

64th FTW change of command set for Monday

Ops group gets new commander today

Col. Roger Brady will pass the reins of command of the 64th Flying Training Wing to Col. Randy Gelwix during a change of command ceremony here Monday.

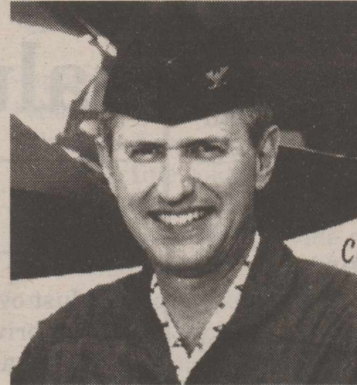

Maj. Gen. Nicholas Kehoe, 19th Air Force commander, will preside over the 10 a.m.

Gelwix, currently the 64th Operations Group commander, will turn over his command of the operations group today to Col. Bruce Burda. That change of command ceremony is scheduled for 9 a.m. in front of Base Operations.

Monday's wing change of command ends a two-year tour for Brady, a brigadier general selectee who will become the vice commander of the Ogden Air Logistics Center, Hill Air Force Base, Utah. Among the many milestones reached dur-

Reese hosts youth camp

For the past two weeks, more than 50 members of the Reese community have volunteered their services and time to work Camp Blue Yonder.

The camp hosted 31 girls July 17-21 and 31 boys from Monday through today from the Lubbock community.

Second Lt. Michele Bly, 64th Flying Training Wing Staff, was the project officer who organized the non-profit camp.

During the camp, children visited several base agencies and used wing facilities such as the bowling center, chapel, Caprock Cafe, picnic grounds, movie theater and swimming pool.

Some of the scheduled off-base activities include visits to the Science Spectrum/Omni Max theater, Discovery Zone, Joyland Amusement Park, Putt-Putt Golf and Games, Texas Water Rampage and

Reese JSUPT Class 95-12 to receive wings today

Eighteen Joint Specialized Undergraduate Pilot Training students will receive their pilot wings during graduation ceremonies today for JSUPT Class 95-12.

The ceremony will be at 10:30 a.m. in the Simler Theater.

The guest speaker for today's graduation is retired Air Force Brig. Gen. Robin Olds, one of only a handful of aviators to have earned the designation of a "triple ace."

The general shot down 17 enemy aircraft during combat in World War II and the Vietnam War. Thirteen of the "kills" were earned during World War II while piloting P-38 Lightning and P-51 Mustang aircraft. Olds added four more enemy aircraft to the list in Vietnam, shooting down two MIG-17 and two MIG-21 aircraft while flying the F-4 Phantom II.

The son of an Army Air Corps

general, Olds entered the service as a cadet at West Point, earning football All-American honors at tackle in 1942. In addition to his success as a combat pilot, Olds was also a member of the first Army Air Corps jet acrobatic team.

During his career, the general served as a squadron, base and wing commander, he has held staff assignments at the numbered Air Force, Headquarters Air Force and Joint Chiefs of Staff levels. The general served as Commandant of Cadets at the Air Force Academy from 1967 to 1971.

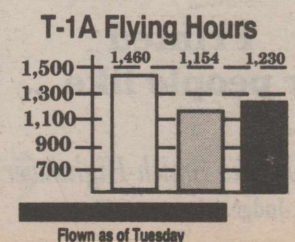

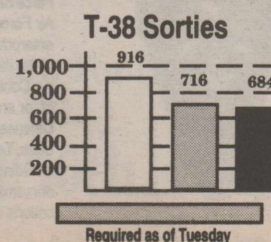

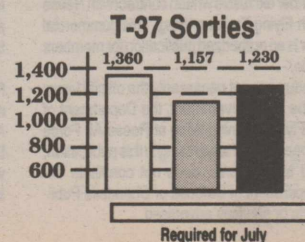

Today's ceremony is open to the base and will be followed by several events in the Reese Club. A buffet is scheduled from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. All Reese personnel are invited to the graduation buffet. There will be a parent's social at 6:30 p.m. and a dinner-dance at 7

Colonel Brady bids farewell, salutes support of entire wing

by Colonel Roger Brady
64th FTW commander

Just over two years ago I was given the very special privilege of serving the 64th Flying Training Wing as your commander. During that time you have continually taken on great challenges and met them all.

First and foremost, you have continued to train the very best pilots possible — effectively, efficiently and safely.

Both the 52nd Flying Training Squadron and the 54th FTS set the standard in syllabus development and customer relations for the rest of the command.

Joint Specialized Undergraduate Pilot Training was tested and proven successful here by the 64th Operations Group and, specifically, the men and women of the 35th FTS.

The 64th Operations Support Squadron has integrated weather, air traffic control, simulator and academic training into a highly effective operations support team.

On the support side, you have consolidated clubs and set the standard for the command in sound fiscal management of our recreational facilities.

Environmentally, you have taken a genuinely embarrassing situation and turned it into a model of responsible stewardship.

The Medical Group has set the standard for the Air Force in efficiency and service.

The wing staff has been superb — anticipating, planning ahead and providing the support all our people need to get our job done right.

Virtually every squadron on base can boast of a unit or individual Air Education and Training Command or Air Force-level award within the last year. These accomplishments are a testament to each member of the wing — military and civilian, enlisted and officer — and to commanders, first sergeants and supervisors at every level who showed the way and provided a climate in which individuals could reach their potential while

Special thanks to the contractor personnel who have been an essential part of our mission, and to the tenants who have served and supported us so well — Army and Air Force Exchange Service, Defense Commissary Agency, Defense Finance and Accounting Service and Office of Special Investigations.

To the many volunteers without whom we could hardly operate, thank you.

Finally, to the families of the Reese community, thank you for your support to Reese and its mission and to the Brady family. On behalf of Litha, Caroline and Andrew, thanks for two great years — we'll miss you!

General Fogleman expresses grief over accident

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Ronald R. Fogleman announced July 19 he has requested that the Army lead the investigation into the joint training accident July 18 at Fort Sill, Okla., where an Air Force OA-10 aircraft dropped a 500-pound bomb, accidentally killing one Army soldier, and injuring four other soldiers and five Marines.

In his announcement, Fogleman expressed his grief at the death of the soldier and injury to the other soldiers and Marines.

"Such losses touch all of us in the profession of arms, and my condolences go out to their families and friends.

"It is important," he continued, "that we ensure such accidents are avoided by thoroughly investigating all the surrounding circumstances. Army Chief of Staff Gen. Dennis J. Reimer, Marine Commandant Gen. Charles C. Krulak and I all agree it most appropriate that the Army take the lead in this investigation since the Army experienced the loss of a fine soldier.

"The Air Force, along with the Marines, will provide operational and technical experts as required to determine the cause of the accident.

"We will make all information necessary for the investigation available to the Army.

"We have learned lessons from previous joint training accidents, one of which is for all the services to work very closely together to exchange information and uncover all possible causes to avoid future similar accidents.

"In today's increasingly joint environment, working more closely together to improve the safety and interoperability of all the services is a top priority."

Army captain killed in OA-10 accident

BARKSDALE AIR FORCE BASE, La. (AFNS) — One military member was killed and nine others wounded July 18 when an Air Force OA-10 fighter aircraft dropped a 500-pound bomb near the West Range of Fort Sill, Okla., striking two highly mobile multi-wheeled vehicles (HUMVEES).

Dead is Army Capt. Christopher Williams of Houston, commander of Battery A, 2nd Battalion, 17th Field Artillery, at Fort Sill.

Four of the wounded — all Marine Corps Reserve members — were treated at the Fort Sill hospital and released. The five still hospitalized were reported to be in good condition. Four are Army members, the fifth of the Marine Corps Reserve.

The aircraft, assigned to the 917th Wing here, was one of two Air Force Reserve OA-10s flying close air support training at the Fort Sill bombing range, officials said.

Colonel Gelwix assumes command Monday

The colonel and his wife, Litha, have two children, Caroline and Andrew.

Gelwix has served as commander of the 64th OG for one year.

The Colonel has been at the forefront of wing efforts to successfully integrate interservice instructor and student pilots into the flight training program.

Gelwix began his flying career in 1971, graduating from pilot training at Reese. During his career he has logged more than 2,100 hours in various F-4 fighter aircraft, T-38s and T-37s.

He is a combat veteran of both the Vietnam War and Desert Storm.

Prior to assuming command of the 64th OG, he served as the executive officer to the commander, Air Education and Training Command.

Gelwix and his wife, Irmgard, have two sons, Chris and Steve.

Burda comes to Reese after recently completing the Air War College at Maxwell AFB, Ala. A 1977 graduate of the Air Force Academy, the colonel is a command pilot with more than 4,000 hours in the T-1A, T-37, T-38 and C-130-E aircraft.

He has served in a variety of staff and command positions. Prior to attending the Air War College he served as commander of the 61st Airlift Squadron, Little Rock AFB, Ark.

As commander of the 61st AS he directed unit participation in numerous international airlift operations such as Provide Relief, Provide Promise and Southern Watch.

The colonel and his wife, Stacy, have three children, Ryan, Matthew and Megan.

PEOPLE FIRST

Air Force intern program underway

□ Fifty captains were selected by a May 1995 central selection board to participate in the new Air Force Intern Program

-- This program is open to all line captains with one or two years in grade and at least one year time on station (online captains check with your corps manager)

-- The first group began arriving in the Washington, D.C., area in mid July

-- This program is designed to develop future Air Force leaders through a unique 19 - 22 month assignment combining Air Staff/Joint experience and a formal education program with an option to complete a master's degree

□ Next call for nominations in Jan/Feb 96 for Jul/Aug 96 program entries

-- This is another great opportunity to prepare tomorrow's AF leadership team

□ For more information call the Customer Service Center at the Reese Military Personnel Flight at 3276.

Rated officers offered exchange duty

□ Pilots and Electronic Warfare Officers have an opportunity to serve a three-year exchange tour with U.S. Navy flying the EA-6B.

-- Duty location is Naval Air Station Whidbey Island, Wash.

-- Officers with F-4G and EF-111 experience are given first consideration

-- Tour consists of all facets of Naval flying: catapult launches, carrier landings, and sea duty

-- Training available as early as October

□ Call AFMPC project/assignment officers, Maj. Bill Murphy and Capt. Jerry Hanna at DSN 487-6511

Assignment information on Internet

□ Assignment listings for officers and enlisted members are the latest offerings on the Air Force Military Personnel Center's home page on the World Wide Web.

□ Assignment information and current openings are available for support, rated and medical officers as officer career broadening opportunities, contingency temporary duty listings, the Enlisted Quarterly Assignment Listings, and EQUAL Plus.

□ Officer and contingency TDY listings are updated every Friday night, EQUAL Plus is updated every Monday night and EQUAL listings are updated as they are released for the current rotation cycle.

□ Officers can volunteer for jobs right from the listings. To access AFMPC's home page, type in the URL box: <http://www.mpc.af.mil/>. Then click on the Assignment Listings Online menu.

□ Other information available on the AFMPC home page includes:

Wartime test begins for C-17

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AFNS) — Twelve C-17 Globemaster IIIs logged 119 hours July 16 during the first 24 hours of a seven-day simulated wartime operation.

A total of 195 flying hours, more than 16 hours per aircraft, were scheduled for July 17, the first of two consecutive wartime surge days. These days represent an initial surge deployment period, during which a large volume of equipment would be deployed to forward operating bases.

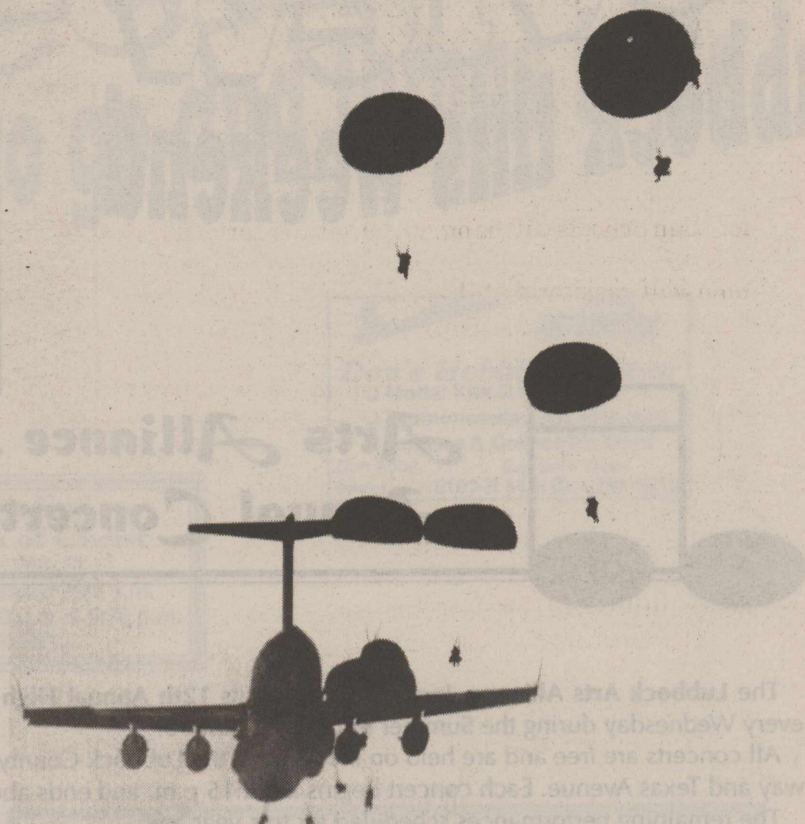

The exercises are part of the Reliability, Maintainability and Availability Evaluation which will give the Air Force a snapshot of future military utility for the nation's newest airlifter.

RM&AE began July 7 with nine days of peacetime operations during which the aircraft flew several peacetime profiles, averaging more than four flying hours per aircraft per day.

During this phase, crews from the 437th and 315th (Reserve Associate) Airlift wings at Charleston AFB, S.C., flew air refueling, short field landing, combat offload, personnel and equipment airdrop, and other proficiency training missions.

Additionally, during the peacetime period, C-17s transported supplies from Charleston AFB, S.C., and Dover AFB, Del., to Royal Air Force Mildenhall, England.

A 14-day return to peacetime operations will follow the week-long wartime phase ending July 22. The entire evaluation will be completed Aug. 5.

Wartime missions originated from Charleston, with Air Force equipment from Charleston and Army equipment from Fort Bragg and Pope AFB, N.C., transported to RAF Mildenhall; Barstow-Daggett, Calif.; and Bicycle Lake Airfield at the National Training Center, Fort Irwin, Calif.

The wartime phase is designed to simulate a multi-regional scenario, with aircraft transporting personnel and equipment great distances to different theaters (both eastbound and westbound) allowing the C-17 to demonstrate its unique strategic capabilities.

RM&AE was designed to compare actual aircraft performance against design requirements and goals. It is also providing additional data to support initial operational testing and to determine how the C-17 fleet will perform in future real-world operations.

52nd FTS soars to top of intramural softball

by Senior Airman
Tim Dempsey
Sports Editor

Only two weeks were left in the intramural softball season Monday, and one question remains to be answered.

Can any team stop the 52nd Flying Training Squadron?

Last season's team started slow by losing its first two games. From that point on, the team found its chemistry and had a seven game winning streak to end the regular season at 10-4, tied for the American League's top honors.

This year, the 52nd FTS had no problem finding its chemistry. It has been unstoppable as it has destroyed every team that had the misfortune of playing them. The team's powerful offense and flawless defense has guided it to a perfect 9-0 record.

However, the team had its work cut out this past week meeting three AL teams. Monday, it was scheduled to face the 64th Operations Support Squadron, 7-4, who has been a thorn in many team's sides.

The following night it was scheduled to play the defending intramural softball champs, the 64th Security Police Squadron, 9-3. The 64th SPS started off strong, but have been in a slump in recent weeks losing three out of four games. They rebounded July 13, destroying Lockheed, 30-8, and look to be back in playoff form.

The 52nd FTS was scheduled to complete the week Thursday against the combined team of the 64th Services Squadron and the 64th Civil Engineer Squadron, 5-6.

This week the team is scheduled to play the joint team of the Navy and the U. S. Marine Corps, 3-7, Wednesday at 8 p.m. It is scheduled to wrap up the regular season against the 64th Logistics Squadron, 7-5, Aug. 4 at 6 p.m.

Other games slated for this week include the 64th LS playing the 64th SVS/CES at 5 p.m. Monday, followed by the T-1 Jays, 3-5, at 6 p.m., Lockheed, 2-5, against the 64th Medical Group-B, 1-10, at 7 p.m. and the 64th MDG-A wrapping up the night against the 64th Communications Squadron, 10-3, at 8 p.m.

Tuesday features the 64th MDG-B taking on Navy/USMC at 6 p.m., the 35th FTS, 8-2, battling the 64th Mission Support Squadron, 5-7, at 7 p.m. and the 64th OSS taking on the 54th FTS, 6-5, at 8 p.m.

The 64th SVS/CES will face Lockheed at 6 p.m. to open play Wednesday. They are followed by the 64th SPS and the 64th MDG-A at 7 p.m.

Thursday matches the 64th CES, 4-6, against the 35th FTS at 5 p.m., the 64th MDG-B pitted against the T-1 Jays at 6 p.m. and LMLM meeting the 64th LS at 8 p.m.

Should We Save Money And Our Veterans' Health?

(NAPS)—The government could save money for U.S. taxpayers and improve the lives of U.S. veterans, experts say, if it heeds the advice in the Independent Budget for Veterans Affairs.

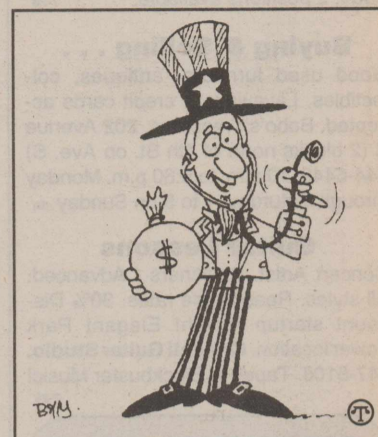

This plan was created by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other organizations, including AMVETS, the Disabled American Veterans and the Paralyzed Veterans of America. It says a simple change in the law allowing VA physicians more options in treating patients can save a significant amount of money.

Current law limits access by most veterans to outpatient VA medical services, forcing VA hospitals to treat them in far more expensive inpatient settings. While this was originally designed to limit costs, it interferes with efficiency.

The Independent Budget for Veterans Affairs reports the VA could save up to $2 billion a year by providing care more appropriately and efficiently. The savings could be used to reduce the amount of tax money Congress must appropriate to provide veterans with medical care.

What's more, according to the report, with improved procedures, VA could collect at least $800 million in third-party reimbursements in the near future. These collections could be a steady source of revenue, easing the burden on taxpayers.

The veterans groups also call for changes in the law to remove certain inequities and oppose any proposals to means test, tax or eliminate compensation for veterans with service-connected disabilities.

Veterans groups have come up with a way the government could save money while providing better health care.

According to Senator Bob Dole, "Congress should give this proposal careful consideration. It is a non-partisan document crafted by the people who know the system best—the veterans themselves."

Many taxpayers, veterans or not, are asking their legislators where they stand on the Independent Budget for Veterans Affairs. Anyone can write Congress on this or any issue at the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510 and the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.
