Mission To Moscow

The eminent liberal philosopher, John Dewey, and pitalities. Suzanne of the Wisconsin La Follettes have taken the trouble to check the film "Mission to Moscow" against former Ambassador Joseph E. Davies' book of the same name, on which the picture supposedly is based.

Their research confirms what many who have seen the film and read the book felt, without exerting them-selves to verify their suspicions. The picture plays fast and loose with the book.

This might be of no particular consequence if the picture were designed as a romance, a drama, a musical—anything in the pure entertainment field. # Patriotism To Whom?

This country has witnessed the humiliation of our Take famous Doctor's herbal tonic to help government by American coal miners and their leaders,

There is no use trying to overlook the facts—the men walked off the job in defiance of requests of the President of the United States; they refused to go back to work at his request, and only returned to work on orders from he head of their union.

This flagrant disregard of public welfare, and established agencies of government, was but one step removed from open revolution in war time.

And yet the head of the United Mine Workers, according to news reports, says to the men, who struck: "Your record of patriotism can never be challenged."

Beth Carter, WAAC

BY LORETTE COOPER

THE STORY: Beth Carter, WAAC, is Major Brit Jackson's "one-man" staff on the tiny camouflaged island in the Pacific where his unit of the Coast Artillery Barrage Balloon battalion is based. Information leaks are suspected. After Beth overhears the mysterous Lita Danton perspade Brit to give free passage to the plane that brought her and her companion, Rick Roth, into a forced landing on the island, an important paper is discovered missing. Beth decides to do some sleuthing on her own. She sees Brit meet Lita and Rick secretly. He seems about to divulge important military information when they suddenly become aware of her presence.

DETROIT - (AP) - Employes

(CIO) strike move Friday as

with management and union

DETROIT—(A)— The entire war effort of Chrysler Corporation was threatened Friday as upwards of 20,000 members of the UAW-CIO remained away from their jobs for a second day in the most serious work stoppage in Detroit since Pearl

A company spokesman expressed fear the strikes, which closed three plants Thursday and disrupted production in a fourth, might spread to the huge Chrysler tank arsenal. The spokesman said all 85,000 Chrysler workers in the country might be affected in a few days.

Workers at the three plants walked out in protest over what UAW-

CIO President R. J. Thomas described as "legitimate and serious grievances." Thomas said, however, the strikes were not authorized and added he believed "the leaders are making a mistake trying to adjust these grievances through strikes."

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler director of labor relations, wired Thomas Thursday requesting him to urge the men to return to work.
