Red Army Drives Nazis Back In Fierce Caucasus Fighting

LONDON — (P) — The Red Army has advanced "far beyond" Krymskaya in the Caucasus and now is storming new German fortifications, the Moscow radio reported Thursday in a broadcast recorded here by the Soviet monitor.

MOSCOW — (P) — The Red Army, hammering Thursday at the northeast approaches to Novorossisk, has taken a dozen more villages in the area in addition to Krymskaya and nine other towns which the Soviets announced they captured Wednesday in smashing through the Kuban Delta bulge toward the Black Sea port.

One of the villages is about nine miles northeast of Novorossisk in the hilly marsh country through which the Soviet troops are sweeping the Germans toward the sea in a drive gaining daily momentum.

Artillery Paves Way

Massive artillery barrages paved the way for new thrusts and moved down hundreds of German and Rumanian soldiers in the front lines and in deeply-fortified positions.

Soviet bombing planes sprayed the Axis troops with bombs and cannon fire as they tried to cling to their defense points against the mounting pressure.

The loss of 7,000 dead and of numerous men captured in the last few days has weakened the Axis forces but their strength probably remains far from crushed. For weeks Hitler has been bringing up tanks and munitions, possibly in preparation for a spring offensive in the Kuban.

Two major gains were achieved by the capture of Krymskaya, 17 miles northeast of the former Russian naval base.

It poised the Red Army in a position menacing the city and it cut the German-held railway between Novorossisk and Protoka, which is 36 miles northeast of the port.

It was disclosed here that the "Paris Commune," flagship of the Soviet Black Sea fleet, and other powerful naval units are in the Black Sea awaiting an opportunity to pounce upon any Nazi attempt to evacuate troops to the Crimea by sea.

American Planes Attack Japanese Base At Toungoo

NEW DELHI — (P) — American heavy bombers dropped more than 30 tons of bombs Tuesday on Japanese installations in Toungoo, Burma, blasting the enemy headquarters there and causing great damage to other buildings, a communication of the U. S. Army Air Forces announced Thursday.

Announcement of the raid, carried out by the Tenth Air Force, followed by a day the disclosure of a smashing attack Tuesday by four-engine Liberator bombers of the Fourteenth Air Force on Northern French Indo-China and Hainan Island, off the southern tip of China.

Ngyang Raided

The attack on Toungoo was accompanied by a raid by B-25 medium bombers on railway installations at Ngyang, west of Mandalay, where hits were registered on track and storage sheds and a turntable was demolished, the communication said.

On the Burma land front, British headquarters said Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell's forces dislodged Japanese troops from a hill near the Maungdaw-Buthedaung road, north of the big enemy base at Akyab, and inflicted casualties on the Japanese in minor fighting.

Despite the imminence of the monsoon rains, when military operations become almost hopeless, the Japanese have been persistently attempting to filter through British defenses in a drive toward the Indian frontier.

Japs Beaten Off

On the Australian front, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said nine Japanese planes tried to intercept U. S. Liberators raiding Wewak, New Guinea, but all the bombers got home and one of the enemy was damaged.

Dutch-manned bombers carried out a fire-setting raid on Japanese barracks and the wharf area at Toel in the Kai Islands, due north of Australia, and a single Australian fighter attacked Timika in Dutch New Guinea.

WLB Panel To Hear Anthracite Miners

NEW YORK — (P) — Anthracite coal operators, who have been continuing negotiations here with the United Mine Workers for a new contract, announced Thursday they would appear Friday in Washington before the War Labor Board panel considering the coal wage dispute.

Acceptance of a similar invitation last week by bituminous operators brought a charge from John L. Lewis, UMW president, that the operators had taken "French leave" of the negotiations.

War Bulletins

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy reported Thursday that Liberator heavy bombers and Lightning fighters attacked Japanese installations on Attu Island, westernmost of the Aleutians, on Tuesday.

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Several Bulgarian army units recently revolted against an order sending them to Yugoslavia to fight against Gen. Draja Mihailovic's guerilla forces, a reliable source said Thursday. It finally was necessary to cancel the order, said the informant, who could not be identified by name.

LONDON — (AP) — The Admiralty announced Thursday that the British submarine Sahib has been sunk in the Central Mediterranean but said that Lt. J. H. Bromage, the commanding officer, and 46 others of the crew had been rescued by the enemy and made prisoners of war.

Officials Taking Part In Convention Here

R. W. Knight, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, will speak at the opening session of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas meeting here Friday morning. His subject will be "Food for Victory."

Mark McGee, Fort Worth, OPA administrator for Texas, will address the Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas banquet here Friday evening.

Invasion Of Continental Europe Is Certain This Summer, Davis Says

WASHINGTON — (P) — Director Elmer Davis of the Office of War Information said Thursday there is "no question but that there will be Allied operations on Continental Europe this summer."

Davis, asked whether Allied forces could clean up North Africa soon enough to permit invasion of the continent this year, said he was confident they could.

However, he added, it might be necessary to leave a pocket of Axis resistance at Bizerte to be reduced by sustained pounding even while the continental operations are under way. The big naval base of Bizerte already is within heavy artillery range of American and French troops to the north.

"The Allies may encounter difficulty when they get the Axis knocked down to Bizerte, where the Germans evidently intend to make their final stand," said Davis, who is in close touch with military strategists here.

In my opinion it would be possible to go ahead with the invasion plans even though Bizerte remains for a time in Axis hands.

Davis gave these opinions in a brief interview.

Treasury Favors Committee's Proposed Income Tax Bill

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Treasury told the Senate finance committee Thursday that while there is "little room for choice" between three plans for current collection of taxes, the abatement of revenues proposed under the Carlson-Ruml measure advocated unsuccessfully by Republicans in the House "is thoroughly inequitable and unfair."

In an analysis of the House-approved Forand-Robertson bill, the rejected ways and means committee

Carter Deep Discovery In Winkler Flows 265 Barrels On 3-Hour Test

By Frank Gardner, Oil Editor

Flowing 265 barrels of oil in three hours through a 1-inch positive choke on casing, with average gas volume of 7,600,000 cubic feet daily, Amon G. Carter No. C-2 Pure-J. B. Walton, new Ellenburger strike in North Central Winkler County, fulfilled earlier indications of large production.

Late Wednesday, operator circulated out drilling mud with fresh water through 2 1/2-inch tubing set on bottom at 9,600 feet in Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, dolomite, after drilling plug from 7-inch casing cemented at 9,550 feet. The well failed to flow because tubing was plugged, so it was "kicked off" by injecting Keystone gas, and flowed one hour through casing to clean out. It then was shut in for one and one-half hours and when reopened flowed 70.6 barrels the first hour, with 5,900,000 feet of gas. The last hour of the three-hour test, ended at 11 p. m. Wednesday, the well made 83 barrels of oil, with rated gas volume of 8,300,000 feet per day.

Operator shut the well in overnight and again tried to flow it through tubing Thursday morning, but tubing still was plugged. It was announced that an attempt will be made to unplug tubing before any further attempt at testing is made. The Carter discovery is in the C SW NE section 1, block B-3, psd, on the Keystone structure, which already ranks as a major Permian pool. The deep well topped the Ellenburger at 9,217 feet.

Magnolia Ready To Test

On a separate, deeper-seated structure three and one-half miles west of the Carter well, Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 20 State-covery, gun-perforated 4 1/2 - inch casing with 40 shots from 10,752-72 feet and is running tubing preparatory to washing in with fresh water. The well topped the Ellenburger at 10,460 feet, 1,264 feet lower than the Carter strike, but indicated larger production on drillstem tests made before casing was cemented on bottom at 10,774 (Continued on Page 2)

Stettinius Reports On Aid For Russians

WASHINGTON — (P) — Lend-lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., disclosed Thursday that the United States had shipped $1,825,477,000 worth of goods to Russia by April 1.

An overwhelming majority of these shipments, totaling 3,500,000 long tons, reached Russia safely, Stettinius said, adding that losses were suffered principally on the North Russian route.

First Army Drives To Plain Of Tunis

WITH THE U. S. ARMY NEAR BIZERTE—(AP)— Infantry smashing toward Bizerte have taken Djebel Cheniti, the biggest remaining barrier to a breakthrough to the sea, and also Djebel Achkel. Djebel Cheniti lies on the north shore of Lake Achkel about 10 miles southwest of Bizerte, between Lake Achkel and the Mediterranean. Djebel Achkel is on the southern shore of the lake and north of Mateur. The Americans attacked Thursday along the entire sector with foot troops and armor.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—(P)—American forces captured part of jagged Djebel Achkel, on the southern shore of Lake Achkel, while the British First Army opened a door to the plain of Tunis Wednesday by driving the fiercely resisting enemy from Djebel Bou Aoukaz, 12 miles northeast of Medjez-El-Bab, it was announced Thursday.

The Northwest African Air Forces, striking fresh blows at the Axis life line across the Sicilian Straits, sank two ships and severely damaged seven more. Flying Fortresses sank an ammunition ship in the straits and damaged another in La Goulette harbor during a raid which also damaged several small craft, blasted barracks and oil storage and unloading depots and started many fires.

Stalin Wants Free Poland

MOSCOW — (P) — Establishment of a strong and independent Poland after the defeat of Germany was advocated by Premier Joseph Stalin in a letter to Ralph Parker, New York Times correspondent, made public here Thursday by Tass, Soviet official news agency, and broadcast by the Moscow radio.

Stalin added that should the Polish people so desire, post-war relations between Poland and the U. S. S. R. should be based "upon the foundation of an alliance providing for mutual assistance against the Germans as the chief enemies of the Soviet Union and Poland."

Stalin's letter was written Tuesday in answer to questions addressed to him the day before.

Tass said Parker addressed a letter to Stalin in which he asked for answers to two questions of interest to the American and British public and said Stalin replied with the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Parker:

"On May 3 I received your two questions concerning the Polish-Soviet relations.

"Here are my answers:

"First. Question: 'Does the government of the U. S. S. R. desire to see a strong and independent Poland after the defeat of Hitler's Germany?'

"Answer. Unquestionably, it does.

"Second. Question: 'On what fundamentals is it your opinion that the relations between Poland and the U. S. S. R. should be based after the war?'

"Answer. Upon the foundation of solid good neighborly relations and mutual respect, or, should the Polish people so desire, — upon the foundation of an alliance providing for mutual assistance against the Germans as the chief enemies of the Soviet Union and Poland.

"With respect,

Stalin,

"May 4, 1943."

Japs Preparing For New Blows At China

CHUNGKING — (P) — Japan is preparing "to make an important move" and China is the most probable objective, the spokesman of the Chinese army told his press conference Thursday.

"The enemy most likely will try to destroy China's resistance by mopping up operations in one area after another," the spokesman said. He said that the renewed Japanese offensive in the Taiheng Mountain area of Central China, on the Honan-Shansi border, indicated determination to wipe out the Chinese forces there. If that is done, the Japanese are likely to turn their attention to the Ching-tiao mountains in Shansi and then strike against the unoccupied areas in Honan, he said.

Drilling Contractors Discuss Problems At Informal Meet Here

Twenty West Texas drilling contractors at an informal meeting Thursday morning in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer, discussed problems currently confronting the industry.

Chiefly discussed was the shortage of manpower and equipment. Brad Mills of Dallas, executive secretary of the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors, explained how the wage freeze order of April 17 was eased by a later order permitting the "free hiring" of oil well workers.

J. E. (Ed) Warren, West Texas manager for the Carl B. King Drilling Company, presided at the meeting. C. J. (Red) Davidson, president of the Davidson Drilling Company of Fort Worth, was among the out-of-town men present.

Revolutionary Planes Developed In Britain

LONDON — (P) — Prime Minister Churchill, accompanied by only a few scientists and experts, recently viewed secret tests of late model warplanes so revolutionary in design they may change the whole trend of aeronautical development, it was announced Thursday.

Successful test flights were made somewhere in Britain and elaborate secrecy measures were taken.

Observers said the prime minister apparently was highly satisfied.

The news of the development of the new type aircraft came almost simultaneously with the pronouncement by RAF commentators that Allied planes now heavily outnumber the Germans on all fronts.

Appropriate Answer

LONDON — (P) — William Gallacher, only Communist member of the House of Commons, informed the House Thursday that he had been invited to visit India and look into the situation there.

Members promptly shouted: "Go and stay there!"

UMW Ignores Board's Plea

WASHINGTON — (P) — John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers continued to ignore the War Labor Board's efforts to solve the soft coal wage dispute Thursday as a panel took testimony from bituminous operators.

Nearly an hour late, the panel resumed hearings behind closed doors and again the UMW was not represented.

WLB officials said Charles O'Neill continued his presentation for the Northern Appalachian operators. About 50 operators, north and south, and their spokesmen were on hand.

On this third day of a two-week trial under which soft coal is being mined, there were these developments:

1—Harold L. Ickes, fuel administrator and current coal field boss for the government, set up a system where—in an emergency—coal could be seized from those who have it and diverted to those who have not.

2—War Production Board officials indicated a nationwide dimout would be ordered if the miners walk out again when the trial ends.

3—The United Mine Workers who defied the WLB gave no sign that they would participate in the hearings.

In New York, aides of Lewis said Thursday morning that he was at work in his private office in the UMW headquarters in the Roosevelt Hotel and not only would not attend the WLB hearing but would have no statement.

Greene was introduced by Ralph Barron, program chairman.

Percy Bridgewater, president, appointed Ray Upham and Percy Mims members of the club's committee on student loan funds.

Stodginess And Hush-Hush

The Senate's Truman war investigating committee which has proven itself an honest, aggressive, intelligent agency — never afraid to criticize, but never shooting off merely to get headlines — has joined in the swelling chorus of criticism against the navy's "hush-hush policy."

Revealing publicly that submarine sinkings last year reached 12,000,000 tons, and exceeded the combined construction of all the United Nations, the committee says: "German propaganda announcements that these sinkings are winning the war for Germany are not true."

Perhaps the Navy and also the Army and President Roosevelt, will pay more attention to this blast from a Congressional committee than it has to similar protests from newspaper men.

But the Navy — and the Army — should be very certain that its conviction in such matters is not ordinary mulishness, unwillingness to admit that brass hats are human and can err.

When such a policy, outside the field in which the admirals and the generals are trained, draws such universal condemnation over a long period, from demonstrably disinterested agencies as well as from the press, isn't it possible that the amateur publicists are at least slightly wrong?

There is no question of deliberate autocracy on the part of the armed services, and none of relative intelligence. The brass hats are doing what they think is right, and they are nobody's fools.

But they have been dabbling in a field about which they know no more than we newspapermen know about the handling of fleets or armies in battle.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. Their policy has resulted in lamentable lack of public confidence in government publicity which, in a democracy, is enervating and could become disastrous.

Government Payrolls Government now is paying more in wages and salaries than all American industry was paying in 1939.

These figures come from the National Industrial Conference Board. Probably they don't prove anything. But Uncle Sam is a big boy now, isn't he?

Maybe Not Evansville The War Manpower Commission has listed Evansville, Ind., as an area of critical manpower shortage.

The WMC says that Evansville must find another 21,500 persons for war industry and the draft, and has only 12,200 including housewives, and therefore is short 9,300.

Plant managers can't see how they can possibly require more than 5100 new hands this year. This would leave 16,400 for the draft, or more than twice the number the city should supply.

Maybe the data got switched in a file. Maybe it was some other city the WMC was thinking of.

Enlisted Men Plan Big Dance Saturday Saturday night is the date, and the place is the new Post Service Club at the Midland Army Air Field.

Transit Workers In Jacksonville Strike JACKSONVILLE, FLA.—(AP)—Public transportation in the Jacksonville metropolitan area, embracing 295,000 persons, was thrown out of gear Thursday when 175 buses of the motor transit company ceased operation as the result of a machinist's strike, involving 60 workmen.

NEWSPAPER WORKERS STRIKE MASSILLON, O.—(AP)—Publication of The Independent, this city's only daily newspaper, was halted Thursday by a strike of 15 composing room members of the International Typographical Union.

The End Of His Rope

First Army --

(Continued from Page 1) sentences suggested that Axis forces were planting explosives in preparation for another withdrawal. Only the roads needed for retreat are left open in such cases and efforts are made to mine these also as the rear guard falls back.

It is unlikely that the Axis is using any of the Tunisian air fields for bombers, a competent source said. And even most of the enemy fighters are now based on Sicily.

As French and American troops pressed from the south and west toward Ferryville and Bizerte, the Allied air forces announced that tremendous damage had been done to both targets by repeated aerial attacks which "all but immobilized Ferryville."

The attacks against Bizerte, important Axis supply post and naval base, were concentrated on the extensive quays an unloading facilities of the Lake Bizerte channel.

Ferryville, the satellite port eight miles away on the southwestern edge of Lake Bizerte, has been repeatedly raided by concentrated formations, the report said. It is important because of its naval dockyard, complete with repair, refueling, cooling and storage facilities.

The report said that on one occasion the weight of bombs dropped on Ferryville was so great that nearly 100 acres of docks and installations were devastated. The port was put out of commission for some time.

On the northwest corner of Lake Bizerte is Sid Ahmed airfield, four miles from the town, which also has been attacked repeatedly by Allied bombers and fighters.

Mrs. Seldner, who has one son in the Army and a third awaiting call soon, was quoted by McKee as saying the family had no religious scruple against military service, but that the sons were unwilling to kill.

Filipinos Promised Independence By Tojo

By The Associated Press The Tokyo radio quoted Premier General Hideki Tojo Thursday as saying in an address at Manila that the Philippines would be granted their independence "as soon as the Filipinos are in a position really to collaborate with Japan."

This vague promise, reported in a broadcast heard by The Associated Press in London, obviously was a bid for cooperation from the Filipinos, who would have received full sovereignty from the United States in 1946 under the Tydings-McDuffie act, the provisions of which were ratified overwhelmingly by the Philippine electorate in a plebiscite on May 14, 1935.

A Two-Minute Exercise To Strengthen Back And Legs

JEFF DONNELL: she keeps her waistline trim.

By Alicia Hart, NEA Staff Writer. If your wartime activities require a hardy backbone and staunch limbs—try a two-minute windup exercise every morning. This will preserve your look of fitness, a key factor in beauty nowadays, by conditioning your spine and limb muscles.

The routine is illustrated in the trick triple-exposure photo here by Jeff Donnell, Columbia screen lovely.

Stand erect with hands on hips. Step forward comfortably on left foot and balance in this position. Now bend the left knee and also lower trunk forward to keep a straight line from right heel to head.

Hold this moment, return to first position, then swing trunk backward and at the same time bend the right knee. Reverse, placing right foot ahead, and repeat. Continue for just two minutes. Within a week you will notice new tone in your back, stomach, leg, and neck muscles.

Public Health Notes

J. A. OLEAN, M.D., Director Midland-Cotton-Howard County Health Unit

Protection Against Disease
A child may be subject to congenital, nutritional or communicable disease. A prenatal blood test will help to protect him against congenital disease. A proper and well-balanced diet will protect him against nutritional disease. Against communicable disease, avoidance of exposure is very important. Keep the child away from persons with cough or other communicable diseases. Young children should be kept away from crowded places.

There are specific methods of protection against a few diseases. Every child should be immunized against smallpox and diphtheria. In these days of rapid and widespread travel, a parent may be exposed to smallpox in one place and come down with it in another community. Thus your child may be exposed to the disease at any unexpected time or place. Vaccination against smallpox is simple; but remember the disease is serious and disfiguring. A child should be vaccinated any time between 3 and 12 months. It should be repeated at 6 and 12 years of age.

Diphtheria is another serious disease against which special protection can be given. Immunization with toxoid is done between 9 and 18 months. The Schick test may be done 6 months after the test injection of toxoid; it determines if the child has developed adequate protection against diphtheria.

Many doctors recommend that inoculations to help immunize the child against whooping cough be given at 8 months or at any subsequent time.

Typoid fever vaccine may be given after the age of 2 years, whenever and wherever the need may arise for its use.

A tuberculin test may be done at 3 years of age and possibly every third year thereafter up to the eighteenth year. This test indicated the presence or absence of tubercularis germs in the body.

Turbanned Moroccans Prove Their Bravery On Tunisian Battle Fronts
ALGIERS, NORTH AFRICA —(P)— The Goums — those turbanned Moroccan irregulars — terrify the enemy by their power to move through impossible territory, while their sensational fighting tactics amaze their allies, the American and British soldiers.

Goums are recruited from the mountains of Morocco. They are all volunteers. During the days after the defeat of France, the Goums were held together as a potential force by a ruse. The Axis Armistice Commission was told that they were labor gangs.

The Goumier (individual member of a Goum unit) wears his hair in an odd-looking queue under a distinctive turban. His main outer garment is a brown-and-white bounous — which looks like a loose slip over a dressing gown.

Like woodsmen who have spent a lifetime hunting, Goums have developed an intimate knowledge of the rough wooded hills of North Africa and abnormally keen senses of sight and hearing.

Commission Hits Brown's Refusal For Price Raise

AUSTIN —(P)— Price Administrator Prentiss Brown's refusal to grant a crude oil price increase drew blunt criticism from the Texas Railroad Commission with one member proposing an alternative plan for a price increase to stimulate exploration for new reserves.

Brown's proposal that the government help finance the drilling of wildcat wells was labeled unsound, unseparable and inadequate by the commissioners Wednesday. At the same time Commissioner Olin Culberson proposed that the federal government compel purchasers to take the entire allowable of new fields, and that new fields be permitted to produce without shut-downs for 18 months.

Stressing that the government "doesn't belong in this game," Culberson in an interview said the Brown plan "is unseparable" and predicted that "wildcating will jump like mushrooms" if the Culberson program were adopted.

"Discoverers of some new reserves cannot sell their products because of pipeline rationing," Culberson stressed. "The government should use its plenary powers to assure wildcaters that they will not be pipeline prorated."

Stating that Brown's reasons for denying the price increase are unsound and that his decision was a serious mistake, Chairman Beauford H. Jester termed the plan to encourage wildcating with government funds as "repugnant to our conception of American government and free enterprise."

Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson in an interview said that the Brown proposal "falls wholly to care for the stripper marginal well operators who are the backbone of oil production."

Betsy Beckham Bundy's Advice To The Lovelorn

Q. I plan to entertain with a one o'clock luncheon soon, and should like some suggestions as to what I may serve, during this time of rationing, etc. I will have 20 guests.

A. Your luncheon might be served at one o'clock. Have the table dressed as attractively as possible. Some prefer satin damask in flesh, or oyster blue, and some prefer Italian cut work for the table cloth. Either is beautiful and appropriate. Rose buds combined with baby breath in crystal bowls make attractive centerpiece. You may use tapers in matching tones, or figurines of corresponding tone and purpose. If you use crystal bowl, however, be sure the figurines are of crystal, too. Crystal cornucopias overflowing with rose buds would be pretty; soak the stems of the buds in water before the luncheon and then place water-saturated cotton in the bottom of the container and the stems in the cotton, to prevent wilting of the buds.

As a menu appropriate for a luncheon in May, you might serve chicken a la king in patty shell, shoe-string potatoes, buttered asparagus tips, snuffed celery, pickle, and hot homemade rolls. As an appetizer serve mixed fruit in an orange basket. The oranges may be cut with handles from side to side, and on these may be tied a dainty pink bow of tulle. Have the chilled orange baskets on the table, when the guests are seated. With the luncheon you may serve coffee, iced tea or spiced tea.

The salad may be avocado and tomato, served on crisp lettuce curl. Cut the avocado and tomato together and season with thousand island dressing, then serve on lettuce leaf, topping with either French dressing or thousand island. Remember that avacados turn black when they stand any length of time, so be sure to leave the salad making until the last thing, and place the salad on ice immediately.

As dessert, or third course, serve strawberry shortcake. You may top the cake with heavily whipped cream, on the top of which place a whole red strawberry. This menu is all that is needed for a well appointed one o'clock luncheon.

If you make the chicken a la king yourself, it will be all the more delicious. Get nice fat young hens. Do not substitute any meat to be used with the chicken. If you are unable to get all the chickens you wish, you may purchase it in glass containers, and you may use this to add to the amount you have.

You will find this luncheon one of the best, and easiest to serve a number of guests. You may make the patties yourself, and they are lovely made at home, if you remember to make them rich enough and very crisp.

The pickles may be the sweet pickle slices or the burr pin-money pickles, so popular for parties.

Send your problems to Betsy Beckham Bundy, who will advise on affairs of the heart.

There are now five times as many bison in the United States as in 1900.

Man Who Issues Ration Books Predicts Less Rationing Of Goods In Next Year

WASHINGTON—(AP)—On his first anniversary as the man who issues ration books, Paul M. O'Leary predicted Thursday that the coming 12 months are likely to see "less rather than more rationing."

As deputy OPA administrator in charge of rationing, O'Leary gets blamed every time a man's red stamps don't produce a 2-inch steak. Now and then someone approves of his work, believe it or not. Exactly a year ago, O'Leary took the big plunge and passed out his first ration book. A half billion more have been printed since.

The first one (No. 1) was for sugar—remember? It's still in use, and coffee and shoes have been added. Other books since then include those for gasoline, fuel oil, and the processed foods-meat (No. 2) book, No. 3 book, a replacement for Nos. 1 and 2, is printed and ready to be distributed by mail this summer. No. 4, also a replacement, is in the design stage.

Want to know what's going to be rationed next? So would O'Leary. "I can't say honestly," he said, "that I have no intention of rationing anything."

"That doesn't mean that some of my staff aren't thinking from time to time of various new rationing plans. That's common sense precaution. But it doesn't mean any of these plans will necessarily ever see the light of day."

"We may see less rationing rather than more," he added, but declined to elaborate on that statement.

Seven-Day Laundry Service Is Planned

Southwest Lagging In Kitchen Fats Quotas

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The collection of waste kitchen fats from households in New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma is increasing, but still falls below the monthly quotas set for those states.

This report comes from the salvage division of the War Production Board, which announces that the national collection in March amounted to 7,312,617 pounds, or 73.9 per cent of the national quota. Quota for the nation each month is 16,667,000 pounds.

Alex Carrasquel Develops As Season's Most Amazing Pitcher With A Record Of Three Consecutive Victories

By Judson Bailey
Associated Press Sports Writer

A lot of pitching surprises, as well as surprising pitchers, have sprouted this spring in the major leagues, but none has been any more amazing than that young (?) man from Caracas, Senor Alejandro Carrasquel of the Washington Senators.

The big Venezuelan is listed in the record books as 29 years old, 30 next July, but in appearance he looks to be anywhere between 30 and 40 and his teammates say there is no telling exactly how old he really is.

Wins Three In Row

Anyway, he has been with Washington for four years prior to this season without ever winning more than seven games. He reached this nominal peak last year, when he also lost seven.

In the fact of this undistinguished precedent big Alex has opened the 1943 campaign by whipping the Philadelphia Athletics three times to take his place among a select little group of hurlers who have won three games without a defeat.

Carrasquel looked fast in spring training, but he was still rated as a relief pitcher when the Senators staged their inaugural with the A's on April 20. He worked the last five innings of that affair, allowed but two hits, and received credit for the victory. Five days later he was chosen to start against the A's at Philadelphia and proceeded to shut them out on two hits.

Rookie Makes Balk

Wednesday he beat them again 8-1 on four hits and the only run against him came on an error in the ninth.

The New York Yankees remained on top the A. L. by nosing out the Boston Red Sox 4-3 again in the ninth inning with the help of a balk by Rookie Pitcher Anton Karl, who got excited when the Yankees loaded the bases and threw a pitch without having his feet on the rubber.

The second place Cleveland Indians divided a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox. They won the first game 2-1 but dropped the nightcap 5-2 when Dick Culler, Sox rookie third baseman, singled two runs across in the 11th inning. Wally Moses also stole home to add insult to injury.

Overmire Steps Browns

Frank (Stubby) Overmire secured his place among the year's surprising new pitchers by holding the Detroit Tigers rapped out a 5-1 decision—their fourth straight over St. Louis this spring.

The Brooklyn Dodgers plowed the Philadelphia Phillies back into the National League cellar with an 18-6 drubbing on the strength of the 23 hits good for a total of 30 bases.

The St. Louis Cardinals, having to struggle every day against the tough western clubs while the Dodgers are grazing on the tender eastern turf, were set down 2-1 in 14 innings by the Chicago Cubs as what looked to be a sure double-play grounder took a bad hop over second baseman Jimmy Brown's head.

Passeau Aids Himself

Both Claude Passeau of the Cubs and Max Lanier of the Cards went the whole route and allowed the same number of hits, 12, but Passeau helped himself by doubling home the tying run in the seventh.

New York's groggy Giants swept a doubleheader from the Boston Braves 5-1 and 7-3 after Manager Mel Ott had benched himself and Babe Barba for weak hitting.

Bucky Walters pitched and batted Cincinnati to a 3-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a night game. He allowed only five hits and singled home two runs to gain his second success of the season.

Fielding Gem

Ranked as a defensive player in American Association circles with Eddie Miller, Phil Rizzuto and Pee Wee Reese, Dick Culler, above, rounds out Chicago White Sox infield as third baseman. He starred at shortstop and second for St. Paul.

Governor Signs Curfew Measure

AUSTIN —(AP)—The curfew bill to shorten hours for the sale and public consumption of alcoholic beverages carried the governor's signature Thursday but it won't become law until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns May 11.

Failure to get sufficient votes in the Senate to put the emergency clause into effect will prevent its provisions from becoming operative before August.

Beer sales will stop uniformly at midnight on week days, except Saturday when they may continue for an hour later, under terms of the bill. A 15 minute period for consumption is allowed after sales stop each night. Sunday beer sales may not begin before 1 p.m.

Liquor may be sold only from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. during the week. The old Sunday closing law on distilled spirits sales is not affected.

Posture Poster

To keep war production at a peak, this year's official poster for National Posture Week—May 3 to 8—suggests correct carriage to combat fatigue.

Texas Woman Named Camp Kearns Mother

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—"Mother's Day" for Pvt. Vergil C. Herrington, 21, of Palestine, Texas, is something special.

Expected to arrive Friday is his mother, Mrs. Callie Herrington. Her son must share her, however, for she has been designated "Kearns Mother" by a vote of the men at the Army Air Force basic training center at Kearns, near Salt Lake City. Her trip is being sponsored by the post.

A mother of six sons, three of them in the service, Mrs. Herrington will be escorted to the base by a detachment of military police of which her son is a member.

Dies Plans Probes In Several Cities

JASPER, TEXAS—(AP)—Representative Martin Dies (D-Texas) chairman of the House committee on un-American activities, plans executive sessions of his committee in a number of cities for the purpose of investigating subversive elements.

With his family at his home near Jasper, the congressman said he believed it would be necessary to hold executive sessions in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, New Orleans, Houston, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and perhaps other cities.

ON EACH SHOULDER

OCEANSIDE, CALIF.—(AP)—Col. James W. Flett of Highlands, N. J., has two eagles to attest to his rank. They're live ones, caught at the Marine camp by Lieut. Charles W. Byers, Apollo, Pa., to celebrate Flett's promotion to lieutenant colonel.

Count Fleet Almost Cinch To Become Sixth Triple Crown Winner In History

BALTIMORE —(AP)—Unless "The Fleet" hits a submerged mine (or vice versa) he's a cinch to become the sixth triple crown winner in all racing history this year—and the funniest part about it is that he's getting in on a pass.

Now, this is not taking a thing away from Count Fleet, or his chances of following up his Kentucky Derby victory by cakewalking over two or three "escorts" in the Preakness Saturday here at old Pimlico, and waiting in with the Belmont next month when he gets back to New York.

But, both the Count and his owner, Mrs. John D. Hertz, probably will be the first to admit that the fancy brown lightning streak is a pretty lucky fellow who came along after both the Pimlico and Belmont folks thought to open the back door to just such gee-goes who were given a brush-off when they were youngsters.

Tigers Receive Big Surprise In Little Package

DETROIT —(AP)—The old saw about big things coming in little packages is a gilt-edged truism for the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers happen to own the shortest pitcher on the major league scene—five-foot, seven-inch Frank (Stub) Overmire, a rookie southpaw who has made two American League starts and has two easy victories. Wednesday he dished up a four-hitter to beat the Browns at St. Louis, 5 to 1.

The Tigers plucked him out of their backyard orchard for a mere $400 at about the same time they and most other clubs were knocking each other down to get to Dick Wakefield, another Detroit rookie who received a fabulous $52,000 for his contract.

Prekness Saturday here at old Pimlico, and waiting in with the Belmont next month when he gets back to New York.

But, both the Count and his owner, Mrs. John D. Hertz, probably will be the first to admit that the fancy brown lightning streak is a pretty lucky fellow who came along after both the Pimlico and Belmont folks thought to open the back door to just such gee-goes who were given a brush-off when they were youngsters.

This back door is a little stunt called "the supplementary nomination" which Alf Vanderbilt thought up when he was at both Pimlico and Belmont.

Alf figured there must be some gallopers who were just guys named "Joe" when they were little fellows, but who grew up to be rip-sporters—so why not permit them to be made eligible to a race when they grew up to be big boys simply by putting a little extra cash on the barrel-head as a penalty for coming to school late?

If Alf had installed the Prekness supplementary eligibility five years ago and the Belmont supplementary just last season, the Count would have won the Derby and then kissed the boys good bye, because it would have been too late to get him in then.

Sports Roundup

While Wakefield was batting Michigan to a Western Conference title in 1941, Overmire was doing a sort of pitching stunts for relatively obscure Western Michigan College at Kalamazoo, Mich. Played With Beaumont

A. J. (Wish) Egan, veteran Tiger ivory hunter, had tabulated Overmire's 21 college victories, including a no-hitter against only five defeats, and after Wakefield was signed he hustled out to see Overmire. The Tigers agreed to clean up some unpaid college bills of approximately $400, and a few hours later Overmire was en route to Muskegon of the Michigan State League. He won 12 and lost four there.

Last season under Steve O'Neill, new Tiger manager, Overmire jumped to Beaumont of the Texas League where he won 14 and lost 11. After 15 scoreless innings in exhibition games for Detroit this spring, Overmire made his big show debut to days ago with a five-hit, 4 to 1 victory over Cleveland.

Interscholastic Meet Gets Underway Friday

AUSTIN —(AP)—Approximately 1,200 boys and girls begin arriving here Friday for the nation's No. 1 juvenile carnival—the Texas Interscholastic League meet.

Operated as a 11-ring circus, the meet will decide state titles among high school champions in debate, declamation, extemporaneous speech, ready-writing, typing, shorthand, journalism, one-act play, tennis, track and field and rural pentathlon.

Roy Bedichek, League director, said entries for the two-day meet ranked with other years, except in rural divisions.

Cardinals Laud Slugger Garms

CHICAGO —(AP)—"He has as much stamina as anyone on the team, and maybe more," said Manager Billy Southworth.

"He can really skip the dew," said Coach Buzzy Wares.

The board of strategy of the St. Louis Cardinals apparently was unanimous in its praise of Debs Garms, who, nearing 35, is the world's champions' oldest and smallest active player.

"We've used him in eight games against right-handed pitchers thus far," Southworth said. "He hasn't been hitting as well as in spring practice. I think he's trying too hard. He has the feeling that fans are always trying to draw comparisons between him and Enos Slaughter, whose place he took in right field."

"But he'll get over that. I look for him to hit for us in about every game later on."

Wares insists Garms is one of the most rugged men on the team.

"He's got a farm down in Texas," Buzzy appraised. "And, boy, was he in the pink when he joined us. He's as quick as a fly and has got more wind than the month of March. I've seen some of our youngsters challenge him for a run. He beat their pants off."

The fast little Texan, who came up from Howard Payne College to break in the majors with the Browns 11 years ago, won the National League batting crown while at Pittsburgh in 1940 with a .355 mark.

Mrs. G. J. Giunta, who has been ill in a hospital here for several weeks, has returned to her home.

Beginner's Luck

DENTON —(AP)—Coach Lloyd Russell of North Texas State has wound up an eventful year.

His basketball team won the Lone Star Conference championship, his track team did the same thing.

It's Russell's first year at the Denton college.

Magician Is Operating Toy Shop Of Death At Midland Bombardier School

A magician is running a toy shop of death here at the Midland AAF Bombardier School, turning out weird-looking contraptions to hasten defeat of the Axis.

His most important and impressive product is an apparatus about 1 foot long and four feet high, of plastic, metal and bright-colored wood, which looks like a cartoonist's idea of a perpetual motion machine.

No, this doesn't mean Uncle Sam has taken to Voodooism. It's a sane, sensible, scientific solution to technical problems encountered in the training of the most dangerous men in the world, Army Air Forces bombardiers.

The "perpetual motion machine" is a giant model of the Norden bombsight. With this model, aviation cadets at this world's largest bombardier school can learn the intricacies of the sight far more rapidly and thoroughly than with a real sight, with its thousands of tiny parts.

Magician Built Model

Lieutenant Joseph J. Chopp, a former professional magician, built the model and supervises a workshop in which this and similar devices are being produced for Army Air Forces schools throughout the country.

Lieutenant Chopp is a native of South Range, Michigan. He earned his way through school and college by sleight-of-hand performances, playing the clarinet and saxophone and running a beauty parlor. He has made several national tours as a magician.

He attended River Falls (Wis.) State Teachers' College and the University of Wisconsin, studying chiefly educational and biological subjects, but finding time to pick up such things as cabinet-making, blacksmithing and carpentry. He held a master barber's license and has worked as a jeweler. His research in school covered such varied subjects as cancer and cabbages.

Took Bombardier Training

He taught at Marquette University and Whitewater State Teachers' College, and was commissioned last summer to be a ground instructor of student bombardiers. As a preliminary he took the entire bombardier's course himself to acquire a full understanding of the problems involved.

"We ran into many difficulties in explaining the mechanics of the bombsight to cadets," said Lieut. Chopp. "It takes several hours to take apart and several more to reassemble. By the time you had it down to a point where you could explain the part you wanted, half the day was gone. Besides, the sight has so many parts that it is impossible to give a room full of students a clear picture of the subject."

So Lieutenant Chopp, calling up on his various talents, set to work to build a model bomb sight big enough to demonstrate its workings to a large class.

The model is complete in all details, and Lieutenant Chopp says, "You could bomb with it if you had an airplane big enough."

Other inventions in addition to the complete sight, he made several models of parts of the mechanism to show the relationships and functions of the various pieces. He also constructed models of an air speed indicator, stabilizer, pilot's direction indicator by which the pilot maintains the course required by the bombardier, and various other gadgets. Another of his inventions was plexiglass bombs, so students could see the workings of a missile in its entirety and without having to take it apart.

Officers from other fields examined Lieutenant Chopp's works and were so impressed that a workshop has been established at the Midland Bombardier School for mass production of the models. A picked staff of enlisted men is now working under Lieutenant Chopp's direction so his magic can be applied to all AAF flying fields and schools where it will be helpful.

Now Lieutenant Chopp is turning his attention to the problem of improving parachutes.

"I hope to take a parachute course that will include a few jumps," he said, "as I have some ideas for improving the chutes to increase their safety."

All mammals, from a tiny mouse to the giraffe, have seven vertebrae in the neck.

Replica Of Old Confederate Ship Works For Navy

RICHMOND, Va. — (AP) — The Navy doesn't allow identification of ships by name or location. But there's one exception riding hard at anchor on Richmond's Sixth street.

The ship is the U.S.S. Merrimac and the nearest water to her anchorage is in the corner fireplug. The Navy welcomes civilians aboard in hopes that they'll go out sailors.

The Merrimac, wooden replica of the famous old Confederate ironclad that became the battleship Virginia, was launched last July on the concrete. The Richmond Inter-club Council and a number of business men financed the sidewalk shipbuilding project and then gave the Merrimac to the Navy.

Immediately the Merrimac made her might felt in the recruiting fleet. Navy enlistments in Virginia had averaged about 675 a month for the first six months after Pearl Harbor, but the month the new campaign was launched from the decks of the downtown dreadnaught, enlistments jumped to 1,775 and kept increasing in the months that followed. They were running at better than 2,000 a month when enlistments were halted under altered Selective Service regulations.

The ship now aims her recruiting guns at potential waves, and sometimes serves as headquarters for bond drives.

Radio Robots Used To Measure Rainfall

GATLINBURG, TENN. — (AP) — Tiny radio robots scattered throughout the Great Smoky Mountains National Park area are performing vital roles in the Tennessee Valley Authority's flood control program.

The robots, which TVA also uses to measure stream flow, now automatically record rainfall in the upper watershed of the Tennessee River basin. They were developed by water control engineers, and record weather conditions without the aid of human hands.

DARK JUNGLES

BY JOHN C. FLEMING & LOIS EBY

RENALDO CHAPTER XXVIII

THE three men slid down the steep bank of the hillock and joined Allison, who had been waiting below.

"Let's go back down the path a safe distance where we can talk without being overheard," Barry whispered.

Without another word the little group retraced their steps a few hundred yards and stopped under a clump of tamaracs.

Allison jumped from the mule's back.

"I feel like a pretzel!" she whispered, stretching her legs and doing a routine of bending exercises.

Barry's face was a study in thoughtfulness. Finally he said, "I think the next thing is to follow this trail down and see if we can find where they are treating the ore."

Hall opened his shirt and dug into a money belt. Presently he pulled out a crumpled letter and handed it to Barry.

"This is the letter the company secured from the Guatemalan government to the Quiche chief asking for his co-operation. It should carry some weight if I can ever get to him."

Barry's face brightened as he read the letter. When he finished he said, "I've got it! The Quiches have never seen you, and Tony here speaks enough of their language to act as your interpreter. Why don't you and Tony go to the chief at once and Allison and I will follow this trail and see what we can find out. From what the chief told me he doesn't know that these remote mines are being worked. He did say that he'd been having trouble with some of his tribesmen—that he knew some white men were giving them money—breaking the oath of Chichicastenango."

"I can't believe that Renaldo would have any hand in this sort of thing," Allison said. "He knows too well what the dangers would be if the tribe were aroused."

"It's hard to believe," Barry agreed. "But you told me yourself Renaldo is ambitious."

"We, of course, have no right to condemn him—yet!" Allison said.

"No, not yet."

TONY was busy tightening the cinches on the two mules, getting ready for the trek to the village-of-the-market-place.

"How far is it from here to the Quiche village?" Hall asked Tony.

The Indian scratched his black thatch of hair. "We be there before sundown."

Hall shook hands with Allison and Barry and left.

"We can't be far from the coast," Barry said, smiling apologetically. "If you can take it we'll push on."

Allison was running a comb through her hair. She stopped and smiled up at Barry.

"What do you mean—if I can take it?"

Barry laid his hands on her slender shoulders and there was a twinkle in his gray eyes.

"I guess I shouldn't ever question your ability to take it after the way you've come through hardship down here." He hesitated for a moment and then went on. "I keep thinking of the girl I met on the boat in New York. The girl who had never known what hardship was."

"That was so long ago," Allison said in a hushed voice, "that that Allison seems like a dream to me. I don't think I ever knew her—really."

Her violet eyes were shining in the pale light of early morning. Barry tightened his grip on her shoulders and brushed his lips lightly over her forehead. He had a wild desire to crush her in his arms, to pour out what was really in his heart—but his job wasn't done. He couldn't ask a girl to believe in him until he could prove his courage was a match for hers. He pulled himself away from her and said shortly, "Let's be getting along."

Barry insisted that they stop often to rest and bathe their hands and faces in the cold cascades of spring water that suddenly sprang from rocks to sparkle briefly in the sun and run away down the slope.

The sinking sun was setting everything afire with its glow when the Caribbean finally loomed below them like a sheet of colored glass. The air grew warmer as they reached the lowlands and the sun had been swallowed up by the sea when Barry suddenly pulled his mule to a stop. He pointed ahead and spoke in a low voice.

"See those fires down there? That must be where they treat the ore."

ALLISON'S eyes were taking in the scene. A dozen fires were glowing through the dusk and the dark forms of men were moving in their light.

"What do we do now?" Allison asked.

"We'll get as close as we can and still be safe."

They moved on slowly until they came to a clump of trees. Barry stopped and slid from his mule. He motioned Allison to follow. Together they watched. The glow from the fires showed the outline of huge clay ovens. Indians were shoveling in the ore to be roasted. Others were filling large earthenware jugs with the precious quicksilver and sealing the tops with wax. Two Indians were hoisting the heavy jugs onto a two-wheeled cart.

"I think Hall was right!" Barry whispered. "They are loading the fishing boats and will probably wait until late tonight to sail out to a waiting submarine."

They moved stealthily through the night, skirted around the flat promontory where the roasting was being carried on and didn't stop until they stood in the dark shadows on the narrow strip of beach.

Two-wheeled carts were coming in a steady stream down the slope and through the sand to the water's very edge. The heavy wheels cut deeply into the soft beach and Quiche drivers urged the mules on with cracking whips.

A fire burned on the beach to cast an eerie light for loaders who were stowing the jars into boats no larger than dinghies!

Suddenly from out of the blackness a man in white riding breeches and boots stepped into the glow of the firelight. He was shouting orders to the Indians, urging them to hurry with their loading.

Allison's small hand clutched Barry's arm.

Barry stiffened. Through hard-clenched teeth he muttered, "Why, the rat! Renaldo!"

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney America's Card Authority In my opinion the position of bridge after the war will be even stronger than it was a few years ago, when some thought it was at its height. Not only are bridge parties used to raise thousands of dollars for various war relief causes, but organized bridge itself is dedicated to work for underprivileged children.

Handwritten bridge deal for Mrs. Schellenberg. Includes cards dealt to North and South, and a list of hands to be played.

York are very much interested in the children's ward at Memorial Hospital, and one of the hardest workers for this cause is Mrs. Ralph H. Schellenberg, who is associated with the Mayfair Bridge Club.

Mrs. Schellenberg and her associates are continually making clothes for the children, nevertheless she takes time off to play an occasional hand of bridge. Here is a hand I thought she played very well.

The first trick was won by West with the queen of diamonds and the club queen was returned. Mrs. Schellenberg (North) won this trick with dummy's ace and ruffed a club in her own hand. She then led the queen of trumps, hoping to tempt a cover if East held the king. When a low card was played, the ace went up in dummy, hoping to drop the singleton king from the West hand—but this did not happen. As the king of trumps must be lost, she could afford to lose only one other trick, and was faced with two possible losers.

Quality Is First At Excel-Sure Cleaners

Quality is placed first above all other considerations at the Excel-Sure Cleaners, 110 North Big Spring Street.

Because of wartime shortages of fabrics of wool and silk, and with artificial and synthetic materials becoming more common skilled cleaning service looms increasingly important, James L. Daugherty, owner, points out. Despite a record rush of business, care in cleaning still is stressed by the shop to protect fabrics.

The most essential part of care for clothing is proper cleaning, Daugherty says, and the proper cleaning can only be done if the shop is equipped properly. The Excel-Sure plant is modern throughout and has the best equipment available.

Distillation and filtration of solvents is one of the processes which protect clothing when it is sent to the Excel-Sure plant at 110 North Big Spring. A vacuum still for distilling cleaning solutions removes fatty and acid substances from the solutions, giving assurance that clothes will be thoroughly cleaned and will have a brighter color.

Safe, Dependable Hauling Service To Eight States Offered By Rocky Ford Moving Vans

It is a long distance from California to Kansas, but moving furniture and other articles between the two states is one of the jobs of Rocky Ford Moving Vans. The company operates from Midland to points in Texas, California, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Kansas.

Safe, dependable local and long-distance hauling is the basis of the success of the company, which has been in operation since 1926. A fleet of five large trucks is operated by experienced drivers, most of whom have been with the firm since 1928.

The trucks are large enclosed vans varying in size from 15 feet to 26 feet in length and each is specially constructed. All are equipped with padded dollies for handling refrigerators, and a special clothes closet is built into each, eliminating the necessity of packing clothes for moving. Plenty of pads are used in moving furniture to avoid scarring.

Howard ("Rocky, Jr.") Ford, manager of the company, now is in the Army and is in officers' training camp. During his absence the business is operated by Mrs. Annie Ford, owner, and W.A. Dunn, manager.

Drivers for the company are V.O. Sanders, V. M. Lundie, Bill Howell, Ross Steed, and Bill Brown. Three of these drivers have never figured in an accident since they entered the employ of the company in 1928, and no Rocky Ford van has figured in a serious accident although the trucks are driven thousands of miles each year.

Three storage warehouses are maintained in Midland by the firm, and each is bonded. Day and night moving service is offered.

Safety is a watchword for the company, and its record proves that it is maintained.

Glass For Many Purposes Cut At New Shop Here

Midland residents should not overlook window and door glass when they start their annual spring repair work on their homes. While other work is being done, cracked scratched and broken glass should be replaced.

Many persons are inclined to think that replacing broken glass is expensive, especially when the piece needed is of unusual shape or size. These persons should investigate the new glass department of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Company at 217 West Missouri Avenue.

Hugh M. Shelton, manager of the shop, will gladly give estimates on all types of glass work. He specializes in automobile, furniture and desk top, and plate glass.

Glass is cut to fit any pattern and is polished before being installed. Reasonable prices are charged.

On orders for furniture and desk tops, measurements are taken, patterns made, and the glass cut to fit requirements. Fast, expert service is given.

Home-owners preparing to repair and renovate their homes are urged by Marvin English, manager of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Company, to see the complete lines of paints, wallpapers, builders hardware, lumber and other material in stock at the company's store and yard.

Steal A Tip From A Chef On Cooking Unfamiliar Cuts

Oven-browned pork feet on hot fluffy rice makes a delectable meal, especially when accompanied by an Oh-so-good brown gravy. Onions baked in tomatoes, and a crisp salad complete the meal.

Many an idea for dishes that keep hot for late home-comers is found in an exclusive restaurant. One such long-standing favorite is pork feet served hot on a bed of rice or with greens or sauerkraut. Other delectable ways in which swank restaurants serve this fairly available meat are pan-broiled pork feet with piquant sauce, or pork feet cooked, dipped in crumbs and deep-fat fried. Pork feet cold with vinegar sauce, or pickled pork feet are other old favorites.

Only simple treatment is needed to bring pork feet to their best. Allow one to two pork feet per person. Simply season with salt and pepper, cover with water, cover and cook below the boiling point until tender. If vegetables are to be added, put them in just long enough before serving to be tender but not overcooked.

Some recipes for serving pork feet as the delicacy they're considered by many, are as follows:

Baked Pork Feet

Barely cover the pork feet with cold salted water. Heat to boiling point and simmer until tender. Arrange on a greased baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (450 F.) until browned. Good served with rice, or macaroni, or spaghetti and cheese.

Pork Feet and Greens

Wash the pork feet. Cover with cold water and cook at simmering temperature (do not boil) for about 2 or 3 hours, until tender. Season and serve on hot platter with spinach or other greens.

Boneless Pork Feet Pan-Broiled

6 pork feet
2 quarts cold water
1 large carrot
1 medium onion
Bread crumbs
Few sprigs parsley.
Salt
3 tablespoons whole mixed spices

3 stalks celery
Cover pork feet with cold water; add carrot, onion, celery, salt and spices. Simmer gently for about three and one-half hours or until tender enough for bones and press into shape with hands. Place between two platters with a weight on top and let cool over night. Separate, dip in melted butter or other fat, then roll in fine bread crumbs. Let stand in refrigerator after patting well. Pan-broil on a lightly greased skillet to a golden brown, turning frequently. Place in platter around a mound of braised red cabbage. Garnish with parsley and serve with Piquant Sauce.

Piquant Sauce:
Chop 1 small onion and 1 dill pickle very fine. Add 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon mustard and 1 cup meat stock. Simmer until stock and vinegar are reduced to one-third original volume. Stir in 1 tablespoon butter and serve.

Hogg Foundation Consultant Will Conduct Forums On Wartime Problems At Midland Auditorium Friday

Mrs. Alice McConnell, Hogg Foundation consultant, will be in Midland Friday for meetings with high school students and will conduct a forum discussion meeting Friday night at the high school auditorium to which the public is invited.

A group of students who will take part in the discussion Friday night was selected Thursday by G. B. Rush, high school principal. Members of the forum group are Colleen Oates, Kelly Lewellen, Gene Hayes, Kathryn Hanks, Jim Hazelwood, Glenn Murray, Mary Frances Carter and Faye Doris Douglas.

During the past five months Mrs. McConnell has been supervisor of women training in aircraft production and repair. She has had personal contact with hundreds of women who are shifting from school or domestic life to war work, and she will put special emphasis on the subject, "Women and War."

Mrs. McConnell will discuss topics and questions pertaining to wartime living and jobs in talks with the students in assembly Friday and in discussions with various groups of girls during the day.

Because of the need for adjustment of people to modern conditions of living, the Hogg Foundation in cooperation with the Home-making division of the State Board for Vocational Education has secured the services of Mrs. McConnell to work with groups of women who are interested in their own adjustment and that of their families to wartime living. Mobilization and employment of women is the dramatic side of the problem. Less dramatic but as important are the transitions to war service, family life and community responsibilities every woman must face. These are some of the subjects taken up by the consultant.

Mrs. McConnell has a background of experience in the educational and civic affairs of the state which makes her especially well-qualified to interpret the war's impact upon the life of the individual.

The program Friday night is open to the public, and an invitation is extended to all interested persons.

Dailey Brothers Circus Presents Two Performances In Midland Thursday

Dailey Brothers Circus, making its 25th annual coast to coast tour, will present two performances in Midland Thursday at the show-grounds on west Highway 80. The afternoon show will open at 3 o'clock, and the evening performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

Early risers Tuesday morning saw two herds of elephants pinching for the many workmen who now are in the armed forces, and watched them raise the tons of canvas and move the trucks and wagons into position.

The shortage of labor has hit the circuses hard this season but the genial pachyderm has come to the rescue to make the circus possible and to assist in many ways. The elephant is never happier than when doing his bit.

Now that the European circuses are off the road for the duration and many of the star performers refugees in this country, the American circus has benefited thereby. Featured with Dailey Brothers this year are many of these noted arenic stars.

These include Evalyna Rossi, petite French aerialist who performs daring heel and toe catches high in the air; Marie Roploff and her trained Russian bears; the Aguilido Family from Manila and the famous baseball playing elephants trained and presented by little Norma Davenport, 11 year old circus genius.

Dailey Brothers are particularly proud of their Kentucky thoroughbred horses, performing in the three rings their intricate drills and poses. Together with ponies, dogs and monkeys and of course a bevy of funny clowns, acrobats, tumblers and wire walkers, the circus offers a fast two hour performance in three rings—on the hippodrome track and high in the air.

Circus Prodigy Appears Here

Little Norma Davenport, not quite 12 years old, is one of the headline attractions with the Dailey Brothers Circus appearing in Midland Thursday.

Old Clocks Needed At Bombardier Base

The Midland Bombardier School here still needs old, worn-out alarm clocks and clock works, Col. John P. Kenny, commanding officer, said.

Parts of the clocks are to be used in the construction of super-size models of the U. S. bombardier, which are being constructed here to be used as instructional aids at bombardier schools throughout the country, Colonel Kenny said.

Emphasizing that only broken, worn-out clocks and clock works were desired, Colonel Kenny added those donating them would be "materially aiding the bombardier training program."

The clocks may be left at the offices of the Midland Chamber of Commerce in the Scharbauer Hotel.
