Study Course Awards To Be Given Sunday Night

The awards for the study course in the Baptist Training Series, the last week of April, will be given out Sunday night, in the general assembly. Those of you who are expecting awards from that course, please be present. It is inconvenient to have your award deferred to you, and just as inconvenient to save it until such time, as you may call for it, and it will be quite a bit of confusion for you to be there to receive your own award. The B. T. S. will start promptly at 7 o'clock. Exery member should be in his place, and start the summer's work in earnest.

ENCAMPMENT OF CLUB WOMEN TO BE HELD JUNE 8-9

The annual encampment for Home Demonstration Club women of Haskell and Knox counties will be held at Lea Park near Union Grove school house, three miles west of Knox City on Monday and Tuesday, June 8th and 9th. These annual encampments have been well attended in past years, and this year's gathering is expected to draw the largest attendance of any held in the past, with indications that at least 125 women from Haskell county will attend. Last year's encampment was held in this city, with over 200 in attendance.

Closes Successful Revival

Probably one of the most successful revivals ever held in Haskell will come to a close tonight when the final services of the Crimm-Cohen meeting will be held at the Christian Church.

About 150 people have been converted or reclaimed since the meeting began three weeks ago, the majority of whom will join some one of the Churches in the city during the next week.

POULTRY REPORT SHOWS PROFIT OF 75 CENTS PER HEN

A six months poultry report compiled by home agent Eileen Partlow from seven poultry demonstrators, members of home demonstration clubs of Haskell county shows a profit of 75c per hen. Low prices in the poultry industry have not discouraged these demonstrators but have helped them in finding lower priced rations and in getting the greatest production possible for the expenditure for feed. A total of $341.01 above expenses proven the success of records kept by these women.

In most cases pullets were added to the flock early in the year to keep stock build up. With the feeding of skimmed milk, grain and plenty of green stuff, Mrs. B. Walters has cut her production cost. Mrs. Glenn Stanford finds the Hendricks method good for the growth and development of the baby chicks. Culling is a very necessary thing with these and is done often to insure no feeding going to the loafer. Eggs at such a low price have been served for the most inexpensive dish on the table. When hens buy groceries, gasoline, build brooder houses, buy better equipment for the caring of the flock and feed the family one cannot say that there is no money in the poultry business.

Reception Of New Members Sunday At Baptist Church

The new members coming from the Crimm-Cohen Revival will be formally received at the morning services Sunday at the First Baptist Church. Every member of the church is urged to be present for this service.

English Musical Comedy Actress Gives Recipes for Coffee Desserts

Miss Lillian Bond, petite English star of "Follow Thru," some of whose favorite coffee recipes are given below.

COFFEE is not only America's favorite drink, but—surprisingly enough—it is also the favorite recipe favoring of an English actress. The actress is Miss Lillian Bond, star of the musical success "Follow Thru," who is herself an excellent cook and has collected more than one hundred recipes for delicious desserts and drinks in which coffee is a principal ingredient.

Miss Bond has found hot coffee of enormous benefit to her in the exacting life of the theatre. Often she must act a role when she is tired and feeling quite unlike the gay, lively person who must appear behind the footlights—then a cup of fragrant coffee gives her the proper physical and mental stimulation to play her part.

When she makes her own coffee, this petite young Englishwoman is careful always to get the proper proportions—a heaping tablespoonful of coffee to a cup of water. She believes that the time of infusion should be as short as possible so that there will be no bitterness and that, to be at its best, the coffee should be served hot and freshly made.

But Miss Bond has many delightful uses for coffee beside the customary beverage. Here are a few of her prize recipes:

WALNUT MOCHA CAKE—
 1/2 cup butter
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 cup coffee (cold)
 1 1/2 cup flour
 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 Whites of 3 eggs
 3/4 cup broken walnut meats
 Cream the butter, then gradually add sugar, coffee, flour mixed and sifted with baking powder, nuts and egg whites beaten stiff. Bake 40 minutes.

COFFEE FUDGE ICING—
 4 ounces chocolate
 3/4 pound butter
 1/2 cup coffee (cold)
 Add enough sugar to make it the right consistency to spread.

COFFEE JELLY—
 1 envelope sparkling gelatine
 1/2 cup cold water
 3 cups clear strong coffee
 3/4 cup sugar
 Juice of 1 lemon
 Soak gelatine in the cold water 5 minutes and dissolve in the hot coffee. Add lemon juice and sugar, stir until dissolved. Turn into a mold, first dipped in cold water, and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

COFFEE CREAM PUNCH—
 To 2 quarts boiling coffee add 1/2 cup granulated sugar and 4 teaspoons maple extract. Allow to cool, then add 1/2 cup cream. Stir well, pour over crushed ice and top with whipped cream.

that amount of land. Sheriff W. B. Anthony says that he heard considerable talk during his visit to Waco, to the effect that the Texas Central would be extended to Haskell. The officers of the road have made several trips to Albany on a tour of inspection, with a view of extending same.

Putting It Politely

"I've got a rather distasteful job before me," remarked the genealogist. "Mrs. Newrich employed me to look up her family tree, and I've got to inform her that one of her relatives was electrocuted."

"Why worry about that?" said his friend. "Just write that the man in question occupied the chair of applied electricity at one of our public institutions."

Berean Class, "The Glass Southern Hospitality."
Now that God has blessed us with a wonderful revival meeting, we all get down to the fact that Sunday School attendance has been off very much the last two days.
Although there was only a small class Sunday, we had a wonderful message brought to us by Mr. Omer. The meaning of taking the Lord's Supper was thoroughly discussed and that very much discussed subject was brought to light better to most of us.

Bereans there at least fifty boys in Haskell that should be in our class, next Sunday morning if each of us would be as faithful as we should we would each bring some one with us. Now that summer is here we will be having picnics and socials and want to have a good class to put it over in the right way. We need your help.
Be there next Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock and bring some one with you.

Saxophone Not Jazz, Says Orchestra Leader

TOMMY CHRISTIAN

Real Southern Musicians Use Clarinets Instead

New York City.—Saxophones and jazz have been coupled for many years in public prints, spoken comment, law courts and pulpits. So says Tommy Christian, famous orchestra leader. "In fact it was a business executive who wanted to get volume out of a small orchestra combination who first suggested using the saxophone," says Mr. Christian.

"The original jazz bands were made up of cornets and clarinets. The clarinets give many more effects than saxophones and are great for hot tunes and cover three and one-half to four octaves, while a saxophone only reaches two and one-half, but can be sweet and melodious.

"People down South don't even like the sound of a saxophone except in serious music. They can listen all night to blues, played with a clarinet, fiddle, bass fiddle, cornet and guitar, and never feel blue, but give them saxophone music on a dance floor and they start feeling sorry for themselves.

"There's just something about a saxophone that does that. It is sweet and sad because it doesn't laugh like a clarinet. Doesn't make you want to get up and yell. It moans too low.

"Some pieces need a saxophone to tell their story though. 'I'll Be Blue Just Thinking of You, From Now On' is one of those. Its dancing qualities make it real saxophone music. It has sex appeal which is only put over musically with sax appeal."

GREAT NOVEL IS STIRRING HIT AS FILM

From the fiery pages of Donald Henderson Clarke's notable best-seller, "Millie," has come a heart-deep screen drama that takes its place among the really outstanding films of the year. Radio Pictures' "Millie," which opens Monday at the Texas Theatre, is sure-fire entertainment for any audience.

Particularly worthy is its cast of featured players, including a half-dozen of the best-liked screen artists of the day. Helen Twelve trees, flaming little beauty and among the best of the screen's dramatic actresses, plays the title role. As "Millie," Miss Twelvrees gives the finest characterization of her career and definitely establishes herself as one of the most talented players in motion pictures today.

Brilliant support is accorded by Lilyan Tashman, smooth, suave blonde beauty; Robert Ames, one of the most likeable of young leads; Joan Blondell, sensational new find; John Halliday, one of the foremost recruits from the Broadway legitimate stage; James Hall and Carmelita Geraghty. Superbly directed by John Francis Dillon, the large cast contributes a number of remarkable performances.

The spirit of the original novel has been retained faithfully. The film traces the vivid life story of this red-headed "Millie" from a country village to her ascendancy as the toast of Broadway. A strong dramatic climax brings a punch hardly likely to be equalled this season.

"Millie" is grand entertainment. Don't miss it.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Recently a number of concerts have been given down town by the Haskell High School Band and every program has been thoroughly enjoyed by all those present. Attired in their uniforms they make a very attractive appearance. The organization is composed of more than 40 members at the present time and Director Meacham expects to have fifty in the organization by the time school starts next fall.

Few communities can boast of a group of juvenile artists such as this. Several previous attempts have been made in Haskell to organize the young musicians of the community, but none have been nearly so successful. Perhaps this success is due largely to Mr. Meacham, under whose direction they have been since the present organization was first assembled together. Mr. Meacham has had a vast amount of experience in this work and it is believed that the band has made greater progress than any similar organization in this section. He as well as the youngsters are to be congratulated.

FOOLHARDY ADVENTURE

We may not be properly appreciative of the efforts of scientific explorers, but we can imagine nothing more foolhardy than the proposed expedition of Sir Hubert Wilkins to the North Pole by submarine. As a stunt, a sporting proposition to place the ingenuity of a man against the forces of water, ice and bitter cold to see what will happen, it may be all right, but so far as any practical benefits to be derived from it are concerned there appears to be no possibility of any worthwhile results. The North Pole has been surveyed from above, why explore it from below? We admire Sir Hubert's bravery but question his judgment.

SOME DEFICIT

When it comes to doing things in a really big way, we beat the world. When depression set in all over the world and the treasuries of the civilized world found it hard to meet their obligations and were forced to show a deficit, we showed them how to have a deficit. With somewhat of complacency at the pike's end of the world, we face a deficit of a billion or more. That's a lot of money to dig down in the national treasury for, but we'll manage it when times are better. Until then we can point with pride at our deficit, which is the largest in the world, and exclaim, to paraphrase an automobile advertisement: "When bigger deficits are made Uncle Sam will make them."

CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBTS

Representatives of various European governments which owe us money loaned to them to prosecute the World War can think of a thousand different reasons why the United States should cancel the debts. Most of their arguments are on a par with those advanced by the ordinary debtor who wishes to avoid paying his debts.

They argue that the United States should remit the debts because we are rich and wouldn't miss the money. Not bluntly just like that but clothed in beautiful diplomatic language. How like a debtor that is! When he wants money, he goes to the man who has it and is glad to get it. But repaying it is a different matter. Then the creditor becomes an old miser—in the case of Uncle Sam, Uncle Shylock, clamoring for his pound of flesh.

Then there is the argument that we should cancel the debts because it would be to our interest to do so. The countries of Europe cannot afford to pay them. It is wringing from them their very life blood to compel them to do so. They cannot buy our produce while they must find money to pay their debts, and thereby our trade languishes and the whole world is commercially upset. Just remit the debts they say, and at once trade will revive, they will be able to buy and all will be well with world and with us. In other words when the grocer has treated you for groceries during the hard winter, ask him to cancel the debt so that you can buy more groceries from him.

The arguments have no foundation in the accepted laws of individuals in dealings between debtor and creditor nor should they be any more applicable to the dealings between nations. They cannot ask for cancellation as a matter of right. That it would be to our interest to cancel is far from being proven.

If our debtors would cut down on the four or five billions of dollars they are spending each year on their military establishments perhaps there would not be so much talk of debt cancellation.

The Opposite

The grocer was busily engaged attending the wants of his customers when he suddenly caught sight of a small boy gazing hard at a large crate of oranges.

"Now then, my lad," he began, "what are you up to?"

"Nothing," replied the boy.

"Nothing," echoed the grocer. "Well, it looks to me as if you were trying to take one of those oranges."

"You're wrong mister," retorted the boy. "I'm trying not to."

WINGS OF ADVENTURE AT TEXAS THEATRE

"Wings of Adventure," the newest Tiffany talking production is the attraction Friday and Saturday at the Texas Theatre. Rex Lease Armida and Clyde Cook play the leading roles with other characters interpreted by Nick de Ruiz, Fred Malatesta and Eddie Boland. The story is by Harry Frazer and Richard Thorpe directed with RCA Photophone recording.

Dave Kent is an adventure-loving aviator who gets his fill of dangers and daring when his motor goes dead over bandit territory and he is forced to land. The bandits have political ambitions and Kent and his mechanic, Skeets Smith, and his airplane, are desirable additions to their "army." Their first duty is to hold up a cantina in the name of taking a collection for La Panthera, the bandit who intends to be president.

Then the boys are taken to the bandits' hang-out and there, behind bars, is pretty Maria, in a perfect rage at having been taken by La Panthera, despite her hatred of him for his bride. He is on the way even now, with a priest to marry them. When Dave hears her story he promises to rescue her and after there is all the excitement any one could wish for.

It's an ill wind that blows no one good. The unemployment situation has made it easier for the panhandler.

Transmission Line Service Aids Development

WEST TEXAS is a land rich in natural resources and vital raw materials, and in the near future far-seeing manufacturers will locate their plants in this territory where they will benefit by cheap land, moderate operating expenses, low living costs, an abundance of native-born and intelligent workers, splendid shipping facilities, ideal climatic conditions and an adequate and elastic supply of inexpensive and dependable electric energy.

line system serving a wide area from strategically-located main generating stations and further stabilizing its service through interconnection and auxiliary plants.

When these industries survey West Texas for the most attractive factory-sites, first consideration will be given those progressive small cities which offer the constant power supply of a transmission

One hundred and twenty prosperous cities and towns throughout West Texas are interconnected by the 2,500 mile trunk transmission line network of the West Texas Utilities Company. Receiving service from three major generating stations—supplemented by twenty-two auxiliary or standby plants—leading citizens of these towns confidently anticipate the rapid industrial development of this vast empire, truly called the "Land of Opportunity."

American Business Men Lured by Music To Vacations

ANDRE QUEDEC

The S.S. FRANCE

It happened in Monterey, A long time ago, I met her in Monterey, In old Monterey

Men of Affairs Growing Continental in Travel Tastes, French Line Officer Finds

New York City.—American men are beginning to play, beginning to let business take only a part of their time. This is the belief of Henri Quedec, commissaire of the S.S. France who takes many pleasure-seeking Americans abroad each year.

"More and more, American business men are taking vacations," he declares. "They take them in winter and in summer, even in spring and fall. After a man has a sufficient competence, and I note that each year younger men must get it for they are traveling, he now starts in to take life easy and see the world. In the past, few men went voyaging for pleasure. That was only for women and children."

"I think the fact that music has become such an integral part of American life is largely responsible for the new power of men to relax. Music has a 'dolce far niente' effect on any nation. Constantly singing and dancing to happy, joyous music with tune and lyric telling of Araby, Zanzibar, Hawaii, Suez and what not, one really develops a yen to start on the magic carpet.

"It Happened in Monterey," the waltz ballad I hear everyone humming, is a good example of what I mean. This piece has all the glamour of the old world told in modern idiom."

Monsieur Quedec is largely responsible for the success of the famous Mediterranean cruises of the S.S. France, of the French line each winter. This fairyland cruise takes in all the wonderful ports of the Mediterranean, which America has pictured so often in song. Quedec is holder of the croix de guerre and a son of a former doctor-in-chief of the French Navy. He is a large cotton plantation owner in both Martinique and Porto Rico.

All of Mr. and Mrs. Pennington's children were present except 2 sons, Jesse and Dewey Pennington, who were unable to attend. Those enjoying this splendid occasion were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. John Pennington and family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Prince and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Beasley and children, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Pennington and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Tidwell and son Bill, Opal and J. T. Pennington, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bland, Miss Ersel Hadaway and Mrs. J. W. Tidwell.

The Berean Class, "The Class of Southern Hospitality."

Now that God has blessed us with a wonderful revival meeting, let us all get down to the fact that our Sunday School attendance has fallen off very much the last two Sundays.

Although there was only a small class Sunday, we had a wonderful message brought to us by Mr. O'ner. The meaning of taking the Lord's Supper was thoroughly discussed and that very much discussed subject was brought to light better to most of us.

Bereans there at least fifty boys in Haskell that should be in our class, next Sunday morning if each of us would be as faithful as we should we would each bring some one with us. Now that summer is here we will be having picnics and socials and want to have a good class to put it over in the right way. We need your help.

Be there next Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock and bring some one with you.

INDIGESTION

"My work is confining, and often I eat hurriedly, causing me to have indigestion. Gas will form and I will smother and have pains in my chest. I had to be careful what I ate, but after someone had recommended Black-Draught and I found a small pinch after meals was so helpful, I soon was eating anything I wanted. Now when I feel the least smothering or uncomfortable bloating, I take a pinch of Black-Draught and get relief."
