Allied Bayonets Slow Japanese Drive

Fighting Rages On Mountain Pass Near United Nations Base

By The Associated Press
In the Far Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Headquarters reported Wednesday that Allied troops, often fighting with bayonets, had slowed the Japanese drive up the rocky approaches to "The Gap"—an 8,000-foot mountain pass in the Awen Stanley Range—50 miles east of the United Nations outpost at Port Moresby, New Guinea.

A Headquarters spokesman said the fighting raged about 2,000 feet below "The Gap" on the west side of the range.

Dispatches said Japanese losses were heavy as Allied patrols defended the jungle-bordered trail in fierce hand-to-hand fighting.

A single Australian patrol of 20 men, opposed by 300 Japanese, effectively annihilated the enemy with machine-guns, tommy guns and rifles one Sunday, dispatches said, and the following day another Allied patrol raided a Japanese post with grenades and killed six Japs without loss.

Champ Ropers To Be Here Thursday To Select Calves

Toots Mansfield and Clyde Burk, who meet here Sunday to decide the calf roping championship of the world, will arrive in Midland early Thursday. Leonard Proctor, show chairman, was notified. Proctor and the ropers will make the final selection of calves to be roped, and the ropers will get down to their final practice.

Bob Pickle of the telephone company is again setting up the wiring for the sound equipment, which will be furnished by the Gulf Oil Company Sales Department, as arranged by Fred Girdley. Ray Lackland will operate the sound equipment.

Ticket sales were reported Wednesday noon as showing a great increase, and indications were that there would be a big crowd for the event. Tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce offices, and by committeemen at various business houses downtown.

Burk and Mansfield will visit several of the local business clubs during the week, said Proctor.

One-Time Failure In Ector County Makes Good Well

By FRANK GARDNER
Oil Editor
A "sleeper" on the southeast edge of the South Cowden pool in Ector County has been revived by Richmond Drilling Company in its No. 2 Lyda Mae Johnson.

Originally drilled by Ochiltree & Robinson as the No. 1 Johnson, the well was plugged and abandoned late in May, 1940, after it, apparently, showed sulphur water in the bottom two cores of four cores cut from 4,273 to 4,340 feet, total depth. At that time it was in wildcat territory. However, development in the South Cowden pool gradually brought production closer to the old failure until it eventually was offset to the northwest by a good producer.

Richmond Drilling Company, a Midland firm, took over the well, changed its designation to the No. 2 Johnson and rigged up rotary over the old hole, drilling out to bottom in only three days. The company then cemented 5 1/2-inch casing at 4,150 feet with 150 sacks of sand line measurement. It filled 1,100 feet with oil and was estimated at 30 barrels a day. The well then was given a tamped shot of 540 quarts from 4,336 to 4,475 feet. It cleaned itself after shot and operating at 4,326 feet when cable tools were installed.

Drilling ahead, Richmond logged virtually continuous pay from 4,360 to 4,474 feet, later corrected to 4,480 by sand line measurement. It filled 1,100 feet with oil and was estimated at 30 barrels a day. The well then was given a tamped shot of 540 quarts from 4,336 to 4,475 feet. It cleaned itself after shot and operating at 4,326 feet when cable tools were installed.

Junior Patrolmen Organize To Take Over School Area

A traffic control patrol unit was organized at the Junior High School Tuesday afternoon, with city patrolmen Hamilton Glover and Jack Ellington giving the group its first instruction. The unit will have 14 active and eight reserve members, all to be fully trained. Bobby Drake was elected captain, and Lenard Leftwich, lieutenant.

Following the organization and first lesson, the city patrolmen were hosts to the group at an ice cream feed. The city men will meet daily with the organization, and will gradually turn certain functions of the traffic control over to the students.

Dairymen Called To Plan Delivery Method In County

Plans for organizing a pickup service, to reduce the number of trucks, for all county milk producers will be discussed Thursday night at a special meeting called at the request of the Midland County Tire Rationing Board, A. G. Bohannon, member of the rationing board, and active in all rural activities, will preside at the meeting, which will start at 8:30 o'clock.

The rationing board believes that it can keep a collection truck in adequate tires for a pickup service, and save driving to town for all other trucks in this service. Such a plan will be proposed, and fully discussed, with the aim of giving all milk producers service.

Such a service is now in effect in many Texas counties, and has been declared successful for a number of years in some areas. It is likely that the plan will become practically universal, said I. O. Sturkie, county agent.

Burnett To Speak To Midland Geologists

John W. Burnett, who has just been returned from Tokyo where he was a diplomatic prisoner for several months, will speak Thursday noon to the Midland Geological Society, meeting at the Crawford Hotel, it was announced by W. W. West of the program committee.

Burnett, son of Mrs. J. A. Mascho, will arrive in Midland sometime Wednesday for a visit with members of his family and friends.

Taken into custody along with all members of the diplomatic corps on December 7, Burnett returned to America on the latest ship in the exchange of prisoners with Japan.

School Enrollment 40 Above That Last Year

Farm Labor Ceilings To Get Quick Action In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rupture of United States relations with Vichy loomed again Wednesday on the diplomatic horizon.

This time it was Vichy's protest against American air raids over occupied France, and the United States' sharp rejection of that protest, which revived talk of an imminent break.

The protest delivered personally to the American charge d'affaires in Vichy by Pro-Axis Chief of Government Pierre Laval, was "immediately" rejected, the State Department disclosed Tuesday night, and Laval was notified the bombing of German military plants in France would continue.

Laval protested specifically against recent bombings of Le Havre and Rouen, both in the occupied zone in which he said there were numerous casualties.

A source close to the Vichy government said Wednesday that Washington's rejection of the Vichy protest over the American air raids on German-occupied France had not yet been received officially.

This informant, who insisted that his name not be disclosed, asserted that the bombing of Rouen—the immediate cause of the protest—was "at Stalin's orders."

"The French nation will be duped," he declared, adding that "such raids will only succeed in uniting the indignant French around their legitimate government against their real enemies."

Senate Approves 'Victory' Levy On Small Incomes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee stood committed Wednesday to a minimum of $7,675,000,000 in new taxes—about $1,025,000,000 short of the Treasury's goal—as a result of its vote to adopt a 5 per cent "Victory" levy on all industrial earnings in excess of $624 a year.

In addition, the committee action proposed to segregate $1,100,000,000 in individual income from any form of inflationary spending by channeling it into insurance payments, debt retirement, bond purchases or post war rebates.

With Treasury officials scheduled to report on the possibility of combining this new "Victory" impost with the regular income tax in the new revenue bill, committee members said the net result in any event might be to increase the nation's annual tax yield to more than $25,000,000,000, compared with slightly more than $17,000,000,000 collected under present laws.

As approved by the committee Tuesday, the "Victory" tax would constitute a 5 per cent impost, collected at the source where possible, on all income above $624 a year derived from wages, salaries, interest.

Chairman Brown (D-Mich.) of a Senate subcommittee which has handled previous price-control legislation announced that a comprehensive measure would be introduced in the Senate Thursday and would be taken up by the full banking committee either Friday or Monday.

Brown, declaring both houses should act promptly and simultaneously on the President's request, said:

"While some may feel that he put the proposition rather bluntly by telling us 'you do it or I will,' and by putting a time limit on a rather slow moving Congress, it must be remembered that action is vital and vital now."

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Those war-speeches by President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill impress one as being in the nature of cutting the Allies' twenty-first birthday cake, that is, a signaling that the United Nations are verging on military maturity.

Both declarations displayed a tone of certainty—or so it strikes me—that could only be based on achievements which, although they lag far short of what they ought to be, still are leading surely to victory. Facts warranting such calculation aren't hard to find for those points stand out clearly:

Standout Points

(1) American war production has reached a point where its tremendous weight is making itself felt. Its momentum is increasing steadily, for we are nowhere near our peak. Movement of our troops and equipment abroad pyramids. By implication

Reinforced German Divisions Continue Drive On Stalingrad

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP)—Reinforced German divisions concentrated attacks upon the western defenses of Stalingrad Wednesday in an effort to widen a hard-won wedge and the situation was described here as "particularly complicated," but the Red Army was reported holding fiercely in every sector.

German Field Headquarters asserted in broad terms that tank-led Nazi troops had stormed and captured "dominating heights" in the fortified zone west of Stalingrad after stubborn fighting.

On Stalingrad's southern flank, the Russians said Red Army mortar batteries and riflemen killed 350 Axis troops in beating off four successive assaults supported by massed planes.

Soviet accounts said Axis planes were so thick they were "literally hanging over our front line and bombing our positions," but the Russians warned them out and then charged to drive off the Axis ground forces.

Without editorial comment, Soviet newspapers prominently displayed Prime Minister Churchill's review in which Churchill promised that Britain and the United States would come to Russia's aid "as quickly as possible without regard to losses or sacrifices."

Nor was there any official comment on Churchill's statement that strongly reinforced British armies in Iran and Iraq might eventually support the Russian left flank in the Caucasus, now gravely threatened by Nazi columns driving far down the land bridge to the Middle East.

Slow Down Japs In New Guinea Mountain Pass

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia (AP)—Allied forces have slowed up Japanese troops in the steep and rocky approaches to "The Gap"—a mountain pass 8,000 feet up on the Owen mountain road, 50 miles from the important Allied base at Port Moresby—and Australian troops have practically destroyed 700 Japanese troops in the Milne Bay area of New Guinea, General Douglas MacArthur announced Wednesday.

While General MacArthur's forces were thus tightening their grip on this northern bastion of Australia in the face of determined Japanese infiltration, Allied bombers and torpedo-carrying planes attacked Japanese warships supporting the invaders and probably damaged a destroyer.

Jap Ships Bombed
Two Japanese warships, a cruiser and a destroyer, were discovered Monday near Normanby Island and attacked under poor weather conditions.

Democrats Demand Election Costs Be Reported In Full

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Democrats Wednesday took three roads toward correction of what they branded as abuses, evasions and open violations of the election laws that purport to govern the amount of money a candidate may spend to win office.

The three-way approach, wholeheartedly adopted by Tuesday's biennial state convention, apparently was chosen in an effort to make certain action is taken before another primary is held.

Recognizing that often Texas legislatures do not pay much heed to party platforms when law-making time comes around Tuesday's harmonious session also gave the party leadership itself a stern mandate to look more carefully in the future into campaign spending by candidates and their friends.

To Check All Costs
"It is noted," said the platform plank on the subject, "that some candidates report the amounts expended for political time on the radio while others do not and the law should be positive in requiring all candidates to list radio, as well as other expenses incident to a campaign, whether this expense is paid by the candidate or paid by others with his knowledge and consent."

Extensive use of radio is relatively a new thing in Texas politics. It antedates the present election laws, and its value was demonstrated forcibly for the first time when W. Lee O'Daniel's microphone political

Fats And Figures

One of the simplest war aids asked by Uncle Sam—one which does not require even the slightest self-sacrifice—is the saving of fats and greases.

The response thus far has been good, but not good enough. Perhaps that is because saving waste grease is so very simple that its importance has not been realized.

To make up a shortage caused by Japanese aggression, and then to supply the added needs brought by war, American housewives must save and take to their meat markets—for forwarding to Uncle Sam—half a billion pounds of waste fats this year.

That is only a fourth of what has been wasted in the past. But since the war was half gone before the campaign began, it is about half of what could have been saved if every housewife co-operated to the limit. Some will shirk. Therefore the rest must contribute enough more to make up for the laggards.

Grease and fats produce glycerine, and this is made into nitroglycerine and other explosives. Glycerine is needed also as a float for ships' compasses and in the mechanisms which throw depth charges overboard at Axis submarines.

A one-pound coffee can will hold two pounds of grease. That is enough to make the explosive needed for five anti-tank shells.

In the past we got almost a billion pounds a year from Far Eastern sources cut off by the Japs—coconut oil and copra from the Philippines, palm oil from the Dutch East Indies and Malaya, tung oil from China, perilla oil from Manchuria and Japan.

We can replace part of this loss, and get something toward the billion additional pounds required by war, from Latin American sources, if we can spare cargo space in ships. The more we get from home, the more shipping we can use directly against the Axis.

So out of American frying pans and broilers—from the drippings of steaks and chops, beef and pork and lamb roasts, chickens and turkeys and ducks and geese—must come fat for glycerine for explosives for shells and bombs and depth charges to win this war.

Pour off the drippings through a strainer into a tin can. When the lard or vegetable fat gets too old to fry doughnuts or potatoes, dump it into the can.

Around the first of the week, when the butcher isn't too busy, take him anything you have from a pound up. He will pay the market price, and send the fat to the munition makers.

Alien Workers

Reasonable relaxation of federal regulations, to permit the employment of aliens in non-secret war production, is a step in the right direction. Not only is it humane, but also it is practical, since it makes available hundreds of thousands of needed workers.

In wartime there is a tendency to beware of aliens. This surely is natural, if "alien" describes a person of foreign birth who has come to this country, partaken of its bounty, and lacked enough gratitude to assume citizenship.

But we cannot forget that among those who did become naturalized were only a few who did it only for subversive purposes—that among those not naturalized are many who have suffered greatly for their devotion to the principles for which we fight. It isn't sound to draw the conclusion that all aliens are untrustworthy and all citizens are democrats.

BOMBERS BLAST FRANKFURT

By The Associated Press
In the Western air war, waves of RAF bombers—perhaps 250 strong—attacked the Rhineland port city of Frankfurt in their sixth night raid on Germany out of eight nights this month.

Great fires were left in the city, the British Air Ministry reported. Seven RAF bombers were acknowledged missing.

Other RAF planes attacked targets elsewhere in the Rhineland, and DNB, the official German news agency, said "material damage was caused in residential districts of some towns."

Attack British Points
DNB said German raiders attacked Great Yarmouth and an airfield near Bedford, but the British declared the attacks were light and caused little damage.

On the Egyptian battlefield, British headquarters reported a continued lull in ground fighting while RAF planes attacked Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's long-drawn supply lines on the Salim-Matruh road, destroying trucks, fuel tank cars and staff cars.

Three German planes were reported shot down in air fights over the El Alamein front, 30 miles west of Alexandria, where Rommel was reported reforming his battered armored forces.

Reject Protest
Meanwhile, Vichy quarters said Washington's blunt rejection of the Vichy protest over American air raids on Nazi-occupied France had not yet been received officially.

These quarters asserted that the bombing of Rouen by U. S. Army flying fortresses—the immediate cause of the protest—was executed "at Stalin's orders."

In Washington, the State Department disclosed that the protest, made personally by France's pro-German Premier Pierre Laval, was "immediately" rejected. Moreover, Laval was told in forthright words that "military plants operated by or for Germany and other German military properties in France will be bombed at every opportunity in the future."

Air Forces Enlistments Now Will Be Taken At Midland, Flying School

Young men of West Texas and especially in the Permian Basin area surrounding Midland Army Flying School, between the ages of 18 and 25 years inclusive, who want to become bombardiers, pilots or navigators in the U. S. Army Air Forces, can now apply directly to the bombardier school, Lieut. Phillip A. Perkins, recorder for the Cadet Examining Board, announced Wednesday.

Midland Army Flying School is one of 55 units in the Eighth Corps Area where Aviation Cadet Examining Boards are located.

Three Ways To Enlist
Lieutenant Perkins pointed out three ways qualified young men can enlist for Aviation Cadet training: 1—enlist as privates in the Army Air Corps (unassigned) and serve there until their turns come for cadet training; 2—enlist in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve and wait until they are ordered to report for Aviation Cadet Training; 3—college men (and high school seniors about to enter college), age 18-26 years inclusive, may enlist in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve and continue their schooling, provided they maintain satisfactory scholastic records. Upon graduation or withdrawal from college, men in this category will be assigned to active duty at training centers as facilities become available.

Applications for appointment and training as Aviation Cadets must be made on Air Department forms. They may be obtained from Lieut. Perkins at Midland Army Flying School. All applications must be accompanied by properly authenticated birth certificates, or other evidence of date of birth and citizenship, and letters of recommendation from three reputable citizens, to whom the applicant is known. Consent to enlistment of applicants under 21 years of age, must be certified by parents or guardians.

Deferred Basis Plan
If enlistment on a deferred basis is sought, because of enrollment in college, a statement must be included from the proper college official to the effect that the applicant is, on the date of application, an undergraduate in good standing of the school concerned.

Each applicant must appear in person before an Aviation Cadet Examining Board. At Midland Army Flying School the board consists of Lieutenants Perkins, Recorder, and Lieut. Col. John K. Fencu, President, and Lieut. Col. John D. Ryan, Capt. Paul H. Rankin, and Lieut. Raymond A. Filjar.

Ground School, Too
Candidates for commissions as ground officers in the Army Air Forces also may apply at Midland Army Flying School. College engineering is required. Training in five fields is included.

According to Lieutenant Perkins, screening examinations for Aviation Cadets are given at MAPS approximately every two weeks, or more often depending on the number of applications received.

toward that end by the deadline he mentioned.

Work On Details
Although details of the bill remained to be worked out, Brown sketched a broad program which pointed toward controlling industrial wages as well as the levels for farm crops.

Agreeing with the President that floors were as desirable as ceilings for farm prices, the Michigan senator said they probably would be included in the program. The proposed bill would call for repeal of Section 3 of the Price Control Act, which provides that price ceilings on farm products may not be set at less than 110 per cent of parity, or the market price as of last Oct. 1, last Dec. 15, or the average price from 1919 to 1929, whichever is highest. (Parity is a level calculated to give the farmer income equivalent to that in a past favorable period, in most cases 1909-14.)

Brown indicated that the measure probably would "authorize" the Chief Executive to control wages, but added that the authorization might be turned into a directive before the bill was enacted. Whether wage floors as well as ceilings would be established remained to be decided.

Kill Jap Apeice
General MacArthur told United States troops in the field Wednesday that all he asked of them in action was that they kill one Japanese apeice.

The General talked at length to officers on the fighting qualities of the enemy they will meet eventually and counseled them to remember Napoleon's admonition that a soldier must never surrender except when he is unable to deliver any stroke against his enemy.

MacArthur described the Japanese soldier as a hard fighter who fought courageously and intelligently and who gave no quarter and asked no quarter.

Yearby Is Lions Club Speaker

The new and popular "game" of "Trying To Build Somehow a Post-War World" was discussed by the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church, in an address to members of the Midland Lions Club at Hotel Scharbauer Wednesday. He was introduced by Claude O. Crane.

"We must first think of winning a peace and establishing a lasting justice," Yearby said.

"We are thinking too much of post-war planning and are doing too much wishful thinking of the prosperity and happiness which we hope will follow the war. We need to prepare ourselves for a shock, because out of war always has come depression, sorrow and want."

Must Forget Luxuries

Yearby stated if we are fighting only to save our luxuries, then we are whipped to begin with. He said there are some things more important than the Twentieth Century luxuries which all Americans enjoy in peace time.

Announcements of the world championship calf roping to be held here Sunday were made by Leonard Proctor, chairman of the rodeo committee of Midland Fair, Inc., and by Bill Collyns. The club voted to extend invitation to Gene Autry to attend the attraction as a guest of the club.

Dr. J. Dow Scot was elected to membership.

Croatian Tamburitza Music Event Thursday

Mrs. Alma Thomas announces the Croatian Tamburitza Ensemble will appear in the Midland High School Auditorium at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

In Jugo-Slavia it is the custom for families to assemble and furnish their own music and entertainment. For many years Charles Elias, Sr., and his family, who are to appear on Thursday's program, played together the music they so dearly loved. Later this family migrated to America. Here their music was found to be so beautiful and novel and their long years of playing together had produced such perfection of ensemble playing, that they have persuaded to enter the professional field.

The company includes Charles Elias, Jr., director, and Martha and Anne Elias. All are accomplished musicians on the tamburitza as well as other instruments, and are graduates of music colleges.

The Thursday program includes, besides the Jugo-Slav numbers, selections from well known composers. Clad in their native costumes, these spirited musicians form a striking picture and present a program of charm.

Designer Offers His ABC Of Fall Fashions

By MARGUERITE YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Writer
NEW YORK. — Mainbocher, who used to be just Chicago's gift to Paris dressmaking but who now dresses the WAVES, has made some astonishing new Autumn 1942 clothes out of the ABC's of a practical American wardrobe—like this:

A—Twin sweaters. Mainbocher decks them heavily with braid, or metal embroidery, unites them with a long skirt or even a short one, and sends them out for evening.

B—Skirts and jackets, two-for-one. Each is made to go with at least two others, sometimes several. It gets to be real fashion black-magic. The designer takes a slight, short black wool skirt, gives it a couple of sweaters, one black and the other gold, then he adds one short tweed boxcoat for an afternoon ensemble that is very haughty because the coat is spectacularly embroidered with golden, metal half-moons... then he changes the same coat into the top of a gala evening suit by subbing a long black skirt for the short one.

C—"One good black dress"—the basic-dress idea that some supposed perished last year, now is risen with glorifying trifles where-with it can become "the" dress for a big night.

BASIC-DRESS IDEA

Mainbocher demonstrated at the press preview of the collection, by sending out the long black dinner dress in the company of two maids and a tray. The model looked as if she were out for the merest "little evening," quiet and dignified. The dress was a perfectly plain, straight crepe one, sleeveless, shoulders straight and shirred. Buckled around her waist was a narrow belt, delicately embroidered in gold and apricot, and she wore apricot-colored gloves and a tiny black head-gress.

The maids changed the model's gloves to a taffeta pair of the same color. The belt was supplanted by an apricot-colored taffeta one, to which was attached a front peplum. And once again a change of matching peplum and gloves turned the dress' character; pink and green lame accessories suggested deliberate elegance. Then, instead of a peplum, a diaphanous net overskirt with alternating vertical panels of black and electric blue, was tied on, a demure bow in back. Sheer romance!

Finally, over the black dress a brilliant red long-sleeved velvet jacket was worn. It was high-necked, smooth to the waistline, and there was a red peplum... which made the model seem to be a warm, confident, confidence-giving sort of diner-outter.

Finance Officers Make Sure Army Is A Paying Proposition

By ROBERT RUARK
WASHINGTON — Nobody ever loved a boss who doesn't pay off on schedule, no matter how good the excuse. That's why the Army sends a finance section along with every unit, no matter how small.

Wherever the boys may be fighting—from Bataan to Batevia, in jungle or mountain—the eagle screams on schedule. What's more, the pay is in local money, at the best exchange possible. During the final days of Bataan, the finance section was one of the last groups to be disrupted.

Under Army's present system, it takes only about 20 men to handle the financial headaches of 15,000. The word "headache" is used advisedly. Looking after the fiscal welfare of men on active duty on foreign terrain is no picnic.

The finance officer for a unit takes the full rap on cash procurement for men in the field. Through him funnel all the monetary arrangements for housing, feeding and transportation, in addition to paydays and allotments. His section, generally, is a sort of traveling counting-house, consisting of pay and allowance divisions, commercial voucher department, accounting branch, administration (check-writing) and cashier's department for the payment of individual cash.

Stories about the endless, fatiguing payday queues in the last war don't apply to the present system, named for small groups of men, it's over in a jiffy. Class A agents collect the cash from finance headquarters and account for actual distribution in a very short time.

Doughboy Gets Paid

The finance section's creed, on foreign duty, is that the men will get full pay or a portion thereof in any area. If a soldier's in a spot where just a few pieces of silver will keep him happy, he can leave most of his salary in the finance section's keeping.

If he's leaving this country on a transport, and is flat busted, the finance section will give him enough money to keep him solvent during the journey, for such ship-board essentials as canteen supplies and crap-games.

When he arrives at an Australian port, say, finance takes over any extra money he might have and turns it into local legal tender. Often rates of exchange can be obtained to give the soldier a little the best of it. In Ireland, for instance, soldiers could obtain a pound for $4.03 1/2, instead of the regular $4.11 on common exchange.

The Treasury Department has done a yeoman job of simplifying Army finances abroad. Red tape has been slashed viciously, and foreign banks (in the silver standard countries) have been designated as local depositories with the result that all banking facilities can be used just as in America. This kind of foreign checking prevents circulation of U. S. Treasury checks abroad.

Members of the finance section on active duty don't lead any sort of cloistered existence. The soldier with the soldiers; same chores, same grub, same quarters. While they're not generally told to go out and capture machine gun nests or something similar, they do stick close enough to action to be required to wear a pistol.

Prospective members of the Finance field forces get their basic training today at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, with an advanced course

HELP CLEAR LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE LINES FOR WAR CALLS

In four minutes firing that machine gun will use enough metal for a mile and a half of telephone wire.

Since today's need is to shoot more and talk less, we're not able to get new telephone wire except for lines that are essential somehow to the war effort.

That means that telephone equipment now on hand must take care of each day's heavy load of long distance calls.

So... to promote more shooting... will you volunteer to do less talking, please? Don't call faraway cities or centers of war industry unless you must. And if you must, please keep your calls short as possible. It's part of the big push to win the war. Thank you!

Please give war calls the right of way by not placing unnecessary calls to...

After North cashed the king of spades, he held four trumps and two losing spades, while Mrs. Sobel (West) held four trumps and two hearts. North led the eight of trumps and Mrs. Sobel won with the ten. She returned the jack of trumps, which went to the queen. North laid down the king on it, to avoid being thrown in and forced to lead hearts. Thus the declarer had to lose two spade tricks.

Meat Ration Will Be Ample, Report Says

CHICAGO (AP)—Americans will have as much or more meat, per person, under proposed government rationing than they had through most of the depression, but not as much as during the last war.

This was shown by an analysis of meat trade statistics.

Government authorities hope to permit average civilian consumption of 2 1/2 pounds per person each week after allowing for the large requirements of the Armed Forces at home and abroad, as well as exports to the United Nations. Soldiers and sailors now eat more than double that amount.

There were a total of 3079 grade crossing-motor vehicle accidents in the United States during 1939.

Shell Develops New Type Of Oil For Navy

A recent outgrowth of unusual war needs of the United States Navy has been the call for a radically new type of marine turbine oil which combines powerful rust preventive properties with superior oxidation stability. This new oil has been developed after several years of scientific research by Shell Oil Company, which is at the present time supplier to the Navy with contracts totalling several million gallons. Meeting the Navy's latest, stringent specifications, the new product helps insure safe operation under adverse conditions.

The new turbine oil, which will eventually be supplied to all United States battleships, cruisers, aircraft carriers and destroyers equipped with modern turbines, was subjected to severe tests by Navy engineers. The oil, in addition to being used by the Navy, is at present being used in many merchant marine ships and tankers along the coastline and in convoy service.

Santa Fe Wreck Slows Panhandle Schedules

LUBBOCK (AP)—Sixteen cars of a freight train bound west plunged into a cut early Monday four miles west of here when the engine broke a rain-weakened trestle on the Lubbock-Clovis line of the Santa Fe railroad.

The engine got safely across the trestle and no one was injured. While a work train repairs damage to the line, traffic is being routed over an Amarillo cut-off line to Clovis, N. M.

Landlord Lends Helping Hand For Sailor Tenant

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Federal Rent Director John A. Arvin received 16,000 requests from San Diego landlords who want more rent. He granted the change requested by No. 16,001—who wrote:

"The legal maximum rent on my property is $35 a month. My tenant is a Navy man in the lower pay brackets and $25 is all he can afford to pay. And I am satisfied with the 25..."

Credits of 25 per cent of the tax, or a maximum of $500, could be accumulated by single persons for payments they had made on life insurance, debts, incurred before Jan. 1, 1942, or government bond purchases. The remainder of the unused credit would be represented in non-negotiable, non-interest bearing government bonds they could cash after the war.

Married persons could claim similar credits up to 40 per cent of the tax, a maximum of $1,000, with 2 per cent, or a maximum of $100, allowed for each dependent.

Wood was charged with circulating literature teaching syndicalism and advocating violent methods of changing governmental forms. The other three were accused of membership in the Communist Party, which the prosecution represented as advocating such changes.

The prosecutions followed a raid on an Oklahoma City bookstore in which a dozen persons were detained and thousands of pieces of literature were seized.

A decision of the appeal is not expected for months.

U. S. Fighter Planes Mistaken For Nazis'

WASHINGTON—When the first North American Mustang combat plane crossed the channel from England and appeared over Europe, the Nazis didn't fire at it. The plane, so the story goes, flew around over the German positions unmolested and daring some of the German planes to come up and give it a battle. But nothing happened.

Finally the pilot dived down and out loose with a few bursts from his machine guns on an exposed German ground position. That brought action. Nazi anti-aircraft opened up and gave this lone pilot everything they had. But he got away all right, and returned to his English base, considerably shot up, but safe nevertheless.

A short time later, when other Mustangs were being put through their trial flights over England, much to the test pilots' surprise the British anti-aircraft batteries opened up on the new and unfamiliar planes, sending them scurrying for cover.

It was from that experience that the R. A. F. figured out why their first Mustang flight over occupied France had been unable to stir up any air opposition.

The trouble was simply that the Mustang, known in the United States as the P-51, looks so much like the German ME-109 that it takes an expert to tell 'em apart when the planes are in the air, observed in silhouette or in such light conditions that identifying markings can't be distinguished easily. The Mustang in profile appears to have the same ME-109 squared wing tips, the same tail surface, it is powered by a single in-line engine, and is about the same size.

technique was a big factor in his first surprising political victory in 1938. In the past primary, radio was used widely by virtually all candidates.

Two election-practice reform recommendations voiced by the convention were directed to the legislature and one to the party executive committee.

Party Chiefs To Act
 Thus, if the legislature fails to act on this double-barreled hint, the executive committee still stands instructed to make the move itself strictly as a party policy.

In the first suggestion, the 48th Legislature was asked to "give close study to a revision of the election laws and provide more specifically for their enforcement, and that more definite provisions be made for a listing of all expenditures with the secretary of state, whether incurred directly by the candidate or in his behalf and with his knowledge."

Virtually the same specifications were made in the second action a resolution by Tom DeBerry, member of the board of control, and directed to the executive committee of the party.

Another resolution on the same subject was also addressed to the legislature.

Ask Joint Action
 This document, by Senator Karl Lovelady of Meridian, went further and asked the legislature to name a joint committee to investigate any future election irregularity, and again recommended tightening of the election laws to require stricter reporting of campaign spending.

The convention's entire effort seemed centered on this topic, although by resolution and platform plank the Democrats made more than a score of recommendations. The session was characterized by remarkable unity; it functioned smoothly and apparently in line with the wishes of the party's new titular leader, Governor Coke Stevenson.

The convention went through the formal motions of certifying nominees: It named George A. Butler of Houston as executive committee chairman, re-elected Mrs. H. H. Winert of Seguin as co-chairman, and selected Charles E. Simons, Austin newspaperman as secretary.

An anticipated floor fight on the controversial liquor question failed to materialize. A resolution favoring prohibition of beer and liquor sales in areas 10-miles around army camps was dropped like a hot stick by the committee on resolutions and platform.

BY RENE RYERSON MART

DREAM COME TRUE

CHAPTER XVII

IT happened so simply, like most accidents.

The bus seemed to crawl on its way downtown that morning. Enid glanced at her watch again if she got to the station early enough she and Tom could have breakfast together in the station restaurant—and then she'd tell him she was willing to marry him.

And then, four blocks from Enid's destination, the bus hit an automobile. It was a minor collision, but Enid knew there would be time consumed in argument, and taking the names of witnesses. She slipped off the bus and started to walk.

At the first intersection she waited until the line of waiting cars passed and then, disregarding the light, started across. She didn't see the car coming around the corner until it was almost upon her. She threw up her arm to shield her face.

Enid opened her eyes and moved and a pain pierced her side. She caught her breath and whimpered and a white-uniformed nurse came into her range of vision.

"What—what happened—where am I?"

"You were hit by a car," the nurse explained, "but you're going to be all right. You've got a couple of broken ribs. Don't worry now."

Enid digested this bit of news slowly as full consciousness came back and memory fitted pieces of the accident together. She remembered—now—the car, the screaming brakes. She had been hurrying, and oh, yes—Tom.

"What time is it?" she asked excitedly.

"Ten o'clock."

"You mean 10 in the morning—oh!" She had missed him. Tom was gone.

"You mustn't get excited now," the nurse continued, laying a restraining hand on Enid's forehead. "There's just one thing—we got your address from your purse and we've tried to call your home, but no one answers. Will you tell us how to reach your folks?"

"My parents are on their way to California," Enid said slowly, making up her mind as she spoke. "But, you mustn't try to reach them, I—you said I wasn't badly hurt."

Grace Dingline came straight to the hospital from work that evening. Enid explained again that she didn't want her parents to know anything about her accident.

"Well, then, you must let me reach the objectives of his mammoth assault on the Caucasus and Middle East. He has achieved much, but still that magnificent Red line remains unbroken, although it has had to pull back and it has sagged. Another Russian Winter.

With the fall rains already falling, every day that the Bolsheviks keep Hitler out of his Garden of Eden brings nearer the hell of winter which soon will clamp down again on the unhappy armies of the man who would be tyrant over the world.

And it's almost axiomatic that if the Fuehrer doesn't get his hands on the resources, and the strategic bases, of the Caucasus and Middle East this fall, his hide surely will be nailed on the old barn door. His waning resources won't permit him to duplicate this great offensive again come another spring.

All this gives the Allies something concrete to go on with. So what next? Well, it means that we must swing definitely into the offensive. The birthday cake has been cut. And both President Roosevelt and Premier Churchill promised action.

From now on it must be bullets and not words.

(3) We not only have been holding the Japs, but have assumed the initiative with splendid success in several sectors.

(4) The blockade of Europe still holds tight—one of the greatest of the Allied assets—and the Axis strength is on the down-grade, due to lack of resources of all kinds. Hitler's war industries are slipping.

(5) Intensification of the American and British bombing of Germany is raising havoc with Hitler's factories and transport. There's no question now about Allied superiority in the air over Europe.

(6) Thus far Hitler has failed to do what I can for you," Grace said.

Enid thanked her. "There's really nothing to be done. Unless—if it isn't too much bother, you would stop at my house once in a while and bring me my mail."

"I'll be glad to," Grace said, and in accordance with that promise, Saturday afternoon she brought in Enid's first accumulation of letters.

ENID sorted them quickly, her heart quickening when she saw Tom's handwriting on one of the envelopes. Unopened she slipped it under her pillow, reluctant to read it in Grace's presence. And it was with a surprising eagerness that she drew it out later.

Curiously enough Tom said nothing about her failure to see him the morning he left. If he had been disappointed, he had gotten over it. "I'll write and tell him what happened, now that I am better," Enid thought.

So absorbed was Enid in her rather bitter thoughts that she paid little attention when a nurse bustled in and got her ready to go to the X-ray room, saying they were going to take some more pictures—"just a routine checkup to be sure that everything is all right."

It wasn't until after the X-rays had been taken, and Enid lay on the wheel cart waiting to be taken back down to her room that something the hospital doctor was saying to the nurse penetrated her lethargy.

She lay awake all night, the words "spine" and "specialist," repeating themselves with growing horror in her mind. If her back was injured it might mean that she would be a cripple for life.

FOR the first time in her hospital stay, she was glad to see the night nurse come in at 6. She had always thought the early hospital face-washing ritual was absurd. Now it was a welcome release from the prison of the night and her own thoughts. And after her face had been washed and her pillows rearranged she fell asleep from sheer exhaustion.

"The voices were hazy when she first heard them. First Dr. Rutter's: 'Please wake her, nurse. Dr. Holliday wants to make an examination.'"

And then that other voice with a strange catch in it, "Enid—Enid Sharon."

Enid turned her head. It couldn't be. Of course not. She was dreaming or delirious.

Hank sent Dr. Rutter away, saying he'd consult with him later.

"Oh, Hank, darling—" It was some moments before she could say anything more, for somehow his mouth got tangled up with hers. At last she pressed her hands against his face, pushed it away.

"But, Hank—you don't want a cripple."

"Who said anything about a cripple? I've looked at the X-rays. There's nothing wrong with your back. We'll tape you up and in a couple of weeks you'll be as good as new. You'd better hurry about it, too, unless you want to go to your own wedding on crutches."

Enid's mind seemed to run in a rut. "Oh, Hank, darling . . ." was all she could find to say.

THE END

He held Enid's hand, pretending to take her pulse, and fooling no one, not even the nurse who, with an amused smile, slipped quietly out of the room.

"Why did you run away?" he asked reproachfully.

"I didn't run away," Enid's lips trembled. "My month's rent was up—remember I only rented the apartment for a month."

She made a helpless gesture with her free hand. "I—I didn't think it would matter to you. The janitor said you were away with your mother—and Clare, I mean Miss Adams."

"Well—"

Enid closed her eyes against the nearness of his face. "I forgot—to congratulate you."

"On your marriage?"

"His hand closed firmly on hers. 'Say, what are you raving about?'"

"I stumbled over the words. 'I saw her picture in the paper, the announcement of your engagement—'"

"Suddenly Hank began to laugh, a long, loud, ringing laugh. 'All right,' he said. 'Clare's married—but not to me. Wherever did you get the idea?'"

Texas Leaguers Set For Finals, Schedule Fixed

By The Associated Press
Righthanders will be used by all teams Wednesday in opening games of the Texas League Shaughnessy Play-Off.

Beaumont meets San Antonio and Shreveport clashes with Fort Worth. At Beaumont, the league-leading Exporters will call on Charley Fuchs, with a won and lost record of 11 and 4, to meet the challenge of San Antonio's battling Missions. San Antonio, which finished in fourth place, will send big John Whitehead, former White Sox and St. Louis Browns pitcher, against the siege guns of the blasting Exporters. Whitehead won 10 games and lost 3, being handicapped by illness part of the time.

At Shreveport it will be either Doyle Lade or Floyd Speer, with Fort Worth relying on burly Hank Oana, the Hawaiian, who became the league pitching sensation when he shifted from the outfield to the box in June.

Lade won 18 and lost 7 and Speer captured 17 while dropping 9 while Oana shows a record of 16 victories against five defeats.

Beaumont and Shreveport were slight favorites to win their seven-game series and meet in the finals for the league championship.

The teams play two games at Beaumont and Shreveport, three at San Antonio and Fort Worth for three, then return to Beaumont and Shreveport if more games are needed.

A survey has shown that 14,000,000 of the 16,500,000 inhabitants of Mexico are either full-blooded Indians or have part Indian blood.

"They told me I was a lucky so-and-so," replied the outfielder.

Army All-Stars Favored In Go With Detroiters

DETROIT (AP)—Major Wallace Wade, never overly optimistic, says his Western Army All-Stars are definitely not a great team, but most observers believe they are good enough to whip the Detroit Lions Wednesday night and seize the edge in the charity series with National Football League clubs.

Wade said he would stick pretty much to the lineup that started Sunday's triumph at Denver over the Chicago Cardinals, which matched an earlier defeat to the Washington Redskins at Los Angeles, and then added:

"This isn't a great team, you know, and never will be. Why? It seems to me that football is secondary to these boys, just as it should be."

With Big John Kimbrough in a key assignment, the Soldiers will attempt to run over the Detroiters, who will depend largely on an aerial attack. Both clubs seemingly have that payoff punch, and that also has paid off for both sides. A sellout of 24,000 seats at University of Detroit Stadium is assured under favorable weather conditions. Net proceeds are earmarked for Army Emergency Relief.

To team with Kimbrough, who has scored his club's entire total of three touchdowns so far, Wade has a former Texas Aggies teammate, Marion Pugh, and two mid-westerners, Herman Rohrig of Nebraska and Don Scott of Ohio State.

War Wounds End Athletic Careers For Two Germans
NEW YORK (AP)—Twice within a week United States sports followers have heard of war injuries terminating athletic careers of Germans widely known in this country.

The Berlin radio Tuesday announced Max Schmeling, once the world heavyweight boxing champion, never would enter the ring because of wounds suffered in the battle of Crete where he landed as a member of the Nazi para-troopers.

Last week Walter L. Pate, non-playing captain of the United States' last pre-war Davis Cup team, told friends at the National Tennis tourney he had received word from a reliable source that Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, member of Germany's Davis Cup squad, had lost both feet.

Every mail call found a large crowd in his vicinity. A reporter got wind of it. Private Weinberger said it was true—he receives letters from Hedy Lamar—a student at Cornell University.

Gashouse Gang Still Confident, Say Will Whittle Down That Dodger Lead

By The Associated Press
Take it direct from Billy (The Kid) Southworth, the Brooklyn Dodgers don't look any different to his St. Louis Cardinals than any other club in the National League.

Now this is not to imply that the Phillies resemble the Dodgers—or even a reasonable facsimile thereof. But as he led his roving Redbirds into their final full scale invasion of the East Wednesday—an invasion that the Cards still confidently expect will wind up with the National League pennant—Billy the Kid came right out with his battle strategy—"We play 'em as we meet 'em, game by game."

He stayed with this theory, even though the Buns boasted a gaudy three-game bulge on the Cardinals as a result of Ed Head's four-hit whitewash job to give the Dodgers a 4-0 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday. The Cardinals couldn't do a thing to stop the Brooklyn from picking up that half-a-game, simply because the schedule gave them the day off.

"But we're still confident, and we're still in the fight," Southworth insisted. "We play this single game with the Giants Wednesday. Then we move into Brooklyn for those two games Friday and Saturday. And then we have the Phillies and Braves after that."

This was the only battle on the National League calendar, while over in the American League three games were run off, chief of which saw the Washington Senators nosing out the Boston Red Sox, 15 to 11. A second game had to be called at the end of four innings so both teams could catch a train.

The setback sank the second place Sox 9 1/2 games behind the idle New York Yankees and left them with only 15 to play.

The St. Louis Browns put a firmer grab on the American League's third place by whipping the Detroit Tigers 4-1.

The Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox were slated for a doubleheader, but young Ray Poat's seven-hit twirling whipped the Sox 10-0 in the opener, the second game had to be called off.

Bulldogs Huff And Puff But Must Bear Down For Their First Game Just Two Weeks Away
The Midland High School Bulldogs came back to the locker room huffing and puffing Tuesday night after their first scrimmage session of the season. But that was just another way of saying that Coach Gene McCollum is "bearing down" to get his boys back into shape.

According to Coach McCollum, it's not any too soon, either. The Bulldogs first football tussle of the 1942 season is just two weeks off. And they go up against the Brownfield eleven, one of the stronger Class A outfits in the Panhandle section last year.

With but six lettermen back this season, Coach McCollum has been busy trying his boys out in different positions in an effort to find a clicking combination.

Since war industries and the armed services have taken many boys of high school age, the Bulldogs, as well as other teams, will be using boys who are ordinarily considered Sophomore and Junior class material.

Boys reporting during the past week for the Bulldog squad were Bill Richards, Ivan Hall, Marshall Whitmire, Red Roy, Jimmy Watson, Junior Bird, Charles Kelley, H. G. Bedford, L. C. Netherland, Jack Taylor, Ralph Vertrees, Monty Mayfield, Jack Dyson, J. T. Robinson, Buddy Davidson, John Guy McMillen, Corbie Friday, James Moore, and Billy Joe Stickney.

Those who reported Tuesday night for the first time are Mal Kiewald, Jerry Hudson, Marvin Hoekendorf, Copper Daugherty, Bill Rayburn, John Mertz, Jimmy Edwards, J. E. Binyon, Hubert Drake, Ike Fitzgerald and Ula Tisdale.

Doyle DeArman will be the student manager for the team this season.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.,
New World Sports Writer

WIDE WORLD SPORTS
Conn fracas looks about like a money-making natural from here. Because the World Series will be bringing sports fans East and if they want something to do with their time after that is over, three first-class football games are on tap here Saturday before the Oct. 12 scrap to keep them around. P. S. We pick Louis to win, figuring Army life will hurt Conn's speed more than Joe's punch.

Pooling Their Resources
The Mississippi U. football squad, known for its Hapes, Kinard, Castle and Brewer brother combinations, comes up this season with five Poole boys from Gloster, Miss. Ray and Barney, both ends, are brothers of Buster Poole, Ole Miss star in 1937 and more recently with the New York Giants. Trying for the same jobs are brothers Flemm and Phillip, cousins of Buster. Ray and Barney. Oliver, a tackle, is merely a cousin to all the others. Folks, that ain't a Poole, that's an ocean.

Lonnie Eggleston, the Oklahoma Aggies ace, drops a hint that he's been approached to play with an all-star team for an Army benefit in Chicago.

Sportsmention
When J. Willard Ridings, the Texas Christian U. tub-thumper, watches the Horned Frogs' opener against UCLA at Los Angeles Sept. 25, it will be the 148th consecutive game he has seen the team play. To complete that record, J. Willard has traveled 65,000 miles in 13 seasons—which is a lot of riding. Dr. Sam Morris, the West Virginia football team's physician, is a training camp casualty. He slipped on a flarestone and busted an arm. And after Mike Ryan, Idaho's veteran track coach, had spent a few days at the St. Mary's pre-flight school he felt so lively he went out to do a bit of running. After three laps he pulled a tendon. And Mike had only spent years telling boys how to avoid such mishaps.

When Rogers Hornsby declared himself out of the "pennant fund" Fort Worth fans raised to reward the players for making the Texas League playoffs, the fans got together and staged a "Hornsby Night" with special gifts for the manager.

Buff's Shortstop Will Bolster Cardinals Drive
HOUSTON (AP)—Joffre Cross, who hit .290 as a shortstop with the Houston Buffs in the Texas League this season, will bolster the St. Louis Cardinals' infield in their drive for a National League pennant.

Cross left here Tuesday for New York where he will join the Red Birds. Marty Marion, regular Card shortstop, has been forced to retire twice recently due to an injury.

That Extra Something!

... You can spot it every time

LIKE "winning a letter", keeping out in front of the others takes an extra something. Coca-Cola has it, —in taste... in quality... in refreshment.

The finished art that comes from 57 years of practice goes into the making of Coca-Cola. A special blend of flavor-essences merges all the ingredients of Coca-Cola into a unique, original taste of its own.

Everybody recognizes this clean, exciting quality taste in Coca-Cola. There are many ways to quench your thirst, but only Coca-Cola refreshes like Coca-Cola. Contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing... the real thing... "a single thing coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

The best is always the better buy!

With war, there's less Coca-Cola. So Coca-Cola, first choice, sells out first—sometimes may not be in the red cooler. Worth waiting for... those times when "The 'Coke's' in".
