WISHES HE'D HEARD OF IT A YEAR AGO

"I THOUGHT I WOULD DIE BUT SINCE TAKING ORGATONE FEEL LIKE NEW," SAYS WICHITA FALLS MAN.

"If I had heard of this Orgatone about a year ago, I would have been a happier and healthier man instead of suffering like I did," said O. L. Habern, living east on the Petrolia Road, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"I have been a constant sufferer for the last year with my stomach and the misery I went through was terrible. After eating I would suffer for hours at a time, until I would take something to belch up the gas that formed on my stomach, it was difficult for me to get my breath and I thought I had heart trouble. I had a severe pain at the margin of my ribs and in my right side, and when gas would form, it was difficult for me to get my breath, and I could not straighten up. I didn't sleep well at all, and would get up in the mornings feeling like I hadn't gone to bed at all. I would be so tired.

"I got my first bottle of Orgatone after continual treatment under doctors and all kinds of medicines failed to do me any good. I have taken three bottles of Orgatone and I am now feeling fine. Soon after beginning Orgatone I found my appetite had returned and my digestion was fine. I'm not constipated any more, and have gained five pounds in weight. Those severe pains in my back and sides are gone, and I am not nervous and restless as I was, and go to bed and sleep fine every night. I know that Orgatone will go all that is claimed for it, as it has been such a benefit to me. I have told a lot of people about it and they say it is giving good results. I think it is a wonder and I am glad to recommend it to the public.

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Haskell at the Oates Drug Store.

TABLES TURN AFTER 15 YEARS TROUBLES

"Sargon turned the tables for me after I had tried for 15 years to get well of stomach trouble. Now I am gaining every day. I went from 119 to 130 pounds, a gain of 11 pounds in three weeks on just three bottles. That's pretty good for a man 62 years old."

I suffered day and night for almost 15 years and spent many hard earned dollars for medicines, but none of them reached my case until I got Sargon. I felt weak and sick from morning until night. I would just drag myself around but now I feel years younger and can keep going all day. I eat anything I want and have no trace of stomach trouble, headaches or dizzy spells any more.

"The Sargon Soft Mass Pills straightened out my liver and I no longer suffer from biliousness and constipation. It sure is great to be feeling like my old self again and I will always praise the Sargon treatment. There never was any medicine equal to it."

When Your Battery Dies You're Helpless

There is nothing thoughtful about a battery. It "goes dead" without stopping to consider the inconvenience to you. And there's nothing you can do, when it dies, but call a battery man.

The average man doesn't know a thing about batteries. We use them all the time, and we can tell when they don't work, but we don't know why. And we don't need to know.

The men who have our battery services in Haskell have made a study of batteries. They know what is the matter with them and they know how to fix them.

So the rest of us have come to depend upon the service which our battery shops give us. We don't have to worry about battery troubles at all.

Our battery shops are giving conscientious service. They fill a genuine need in Haskell.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS I Drive to the right side of the road; it's just as good as the left.

II Slow down when approaching a cross road; it is nearly as dangerous as a railroad crossing.

III Look out for children. You can never tell what they will do, and you are always in the wrong if you hit one.

IV Try to help instead of hinder the traffic officer, he is there for your good and he's got a tough job.

V Believe your "dimmers" really dim; it's no joke driving into a blinding glare, as you probably know.

VI Read and obey the warning signs; they are not put up as ornaments.

VII If you feel you've got to speed—do it where it won't kill anybody but yourself.

VIII When making minor repairs, stop where your car may be seen from both directions; otherwise you may stop longer than you anticipate.

IX Speeding around corners is a straight route to the hospital. Don't race past a stopped street car. Some day the jury will call it manslaughter.

X Use discretion. The fact that you had the right of way won't bring anybody back to life, least of all yourself.

FOURTH OF JULY DEATHS

Associated Press reports indicate that 159 persons met violent deaths on July 4 this year, being 46 less than on the national holiday a year ago. Only 7 fatalities were due to fireworks.

Drowning and automobile accidents were responsible for the greatest number of deaths, the former showing a decrease and the latter an increase.

Of course, all these deaths can not be attributed to the fact that July 4 was a holiday, as there are a good many accidental deaths every day, but it seems inevitable that a large number of persons must lose their lives in the pursuit of holiday pleasure.

Automobiles took a toll of 70 lives an increase of 16 over July 4 last year. In spite of all the warnings that may be given, the motorist public appears strangely indifferent to the frightful loss of life occurring from automobile accidents. Needless speeding and taking unnecessary chances are responsible for most of the deaths and injuries which make up the daily list.

Unfortunately, the reckless often kill and maim careful persons who are unable to get out of their way. It is getting so that one who values his life had better stay at home on Sundays and holidays, especially. Otherwise, he is at the mercy of irresponsible fools who drive with utter disregard of themselves or others—Exchange.

Names of Cloud Formations

The idea of giving names to various kinds of cloud formation was first attempted in the early part of the Nineteenth century by a man named Lamarch, but his terms were not well chosen. A simpler form was devised about 1803 by Luke Howard, which seemed to answer the purpose and was generally accepted. Howard classified clouds according to their appearance, recognizing three primary types—cirrus, cumulus and stratus—and four derivatives, or compound forms—cirro-cumulus, cirro-stratus, cumulo-stratus and cumulo-cirro-stratus, or nimbus. Thus, he defined seven varieties.

World Using Old Truths The modern world is using, and using up, the truths that remain to it out of the old treasury of Christendom; including, of course, many truths known to pagan antiquity but crystallized in Christendom. But it is not really starting new enthusiasms of its own. The novelty of modern ideas is merely a matter of names and labels, like modern advertisements; in almost every other way it is negative.—G. K. Chesterton in the Bookman.

Admonition An old stager was taking a youth to task for betting all he had on a horse race. He pointed out the many mishaps that may occur between post and finish and called a long roll of sure things that had gone wrong.

"Now think, son," he wound up, "how long does it take to run the average horse race?" "Less than two minutes."

"There's the point. It may be all right to try to get rich quick, but that's too quick."

"Oh, yes, mother, you have a receipt," was the response.

Good Things

HERE is a nice dish to serve for those who enjoy a meat of liver:

Spaghetti With Liver.—Brown one cupful of cubed calf's liver in two tablespoonfuls of sweet fat, season well with salt, pepper a little chopped onion and cook for ten minutes; add one-half cupful of tomato pulp, three cupfuls of boiling water, add one teaspoonful of minced parsley and cook for twenty minutes. Cook one-half cupful of spaghetti in salted water until tender. Drain and place on a platter. Pour over it the liver mixture, sprinkle with cheese and serve.

Sautéed Tomatoes.—Tomatoes that are not fully ripe but well developed make a fine vegetable to serve with meats. Cut into thick slices and fry in sweet fat, sprinkle with a bit of flour to brown. Serve around the platter of meat.

Pineapple Shillet Cake.—Melt four tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan, add one cupful of brown sugar; when the sugar is melted add a can of sliced pineapple; arrange the drained pineapple over the caramel. Cover with the following: Beat four eggs, add two tablespoonfuls of water and one cupful of sugar, one cupful of flour stirred with one teaspoonful of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Place in the oven to bake. When brown turn upside down and serve with whipped cream.

Hashed Brown Potatoes.—Chop six boiled potatoes fine, season with salt and pepper. Wash and chop three green peppers. Mix with the potatoes, add an eighth of an inch of melted fat to the frying pan and turn in the vegetables. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally. When partly brown fold into an emmet shape and fry a rich brown. Turn out on a platter, keeping the shape and garnish with parsley.

Ham Filets.—Cut a thick slice of ham into strips one inch wide; let stand in cold milk two or three hours. Drain, dip into egg and fine crumbs and cook in lard fat until well brown on all sides.

FORD DEALERS' SELLING PRICES

USED CARS are low

Why not get a used car for the second car your family has been needing? Most of the cars we have accepted for trade-in on new Ford have a generous number of miles left in them—miles of unused transportation at a price you can easily afford.

You'll find our used-car prices low because there is no "price padding" to make up for high trade-in allowances. The price of the Model A. Ford is so low, and the value so high, that excessive trade-in concessions are impossible. That, and our reputation for fair-dealing which we value so highly, protect you when you buy a used car from us.

When we offer a Model T. Ford for resale it has been thoroughly reconditioned. New parts wherever needed, everything properly tightened and adjusted—and with it goes a guarantee. We have a number of these reconditioned Fords now. Also several cars of other makes, priced according to the unused transportation they offer. Let us prove our prices. Stop in today and look over these bargains.

This and That

ACCORDING to an account in a recent confectioner's trade journal, molasses candy was first given away, not sold. A thrifty New York baker, nearly a century ago, deciding to throw away the good but sticky sweetness collected in the bottom of his brown sugar barrels, boiled it down and pulled it until it became taffy. He did not think it possible to sell the humble concoction, so he gave a stick of it away with each loaf of bread. To his surprise the demand for the candy outgrew the demand for bread, and he decided to charge for it. And so molasses candy came on the market.

Scrambled Eggs With Green Peppers.—Simmer two tablespoonsful of chopped green pepper in a tablespoonful of butter for five minutes, then add four slightly beaten eggs, season to taste and cook until dry. Heat one-half cupful of tomato soup and pour over the eggs just before serving.

Baked Ham With Pineapple Rings.—Bake a thick slice of the center cut of ham in any desired manner. Broil a half dozen slices of pineapple in a few tablespoonfuls of the ham liquor and serve as a garnish around the ham.

Tomato Rabbit.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, and when brown add two cupfuls of strained tomato or tomato soup. Stir until boiling, add paprika, one cupful of auerhant and one cupful of cheese. Beat in the cheese and let stand until the cheese is well melted. Pour over triangles of toast.

H. L. Wood of Midway, one of our leading farmers, was in the city Friday. Mr. Wood takes much interest in crop growing. He is energetic and enthusiastic, and uses all of his time from his field crops in diversifying. He has a large flock of White Leghorn hens which he gives close attention and feeds for egg production and the cases of eggs he sells on the market each week is the evidence which is proof that he is making money with hens.

Alaska May Be Dubbed Original Ellis Island

It is now evident that America was originally peopled by immigrants from Asia, and it is probable that Alaska was the first scene of human history on the continent. Edward M. Weyer described at New Haven the relics yielded by prehistoric villages discovered during his explorations in Alaska. "The American continents are younger with regard to human occupation than the Eastern hemisphere," according to Weyer. "The very first immigrants to them, the forerunners of the American Indians, doubtless came from Asia. Thus Alaska, which lies much closer to Asia than any other part of America, probably was the gateway through which passed these early Asiatic immigrants."

"The northwestern corner of North America, therefore, can be regarded as the first scene of human history in America. No aboriginals of Arctic America, so far as is known, ever used a written language. Consequently the native relics of material culture are the only sources of historical information here. Nevertheless, the earliest prehistoric villages of Alaska yield secrets to the archeologist."—Lath-finder Magazine.

Famous Carnac Stones Puzzle to Scientists

The Stones of Carnac in Brittany are one of the wonders of the age. Nobody knows when they were erected, or why. Nowhere throughout Europe can there be seen such perplexing evidence of an early race combining the most primitive simplicity with indications of a profound knowledge. Vast alignments of huge stones attract the eye, headed or terminated by circles of dolmens (table stones) commonly called cromlechs) extending at intervals as far as seven miles to Lochmariaquer and bulging out in all directions to Erdeven, St. Barbe, Kermario, Kerlesan and the Quiberon. Intersected among these are tumuli, menhirs, tomen (holed stones) and engraved stones. To the casual visitor they are remnants of stone worship, burying places or records of conquered foes and victories past. Their strange markings are exactly similar to the thumb marks of the human hand, but done on a large scale and with wonderful accuracy. The height of the Egyptian columns and obelisks is almost exactly the same. What relation has Carnac with Egypt?

Cocoa Cause of Dispute

A Florentine who had resided in the West Indies introduced chocolate into Italy, whence its use gradually spread through Europe, though not without opposition. Its introduction into Prussia was prohibited by Frederick the Great. A famous Paris physician, Bichat, on the other hand, proclaimed cocoa as one of the most noble of discoveries, far more worthy to be the food of the gods than nectar and ambrosia, and Linnaeus, noted Swedish botanist, who gave cocoa its scientific christening, coined a name "Theobroma" from two Greek words meaning "food for the gods," which remains its scientific name today.

Had Few Nerves in Teeth

Study of the teeth of the suber-tooth cats and of the giant wolves that lived and died in prehistoric times, has shown why these animals and their descendants know no such thing as toothache. Examination of teeth found in asphalt pits in California revealed that, in every case, the teeth of an adult of the species had only a scanty supply of nerves. As the animal grew up, the root canal, which is the main route for the nerves into the pulp chamber of the tooth, became comparatively shut off.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

HASKELL WOMAN WRITES FROM CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Calif. July 20, 1929.

To The Free Press: I have thought since coming to Los Angeles, three weeks ago, that I would write a letter to the Free Press, so that all my friends who have not had the pleasure of visiting this wonderful, might know something of its attractions as I see them. We drove through from Texas and found many interesting things enroute but no place quite so beautiful as we have found in California. Fortunately we crossed the Arizona Desert at night and even then, the heat was intense—a heat that seems to penetrate to the center of one's being.

The Imperial Valley was reached just before day and the mountain climb this side was made in the early dawn. The drive over the mountain roads is very beautiful and we experienced an immediate relief from the heat. Driving here is a real pleasure, aside from the scenery, as all of the highways are paved. Magnificent homes and estates, with a scattering of small towns lined the roadway into San Diego. Coming in I had my first vision of the orange orchards and flower gardens, and on passing a roadside flower stand, I had a feeling that I would love to carry away several armful.

Driving down Broadway in San Diego from the vantage of a hill top I had my first glimpse of the Pacific, gleaming in the sun. A day and night was spent in this delightful city, visiting some of the most interesting points and in all our sight seeing I believe we have found nothing of more interest than Balboa Park, where we spent some time in the Natural History Museum and Botanical Gardens.

The drive to Los Angeles was made by the beach road, than which I am sure, there is no more beautiful drive in the whole U. S. We have driven up to Long Beach twice for the joy of returning over the road which runs most the way on the very verge of the ocean and gives a wonderful view of the mountains and the palatial country homes. People here seem to especially enjoy living in houses built on a steep cliff or precipice often overlooking the sea. So many of the homes remind one of the old castles, and the landscaping of the grounds is a ceaseless wonder.

A continual joy to me, are the numerous flower and fruit markets, many of them small and others covering a great deal of space. For twenty-five cents one may purchase a dozen beautiful sprays of gladioli and for fifty cents four dozen big carnations, other kinds being priced equally as low. The common yard flower, lantana, as we know it at home, becomes a small tree here while the red and pink geraniums grow in profusion, taller than the fences. Pink and white oleanders are used along the driveways with other trees and grow in immense proportions.

We find the churches in Los Angeles, in keeping with the general march of progress. Have attended S. S. and church at the First Baptist, on Sundays, and find the welcome most cordial. The building was magnificent, interior and exterior and though they have one hundred five S. S. rooms, they are still crowded, so we were informed. The auditorium is one of the most beautiful I have ever seen, the chairs being deep and plush lined, yet a real spirit of worship pervaded the congregation, and we were able to join in singing many of our old hymns.

We also spent an evening in Graumanns Chinese Theatre and witnessed the first production of the 1929 Hollywood Revue. This is a characterization of the famous movie artists. We were also fully impressed by the luxuriousness of the carpets as we entered, almost like walking on a featherbed. In front of this building, one may view the hand and footprint, also the autograph of all the famous movie stars, reproduced in the cement. Lest I have already said more than you have space for, I shall desist, though these are only a few of the high points.

Poor, little, common, yellow flower,
Kissed by the morning dew,
Living and blooming with all your power
Does nobody care for you?

Still from your courage, new faith I've taken,

Natch to our task assigned,
Must waken a commoner, too.

Home-Made Sweets

HOMemade candy doesn't last long, but it is much enjoyed while it lasts. Just now while candy is more highly respected as an energy producer, mothers of growing children will find it easier to consent to candy making in the home. Old-fashioned taffy, molasses candy, brittles of various kinds are all easy to prepare and are recommended as good exercise for the gums and teeth.

The one trouble which amateur candy makers find disturbing is the habit sugar has of graining. In making fondant, the foundation for bon bons and creams, add three tablespoonfuls of white corn sirup to two cupfuls of sugar and one-half cupful of water, then the mixture will be smooth when cooled and beaten.

Fudge.—Take one cupful each of white and brown sugar, two squares of chocolate cut fine, a pinch of salt, one-half cupful of milk and one-third of a cupful of sirup with two tablespoonfuls of butter. Boil until the mixture makes a soft ball when dropped into cold water. Cool slightly, then beat until creamy, adding a teaspoonful of vanilla. Put into a greased pan and mark off into squares.

Fruit Omelet.—Beat one egg, add the grated rind of part of an orange, one teaspoonful of juice, a few grains of salt. Peel one orange, removing all the white membrane and cut into very thin slices. Sprinkle with a teaspoonful of powdered sugar. Melt two teaspoonfuls of butter in a hot omelet pan, add the egg mixture, cook over low heat, shaking the pan. Roll and fold and sprinkle another teaspoonful of sugar over the omelet. Serve with the sliced oranges around the omelet.

"We have used Theodor's Black-Draught for years in our family. I can highly recommend it for many ailments. We take it for colds and for constipation. I have four children, and I give it to them. When my little girl gets bilious, or complains of headache, I give her a treatment of Black-Draught, and she is all right in a day or two. Sometimes when I have indigestion from improper eating, I have headache. Then I take Black-Draught. I always feel fresh and have more energy after I have taken it."—Mrs. E. ## MUNDAY NEGRESS BRUTALLY KILLED

(From the Munday Times) One of the most brutal and cowardly murders in the history of Knox county was that perpetrated sometime Tuesday night when Ethel Gibson, negress, was slain as she lay asleep in the servant's quarters at the T. A. Bolt home in the south part of Munday. The gruesome find was made early Wednesday morning when the little six year old son of the negress came to the Bolt home and reported that someone had killed his mother. Mr. Bolt went to the servant's quarters and found the negress lying on her bed with her two small children. She had been shot in the head at close range with a shotgun and about half of her head had been torn away. The two small children not old enough to understand the tragedy that had occurred, were moving about on the bed and were completely drenched in the blood of their slain mother. Strong men who viewed the scene were compelled to turn away.

Munday officers were immediately notified and Justice W. S. Bailey, assisted by County Attorney M. F. Billingsley and Deputy Sheriff Geo. Jackson, started an investigation into the murder. They found that the shot had been fired at close range, the barrel of the gun evidently being close up to the screen on the window through which the shot was fired, and within two feet of the head of the victim.

Officers directed their suspicion at first toward Henry Gibson, former husband of the victim, from whom she had been separated for about three years, but after further investigation Gibson was permitted to go his way and James Wade was taken into custody. Wade is being held in the Knox county jail for further investigation and officers are still at work on the case and hope to have the guilty party brought to justice. Wade is known locally as "Preacher" and has worked for many Munday citizens during the past two years, doing yard and garden work.

TAX ON GASOLINE WILL BE REFUNDED TO EXEMPT USERS

The State Comptroller's Department is now prepared to receive reports of exemptions from the new four-cent occupation tax on the sale of gasoline, according to an announcement by State Comptroller of Public Accounts, Sam Houston Terrell. Gasoline used for any other purpose than that of propelling vehicles on public roads, streets and highways of Texas is exempt from taxation. Fuel used in farm tractors, stationary engines, air craft and motor boats, therefore is exempt.

However, the tax must be paid on all gasoline. Refunds will be made to those exempt. The tax is placed directly on wholesale distributors of gasoline at the rate of four cents per gallon but the consumer eventually bears the burden of the tax. The new rate was in effect July 16th, having previously been two cents.

The new law does not make it easy for the consumer to secure refunds on exemptions. Comptroller Terrell has outlined the necessary procedure for the exempted consumer as follows:

1. The purchaser must fill out an invoice, at the time of the purchase, giving amount, price, purpose, etc. The regular price is paid for the gas. Forms will be supplied by dealers and filling stations.
2. Before the 25th of the month following month of purchase, the buyer must report to the Comptroller the number of gallons bought and the amount of refunds expected. Claims reported later than the 25th of the following month will not be honored.
3. On receiving the report, the Comptroller's Department will mail the claimant an affidavit-account form, on which will be recorded information as to the amount and use of gasoline purchased. This information must be sworn to before a notary public, and filed with the Comptroller not later than two months from the date of purchase. This document must be accompanied with a filing fee of $1.00, which must be paid each time that a claim is filed. These fees will be used to enforce the law.
4. The claim will be investigated, and if considered valid, a State warrant will be issued for the refund. This warrant must be cashed within 60 days.
5. No refund shall be made where gasoline is used later than six months from purchase.

Persons believing themselves to be entitled to exemptions should write to Comptroller Sam Houston Terrell, Austin, Texas.
