Body Now Working at President Hoover's Behest Is Largest in History

Washington, D. C.—The White House Conference on Child Health and Protection which has been called by President Hoover to meet here November 19-22, is the third gathering of the kind to be summoned by presidents of the United States in the interest of children.

President Roosevelt assembled the first in 1909. Two hundred of the leading child welfare workers from all parts of the country then met in Washington, to offer recommendations regarding dependent children.

In 1919, at the request of President Wilson and with funds supplied from the President's war emergency fund, the Children's Bureau called a second meeting. This conference studied child labor, the health of mothers and children, and handicapped children, in addition to the problems arising from dependency. A gift from private sources of a half million dollars has made possible the present conference.

The preliminary survey, which is regarded as the most comprehensive ever instituted and upon which 1,100 experts have been working as volunteers for the last year, is divided into four sections.

Medical Service is headed by Dr. Samuel McC. Hamill, nationally known pediatrician. Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, Surgeon General of the United States, is chairman of the Public Health Service and Administration section. The Education and Training section is working under the chairmanship of F. J. Kelly, Ph.D., former president of the University of Idaho, now of the University of Chicago.

Handicapped children are being surveyed by a section under the chairmanship of C. C. Carstens, Ph.D., executive director of the Child Welfare League of America.

President Hoover is president of the Conference and will make the opening address. Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur is chairman and Dr. H. E. Barnard is director.

istrator of said Estate, has filed in the County Court of Haskell County, Texas, a final account of said Estate, which will be heard by our said County Court on the First Monday in December, A. D. 1930, the same being the 1st day of said month, at the Court House of said County, in City of Haskell, at which time all persons interested in said Estate may appear and contest said final account, should they desire to do so.

Herein I fail not, but have you before said Court on the said return day hereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Haskell, Texas, this the 30th day of October, A. D. 1930.

MAN CAN'T SLEEP, GETS NERVOUS, HATES PEOPLE

"I could not sleep and got so nervous I hated everybody. Since taking Vinol, I can sleep 10 hours and feel full of pep all day."—Julius Bender.

For 30 years doctors have prescribed Vinol because it contains important mineral elements of iron, calcium and cod liver peptone. The very FIRST bottle brings sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Nervous, wornout people are surprised how QUICK Vinol gives new life and pep! Tastes delicious. Martin's Drug Store.

White House Conference Statistics Show Increase in Life Expectations; Drop in Infant Deaths

Washington, D. C.—The boy baby whose economic value at birth has been estimated by statisticians as $9,333 in a family with an income of $2,500 a year may logically expect to have ten years more of living than the 1911 baby.

This is revealed by figures presented by experts of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection which will meet in Washington November 19-22.

Further encouraging statistics supplied by the experts reveal that in 1929 the infant mortality rate dropped to 66.2 deaths among each 1,000 births, the second lowest ever recorded in the United States.

President Hoover's purpose in calling the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, according to Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior and chairman of the Conference, is to find out exactly what conditions of child education, health and mental well-being prevail and what further steps ought to be taken.

"The United States Public Health Service has recently stated that in these enlightened days, no child need die of smallpox or diphtheria," the Secretary recalls, "also that it is possible to guard against typhoid by sanitary control of water and milk supplies; that children bitten by mad dogs may be saved by the Pasteur treatment.

"All this is splendid but as yet not every community knows how to make use of the precautions that are available and much still remains to be done in the way of research and investigation.

"In the findings of the Conference there will be given to the people of the United States the answer of the scientific world to President Hoover's challenge that it should produce some formula which will enable all those who care for children to mold the boys and girls of today into the stalwarts to whom we may safely trust our hopes of the future."

CO-OP ACTIVITIES DEMONSTRATE VALUE OF QUALITY COTTON

"Broad and better" cotton with a dollars and cents value is now on the minds and in the future cotton production programs of Texas farmers and business men, according to Leon Gilliam, local representative of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association. The turning point from inferior cotton to quality cotton has been reached, he said, and "from here on out we may look for better grade and staple cotton from Texas farms."

Although this most important factor in profitable cotton production has been long agitated, he said, "it took the actual demonstration of dollars and cents value to quality production to the individual grower through the activities of the cotton cooperative marketing movement, to make it effective."

This season, through the association's activities of locating Government licensed classers in all sections of the State and the approving of cotton drafts for varying amounts based on the actual quality of cotton shipped, has brought the actual facts so closely home to the individual grower that he cannot further ignore them longer," Mr. Gilliam said. In grade and staple lengths quality cotton brings many dollars more per bale than inferior cotton, he stated, and it is this "bread and butter" or dollars and cents cotton that growers must produce if they can hope for any profit from their cotton farming operations.

Mr. Gilliam stated that this single outstanding demonstration of the many benefits of cooperative marketing would mean millions of dollars annually to Texas growers and Texas business if generally accepted, which he said "now seems as a very likely possibility and probability."

Will Modern Jazz Music Become Classic of the Future?

Around the corner— and under the tree— The gal-lant major— said, "Stand with me!"

Singers Think Radio Performers Do Not Fully Appreciate Modern Method

New York City.— Will our grandchildren speak in awed tones of our jazz as classics? Lulu Weyant and Ethel Horton, nationally famous radio performers, think they will.

"I am sure that we here in America do not hold jazz any more lightly than Germany held Wagner in his youth," declares Lulu Weyant, who speaks with the knowledge of a music teacher. "There has never been a single innovation or great step in our art that the same thing hasn't happened and jazz must be as art or it could never have become the universal language which it has," explains Ethel Horton, pianist of the team. "For the first time in history there is an international music. Not understanding its universal appeal we speak of it lightly and often razz it. Yet we are right in the midst of what is probably the world's greatest forward step, musically.

"True, many of the numbers are trivial, especially novelty songs, but they have their niche in the scheme of artistic development. 'Around the Corner,' new novelty song, is an exception and a distinct contribution. For one thing, it has a new type of lyric which is especially marvelous for singing. It is in the class of 'Pop Goes the Weasel,' which has existed since before the advent of the Pilgrims and which we think of as a real classic. Probably our generations hence will be singing 'Around the Corner.'"

HARD TIMES IN AMERICA

We are having hard times in Texas; the streets are full of automobiles going as Will Rogers says, nowhere in particular but in a great hurry to get there; times are so hard that it is difficult to find parking places for our automobiles; we have only about one for every three of us in the state; if times were not so hard, we would not doubt all have an automobile.

A Texas editor muses on the hard time situation thusly: "We are right up against it; we saw a girl last week so hard up she did not have silk stockings, and rather than wear rayon she wore none at all; of the thousands of girls in Texas, it is almost unbelievable that one should have to do without silk stockings, but that is not all—the consumption of cigarettes increased only about 5,000,000 packages in the state last year, whereas everybody knows it should have increased by twice that amount.

Times are sure hard—we were able to obtain a seat at the movie after waiting only twenty minutes, when by night we should have had to wait at least an hour; then the drug store got along by installing only two extra fountains this summer, which show how bad things really are, but an extra showcase for lipstick, two extra racks for magazines and a lunch counter cut into the druggist's earnings and made him realize how hard times are.

And to make things worse, every vacant lot in America has a miniature golf course on it and it looks like times are getting so hard that they're going to have to start tearing down perfectly good buildings to make more room for 'pee wee' golf courses. And if a fellow wants to play on one of the pesky things he has to wait nearly an hour before he can get to start, and then gets run over, knocked down and hit by golf balls before he finishes. Every one of the miniature courses is crowded day and night. Yes times are hard.

When will times be better? It is almost impossible to find a parking space near a movie theatre, miniature golf course or other place of amusement—a terrible condition. Something really ought to be done to require the hot-dog stands to carry on hand sufficient supply of food to feed the crowds; and this way of building grandstands movie theatres, stadiums and other places of amusement only half large enough to seat those attending ought to be handled vigorously.

Yes, times are hard; the grocer can hardly sell any flour, grits or bacon; it takes all of his time to sell canned peaches, canned salmon, canned soup, canned meats and even canned apple sauce; the dry goods merchant is crying because his bolts of gingham, muslin and denim remain on his shelves, while the clerks waste all their time selling such things as silk and rayon; the hardware store has no demand for plows, wire fencing and nails, but he cannot supply the demand for radios, electric percolators, vacuum cleaners, etc.; yes, the times are hard.—The Cotulla Record.

HOME TOWN PURCHASE

It is human nature for people to take more pains for people whom they know, than for those whom they don't know. If you go into some store in some distant city where no one knows you, and ask the unknown clerk for something his attitude has very little personal touch. He is not likely to take unusual pains to please you.

If you go into some store in Haskell where you are known, people are more keen to please you. They dislike extremely to fail to satisfy a regular customer or any one whom they recognize. Our merchants train their salespeople to take the utmost pains to please customers, whether new or old, but a person obtains in his home town a quality of service that is difficult to find elsewhere.

PAPERS REFLECT TOWN

It is recognized that a town may be rather accurately judged so far as its progressiveness is concerned by the way in which it supports its newspapers. In other words a creditable and prosperous looking newspaper may be safely taken as an indication of a live and enterprising community.

The reason is plain. A live town naturally demands a representative newspaper, and there will always be found some one to meet the demands. Almost without exception it may be found that a town has just about as good a newspaper as it deserves; sometimes better than it deserves.

In this connection a quotation from an address by James J. O'Shaughnessy, former executive secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, is to the point. In the light of his many years of experience in dealing with newspapers, he says:

"I have been widely quoted as saying that the village weekly newspaper is the cornerstone of America's journalism. No one has disputed that assertion. Modern communities, large and small, grow and prosper in the wake of their newspapers. If their newspapers are prosperous, retail business prospers and real estate appreciates in value."

THE SAFETY MOVEMENT

If it were not for the many automobile fatalities, the death rate from accidents would be 30 per cent lower than it was in 1913. Safety work in mills, on railroads, etc., is accomplishing remarkable results. The steam railroads have cut down accidents to their employes 60 per cent in the past 13 years. A group of the largest steel industries have cut their accidents 90 per cent in 15 years.

Accidents are one of the leading causes of poverty. The cripple worker can not take care of his family. The nation permits its productive power to be lowered when it neglects protective measures against these tragic losses. But accidents are not stopped merely by safety appliances. People have to be educated to use care.

FINDING WORKERS

The main problem in putting over successful home town movements, is to find people who will do the organization work. A few willing and overworked folks should not be expected to do all the work of these enterprises. Give someone else a chance.

Let newcomers who have just moved into the town show what they can do. They are commonly glad to take hold of such propositions. It gives them a chance to get acquainted. In some towns they won't appoint anyone to any kind of an organization or municipal office, until he has lived there years. That spirit holds back progress. Let us have none of it in Haskell.

MELANCHOLY DAYS

Said William Cullen Bryant, famous poet, relative to these autumn days, "The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year." But are these fall days melancholy, and if they seem so, is the trouble with the days or with us? If we feel that way, perhaps our philosophy of life is wrong.

those monarchs was a terribly dangerous force. We have gotten rid of it.

In our own country in these 12 years, our people co-operate better in community movements. They learned in the war campaigns what you accomplished by co-operation. Also labor and capital do not get each other as if you. That spells real progress.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

Patriotism does not mean merely fighting in wars. It also means voting at elections and taking part in home town improvements.

One way to make friends, is to show a friendly home town spirit by visiting and buying at the home town stores.

Says the poet, "Full many a flower is born to blush unseen." Considerable blushing unseen is done by many stores that fail to advertise their goods.

If you doubt that the people have courage, just recall they blushed in great numbers at the public fair recently.

"When I was just a girl at home," writes Mrs. R. F. Riggan, of Beard, Texas, "I took Cardui for cramping and pains in my side and back, and it helped me at that time.

"After I was married, I found myself in a weak, run-down condition. I suffered a great deal with my back, which was so weak it hurt me to get up or when I would stand on my feet. I fell off in weight.

"A friend of mine, seeing how bad I felt, advised me to take Cardui, which I did. By the time I had taken two bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in a long time."

From Mrs. Lillie Williams, former resident of the Rose community east of Haskell, who is now living at DeQueen, Ark., comes a very welcome letter this week, in which she encloses subscription for the Free Press, saying "I can't do without the Free Press, I miss it more than ever away out here."

Mrs. Williams was formerly our correspondent at Rose, and is well known in that community.

HOT BEDS TO PRODUCE WINTER PLENTY

More than 200 hot beds have been built in the gardens of home demonstration club women in Northwest Texas, according to Miss Myrtle Murray, district agent in the Extension Service, who is helping to popularize the slogan "Three feet of hot bed per person for every person for every family." Another slogan originating with a Floyd county woman expresses a determination for "Three green vegetables on the Christmas dinner table out of the home hot bed."

Besides providing fresh vegetables in freezing weather hot beds have been found to hasten the early spring garden enough to permit profitable sale of early vegetables. Another feature has been cited by Mrs. R. A. Ritchie, Hubbard community home demonstration club woman in Stephens county. She will never be at the mercy of a drought again, she declares, because she can water a small summer garden in her hot bed and protect it from heat also.

Many of these hot beds have been made from native stone in Young county, Miss Murray states, and a number in other counties from concrete. Some use ordinary glass windows although the practice is growing of using a non-breakable or easily mended glass on account of hail storms. These hot beds are built three feet wide with three feet of length for each person in the family. Every county in Miss Murray's district has at least one hot bed, with Dickens county reporting 100, Young county 40, and Haskell county 33.

from NEW YORK to CHICAGO in 18 hrs. 42 min.

Here's a remarkable demonstration of the new crack-proof Texaco Motor Oil—the same oil you can buy at all Texaco Stations.

Another record smashed with TEXACO

Faster than the "30th Century Limited." Breaking all existing automobile records, regardless of engine type or power, William Madden and E. C. Bidwell drove a Ford Sedan from New York to Chicago in the astonishing time of 18 hours and 42 minutes.

Their time is all the more remarkable in that they were forced to fight their way through dense fogs in New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—through rain and sleet in Ohio and Eastern Indiana.

Following the route charted by Texaco National Road Reports, the two boys encountered no detours on their whirlwind drive. They used Texaco-Ethyl (the "dry" Ethyl gasoline) exclusively, making one stop in Pittsburgh for refueling. Before leaving New York the crankcase had been filled with 5 quarts of the new crack-proof Texaco Motor Oil Grade "G." Upon reaching Chicago the gauge still registered "FULL." No oil was added on the entire record trip!

An Atlas White stucco finish for the cost of two paintings

- Aside from architectural changes, the average old home of frame construction can be overcoated with stucco made with Atlas White portland cement for about the cost of painting the same house twice. And such a treatment of its exterior is a permanent improvement.
- Besides its economy and permanence, there are many other qualities recommending Atlas White stucco to those who plan to build a new home or remodel their old one. There are few materials with as wide a range of color and texture. Atlas White stucco is weatherproof and fireproof. (A stucco coating on an old frame house, of course, does not make it absolutely fireproof, but does make it fire-resistant.)
- Ask your building material dealer, architect or contractor to help you with suggestions and prices on finishing your home with Atlas White stucco.
