a Chiasso dispatch said. Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio ousted the Milan military commander, General Canale, and ordered Gen., Vittorio Ruggero, chief of an Alpinist division, to take over in that industrial area, it was reported. These and other sharp measures were taken by Badgolio, seeking to quell domestic unrest and prevent dissemination of the peace offer broadcast to Italy by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Thursday, But talk of an armistice persisted Discipline Stiffened

A definite stiffening of governmental discipline was described in reports reaching Bern. While peace and liberty of political thought continued to be the main objectives of demonstrations throughout Italy, Badoglio's army-enforced decrees sharply limiting freedom of expression by newspapers aroused bitterness among liberal and leftist political leaders. Many described the new censorship measures as smacking of those which Benito Mussolini and his ousted Fascist regime had imposed during the past 20 years.

Badoglio, however, did not succeed in keeping the Eisenhower speech from the public. While countless thousands listened to it on the radio, mimeographed copies appeared on the streets of the principal cities a few hours after its publication was banned in the newspapers.

Real Cost Of Living

Statistical measurements of the cost of living are out of date before they are completed. It takes time to gather the basic information, to transmit it to Washington, to go through the lengthy and somewhat involved computations by which huge masses of figures are reduced, eventually, to a simple statement that it cost 26.9 per cent more to live on May 15, 1943, than it did on August

However, at present the trend is ever upward. When Labor Department figures as of May 15 arrive on July 15, we can be certain of one thing: The cost of living is higher now than when the figures were gathered by government shoppers in 1200 stores in 56 cities from Savannah to Seattle.

Therefore all such statistics must be taken with understanding of their fallibility. The cost of living today exceeds that for August 15, 1939, by more than 26.9 per cent—statistically. Actually, as it affects your pocketbook and ours, the cost of living today is even more excessive than government figures show. And nobody, however great his resources, can determine how much greater.

The reason is this. In determining cost of living the government or any other agency assumes that the avergovernment of any other agency assumes that the average family buys so many pounds of bread, of pot roast, of prime rib roast; so many quarts of milk; such and such items of clothing, etc. "Weighting" thus the company No. 1-K Unitems of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the first 18 hours of the Emma field in South Andrews, reported pumping 149 barrels in the parative prices ascertained by shoppers, it is determined that it would have cost so much to buy these items on August 15, 1939, so much more on April 15, 1943, and therefore that the weighted cost of living has risen by living has risen therefore that the weighted cost of living has risen by oil as possible from certain fields at 5,500 feet, after plugging back from 7,500 feet. But we live now in an economy of great and growing and shifting scarcities. We do not buy now what we bought in 1939. She winds up with a prime rib roast that she never would have thought of buying in 1939, or more probably, today, with a loin roast of pork that takes every penny she had.

If the butcher had been able to sell her pot roast, the cost of living for that meal might have risen only 50 or 60 per cent. But because she has to buy a much more expensive cut, also away above the 1939 price, Sunday the corder was appropried and that takes every penny she had.

His responsibilities run into the multi-billions of dollars, making the Rockefellers and the Morgans look like pikers by comparison. Yet he never ran for political office and works for the government without pay, taking his compensation from his private business job as president of the Standard Gas and Electric Co. of Chicago. from which he has leave of absence to work for Uncle Sam.

Crowley came to Washington in 1934 from the Wisconsin Banking Review Board to head up the government's new Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which protects every bank depositor's funds up to $5,000. FDIC is still Crowley's pride and pet and he won't give up his job as its president as long as he is in government service.

In 1939, when he was offered the job as president, of Standard Gas, Crowley did send his resignation in to the President, but it wasn't accepted. Crowley had performed legion service in swinging Wisconsin and the northwest Progressives into line behind the Roosevelt ticket, in return for Democratic support of the Progressives in state and local matters. The President didn't want to let him go. At once time, he is supposed to have been offered chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee. Crowley didn't take it, but he became a political adviser

This is everybody's war. Every American wants to help - boys and girls as well as men and women. That's why thousands of young Americans are joining in ... helping lick Hitler and the Japs, right here at home!

Look what you can do, these days:

Work ... according to your age - in a Victory Garden, on a farm, in Civilian Defense — or in a regular job.

Salvage . . . help collect tin cans, fats, paper, and other war-vital materials. Save ... make what you have last longer

- shoes and clothes, toys and furniture. When your things don't need to be replaced, factories can stick to their job of making more guns and planes to win the war.

Save money...Buy War Bonds and Stamps. Those are a few of the ways you can help ... now! Do your share!

HERE'S REFRESHMENT:

and Other Delicious Flavors!

At work or play . . . everybody likes KIST Beverages. They're the ideal mid-afternoon, evening, or mealtime treat.

Make sure your refrigerator has a supply of KIST Beverages.
