Soviet Armies Hurl Germans Back

Nazis Fail To Gain At Stalingrad

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press War Editor
The Red Army was reported hurling the Germans back northwest of Stalingrad and beating off two strong assaults southwest of the Volga stronghold which the Nazis boasted would be theirs by Monday.

Held to a standstill through three days of terrific fighting, the Germans were trying desperately to crack the last Russian defenses of Stalingrad. Moscow dispatches pictured the Russian Army as trading blow for blow with the Germans since the defenders could retreat no further and save the steel town of the west bank of the Volga.

The Berlin radio—the same that boasted last Saturday that the fall of Stalingrad could be expected within 48 hours—broadcast a dispatch from Stockholm that street fighting was in progress in the city with the Russians defending it house by house.

The Russian communique declared that "northwest of Stalingrad fierce fighting continues. Our units attacked the enemy and improved their position."

This was the second time in 12 hours that the Russians reported gains in that sector.

Southwest of Stalingrad German tanks pierced the Russian defense but ran into a mortar and machine-gun fire and a swift flank attack (Continued on Page Two)

First Bomber Lost By U. S. In Heavy Raid

LONDON (AP)—The United States Army Air Forces staged their greatest daylight raids on Nazi-occupied France Sunday and by night the RAF smashed at Duisburg, Germany's great inland port at the junction of Ruhr and Rhine Rivers, and elsewhere in the industrial Ruhr.

For the first time in nine daylight raids against the continent, the American squadrons of flying fortresses returned with gaps in their ranks—two of the bombers were missing.

In the succeeding night raids, the British reported eight of their aircraft were missing. A ninth RAF craft was lost in Monday's operations.

Duisburg is a great industrial city, with large metallurgical manufacturing plants; a center for the shipment of coal; and a hub of railway as well as water traffic.

The blow against it and the nearby Ruhr area was the fifth against Germany by the RAF in the first six nights of this month.

The night RAF raid, which the Air Ministry said was carried out by a strong force—meaning hundreds of planes—left tremendous fires which reconnaissance pilots found still raging Monday.

The devastating attack by the night shift was followed Monday by raids upon occupied territory and shipping off the Frisian Islands and in the English Channel.

The German high command communique as the Berlin radio was heard here, admitted damage in several towns, especially Duisburg, but as usual said only that civilians and private homes were harmed.

In Sunday's fighting, the heavily-armed fortresses destroyed five enemy fighters, probably destroyed 13 more and damaged another 25, a communique said.

Other fronts under Gen. MacArthur's command were quiet, but Australians at Milne Bay continued their dangerous task of mopping up remnants of Japanese invasion forces which walked into an ambush there.

Fighter Planes Swoop Bombs On Jap Positions

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia (AP)—Swift Allied fighter planes carrying small bombs swooped down on Japanese positions in the jungles south of Kokoda three times Sunday spraying machine-gun bullets and bomb fragments among enemy units threatening the Allied base at Port Moresby, 60 miles to the west.

Allied ground forces, fighting the Japanese in these jungles of Southeastern New Guinea, have frustrated all their attempts to break through to a pass in the Owen Stanley Mountains Range which would lead them to Port Moresby. No new developments in the ground fighting were reported.

Other fronts under Gen. MacArthur's command were quiet, but Australians at Milne Bay continued their dangerous task of mopping up remnants of Japanese invasion forces which walked into an ambush there.

Eleven States Are Holding Elections During The Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nominees for seven Senate, 55 House and eight governor's seats will be chosen this week at primaries and conventions in 11 states, with greatest interest centered on the outcome of Senatorial contests in Minnesota and Colorado. House races in Washington and Connecticut, and a gubernatorial scrap in Georgia.

Biggest voting of the week will come Tuesday in primaries in seven states—Minnesota, Washington, Colorado, Maryland, Arizona and Vermont. Also, Alaska holds a final election Tuesday to choose territorial officials and to reelect Anthony J. Dimond, Democratic delegate to Congress, who is unopposed.

George's primary comes Wednesday. Delaware and Connecticut Republicans meet the same day in state conventions. On Saturday New Mexico will hold a primary and Connecticut Republicans will conduct district conventions.

Labor Ready To Sacrifice Wage, Says AFL Prexy

OMAHA (AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor declared Monday American labor was willing to make sacrifices entailed in the wage stabilization program President Roosevelt is expected to announce Monday night.

"Knowing the spirit that animates American workers today," Green said in an address prepared for an Omaha Labor Day program, "I haven't the slightest doubt they will accept this sacrifice for their own ultimate good and the nation's welfare."

Further sacrifices were hinted by Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission, who shared the speakers platform with Green.

Rommel Drive Fails, Allied Attack Gains

By The Associated Press.
Hard-punching Allied desert forces have stymied Marshal Erwin Rommel's push toward the Nile Valley which he confidently launched last Monday with the promise, "We will be in Cairo next week, boys," and in rolled back to their starting point original lines.

Reports from the Egyptian desert front indicated that Rommel's immediate threat to the rich valley of the Nile and the road to Suez appeared dissipated, at least for the moment.

Nazi Rolled Back.
After a week of renewed desert war in which Rommel surged forward and then was rolled back by hard Allied land and air blows, there seemed little question that the German commander had attempted a full-strength offensive in the hope of crushing the British Eighth Army augmented by U. S. army tank and air forces.

Allied bomber crews scoffed at Axis broadcasts describing Rommel's maneuver as a "reconnaissance in force." The fliers said they attacked concentrations of Axis motor vehicles—thousands strong, and left the sun-seared wasteland strewn with wrecked tanks and transport vehicles.

Observers at Cairo said these losses had sapped Rommel's striking power so that he would have to reorganize all over again before another thrust in force.

A British communique said that throughout Sunday British mobile forces continued to harass withdrawing Axis forces. Air activity continued, but there was no word of large scale fighting.

Reuters reported in a dispatch from Cairo that German prisoners said Maj. Gen. Von Bismarck, commander of Rommel's 21st Armored Division, and a distant kinsman of Count Otto Von Bismarck, the iron chancellor who molded the German states into the first empire, had been killed in battle.

British naval headquarters at Alexandria announced the recent sinking of seven Axis ships and damaging of five others by British submarines in a heavy toll on the Mediterranean Sea lanes which link Rommel with his supplies and reinforcements.

Demands Legislation For Stabilization Of Inflation Trend

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt demanded Monday that Congress legislate by Oct. 1 to stabilize the cost of living, including farm prices, with a blunt warning that otherwise he would invoke drastic war powers to act himself.

The President's long-awaited message on the inflation problem recalled the seven-point program he presented April 27 to curb rising prices and reproached Congress for inactivity on the two points in its field—"an adequate tax program and a law permitting the fixing of price ceilings on farm products at parity prices."

The other points of the program which did not require congressional action he reported were being carried out by executive action. And he implied a threat to extend his executive action to cover the whole program, unless Congress acted, with the forthright declaration:

"In the event that the Congress should fail to act, and act adequately, I shall accept the responsibility, and I will act."

Congress Must Act
Thus Mr. Roosevelt delayed the promulgation of any executive order to effectuate the program pending the responses of Congress. He promised that as soon as farm prices are stabilized, "wages can and will be stabilized also. This I will do."

The President set October 1 as the deadline for Congress to act because he said "we can not hold the actual cost of food and clothing down to approximately the present level beyond Oct. 1" without some legislation or executive order.

Explaining why he wanted Congress to pass an anti-inflation act by October 1, the President said that "we cannot hold the actual cost of food and clothing down to approximately the present level beyond October 1" and no one could (Continued on Page 2)

Half Of Ship, All Of Cargo Reaches Port
MELBOURNE, Australia. (AP)—A half of a 10,000 ton American ship which foundered and broke up recently off the coast, has arrived at an Australian port after 10 heavy bombers and thousands of tons of oil and other war material were saved in one of the war's most remarkable salvage jobs.

After the ship piled up she broke in two with the covered sections resting 200 feet apart. Two hundred Australian Imperials, who lived aboard the forward section, emptied both sections and then brought the salvageable half to port.

Texas War Workers Taking No Holiday

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Texas' contribution to the nation's war effort continued apace Monday as war production plants and industries in general hummed with activity that on a normal, peace-time Labor Day would find them closed.

With few exceptions, work as usual was the order of the day. Thousands of employees observed the occasion by working at their machines, in many instances contributing their wages to the government's war effort.

Celebrations which in normal times would feature the day were held to a minimum. Some observances are planned for Monday night because day ceremonies would hinder essential production.

EVERY MOTHER KNOWS THIS: It is more blessed to give than to receive.—Acts 20-35.

Must We Have Inflation?

Is inflation inevitable? Undoubtedly. Since we have it already, it would seem much too late to avoid having it.

The daily index of spot market prices, compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for the first week in August, was up 67 per cent—two-thirds—above the August, 1939, level.

The cost of living for July, as computed by the National Industrial Conference Board, was up almost 10 per cent above July of 1941.

The price of manufactured goods, reported by the Alexander Hamilton Institute, last March already was up 24 per cent above August of 1939.

All of that, and much more of similar purport, denotes inflation just like the rising mercury in a thermometer indicates warmth.

But as yet inflation has not become distressing. There are those who make a convincing argument that much of the inflation thus far is not damaging, provided the brakes are put on promptly.

As a result of the depression, prices had fallen so low that the administration deliberately devalued money, in an effort to force inflation. Temporarily the effect was small. Now the war has accomplished just about what Washington tried to do.

Moreover, realistic economists argue that in time of war some measure of inflation is inevitable, and that we should worry only if inflation get out from under control and begins to feed upon itself.

It is not the fact that some inflation could not be avoided, or even the fact that considerable inflation has taken place, that should trouble us now.

The danger, if effective permanent measures are not taken soon enough, is that inflation will go on in a spiral until our economy is upset.

Not only the industrial and commercial economy. The menace is equally to the household and personal economies of every family.

If such a thing happens, the poor will suffer more than the wealthy. Inflation, wages always lag behind prices, and the closer a family comes to a hand-to-mouth existence, the less it can afford to have prices always going up faster than income.

Also, the poorer a family, the closer it must figure its savings against emergencies, and the harder it is hit when the emergencies arrive and disclose that, because of inflation, the savings have become inadequate to buy what they were intended to buy.

Take War In Stride

Only a little while ago sugar warehouse walls were bulging, and there was talk that rationing was too strict, and Coupon Number 7 was released as a sugar bonus order. Now Washington is seeking to allay an alarm that the public hadn't experienced, by promising that the basic half-pound-a-week ration will not be reduced if it possibly can be kept up.

That is the way things go in a war like this. Up in the clouds, then down in the dumps. First Hitler is licked; then we are lost beyond hope of reclamation. There never was the surplus of sugar some of us supposed, and probably there isn't the shortage some of us now fear. We never had a chance of beating Hitler this quickly—and we're far from defeated.

We must learn to take these things in our stride.

Jurisdiction Board

There is real merit in the United Automobile Workers' (CIO) proposal for a national board to handle all jurisdictional disputes among unions. Such an organization, given the necessary authority and support, could do much to eliminate the strike nobody loves.

To achieve results the national board would need to have two firm assurances: First, that no strike would be called in a jurisdictional dispute until the board had been given reasonable opportunity to act. Second, that the board's decisions would be enforced with the full, militant might of the unions and, if necessary, of the government of the United States.

Glass In The Gutter

The man who left glass, nails and similar tire-destroyers in the gutter never could have won a popularity contest among his neighbors. Now, when rubber is more precious than much gold, he invites deserved chastisement.

But more than that, he is opening himself to the justifiable description of war saboteur. For tires have ceased to be matters solely of private concern. They are a major weapon against the enemy.

For patriotism, if not from common decency, let's keep glass out of the gutters and out of the streets, and give our ypoor, thin, irreparable tires a chance.

Pay It Now

Congress is to be congratulated upon the decision not to defer payments to service men's dependents until almost the day before election. Perhaps there was no political significance in the date originally set for the checks to go out. But people do talk and some of the things they said weren't pleasant.

If the legislators thought they were slipping over a fast one by arranging to have the Treasury's reminders of federal thoughtfulness arrive just a familie were leaving for the polls, they were mistaken. The public used to be naive. Its eyes are opened wider now.

Most of us think we could do much better if we only had the opportunity which we don't realize we have.

Before Sgt. Morris could pick up the quarter, out fell $1.05.

which sent them reeling back, the Russians said. A second Nazi onslaught also was reported repulsed.

Hitler's high command advanced a cautiously worded claim of further gains at Stalingrad—but gave no details as to their location or extent.

Nazis Press On For Oil

The German communiqué was devoted largely to a repetition of Sunday night's Berlin claim of the capture of Novorossisk, Black Sea naval base where the Reds in 1941 scuttled their warships rather than surrender them into German hands.

The Russians said sailors of the Red Fleet had joined in the defensive fight on heights around Novorossisk, but did not specify whether the invaders had gained command of the harbor.

The German communiqué said renewed Russian diversionary attacks northwest of the Stalingrad front had been repulsed. No details were given, nor did the communiqué give any additional information on the progress of the drive for the Grozny oil fields in the Caucasus where the high command said Sunday new gains had been made.

Russian accounts said the Germans were maintaining strong pressure down the narrow wedge driven along the Rostov-Baku rail and pipe line to the region of Mozdok, 55 miles from Grozny.

Aggie Land News

By Jack Noyes

Hi Midland!!! Your Aggie Land reporter is back again with a little stuff.

These next two weeks are busy ones for us Aggies. The seniors will be leaving us and will probably be "over there" before long. Out of 46 boys who graduated in the Signal Corps three months ago, 42 have taken that "long ride."

Cannon Cracks

That Aggie twelfth man spirit is already here... Coach Norton is not too enthused over his prospects...

Bama (Hideout Fame) Smith is finishing here next week... Duffy Stanley and partner won the school tennis crown... Joe (The Voice) Haygood is in the basic six of the Singing Cadets... W. W. Wilson, an end of the regional champ Colorado City eleven, led his team to the "fish" volleyball championship. Peyton Spalkley, second all-state center from Ysleta, was the big noise for the losers.

Our Aggie Land Band is on the Fitch Band Wagon September 13... "Jingle, Jangle, Jingle" led the Aggie Land hit parade for seven weeks. Now it is "My Devotion"... A serious problem faces the Aggies. How can they practice once a day, and have a team as good as those practicing twice? Don't forget our boys are in school now... Our season opens September 26 with LSU, but we're betting that Daniels, Zapalac, Sibley, Henderson, et al will be ready... The first home game is with Texas Tech on October 3... And speaking of home games, we have only three this year—Texas Tech, TCU and Arkansas... We are looking for the Corpus Christi Naval Base game to be the roughest. Their roster includes seven former All-Americans, and Marston Karow, former Aggie backfield coach, is the coach... Bill James now lists a sophomore, Ben Stout, as his leading tackle... Come down here a few months and you won't think Midland is crowded. Bryan is getting a new bombardier school.

Well, so long, from—Aggie Land.

give any assurances that costs could be held down after that date. Does Not Mention Board

In contrast to widespread predictions, the President provided no administrative formula for controlling living costs. He made no mention of any all-powerful board, apparently with the thought that Congress could work out the methods for controlling the anti-inflation campaign, or leave it to him to work out later.

The President said he had given "thoughtful consideration" to meeting the inflation problem without further reference to Congress but that he had decided to consult the legislators on the matter.

But he emphasized that he had ample powers to act on his own initiative if he chose to do so. And he added that he could not tell what powers might have to be exercised in order to win the war.

He gave this assurance, however: "The American people can be sure that I will use my powers with a full sense of my responsibility to the constitution and to my country. The American people can also be sure that I shall not hesitate to use every power vested in me to accomplish the defeat of our enemies in any part of the world where our own safety demands such defeat."

AUSTIN (AP)—The bag possession limit on mourning and white-winged doves is listed as 12 on the new 1942-43 state hunting licenses but the actual limits are 10 each day and 10 in possession at one time, the Game Commission cautioned Monday.

Green, calling upon American labor to back religiously its pledge to Roosevelt not to strike for the duration, declared:

"All our liberties, including the right to maintain free and democratic trade unions and to strike for any cause, hang in the balance of this war. Isn't it obvious that labor must stay on the job now in order to preserve for all time the right to strike against injustice?"

Green said the AFL and CIO would renew in a few weeks their conferences toward a settlement of differences. "It is of supreme importance to the national war effort that this dangerous breach be healed," he added.

Lieutenant Harold Alven of Midland Army Flying School and his bride, formerly Miss Wilfred Allard of Lawton, Mich., leave Trinity Episcopal Church after their wedding.

Miss Alline Andrews And Corporal Nickle Were Married Sunday

Miss Alline Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Andrews of Midland, and Corporal Clyde G. Nickle of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, were married Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at the Methodist church by the Rev. Carl W. Clement.

The bride wore a navy blue suit with black accessories to match. Sergeant Dean Hatfield and Miss Lois Terry were the only attendants.

Mrs. Nickle is a Junior in Midland High School and has lived in Midland several years.

Corporal Nickle came to MAFS in January from Ellington Field. Before enlisting for service in July, 1941 he was employed by a Harrisburg newspaper.

After the wedding a group of friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, 420 South Lorraine, for a reception. Refreshments were served to about 40 persons.

Big Increase Special Tax Income For Texas AUSTIN (AP)—State Treasurer Jesse James has announced that tax receipts from cigarettes, beer, liquor, prescriptions, wine and notes increased $2,848,510 during the 1941-42 fiscal year over the previous year.

From Sept. 1, 1941, to Aug. 31, 1942, the state collected $18,671,326 from this source compared to $15,822,815 during the previous state year.

Largest increase was realized from the cigarette tax, which netted $1,571,553 more than in the 1940-41 year.

Dentist Meets Patient In Far Off Australia OLMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Two years ago Dr. Clifford Johnson, Tenino dentist, capped an aching tooth for Clifford Furness, son of Mrs. Agnes Furness.

Yesterday Mrs. Furness received word from her son, now in the Army in Australia, that the cap had come off but had been replaced by the company dentist—Lieut. Clifford Johnson of Tenino.

Feathercuts, Bangs, Pigtales Replace "Flowing Mane" But Stylists Urge Individuality In Coeds' Coiffures

Waveless locks for her who can wear them. Bangs are brushed diagonally from a side part. The locks are shaped to the ears in front. Ends reach nowhere below the curve of the neck to the shoulder, revealing lines of shoulders and avoiding hair untidily broken at collar-line.

Carefree but correct... for a very young little girl at college. This individualized hairstyle looks casual but the locks stay in order. Feathercut-length locks are brushed softly over center forehead, smoothly back on one side, with an escaping curl on the other.

By ALICIA HART NEA Service Staff Writer Smartest new hairfixes for 1942-1943 college girls look careless but correct... sometimes, rather sternly clean-cut... very different from the flowing mane that was merely careless.

One of Fifth Avenue's most original hair stylists suggests the two fashions which are illustrated in the accompanying photographs, for girls of opposite types.

A pretty and petite scholar wears quite short curls. They look casual because one side of the coil differs from the other, but they stay smooth. A tall student with distinguished features chooses shoulder-length hair—shaped to the ears in front, and nary a roll, puff or curl.

The originator consels: above all, individuality. Which strikes me as advice that's particularly pertinent for the campus. There fads are made, and there fads are broken, more swiftly and certainly than almost anywhere else! So smart girls go in for a basic foundation styling by an expert.

Plan Your Coiffure This salon has given personal attention to hundreds during the summer... In fact, has brought in an expert direct from the personal-grooming clinic of an outstanding women's college, to show the girls how to do their hair, and especially how to handle it between visits to the hairdresser. Instruction in "self-service" will be offered to college girls, career women and homemakers... a worthy idea, which is spreading.

of arrangements designed especially for your physical type, choose one, and adapt it to your personality. Any really good stylist will exchange ideas about it with you and will work out a coil for you.

Some outstanding trends seem to be pretty well established. Summer-time surveys show that the majority will wear shorter hair. This is a practical necessity for girls who are learning mechanics and taking pistons apart in volunteer defense activities... and this circumstance creates an atmosphere wherein the unkempt mane, flopping down over the shoulders, looks a little passe.

Much preferred, and still a definitely accepted college fashion, are pigtales. With these, please be neat. Ribbons help to prevent those untidy "turkey-feathers" appearing along the braid an hour or so after hair of uneven lengths is hastily plaited. The ribbons can be braided in the hair, and they make it look thicker as well as clean-cut.

Most girls, the salon says, are trying out bangs. If you should try them and be disappointed in the effect, or tire of it, simply put them into reverse curl above the forehead.

Miss Betty Jo Barton Is Bride Of Sergeant Booker L. McDearmon

Miss Betty Jo Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barton, Magnolia Tank Farm, became the bride of Sgt. Booker Little McDearmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. McDearmon of Trenton, Tenn., Sunday morning in a double ring ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, with the Rev. Vernon Yearby performing the ceremony.

The wedding vows were exchanged in the presence of a few close friends before an improvised altar of ivy and gladiolus.

Bridal music during the ceremony was furnished by Mrs. Dan Best, who played traditional wedding music.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, wore a poudre blue costume suit. Her accessories were of chocolate brown and the hat was trimmed with small blue ostrich feathers. For flowers she wore an orchid corsage, and her only jewelry was a small gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Eva Barton, the bride's sister, served as maid-of-honor and wore a soldier blue wool frock with black accessories. Her other attendant was Miss Betty Johnson of Port Arthur, Texas, who wore a brown crepe dress with green accessories.

Reception Is Held Sgt. Vernon Martin of Camp Bowie was best man.

Mrs. Barton, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue and white ensemble with a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom standing under a wedding bell.

The wedding cake was cut by the bride assisted by the groom. Afterwards Mrs. J. R. Wright presided, assisted by the Misses Barton and Johnson.

The bride is a graduate of Midland High School and attended Baylor University this past year. The bridegroom graduated from the University of Oklahoma.

The couple left immediately after the reception for Tennessee to be guests of the bridegroom's parents. The bride traveled in a tan suit with contrasting accessories of brown.

Intercept Physician Who Uses Tires For Pleasure ST. LOUIS (AP)—Tire rationing officials in Salt Lake City have been notified to intercept a St. Louis physician, who is making a pleasure trip, and confiscate four new rationed tires on his automobile.

Disclosure of the action has been made by Matt Morse, member of the St. Louis Rationing Board, who said the doctor was given a permit for the tires, which were to be used solely in driving to attend his patients.

The name of the physician was withheld by the board.

Washington Appeals For Typists, Stenographers Government offices in Washington are making another call for additional stenographers and typists, the Midland Chamber of Commerce has been informed. McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Seldom does one of the United States contract bridge championship titles go to another country. However, this year the national men's pair championship was won by Robert von Engel, a former Austrian baron who applied for U. S.

citizenship three years ago, and Aaron Goodman of Montreal, Canada.

Here is a demonstration von Engel gives of the precision with which he counts a hand down. On the first trick dummy played low and von Engel (North) won the jack with the queen. The ace of diamonds was forced out and East returned the deuce of hearts to take out dummy's ace. The remaining diamonds were cashed. West discarding the three of clubs and six of spades, while East let go the deuce of spades.

Von Engel's problem now was whether to try the spade finesse for the ninth trick. Nothing could be read from the spade discards, but von Engel decided from the club discard that West was dealt four clubs. If the suit were split 3-3, neither defender would dare let go a club without a signal from his partner, and if East held the club length, he would let go a club rather than a spade. On this reading, von Engel cashed the ace and king of clubs, then led the ten of hearts. As he had expected, East was bailed out of clubs and had to return spades after taking his three heart tricks.

Allied Flyer Returns From New Guinea Jungles

At An Allied Base In Australasia, (AP)—Lieut. Duncan Seffern of Manawa, Wis., pilot of a marauder bomber which ran out of gasoline on a flight from Townsville, Australia, to Port Moresby, New Guinea, has reached this base after tramping through New Guinea jungles for 20 days.

His arrival left only two men missing of the five who were with him, one his navigator and the Vern Haugland, Associated Press war correspondent who went to Australia from Los Angeles.

Seffern said that Haugland was last seen as he listened to instructions on the use of his parachute and then jumped into space 13,000 feet above New Guinea.

That was on Aug. 7. The first crewman to reach Port Moresby struggled in on Aug. 17 and relief parties sent out then found two others.

Old Bills Survive Two Hurricane Blows

PORT ISABEL, Tex., (AP)—When the hurricane which struck Texas a few days ago swerved and missed the lower Rio Grande Valley, Major Ted Hunt fondled his wallet reminiscently.

In the wallet are three of the old, large size bills in one, two and five dollar denominations with which he refuses to part.

During the 1933 hurricane which struck here, Hunt hung up his trousers with the bills in a wallet and a key ring in another pocket. The building was demolished. After the blow, City Marshall Ed Hickman found the bills on the ground about 300 feet away with the key rings on top no sign of the bill fold or trousers.

Hot Foot in New Guinea

The toe end of foot-shaped eastern New Guinea sizzled like a hot foot when allied forces, snapped a trap on the Japs at Milne Bay. More action is due in the Buna-Kokoda-Port Moresby area and elsewhere on this end of the embattled island as U. S. and Australian planes and troops take the offensive.

Scissor Session Is Promised Jitterbugs

WASHINGTON, (AP)—You jitterbugs in the zoot suits with the drape shapes and the juke coats are also in a jam—so jettison the jive and give with the ears while the War Production Board swings out on the down beat.

Hitting the blue note softly, this is it: Male rug-cutters with long coat-tails, baggy knees and chest-high britches are due for a scissors session. And the gales gates with low-slung jackets are slated to meet the same Uncle Sam shears.

Violate Clothing Orders
 Frank Walton, deputy chief of WPB's textile, clothing and leather branch, says these "so-called garments," as he put it, violate the men's and women's clothing simplification orders.

The men's zoot suit is a hepcat's garb and the coat is something sharp. It swirls from knee to ankle length and flaps when the tummy gets peppy. The trousers are ankle-slung and loose at the knees—like Podunk's track team's sweat pants—and rise so high that a gun in the belt could be worn like a shoulder holster.

Waste of Fabric
 The juke coat is a solid set of thread. It's women's jacket, cut long to look like the men's.

Walton says that the "spreading craze" is a waste of fabric, and unpatriotic when "we have a war on our hands that requires saving all the cloth for 'our soldiers and sailors and for necessary civilian clothing."

"We are going to recommend that action be taken against all manufacturers violating these orders, as well as distributors handling these suits and coats," he said.

So that's the tune, and in this peppy, tuckless, cuffless day, it may have a hearty chorus.

Swing those scissors, gator. Quebec province, Canada, produced 332,927 fine ounces of gold during the first four months of 1940.

SERIAL STORY WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

BY RENE RYERSON MART
 COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

BACK TO WORK

CHAPTER XV

SHE could pretend to herself—and nearly succeed in believing—that she was doing matter-of-factly an errand that had to be done. Her month's rent on the Arlington apartment was up, and she had to hand over the key.

But her heart wasn't fooled by this elaborate self-justification. It was singing because she was going to see Hank Holliday again very shortly—and maybe a miracle would happen. Maybe, somehow, fate at last smiling on her, would make it possible for her to go on seeing Hank although her truant month was over.

She went into the apartment that had been her home for three happy weeks, and packed her neat clothes and looked around to see that everything in the apartment was just as it had been when she had rented it. Then she set her bags out in the hall, locked the door, and went down the corridor to Hank Holliday's apartment.

She pressed his doorbell and waited, her blood pounding dizzily in her head. But the door didn't open, and Hank didn't smile at her from the threshold. There was no sound at all from within his apartment.

Enid pressed the bell again with some urgency. The possibility of his not being at home simply hadn't occurred to her. In the silence she heard footsteps shuffling up the back stairs from the basement, and the next moment Jim, the janitor, appeared in the rear of the corridor.

He grinned as he recognized Enid. "Oh, it's you, Miz Sharon. The doctor's not here."

"Oh—" Enid's voice was limp. It meant that she wasn't going to see Hank, at least not tonight, and for a moment she couldn't think beyond the disappointment of that.

Jim came up to her and she handed him the key mechanically. "I'm moving," she explained. "Here's—the apartment key. Will you give it to the doctor?"

"He don't been askin' me where you bin this las' week," Jim volunteered cheerfully. "My father and mother met with an accident," she said absently. "I've been with them."

"Wait a minute," she said briskly, reaching a decision. She delved in her purse, found a memorandum book, tore out a sheet, and began to write. "I'll leave my new address with you, Jim, in case any mail comes here for me."

It was a lame excuse but better than none. "Of course, there wouldn't be any mail for her, she knew that, for none of her friends had this address, but Hank would ask where she had gone and Jim would tell him.

The garrulous Jim breezed on. "It's too bad you're missin' seein' the doctor. He jest left yesterday. Went for a trip with his mother and Miz Adams."

Enid stopped writing. Hank had gone with his mother and—Clare Adams. The beautiful, arrogant, redheaded Clare, the girl he had said his mother wanted him to marry.

She tore the scrap of paper on which she had been writing to bits. How silly she had been, thinking that he might want to see her again—might even go to the bother of looking her up.

"What's the matter, Miz Sharon? That you can't address you don't care?"

"It doesn't matter, Jim. I won't bother you with it. I'd forgotten, the postoffice will forward my mail."

THE nerve-racking clackety-clack of 50 typewriters pounded on Enid's aching head like so many little steel mallets driving into her brain.

She stopped her own machine for a moment and pressed one hand against her forehead. Her skin felt dry and hot. She hated to take another aspirin, she'd taken so many of them during the last few weeks. For her head ached almost continually. And she felt tired, exhausted.

She'd thought at first that it was the reaction from that week-long vigil in the hospital with her father. But it hadn't worn off, and she'd been back at work a month now.

Maybe she was going to be sick. Maybe she'd better see a doctor. At that last thought her lips curled in a bitter little smile.

See a doctor! Yes, if it were the right doctor, that might cure her trouble. She told herself with ironic honesty. But the jibe did not stop the wave of acute longing that swept over her at the thought of Hank Holliday.

And after a moment she raised her head and stared unseeingly at her half-typed letter before her. Why not go to see him? She really was unwell. She'd have a perfectly legitimate excuse for going to his office.

With a flurry of renewed energy she attacked the remaining letters on her desk.

She didn't know what office hours young Dr. Holliday kept, but she did know that many of the surgeons and specialists on Broad street, the town's medical center, were "in" all afternoon.

And luck was almost with her. She had reached the corner opposite the long stucco building where the Holladays, senior and junior, had their offices, when she was delayed momentarily by a traffic light. As she waited for the signal to change she saw two men come out of the entrance of the building across the street and hurry to an automobile waiting at the curb.

Almost instantly Enid recognized the younger of the two men as Hank. She looked eagerly at the automobile as it came across the intersection toward her, but Hank was driving and with his eyes intent on traffic, heavy at that hour, did not see the girl smiling at him from the curb.

And yet, oddly enough, Enid wasn't altogether disappointed. Just seeing him for that brief moment had done something to her.

She'd get off a half hour early the next evening and then she'd catch Hank before he left his office. She'd been awfully silly, she decided, cutting herself off from him the way she had when they lived in the same town, and seeing him was such a simple matter. And probably she had grossly exaggerated the importance of the trip he had taken with his mother and the beautiful Miss Adams.

It was an almost happy girl who boarded the bus when it came. It takes such little things to alter an outlook, a future. Little things like idly reading a newspaper over a man's shoulder while the bus swayed and lurched on its way.

Mom and Pop were already seated at the table eating when she arrived. Enid forced herself to smile.

"Do you mind, Mom, if I don't eat now? I'm so hot and tired."

She lay across the cool-sheeted bed and tried to stop her nervous trembling. It had been a shock seeing Clare Adams' stork standing at her front door that newspaper in the man's hands.

A large picture filling seven columns across the top of the society page and losing in black and white none of the beauty of those chiseled features, the arrogant poise of the lovely head.

"To Wed Doctor," the cutline below it had read.

Enid hadn't seen any more, turning her eyes blindly away, not wanting to see that hateful, triumphant face, not wanting to know the details of the coming wedding.

She tried to bolster herself with pride. She was glad now that she had missed seeing Hank at his office. At least she had been spared the humiliation of having thrown herself at him.

Missions, Buffs Duel For Fourth Place In Series

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's no doubt about three of the teams that will take part in the Texas League Shaughnessy playoffs starting Wednesday — Beaumont, Shreveport and Fort Worth clinched places in that order — but the San Antonio Missions and the Houston Buffs will have to fight it out Monday for fourth place.

Beaumont was assured of finishing first in the regular league season, and Shreveport made certain of second place by splitting a doubleheader with Houston Sunday, winning the opener 6-5 and dropping the second game 5-3. Fort Worth grabbed the third spot because of cancellation of its game with Dallas after five scoreless innings.

Shreveport has two more games scheduled but has a two and one-half game lead over Fort Worth. The Cats are two and one-half games ahead of fourth-place San Antonio and would be a cinch for third even if they lost their two remaining games to Dallas.

The cancellation of San Antonio's two games with Beaumont left the Missions one half game ahead of Houston. The Padres take on Beaumont Monday in the final doubleheader on their schedule, while Houston tries its luck against Fort Worth. Beaumont will have the choice of playing at home.

Shreveport closed its play-off series with Fort Worth on the home ground.

League rules provided for cancellation of games postponed with no opportunity of playing them before the regular season ends.

John Just Had To Play, So Army Chalks Up Game

DENVER (AP) — The second lieutenant, said to the Major he was sorry, sir, but he just wouldn't be kept out of things, so the Western Army All-Stars boasted their first football victory Monday—16-10 over the Chicago Cardinals.

The 2nd Lt. of course, is John Kimbrough, and what he did to the Cardinals Sunday was plenty—two touchdowns, one on a roaring run of 95 yards with a kickoff.

There was a rueful but admiring shadow of a smile on the lean face of Major Wallace Wade, the soldiers' coach. "Kimbrough ought not to have played at all with that sore side of his, but he's a fellow you just can't keep out of the lineup."

Bleacher Fan Gives Pitcher Instructions

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—In a tight Mobile-Jackson playoff game with runners on bases, a bleacher fan held up play while he strode out to pitcher's box to advise the Jackson hurler to throw the next batter "a low one."

Commenting on the incident, Pat Moulton, league press and Mobile Press sports editor, said "Now I've seen everything."

Young Starts Fireworks

Young was the first to endear himself in the hearts of the Cards and all their followers by smashing a grand slam homer which rocked the Dodgers in the opener of a three-game series Saturday.

The Brooks squared the series by taking the first game of Sunday's doubleheader, 6-2, and were leading in the nightcap, 2-1, when Mize came up with two men on base and parked the ball on the roof of the right field stands to give the Polo Grounders the verdict, 4-2.

The Cardinals kept their threat alive by crushing the Cincinnati Reds, 10-2, as Mort Cooper hurled seven-hit ball for his 19th triumph of the season.

Doubleheader Monday
All teams switch opponents for Monday's full slate of holiday double-headers, with Boston promising to furnish its share of the excitement. There the Dodgers move in against the Braves, who have rested their two best pitchers, Jim Tobin and Al Javery, for the occasion.

Hank Gornicki and Luke Hamila collaborated in blanking the Chicago Cubs for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Gornicki tossed a four-hitter to take the opener, 6-0, and Hamila yielded only seven blows for a 5-0 triumph in the afterpiece.

The Braves treated Philadelphia fans to their first triple play in 14 years, but downed the Phils, 13-3 and 7-3, extending the tallenders' losing streak to 11 games.

At Washington, the New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to eight and a half games by walloping the Senators, 11-9 and 15-2, while the second place Boston Red Sox were squeezing past the Philadelphia Athletics 8-7.

The Detroit Tigers blanked the Chicago White Sox, 2-0, on the five-hit pitching of Tommy Bridges.

The Cleveland Indians finally stopped the St. Louis Browns, 6-5, in the second game of their third double bill in three days after the Browns had made it five in a row with a 3-2 decision in the opener.

Johnny Mize, Once-Cardinal, Helps Teammates With Mighty Wallop

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When the St. Louis Cardinals peddled Johnny Mize to the New York Giants last winter they bid goodbye to the man who might have batted them into the National League pennant, but Long John is helping his former buddies all he can from his present post at the Polo Grounds.

Although the Cards are pretty busy, trying to catch the Brooklyn Dodgers, they should take time out for at least a vote of thanks to Mize and another Giant slugger, Babe Young.

Through the courtesy of this pulverizing pair, the Cardinals found themselves only two and a half games behind the league leading Dodgers Monday, with three weeks of play remaining.

Physicians Report New One Day Syphilis Cure

CHICAGO (AP)—The Journal of the American Medical Association has reported that physicians have been trying to develop a quick cure for syphilis, possibly a one-day treatment, but that at present such treatment is "strictly experimental."

It warned in an editorial against raising any false hopes in the minds of the public and stated that no "one-day cure" has yet been perfected.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal, added: "The menace of this disease is so great that no one should delay treatment under the well-established methods in the hope that any one-day cure will soon be forthcoming."

Tight Boots May Mean Death For Fighter Pilots

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Tight boots on a fighter pilot may lead to his death in flight.

This report, one of the new, surprising conditions found in flying which differs from all previous human experience has been made to the Aero Medical Association, an organization of military and civilian physicians specializing in the peculiar medical and physical problems of flying.

The bad place for boots to be tight on a pilot is around the heel calves. This tightness has not the least bad effect on his feelings or his health. But under some circumstances, frequent in war, the leg pressure causes him to breathe about 30 per cent more oxygen than he does without tight boots.

This means unexpectedly fast exhaustion of the oxygen supply in his plane. At high altitudes this can mean death.

Approve Service Sports As Good Moral Builders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wartime continuance of athletic programs in the armed services—including those which pit crack All-Star Army and Navy teams against professional outfits—found general approval Monday in congressional quarters.

A sample survey of several lawmakers showed a majority agreed that sports had proved their value as a morale builder among the troops, and that the revenue raised by some of the games was not to be laughed off lightly.

Lady Autograph Seekers Add To Gable's Troubles

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Clark "plenty tough" but in the opinion of his Pittsburgh room-mate he's proving he can "take it"—despite a daily lineup of feminine autograph seekers.

"They are tramping of moving Gable to another wing of this hotel," Sgt. Hyman Grossman said in a letter from Miami, where he and Gable are at an Air Corps Officer's Candidate School. "The reason is that there are too many entrances near our room. There are loads of women every morning watching us march—looking for Gable."

Grossman wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Grossman, that Gable is "a regular guy and a good soldier."

He's been going through the ropes like all of us and he's not a spring chicken," he said. The heat here is really tough on him."

Alsab Seeks Fourth Win In Washington Park Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Alsab continues his campaign Monday for recognition as the three-year-old champion by seeking his fourth straight victory since recovering from a leg split in the $25,000 Washington Park Handicap.

Although Whirlaway will not be present, having ducked the issue like Shut Out did a week ago when Alsab won the American Derby.

War Insurance Runs Into Record Figure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones has revealed that the war damage corporation has insured property in the United States against enemy attack for between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000.

The corporation, government-owned but cooperating with the private fire insurance companies, already has banked with the treasury approximately $100,000,000 in premiums, and issued about 3,500,000 individual policies. It is easily the largest insurance company in the world, and is still growing rapidly.

U. S. Stops Imports On Mexican Tires

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The national Automobile Association of Mexico has warned filling station and tourist camps it had been informed the United States had prohibited the "importation of Mexican tires and the export of North American tires, whether old, new or retreaded."

Mexico will permit tourists to buy new tires if their old ones become unusable in the country, and has not limited retreading work.

Boston scribes say the Red Sox' Tony Lupien may develop into another Hank Greenberg—because he's always trying to improve his play and because he doesn't try to hit bad balls—when Chick Harbert shot a 66 in the recent Michigan Open golf tournament he had nothing but three and four—and it was his third such card this season.

When Billy Sixty, veteran Milwaukee golfer and bowling writer, was assigned to cover Marquette football this season he tackled the job with plenty of enthusiasm. Phoning Coach Tom Stidham, he Aggies that year, can't play because of their duties as aviation cadets.

A POINT IN QUESTION
Coach Curly Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers likes to tell about the time his club played an exhibition against the St. Louis Gunners. After a touchdown Don Hutson dropped back to boot the extra point but the referee ruled he had missed. The Packers squawked and the ref asked who kicked the ball. "Hutson," some one told him. "You get the point, the official decided. "If Hutson kicked it it went over."
