Mystery Deepens In Twin Slaying

LUBBOCK —(AP)— Sheriff Sam Hutson disclosed Wednesday that he had issued a pickup order for one suspect in the gruesome slayings of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt, whose bound and bloody bodies were found on a bed in their Littlefield, Texas, home Tuesday.

The Lamb County officer threw no other light on the clue he was following in West Texas' latest murder, which in mystery ranked with the Lorius-Heberer disappearing case seven years ago.

Hutson additionally disclosed that he and Ranger Capt. Maney Gault would confer on the case Wednesday, but without indicating what they might talk about.

Meanwhile citizens of Littlefield had contributed $7,500 in cash for a reward for capture of the killers. Sheriff Hutson said the amount would be $10,000 by 6 p. m. Wednesday. In addition the Lions Club of Lubbock was leading a drive to raise other funds there.

Anaesthetic Used
If county, city or state police had found any worthwhile clues in the deaths of the prominent couple, who were discovered by their six-year-old daughter Jo Ann grotesquely trussed on the rumped, blood-soaked bed, they kept it a secret.

They had, however, agreed fairly generally upon a theory that vinyl ether or tetryl chloride, both powerful anaesthetics, might have been used to keep the victims asleep.

This theory was reached after hearing the story of six-year-old Jo Ann Hunt, who discovered the intruder during the night and later, after apparently being forced to sleep, awoke to find her parents dead and gave the alarm.

The child said she was awakened, went to the kitchen for a drink, receiving no response to a call to her mother, she went into her parents' room and saw the man. He grasped her by the shoulders, pushed her into a nursery closet, "threw water on me that smelled like gasoline, slammed the door and I went to sleep."

Officers cited the fact that this was a cold night and the child was attired only in a nightgown, but she apparently slept for several hours in the closet after being doused with the liquid.

Jo Ann said the intruder was a "man" with "ugly round face" and "heavy eyebrows." Evidently he wore a mask, as the child said he "wore clothes on his head with holes for eyes." She said he wore gloves.

Jo Ann awoke to find "something wrong," and, in her night clothing, went to a neighbor's house at about 7:50 a. m. and simply said: "My mother and daddy are killed. Bad man killed them." With her was a second daughter of the Hunts, Jane, nearly three.

New Beef Subsidy Plan Designed To Aid Slaughterers Is Put In Operation

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A new beef subsidy plan—designed to aid slaughterers and having no effect upon the price of meat at the retail counters—was in effect Wednesday.

Announced by Economic Stabilization Director Vinson, the plan requires the flat subsidy rate of $1.10 per hundred pounds of live cattle irrespective of grade, which was inaugurated last June, with a varied rate schedule for three grades of beef.

The government set up a new subsidy payment of 80 cents per hundredweight to non-processing slaughterers—those who it says have been caught in a squeeze between controlled meat prices and live cattle prices. Vinson said this subsidy would be financed from economies expected from substitution of the flat roll-back subsidy with the graduated scale.

Discourages Overfeeding
The purpose of the graduated subsidy scale is to encourage feeding up to top weights to produce the maximum meat, but to discourage overfeeding for choice.

Vinson's statement with the directive said the price ranges were determined to return the cattle producers approximately current prices.

The stabilization director explained the 80-cent additional subsidy to non-processing slaughterers as necessary because this class of operator, producing approximately 15 per cent of the nation's beef, has been hardest hit by the squeeze between uncontrolled live cattle prices and the wholesale beef ceilings.

Allies Make Gains

Three Vital Jap Bases Ruined By American Planes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC —(AP)— Three vital airfields on which Japan has depended to block the American march up the Solomons to Rabaul have been bombed into uselessness and enemy planes have abandoned them.

Whether the Japanese ever will try to restore them remains to be determined but headquarters disclosed Wednesday that, for the time being, United States bombs have knocked out the big enemy airfield of Kahili and the Kara Strip, both on Southern Bougainville and the Ballale fighter strip in the Shortlands immediately south.

Big Force Hits Bases
Methodically last Saturday a mighty force of 230 American bombers and fighters tore up Kahili and Kara with tons of bombs without so much as seeing an enemy plane in the sky.

Kahili has been the core of Japanese air resistance in the Solomons since the big American push, which now has driven the enemy from all except the Northern Solomons, opened June 30.

Since that date, General MacArthur's communiques have listed almost daily raids against Southern Bougainville's air defenses during which more than 400 Japanese planes are known to have been destroyed, the bulk of them at Kahili. The exact total must inevitably be much higher because many uncounted planes were blown up parked on the runways or in revetments.

Japs Abandon Fields
On Thursday, during an American fighter sweep, 20 Japanese planes made their last real effort at interception over Kahili. Friday, while scores of raiders wrecked Kahili with 172 tons of bombs and wiped out 20 planes on the ground, a Japanese formation of 20 was in the air but made no effort to interfere.

The knockout punch was delivered Saturday by four raiding parties of fighter-escorted Liberator heavy bombers, Avenger torpedo bombers and Dauntless divebombers. Great holes were torn in already unusable runways and the revetment and supply areas were blackened by great fires. Moderate anti-aircraft fire constituted the opposition.

Since then, the Japanese have not attempted to use the fields. Ballale, also abandoned, never had lived up to Japanese hopes of effectively throwing an air blockade of fighters across the route of American raiding parties before they could reach Bougainville.

War Bulletins

LONDON —(AP)— Strong German forces have launched a major offensive in Yugoslavia to reconquer territory gained by the partisans, it was announced Wednesday by the Berlin radio.

MADRID —(AP)— Spanish correspondents in Berlin Wednesday said that the Germans are using their strategic reserves in an attempt to stem the Red Army tide in the crucial battle in Russia.

LONDON —(AP)— Allied prisoners returning from Germany asserted again Wednesday that Nazi morale was cracking, particularly under the stress of Allied bombing. Thomas Johnston, secretary of state for Scotland, said after talking to the prisoners that the majority believed firmly "that if our bombers can continue until Christmas, the war will be over."

Fighting Lulls As Nazis Reach Mountain Lines

Enemy Airfields In Greece Smashed By American Bombers

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS —(AP)— Allied troops advancing three to six miles have taken two more towns below the Trigno River in Italy, but fighting generally subsided as the last of the German rearguards were pulled back into the massive new mountain line guarding Rome, official reports disclosed Wednesday.

Air warfare intensified with smashes at Greek airfields and hammering of enemy supplies and transports in Italy.

Two Towns Taken
The Nazis are withdrawing to the left bank of the Trigno River near the Adriatic coast, headquarters said, and Eighth Army units inland on this flank have taken Civita Campomariano and Acquaviva Collirocce, heavy and medium bombers ranged north of the battle area in Italy to hammer Nazi communications, supply dumps and motor transport columns as well as German troop positions.

The German emphasis on their defense in the center of the front was undoubtedly based on the realization that the road running northwestward from Vinchiatura to Isesmia was of vital importance in holding their new mountain line.

An Allied advance along this road would mean a major breakthrough, a key point in the new line.

Top Prices Paid For Dairy Cattle In Midland Sale

Some of the top prices ever paid for cows in this area were recorded at a sale at the Hoover-Stockard Dairy Farm here Monday, when 65 Holsteins, 28 Jerseys, two Holstein bulls, and nine heifers were sold for an average of $162.20 each, Roy Stockard reported Wednesday.

Top price of $320 was paid for a five-year-old Holstein by Bill Jones of Midland. The cow, which produces eight and one-half gallons per day, was bought back by Stockard and Hoover at a premium.

Several other cows were sold at around $300 each and many of them brought more than $200.

The Lamar Creamery of Paris was the biggest purchaser, buying 22 head. Three head went to a Coleman buyer and three to a Big Spring buyer. A large number of buyers from many sections of the state attended the sale, but didn't make purchases because of the high bids being made.

Grand Jurors Meet Wednesday Morning

Midland County grand jurors reconvened Wednesday at 10 a. m., and were faced with what was believed to be a heavy docket of cases to be deliberated and acted upon.

The jury was dismissed subject to call early this month after returning four indictments.

The jury was still in session early Wednesday afternoon.

Heavy Damage Caused By Blaze At Houston

HOUSTON —(AP)— Two business houses were gutted and two other places damaged in a fire here early Wednesday.

About 3,500 chickens valued at $3,000 by the owner were destroyed in the fire that started in a fruit stand, and spread to three other buildings, according to District Fire Chief C. A. Middlekauf.

Threats Of Strikes Hanging Over Two War - Vital Industries Are Increasing

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The labor front rattled with controversy Wednesday with strike threats booming over two war-vital industries—coal and railroads—as a result of these developments:

1. Soft coal miners received with cold reserve the War Labor Board's proposed substitute for an Illinois "model" wage agreement.

2. The WLB set Thursday morning as a deadline for resumption of all coal mining and said strikes in effect then would be certified to the President, presumably as a prelude to a second government seizure of the mines and the invocation of penalties against the union, under the anti-strike law.

3. Fifteen nonoperating rail unions joined the five transportation brotherhoods in ordering a strike vote as a protest against government rejection of their wage demands.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, at home with a heavy cold, declined comment. A union spokesman, however, expressed doubt the substitute plan would be acceptable.

The strike ballot in the railroad cases was made returnable Nov. 25. The union chiefs made it plain that whatever the result of the poll, no strike was to take place until authorized and that all efforts at peaceful settlement must be exhausted first.

Globe To Drill To 9,000 Feet In Southwest Borden

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

The Globe Oil & Refining Company has filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, a wildcat venture in Southwest Borden County to 9,000 feet, starting Nov. 1.

The territory surrounding the location of the new effort, which is to be 800 feet from the north and west lines of section 41, block 32, TPRR survey, T-4-N, had several tests drilled in recent years, but none of them have gone to the depth scheduled for the Globe exploration.

Phillips Starts To 10,000 Feet
Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 University, Pecos County development operation 25 miles due west of Pecos, is to drill to a possible depth of 10,000 feet, according to application received by the Railroad Commission Wednesday morning.

Cellars have been finished at the location and preparations are being made to drill a water well. The project will be 665 feet from the north and 658 feet from the east line of section 1, block 20, University survey and 12 miles southeast of Orego. The hole will be drilled with a company rig.

Skelly To Go Deeper
Skelly Oil Company has filed another supplemental application on No. 1-M University, South Andrews County prospect. The test has progressed to about 7,745 feet in line under a permit to drill to 8,000 feet—the depth has been lowered to 8,000 feet.

Lloyd's Producer
E. Russell Lloyd No. 1 Powell, section 76, block 10, H&GN survey, North Pecos County, has been drilled to a head when opened and filled a 65-barrel tank. It is now shut in for more storage to test. The owner estimates the 12 feet of sand drilled to 1,661 feet capable of producing 40 barrels of oil daily naturally.

Byce McCandless No. 1 Turney
Byce McCandless No. 1 Turney, 5,500-foot wildcat 20 miles northwest of Fort Stockton in Pecos County, is drilling ahead in line below 4,538 feet. A core was cut Tuesday from 4,632-88 feet and recovered five feet of dark gray-brown crystalline dolomite and a little shaly dolomite.

'Burger' Top Uncertain
Study of the core specimen caused most geologists who have inspected it to decide that the Ellenburger top which had been picked for 4,640 feet was wrong. The insolubles are being analyzed Wednesday and pronouncement is expected as soon as the report is completed.

German Command Gloomy As Reds Continue Gains

Russians Forcing Enemy To Withdraw From Dnieper Bend

LONDON —(AP)— With Soviet troops storming the outskirts of Krivoi Rog, the German command Wednesday took the gloomiest tone toward the Russian front since Stalingrad, in an apparent effort to stiffen the public and army alike for an impending military catastrophe.

A large German withdrawal movement in the Dnieper Bend was announced by the Berlin radio and by their own accounts the Nazis were being pounded back from the Melitopol area all the way up to the region west of molensk. Tank Battle Rages

A great and fateful tank battle was thundering from Krivoi Rog, important iron and steel center, northward to Kremenchug as the Germans attempted to retard the advance of the Reds. But even this big counter-attack could do no more than score a few isolated defensive successes at fearful cost.

Spearheads of one Soviet force—the northern arm of a great pincer—designed to entrap those enemy units still inside the Dnieper River bend—already have captured Karmarka, main rail center for the Krivoi Rog area on the north bank of the Sakhariv River, a Russian communique said.

The southern arm of the pincers, operating out of Melitopol, was said to have captured Veselove, 24 miles to the northwest, after "particularly fierce fighting" and was believed surging ahead to close the gap which would seal the fate of the Germans trapped in the loop of the Dnieper between Melitopol and Dnepropetrovsk.

Ten Towns Captured
Other Soviet columns were fanning out of Melitopol into the Stepanov district in the Crimea. The Moscow war bulletin said they captured nearly 100 towns Tuesday in advances of four to twelve miles, which cost the Nazis more than 3,000 killed.

Southwest of Dnepropetrovsk, gains of nine miles or more were recorded by Red Army columns which drove the demoralized Germans back farther west toward the rapidly closing jaws of the overlapping pincer armies. Forty-three towns were liberated.

A fourth Russian army group was blasting its way toward the Znamienka-Nikolayev north-south railway, a possible escape valve for the Dnieper bend Nazis, and the Moscow war bulletin said this force was within 15 miles of severing the line Tuesday.

Berlin said the Red Army had launched an attack west of Krichew in White Russia.

Neither Berlin nor Moscow had anything to say regarding the situation around Kiev, Ukrainian capital, where Russian forces are said to have the German garrison practically isolated.

Conferees Talk Vital Questions

MOSCOW —(AP)— Delegates to the tri-partite conference have arrived at some of the most important questions of the meeting, it was reported Wednesday as the parley moved into its ninth session.

One of the participants in the British-United States-Russian discussions was quoted as taking the official view of "so far so good," but the conference is in no sense near its end and probably will continue for some time.

The drafting committees met in joint session Wednesday and progress was reported on framing the agreements arrived at by U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

Although official silence greeted inquiries on the nature of the discussions, it was learned that definite news on some of the accomplishments may be made public at the end of the conference.

Nazis Get 17,000 Tons Of RAF Bombs In Month

LONDON —(AP)— The Royal Air Force dropped more than 17,000 tons of bombs on Germany in the four-week period ended Oct. 25. Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair told the House of Commons Wednesday.

During the same period, he said, the Germans dumped 160 tons of explosives on Britain.

Postwar Merchant Marine

The United States will end this war in position, theoretically, to dominate the ocean shipping of the world. Our merchant marine will be perhaps twice as large as that of Great Britain, and will dwarf those of all other nations. But most of our enormous tonnage will be in Liberty ships.

Far be from us to disparage the Liberty ship, which is enabling us to win the war. But any expert will tell you that Liberty ships can not hold ocean cargo trade in competition with the craft that Great Britain and other maritime nations will start building as soon as they can catch their breath after peace returns.

For a few years our enormous tonnage of usable shipping will give us control over world trade. In the long run we shall have to work out an intelligent shipping policy or we shall drift once more into the maritime background.

Much of the merchant fleet with which we shall compete for postwar business will have to be built after the war. How great a proportion, will depend somewhat upon the extent to which it proves possible to shift from Liberty ships, our war mainstay, to Victory ships, which would be useful in war and competitively capable in peace.

Except as to what may remain of our pre-war fleet, and as to whatever craft with permanent competitive value we may find it feasible to build during the war, we and the British, at least, will start the race to rule the oceans on something like an even footing so far as tonnage is concerned.

In other ways, however, this country shall be in a preferred position.

Even if new wartime yards, notably Henry Kaiser's, can not or do not participate, we still shall possess, as a result of wartime expansion, both the physical facilities and the technical skill to build any kind of merchant fleet we shall need.

We shall have also a pool of sea-going personnel such as this nation never has possessed, and a large number of private operators who have proved themselves competent to handle any imaginable amount of tonnage.

Fat Salvage—Again

The least successful of all salvage campaigns has been that for waste fat from households. At present we are running some 8,000,000 pounds a month behind schedule.

This fat is needed to make explosives. One pound of bacon and chicken drippings will make a pound and a half of gunpowder to fill shells used by Flying Fortress gunners to repel German and Japanese attack planes. One pound of drippings from a pork roast or the suet from beef will provide explosive to fire four 37-mm. anti-aircraft shells.

We could mention other uses for explosives in war. But why should we? Everybody knows how war depends upon explosives. It isn't ignorance that makes waste fat salvage a failure. It isn't lack of patriotism. What is it? Lethargy?

Whatever it is, how about getting that fat to the butcher?

Alternative To Sales Tax Is Inflation

Congress and most students of the subject have come to the conclusion that one of the very few important remaining sources of revenue is a general sales tax.

It is common knowledge that the present corporation and income taxes in the higher brackets are already close to the point of maximum productivity. Even the Treasury, which has objected to the tax, has proposed a rising of the rates of excise tax on commodities that is tantamount to a sales tax.

What then are the objections? Those who oppose it maintain that the sales tax would place proportionately as great a burden on the consumption of the lower as of the higher income classes. But this would be true if the tax were the only one in existence, and not one of many to pay the cost of the war. It must be remembered we already have the most drastic progressive income tax on record.

What they also lose sight of is the fact that one of the alternatives to a general sales tax is inflation. Since the outbreak of the war in September 1939, the American cost of living has increased about 25 per cent. So that while the objectors have disapproved of a 10 per cent, or even one of 5 per cent, this rise in the cost of living is equivalent to a sales tax.

Not the least of the arguments for the sales tax is the fact that it makes it possible for every individual to regulate his own tax by controlling the nature and volume of his expenditures. Thus the less a person spends on luxuries, the more he saves, the smaller is his tax. It is a direct incentive for economy, for not buying scarce goods, for avoiding inflationary spending, in short: for investing in War Bonds.

Jones Attempts To Clarify Feed Plan Situation

A statement to clear up confusion on the protein concentrate situation and other livestock feed misunderstandings has been received by the Midland County AAA office from War Food Administrator Marvin Jones.

This confusion is the result of a great deal of misinformation and rumors, Jones sets out.

The Statement Follows:

The War Food Administration is endeavoring to handle these concentrates through the regular commercial channels. However, it has authorized Commodity Credit Corporation to direct the shipment of 20 per cent of all kinds of concentrates in an effort to take care of emergencies. The physical distribution of this 20 per cent is left in the hands of the trade unless an emergency should arise that would justify the War Food Administration stepping in to handle it. In that case, the 20 per cent would still be handled by the trade under the direction of Commodity Credit Corporation.

Safeguards Instituted

Certain safeguards have been instituted to prevent the holding of protein concentrates by speculators, such as the accumulation of large stocks. This should prevent the accumulation of more than 15 days' supply by anyone with the exception of livestock feeders who can stock 30 days' supply, and ranchmen who are permitted to stock their season's supply because of the necessity of getting their feed to their ranches or feed lots before they are prevented from doing so by the snow.

There is no regulation to keep a dealer from selling concentrates to anyone so long as he stays within these limits. Anyone wishing to purchase concentrates will do it in the same way he has always done it, and no certificate or permission is required.

The total amount of concentrates this year will be greater than was used last year, although there will be less per animal unit than there was last year on account of the increased numbers of livestock. However, there will be about the same amount per animal unit as there was prior to 1940.

No Desperate Situation

As to other feeds, our estimates show about 3 billion bushels of corn, about 85 million bushels of oats, 33 million bushels of rye, and 100 million bushels of grain sorghums. In addition to the feed produced in the United States we are importing wheat for resale for feed; and in addition, private importers are bringing in oats and barley from Canada. Also, feed is being brought in from South America to the extent that the shipping situation will permit.

The feed situation will be tight but not desperate. Everyone should be discouraged from buying more feed than for his current needs. The crushing mills have only recently started up and some of them are still not in operation. They will be crushing soybeans, peanuts, and cottonseed throughout the winter, and protein will be available as it is crushed.

If everyone will take a reasonable attitude toward the feed situation, we will be able to take care of our livestock of all kinds in a manner that was normal up to 1940.

for several hours, perhaps as long as until 2 a. m. after the physicians had finished work at the hospital. Dr. Jones had brought a patient to Dr. Hunt. Officers reasoned the attack must have come between 2 a. m. and prior to daylight.

Golfdom Boasts Pin-Up Girl In Catherine Fox

BLOOMFIELD, N. J. —(AP)—Golfdom now has a pin-up girl. She is pretty, 18-year-old Catherine Fox of Bloomfield, N. J., who has joined the nation's top-flight golf ranks.

Her success has been followed closely by soldiers sailors and marines in all sections of the country. By letter many of them have congratulated her and requested pictures.

"Some of the boys have even proposed marriage," Miss Fox says with a chuckle.

Among the most progenic of America's female sports stars, Catherine has hazel eyes, brown hair and a fair complexion. She stands five feet, seven inches and weighs 130 pounds.

Spectators at tournament play invariably turn their attention toward the ever smiling Katy.

Born On The Links

She was born at the Kidderminster Golf Club, Worcester, England, where her father was promoter. The Foxes moved to the United States when Catherine was two years old and at four she took her first lesson from her dad. Ten years later she was competing in tournaments.

In 1939, Katy was the youngest player entered in the U. S. women's championship and in 1941 she "qualified in the nationals with an 87."

Always popular with friends and opponents, Miss Fox was captain and star of the Bloomfield High School golf team in 1940 and 1941. She was elected captain by the boys who comprised the rest of the squad.

Won Miley Trophy

Her successes this year include the winning of the Marion Miley Memorial Trophy for turring in the lowest total qualifying scores for the women's Western Open and women's Western Amateur tournaments. Her scores were 78-74-152—five less than the nearest competitor.

The organization and operation of the Martin-Howard-Midland Soil Conservation district was outlined and cooperation with other agricultural agencies was explained. Types of assistance given farmers and ranchers were discussed and the method of applying for assistance was outlined.

Speech is the first freedom which the dictators take away from their subjects, and it is the foundation of a democracy, Mrs. Monroe said. America was built on freedom of religion, because mankind cannot long tolerate inability to worship God as he desires. "However, we now take this heritage of ours so much for granted, we forget that some people in this world do not enjoy this precious freedom," she said. Freedom from want must be guaranteed all mankind, before a lasting peace can be hoped for and Freedom from fear only can be attained when there is no longer danger of unprovoked attack, the speaker added.

Declaration Outlined Mrs. W. E. Shipp Jr. spoke on the "Declaration of the United Nations" and the principles for which it stands. She gave a report of the contributions which each of the 28 nations, the signers of the declaration, have made to the war effort.

Betsy Beckham Bundy's Advice To The Lovelorn

Q. Is it appropriate to have punch or apple cider for the Halloween party? I want to have punch of grapes and ginger ale and some other mixture, but it has been said that it is not fitting.

A. The proper drink to serve at Halloween is apple cider. There is a hard cider made of apples that is very delicious, but it will cause intoxication if you are not careful as to the quantity consumed. Apples, cider, pumpkins, tiny home made cookies with orange and black icing or chocolate coating are most appropriate. Candies may be in orange and chocolate tones.

Pumpkins may be used as a decorative piece for the table, the huge pumpkin, hollowed out and filled with harvest fruits, in cornucopia style—overflowing, indicative of the abundance of the harvest time.

Pumpkin meat scooped from this central pumpkin may be used for pumpkin pies. The pumpkin pie is much improved if you use grated coconut in the filling, as it adds to the filling, making it much better. Also a little nutmeg (not too much) and cinnamon may be added. The pumpkin pie to be perfect should have the coconut in the filling and then be spread on top with quarter of an inch of stiffly beaten whipped cream. With a crisp fresh crust nothing is more delectable, but the "undecorated" pumpkin pie is not so relished by many people, I believe.

News From Glove Front Is Short And Very Snappy

By ROSELEEN CALLAHAN NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—News from the glove front is "short and snappy." The most popular of the new pull-ons are no more than hand-size—leather and fabric-saving wrist-length models with hand-blocked designs, whip-stitching, embroidery, jewel-studding and applique, which more than make up for whatever they lack in length.

Thanks to our neighbors to the south there are still many hand-sewn and embroidered models to be had. We have a new law which prohibits women from doing any hand work at home. This not only broke up many a lucrative sewing bee, but threatened the demise of hand-finished gloves. Of late, however, glove manufacturers have been sending their cut-out patterns to Puerto Rico to be hand-sewn by the same people who have made much of our beautiful lingerie.

Argentina Contributes And, Argentina—where many of the French refugee glove craftsmen, backed by American capital, have been carrying on their tanning, dyeing and manufacturing of superb suede and glass gloves—has contributed some of the dressiest and daintiest styles of the season.

Embroidery, infinitely fine as that in a Chinese wedding garment, traces a flower and leaf pattern on the back and cuff of one of the Argentinian black suede shorties. Another short suede, embellished with rhinestones and silver discs, was inspired by the jewel-embroidered gloves worn by 17th century royalty. A third pair has a realistic-looking butterfly applied on its wing-shaped cuff.

Many New Ideas All are not short that are smart. There are still many gloves in longer lengths that go well with short-sleeved afternoon frocks and formal, as well as the ever-good-looking gauntlets for your tailored dresses and suits. A handsome new 12-button, black suede evening glove features a two-inch cuff banding of point d'esprit lace through which is threaded a silk ribbon that ties in a large bow. The point is that you can change the ribbon to match the color of whatever gown you wear.

There are some new ideas in "roughie" campus and country gloves that the younger set should go for. A new fad is colored stockings, many of them bearing print patterns, and now you can get knit woolen gloves in print design to match them. Other wool glove novelties include crocheted gloves in bright colors, one glove of each pair decorated with a big applique rose teamed with a head-hugging, rose-trimmed scarf to match, and hand-crocheted mitts, decorated with dime-sized sequins, with a crocheted beanie to match.

Removal Of Every Trace Of Cream Good Way To Keep Complexion Clear

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

I've had several letters lately asking me what causes those little white bumps under and most satisfactory the nostrils and in the chin.

In most cases it is from overloading the skin with cleansing cream which is also too heavy for their particular skin texture and then failing to completely remove all the cream.

Not only is the practice bad for complexions, but it is also costly, because you waste more cream than you use.

To prevent this ugly skin complaint, follow the cleansing routine which petal-skinned Julie Bishop—she's starring in the new film thriller—"Action in the North Atlantic"—and many other Hollywood beauties practice.

First, select a cream that suits your type of skin. Many actresses find the clear, greasy theatrical cream penetrative and most satisfactory. Take just a dab, about as much as would fill a teaspoon, and smooth it all over your face. Remove, and cream your face once more, making certain that not a trace of cream remains. To be on the safe side, you might finish with a bit of astringent.

Those who have dry skin can then pat on a bit of night cream.

Seaweed was once used by the Indians to provide salt in their diet.

ON TO PFORZHEIMER'S

CHAPTER XXVII
IMHOF thought a moment. "Give me your room key," he said to Pat.

He went downstairs. The porter was at the desk. Imhof went to the mail and key dovecote and looked in his pigeonhole. "I was expecting a message, but it's not here," he said to the porter. "See if it's not somewhere around in your preserve. It's rather important."

The porter turned away to investigate and Imhof quickly effected the exchange of keys on Schroeder's hook.

"Nothing has come, sir," said the porter, looking up.

Pat's key hung motionless on Schroeder's hook and Schroeder's key was smug in Imhof's pocket. "That's strange," he said, seeming a little put out. "Well, see if it's put in my box the minute it comes, please," he ordered, and mounted the stairs.

In less than a minute he was in and out of Schroeder's room with the bag.

"Check up on it," he bade Pat after opening it with a key from Schroeder's key ring.

"Everything present," she pronounced after checking.

"It would be," said Imhof. "But we can't just lug this out brazenly with us," objected Pat, with a troubled frown. "They'll know it's Schroeder's."

Imhof frowned, too. "I've got it," he said after some thought. "Kill two birds with one stone."

Once again he descended to the lobby, where the clerk had taken the porter's place. This time he consulted the telephone directory.

"Want to do me a favor?" he asked the clerk. "Call up the Mannheim Kriegsflugzeugwerke while I look up some other numbers I want to ring later."

The clerk went to the telephone. Characters and situations are fictitious. Any resemblance to actual persons or happenings is coincidental.

an old-fashioned, uninclosed wall instrument, and proceeded to put through the call. Imhof meanwhile leaped through the directory and jotted down a couple of numbers at random.

"Mannheimer Kriegsflugzeugwerke?" asked the clerk.

"I'll take it," said Imhof, making for the telephone.

"MANNHEIMER KRIEGS-FLUGZEUGWERKE?" he inquired. "I wish to speak to former Lieutenant Schroeder, please... delivery pilot..."

After some delay Imhof was told that Herr Schroeder was not there.

"Very well. Thank you." Imhof softly depressed the receiver hook, which was out of sight of the clerk, thus breaking the connection. "I wish you would," he went on smoothly into the now dead transmitter. "Yes, I'll hold the wire." He slipped a weight on the receiver hook to keep it down and, covering the transmitter with his hand, called confidentially to the clerk: "Schroeder's there. They're getting him."

"Hello! Hello!" he resumed, after a fitting pause. "That you, Schroeder? ... This is Rudolph Fleischer. ... No, no, only... What's that? Speak louder. ... Oh, glad of that. Listen, Schroeder. There's a friend of yours here, a Dr. Ritter. ... Yes, well, he was expecting you to meet him here this evening, he says, and..."

"Oh, I see. I'll tell him. ... Not! He seemed a bit put out, that's all. ... I quite understand and so will be. Goodbye, then, if we... Hello! Hello! What? ... A favor? ... Of course. What is it? ... Oh. His face fell a little. "Well, you see I was thinking of taking time out for a little filing tonight. Our last day here, probably. I was thinking of Pforzheimer's. ... What? ... Yes, that I can do. ... Then I'll leave it there for you. ... No, don't apologize."

"I thought he was never going," she sighed. "A nice enough little man but—oh, my!"

Imhof hung Schroeder's key on the hook and they returned upstairs, presumably to dress for their evening out. At 10:30 they descended with the valise. Imhof hung up their two keys and with a disgusted look at the valise opened the door.

"I'm going to dance with every officer in Pforzheimer's," Pat announced, taking a dance step or two. "Don't it up for us," she called back to the clerk in gay warning.

"Hope they'll let me on the street car with this," said Imhof sourly, hefting the valise. Then with a gruff "Nabend!" to the clerk, he strode forth.

zize, please. Glad to do it. No trouble. ... A black bag. ... Oh, the black valise. I've got that straight. Yes, under the bed in your room. ... It's all right, really, I tell you. Good night."

HE removed the weight, hung up, and made a little face at the clerk. "He says he tried to call up Dr. Ritter here and the line was busy. I think he forgot all about Ritter, if you ask me. I wish people wouldn't ask favors they know you can't refuse," he went up irritably. "Schroeder has to have a bag of his and can't come and get it himself. Wanted me to bring it to him! Go out out to that place on our last night here! I told him I'd lug his bag to Pforzheimer's and leave it for him. That's some help, anyway. Well, now I have to go tell Ritter the little fairy tale."

The clerk listened politely. Still grumbling, Imhof lifted Pat's key off Schroeder's hook and betook himself upstairs. Rejoining Pat, he packed Schroeder's clothes on the top of the flying kit, then closed it.

Sending Pat down ahead, Imhof looked all the doors, pocketed the keys, then followed. He waited until she had got rid of the clerk on an errand before descending to the lobby. When the man returned Imhof was closing the front door behind the imaginarily departed doctor, while Pat rolled her eyes.

"I thought he was never going," she sighed. "A nice enough little man but—oh, my!"

trick, then the queen of hearts was ruffed by Miss Stratford (South) with the deuce of spades. Three rounds of diamonds were played, with the four of clubs being discarded from dummy on the third round. South then cashed the ace and king of clubs and ruffed the deuce of clubs in dummy with the spade five. Now Miss Stratford cross-ruffed the hearts and diamonds to make 13 tricks.

When the hand was completed I remarked that it was a nice cross-ruff, and Miss Stratford replied, "Yes, but if West had opened a trump, the contract would have been defeated"—which is correct.

Pay Dirt Collection

BOISE, IDAHO (AP)—Second Lt. James L. Greenburg of Camp Swift, Texas, wrote Gov. C. A. Bottolfson for a bottle of Idaho earth to complete his collection from 48 states.

He explained that homesick camp mates frequently exclaimed: "I'd give ten dollars just to see some of that country right now!"

Then Greenburg produces the proper bottle—and collects.

Committee Fears It Acted Hastily On New Taxation

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A fear that they had acted hastily in approving higher postal rates and new excises on liquor, beer and wines was voiced by several members of the House ways and means committee Wednesday.

As a move developed to reconsider the action, which would yield only about $39,500,000 of the $100,000,000 in new revenues sought by the administration, Rep. Robertson (D-Va.) told fellow committee members that he would call for a showdown on a federal retail sales tax, probably Thursday.

Reconsideration Asked

One committee member said privately that several members felt that jumping the liquor tax from $6 to $10 a gallon, as proposed by the group, would result in bootlegging.

Rep. Carlson (R-Kas.) says a ways and means member said he would ask the committee to reconsider its vote raising postal rates, especially as they affect newspapers.

He interpreted the committee action as doubling publishers' second class rates on newspapers and magazines and said:

"I consider the action ill advised, especially at a time when people need information through the press and when many newspapers have suffered revenue losses due to less advertising in wartime. I believe the freedom of the press is involved."

Luxury Taxes Raised

The postage change would not affect free-in-county mailing of newspapers.

In its first major action toward bringing in new revenue, after turning down one administration tax proposal after another, the committee approved higher excises on many so-called luxuries—furs, jewelry, lipstick, general admissions to amusement places, bowling, billiards, cabarets, club dues and traveling.

However, it rejected all proposals to increase taxes on cigarettes and other tobacco and refused to recommend new taxes on soft drinks, candy, and chewing gum.

Wickard Says Land Boom Is Threatening

CHICAGO — (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard declared Wednesday that a big concern of agriculture "is the currently threatening land boom."

That the increase in both sales and values of land in many areas "is alarming," Wickard asserted that two things which could be done now "to ease out post-war problems," and which would be challenged as interfering with the war effort, "are to help people realize the absolute necessity of holding the line against inflation and the almost equally important job of heading off a land boom."

The proposed new draft bill would not prohibit the deferment of non-fathers but would require that fathers of children born prior to Sept. 12, 1942, not be called while non-fathers are "available for induction." A single man deferred because of occupation would not be "available for induction."

Immediate beneficiaries of the legislation, should it become law, would be fathers holding so-called non-deferrable jobs. The bill specifically would prohibit the induction of fathers because of occupation, nullifying a recent War Manpower Commission order designating certain jobs as non-deferrable regardless of dependency status.

American Mitchells Sink Enemy Tanker

The bombers also blasted a 250-foot freighter in the same area, leaving it sinking at the stern and listing badly, the bulletin said.

Bulldogs Take On Abilene In Conference Tilt Here Friday

Midland High School's Bulldogs, back in the victory mood after trouncing the Big Spring Steers last Friday, will be hosts here Friday at 8:15 p. m. to the Abilene Eagles in a 3-AA conference tilt.

With the team in good shape and good spirits, the Bulldogs are rated a fair chance for victory in the contest with the visitors who have had only a mediocre season thus far, but the Eagles are not to be taken lightly. Many of the district officials give the Abilene eleven the pre-game nod over the Bulldogs.

The Eagles have taken four teams thus far this season and have come out with only one win, but their losses were to highly-rated teams. They dropped their initial contest to Amarillo 41-12, the second to Breckenridge 53-0, won 19-0 over Brownwood, and lost to Odessa 15-0.

No Comparison Basis

There is no basis for comparative scores between the two teams, since the Bulldogs have met no opponents who have faced the Eagles. The Abilene eleven was defeated by the powerful Odessa 'olts, who tangled with San Angelo's Bobcats in the Ector County city Friday night in a contest that may decide the winner of the conference gonfalon.

Winner of the tilt will play the Sweetwater Mustangs for the district title.

The engagement here Friday will be the Eagles' second excursion into conference play and the fourth for the Midland aggregation, which has lost two and won one.

Tickets will go on sale Thursday at the chamber of commerce, it was announced Wednesday.

Bulldogs Work Hard

Coaches Gene McCollum and Jack Atkins have been working their charges on defensive plays this week in an attempt to put up a defense that will click and hold back the fast-charging Eagle line and secondary. Offensive work also has come in for plenty of attention, with kinks being ironed out of several plays that didn't go against the Big Spring Steers last Friday. Aerial defenses are also being strengthened.

Midland's season record:
 Midland 20, Brownfield 0.
 Midland 32, Austin High 0.
 Midland 18, Sweetwater 33.
 Midland 0, San Angelo 27.
 Midland 6, Plainview 20.
 Midland 13, Big Spring 0.

Lamesa Meets Mustangs

In addition to the game at Odessa and the tilt here, the only other conference game slated this week is between Lamesa and Sweetwater in the latter city.

Standings of District 3-AA clubs:

Club	W	L	Pct.
Odessa	3	0	1.000
San Angelo	2	0	1.000
Sweetwater	1	0	1.000
Midland	1	2	.333
Big Spring	1	2	.333
Abilene	0	1	.000
Lamesa	0	3	.000

Gloom Is Thick As Navy Readies For Notre Dame

ANNAPOLIS, MD. —(AP)— It was a toss-up Wednesday whether the mud on the Navy practice field was thicker than the gloom emanating from the premises of Capt. John E. Wheelchel, head coach of the Mid-dies who go to Cleveland Saturday for their supreme grid test with Notre Dame.

A heavy four-inch rainfall almost washed away Tuesday's much-needed practice session, and to top that off Wheelchel announced that several of his key players were laid up with injuries and bad colds.

Possibly figuring that any definite information might give aid and comfort to the enemy, Wheelchel refused to name the casualties, but he didn't disguise his concern.

Slow Start Habit

"We'll just hope that they recover quickly, and we'll have to take our chances on that."

Wheelchel's big job will be to try and break his club's habit of getting off to a bad first quarter start and then spending the rest of the day catching up with the opposition. He knows that if the Fighting Irish ever get the jump the game will be just about over for the Mid-dies.

In both the Duke and Georgia Tech games, Navy fussed around and permitted the opposition to score first, then had to come back on the rebound to win the hard way. Wheelchel is being telling his charges that Angelo Bertelli and company haven't been playing that kind of football this year in bowling over all opposition by scores resembling boxcar numbers.

Texas Player Who Has More Talents Than Crain And Field Worries SMU

DALLAS —(AP)— Southern Methodist University figured it was through—for the time being anyway—with guys like Jack Crain and Jackie Field.

Those fellows had alternated at running the Mustangs ragged the past two years.

But now it's wartime and college teams are not supposed to have that kind of football players, especially down here in the Southwest. The University of Texas—SMU's opponent here next Saturday—had emphatically stated it wouldn't have anybody approaching the great Crain and the hard-running Field.

Combination Pops Up

And what happens? Up pops Ralph Ellsworth, a 175-pound trackman who hadn't even bothered to go out for football his sophomore year. Now Ellsworth is causing SMU coaches more headaches than they ever had before.

Ellsworth, it appears, is a combination of Crain and Field—and in addition he can pass.

Blair Cherry, assistant coach and talent scout for Texas, said last week Ellsworth would be the greatest tailback Texas has had since Cherry went to the university in 1937—if he could stay another year.

That statement was made before Saturday's game with Rice. Whether Blair now thinks Ellsworth needs another year is something the fans aren't concerned about. They saw him run 199 yards carrying the ball to score two touchdowns and pass for 86 and two more.

S. M. U. Concerned

Not even Field, Max Minor, Ken Matthews, Crain or any of the speed merchants Texas has had in the last several years left such an impression of swiftness as did Ellsworth.

And it wasn't any slowness afoot on the part of Rice that made Ralph look fast. Ellsworth, you see, can run 100 yards in 9.6 seconds.

Texas' major regret is that the speedster probably will play after this year at some other school. He is expected to receive an appointment to West Point.

But of immediate concern to S. M. U. is that Ellsworth will be playing for Texas here next Saturday.

Linemen Singled Out For Praise By Coaches Following Games Last Week

NEW YORK —(AP)— Three guards from unbeaten Navy, Washington and the Texas Aggies; a tackle from Ohio State; and a center from Tulane were outstanding linemen in last Saturday's college football games.

The feats of these five, Ben Chase, of Navy; Damon Tassos, Texas Aggies; Bill Ward, Washington; Bill Willis, Ohio State; and Buddy Gatewood, Tulane, stood out in a long list of notable achievements by generally overlooked guards, tackles, centers and ends.

Chase Was Standout

Navy coaches declared Chase played the best of any lineman against Georgia Tech; that his defensive play kept the Engineers from upsetting the Middles.

Ohio State lost to Northwestern, but in the opinion of Buckeye Coach Paul Brown, there was "no question that Willis was the outstanding man at his position on the field. He's the backbone of our defense, making tackles at the line of scrimmage and elsewhere all over the field. I got letters from

Casey Hurts Well But Not Enough

NORFOLK, V.—(AP)—It wasn't a case of "Casey at the Bat" this time—it was "Casey on the Mound."

Huge Hugh Casey, the former Brooklyn relief pitcher, couldn't do much to help himself or the Norfolk Naval Air Station might have beaten the Norfolk Naval Training Station in the Navy "World Series."

Casey pitched a 3-0 triumph in the opening game on Sunday, came back with a 10-inning, 5-3 victory on Wednesday and turned in a 1-0 win the following Sunday to even the series at three games each.

Then came the seventh and deciding contest. Yes, big Hugh started this one, too. He twirled scoreless, two-hit ball for six frames before being lifted for a pinch runner. After that, the Training Station scored a 1-0 decision to take the title.

Yale Also Beat Lions In War Bond Pledges

NEW YORK —(AP)— Yale not only beat Columbia on the gridiron this season, but the Eli alumni outscored the Lion alumni, 2 to 1, in bond buying. The Yale group pledged $6,000 in bonds and Columbia $3,000.

The result was the outcome of a pre-game promise to buy a $1,000 bond each time their team scored a touchdown or gained 100 yards; $100 for a first down and $100 for an extra point.

Unchecked Checkers

WAIHAKU, HAWAII —(AP)— A game of checkers ended with plastic surgery for Pedro P. Castillo and a $25 fine for Marcello Lagrimos.

In circuit court, Lagrimos, charged with assault and battery, said his pal became angry after losing five games.

So, in self defense, he said, he bit off the top of Castillo's nose.

Wildcats Even More Dangerous Than Bears

CHARLESTON, W. Va. —(AP)— Just in case you should come face to face with a bear in the West Virginia mountains don't be too alarmed. But should you bump into a wild cat, look out, for the animal is aroused easily.

The advice of the conservation commission, which reports that the bear and the cat, West Virginia's two non-protected "big game animals," are well distributed throughout the state.

The cats usually are willing to retreat but are terrific fighters if hungry or cornered. Those found in this state, the commission says, resemble the house cat, although they are much larger.

Work To Start On New Magnolia Line This Week

Clearing and preparing right-of-way for the new 12-inch line from Midland to Corsicana of the Magnolia Pipe Line Company is due to start in the Big Spring area before the end of the week.

Executives of the Oklahoma Construction Company are temporarily located at Big Spring to supervise the work. First work will be building gates on fences which will be crossed by the line so ditching machinery and pipe trucks can get to the line.

Vernon L. Red, formerly North Oklahoma district superintendent for the Magnolia Pipe Line Company, with headquarters at Oklahoma City, has been transferred to Midland and put in charge of Magnolia lines in the south end of the Permian Basin. F. D. Breedlove, district superintendent of the West Texas operations of Magnolia Pipe Line Company for the last six years will direct work of the organization in the North Basin district.

Oil is now being run through the new Magnolia loop from Andrews pump station to the Midland tank terminal and work on the Andrews-Seminole loop is reported at least 96 per cent complete and crude is expected to start moving through that segment within a week.

Mother And Daughter Killed In Crossing Accident At Abilene

ABILENE —(AP)— Mrs. Augusta Griffin Hutchison, 26, and her 16-month-old daughter, of Paris, were killed and Mrs. William Childs, wife of a Camp Bartley major, was injured in the collision of the automobile in which they were riding and a Texas and Pacific passenger train at a grade crossing here Tuesday. The automobile was hurled more than 60 feet.

Mrs. Hutchison, daughter of Mrs. J. S. Griffin of Paris, came to Abilene a few days ago to visit her husband, J. Richard Hutchison, recently transferred here from Paris. He is an attorney with the U. S. engineers.

Mrs. Childs received a broken left shoulder and other injuries.

Oklahoma Must Foot Bill For Fly-By-Night

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— The state of Oklahoma must pay a Texas physician for treating John Wilbur Voss, Oklahoma County life terner, after he was badly wounded and captured following his escape last February from McAlester Penitentiary.

Attorney General Randall S. Cobb ruled Tuesday that the state board of affairs should honor a bill for $50 presented by Dr. Leslie E. Kelton, Jr., who furnished medical services when Texas officers shot the convict at Corsicana.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma officers would like to see the former patient. He escaped again last week.

Rookie Southpaw Likes To Pitch Better Than Eat

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— There's plenty of 17 year olds on the grid-irons this season and it's a strong possibility that the youth movement can catch on in major league baseball next season.

At least the Phillies have a good start in Roger Hornsby McKee of Shelby, N. C., a 16-year-old southpaw pitcher picked up from Shelby's American Legion Juniors.

Bonus For Signing

Freddie Fitzsimmons, manager of the Philadelphia National League entry, has been known as a willing helper of young moundmen and Fitz probably will spend much time with McKee.

After all, Shelby's pride-and-joy has been signed and a bonus—reported to be $5,000—went with it.

McKee turned in an unbeaten record during the 1942 high school season here. Then he joined Shelby's Legion nine, hurling the team to the state championship.

Scout Cy Morgan spotted him and was impressed immediately. "Just the kind of a kid I've been looking for," says Morgan.

"I'd rather play than eat," says McKee. It undoubtedly is a family trait since his father, Broadus McKee, was a rapid fan back in 1925—when Roger first saw the light of day.

Named For Rajah

Papa McKee was so tickled when the St. Louis Cardinals—managed by Rogers Hornsby—beat the Yankees in the World Series that year after the great second baseman. When Roger went to school he dropped the "s" from his name.

Broadus McKee never saw a big league game but he thinks his son can make the grade. After all you can't blame him. Young Roger averaged 14 strikeouts per game hurling for his Legion team. He may be a left-handed Bob Feller, who, incidentally, was discovered pitching American Legion Junior ball.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The horse racing industry, which is so big that a million bucks is hardly more than small change, seems to be all tangled up in a two-bit problem. At least, that's the impression we get from reports of a meeting of racing secretaries from all the big tracks to consider the "claiming problem" . . . The problem seems to be how to run a $2,000 horse in a $1250 claiming race without having him claimed.

At every time they lose a horse by running him for less than they think he's worth and they howl when the racing secretaries try to substitute graded handicaps or some other different method of classification.

The two-buck bettors, who don't care whether a horse is claimed or not as long as he wins some dough for them, also howl at times, so why not ignore the owners' yelps just like those of the fans? . . . Racing is a howling success, anyway.

The Penn State publicity department reports that transportation difficulties forced its football team to make all its trips by automobile this fall . . . Yet in some towns you can't even take a taxi to a football field. When Tulsa U. handed Utah that awful walloping Saturday, it marked the first time in the Aztec's 19 seasons as Utah coach that he had lost four games in a row.

Nifty Nomenclature

Down in Oklahoma, reports Harold Keith, they're calling Coach Henry Finka of Tulsa U. "the Alexander de Seversky of the football skyways." Get it? A power coach . . . And in England, says Schubert Dyche, ex-Montana State grid coach who now is a Red Cross supervisor, the kids call baseball "rounders gone mad."

Service Dept.

With no danger of a manpower shortage, the "Lily Bowl" football game is scheduled to be played in Bermuda, Jan. 2 between the Army and Navy units stationed there. Uniforms have been donated by Fordham . . . Pvt. Clarence Hewgley, Jr., of Keesler Field, Miss., has fought in the ring only three times but he won two championships. His first brought him the title in the Nashville, Tenn., golden gloves tournament and two bouts were all he needed to win the heavyweight crown at Keesler.
