanks and war planes, and a vast weakening of these two fighting arms may indeed alter the picture. However, the Nazis have demonstrated that they are no mean mountain fighters, and only time will determine the issue.

I should say that a great deal depends on the outcome of the siege of Stalingrad. That is a tough nut to crack and the Nazis are concentrating all available forces for the assault. The Bolsheviks are expected to put up a fierce resistance, but it mustn't be overlooked that they are handicapped by the fact that this great industrial city is on the west bank of the Volga River. That means they must fight with their backs to the river instead of having its broad reaches in front of them for protection—a position which any defending commander would avoid if possible.

Should Stalingrad fall quickly, it would release many Nazi troops for the fighting farther south. Naturally, that might alter the whole show, but since that point is reached by hurdling a lot of "ifs," speculation isn't very profitable.

minimum of waste and as economically as possible. We must reduce drastically our consumption of materials such as steel."

KING AND QUEEN RETURN

LONDON (AP)—King George VI, in naval uniform, and Queen Elizabeth, wearing black, returned to London Thursday for the funeral of the king's youngest brother, the Duke of Kent, who was killed Tuesday in an air crash on active service for the RAF.

He pointed out that the Army and Navy are getting 80 per cent of the steel output, lease-lend programs six percent, leaving only 14 percent for American industries.

"We must adjust everything to war time conditions," he concluded. Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association told the hearing that petroleum reserves must be maintained and explorations must continue.

Seize Bases

the big sea battle was still raging with the outcome still indefinite.

Since the renewal of the conflict five days ago, American bombers have set two enemy destroyers ablaze and pounced upon transports, cruisers and destroyers of one invasion fleet forcing it to withdraw from approaches to Guadalcanal.

Another Japanese naval force, operating to the northeast, is still involved in a major sea battle in which airplane carriers and warships are the target of American bombers and fighters.

Meanwhile Tokyo imperial headquarters acknowledged for the first time that the Japanese fleet had suffered damage in a battle with "reinforcements of the United States Navy" off the Solomon Islands.

Fourteen hours after the Navy in Washington announced damaging blows to at least 13 Japanese warships, the Japanese command conceded that one of its destroyers had been sunk and a small aircraft carrier damaged.

Tokyo headquarters said United States losses in the first three days of battle, starting Sunday, included damage to two aircraft carriers and to a battleship of the 33,100-ton Pennsylvania type.

The claims lacked confirmation elsewhere.

"Imperial air units repulsed the enemy," the Japanese communique asserted, in contrast to a U. S. Navy bulletin which declared that American bombers had driven one Japanese fleet into retreat from the approaches to Guadalcanal in the southeast Solomons and that another Japanese naval force in the northeast was still being attacked.

The Navy, indicating that Japan's furious attempts to recapture the strategic Guadalcanal-Tulagi bases were so far in vain, declared: "Our forces are holding their positions in the face of strong enemy thrusts and in each action have inflicted heavy damage on the attacking Japanese forces."

Six hundred miles to the west, Allied troops and planes savagely battled a new Japanese landing on the southeast tip of New Guinea Island, destroying an enemy transport and six landing barges and probably sinking a cruiser.

United Nations airmen also raked other Japanese barges, strafed landing troops and started many fires, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced.

The new Japanese thrust was an apparent effort to gain bases for short-range attacks on Australia, less than 500 miles distant, and to threaten the key Allied outpost at Port Moresby, New Guinea, 230 miles to the northwest.

A communique said the battle was developing, with Allied troops taking a heavy toll of the sea-borne invaders.

Germany is planning increased use of electrically-operated motor vehicles to conserve liquid fuels, the Department of Commerce reports.

Ordovician

tween the farthest south producer in the Sand Hills Ordovician field of Crane and the Abell Ordovician field across the Pecos River in Northern Pecos County. It topped the Simpson at 5,500 feet, Tulip Creek red shale at 5,845 feet and McKee sand at 6,125 feet, checking considerably low on all markers to Abell and Sand Hills wells. Location is 860 from the northeast and southeast lines of section 20, block 1, H. & T. C. survey.

Farther southeast down the Pecos River, Skelly Oil Company No. 1 E. R. Richardson, also an Ordovician test, is drilling below 3,150 feet in Permian lime.

A deep wildcat in Northeastern Crane, The Texas Company No. 1 G. C. Fraser-TXL, is drilling at 5,860 feet in lime.

Magnolia No. 1 Alan Robertson, North Central Pecos wildcat north of Fort Stockton, is drilling below 5,390 feet in dolomite. It recovered six feet of dry, porous, fractured dolomite by coring from 5,370-80 feet. A core from 5,360-90 feet returned six and one-half feet of highly porous "rotten" dolomite bearing spots of anhydrite and calcite and bleeding sulphur water.

M. D. Bryant et al No. 1 J. A. McDonald, Northeastern Pecos wildcat, has been shut down for orders in lime at 5,000 feet, nine feet past contract depth. The wildcat has been drilled "tight" and it is not known whether it went out of the Permian in reaching 5,009 feet.

Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 2 Sealy-Smith Foundation, one-quarter mile west by northwest of the 10,364-foot discovery producer of the Monahans Ordovician pool in Northeastern Ward County, is drilling at 3,548 feet in lime.

The same firm's No. 1 W. D. Blue estate, an 8,500-foot Ordovician well in extreme Eastern Wilkner County, is reaming hole at 2,675 feet. Present depth is 3,106 feet in anhydrite.

North Basin Tests
In Northwestern Lubbock County, J. R. Sharp No. 1 Ira Elliott logged slight staining of oil from 5,590-31 feet and drilled ahead past 5,587 feet in dolomite. Cuttings are showing a trace of porosity.

A 7,500-foot test in Northwestern Gaines County, Shell No. 1 D. N. Leaverton, is drilling at 3,360 feet in red shale.

Continental Oil Company No. 1 Dan Auld, Eastern Terry County staining from 9,505-09 feet.

Mexican Theme Carried Out When PasTime Club Met With Mrs. Pillow

Two new members were elected to the PasTime Club when it met with Mrs. C. W. Pillow Wednesday afternoon at her home 403 South O Street.

The new members are Mrs. L. M. Speed and Mrs. Verble Mitchell. Mrs. N. C. Dragisic of Chicago, Illinois, was the only visitor.

The Mexican theme was carried throughout the party with blue and red as the chief colors.

Two tables of bridge were played with high score going to Mrs. Harry Logsdon and second going to Mrs. Pillow. The bingo prize went to Mrs. J. Wayne Campbell.

The following were present: Mmes. Ted Dykes, M. M. Holmes, Logsdon, David Stammer, Mitchell, Speed, Dragisic, Campbell and the hostess.

Sandwiches and cakes were served in mid-afternoon to the hostess.

The club will meet next Wednesday with Mrs. Verble Mitchell.

Mrs. W. M. Watson and baby were discharged from Ryan's Hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. A. L. Clebosky was admitted to Ryan's Hospital Wednesday afternoon.

wildcat, is drilling at 5,888 feet in lime and chert. Formation now being drilled probably is the San Angelo member of the Permian.

Humble Oil & Refining Company's scheduled 8,500-foot Ordovician test in Western Scurry County, the No. 1 W. T. Newman, is drilling at 2,904 feet in Permian lime.

Magnolia is preparing to plug and abandon its No. 1 Earl B. Powell, Southeastern Martin County deep failure seven and one-half miles north of Stanton. It was cored from 8,306 feet to 8,318 feet, the total depth, recovering 12 feet of black shale and lime.

The deepest test now drilling in West Texas, Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A Texu in Southwestern Central Andrews County, is making hole below 9,526 feet in chert and lime. It was cored from 9,505-14 feet with recovery of five feet and eight inches of hard dolomite and shale showing slight staining from 9,505-09 feet.

Give Ration Rules For New Bicycles

G. M. Shelton, chairman of the Midland County War Price and Rationing Board, has received new regulations from Washington which reduce drastically the list of persons eligible to buy new bicycles.

The War Production Board issued an order recently, halting the manufacture of bicycles at the end of August. That put an entire new complexion on the rationing plans that the Office of Price Administration had drafted when it expected that output would be continued.

In its new list, the Office of Price Administration defines the essential occupations that will make a person eligible for a bicycle certificate. Also, an applicant must show that he does not have an available under appropriate rationing regulations, and private means of transportation that would serve the purpose for which a bicycle is sought.

The fundamental requirement for eligibility is that a person is engaged directly in war work, or in some work essential to the public health and safety.

Foreign Service Due For First Woman's AEF
WASHINGTON (AP)—WAAO headquarters have disclosed plans are under consideration to send out this country's first feminine AEF, possibly this fall.

However, none of those now in the women's Army Auxiliary Corps have received foreign service orders. The law creating the WAAO permits foreign service, and it always has been intended to send the soldierettes abroad wherever they are needed to replace men on non-combat jobs.

It is anticipated that the first WAAOs to receive foreign service will go to England. It is also understood that the first group will contain both white and negro WAAOs.

Golf Raises $59,871 For The Red Cross
By NEA Service

NEW YORK — By way of entry fees, $59,871.06 was raised for the American Red Cross by 686 clubs, associations and public courses, it is announced by the United States Golf Association.

This is exclusive of exhibition matches. Reports received are far from complete. There are more than 900 on the honor roll of organizations holding benefits.

The bulk of the funds was raised during the Memorial and Independence Day week-ends. The total also will be increased by the final nation-wide series of Hale Adams tournaments during the Labor Day week-end.

This Check Bounced All Over The Place
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Theodore Osechowsky doesn't like Indian givers.

He cashed a fellow shipyard worker's paycheck, then set up drinks in a taproom. Afterward he found the check had been taken from his pocket. Police arrested Osechowsky's friend trying to re-cash it in a store a few blocks away.

MARINES LAND ARMY CLERKS
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Marines have the situation well in hand on the recruiting front, too. They enlisted Irving Paul Adams and Shannon Lowell Doss after the two had worked six months as civilian clerks in the Army's recruiting office here.

Soap Slivers Make Excellent Shampoo

By Alicia Hart
NEA Service Staff Writer

If you want to help the war effort as well as your exchequer, you might enjoy shampooing your hair with a perfectly good shampoo made out of the slivers and wafers of used bars of toilet soap.

There is plenty of shampoo on the market now, and there will be so long as the ladies cooperate with Uncle Sam by conserving fats and greases. So I don't mean to indicate that home-made shampoo is a patriotic "must." However, in this atmosphere, why throw away those left-overs which are such a nuisance to use as soap—and which make shampoo in a jiffy?

You simply shave them fine, add water, and put them in a saucepan, and boil till they dissolve. There is one not-so-convenient fact about this. The stuff will jell again, in time, so you have to make it just before using it.

For this purpose—and for choosing regular shampoo and toilet soap correctly—you should know what kind of ingredients suit your skin and hair best. For normal skin or scalp, castile soap and shampoo are excellent. The important thing is, gentle stuff. For oily scalp and skin, the preparations containing coconut oil or some other slightly drying ingredient. For dry complexion and scalp, you want stuff containing olive oil, castor oil, or some equally fatty substitute.

KNOW WHAT YOU'RE USING

Look at the labels of your soaps and shampoos, and, if they do not tell you what's in them, ask the seller; and shop around till you find stuff that you can identify. Another thing to watch out for is alcohol. It has a drying effect.

Recommend Ingenuity In Crop Production

WACO (AP)—Ingenuity to increase crop production for the war effort was recommended Wednesday by E. D. White, assistant chief of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, in a talk to a one-day meeting of Texas cotton farmers.

White mentioned heavily increased outputs of soybeans and peanuts, wheat, corn, flax, rice and cotton in connection with larger crop production.

Plans probably will be worked out whereby farmers will receive better prices for cottonseed, I. W. Duggan, director of the Southern division of AAA, predicted.

The population of the Soviet Union, 17,000,000 at the last census, is approximately four-fifths European, one-fifth Asiatic.

More than 40 per cent alcohol is no help to any type of scalp.

Of course, if you can afford good, widely distributed products of well-known makers, do use those. They are checked by Uncle Sam and generally their labels or their sellers tell you what's in them.

Jamaica is the largest and most valuable of the British West Indies.

Our Sincere Appreciation
Every time we think of priorities we think of you with admiration. We think how you have applied your new knowledge of calories, vitamins and food values to turn into a good thing the new limitations put upon your kitchen. We think that only American women could adapt themselves so quickly, so easily and with such good humor. Then again we admire you for your patience with our new employees who have taken the place of so many of our regular employees who are now in the Armed Services.
Our hats off to those many customers who have cooperated with us and our new employees by shopping early in the week for their staple items, thereby releasing the major part of the time on Friday and Saturday to those employed in Defense Industries or on farms who must shop on the week-end, as that is their only available time. We are able to give better service early in the week and the prices on staple grocery items that are advertised are kept in effect for an entire week so that everyone may share in this saving.
We realize all of this is because you know what priorities mean. . . . That giving way to them is not granting a privilege to some other individual, but rather your personal cooperation with the all-out-for-victory program, and that anything you, or Alfiey, can do to keep a plentiful supply of foods rolling to our Forces and our Allies is really for the ultimate good of all.
We are proud that it is our privilege to plan and work with you. . . . COOPERATING AND WORKING TOGETHER WILL HELP WIN THIS WAR!

Election Charges Few, Far Between Since Start War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cry of "foul" which once reverberated lustily and frequently throughout the nation's political arenas has been virtually stilled by the drums of war.

Chairman McFarland (D-Ariz) disclosed Thursday that the Senate campaign expenditures investigating committee had received complaints from only three states thus far charging irregularities in primary elections.

And none of them was regarded by McFarland as "sufficiently substantiated to warrant hearings."

"Folks are more interested in the fortunes of the men on the battle-fronts than in the fortunes of political candidates," McFarland told an interviewer.

However, he added, "I'm going to get the committee together as soon as possible to go over what we have received."

One complaint, he said, received some months ago, questioned the good faith behind the candidacy of a farmer named Josh Lee against Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma. However, McFarland said, state election authorities removed the farmer Lee's name from the ballot before the Democratic primary, in which Senator Lee was renominated.

Department Stores Sell More Clothes

AUSTIN (AP)—Clothing and other department store commodities are still being purchased by Texans at a rate substantially above last year, the July report of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research revealed.

Sales of 77 department and apparel stores for July were 121 per cent above July a year ago, though 7.6 per cent under June, 1942, sales. For the first seven months of 1942, sales were 12.5 per cent above those of the like period a year ago.

Waco stores showed the largest increase among the cities tabulated in the report—57.2 per cent over July last year—but almost equal gains were made in Bryan with 36.4 per cent and in Beaumont with 34.4 per cent.

Galveston stores gained 28.8 per cent and San Antonio stores 21.5 per cent.

Like many women of her time, George Washington's mother puffed on a pipe, according to many writers. Here she is shown with a "weed" even though he was a tobacco planter, and made a wry face when custom compelled him to take a weak pipe-of-peace with the Indians.

Invitations have been sent to a number of Midland Cubs but not all of them have been reached and Cornelius, Midland Cub Scoutmaster, urges all Midland Cubs who wish to go on this outing to appear at the Scout Hall Saturday at 9 a. m. so transportation can be arranged.

Slips Down The Ways

NEW YORK (AP)—The 45,000-ton Iowa, the largest battleship this nation has ever built, slipped down the ways of the Brooklyn Navy yard Thursday.

The mighty vessel was "launched months ahead of schedule" and is ready to "fire faster and farther than any other ship afloat," declared Ralph A. Bard, assistant Secretary of the Navy, who addressed the assemblage at the launching in the Brooklyn Navy yard.

"One of her predecessors helped blast the Spanish fleet at Santiago Bay," he said. "Another was scrapped in 1923 in the name of peace—a peace that existed only in the minds and hopes of honorable men."

"See here, Private Smith—you can't use the Army's wind tunnel just to dry your hair!"

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Price Administration has put its staff to work on a system of ceilings on hog prices, but a spokesman for livestock producers said Thursday he had reason to hope that it would not go into effect.

He was P. O. Wilson of Chicago, secretary of the National Livestock Marketing Association.

After several weeks of agitation by some packers, the OPA announced Wednesday night that it was developing a plan for ceiling on hogs to be followed later by ceilings on cattle. Under the price control law, ceilings on farm products must be approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard.

Wilson, who among other producer representatives conferred with Price Administrator Leon Henderson Wednesday, said OPA officials be established "only as a last resort" to meet a marketing problem. He said he felt the problem could and would be worked out without resort to livestock ceilings.

Because of an unusual war-time demand for meat, prices of hogs and cattle have been bid up by processors to a point where there is very little margin between those prices and ceilings on farm products, particularly smaller firms, claim they have been caught in a squeeze that threatens to ruin them.

SERIAL STORY

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

BY RENE RYERSON MART

THE STORY: Enid Sharon, stenographer, decides to take a secret vacation for a month before settling down with Tom Dineold, whom she has promised to marry. When her parents and sister are invited to a lake resort Enid tells Tom that she must go out of town on business, then engages a furnished apartment. The man who shows her the apartment is handsome young Dr. Henry Holliday, whose picture Enid has admitted in a newspaper. Enid sees the rest of her family off on their vacation, then starts her own secret holiday.

FATHER AND SON CHAPTER VI
 THE thrill of her truancy increased a hundred-fold as Enid moved from room to room reveling in the lovely vista of the apartment as seen from different angles, touching bits of bric-a-brac lovingly with a precious sense of possession, changing the position of some books, visioning fresh flowers in the vases on shelves and tables.

By the time she'd arranged her personal effects and taken a shower in the peach-tiled bathroom she was ravenously hungry. At first she tried to call a taxi and go downtown to eat.

On second thought she decided to hunt a delicatessen shop—she had noticed a sort of community center about two blocks from the apartment, there was probably a delicatessen there—and get something to cook in the apartment. She was itching to try the fascinating gadgets in the apartment kitchen.

The first week of her vacation passed in a delicious whirl of shopping. Enid spent hours in the shops, just idling and looking and trying on dresses until she found the particular ones that did something for her, like the severely plain blue crepe with its tiny matching turban that made her look as serene and aloof as a nun. Eyes followed her in that even in the fitting room.

She bought lounging pajamas and sleeping pajamas, a glamorous housecoat of black silk with a front panel of changeably colored stiff taffeta, a flowered chiton for afternoons with a wide-brimmed hat of yellow straw and great scarlet poppies pressed around its brim, vivid summer prints, a bathing suit, an evening dress of coral organdy, and, looking forward to fall, a beige wool suit touched up with a red beret, red gloves, and an enormous red leather purse.

And then there were shoes, slender patent pumps, white high-heeled sandals, a pair of gay props to wear with her pajamas, and smart buckskin oxfords for the suit.

Reading Tom's letter brought a lump into Enid's throat. She was suddenly absurdly lonely for him. She toyed with the thought of phoning him and letting him know that she was in town.

But could she explain the apartment in Arlington to him, or the fact that she was hidden away like a loony enjoying a month by herself? No—whether she liked it or not, she'd have to stick to her original plan and let Tom believe that she was at the mine acting as secretary to Stanton.

She didn't bother to light the lamps in the living room, although it was quite dark when she returned to the apartment. She dropped limply down in a chair by the front windows. Across the street a lower apartment was brilliantly lighted. Evidently a party was going on there. She could hear laughter and music and see couples dancing past the windows.

As she watched wistfully from her darkened window, she saw a man park a car on her side of the street and come rapidly up the walk to the entrance of the apartment building. It was young Dr. Holliday. He walked briskly with a purposeful swing to his well-set-up shoulders. It was the first time Enid had seen him since she had rented the apartment.

If only she knew someone like him to pass the evening with, she thought. Someone interesting to talk to. Her white forehead puckered in thought. Maybe she could trump up some reason to see him again, to get to know him.

ENID was shy. It took her until noon that Sunday to muster up courage to carry out her scheme.

She took a last scared look in the mirror to be sure she was looking her best. After much deliberation she had donned a slack outfit, one of her new purchases, the trousers dark blue and of so soft a material that they looked like a long skirt, the blouse red-and-white candy stripe silk.

Her fine straight hair was done in the manner the beautician had recommended for her, parted in the middle and pulled into two soft pompadours at each temple, with the ends curled in a loose roll across the base of her neck.

Her smooth-skinned face, too broad for real beauty, lacked at the moment its greatest charm, serenity. She smoothed out the nervous pucker between her brows and marched down the hall with her heart in her throat.

The doctor, himself, opened the door at her ring. He smiled a slow recognition. "Oh—Miss Sharon, is it you?"

"So he hadn't forgotten her!" "I hate to bother you, but—the windows in my apartment need cleaning, and I didn't know whether the janitor was supposed to take care of them, or whether I should get someone else—" Her voice trailed breathlessly.

Dr. Holliday broke in indignantly. "That's Jim's job all right—but he's a lazy beggar. I'll speak to him about them."

The door behind him swung wide. Enid saw again the warm red and yellow room with its heavy masculine furniture. In the middle of the rug a small boy was stacking building blocks.

"The child looked up impatiently. "Come on, Daddy. Build me a house."

Enid felt as if someone had suddenly thrown a cup of cold water in her face.

"Anything else?" the doctor asked with a flash of white, even teeth.

Enid thanked him lamely and backed away. Her face burned with a deep flush of shame, as if she had been caught in a despicable deed. As she went down the hall she heard the man's and the child's voices raised in companionable shouts. She hastened her steps.

Somehow she felt an awful fool. She had thought he was unmarried. Something he had said about his bachelor apartment had given her that impression.

WPB Regulations Inspiration For Cotton Fashions

Advance fall designs in cotton fashions made under WPB Order L-85, which has just gone into effect for cottons, prove that designers can put maximum styling into minimum yardage, a survey of the new collection by the National Cotton Council and Cotton-Textile Institute shows.

Since cotton is home-grown and in adequate supply, restrictions on cotton products are not as severe as on many goods, permitting many of the details dear to feminine hearts. For instance, cotton apparel will continue to have patch pockets, poplins, wide lapels, also pleated and dirndl skirts that come within the maximum width allowed. This does not mean an unlimited number of pleats and gathers, but it does mean plenty of fullness for smartness of line and easy motion. And who minds giving up a pleat or a gather if it will help to make another dress for somebody who needs it?

Regulations Explained

Your cotton dress or suit, size 16, may be 78 inches wide; your jacket 25 inches long; your hem 2 inches. Balloon and dolman sleeves are not permitted in daytime wear because they require too much fabric. At the same time, WPB does permit, but does not encourage, any amount of yardage for wedding gowns, maternity clothes, infants' wear, and large sizes. Evening gowns and wraps of cotton velveteen, corduroy, and lace in lush new fall and winter shades will move to the very forefront of fashion long before the first snow flies. Even skirts can be as wide as 144 inches but indications are that most women and girls will be wearing the slim clean-cut lines they're getting and liking in daytime clothes.

There is no question but that our Government, through enforced simplicity, is adding to the American woman's reputation for being well-dressed. Those with innate good taste would naturally select such simple fashions; those without it are finding it forced painlessly upon them, to their advantage.

New fashion uses of cotton also are popping up everywhere as the result of WPB regulations. Watch particularly for evidence of them in fall and winter coats. Here we find cotton used not only in the outside of the coat, but also as gay linings of corduroy, quilted velveteen, and cotton duvetyne.

Smaller Squads Will Help Football Game

By NEA Service
PHILADELPHIA — Even though the average squad is reduced to 35 or 36, coaches should suffer no hardship, according to Ray Morrison.

"Too frequently they have too many candidates, both for their own good and the good of the team," says Temple's head man. "Third and fourth-string substitutes of last year will take on new life. What less skilled players lack in ability will be more than made up by their desire to play regularly. Even with the many standout players called for military service, I believe the caliber of college football will not be noticeably poorer. If anything, I believe the public will see a more spirited game."

IT'S VERY PRETTY BUT NO HAMBURGER

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (P) — In a photostatic "V"-mail letter a lieutenant in Northern Ireland told relatives of the friendliness of the people and the beauty of the countryside.

Then the lieutenant, R. J. Collier of Malvern, Ark., added that he would give five dollars for a hamburger and an American soft drink.

Cotton Togs

Between gasoline rationing and the necessity to exercise and keep fit, the horse has come back into his own. Joan Alexander, radio actress on CBS "Woman of Courage" series, selects cotton riding togs for cool good looks. Her jacket is a natural herringbone woven with cotton; her jodhpurs, sturdy cotton twill in a dark shade.

THE expansive greatcoat, outstanding 1942-and-after mode, is smartly exemplified in this wool knitted fleece. It is worn over evening clothes and for sports, as shown here. The cable-knitted wool sports sweater is new, too, especially the V-neck. Sports watch is gold with suede band, and the silver dog's-head lapel pin carries a barrel of "mad money." Gray woolen slacks complete the outfit.

Here's A New Victory Model - - It's A Woman

By Ruth Millett

Before this war is over there is sure to emerge a Victory Model Woman as well as victory model commodities of all sorts.

The Victory Model Woman won't look glamorous in the pre-war meaning of the word. She'll be a neat, well-turned-out job but there won't be much material or effort on trimmings.

You won't run into her at afternoon bridge parties or at women's clubs that dabble in culture. You will be apt to find her in a defense plant, a laboratory, a government office, a kitchen that isn't just a place to open cans, or a WAAC or WAVES training camp. You will recognize her without any trouble, for she will be doing her job skillfully and with little waste motion.

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES IS OUT

Her man may be thousands of miles away from her, but you won't find her feeling sorry for herself. Whatever her financial or social group, she won't be worrying about keeping up with the Joneses. If she does any bragging it will be about economizing, canning, or learning a new skill.

You won't hear her complain charmingly that she simply can't do this or that. She'll know how to take care of the details of living and make decisions like an efficient executive.

Never will you hear any slighting remarks uttered by a woman who has tackled hard, difficult jobs. For she will be a new-style woman herself.

But she won't be hard and she won't glory in the fact that she can get along without a man at her side. The Victory Model Woman will be essentially feminine. She'll just be the average American woman who gives up luxury, time-wasting activities and all pretense of helplessness and dependency, to become a more capable, independent worker for victory.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett

Being a "duration widow" is going to be a dreary business—but there are things a wife can do to keep from being completely lost in loneliness.

First off, if she isn't completely tied down by small children, she can get a job. If she can get one directly related to the war effort—so much the better. A job will keep her busy all day—and leave her so tired out at night that she'll go to bed early to get ready for another day. Instead of sitting up worrying about her husband or feeling sorry for herself because she hasn't anywhere to go.

She'll look up her old friends, too, and exert herself to make new ones. She'll get along better if the women with whom she spends most of her time are either duration widows, like herself, or unmarried. It is sure to make her feel envious to have Anne—whose husband is still with her—say:

"I really must run along. Bill always wants me to be at home when he gets there."

WAR WORK IS TONIC FOR "DURATION WIDOWS"

She will do some kind of volunteer war work, because there are so many jobs to be done. Incidentally, doing war work will do something for her morale. If it is work that re-

She'll get to know her neighbors if she doesn't already—so that she won't feel quite so alone. She will help them out whenever she can, and then if she ever needs to call on them for help—she won't feel hesitant about it.

She will keep in close touch with her own family.

And the time will finally pass—not a happy time, but not unbearable, either.

Cats Take Ninth Straight, Defeat Shreveporters

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The third-place Fort Worth Cats, separated by only a few percentage points from second-place Shreveport, extended their victory string to nine straight Wednesday night by defeating the Sports 2-1.

The Beaumont Exporters, who have been perched at the top of the league since the season began, made the most of a soft touch by walloping the Rebels 10-5 at Dallas.

At Oklahoma City the Indians posted a 3-2 defeat on the Houston Buffs, and at Tulsa the Oilers drubbed fourth-place San Antonio 6-2.

Righthanded Claud Horton in pitching the Cats to a win permitted the Sports a mere three hits, and then turned and scored one run and batted in the other. Shreveport got its one run when pitcher Doyle Lade galloped home from third as Alex Hooks was trying vainly to chase down Zeke Trent off first.

Beaumont scored nine runs on seven hits and three Rebel errors in the fourth. Until the series of bobbles, Johnny McPartland, with a two-run lead, was hurling no-hit, no-run ball for Dallas. Oklahoma City won its first victory in six starts against Houston. Bill Voiselle allowed the Bears seven hits, the Indians collecting eleven off Paul Dean and Eddie Puck.

The Oilers moved up to a game and a half behind the Missions by virtue of their triumph Wednesday night. Henry Wyse, 22-year-old hurler sold to the Chicago Cubs Thursday, was the winning pitcher, although he gave up 13 hits.

Lack Of Pen Cost Yankees Plenty, But Borowy Has Been Worth Money

Hank Borowy and the celebrated bluster.

By Harry Grayson
NEA Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK. —Henry Ludwig Borowy was a mild sensation at Fordham, where Jack Coffey, the old shortstop, polished the rough edges of the Polish youngster who stood out at Bloomfield, N. J., High and Montclair, N. J. Academy.

Every major league club sought Hank Borowy, so when Paul Krichell called at the Rose Hill freshmen coaches' office to sign him, the Yankees were prepared to pay a neat figure.

"I'll give you $8,000," said Scout Krichell. The offer fairly knocked Collegian Borowy off his pins, but when Krichell pulled out the contract no one had a fountain pen Krichell, eager to close for a recognized pitching prize, hustled downstairs to the gymnasium locker room to get one.

It was here that Borowy first demonstrated to the New Yorks that they landed a young man as smart and quick thinking out of the box as he is in it. The ease with which he got $8,000 convinced Borowy that he could have a little more, so when Krichell returned with the ink the youngster asked for $500 additional—and got it.

ALL BOROWY HAS TO DO IS STAY THE WAY HE IS
Forager Krichell will all season round gladly pay $500 extra for pitchers like the one Borowy turned out to be.

Charley Ruffing was asked how good a pitcher Borowy is.

"Great," said Rufus the Red.

"He'll be better," I offered.

"All he has to do is stay the way he is," replied Ruffing.

Blond Borowy, a right-hander standing an even six feet and weighing 175 pounds, does not have to depend on any freak delivery. He is sneaky fast and has the required curve and pitching savvy. He has remarkable control and keeps the ball low.

His biggest problem is a blister which keeps developing on the middle finger of his throwing hand.

At times he pitches with the finger throbbing like blazes.

Joe McCarthy took Borowy out of a winning game in the eighth inning the other afternoon. He didn't want the blister to break. If it had broken, Borowy would have missed his next turn.

BOROWY EXPERIMENTS WITH NEW PITCHING GRIPS
Other pitchers have been—and are—handicapped by blistered fingers caused by the tightly gripped ball sliding off the tips.

Grover Cleveland Alexander used to celebrate in the spring when his blister finally broke and the skin toughened. Robert Moses Grove and Vernon Gomez changed grips to correct the trouble, from which Claude Passeau of the Cubs also suffers.

Borowy is now experimenting with new grips, but Joe McCarthy fears that any strange way in throwing the ball may throw his newest star

Football Dream Game Will Pay Heavy Dividends

CHICAGO (AP)—The annual contest between the College All-Stars and the professional champions always has been football's dream game but it took a war to make it a financial masterpiece.

Friday's ninth staging of the extravaganza in Soldier Field will net something like $160,000 to the war relief funds, the largest sum raised by any sports event since Pearl Harbor.

Of this, $111,600 was stowed away in the till without a ticket being sold, that amount being raised by donations of $100 each from sports-minded and patriotic citizens who received in turn a complimentary seat in a special section on the 50 yard line—commonly known now as Century Row.

That total was turned over Wednesday to the Army Emergency Relief fund. After Friday night's game the net proceeds from an attendance of 101,000 spectators will be divided equally between the Army and Navy relief organizations. It is expected to total more than $50,000.

Bob Zupke, the stormy little Dutchman of University of Illinois fame, has been wise-cracking and strutting ever since the All-Stars reported Aug. 8. But Wednesday night he was tense and all business—a sure sign he has fully accepted the challenge to beat the Chicago Bears, 1941 National Football League champions coached by George Halas.

Cardinals Not Kidding, They Are Going Right After Those Dodgers

By Judson Bailey
Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals have shown the rest of the National League they aren't kidding about making a finish fight for the pennant which the Brooklyn Dodgers confidently thought they had clinched.

A tremendous stake rested on Thursday's twilight finale of the four-game series, because the Redbirds needed to take it to get the Dodgers really tottering. But win or lose the Cardinals are making good their truculent claims that they would battle till the schedule runs out.

A few weeks ago Brooklyn had a ten game lead, yet the feat of the Cardinals in sweeping the first three installments of their four-game series with the National League champions in St. Louis has helped whittle this down to 4 1/2.

Another victory for St. Louis would shrink this to 3 1/2 games and throw the race wide open. But a triumph for the Dodgers would let them leave the Mound City with a still comfortable 5 1/2 game advantage.

Is Lone Fight
The Cardinals are waging a lone fight, for although they have won 11 and lost eight against the Dodgers this year, no other club has given Brooklyn as much as an even battle in the season's series.

The Cardinals are the Redbirds, however, as they proved by capturing a second straight 2-1 extra-inning decision over the Dodgers Wednesday for Johnny Beazley's 16th success.

The spunk of the St. Louis club, the Cardinals and Browns, is exhibited too by the Boston Red Sox, who still have time to cause some commotion in the American League.

Joe Cronin's crew has won nine straight games and 15 of the last 16 to shave the lead of the New York Yankees to 7 1/2 games.

Boston humbled the Cleveland Indians again Wednesday, 4-1, on the three-hit hurling of Bill Butland.

Yankees Drop One
Meanwhile the Yankees dropped a 5-3 affair to the Chicago White Sox, who were making their final appearance of the year in New York and had not won a game before in the Stadium.

In the only other American League action, the Detroit Tigers threatened Cleveland's berth in the first division by taking a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics, 1-0 and 4-2.

This lifted the Tigers within two games of the Indians, who have lost 14 contests while winning four in an 18-game stretch during which they never have scored more than three runs.

The third-place New York Giants of the National League snapped their five-game losing streak by batting the Cincinnati Reds for 15 hits and an 11-2 triumph credited to Bill Lohman.

The Philadelphia and Chicago Cubs divided a doubleheader with the tail-enders taking the first game, 3-2, in 11 innings and the Cubs capturing the nightcap, 3-0, on the five-hit shutout hurling of Rookie Bill Fleming.

Simms Here Monday
Simms stated that he and his family would arrive here August 31 to make their home. He and Mrs. Simms left Wednesday immediately after closing the purchase. Their two sons, Walter and Terry, will return with them and will enter Midland High School for the year.

Phillips and Simms began their association as partners in the cafe business in Dallas in 1914. From there they went to San Angelo, later to Coleman, and then came to Midland, opening the Scharbauer Coffee Shop on May 28, 1923.

Berte Haigh had nine strikes in a row to score the highest game of the day with 279 and a three-game series of 630.

The Summer Commercial League bowled as scheduled with the following results: Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer won all three games from Honolulu Oil Company; Habit Cleaners two out of three from Younger Brothers.

Individual honors went to Roddy with 550 and Berte Haigh with 548.

'Bat' For Prisoners Is No Longer Needed
HOUSTON (AP)—Eighteen months of prison administration in Texas without the "bat" has proved that the whiplike instrument—a piece of leather 18 inches long and three inches wide attached to a handle—is no longer needed, a prison board official declared.

Dr. Sidney Elster, board chairman, said Wednesday that enforcement of prison discipline without use of the bat has been unqualifiedly successful, and he added "The bat will never come back."

Prisoners now are punished, he explained, by being forced to stand on a barrel, solitary confinement, by the loss of overtime privileges, by being handcuffed, and by being confined in bed.

Semi-Final Matches In Texas Junior Golf
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Semi-finals matches in the state junior golf tournament over the Brackenridge course Thursday will pit James McNair of Brownsville against Herbert Neyland of San Angelo, and Jack Berry of San Antonio against Travis Bryan of Bryan.

McNair defeated Herbert Reid of Lockhart, 5 and 4, in the quarter-finals round Wednesday. Neyland crased George Hendrix of San Antonio, 1 up. Berry closed out Claud Wild of Austin, 1 up, and Bryan sent home Bill Roden of Glen Rose 1 up.

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK — If the Yankees should decide to break up their No. 1 farm club at Newark, there'd be $100,000 in it for them.

The Dodgers are supposedly ready to pay $50,000 for George Strmweiss, who is more likely to wind up playing third base for the Yanks. Other unofficial estimates on what the Bears would bring are $25,000 each for pitcher Tommy Byrne and shortstop Bill Johnson and $20,000 for infielder Hank Majeski and outfielder Russ Derry and Bud Metheny.

Wailing Wall
The coaching staff of the All-Star team at Chicago is about to read Homer Norton out of the union because he is picking the Collegians to breeze through the Bears.

Head Coach Bob Zupke says the college squad lacks backfield power; Burt Ingwersen thinks they haven't well-rounded backfield strength; Lynn Waldorf hopes they can keep the score down to 50 points; Lon Stiner thinks he ought to be at home, and Frank Leahy says "he's too sick to think."

Trench Silos Will Be Financed Here

"Trench warfare" of a local character is suggested for the farmers of this region by Oscar M. Fowler, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, who says that FSA loans are now available to farmers of the Midland area for construction of trench silos.

With excellent feed crops now maturing in this region, Fowler suggests that farmers make immediate plans to put up feed reserves in trench silos. He pointed out that feed for sale may be scarce later, and that the best insurance for adequate supply is to put up insilage.

Shortage of labor will likewise be solved in part by storage in silos, as it would be easier to feed out than having to handle dry stuff stacked at various places about the farm. Fowler stated that loans could be handled from his office in the courthouse.

they found the other pilots who had also been forced down, together with the civilians, some of them Americans, whom the islanders had assisted in penetrating the Japanese lines.

Wood said he met several other persons on the ship that brought him to the United States recently who had found their way to civilization from Japanese-occupied territory. He himself was reported missing for a month before he re-established contact with the Navy.

"You have been in the vicinity of the present Solomon Islands conflict," remarked the radio interviewer on the program. "Now if any of our men are forced down or have found their way ashore from damaged ships, just what do you think their chances are of returning?"

Escapes Zero Squadron
"If they are Americans, a very good chance," Lt. Wood replied. "If they are Japanese, I would not want to be in their shoes."

Lt. Wood was one of two dive bomber pilots who scored direct hits on a Japanese carrier of the Shokaku class on May 8. He was afterward pursued by an entire squadron of Zero planes and escaped them by diving through clouds, but ran out of fuel and was forced down.

He will find himself playing the first day's feature match right in the big stadium, itself, as he exchanges volleys and placements with Lieut. Russell Bobbit of Atlanta and Fort Knox.

It is not of course, that Ted's tennis has improved so sensationally in the last 12 months, but that the players who overshadowed him a year ago are gone, either into the professional ranks or into the service. Ted is seeded No. 1 in this year's championships and is favored to win the crown relinquished by Bobby Riggs.

Front-line dispatches said the Russians were attacking the German-held Rzecz-Vazma rail line 120 miles west of Moscow and were battling in the streets of the key Nazi stronghold at Rzhev.

Reuters, the British news agency, said the Germans were throwing fresh reserves into the fierce battle for Rzhev, but were compelled to retreat with heavy losses.

A year ago she moved to Chattanooga and, failing to find a girls' team handy, started playing softball with neighborhood boys' teams. From there she was recruited by one of the men's clubs in the city Class B loop. Snoring Pays Well BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—A 12-year-old boy who was stated to have snored perpetually since he was knocked down by a truck was awarded the equivalent of $450 damages.

Try A Bracer - Upper On Late - Summer Menu

For a deluxe dinner—but that doesn't mean extravagant—try the appetizing dish above. It's a slice of ham, on which is placed a breast of chicken topped with mushrooms.

We need an occasional party these days of late summer to brace the morale of our family and community. With care and skill, you can serve this de luxe dish without any extravagance. Breast of Chicken With Ham DeLuxe
Use 4 1-2 lb. chickens. Each will give two breasts. Use 1 slice ham for each serving. Broil slice of ham. Remove the breast from a broiled chicken. Saute breast in butter until delicately brown. Place ham slice on hot dinner plate, place breast of chicken on top. Cover chicken and ham with a fricassee sauce. Place 3 broiled mushroom caps on top. Serve with green beans cut lengthwise in thin strips and garnish with crisp watercress. Here's a recipe to use the remaining chicken:

Baked Chicken Turnover

Place 1 1-2 tablespoon of chicken filling (about 3-8 cup) in center of each round. Brush the edges of the pastry with milk; shape into half moons. Bake the turnovers in hot oven (400 deg. F.) until brown. MENU

How The Army Salvages Vast Manpower Force

By Samuel A. Tower
Wide World Features
WASHINGTON—Call this a war of machines, a war of production or a war of ideas—it all adds up to the need for able, educated people on the battlefield and behind the front lines.

Look at the American soldier, 1942 model, compared to his opposite number in the first World War. Schooldays have taken up a lot more of Joe Private's life in the 25 years between wars. Thirty per cent of white selectees are high school graduates against 4 per cent in World War I, and 11 per cent are college men against 5 per cent in 1917. The educational level of negro selectees also has increased greatly. The boys already in service have plenty on the ball. But in its growing needs for manpower, the Army has run smack up against the illiteracy problem.

433,000 Flunked Tests
Some 433,000 young men flunked the Army's minimum literacy requirements because they lacked a fourth grade education, or couldn't read an ordinary newspaper. Approximately 250,000 of them were physically 1-A, so that the equivalent of fifteen divisions of able-bodied fighting men were eliminated from military service. Now the Army has started a salvage campaign of its own—to reclaim its discarded manpower material. Illiterates who can understand simple commands and "possess ability to absorb military training rapidly" are being drafted in limited numbers. The big question is whether a man's draft board shall make him go to school before induction or whether the Army shall take charge of his education after induction. In some cases the Army has been giving additional schooling to selectees who barely scraped by their literacy tests. Meanwhile, within the regular routine of Army life, two million young Americans are taking the War Department's "Orientation Course for Military Personnel." In a series of lectures by officers and civilian specialists, they are taught such subjects as history, economics, geography and international relations. The Axis was way ahead of us in the psychological conditioning of its fighting forces, but it used propaganda, slavishly drilled into Axis heads. The American program, under Colonel Herman Beukema, West Point instructor, limits lectures to fifty minutes, and the speaker must "allow an opportunity for questions from the audience."

Ship That Runs Up On Beach Is Being Planned

By NEA Service
NEW YORK—With plans for overseas attacks occupying American military-naval minds, two New York industrial designers suggest a revolutionary new kind of vessel that would serve both as an ocean-going troopship and also as a shallow-bottomed invasion barge, capable of pushing to within six-foot depths of landing beaches. Once on the edge of the beach, the ship's bow opens and out slide tank ramps, down which tanks fight their way ashore and directly into invasion action. Sketch, right, by the ship's designers, Jacques Martial and Robert G. Scull, is their conception of how the invasion action would look. BALLAST TANKS ARE GIVEN NEW TASK
Key to the operation of this Jules Vernean ship is the use of ballast

Southern Hospitality Pays Off Parking Meter

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—If you've been living right, you can park overtime in downtown Memphis and return to find a note on your windshield wiper: "Your parking time expired. We have deposited a coin in the meter. We hope this saved you the inconvenience of going to the police department for over-parking." Employees of an insurance firm are the good fairies. Tanks which run longitudinally the length of the vessel's bottom. When full of water, these tanks give the boat the stability necessary for deep-sea crossing. Three of four miles from an invasion shore, the ballast tanks would be blown out, like a surfacing submarine's, and the ship would rise to draw less than six feet of water. The ship itself is designed to go right into the thick of the fighting. Its top deck, also of radical design, is flat, armored, and armed with turrets and multiple anti-aircraft guns. The designers estimate the speed of their craft at 16 knots fully loaded and 20 when the ballast tanks have been blown out. Messrs. Martial and Scull figure that their ocean-going invasion barge could carry directly to the point of attack a full company of Marines, plus full equipment. This would include at least eight medium tanks, and half that many half-track trucks with 75-mm. guns, plus four self-propelled mounts for 155-mm. guns, and the necessary supply trucks and reconnaissance units. At the outbreak of war there were 100,000 Axis nationals in the United States.

Tires, Tubes Issued During Past Week

Certificate for new tires and tubes, and retreads were issued to several individuals and firms at the regular weekly meeting of the Midland County Rationing Board. Those receiving these items included Gibbons & Heasley, Inc., Lem Peters, Daniel B. Greene, Mrs. Lowell A. Edwards, William H. Wilson, J. G. Franklin, Jonathan T. Graham, Buck Mastandrea, Alpha E. Lynn, Henry W. Brunson, Floyd A. Early, Claude C. Whitley, Charles Albert Price, Carl D. Glaze, Andy E. Brooks, Edgar Tanner, John M. D. King, Walter C. Lanford, L. A. Absher, Leonard Gibson, Robert E. Booth, Johnnie Blue, W. P. Bodine, and Charles R. Walters. 'Drug-Store Cowboys' Cover Labor Shortage
MATADOR, Texas (AP)—Shortage of cowboys on ranches of Western Texas may make it necessary for business and professional men to volunteer their services so that the much-needed beef may be brought out of the mesquites and shipped to market. District Attorney John Hamilton is starting a movement here to organize the cowboys out of this country until a critical situation demands immediate attention. The Matador Land and Cattle Company with headquarters here, one of the largest ranches in the nation, was reduced to three cowboys last week. Over 200 privately owned ranches are faced with the same problem.

TREE OWNERS

Numerous complaints have been registered about low-hanging branches of trees over sidewalks and streets in the City causing discomfort to the public and creating hazards to health and safety.

This has been brought to our attention more forcibly in recent days due to the increased pedestrian traffic resulting from war restrictions and letter carrier service.

It is expedient that walking be made as safe and pleasant as possible, therefore it is requested that you examine your trees and shrubs along the sidewalks and streets and remove all branches that might interfere with safe and comfortable walking.

The proper pruning and care of trees and shrubs should not damage them but should add to their beauty and attractiveness.

Cooperation of owners and caretakers in effort to remove these objectionable nuisances is urged and will be appreciated, and unless proper response is received it will be necessary to have the work done by experienced men at the owners' expense.

While the expert player is cautious on the defense in opening new suits, this tendency must not be pushed to extremes. Exiting is in order if the high-card situation in the defender's hand and dummy is such that opening new suits may cost a trick, and if there is no apparent need for haste in developing defensive tricks. to make an exploratory lead in a new suit. In today's hand South took his ace of hearts and exited with a heart. The ace of trumps was knocked out, and South exited with a diamond. Declarer took out trumps, forced out the king of clubs and discarded his losing diamond on dummy's fourth club. South's defense might have had some reason had he held the king or queen of diamonds. But with three worthless diamonds, South had no reason to exit with a heart instead of leading a diamond. There was reason for the diamond lead—the general principle of trying to establish defensive tricks, if any, when no risk is involved. This lead followed up with another diamond lead, would have bared West's diamond loser before he could establish the long club and take out trumps to cash it.

War Brings Finding Many New Minerals

Associated Press Staff
War-time mineral sleuths from the University of Texas have located several strategic minerals in Texas' scrub-covered hills. University geologists and WPA crewmen, puncturing Texas' terrain in the biggest mineral-hunt the state ever has seen, have uncovered 10 other minerals of sufficient importance to provide detailed reports from the University's Bureau of Economic Geology. Some of these have definite defense uses. Others must wait for peace-time industry for exploitation. None of the six strategic minerals yet has been uncovered in quantities sufficient for production. They may boost the $714,000,000 which Texans plucked from their rich soil in mineral resources in 1940, Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of

Volunteer Firemen Asked To Volunteer

HILLSBORO (AP) — Volunteer firemen here are taking turns about in sleeping at the fire station. There are eight beds in the fire department's bedroom. Now, after various departures for military service, only three beds are occupied—not enough men to answer a night fire alarm. So some of the volunteer fire-fighters have volunteered to sleep in the fire station at city hall.

Sunnyside Has Farm Labor Bright Side

FLORESVILLE, Texas (AP)—Here is the bright side of the farm-labor situation in Wilson County. The Sunnyside Community, short on hired hands, formed a peanut-threshing cooperative. About 15 peanut growers manned the thresher, a secretary keeping account of the time put in on each farm and the amount and kind of work each grower did. Each member brought his own dinner. A. D. Richardson, chairman of the county agriculture war board, believes at least 30 other communities will follow suit, eliminating the necessity of hiring outside labor to thresh this year's record peanut crop of 45,000 acres.

McGee Explains Values, Use No. 8 Rationing Stamp

Validity date and weight value of War Ration Stamp 8 have been explained by a memorandum from Mark McGee, state director of the Office of Price Administration, to the Midland Ration Board. He explains No. 8 will be valid for the purchase of 5 pounds of sugar any time between this date and October 31.

"The period," said McGee, "is thus terminated at the end of a calendar month, so that if found desirable future ration periods may be set to coincide with the calendar month."

"The stamp value will permit the disposition of stock of five, ten and twenty-five pound packages of sugar now in the hands of refiners, wholesalers and retailers. It will also eliminate temporarily the burden of repackaging into smaller units now assumed by retailers."

"Please contact wholesale and retail grocers associations in your area to enlist their aid in publicizing this to the trade. Also please get all possible newspaper cooperation to avoid confusion among the public."

"Perhaps trade associations will print placards for posting in grocery stores, or some other printed notice."

"A Rationing Guide is being issued to instruct local boards how to issue War Ration Books to consumers whose excess sugar is used up during the period of validity of Stamp Number 8."

University Of Air Picks Footballers

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Seventy former college football players, in training as cadets at the United States Naval Air Station here, were named by Lieut. Marty Karow Wednesday as the nucleus of the team which will represent the "University of the Air" this fall.

The squad, which will include officers and enlisted men attached to the station as well as cadets, reported for the first practice sessions this week in preparation for the opening game with the University of Texas Sept. 19.

Heading the list of stars on the cadet list are two Big Ten Conference greats—George Frank, Minnesota halfback who was with the professional New York Giants last season, and Ed Frutig, Michigan end.

Others who held the spotlight during their college days include Auburn Herron of Indiana, George Hubert of Washington State, Bill Montfort of New Mexico, Ray Rogers of Northwestern and Dick Tripp of Santa Clara.

Lieut. Karow, former backfield coach at Texas A. & M., has been named head mentor of the first NAC eleven.

Plane to Carry 80 Tons of War Material Planned

NEW YORK—Planes are steadily growing larger under the compulsion of war. Already they transport paratroopers, now called skyinfantry. One of the big aviation companies has developed and begun manufacture of a large plastic airplane for transporting freight as well as troops. Another aviation concern has plans for a huge 300-ton plane capable of carrying 80 tons of war material at speeds 25 to 30 times the rate of convoys ploughing the seven seas to distant theatres of war. Such a plane could make at least 25 round trips to one of an ocean freighter. Two of them would equal carrying capacity of an 8000-ton freighter and would cost not much more to build in less time with the marked advantage of quickly transporting troops or war supplies where vitally needed, free of submarine menace and danger of bombing while unloading at port of debarkation.

Picture above shows a 1500 ton plane having carrying capacity of 400 tons and capable of flying the stratosphere at 450 miles per hour for 24 hours without refueling.

Commercial aviation has grown by leaps and bounds since the last war, particularly in past ten years. What can be expected of it after this war? On April 19th of this year Percy E. Bates, chairman of the Cunard Steamship Co., in a statement published in London, pointed out post-war possibilities of serious competition between airlines and transoceanic steamships for passengers. One of the foremost aeronautical engineers engaged in manufacture of wartime planes, Mr. Grover Loening, recently stated that airplanes must replace ocean-going vessels completely, not only for passenger traffic but also for heavy freight. He predicted this would happen immediately after the war.

Jas E. McDevitt, an aviation engineer from the World War, has designed a monster airplane which is all body with no wings; i.e., it is a flying wing ranging from 500 tons to 3000 tons weight and, if desirable, even larger. It is powered by 60,000 horsepower of high-octane gas motors, directly operating the propellers in large wind funnels running full length of the plane. The air is sucked in at high speed through openings at front of flying wing and discharged at end of the tunnels from rear of the plane. Some of the openings at front of flying wing can be seen in above picture. In addition to being 400 feet wide and 210 feet long above 1500 ton plane is 35 feet high in front, tapering down to a knife edge at the rear. So there is plenty of room in the flying wing above the tunnels for both passengers and freight—almost a million cubic feet which is about 1/2 the available space in the largest transoceanic liners.

Monster Plane Contains No Wings
An important feature of this flying wing design is ability of plane to take-off vertically without any preliminary speed-up on a long concrete runway. Also the plane will land vertically without a ramp because the rate of descent is controlled by a series of lifting airfoils or "sky-hooks," that are adjustable to lift or drop the plane at any desired speed, or even hold it stationary in the air. In this respect McDevitt's flying wing will imitate the automobile. Not requiring expensive airfields with long runways, it can proceed direct to any manufacturing plant, land at loading platform, take on its cargo; then fly direct to final destination and discharge its freight without need of railroad or motor truck for final delivery. For deluxe passenger service flying wing can ply between cities direct, loading and discharging passengers from overhead terminals in central locations of each city. Thus vertical ascent and descent of plane by means of sky-hooks will eliminate long jaunt from present airports to travelers' final destination, besides greatly increasing safety of air travel.

Lumber Industry Gets More Tires

FORT WORTH (AP)—A special supplementary allotment of 1,389 tires for logging and lumber trucks in Texas has been granted by the Office of Price Administration in Washington on the eve of the War Production Board's freeze of all softwood lumber to make it available under strict priority control only for essential military and war production uses.

State OPA Director Mark McGee was advised that the additional tires will be available at once.

Most of the tires allowed under the special allotment, will be distributed in 27 lumber-producing Texas counties where logging and sawmill activities is at a wartime peak.

"Virtually 100 per cent of the production from these counties is going into war construction in Texas," McGee said.

Give Nutritious, Less - Expensive Meats New Flavor In These Delicious Recipes

Sauerkraut with spareribs or frankfurters makes a tasty, inexpensive main dish.

By Mrs. Gaylor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer
Economy meat dishes are just as nutritious as the more fancy cuts. And here are two recipes which show that they can be very tasty.

Sauerkraut With Spareribs
Season spareribs with salt and pepper. Brown in a hot skillet. If spareribs have extra fat on them, do not add grease to the skillet. Into a casserole place half the sauerkraut, then half the spareribs, the remainder of the kraut, and lastly the remaining spareribs. Cover. Place in oven at 350 deg. F. and cook for 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

Veal, Lamb or Beef Stew With Dumplings
Veal or lamb breast, shoulder, neck, flank, and shank meat are all good for a stew. Cut from 1 to 2 pounds of meat into fairly small pieces, sprinkle with salt, pepper, and flour. Brown in fat and add a sliced onion. Add water to cover, put on a lid, and cook slowly for 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Add turnips and carrots, or chopped green peppers, and cook until the meat and vegetables are tender. The stew should have plenty of gravy, very slightly thickened. Season.

For dumplings, sift 1 pint of flour with 3-4 teaspoon of salt and 3 to 4 teaspoons of baking powder, work in 2 to 3 tablespoons of fat, and add 1 cup of liquid (water or milk). Drop the dumpling batter by spoonfuls over the stew, cover tightly to hold in the steam, and cook for 15 to 20 minutes, or until the dumplings are done.

MENU
BREAKFAST: Canned grapefruit juice, fried eggs, wholewheat toast, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Cream of potato soup, hard enriched rolls, mixed vegetable salad, molasses cookies, tea, milk.
DINNER: Sauerkraut and spareribs, mashed potatoes, buttered beet greens, rye rolls and butter, baked apples, coffee, milk.

Fires in the United States annually cost about 10,000 human lives.

Grandfalls Youth Now With Flying Dragons In China

MONAHANS—Lieutenant Edward G. Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Butler of Grandfalls, has recently been transferred from his station in Alaska to China where he is now attached to the well known Flying Dragons. News of the transfer came in a letter to his parents.

Lieut. Butler volunteered for service with the Air Forces in 1941, and was commissioned a second lieutenant on May 21 of this year. He went directly into active service following his graduation.

Meeting the Japs possibly won't be anything new to him, because he is thought to have seen service against them while in Alaska.

Sergeant George A. Messier, who was acting head of the Military Police in Midland with the 197th Searchlight Battalion, has written to B. C. Girdley from Australia. Sergeant Messier retired from the Army shortly after his stay here with the 197th, and returned to Midland and worked for a while with the Phillips Electric Company.

He was recalled to the service at the outbreak of the war, and soon afterwards went to Australia. He plans to make Midland his permanent home, he said, and hopes to bring his aged parents were to live when the war is over.

Keep Your Beauty Fresheners Handy For Quick Dates

By Alicia Hart
NEA Service Staff Writer
Those last-minute invitations to country houses near a rail or bus line, or to a cool roof for dancing... what a respite. But, how imperative it is for every girl to have a few last-minute beauty fresheners tucked away in her desk, locker, or dresser table at home.

If your hair gets oily all too quickly after a shampoo, you should keep a container of absorbent cotton within easy reach. Put it between the teeth in the coarse end of your comb or into the bristles of a clean hairbrush, and comb or brush off the oil.

It's surprising how much and how quickly the cotton absorbs the droop-producing oil. Replace the soiled cotton with fresh, and give the hair a final going over. Then, dampen straggling ends slightly, pin them up for just a few minutes while you finish your quick conditioning.

For this purpose you should keep a supply of hairpins, or some of those wonderful old-fashioned kid curlers—the simple strip of kid, you get in the dime store—with your makeup preparations.

When your hair is very dry, simply brush and polish it until it looks clean, fresh, gleaming. For this purpose, it is extremely important to have two hair brushes, so that one always is spic.

New Zealand's Prime Minister Visits U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—New Zealand's prime minister, Peter Fraser, arrived here Wednesday at the invitation of President Roosevelt to spend about ten days in the United States.

Almost his first words were warm praise of the American fighting men—"your men"—in New Zealand and elsewhere in the Southwest Pacific.

Fraser exchanged greetings with Secretary of State Hull, British Ambassador Lord Halifax, New Zealand Minister Walter Nash and other officials who met his plane, then said:

"You may be very certain that your boys are doing their best and that they are on the very best of terms with our people down there."

"We know what a fine performance they delivered on the Solomons and what a fine account they are giving of themselves everywhere."

Civilian Pilot Test Saturday At Odessa

Tests for entry into training courses for civilian pilots for government service will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Odessa high school, and pilots from all of this area have been urged to attend. J. W. Hunt, manager of the Odessa airport, who will head the school, said there are many openings for men 18 to 37 years of age.

Glider pilots, ferrying pilots for service in the United States, and all types of service are needed.

There is an immediate need for typists and stenographers in Washington, D. C., and arrangements have been made to give examinations at the Midland Post Office any evening after 7:30 o'clock. Or, applicants may interview the Tenth District recruiting representative, Mr. Lee, on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a. m. to noon, at the post office.

Government services are reported to have many good positions open for typists and stenographers, and applicants are urged to file their papers as soon as possible.

These reminders may prove helpful, too:

For quick removal of stains on fingers, especially around nails, keep a bottle of peroxide or fresh lemon juice ready. Naturally, you won't forget a bottle of lacquer matching your manicure shade, and sharp scissors for removing a hangnail or piece of jagged cuticle.

If you wear a bow in your hair, perking it up will do "magic" for your appearance. This can be accomplished quickly, too. Just hold the bow (or a hat, for that matter) over steam for a minute or two.

Remember, too, a drop of nail polish just below the garter runner will stop the damage.

Exchange Ship May Make Another Trip
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Hull indicated that arrangements might be made for another trip of the exchange ship Gripsholm to pick up Americans still interned in the Orient.

In reply to a press conference question, Hull said he could make no definite announcement at this time but said that officials were at work on the matter.

Cotton Covers Replace Jute On Cotton Bales
The government has ordered manufacture of 4,000,000 cotton bale coverings, made of cotton, to be made available to growers at $1.10 each. That is the prevailing price on jute covers. With shipping problem practically cutting off jute sources in India, use of cotton for wrapping becomes necessary. Growers will receive a seven-pound gross weight allowance on all bales using the cotton coverings.

1/4 cup finely cut green pepper
1 1/2 tablespoons butter or other shortening
10 1/2 oz. can condensed vegetable soup
1/2 cup Pet Milk

2 1/4 cups diced corned beef, freshly cooked or canned (12-oz. can)
3 slices bread, white or whole wheat
3 ounces sliced American Cheese, 1/4 inch thick

Turn on oven and set at moderately slow (350°F.). Grease a shallow baking dish holding about 5 cups. Cook green pepper until tender in butter. Remove from heat and add vegetable soup and milk. Mix well, then fold in diced corned beef. Put in greased baking dish. Cut bread slices in fourths, cornerwise. Then cut cheese slices to fit the pieces of bread. Put one piece of cheese on each piece of bread. Arrange bread and cheese on top of corned beef mixture. Bake 20 minutes, or until mixture is bubbly hot and cheese melts. Serve at once from the baking dish. Serves 6.

*Boiled or baked ham, hologna, or left-over cooked meat such as roast beef, pork, veal or lamb may be used.
