Reds Advance On Northwest Steppes

Chilled Germans Are Beginning To Dig In For Winter Campaign

By Roger D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red Armies were reported to have driven two new wedges Wednesday into the 40-mile German barrier northwest of Stalingrad, while inside the city the defenders recaptured a street yielded to the Nazis on Monday.

It was Stalingrad's 51st day of siege.

Dispatches to Red Star said Russian shock troops advanced in two sectors on the northwest steppes, along the vital corridor between the Don and Volga rivers, in fighting that swirled around trench lines, and villages.

Red Army tanks followed up the infantry assault, Soviet headquarters reported, and "killed about 300 Hitlerites and destroyed four guns, eight mortars, 20 machine-guns and several trucks with supplies."

Rugged Fighter

Latest accounts said the Germans, already beginning to shiver in the chill autumn air, were attempting to dig in for another long winter's campaign.

Inside the Volga metropolis, the battle appeared to be waning as mass attacks generally gave way to artillery and mortar duelling.

It was just two weeks ago Wednesday that Hitler boasted in the Berlin Sportsplatz that Stalingrad's fall was inevitable, and in the interval the Russians appeared to have notably improved their positions.

Attack Tobruk Base

RAF fighters, beating off an almost constant stream of Axis bombers over Malta, were officially credited with shooting down 17 more enemy planes Tuesday for a three-day total of 56 aircraft destroyed and at least 50 damaged.

Allied heavy and medium bombers attacked the Axis base at Tobruk, and pounded enemy forces along the North African Coast, British headquarters announced.

An Italian communiqué said 11 British planes were shot down in bitter fighting over the El Alamein front, 80 miles west of Alexandria, where the opposing land armies remained quiet.

May Requisition Private Homes For War Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government warned Wednesday it might have to resort to billeting and commandeering of private buildings to house war workers.

Simultaneously it moved on another front to control all rents throughout the nation, on both business and residential property.

Foreseeing a serious housing emergency, John B. Blandford, housing administrator, said the government would offer to lease homes and buildings for the use of war workers.

Meanwhile, the House Banking Committee was ready to hear James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director, unfold the government's plans for sweeping control of all rents.

Byrnes will be the initial witness on a bill by Chairman Steagall (D-La.) which would authorize the stabilization and "freezing" of all rents.

Twenty-Two Men Join Air Forces

That bombing plane on the Midland County courthouse lawn helped to account for 22 new Air Forces mechanics and technicians Tuesday.

That number of West Texans snapped up the offer of the Air Forces to enlist men handy with tools and send them to nearby reception centers with letters from Brigadier General Isalah Davies asking that they be returned for duty and training to the AAF Bombardier School here.

The full military band of the Bombardier School will give a concert at the plane in Midland at 7:30 Wednesday night. Officers and men of the big bombardier base will be on hand to explain details of the mechanic and technician drive to anyone interested.

Victory Concert To Be Staged Here

Midland High Schools' band and music departments at 8 p. m. Thursday night will present the first of a series of Victory Concerts here.

These concerts are being staged in all sections of Texas and one is planned each month.

No admission is charged but War Bonds and Stamps will be sold and each person who attends is expected to buy.

The concert will be staged in the high school auditorium and Jaycees will be in charge of the sale of War Bonds and Stamps.

The Midland High Girls Choral Club will open the program with the song "Marching Along With Our Song of Victory."

Comforting Quiet Over Kiska Base

ALASKAN ARMY AIR HEADQUARTERS (AP)—There is comforting quiet these days in the air over Kiska—a signal, Allied pilots believe, that the enemy has forsaken aerial defense of the outer Aleutian territory he seized four months ago.

Flights of heavy bombers dispatched almost daily to devastate the Japanese island positions still are bounced through the skies by anti-aircraft shells when they arrive over their targets.

The enemy's ground fire, indeed, is improving in quality of aim if not in weight of guns, and many a raiding plane returns bearing the scars of battle.

But not since October 3 has a single Japanese fighter risen to challenge the growing might of the Canadian-American air attack.

Six Zeros met the incoming bombers on that last day. But as they drew within firing range, American fighters swooped down out of the sun, knocked off five of the Japanese and drove the other to frantic flight.

It was the same story all during September.

By the month's end, the Allies had established a phenomenal 22 to 1 ratio of Japanese plane losses to their own, even though the bulk of the fighting was over enemy territory.

Big Tax Bill May Be Ready By Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest tax bill in American history may be ready by the middle of next week for rich and poor alike, after more than six months of congressional adding and subtracting, snarling and pleading.

As the 14 members of a joint committee gathered for their first meeting, Senator George (D-Ga.) said he saw no reason why all legislative differences could not be composed by Saturday, with final roll calls completed early next week.

Tobacco Taxes Up

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee said however there were numerous points yet to be agreed upon, and declared the group would do well to finish early next week.

Cigar and cigarette taxes are due to go up. The tax on whisky and other distilled spirits will rise from $4 a gallon to $6. The tax on railroad, plane and bus tickets, now 5 per cent, is scheduled to double. The federal charge against telephone tolls will rise to 20 per cent of the total price. Present tax is 6 per cent on calls costing under 25 cents.

The first motion asked that the indictment be quashed as no negro

Near Normal Selection Of Christmas Articles

CHICAGO (AP)—The ingenuity of American manufacturers, plus the availability of pre-war goods, will insure early Christmas shoppers a near normal selection of articles in the nation's retail stores, a survey by merchandise managers disclosed Wednesday.

Hughston M. McBain, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., said the survey showed that "generally speaking, more than 90 per cent of the kinds of things customarily sold to Christmas shoppers will be available this season."

With one notable exception, he said, there will be no shortage of apparel lines. "Rubberized" materials and rainproof synthetics have gone to war—but suits, coats, handbags, gloves, and all kinds of cotton garments will be available in sufficient quantity.

The country's kilns are providing china of "top quality," McBain said in reporting the supply of imported china and dinnerware now is limited to that from England. Irish linens are being sent here, as are Swiss watches.

Toys Made Of Wood

And, for this year at least, he said, there was a sufficient supply of hollow and flat silverware; enough luggage; smokers' items and stationery.

There will be toys—but they won't be like toys of previous years. They have undergone radical changes. Wheel goods are out, and staves will offer toys constructed, with the exception of a few nuts and bolts, entirely of wood.

Supplies Give Japs A Headache

By Walter Clausen
PEARL HARBOR, T. H. (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, discussing his recent trip to the Solomon Islands battle zone, said Wednesday he was confident "we can hold what we have got and consolidate our positions and eventually start moving ahead."

The commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet said he conferred with Vice-Admiral Robert L. Chormley, Naval commander in the South Pacific, and visited Guadalcanal and other island bases.

"But I didn't see a Jap—not even a prisoner," he remarked.

"The Japanese must now realize they are going against American forces in that area. Particularly in the Marines they are meeting a people just as tough as they are themselves and just as well equipped and trained for jungle fighting as they are themselves."

He said that whether the Japanese were getting much from the Dutch East Indies to Rabaul, Japanese base on New Britain Island, was hard to determine, but added it was "safe to say the supply problem is giving them many a headache."

Asks Army Of Seven And One Half Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson told the House Military Committee Wednesday the Army's manpower needs for 1943 were 7,500,000 men, approximately 3,250,000 more than are now in service.

These, he said in stressing the importance of lowering the draft age from 20 to 18 years, included 2,500,000 men in the air forces, 3,000,000 in organized ground units, 1,000,000 for training and for the services of supply, and an additional 1,000,000 for actual duty with the services of supply.

He estimated present army strength at 5,250,000.

The secretary told the committee the United States wants to have in 1943 "the largest air force with sustaining units x x x which production and transportation will permit."

His figure of 2,200,000 in the air forces he described as "a conservative estimate," adding that any changes will be upward.

The Army, he said, is training and will continue to train as many ground units as can be sent overseas.

Stimson estimated that the ground forces needs for 1943, including those abroad and in training at home to go over seas, at 3,300,000.

British Bombers Smash At Nazi Submarine Base

LONDON (AP)—British bombers made a strong and concentrated attack Tuesday night on the German naval and U-boat base of Kiel, their 70th there of the war, and nine of the planes failed to return, British authorities announced Wednesday.

"Beaufighters of the coastal command, on patrol over the Bay of Biscay Tuesday, destroyed two junkers 885 and one flying boat without loss to themselves," the Air Ministry said.

"Army cooperation command aircraft Tuesday attacked a freight train and other targets in Northern France without loss."

The thrust at Kiel marked the second consecutive night of RAF action over Germany.

Six Day Offensive In Pacific Battle Zone Nets Big Jap Losses

By John H. Wiggins
WASHINGTON (AP)— Growing prowess of American sea and air power Wednesday had given the Japanese a severe six-day pummeling that wrecked enemy ships, planes and equipment throughout the whole Pacific battle zone from the Aleutians to the Solomons.

Japan's losses as disclosed by Navy communiqués Tuesday and Tuesday night, pushed her total Solomon Islands toll to 260 destroyed planes, eight vessels sunk, three probably sunk and 37 damaged. The announced American total was 10 ships lost.

The latest series of beatings administered to the Japanese in the Southeastern Pacific started Oct. 9 when Marine Corps aircraft damaged two cruisers and shot down three seaplanes.

Surprise Japs Landing

On the night of Oct. 11-12, United States cruisers and destroyers surprised Japanese vessels attempting to land reinforcements on Guadalcanal island and with torpedoes and gunfire sank a 10,000-ton heavy cruiser, four destroyers and a 5,000-ton transport. The enemy sank 3 ships.

Men Not At Work

The manpower supply is so low that, probably right after election, an industrial draft will be established in the United States which will deprive both men and women of the privilege of working if, when, where and how they individually may please.

The industrial draft is coming because we do not have enough men to do the fighting, manufacture the armament and munitions of war, raise the food, and keep essential services going.

Yet in the single city of New York there are supposed to be almost half a million men and women who want work they cannot find. And in California a scandal is brewing because large war plants are hoarding men whose services they cannot use, as insurance against the coming day when those men will be needed.

Aside from the shortage of skilled workers, which is a different problem involving training and upgrading, the manpower crisis is a direct result of maldistribution.

We do not have as many men as we shall need eventually even if all our manpower were utilized with 100 per cent efficiency. But we do have enough men and women, able and willing to do war work, to meet our industrial needs up to the present, if they were properly located and assigned.

The maldistribution arises because, obviously, it has not been possible to place war orders exactly where there was labor ready and waiting for employment.

It persists because it is not easy to move workers and their families about the country, as one might expect, such as the shortage of potatoes or of coal, taking from surpluses to supply deficiencies.

It is not easy to do this—but it is possible. And exactly that sort of juggling is what the industrial draft must accomplish.

California industrialists hoard labor because their turnover is high. Once the industrial draft freezes their workmen in place, and guarantees to care for future needs, they will gladly release the men they now are hoarding.

Hundreds of thousands are out of work in New York because they hate to move away; they hope that somehow jobs will be made for them at home; they can't see going into Arizona mines at 85 cents an hour when—who knows?—they might have opportunity to work in a shipyard at 15 or 20 cents an hour more.

The industrial draft will resolve their doubts, by telling them, flatly and finally: "Report at 7 o'clock a week from today at the Blank and Smith plant. They're expecting you."

Wendell Williams and Rice Mates Return To Gridiron Practice

HOUSTON, (AP)—All was quiet at Rice Institute Wednesday, as seven Rice gridirers who sought information at the Marine recruiting office here went back to their classrooms and the practice field. Apparently they have decided to stick it out until the end of the school year.

Two subs left the squad Tuesday, Bul Ely and Gayle McLaughlin. They already were subject to call from the Air Forces, and decided to quit school and work pending the call to service.

J. C. (Stoop) Dickson and George Armstrong, seniors, who already had signed up in the reserves, sent wires to Washington asking release from the reserves so they could enlist now, then decided to finish school.

The other five, all sophomores, who appeared at the Marine office, and who got full information on enlistment, included Virgil Elkensberg, stary passer; Wendell Williams, end; Pete Sultis, blocking back; J. W. Magee, guard, and Jim Spruill, tackle.

After the fluppy of excitement, the Owls returned to school and joined in a vigorous practice session, blocking and scrimmaging.

Greyhound Lines Change Schedules

FORT WORTH.—After Thursday there'll be more time to enjoy the scenery on your Greyhound bus trips. On that date, according to a statement released Wednesday by A. F. Baldus, general traffic manager of the Southwestern Greyhound Lines, the running time on Greyhound schedules has been lengthened somewhat to conform with the new 35-mile speed limit set by the Office of Defense Transportation. The new running times necessitated changing practically all Greyhound schedules. However, what is more important it is expected to increase the mileage of both tires and equipment.

Baldus said there has been a tremendous increase in the life of tires on equipment since June 10, when the speed of the buses was reduced to 40 miles per hour.

Effective with the schedule changes Baldus said Greyhound passengers would be asked to board buses only at their downtown terminals.

OPA Administrator Leon Henderson said a car owner must swear he had no more than five tires before he is issued a gasoline ration book.

All America Knows Budweiser... but Few Know This

Starch Helps Make Munitions, Batteries..

Everyone knows that corn starch is used in pies, puddings, cakes and other good things to eat. In addition to various household uses, it is necessary, too, for making batteries, cosmetics, paper and textiles, to name a few. Where does Anheuser-Busch fit in this picture? We learned a lot about cereals from constant analysis of barley for Budweiser. With that knowledge we started a Corn Products Division, which now supplies millions of pounds of starches each year to food and other industries.

Year after year, we have striven with research and resources to better the methods and facilities for brewing Budweiser. To do this, a laboratory specializing in fermentation and nutrition was necessary. Discoveries made in the laboratory and in the plant have led to the development of products contributing to human necessity and progress. Some of these products would appear to have only a remote relationship to brewing, yet, they are the result of scientific research into many allied fields.

Endless research in making the world's leading beer has led to other products

VITAMINS, B COMPLEX—Our plant is one of the world's largest sources for manufacturers of pharmaceutical and food products.

VITAMIN D—Anheuser-Busch produces enough of the basic material for Vitamin D to supply the entire American market.

BAKERS' YEAST—We are one of America's biggest suppliers of standard and enriched yeasts and malt syrup used to make bread.

CORN SYRUP—many millions of pounds annually for America's candy industry.

SYRUPS—for food, table and confectionery uses and special syrups for medicinal purposes.

VITAMINS FOR LIVESTOCK—We are America's biggest supplier of yeast vitamins used to fortify animal feeds.

REFRIGERATING EQUIPMENT—for retailers of frozen foods and ice cream the country over. This division is now working all-out on glider wing and fuselage assemblies for our Armed Forces.

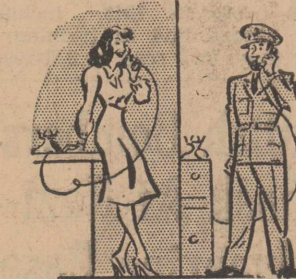

DIESEL ENGINES—Adolphus Busch, founder of Anheuser-Busch, acquired the first rights to manufacture this revolutionary engine in America and thus started our great Diesel industry on its way.

A Shoddy Trick To Play On Dobbin

BIDDEFORD, Md. (P)—If Old Dobbin comes into his own as a result of gas and tire rationing, he must be shod with shoes that will not wear the smooth surface of Biddeford's new downtown pavement. The city fathers so decreed in an ordinance which also provided that wagon wheels must have damage-proof rims.

YOUTH, in everything it does, goes for the people and things that are "right". That's why youth goes for ice-cold Coca-Cola. It is "right"... in quality... in taste... and in refreshment. It's the drink that belongs to youth's ritual of refreshment.

And there's reason for this. Ice-cold Coca-Cola has what it takes... a clean fresh taste... unmistakable refreshment. A special blend of flavor-essences merges all the wholesome ingredients of Coca-Cola into an original taste of its own. No one can duplicate it. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola itself.

Just ask for Coca-Cola or, to use its friendly abbreviations, Coke, and you're in for something special in delicious refreshment. Contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing... the real thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

The custom in every neighborhood... to enjoy delicious ice-cold Coca-Cola... though not as often in wartime as before. And remember when you sometimes can't get Coca-Cola, it's because Coke, being first choice, sells out first.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

It is interesting that each year, players from Florida have carried off one of the championships in the Southern Appalachian tournament at Asheville, N. C. This year Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallendorf of Coral Gables, Florida, won the open pair title, against the strongest field ever entered in this event.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallendorf have participated in many tournaments throughout the country. Their fine teamwork is demonstrated in their defense of today's hand. Mrs. Wallendorf (West) took two rounds of hearts and led a third, on which Mr. Wallendorf made his queen of trumps. Dummy discarded a diamond.

Wallendorf led the queen of clubs, on which West played the four and the king won. Declarer led all his trumps, hoping to catch East in a squeeze. Mrs. Wallendorf realized that her husband might think erroneously that she held a diamond stopper. That is why she had signaled in clubs. Mr. Wallendorf saw the situation and eventually let go his club stopper to hold three diamonds. With the club and diamond stoppers divided, declarer had to lose another trick.

NEW YORK. (AP)—A British sailor, who had survived several blows with U-boats, walked into a New York bar and ordered a glass of beer. He drank it. A short time later he was groaning on the floor, doubled up in agony.

An ambulance took him to the hospital, and there for several hours doctors and nurses examined him thoroughly. Finally they decided the sailor's stomach, accustomed to Britain's tepid ale, had been knocked out by the icy lager.

 Major Moore has had some experience as an amateur bombardier himself. He engaged in night reconnaissance maneuvers over San Francisco in 1939 which involved the dropping of powerful photographic flares. The citizens of the Golden Gate City, however, did not know that the Air Forces were maneuvering and swamped telephones with reports that Nazis were attacking the city.
 Major Moore will be introduced by Brigadier General Isiah Davies, who will award commissions to the class, which for the third time includes members of the Royal Netherlands Military Forces.
 Lieut. Col. Robert Johnson, director of ground training, will present wings to the graduates in the absence of Lieut. Col. J. K. Graduating Cadets Entertain At Dinner

Graduating cadets of Class 42-14 at the AAF Bombardier School were hosts Tuesday night to officers, wives and friends at the first graduation dinner to be held in the cadet mess hall at the world's largest bombardier school.
 Following the dinner, the guests adjourned to the Ace of Clubs at Odessa for dancing.
 The cadets did themselves proud to present a menu which compared with that of the finest restaurants in this section. The menu was prepared by the regular cadet mess company under the supervision of Lieut. Robert G. Schaeffer.
 Olives, celery and fruit cocktail opened the dinner, with oyster stew as the second course. The entrée was roast duck with savory dressing, buttered green peas and corn niblets, and lettuce and tomato salad. Ice cream, cake, fresh fruits, coffee and dinner mints, candy and nuts formed the dessert course.
 Following the dinner, Colonel John P. Kenney, in command of the bombardier school during the temporary absence of Brigadier General Isiah Davies, spoke briefly, as did Lieut. Col. Robert Johnson, director of ground training, Lieut. Col. John Ryan and Major Daniel Wade, commandant of cadets. The dinner was in the nature of a farewell for Major Wade who leaves soon for another assignment.
 The cadet mess company contributed to the entertainment of the cadets and their guests with several folk songs.

SERIAL STORY

PLAY BY PLAY

BY PAUL DAVID PRESTON

COPYRIGHT 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: At Lincoln Field Blythe Miller, daughter of the cadet pilot football team's coach, is sitting by the hospital bedside of Nancy Hale, Nancy, young pretty widow of a soldier, and her small son, Scooter, have been rescued when the football team's bus crashed into her car. Though angry for her, Blythe fears she has a rival in Nancy for the attention of Duane Hogan, big, girly-boy football star. Duane won't realize that Blythe is in love with him. But he's been rather attentive to Nancy since he rescued her from her wrecked car. And even now he's coming down the hospital corridor with an armload of flowers for Nancy.

EMBARRASSING PLEA

CHAPTER IV
THE Lincoln Field football team was in what might have been called executive session. More-over, the discussion had little to do with football.
 "Coach, I move you, sir," rather formally, for him, Norman Dana was addressing Coach Pop Miller, "that we just keep them right here. Upstairs, as you know, is a two-room spot where the trainer lived last year. It even has a kitchenette. Nancy could do your office work and live upstairs, while the youngster can—well, hell, he can rustle around downstairs here and get in our way!"
 It brought laughter, but it brought applause, too. Blythe Miller, listening, felt her heart leap a bit at the generosity of the idea.
 "There's not any furniture nor wallpaper, lads," Pop threw in. "Hardly a place for a dainty girl, widow or no."
 Big Duane Hogan stood up, signaling. He was so quiet, usually, that he commanded instant attention now.
 "I—we will see to that, sir," he managed. "The furniture—we could even make some of it, at nights. And I've always wanted to fool around with wallpaper and paint."
 It amounted to an oration, from Duane. And it settled the matter to everybody's liking. Maybe you yourself remember how the two sports editors—who had sensed something unusual after Saturday's wreck—proclaimed the affair. "Blond Beauty Is New House Mother for Lincoln Gym" was the way the evening Express head-lined it. But the morning Journal waxed downright lyrical:
 "Sweetheart of the Gridiron Found in Bus-Car Crash. Lovely Widow and Baby Adopted by Entire Football Team."
 Sports editors are like that. They are overworked gents who too often have to write "columns," and they'll all but sell their souls for something to put in. Summers on the Journal brought Scooter down to the office and kept him all one morning; Ber-ridge, the financial editor, figured up that the city room wasted 22 man-hours playing with him.

SUMMERS wrote paragraphs about downtown football gambling, attacking it viciously as a blot on amateur athletics. He drew apt contrast between a typical crooked gambler and baby Scooter as two "influences" on the gridiron. This anti-gambling campaign was one in which all the local papers had joined.

CHAPTER IV

The papers arranged, too, for Nancy Hale's story to be published all over the nation, and that same week a famous picture magazine sent its best photographer down from New York. He flew in, took every possible shot of Nancy and baby Scooter and the team and the upstairs apartment. By that time the cadets had made the left into a veritable "dream house."
 "It's the happiest I've ever been. Ever!" Nancy avowed.
 "Pop says you're making a good secretary. Does he bully you?"
 "He spoils me. Oh, Bly, imagine it! I have a job. With a salary. Actual money to spend. A place to live!"
 It was still incredible to the widow, she who had had so little and needed so much. Halfway through the dishes, they heard a call below. Nancy poked a pretty head out her kitchenet window.
 "Yes?"
 "Unlock for me, will you? I'm delivering something."
 "Oh, Duane!"
 The way she shrieked it, the way she fled downstairs instantly, left Blythe cold with apprehension again. But in a moment the other two were coming back in very noisily. Duane Hogan carried a huge box of fruit that bulged at every crack.
 "They're oranges, super-oranges," he explained. "From Dad's ranch down on the Rio Grande. Scooter is to eat one a day, and you are to eat two."
 He wouldn't say much more and he wouldn't stay for a visit, but if he had worn a red suit and a white beard he couldn't have made Nancy happier.
 "He's the best Santa I ever had," she thrilled aloud, and meant it.
 "You like him, don't you, dear?" Blythe ventured.
 "Nancy put her tea towel down. She went in to the bed, kicked off her slippers and sat there hugging her knees, while the other girl curled up in a rocker. Only then did Nancy answer.

"Of course," she said, gasping dreamily. "Of course I do. You have no idea what Duane has done to me!"
 "Mmm?" Blythe probed gently.
 "Blythe darling, do you suppose I—do you mind if I ask you a favor?"
 "Surely not, Nancy. Aren't we friends?"
 "We are friends. We are! Oh, I do love you, too! If I ever had a sister, I'd want her to be you. Since that night of the wreck when the last little world Scooter and I knew dropped out from under us—"
 "I know; I understand. But I think I was luckier than you, there. After all, Nancy, I—well, I have been kind of lost in a sea of mazes. Pop, coaching football, in an army camp. It's not like it was at the university. War changes things."
 "Oh, doesn't it! A year ago I was happily married. Then—that happened. And since then it has been a fight, struggle, worry, for Scooter and me, until now! Now! Oh, Blythe, have I a right to hope for happiness again?"
 "Don't be silly! Of course you have."
 "You could only help me, maybe—maybe, somehow—"
 The pretty widow drifted off, her lower lip tucked in, her eyes wide with eager dreaming. What an adorable creature you are, Blythe thought.
 "You're only 21," Blythe prompted. Then after waiting—
 "You asked if I would do you a favor, but you haven't said what."
 "Blythe—Bly—I could never do this alone. I'm afraid, I guess. Afraid of hunger and—yes, of loneliness again. But I—I want something new. Something new. And I want it so desperately!"
 Nancy's blue eyes had pooled. Her voice was husky with emotion, in a way that touched Blythe anew.
 "Bly, darling, you don't know what it is to love a man. You couldn't! But when—even when he first carried me, I knew that it had come to me again! When he lifted me from that wrecked car, when he visited me in the hospital, when he brings me things here, oh, Bly, his every word and glance and action spell beauty in my heart, and yet, I know that with him it's kindness and nothing else! He does not see me in a personal way. But Bly—"Nancy was almost sobbing now—"as you're my friend, the dearest friend I ever had, promise me you'll help! Promise you'll help make Duane Hogan see me, and love me in return!"

Major And Minor Leagues To Meet On Wartime Play

By Judson Bailey
NEW YORK. (AP)—The wartime future of baseball, insofar as the magnates are masters of their own fate, is to be determined at meetings of both the major and minor leagues in Chicago the first week in December.

The majors now are in the process of approving the change of the site of their seasons from New York and the date to coincide with the minors, but it was learned Wednesday that enough clubs already have agreed to the switch to make the doubleheader meetings certain.

The major league confabs are planned for December 1, 2 and 3, a week earlier than usual, and the minors meeting December 4 and 5, three days later than in the past. This gathering, one of the few times that majors and minors ever have assembled together, will replace big convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, originally scheduled for Minneapolis, as well as the major league pow wows in New York.

The shifting of the major league meetings ahead of the minors is the key to the entire arrangement, because most of the small leagues and clubs are withholding a decision on operations next year till they learn what support they can count upon from the major leagues.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.
WIDE WORLD SPORTS COLUMNIST
NEW YORK.—Every stop to think how hard a sports promoter has to work to get you to buy a ticket for his games? . . . we never had thought much about it, either, until Al Sutphin, the big ink and ice man from Cleveland, started telling the other night how he got such crowds to watch his hockey club. . . Things like providing a winning team, bringing in new men every season and spending plenty of cash for advertising are just the starters. . . I see it that there's a hockey game every Saturday night, with no exceptions, Sutphin explains. The fans always know what to expect. Our club spend $9,000 a year more on travel than the others just to get those Saturdays. I'll even move a circus out overnight for a game. . . Then there's the little matter of arranging special night for clubs and industrial organizations, and after-dinner speaking. . . Al is the orator, but he has a special promotion staff to follow up his talks. . . "There are about 150 clubs in Cleveland and I've probably spoken before all of them," he says.

Beak-Bashing Ballyhoo
Another angle Sutphin pointed out is that Cleveland's boxing revival began when the promoters shifted their shows into his arena from the public auditorium, which holds more people but isn't strictly a sports hall. . . "We had the sports crowds coming in and we told them about the fights. . . Larry Atkins is a good matchmaker, so they just caught on," is Sutphin's version. "After all, you couldn't expect an opera to advertise a fight."

South Carolina
If the governor of North Carolina stops to chat with the governor of South Carolina these days, they're probably arguing whether North Carolina's Chan Highsmith is a better center than South Carolina's Louis Sossamon. . . Wilbur Wood, the New York Sun's Sports Editor, has figured out that, if taxes remain at their present levels, Joe Wood would have to take down $2,170,000 in purses to save enough to pay his debts. . . No wonder Joe is a bit confused about whether he has retired. . . Jackie Atz, the veteran Texas League manager, has recovered from the illness that kept him in a New Orleans hospital several months. . . Ralph LaPointe of Vermont, one of the East's football scoring leaders, is a product of six-man football and never played the regulation game until last year.

Allen, negro, also indicted in connection with the shooting, and then was revealed that Allen had pleaded guilty Oct. 7 to a charge of assault with intent to murder. He waived trial by jury and awaits sentence by the court. Allen asked the court to withhold his sentence until a verdict is obtained in the Watson case.

Both negroes were charged in three indictments. They were charged with assault with intent to murder Glenn Hudson and Joe Pierce who were wounded painfully when they answered a call to the negro section. Police Chief Lon Tyson and Sergeant Charles Adkins who were with the patrolmen escaped injury when fire was opened on the police car in which the four officers were riding. A third negro, M. Hudson, was charged with assault with intent to kill Watson and Allen also were charged with conspiracy.

When Allen pleaded guilty to the charges involving Glenn Hudson, the other two indictments against him were dismissed, Watson, whose trial was postponed from Monday as he was in a New Mexico hospital, faces three indictments. Melvin Hudson has not been brought to trial.

Jurors selected for Watson's trial are T. M. Matlock, R. M. Jones, Overton Black, John B. Mills, J. D. Hunter, Reed Alsbrook, George K. Bennett, Taylor Cole, D. A. Pass, J. R. Crump, W. L. Crothers, and John A. Porter.

Henry Armstrong Bows Over Mexican Champion
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Henry Armstrong may not be the fighting man he was when he wore a triple boxing crown upon his curly head but he's still too good for most of the boys his size.

Armstrong proved that Tuesday night when, in two minutes, 20 seconds of the second round, he knocked out Juan Zurita, billed as the lightweight champion of Mexico.

Bible Says Football Upsets Due To Players Minds Being On Other Things
AUSTIN (AP).—Coach D. X. Bible, who doesn't believe there is such a thing as a football upset, lays all these so-called startling reversals this year to the fact that the players have too many things on their mind.

Bible, veteran mentor of the University of Texas, once said: "There is no football upset. Teams expected to win are beaten because they are not ready mentally or because something happens to disturb them in some other way."

So, when the major teams like Minnesota, Texas, et al, go down you can attach one of these three things to the "upsets" this season: Concentration Necessary.

"The boys this year have many things on their minds. It's pretty hard to concentrate on football when there are things going on around you like we have now and you can't blame the boys for slipping sometimes."

"Secondly, many colleges already have sent gridiron stars to the armed forces and into war industries, sometimes making for erratic performances by squads replete with comparatively inexperienced players."

"Thirdly, travel conditions are not always conducive to winning. Where teams once chose their own transportation schedules, worked out between trains at wayside points and arrived on time, they now travel by any means at hand and make the best of it."

The coach believes the situation boils down to this: "It's hard to get mentally set for a game with the war coming nearer and nearer daily but it's still possible for a team to concentrate on a single game and play it superbly."

Failing in its landing mission, the Japanese fleet steamed away but was caught a few hours later in a torpedo and dive bombing assault by pursuing Navy and Marine Corps planes. At least one more cruiser was badly damaged and a destroyer was sent to the bottom.

Aleutian Theater
In the Aleutians, Army heavy bombers with fighter escort rained demolitions and incendiaries on the Japanese Kiska foothold Friday and Saturday. Damage was reported on ships in the harbor and fires were seen on shore.

Enemy resistance was described by the Navy as "only moderate" anti-aircraft fire. Not a Japanese plane rose to the counter-attack.

Kiska Base Untenable
Thus, with the Japanese Kiska garrison pounded by American bombs and buffeted by increasingly cold gales, observers felt the invaders might find this remaining Aleutian base untenable before long.

Meantime, as Australian jungle troops edged toward the Japanese Kokoda base in New Guinea despite enemy resistance, MacArthur's heavy Allied bombers joined the Solomons conflict to the East by blasting the invader's Buka air-drome.

Note Improvement In Whitmire's Condition
Improvement in the condition of Marshall Whitmire, Midland football player, was reported Wednesday in a message from Galveston where he is undergoing treatment for infantile paralysis.

Injury Jinx Hits Bulldog Backfield
The injury jinx still hovers over the Midland High School Bulldog team. Monday afternoon it hit Jack Dyson, newcomer in the first string backfield, when he wrenched a knee.

The injury is not expected to keep him out of the game with Big Spring here on October 23. Dyson has been ineligible up to this time under the Texas interscholastic rule of one year's enrollment in any one school district before being able to compete in athletics.

J. T. Robinson, right guard, suited up Tuesday and reported for practice after being on the sidelines Monday because of illness.

Ahlene-Odesa Game Highlighted
Coach Gene McCollum spent the greater part of Tuesday's practice emphasizing timing in offensive plays. Blockers in particular were coached on their assignments.

The latter part of practice was spent on defensive play with the Bulldogs scoring team running Big Spring plays against the regulars.

The Bulldogs are idle this week and it would seem particularly welcome at this time since several of the regulars are nursing injuries and bruises.

District 3-AA attention this week is focused on the Ahlene-Odesa tilt Friday night in Odesa. This game is expected to go far in determining the ultimate winner in district play.

Notre Dame-Navy Game Is Tops For Superstitious Fans
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP).—If Notre Dame trips the high flying Iowa Seahawks here Saturday, it will be something of a moral victory for gridiron superstition.

To begin with, the Irish will be wearing green jerseys again. They discarded their traditional blue jerseys for the green shirts last week against Stanford and scored their first triumph of the season—a 27-0 win.

Then, too, Notre Dame never has lost to Bernie Bierman, who before taking over direction of the Naval prep flight school team this year, twice watched his Minnesota eleven bow to the Irish—in 1937 and 1938. Inversely, Notre Dame never has beaten the University of Iowa, and it's the "Iowa" in Iowa Seahawks that carries an ominous ring for the Irish.

So either way, those having superstitious leanings point out, old man jinx can't lose.

Boys In Service Deserve Chance At Heavy Title—Baer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Several heavyweight boxers hastily put in title bids when Joe Louis, world's champion, announced he wasn't likely to fight again. Joe decided he probably would be too old by the time the war ended.

But Buddy Baer, who twice fought Louis for the title, isn't among the would-be claimants.

"I believe the title should be declared vacant until after the war," he said Tuesday. "The boys in the service deserve a chance to earn it."

BOSTON (AP-USDA) — The Boston Wool Market was quiet Monday. Sales were mostly small lots for piecing out lines. Fine staple graded territory wool was sold at clean prices of $1.18-$1.21. A lot of Wyoming original bag wool running bulk to French combing was sold at a clean price of $1.16. Sales of Australian tops of 70's grade were reported at ceiling prices.
