German Offensive Dwindles As Cold Rains Drench Lines

By Roger D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor
Hitler's latest week-old offensive against Stalingrad was reported dwindling Wednesday as cold rain again drenched the cemetery streets, and Russian headquarters announced that the Red armies had held their lines unbroken for 48 hours.

It was the 58th day of siege, just five days short of equaling the historic Russian stand in the nine-week siege of Odessa last year.

German Field Headquarters acknowledged that the Russians were launching powerful diversion attacks against the Nazi-guard north flank, above Stalingrad, but asserted they had been repulsed in heavy fighting.

Stress Bad Weather
For the second successive day the Germans stressed bad weather conditions along the battle line, declaring that rains were hampering operations both in the Stalingrad zone and in the Caucasus.

German losses were estimated as high as 70 per cent of their effectiveness in the new drive which began last Wednesday.

The Russians declared they also had improved their positions through counter-attacks in the Northwest and Central Caucasus.

Northwest of the city, on a 40-mile front between the Don and Volga rivers, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's relief army was reported to have strengthened its positions, challenging the vital German left flank which protects the main siege armies.

In the Central Caucasus, Russian troops in a night attack were officially reported to have recaptured a community in the Mozdok area, 40 miles north of the Grozny oil (Continued on page six)

Trial of Antonio Moreno, Mexican, on a murder indictment in connection with the slaying of Sefirio Costilla last July 12, started in Seventeenth District Court here Wednesday morning.

Jurors for Moreno's trial are J. H. Franks, Russell C. Conkling, E. P. Eubank, Charles C. Galbreath, E. D. Scruggs, John T. Ragdale, E. P. Meares, P. G. Ellison, John S. King, H. M. McReynolds, Bruce C. McKague and Neal J. Bingham.

Tons Of Metal On Scrap Pile

Midland County has collected 4,252,000 pounds of scrap metal for Uncle Sam since its drives started. This is more than 350 pounds per capita. The per capita average in the state is 29.8 pounds. The figures were compiled by Clint Dunagan, county salvage chairman.

Tons of metal were piled on Midland's scrap heap Tuesday afternoon in one of the greatest city-wide campaigns ever staged in West Texas.

Stores, business houses and offices were locked tight as employees and employers donned work clothing and collected scrap. Workers even complained it was difficult to get a drink of water in the business district.

More than 400 men took part in the campaign and approximately 50 motor trucks and pickups, ranging from large cattle transports to delivery cars, were in use for hours.

At the conclusion of the drive, a federal official estimated that more than 425 tons of scrap metal now is stacked on the two piles in Midland. The large pile is on Missouri Avenue, across the street from The Reporter-Telegram. A second pile is at the Sinclair bulk station on the railroad.

More than 200 workers, listed as ranch bosses, wranglers and cowhands, will take part in the drive. (Continued on Page 2)

Dry Draft Law Sponsor Claims Mounting Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mounting support was claimed by Senator Lee (D-Okla.) Wednesday in his fight to ban liquor from Army and Navy camps.

As both sides took advantage of a one-day recess to marshal forces for a possible showdown Thursday on Lee's "bone dry" amendment to a bill lowering the draft age to 18, the Oklahoman told reporters that some of his senatorial supporters (Continued on page two)

J. C. Stevens Gets 99 Year Prison Term

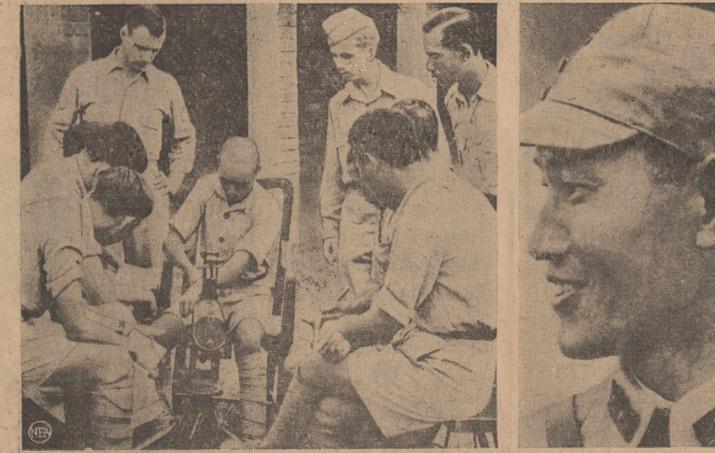

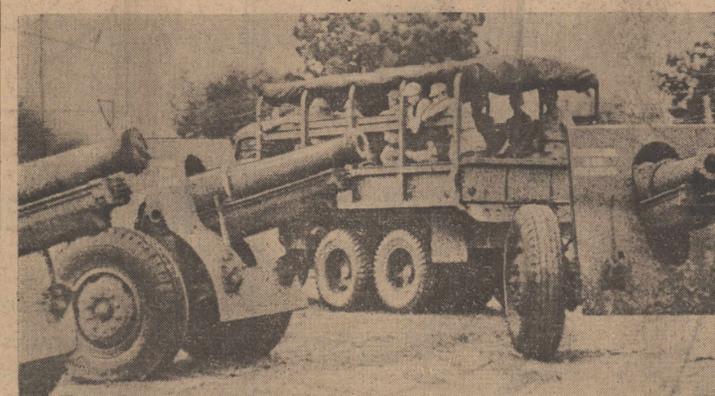

J. C. Stevens, 47, was convicted on a murder indictment and his sentence was fixed at 99 years in the state penitentiary by a jury in Seventeenth District Court Tuesday night.

He was indicted for the knife slaying of A. E. (Whitney) Walker, 31-year-old cook at the TP Cafe last July 24. The jurors deliberated about an hour before handing their verdict to the court.

Walker was stabbed and wounded fatally in an affray at the restaurant. Two other men were arrested in connection with the slaying and they later were released after paying fines in city court for affray.

Stillwell's Chinese Prepare to Take the Road Back

Somewhere in India Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell's war-weary Chinese army is preparing for a reconquest of Burma. Driven backward step by step through jungles and over mountains; beset by disease and weakened by lack of rest and food, these men never lost their fighting spirit. Now, tutored by U. Service Bill Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Paul V. McNutt declared Wednesday the manpower problem was becoming "too complex for effective voluntary action" and announced that within two weeks he would present a national service bill to President Roosevelt.

"There are acute shortages of all types of male labor in 40 major centers of war production," the chairman of the War Manpower Commission testified to the Senate Military Committee.

"Turnover in West Coast war plants has reached fantastic height," McNutt said. "Labor piracy is rife in Buffalo and Detroit. Squeezing the last employable per-

Laval's Leadership In Balance

By Thomas K. Hawkins

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—France entered Wednesday her most critical period since she signed the 1940 Armistice, the 11 days remaining to Pierre Laval before he is expected to try compulsion to send protesting workers into German war factories.

The period to Nov. 1, private advisers from Unoccupied France said, represents the extension of time set by Berlin for fulfillment of its labor demands for 150,000 volunteer workers.

It also is the period, informed French observers said they believed, which will demonstrate whether Laval could hope to cling to his position as chief of government in the face of persistent, although thus far scattered, opposition.

These observers, who would not permit their names to be used, said that popular resentment over work conscription, increasing agitation in Axis quarters over the question of whether Dakar would be involved in an African offensive and revival of discussions of the dangers of new Allied landings along the Channel all combined to make Laval's position difficult.

Solons Turn Down New Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders turned an unofficial but emphatic thumbs down Wednesday on any further major tax legislation until after the first of the year.

With the biggest of all revenue bills on President Roosevelt's desk for his signature Wednesday, after its final approval by both houses Tuesday, the chairmen of the two tax-framing committees let it be known that they and their aides felt they had done enough for a while.

Major Provisions
As the tax measure stands, it contained these major provisions:
A 5 per cent victory tax on individual income over $12 a week, with post-war credits. This was combined with stiff increases in the normal and surtax rates on net income and a broadening of the base of the income tax by a cut in exemptions.

A 9 percentage point increase in corporation taxes on normal and surtax income and an elevation of the sliding scale of excess profits to a flat 90 per cent rate.

Increases on excise taxes on liquor, cigarettes, cigars and other items, which would become effective Nov. 1.

Japanese Thrust To Retake Guadalcanal Stalled By Bombings

By John H. Wiggins

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allied domination of the skies in the vast Pacific battle front appeared growing mightier Wednesday as American bomber slugged Japanese invasion bases from the Aleutians to the Solomons.

The fury of the Allied bombing of enemy troops and supply concentrations in the Solomons seemed thus far to have stalled, at least temporarily, the full force of a Japanese thrust to retake the American-held Guadalcanal airbase and win control of the Southwest Pacific.

While a large force of Japanese warships and auxiliary vessels in the Solomons and reinforced troops on Northwestern Guadalcanal still held an expected attack in leash, United States bombers dropped explosives on the embattled island's invaders on Oct. 18 and 19, and started fires at the Japanese Rekata Bay base on Santa Isabel Island, 150 miles to the northwest.

Attack Jap Airdrome
At that same time, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Australian command reported Tuesday night, Allied bombers were believed to have inflicted extensive damage on the Japanese airdrome and shipping at Buin, Bougainville Island, about 315 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

All Allied planes, meeting no attempt at interception, returned safely from the Buin night raid, the communique said. The Navy's report Tuesday of the latest American assaults in the Solomons and Aleutians made no mention of any enemy planes rising to counterattack.

Possibility that the Southwest Pacific skies soon may become a hornet's nest of Allied planes was seen Tuesday in an assertion by Secretary of the Navy Knox that the number of Navy land-based planes was "steadily increasing."

Shell Oil Company, Inc. is preparing to run oil-string of casing in its No. 2 Sealy-Smith Foundation, deep Permian discovery well one-quarter mile west by northwest of the firm's No. 1 Sealy-Smith, a 10,545-foot Ellenburger producer. The area is designated the "Monahans pool" and lies two and one-half miles north of Monahans in Northeastern Ward County.

The deep Permian strike is bottomed at 5,741 feet in time. Drilling measurement corrected 5,731 to equal 5,741 feet. No. 2 Sealy-Smith flowed at an estimated rate of 25 barrels of 34-gravity oil per hour when drillstem-tested from 5,595 to 5,655 feet in the Clear Fork line.

Shell's proposed 8,500-foot Ordovician test in extreme Eastern Winkler County, the No. 1 W. D. Blue estate, is drilling below 6,091 feet in line.

Two Powerful Battleships Join British Fleet

LONDON (AP)—Two powerful 35,000-ton battleships, the Anson and the Howe, each carrying ten 14 inch guns, have moved into their stations in the British fleet and their commanders were reported spooling for a fight with the great prize of the German fleet, the battleship Tirpitz.

The British fleet has now reached its pre-war strength of 15 battleship and battle cruisers and at least four more battleships are under construction, including the Lion and the Temeraire, rated at 40,000 tons.

The Anson and the Howe are the last of the five great battleships of the King George V class to be commissioned. The Prince of Wales was sunk last December during a Japanese air attack off Malaya. The King George V and the Duke of York have been with the fleet for some time.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Beginning October 31st, travelers going from Mexico to the United States may carry a maximum of $50 dollars in $2 dollar bills or currency, the United States embassy announced Wednesday.

LONDON (AP)—The sinking of four Axis supply ships in the Mediterranean by British submarines was announced Wednesday in an admiralty communique.

NEW YORK (AP)—The German High Command concluded its communique Wednesday with a charge that British planes attacked a German dressing station on the Egyptian front. "From this the German High Command is compelled to draw the conclusion that the British government no longer attaches any value to maintenance of the convention of Geneva."

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

LONDON—There are, as pointed out in Tuesday's article, fewer than 200 prime targets the American and British bombers need to destroy in France and Germany in order to render Hitler so vulnerable that the Allies could roll their army over him and end the war by next fall. These targets comprise: Nazi doms chief war industries and all-important rail communications and rolling stock. In short, they represent the sources of much of the Fuehrer's striking power and the means of moving that power into action.

In order to achieve this destruction quickly and thereby prevent great prolongation of the war, American and British bomber forces in this country would have to be increased heavily. Moreover, they would have to be augmented immediately.

Psychology Of Victory

Eric A. Johnston, who is president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and also a member of the Economic Stabilization Board, objects to assertions that we are losing the war.

He wants us to forget all that and spread the "Psychology of victory." He thinks recent statements by national leaders show a negative attitude which tends to poison the hopes of workers and of the general public.

We think Johnston is dangerously wrong. We cannot comprehend how any man of Johnston's intelligence, in his preferred position to know the facts, could deliberately stick his head into the sand and blissfully ignore all that is going on around him.

Assistant Navy Secretary Ralph A. Bard told a Labor convention recently:

"We are losing the war, period. We damn well mean it, period."

Bard is right—correct in his facts and sound in his approach to public psychology.

The attitude urged by Johnston is a principal reason why "we are losing the war, period."

For years we patted ourselves on the backs, as Johnston wants us to keep on doing, because "we are the greatest industrial nation on earth, possessing more of the resources, the technical skill and the plant capacity to combine the machines of war than all of our enemies combined. We are the people who brought this age of mechanics to its present high pitch, and mechanized war is our dish."

Sure, we're a great nation. We admit it.

But Germany and Japan possessed the tanks, the planes, the guns, the trained soldiers, the blueprints for modernized warfare, while we still were pipe-dreaming about how smart we were and how we could get those things if we should need them.

We couldn't fight a 1941-42 war with the weapons we believe we can produce by 1943 or 1944, so we had to let Japan take most of the Pacific from us, and even plant her forces in the Aleutians.

We were so over-confident that we weren't ready. Therefore we are losing this war, period. And we damn well mean it, period.

We can win, if that is what Johnston has in mind. We can win, if we recognize we are losing, and if we will to win more than we will to retain our creature comforts, our social gains, our political positions—our individual lives even.

Meal Rationing

All signs now point to the fact that this business of meat rationing is going to be more fun than any mathematical pastime yet. Worrying about Joe DiMag's batting average, T. C. U.'s odds, the bangtails, your golf handicap, the numbers racket, your weight, your age, your income tax, your draft number, your waist, your hips—all these will be simple compared with figuring how you are going to eat your two and a half pounds per week, no more but maybe less.

You have until February to figure this out. The government gals and guys who run rationing won't be able to figure it out for you before that either. But you can do this voluntarily now to get in practice.

The people who are worrying about such things have already coined a slogan to spur you onward and downward. It's kinda suggestive, but it fits. It's "Share the Meat!" and it has three kickers on the end:

- It's patriotic to share.
- It's fair to share.
- It's wise to share.

The sharing business is arrived at from several sources. Somebody made a survey in 1936 and found that families with incomes of less than $500 a year averaged only 1 1/2 pounds of meat per person per week, while families with incomes of less than $600 a year averaged five pounds per person per week. Families with incomes between $500 and $5000 a year are apparently all right.

Usable Articles

Two over-enthusiastic New York youngsters threw almost new bicycles into the scrap collection pile. This was a perfect example of what Uncle Sam does not want.

To beat Hitler we need every pound of metal, rubber, etc., which is not usable. But we cannot afford to throw away serviceable items which, to replace, would require the use of factory capacity and manpower.

Naturally, such things shouldn't be left lying around if we can't use them ourselves. But don't put them with the scrap. If you do not know anybody who needs them, and who would have to buy them otherwise, how about one of the many charitable agencies that would gladly see that they are used to advantage?

Still Too Little?

The Japanese succeeded in landing troop reinforcements and supplies on Guadalcanal Island, notwithstanding the heroic efforts of "a little band of seven Wildcat fighters which went up against the big enemy force" of 30 Japanese fighters, and destroyed nine of them.

The quotation is from a press association story based on a Navy Department communique issued in Washington.

We know little of higher military strategy, to be sure, but we do think that this news account tells a more accurate story than do the Pollyannaish statements showing percentages of increase in production.

"It is only fair to this group to state that the subcommittee has indicated their opposition to immediate enactment of a national service bill."

Arrange Contests
The areas to be worked have been designated as ranches, with a ranch boss directing the drive on each ranch. Wranglers and cowhands will work under the ranch bosses.

Contests for the winning ranch and for the winning cowhand have been arranged. A 3-piece bedroom suite will be awarded the rancher whose ranch raises the most money during the campaign, with a prize also to be given the leader of the second-place ranch. Winning cowhands also will be awarded prizes.

The advance gifts committee started work Tuesday and is expected to complete its part of the program by Wednesday evening.

Final arrangements for the drive were completed by Midland scout leaders earlier in the week and everything is in readiness for the whirlwind campaign.

Twelve tons of bombs were dropped on enemy shore installations and on a beached ship in the harbor. The explosives set fires in the camp area. The committee made no mention of any further aerial resistance, last encountered early this month.

Meantime, MacArthur's Australian troops further reduced the Japanese threat to the Allied Port Moresby base in New Guinea by pushing the enemy back three miles in the Owen Stanley Mountains.

The author of the "teen age draft bill," Senator Gurney (R-SD), said for his part that he hoped no "controversial amendment" would slow up its passage.

Opponents of Lee's amendment, which would bar the possession, sale, gift or use of any alcoholic beverage, including beer, in and around Army and Navy posts, viewed it as a possible entering wedge for a return to national prohibition.

The dry zones around camps would be delineated by the Secretary of War, and, opponents said, might embrace large population centers. The bill also would ban prostitutes from the designated areas.

The draft bill, approved by a vote of 345 to 16 in the House Saturday, comes up for debate in the Senate Thursday by an interparty agreement. General George C. Marshall and Admiral Ernest J. King of the joint general staff have recommended the lower age limit as a military necessity.

Some Figures On Federal Expenses

WASHINGTON. (AP) — President Roosevelt has told congress that federal cash expenditures for war in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943 now were estimated at $74,000,000 and non-war outlays at $4,194,000,000.

In addition, interest on the public debt in this 12-month period was estimated at $1,850,000,000 to bring aggregate federal outlays for the current fiscal period to $80,044,000,000.

Non-war expenditures of the government, Mr. Roosevelt reported, have been cut more than a third from their 1939 peak.

Christmas Tree Cake Especially Designed For You

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox NEA Service Staff Writer Here's a Christmas Tree cake especially designed for you to send to a soldier in the service. It's wrapped in a honey glaze which hardens to seal its flavor, and is topped with a Christmas tree made by snipping long green gumdrops fanwise for leaves, cinnamon sticks for a trunk and red cinnamon drops for decorations.

Solider Christmas Cake Three cups sifted, not-bleached flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2 teaspoons cinnamon 2 teaspoons allspice, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup citron, cut in slivers, 1 cup candied pineapple, cut in small pieces, 1 1/2 cups candied cherries, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup currants or seedless raisins, 1 cup chopped figs, 1 cup chopped dates, 1 cups small gumdrops, 4 egg whites, 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 4 egg yolks, 1 cup soft vitaminized margarine, 1 cup wine or rum, or non-alcoholic rum flavoring. Sift together flour, baking powder and spices, divide in half. Combine fruits and gumdrops. Sift one-half dry ingredients over the fruit mixture and mix well. Beat egg whites stiff, add 1/2 cup of the brown sugar gradually and beat to stiff points; set aside. Beat egg yolks well with remaining 1 cup brown sugar. Add the softened margarine to the egg yolk mixture, and beat until well mixed. Add remaining flour mixture to the eggs and margarine. Do not stir. Then add the wine or rum. Mix slightly. Add the floured fruit and fold in the egg whites. Mix until even throughout. Pour into pans lined with 2 thicknesses of oiled brown paper. Steam cake for one hour. Then place in moderate oven (325 deg. F.) and bake for 3 hours. Cool. Remove from pan. Wrap in cloth wet with wine or rum and age for at least one week. Then glaze with strained honey boiled to 260 deg. F., hard ball stage. Brush over cake. Let harden and wrap in heavy cellophane for packing. BROOKLYN BEST FOR RECRUITING NEA Service DETROIT.— Pvt. McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

At the major tournaments held in New York and Philadelphia, we seldom see a new name among the winners—the experts usually carry away the honors. At the recent Philadelphia tournament, however, two newcomers won the mixed pair championship—Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Budin. The open pair championship was won by Nathan Agran and Joseph Davis of Philadelphia, and the team-of-four title went to Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Sternberg of

Here is one of the interesting hands that helped Mr. and Mrs. Budin win the mixed pair championship. At most tables East played four hearts doubled and made the contract easily. Mrs. Budin, with the South hand, was afraid that four hearts could be made, and that North's double would give East and West a top. Her courageous bid of four spades was set only two tricks, and the score of minus 300 was a top for the Budins.

Determination Pays Dividends

A CARIBBEAN BASE. (AP)—A story they're telling down here in the Caribbean—and swearing it's true:

A transport lay in the harbor getting ready to sail with a detachment of troops ordered back to the good 'U.S.A. The soldiers stood about beside their blue batbags, awaiting their turn to go up the gangplank.

Suddenly, from the group, one broke and ran, shouting at the top of his voice, "I'm not going aboard that blanketed boat, and you can't make me!"

Two burly M.P.s gave chase. Quickly they overhauled him. A hasty session of rough-and-tumble ensued, at the end of which the fugitive, overpowered, was half-dragged, half-carried aboard the ship, no longer in condition to protest.

Number Of Babies Are Born On Evacuee Ship
AN ATLANTIC PORT. (AP)—A number of babies born to British evacuees during a voyage across a war-torn ocean have reached here safely. Mothers and babies were reported doing well by medical attendants who accompanied the group.

Also aboard the ship were American entertainers and survivors of torpedoed vessels. Bebe Daniels, stage and screen star, wife of Actor Ben Lyon, was among those who debarked.

The M.P.s rubbed their hands, congratulating themselves on a job done with neatness and dispatch. A few hours later, when the transport was miles at sea, noses were counted aboard.

There was one nose too many. A homesick soldier had found a way to go home.

The sequel? Unknown.

Gold Shutdown Aids Copper Mines

Because the U. S. at war needs copper and other useful metals more than gold, the WPB has ordered large gold mines to close down by mid-October. Miners released from the gold mines can help relieve the manpower shortage in the vital copper pits. Map shows principal U. S. gold and copper mines.

This article since that would provide information for the enemy. However, it can be said that if these two forces were trebled within the next couple of months, the Anglo-American Allies could achieve enough by spring so that an invasion army could be got into operation. Of course, it leaves a lot to the imagination to talk about trebling the bomber forces when the reader doesn't know what the present fleets are. Still, authorities who do know the figures will recognize that this would be a feasible expansion.

Indeed, some military experts insist the present scale of bombing could be increased ten times, but that strikes me as being an ideal which could not be attained in the near future.

Reduce Targets First
 This concentration of air force in Britain would be met:

- (1) By current production in both countries;
- (2) By transferring warplanes from other activities which could spare them for this major operation in Western Europe.

We must iron out Western Europe by bombing before we invade with land forces. To reverse the procedure and try to put troops ashore before air preparation would be inviting a catastrophe.

Once the invasion is underway, the combined air forces will be tied to military operations on the ground and the bombing of our 200 targets would have to cease. That's why those targets must be reduced first.

• SERIAL STORY

PLAY BY PLAY

BY PAUL DAVID PRESTON

THE STORY: Nancy Hale is a young girl who has just turned 17. She is a very beautiful girl and perfect just like Edwin Markham—that far. But then Nancy had fallen in love with the boy Blythe herself had wanted. That "other" kind of love.

"I wish he had written a sequel," Blythe whispered. "I wonder if he—if he could have continued glowing, even if that friend had stolen his sweetheart."

POEMS AND PLANS

CHAPTER X
NANCY certainly is beautiful. . . . Nancy certainly is beautiful.

That sentence, uttered in the theater by Norman Dana, kept moving through Blythe Miller's mind. Norman had to be back at Lincoln Field on duty at 6 p. m., so he had been forced to leave her rather hurriedly downtown.

She slipped in a place called the Ship's Anchor and ate shrimp cocktail and salad and ham patties for Sunday supper; then because she would almost surely be recognized here soon if she lingered, she slipped back out again. Two blocks up she found a branch library open.

The book she held had come from a nearby shelf labeled "Essays and Poems; Miscellany." She read one tidbit:

"I built a chimney for a comrade old,
 And love's great wages were my only hire.
 Then I traveled on in winter's cold,
 Yet all the day I glowed before the fire."

The beauty of it turned Blythe's mood into something a little mellow. Edwin Markham's poem. Edwin Markham, who must have achieved somehow the perfect philosophy of life. Blythe wondered about him. At 19, she couldn't know much about the love that grows from old companionship. But she wondered, had this poet ever fallen in love, as she was in love with Duane Hogan?

She didn't know, and she wasn't interested now in hunting his biography. She grew pensive, introspective. A chimney for a friend . . . and I glowed before his fire . . . even though out in winter's cold. Well, she could understand that. She had built a chimney for Nancy Hale, hadn't she? Nancy, the widow, who had so sadly needed friendship and gotten it from Blythe. And, truly, Blythe had glowed before that heart fire. It was all very poetic and perfect just like Edwin Markham—that far. But then Nancy had fallen in love with the boy Blythe herself had wanted. That "other" kind of love.

"I wish he had written a sequel," Blythe whispered. "I wonder if he—if he could have continued glowing, even if that friend had stolen his sweetheart."

SHE supposed he could have. Philosophers like Markham were, she conceded, far above her; almost divine. She herself felt human and little and narrow; she, Blythe Miller, wanted to do what the gashouse jennies would have done—jump on her rival and scratch out her eyes. But—no.

Her attention skipped over to a longer poem by one Hugh C. Cave, and the last stanza read:

"We go from friend to sweetheart, dear,
 Without a touch of pain.
 But—sweetheart—do you know there is
 No pathway back again?"

That simple quatrain suddenly frightened her. No pathway back again!

Duane Hogan, big Duane of the kind heart, had also seen Nancy Hale's frantic grasping for help and friendship, and of course he had responded. It had been Duane who lifted Nancy out of the wrecked coupe that night in the storm. It had been Duane who captured baby Scooter, who gave him the puppy, who almost single-handedly had remodeled the loft apartment in which Nancy and baby and puppy now lived. Of course big Duane, the sentimental Texan, had tendered friendship, and of course Nancy would have been a fool not to have succumbed. Blythe could understand all of that. But—"no pathway back again!"

The newspapers, the popular talk, even the radio, had hinted broadly that Duane and Nancy were lovers indeed. And tonight even the movie screen had seemed to verify it.

On the other hand, Pop Miller himself had lectured her on fighting for your rights, scrapping for what you want, for what is rightfully yours. Neither Pop nor his daughter Blythe liked a person who just "took" life's blows; they believed you could and should fight back. But, with brains, and Norman Dana had said in the theater that "Nancy certainly is beautiful."

"All right," Bly whispered to the book of poems now, "if he thinks she is beautiful, he could be made to do something about it! She really is beautiful, and he's good-looking himself. If only they—they—they—had struck it off together! . . . Duane liked me once. . . . I know he did; I'm sure of it. I guess I was too slow about encouraging him. Too—too prideful, waiting for him to make the open moves. . . . Duane is girlish. . . . But Norman isn't. Norman isn't shy of anything. He's aggressive to a fault. If he would only start rushing Nancy, he would flatter her even more than Duane's friendship did. . . . Maybe I . . . could do them all a favor . . . and myself as well. . . ."

THE book disappeared before her eyes and Blythe was living, planning, rehearsing a campaign out in life. There's always something zesty about playing Cupid even when you yourself are involved, and she felt a definite enthusiasm now. In the theater this evening, Norman had admitted his conceit, admitted it as a fault and tacitly said he yearned to overcome it. It had raised him high in her estimation—this new, deeper understanding of a cocky young man. It hadn't made her love him as he thought he wished her to—not that; but it made her know that some girl, somewhere, would be extremely lucky to get him. . . . Just as any girl would be lucky to win Duane.

"The truth is, Norman is lonely!"

That thought struck her all at once. It bore out some things wise old Pop had said. She was almost whispering her thoughts again.

"Norman is lonely, inside, and trying to hide his loneliness with smart talk and conceit. Hide it from himself! Pop said. . . . Pop said it is a common way for lonely people to act. . . . He said we had to forgive them. . . . and help them."

"Norman knows she is pretty; he said so. He at least likes her. It was he who suggested that the team adopt her and baby Scooter. If she—if her—her charms . . . could be dangled before Norman . . . in just the right way. . . . He has money, and money is important in Nancy's life; money and glamor and comradeship. Now if only they . . . if only I could bring them together in such a way that . . ."

Three muted notes of a gong interrupted Blythe; the library clock announcing closing time. But she didn't care. Her eyes were bright now. Bright with a new hope. A new kind of inspiration. A new plan.

within two or three months as it is vitally needed.

"No scrap dealer is getting rich," he added. "We are having trouble keeping some of them in business and recruiting enough workers to handle the stacks of scrap."

"Midland has displayed a wonderful spirit, especially in view of the fact that so much scrap has been shipped from here already," Hessler asserted.

"That is the spirit that wins wars and that is going to win this war. Midland should be near the top of the per capita scrap list for the Southwest. It was a damn nice job."

Clint Dunagan, chairman of the Midland salvage committee, who directed the campaign in cooperation with the chamber of commerce, added his praise to the success of the drive.

Praises Cooperative

"I didn't believe we could collect nearly that much metal," he said. "The cooperation has been great. Midland never had a more successful campaign of any kind."

"We certainly got the scrap which we went after. More metal still is available and any person who has salvage material should bring it to the pile as soon as possible."

Three junk dealers were here Wednesday to estimate the amount of scrap and to submit bids for it. Proceeds will go to the Soldiers

Leather Pops As Bulldogs Practice For Big Spring

Leather was popping all over the field Tuesday night as the Bulldogs polished off their offensive for the Big Spring Steers, who come to Midland for a District 3-AA grid game Friday night.

Coach Gene McCollum sent his Bulldogs through a brisk series of offensive and defensive plays Tuesday. Down the field blocking came in for particular attention on offensive strategy. McCollum lined up his second team and had them running plays to check on the first team's defensive play. Pass defense got a special checkup and will get more attention Wednesday night.

All of the Bulldogs are rounding back into shape from their crippled condition with the exception of Jack Dyson, who has not taken part in practice this week due to a knee that is still on the mend. The Bulldogs are expecting plenty of trouble in the Big Spring Steers. They came from behind to tie the Lamesa eleven last Friday and had the top edge in the statistics, particularly in the passing department. They will also have a decided weight advantage over the Bulldogs.

Bivins Tags Pastor For Split Decision

CLEVELAND, (AP)—With decisions over highly regarded Bob Pastor and Tami Mauriello in his last two scraps, Jimmy Bivins deserves a spot well up in the heavy weight ranks Wednesday.

The punching Cleveland negro, who normally fights as a light heavy tacked on a couple of extra pounds Tuesday night and grabbed a split decision from a surprised and indignant Pastor who landed far more blows, although they weren't quite so sharp, the 10,576 faithful who entrusted $35,908 to matchmaker Larry Atkins' care at the Cleveland arena seemed evenly divided on the verdict.

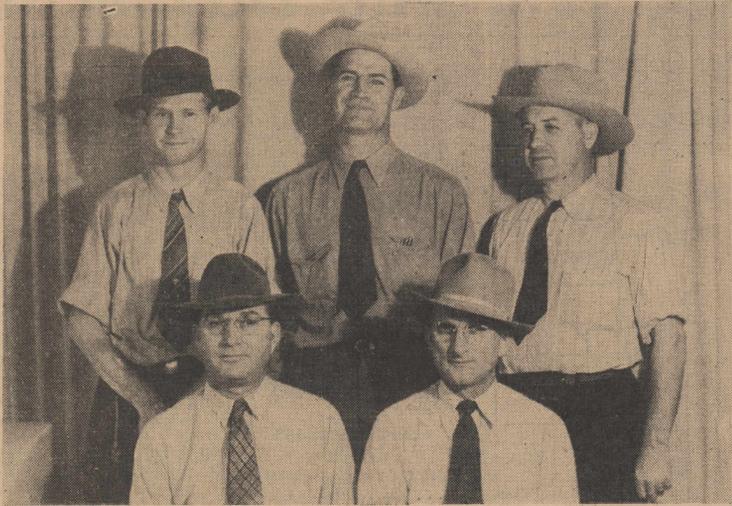

Bicycling Bob was provoked at the ruling, declaring "I won my last 14 fights and I didn't lose this one." Although Pastor twice slipped to one knee for no count, there were no knockdowns as in their first encounter six months ago when Robert won after hitting the floor in the first two rounds.

Joe Cronin Receives Red Cross Assignment

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox put thoughts of baseball away Wednesday to prepare for a journey overseas to do war work for the American Red Cross.

He hopes he'll be back in time for baseball next year—if there is any baseball. But Cronin thinks there will be baseball because "the American people want it."

Guard Ellis Jones Of Tulsa Is Hard To Handle As An Octopus

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Rugged, red-haired Ellis Jones, University of Tulsa right guard, has only one arm but he couldn't be much harder to handle, opposition linemen say, if he had as many flippers as an octopus.

A lot of people were surprised, most of all Jones himself, when the quiet, modest Texan won a starting berth on the most powerful Tulsa football team of recent years.

But Coach Henry Frnka insists that he was entirely in his right mind when he gave Jones the nod over a field of half a dozen pretty good guard candidates.

"Jones is very fast and has tremendous leg power," Frnka said. And he can block, kick, and is a good tackler. Jones injured his right arm in a fall from a tree when he was 11 years old. Blood poisoning forced doctors to amputate the arm near the shoulder.

One of his boyhood ambitions was to play football and he determined not to let the handicap stop him. He went out for football as a freshman in the Abilene, Texas, High School.

"Better not do it, kid," advised Coach Dewey Mayhew. "This is a rough game and you might get hurt." But Jones couldn't be talked out of it. So, to keep him out of danger and out of the way, Mayhew assigned him to a scrub team where he had little chance for action.

However, the sober, determined youngster had no intention of remaining with the scrubs. Hours at a time, day after day, he practiced kicking, blocking and tackling and even learned to snag a pass with the best of them.

When he was a junior, Makhew promoted him to the first string and two years later he made the San Angelo, Texas, Junior College team.

A report on Jones came to Frnka last fall from a scout who saw San Angelo play the Cameron Aggies at Lawton, Okla. "That one-armed guy," said the scout, "was in their backfield all day."

Frnka was skeptical but saw to it, nevertheless, that Jones was duly sold on the merits of Tulsa University.

And Jones soon sold himself to Tulsa when he arrived and donned a football suit.

New Coaches Are Given A New Kind Of Monday Ride

By Arnold Derlitzki CHICAGO, (AP)—Football coaches, long accustomed to Monday morning quarterbacking, are being taken for a new kind of "ride" this season—atop the shoulders of their players.

Illinois gridders hoisted their coach into the air after upsetting Minnesota. So did Notre Dame players after their stunning conquest of the Iowa Seahawks.

But for Ray Eliot, Bob Zupke's successor at Illinois, and Ed McKeever, subbing for the ailing Frank Leahy at Notre Dame, it was a ride that, come Saturday, may lead to a fall. For then the two surprise teams of the nation go about trying to mystify one another at Champaign, Ill.

Illinois, unbeaten in four games, retained its fifth place ranking in the Associated Press national poll this week; Notre Dame, beaten once, shot into eighth place—all this under the guidance of unheralded coaches.

Eliot took over this year after Zupke had not been able to direct Illinois to a conference win in two seasons. In his first conference test, Eliot saw his Illini machine roll over none other than Minnesota, the Big Ten champion.

Notre Dame, unbeaten last year, started 1942 with a tie against Wisconsin, lost to Georgia Tech and then lost its Coach Frank Leahy, who has been at the Mayo Clinic the last 12 days for a physical checkup.

Expect New Move In Extension Of Texas Oil Pipeline

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sources close to the petroleum administration predicted Tuesday night a new move for the extension of the East Texas-Illinois oil pipeline to the Eastern seaboard.

The War Production Board has had on file an application for priorities for such an extension since the board granted priorities for steel for the line, several months ago.

One observer expressed the belief that the Petroleum Coordinator's office already had sounded out WPB officials on the prospects of obtaining the needed priorities for materials.

Midland Car Owners Turn In Extra Tires

More than a dozen extra tires have been turned over to the federal government by Midland automobile owners. All car owners are allowed five tires for each car. Other tires must be turned in.

Tubes also are wanted by the government which desires to round-up all usable tires and tubes.

Persons having more than five tires per car should turn the extra tires over to the Railway Express Agency promptly. It ships them to the Defense Supplies Corporation's warehouse in San Angelo. Motorists may give the tires to the government, or may receive War Bonds or Stamps, or a federal check for them. The express agency merely receives the tires. It does not fix the value on them.

This is done by federal officials who determine the amount of payment. Several Midland motorists have donated the extra tires. One man gave two tires and asked cash for two others.

Per Capita Estimate On Scrap 61.9 Pounds

DALLAS, (AP)—Texas was still gathering in scrap metal Wednesday as incomplete reports of collections from 112 of the state's 254 counties sent the poundage for the two-weeks' drive to 288,630,264.

Per capita estimate for the reporting counties was 61.9 pounds, said Thornton Hall, director for the newspaper-sponsored campaign. For the state as a whole, based on reports to him and to the Associated Press by the papers, the per capita estimate was 44.8 pounds, Hall said.

Clint Dunagan, chairman of the Midland Salvage Committee, was praised for his excellent work in organizing and directing the successful scrap campaign Tuesday.

Piano selections were played by Roy DeWolfe. Jack Colquitt of San Antonio was a guest at the meeting.

Bill Coleman Is The Mighty Mite On Baylor's Team

WACO, (AP)—Hats off, folks, to Bill Coleman, who proved the truthfulness of the saying—"Dynamite comes in small packages."

The grinning Coleman is the spark that sent Baylor into the middle of the Southwest Conference football race. He brought the Bears from the Dolgrums and if time hadn't run out on him Baylor today probably would be among the nation's unbeaten teams.

It happened in the fourth quarter of the Hardin-Simmons game. Baylor was trailing 0-13 when the 155-pound Coleman, a wingback, came in at tailback, a position he'd never played before. It was a desperation move by Coach Frank Kimbrough, who had seen Kit Kittrell bottled up and Charlie Flowers out with an injury.

Coleman, at home in any backfield position, generalised, passed and ran the Bears to the goal line then powered his way through when Hardin-Simmons stacked its defense for big Milton Crain.

With Coleman leading Baylor almost scored again. But bringing teams out of the dolgrums is nothing new to Baylor's mite. Against mighty Texas last year he sped down the sidelines like a scored rabbit to take the pass that brought that memorable tie.

Before Pepper Martin could go home after the Pacific Coast League season he had to sell a horse he bought last spring. It wasn't the nag but Mrs. Martin who balked at hauling it all the way from Sacramento to Oklahoma.

Potential Touchdown Gallop Seldom Seen COLLEGE STATION, (AP)—Coach Homer Norton of Texas A. and M., thought he had seen it tried once—before the first World War. Only one sports writer could recall a similar play, and he reckoned it was 20 years ago.

Texas Christian's Clifton Patton tried a field goal. Boots Simmons, Texas Aggie end, blocked the attempt. Wayne Cure, Aggie guard, grabbed the ball, ran it back six yards before he was tackled.

Ordinarily no one sets out on a potential touchdown gallop when a field goal is missed—possibly because everyone is too busy heaving sighs of relief because it failed.

military authorities disclosed Wednesday. A brief announcement expressed the deep regret of General Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of Allied forces in the Southwest Pacific. It contained no details of the accident.
