Americans Spray Hot Lead On Jap Base In Surprise Attack

By John H. Wiggins
WASHINGTON. (AP) — Persistently belting Japanese invaders throughout the vast Pacific war zone, the Allied offensive left surprised enemy forces in the Solomon Islands Friday with eight less aircraft and five damaged ships including a heavy cruiser.

The latest of the recently initiated attacks which already have forced the Japanese back virtually to their starting point in New Guinea.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Navy announced Friday that Army bombers had dropped 15 tons of bombs on the enemy base at Kiska in the Aleutians, last Tuesday, starting fires, damaging a cargo ship and strafing the radio station.

The Navy also disclosed the loss, in the Atlantic, of the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Muskeget which has been overdue for some time.

Royal Canadian Mounties Add Chapter To Arctic With First West-East Boat Crossing

SYDNEY, N. S. (AP)—A new chapter was added to Arctic history Friday by eight hardy Royal Canadian mounted policemen who completed the first West-to-East voyage across the top of America in 28 months after their 80-ton auxiliary schooner set out from Vancouver.

The bearded adventurers sailed quietly into this port Thursday to accomplish in reverse the feat which explorers of a bygone era had accomplished unsuccessfully in their search for the northwest passage—short cut to the fabled riches of the Orient.

Only once in history has the East-to-West passage been sailed—by Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, and five other men who crossed the North Atlantic in 1903

Midland Trained Bombardier Gets High U.S. Award

Lieut. Robert O. Scheible, 23, who completed training in Class 42-7 at the Midland AAF Bombardier School in May, has been awarded the distinguished flying cross for exceptional bravery in aerial combat over Britain and Europe, it was learned here Friday.

News of the award, the first of its kind known to have been made to a graduate of this world's largest bombardier college, was contained in a letter from Lieut. Scheible's classmate, Lieut. Robert P. Brubaker, who is also stationed in Britain.

Shot Down Nazi Plane
Lieut. Scheible won the award for his part in the action in which a Nazi plane was shot down under difficult circumstances.

Lieut. Brubaker reported that members of the first class graduated from the big Midland school are now on duty in Britain, while members of the second class, 42-7, are serving in Palestine and Australia.

Lieut. Scheible's photograph with an account of his award, will be hung in the bombardier school's "Victory Target" beside that of Lieut. Carlus Turner who recently was commended for sinking a Nazi submarine in the Gulf of Mexico.

Lieut. Scheible's home is in Akron, Ohio, where his father, William G. Scheible, is a gasket manufacturer. He attended Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, prior to volunteering for aviation cadet training.

Willkie Gets Taste Of Jap Hospitality

WITH THE CHINESE ARMY IN NORTH CHINA. (AP) — Wendell Willkie, touring the Yellow River front, got a taste of real danger when four Japanese shells exploded Thursday near the railway on which he and his party were traveling by hand-car.

Earlier Willkie missed by only a few hours a heavy Japanese air raid on Loyang, during which enemy planes machine-gunned a blue railway coach similar to the special car in which he made part of his trip to the front.

As it happened, Willkie was 130 miles away in the front-line trenches.

FDR Asks For Doubling Of Security Tax

By Jack Bell
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt notified Congress Friday that the doubling of social security taxes next January 1 would be "not only in accord with the necessities of the social security system itself, but at the same time would contribute to the non-inflationary financing of rapidly mounting war expenditures."

In a letter to Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance Committee, the President expressed opposition to a committee-approved amendment to the new revenue bill which would freeze payroll taxes at their present levels of 1 per cent on employers and a like amount on employees for 1943.

New Social Security Act
The President said that so soon as Congress had disposed of the pending tax bill, he was planning to submit a comprehensive program to enlarge the system to take in many workers not now covered, such as farm laborers and domestics.

"Castner's Cutthroats" Blaze Andreanof Trail

By William L. Worden
HEADQUARTERS, Alaska Defense Command. (AP) — A rough, tough band of Alaskan scouts, who can go farther on a chunk of dried salmon than most men can go on full rations, drew praise Friday as the heroic trail blazers for the landing of American forces on one of the Andreanof Islands in the Aleutians.

The scouts are home now, getting a bit of relaxation by climbing mountains or shooting mountain goats, so their story can be told.

They are known officially as the combat intelligence platoon of the Alaska Defense Command, but the

Nazis Change Biggest U. S. Plane Force Their Tactics Hits France

By Roged D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor.
Soviet Headquarters reported Friday that Russian troops had broken into German trenches northwest of Stalingrad and beat off four night attacks inside the Volga metropolis, while the Nazis captured two streets of an industrial suburb at a sacrifice of 2,000 dead.

Soviet reports said German invasion columns sweeping south of Stalingrad had advanced into the U.S.S.R. autonomous area of Kalmyck, which lies along the lower Volga to the Caspian Sea.

It was not immediately clear whether this meant that the Nazis, disheartened by the slaughter and lack of success at Stalingrad, were now turning south.

Latest reports said the fighting at Stalingrad was still intense. Dispatches said the violence of the 46-day-old German assault was rising, despite a Nazi broadcast Thursday night indicating that Axis shock troops would be withdrawn.

5000-Mile Routes Bring Aid Overland to China

It's five times as far from the docks to Chungking on China's new overland aid routes as it was on the old Burma road from Rangoon. Anticipating Jap seizure of the latter link, China began working on an alternate route to the railroad from Calcutta and Bombay, but this mountainous road is not yet complete. Until it is, or until the Burma Road is retaken, war aid for China may go only by air or by the 5000-mile routes from Karachi or Iran shown on map.

Nelson Sees Limit To Army Because Of U. S. War Industries' Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifteen farm state Senators petitioned Selective Service Director Hershey Friday to freeze dairy and livestock workers on the farms for the next three months to prevent "irreparable injury" to food production while a general manpower control program is worked out.

"We are convinced that specific action to halt the continuing drain of manpower from our livestock and dairy farms cannot be delayed longer without seriously impairing the whole war effort," they declared in a letter circulated by Senators Ball (R-Minn) and Brown (D-Mich).

Conoco Starting Delaware Test In Northwest Pecos

By FRANK GARDNER
Oil Editor.
Northwestern Pecos County is in line for a 5,600-foot Delaware test to be drilled by Continental Oil Company as it No. 1 J. H. Claybrook. The wildcat is five-eighths of a mile southeast of the Reeves County line and 22 miles northwest of Fort Stockton.

It will be drilled with rotary, and preliminary operations are scheduled to be started Sunday. Location was staked 1,900 feet from the south and 660 from the east line of section 2, block 50, township 9, T. & F. survey.

Thirteen miles north and slightly west of Fort Stockton, Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Alan Robertson is reported showing some gas, bottomed at 6,561 feet in Delaware sand. Amount of gas was not divulged.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Ada C. Price, scheduled to test the Ordovician 29 miles southeast of Fort Stockton in Pecos, is drilling past 4,960 feet in lime.

time was rapidly approaching when the government must decide—at what point the limit will be reached in building up the armed forces.

"Until we reach this limit," Nelson said, "it is a question of constant adjustment. Women are coming into war industries and other new sources of manpower are being tapped but sometime we will reach the bottom of the barrel."

There is an "outside limit," he said, on how large an army can be equipped and supplied.

Specifically, the 15 senators asked General Hershey to direct all local Selective Service boards to defer for at least 90 days all men engaged in either dairy or livestock production on farms, "such deferment to be cancelled immediately and the men ordered to report for induction if they leave their farm production jobs."

Lieut. Jay Miles Receives His Wings

SAN ANTONIO. — Lieutenant James F. (Jay) Miles of Midland won his silver wings in the Army Air Forces at Kelly Field Friday.

Every section of the United States, Latin America and even Shantung, China, was represented on the huge class roster, the ninth group to graduate since Pearl Harbor.

Miles graduated from Midland High School and the University of Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Miles. He received his primary training at Uvalde, Texas, and his basic at Goddard Field.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Miles and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Starr have gone to San Antonio to attend graduation exercises at Kelly Field Friday in which J. F. (Jay) Miles will receive his wings in the Army Air Forces.

Not The V For Victory

Casting Aspersions

After a two-week, 8754-mile big circle tour of the United States, President Roosevelt informed a press conference that the people of the country are ahead of Washington in their understanding of war needs and in their willingness to respond.

The President has confirmed what newspaper writers have been insisting for months. There has not been the slightest doubt in our mind, since a few days after Pearl Harbor, that the people were ahead of Washington and gaining fast.

Newspapers have been certain of this, among other reasons, because in the aggregate they have spent millions of dollars to send skilled observers around the country and to exchange the results of their research.

They have gone to grass-roots for their information, seven days a week and 24 hours a day.

Roosevelt found three bad spots in our war effort — Congress, the Press and the Radio, and certain minor members of his own entourage who, he says, have been talking too much.

Congress, he says, is bad because Congress insists upon investigating the conduct of the war. It shouldn't, he thinks, because congressmen don't know enough. They should mind their own business.

What is Congress' business? The Constitution says it is to legislate. How can Congress legislate intelligently unless it inquires into those matters requiring legislation?

The people are severely critical of Congress. But not on the ground that it seeks to educate itself. Quite the contrary.

The press and the radio, too, write and talk of things of which they know nothing, says Roosevelt. To which we reply that the press, at least, spares no effort to get all the facts—although, often, by request of censorship, much that it knows is not printed.

Undoubtedly congressmen, reporters, columnists and administrators do talk out of turn, at times. So does the President, whose words, by virtue of his position, carry the most weight of all.

The public has been ahead of Congress, and much of the time ahead of the White House. The press has reported that fact regularly.

We hope there will be great progress in toughening up, now that Roosevelt knows that he need not wait for public sentiment to catch up.

Buy War Bonds And Savings Stamps—Scrap Harvest

The National Scrap Harvest, which is the official name of the War Production Board's drive for farm scrap, is now in full swing from coast to coast. The quota is "all there is in the entire country."

You may ask — just what is back of all this furor about scrap? Why all the rush? Won't it be just as useful next year as it is now?

The answer is that industry is forging the largest and most powerful fighting force Uncle Sam has ever had. This force is to be the finest and best equipped on the face of the globe . . . and it must be equipped now. To do this an abundance of all the necessary materials used in the production of war weapons is necessary.

Rubber and metal are the two most essential materials needed, since our supply of rubber has been almost entirely cut off and steel is made of, roughly 50 per cent virgin iron and 50 per cent scrap.

It's going to take a tremendous amount of scrap iron to keep those hungry furnaces going this winter — cold months when many roads will be blocked and scrap more difficult to collect. So gather it now! If you see huge piles of scrap in the junk dealers' yards don't jump to the conclusion that there is plenty. That scrap is moving all the time . . . flowing in a steady stream to the mills where it is needed.

Remember, those charged with the heavy responsibility of seeing that our armed forces are adequately equipped are banking on America coming through with a bumper scrap crop.

drawn and that the city would be pounded into surrender by heavy siege guns and dive bombers.

Several versions of the Berlin broadcast were heard by Allied listening-posts, all hinting that the battered siege armies would be withdrawn to a safe distance.

"The strategic objective at Stalingrad has already been achieved," one version declared.

But Soviet accounts declared the Germans were intensifying their frantic efforts to blast through Stalingrad's defenses to the Volga.

Reds Advance On Flank

On the vital salient northwest of Stalingrad, where Marshal Semenov Timoshenko's relief offensive has been striking along a 40-mile front between the Volga and the Don rivers, the Russians announced a fresh penetration of Nazi fortifications.

Other major developments: Invasion armor—Thousands of Canadian soldiers were officially disclosed to have arrived in the British Isles in another big convoy which crossed the Atlantic without incident for eventual service in an Allied counter offensive.

Nazi demands—Stockholm reports Friday said Hitler impatient over Danish apathy toward the Nazi cause, had asked King Christian's government to recruit at least 30,000 "volunteers" to fight on the Soviet front.

More Norwegians Executed

Unconfirmed reports said Germany had also demanded that Denmark declare war on Russia, hand over all Danish merchant ships to the Reich and increase her contribution of skilled labor and material to the Nazi war effort.

German firing-squads were reported to have executed nine more Norwegians at Trondheim Thursday, making a three-day total of 34 put to death since Nazi authorities decreed a state of civil siege in the Trondheim area Tuesday.

Want A Good Fight

Late in August, after months of training, the scouts set out across Bering sea for their island destination.

Nobody then was sure whether the Japanese might have a large force on the island or a small one ready to call in the bombers from Kiska. Their boats couldn't even enter the uncharted and tricky harbor. High seas washed over the decks.

The scouts' main complaint is that they haven't yet had a chance to get into a fight. It's a fact that upon their return, members of the platoon refused the comfort of warm barracks, preferring tents on a nearby beach despite the autumn weather.

per cent victory tax into a vehicle for compulsory savings was predicted Friday by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) as leaders urged acceptance of the levy to speed Senate approval of the new revenue bill.

May Need Sales Levy

The victory tax and other features of the program drew the fire meanwhile of President Philip Murray of the CIO who declared that the revenue measure was developing into an "outrageous caricature of the carefully planned treasury bill."

Taft said he believed that even if the victory tax won final approval by Congress it likely would be converted later into a withholding device to force loans to the government to aid in financing the war.

If the victory tax is made a compulsory savings device, Taft said it probably would be necessary to incorporate into the tax structure a retail sales levy of 5 or 10 per cent to provide the direct taxes the treasury needs.

"Pretty stupid propaganda, I'd say. Pretty silly, even for the Nazis," says I.

"Say! That's true, ain't it?" Ed began to grin.

"Of course it's true—and reasonable people can't help but see it. So instead of makin' trouble—like they hope—they're just confirmin' what the Secretary of War and the other Army leaders believe—that among the other good wholesome things a fighting man can get at the canteen in camp—America should include beer."

Fred Tubbs Jr. Is Composer Of New Patriotic Song

MINTER FIELD, Bakersfield, Calif.—Private Fred G. Tubbs, Jr., a member of the special service staff at Minter Field, has just finished writing a patriotic song which he will present to the air field.

"It's the Red and the White and the Blue" is the title of the tune, described by the composer as a "simple cadence song that can be sung while marching." Tubbs, who came to Minter Field recently from the Air Forces pre-flight school at Santa Ana, Calif., is author of "Cradle of the Crew," which has been adopted as the official song of that air base.

Although not a professional, he has written more than 100 songs and tunes in the last few years. Formerly of San Antonio, he was employed by the Humble Pipeline Company at Freer, Texas, before he joined the Air Forces.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Tubbs, Sr., reside in Midland, Texas.

Freedom Background Means Much In Battle

SAN ANTONIO, (AP)—United States fliers, as representatives of a free republic, have an indefinable something that their enemies don't have and never will possess, Secretary of War Stimson told aviation cadets at Randolph Field Thursday.

"You must go into battle to fight with the skill and courage of the Axis, but not with their cruelty and brutality," he said. "When you go into battle you will be equipped with the finest equipment and material an enlightened government can provide you, but in addition to this you must be indomitably brave."

Approximately 50 per cent of industrial output during the last several months is estimated to be for direct or indirect war purposes, the Department of Commerce says.

Location May Be Inconvenient, Hours Long; But Work Is Vital

Typical of the vital war jobs now begging for women is Mary Moscatelli's. Mary used to be a hairdresser. When she learned that a New York diamond tool company needed help to turn out cutting and shaping stones for essential machine tools, she applied for the job. She got it and did so well that now she teaches and supervises hundreds of young women in the plant. She's shown here, at right, with her sister and fellow worker, Connie.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority
In the TAPEL formula for squeezes, the E stands for "entry" and the L for "lead." Taken together, these indicate that the squeezing hand must be able to lead a card that forces a significant discard from an opponent, and then must have a master card entry to the opposite hand. In other words, if declarer wins the squeezing trick, dummy must have a quick entry for use afterward, else the threat cards in dummy will not be available.

Today's hand shows the development of a difficult squeeze. West overtook the opening lead with the spade king, cashed the spade ten, then led the jack of diamonds. North covered and East won. The four of diamonds came back and North's other honor was forced out. The contract now looked hopeless. The only chance seemed to be to win three club tricks. One idea would be to cash the club ace and ruff the second round, hoping to drop the king doubleton. But then dummy would have no re-entry after the trumps were pulled, for one of dummy's trumps must be used for the losing spade.

Declarer went for the only remaining chance. He ruffed out the spade with the king of trumps, cashed the queen of trumps, led the three-spot and won with the ten. This way of regaining entry was forced by the necessity of saving the seven of clubs for later re-entry to dummy. North cashed all his trumps, saving the three clubs in dummy. As he had hoped, East was caught with the only diamond stopper and the king of clubs. Having to strip to three cards, he either had to throw the diamond or leave the club king once guarded. As he tried the latter, one club finesse gave dummy the last three tricks.

Legal Notices 68
Lille region, the big industrial area of Northern France.
This blow came only 48 hours after the United States Army command had warned French workers through a BBC broadcast to move away from the vicinity of French war factories which were helping the Germans.
Observers on the coast—who saw sky-filling squadrons over a wide area—reported that one bomber force alone numbered more than 100 planes.
A bright sun shone and visibility was excellent over the Dover Straits as the United Nations planes shuttled to and fro throughout Friday morning.
Large Bomber Groups
The operation was first observed early when squadrons of Spitfires returned from the direction of Calais and Cape Gris Nez on the French side. Large formations of fighters soon were fanning out toward the French and Belgian coasts.
Then the largest formation of United States bombers yet seen in Britain, with a big escort of Spitfires and Hurricanes, dived over the channel past Ramsgate. Still later, glistening United States fighters, bound back from the direction of Dieppe, dived out of the sun toward Folkestone.
Canadian fighter squadrons were understood to have formed part of the fortress' convoy.

SERIAL STORY OF BRIGHTNESS GONE

BY HOLLY WATTERSON
END OF LONELINESS
CHAPTER XXVI
CANDACE was shaking. In the chart room she gave Peter's name to the operator, listened while the loud-speaker in the corridor picked it up. "Dr. Frazier, Dr. Frazier." And then Peter's own voice on the phone, steady, reassuring.
"Peter," she said, careless of the given name, of possible listeners, "I don't know what I've done. She knows. Hurry."
"I'll be right there," he said quietly. "Call your relief, tell her to come on at once. You wait for me in the chart room."
She put in a call for the relief nurse, made a notation on 721's chart, "Hypo., 3:03," the last of Peter's orders for Faith she had carried out.
She went to the window, stood looking blindly into the courtyard. Down there at the bottom of the well made by the walls of the court was Emergency, where she and Peter had last worked. She had always been a good nurse, an efficient one, there was nothing with which to reproach herself on that score.
But if she hadn't let herself get so warped, so bitter, she might have been more human too, she might even have let herself get some fun out of those years. Might have had some patience, an occasional kindly word for the boys, overworked, overwrought, on the ambulance assignment who liked to slip in there occasionally for a word of cheer.
She thought of a proverb, read or heard somewhere, "Life is a mirror from which we see reflected back our own faces." Well, life had certainly shown her herself, reflected in Faith Hartshorne; with only this difference, that while it was Faith's body it was in her own case her mind that had now just how hard, wrapped up in her own bitterness as she was, how selfish she had been. Peter had done right to reproach her.
Peter. . . In her breast was a dull, heavy ache. Because he had loved her as a child, because he had understood, Peter had had patience with her for a long time. But even he had given out finally. It was true that he still looked her up for an occasional case; but that was only because he knew her to be a good nurse. Or at least, he had thought her a good nurse up until now.
Now she wondered if Peter would even think of her as a good nurse. What she had just done to Faith Hartshorne might not even give her claim to that title any longer.
Certainly, Faith was near death, and what she had just told her— that Martin had never loved her— was as severe a shock as could possibly have been given.
What if Faith died because of that shock? Even Peter could not forgive that, if it happened. Candace was sick with apprehension.
"Get your wrap. You're going home."
She whirled, in swift alarm. "Is she—?"
"She's all right," Peter said. He looked grimly triumphant and she had an instant's suspicion that he had planned all this, that he had wished it so. "She's asked for toast and tea, after refusing food for days, she sent for her husband and I've just left on the beginning of a very touching reunion between them. She's going to be all right," he repeated. "It's you. You looked bushed."
She felt "bushed." She felt limp and nerveless, something without volition.
She followed him docilely to his car, sat quietly while he wrapped a rug about her legs. He didn't drive straight to her house, but out along the Parkway, on the road to the lake.
He was being kind to her. Probably he was grateful. Because, incredible as it would seem after what had happened, Mrs. Eustis would now get well, all her friends would say how wonderful Dr. Frazier was, to have snatched her from the jaws of death that way, and would come to him. That would mean that he could get married. "And they lived happily ever after—" Mrs. Eustis and her husband, too, would make it up, they too would live "happily ever after." Only she would be alone.
She needn't be, there was always Duffy. He hadn't missed out on a single chance, these past hectic days, to prove his devotion; and Mrs. Harper hadn't been angry after all, not permanently, that is; she had rather respected Candace for daring to cross her. She could still have Duffy if she wanted him. But she didn't want him any more, she didn't want the life he offered with its drab, ugly compromises.
Peter said suddenly, "Great stuff, my gal. She told me everything Stiff dose you handed out, but just what the doctor would have ordered."
HE sat staring straight ahead, and his hands gripped the wheel so hard that his knuckles showed white. "Tell me," he said, suppose the positions were reversed. Suppose you had had a dull, unexciting, but on the whole fairly decent young man in love with you for a long time— What I mean, Candace, is—could you take your own medicine, if the dose included me?"
Candace gasped. She said, stunned, stammering, "But—you're going to be married!"
"Sure," he said, trying to laugh, trying to make light of it. "To you—I hope."
"But—Dr. Patterson—you told him—"
He did laugh then. "I told him I was darn' glad to get the Eustis case because then maybe I could get married. Sure, I told him that. But I didn't say who the girl was. Answer me quickly," he commanded, "I can't stand much more waiting—could you?"
Like a balloon that's been blown too full, the tension in Candace's head burst, her thought scattered into madly whirling pieces. But the pieces were bright, as in a kaleidoscope, and when the whirling stopped and they fitted into place they made pictures. There was Faith and her Harvey; there was Duffy laughing with a coterie of dancing girls with fans of feathers, girls with doves, girls with or without various things; and there was—herself and Peter. All the ache, all the loneliness was suddenly gone.

Stanford Clashes With Notre Dame In 'T' Game Test

By Charles Chamberlain
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP.)—Stanford and Notre Dame, attempting to arise from the Model T 'rumble seat and pile into the driver's position, meet Saturday, each searching for their first 1942 victory.

Frank Leahy, Notre Dame coach, made a big change this week by taking the responsibilities of signal calling from junior quarterback Angelo Bertelli. Harry Wright, senior right guard, who, as quarterback last year helped direct the Irish through an undefeated season, will call the plays against Stanford.

Good Ball Feeder

The move was made in hope Bertelli's passing would improve. As a sophomore, he connected on 70 of 123 aerials for 1,027 yards, but his completion average of nearly .570 dropped to .333 this season while Notre Dame was being held 7 to 7 by Wisconsin and defeated, 13 to 6, by Georgia Tech.

Bertelli's play calling has been poor at times, but he has not made a single bobble in the important role of ball feeder.

Stanford, like Notre Dame, is off to a disappointing start under Coach Marchie Schwartz. Leahy's teammate at Notre Dame in 1929.

"A victory over the Irish will make the Stanford season," Schwartz vowed after the Indians lost, 6 to 0, to Washington State, and 14 to 6, to Santa Clara.

New Tunes In "Orchestra Wives"

Here's a wife's eye view of "Orchestra Wives." In the 20th Century-Fox musical that tells why the excitement really begins for "brass" widows after the band stops playing. The film opens at the Yucca Theatre today. It's love by day and music by night for George Montgomery, Ann Rutherford, Glenn Miller and his Band, Lynn Bari, Carole Landis, Virginia Gilmore, Cesar Romero and Mary Beth Hughes. Glenn gives out with a quartet of hot new tunes by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren. They're all in the picture—and on the hit parades, too: "At Last," "People Like You and Me," "Serenade in Blue" and "I've Got a Gal in Kalamazoo." The film was produced by William LeBaron and Archie Mayo.

OPA Head Opposed To Oil Price Increase

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson told a Senate Public Lands sub-committee Friday he was opposed to any general price increases on crude oil, asserting such action would cost the government and private consumers between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000.

Representatives of the petroleum industry testifying at previous sessions of the committee urged an over-all increase on crude prices, contending it was necessary if exploratory operations for new deposits were to continue.

An official of the Office of Petroleum Coordinator warned that discovery of new oil reserves had not kept pace with consumption and that explorations for additional deposits must be encouraged.

Estimates Reserves

Testifying before the Senate group, W. B. Heroy, director of reserves of the OPC, referred to the general assumption that on the basis of known reserves and the normal rate of consumption for the last few years the supply should last for fifteen years. Without mentioning specific figures he indicated that considering the present rate of consumption the supply would not last nearly so long.

Heroy estimated the present known oil reserves in this country at 19,500,000 barrels, and asserted that 71 per cent of this was located in the Southwest.

Henderson was asked by Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) of the subcommittee to come and express his opinion on testimony offered by Russell B. Brown, representative of Independent Petroleum Producers, who declared a general price increase of crude oils was the only practicable way to encourage explorations for new fields.

Henderson had suggested during a previous appearance before the committee that payment of subsidies for wildcat operations might be tried to encourage search for new deposits.

Bulldogs Will Be Out To Lasso Sweetwater Mustangs Friday Night

A squad of nineteen Midland Bulldog football players left early Friday for Sweetwater where they are expecting a rough ride with the Mustangs in a football game Friday night under the lights.

Coach McCollum's boys intend to make it hot for Sweetwater even though they are not at full strength. Three first string men are out of the lineup and colds have taken a further toll in practice sessions this week. Even so, the Bulldogs will be shooting everything to tame the Mustangs.

Laurance Priddy, coach at Sweetwater, has built a reputation of a rough, tough team which blocks with deadly accuracy. This fact, coupled with the return of Ed Mays, powerful Mustang back, gives Sweetwater a definite edge on the dope sheets.

Mustang Aerial Game

Reports from Sweetwater indicate that the Mustangs have got in plenty of practice in the aerial game. Midland's best plays against San Angelo last week were two passing plays. This would indicate a fairly wide open attack on the part of both teams.

Sweetwater's attack is built around a combination box and "T" formation which features a back which handles the ball on each play from center. From this back, the attack is built around a set of tricky spinners, reverses and line bucks. Midland's offensive is patterned after Richmond Drilling Company of Midland No. 2 Lyda Mae Johnson, in the southeast part of Ector County's South Cowden pool, pumped 439.7 barrels of 35-gravity oil in 24 hours, with gas-oil ratio of 270-1. The well originally was drilled by Oehltree & Robinson as the No. 1 Johnson and was abandoned two years ago at 4,340 feet. Richmond took it over, deepened to 4,480 feet and shot it with 540 quarts.

In Eastern Wheeler County near the Red line, Shell No. 1 W. D. Blue estate, 8,000-1005, Ordovician test, is drilling at 5,162 feet in lime.

Shell No. 2 Sealy Smith Foundation, second well in the Monahans pool of Northeastern Ward County, is coring ahead at 5,565 feet in porous lime after flowing more than 5,000,000 feet of gas when drillstem-tested at 5,555 feet.

John M. Hills Heads Midland Geologists

John M. Hills was elected president of the Midland Geological Society at its meeting Thursday. He succeeds Harvey Herd.

E. Hazen Woods was named vice-president, succeeding Jack Bailey; and J. C. Kirkendall was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding Eugene Vanderpool.

Tom Koch is the new head of the entertainment committee, succeeding Ward West.

CRUDE PRODUCTION DOWN

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Bureau of Mines reported Friday that stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum at the close of the week ended Oct. 3 totaled 241,179,000 barrels, a net decrease of 1,606,000 barrels compared with the previous week. Stocks of domestic oil decreased 1,530,000 barrels for the week and foreign crude decreased 76,000 barrels.

More Scrap Piled On Midland's Stack

Motor trucks rumbled through Midland's streets again Friday hauling scrap metal to the large stacks in the city. Most of the metal was trucked to the pile on Missouri Avenue, across the street from The Reporter-Telegram. Other was taken to Percy Bridgewater's wholesale oil station.

Two large Army trucks, equipped with a crane and winches, were used to move heavy material which has been contributed. Soldiers manned the trucks.

City and county trucks were on the job again clearing small piles around the city.

Clint Dunagan, county salvage chairman, said more reports of heavy scrap metal are being received almost daily, especially from rural areas. All valuable scrap metal, regardless of weight, should be contributed or reported. That which owners are unable to bring to the scrap heap should be reported so Army trucks can haul it.

Cardinals—because they possess a great deal of scrap.
