LOCAL POULTRYMAN MAKES RECORD WITH WHITE LEGHORNS

W. P. Trice, local poultryman, who has pens of White Leghorns, has entered in three state egg laying contests is making records that will compare favorably with any made by the many poultrymen who have birds at the egg laying contests. These contests opened the first of the past October and had been running for 123 days up to the first of February. At that time several of the birds entered by Trice had laid more than 80 eggs each. One of the birds entered in the contest at San Antonio had laid 104 eggs up to the first of February, which made her the eighth high hen of the 440 hens entered in the contest. The eggs laid by the birds in the contests are weighed daily and the number of points made by each bird is computed by considering the weight of the egg. The weight of the eggs laid by Trice's hens compare well with other entered by any of the other contestants, as one hen entered by him during the past contest year laid 280 eggs in 300 days which were valued at 300 points. According to Trice he is now operating his hatchery and is producing baby chicks closely related to his contest hens, pullets. From these chicks will be entered in the egg laying contests this year and in this way a close check is being kept on his breeding operations. Mabelle Taylor who is teaching school in Bonland spent the week-end with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Taylor.

Intermediate G. A.

Monday, February 16, the Intermediate Girls Auxiliary of the Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Brooks for a business and social meeting. After the business was attended to, a most interesting "guessing" game was played. Then popcorn was served to the following girls: Ruby Williams, Roselle Jones, Lois Fouts, Maxine Simmons, Lilly Faye Stoker, Theda Maples Hortense Walling, Maurine Norton, Norma Ann Gilstrap and the hostess, Mrs. Brooks.

If you want to get in on these good meetings and go on the "mysterious trip," make your plans to come to the G. A.

True Trustee and Tried Girls.

Say, you girls, why don't you come to Sunday School? We fifteen year old girls of the First Baptist Church have the best teacher in the school and we want all girls at this age who are not in Sunday School, to come and enjoy the lesson, that Mrs. Jones has to teach. We had five girls present last Sunday, but lets have ten next Sunday. The following girls enjoyed the Sunday School lesson—Maxine Simmons, Lola Fouts, Loraine snodgrass, Hortense Walling and Norma Ann Gilstrap.

Coon' Places and Doin' Things.

Yep, that's us. Why? Why the Gipsy Ramblers of course.

Imagine twenty girls, red-heads, blonds and brunetts all getting together and hiking seven miles, there's bound to be lots doin' and eatin', jimminy cricket, there were two whole basket fulls, but by the way there was not a crumb left after we were through with it. Three and one-half miles can work up an appetite that would choke a horse. Singing, eating, playing and talking pictures took up most of our time.

Twenty figures disappearing over the hill, only leaving a little trail of dust—yep, that's us. Why? Why? Mrs. Wimbish, our sponsor; Mattie Muriel Walling, Frances Ratliff, Vada Thomas, Irene McGregor, Mary Helen Chitwood, Norma Gilstrap, Georgia Martin, Sue Couch, Maxine Simmons, Ethel Irby, Mary Frances Collier, Katheleen Crawford, Agnes Grissom, Ruth Morgan, Lois Fouts, Hortense Walling, Lily Faye Stoker, Beulah Cass, Theda V. "MADAM SATAN" IS OUTSTANDING TALKIE

"Madam Satan," which opens Monday night at the Texas Theatre, most certainly upholds Cecil B. De Mille's long sustained reputation of being a master in the realm of the exotic and unusual.

The M-G-M director's new comedy with music, his initial tuneful photoplay, by the way, touches upon about every conceivable phase of entertainment. It treats of domestic discord. It has spicy and clever scenes in midday's boudoir. It takes you to a gorgeous masked ball aboard a Zeppelin, and finally brings you to the end of your seats as the airship tears loose from its mooring mast, and the guests jump for safety in parachutes.

And all of this excitement is coated over by eight musical numbers and three special ballets making "Madam Satan" a well rounded eye and ear attraction.

The plot of "Madam Satan" is laid entirely amongst the folks of "high society," folks wealthy enough to give and go to parties on Zeppelins, there to be attired as Henry the Eighth, Romeo, The Call of the Wild, The Spirit of Innocent Pride, or what have you. Bob and Angela Brooks are married, but Bob's eyes have strayed because Angela is a "too perfect wife." How Angela finally decides to fight for her love with the weapons other women use, provides the reason for the appearance of the Zep ball of the voluptuous, exotic mysterious "Madam Satan."

The situation of a man making love to his own wife is not a new one, but it is always attractive, and De Mille has invested it with both color and novelty.

Reginald Denny and Kay Johnson are the two principals, and they do splendidly. Both have delightful voices, and it is certain that there will be disputes as to which of the two had the best song, Denny's "All I Know Is That You Are in My Arms" or Miss Johnson's "Meet Madam" and "Live and Love Today." Roland Young is delightful as the comic Jimmy.

THEODORE KOSLOFF RETURNS TO SCREEN IN "MADAM SATAN" BALLET

The return to active dancing of the famous Russian ballet star Theodore Kosloff, is one of the interesting features promised in Cecil B. De Mille's "Madam Satan," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy with music which will open Monday at the Texas Theatre.

For several years Kosloff has been devoting his time to the supervision of his dancing schools in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Dallas, Texas.

However, when Leroy Prinz of Earl Carroll's "Vanities" conceived the idea of an elaborate "Ballet Mechanique," there was no other choice for the powerful central figure, "Electricity," than the talented Kosloff.

Out of courtesy to his old friend De Mille, who introduced him to picture in "The Woman God Forgot," Kosloff stepped into the part and made this ballet one of the outstanding features of De Mille's new picture.

"Madam Satan" largely concerns the matrimonial adventures of Bob and Angela Brooks home, and the Zeppelin of Jimmy Wade. On this airship there is a masked ball, featured by the appearance of a mysterious "Madam Satan;" and ending in the mid-air crash of the craft, and the descent to earth in parachutes of the guests.

The striking story was written by Jeanie MacPherson and Gladys Unger-Elsie Janies dialogue. Eight liting musical numbers are provided by Herbert Stothart and Clifford Grey of "The Rogue Song"; Jack King and Elsie Janis. The featured players include Kay Johnson, Reginald Denny, Roland Young and Lilian Roth. Alse Lyman's band plays in the Zep sequence.

One of the big troubles with prohibition enforcement is the difficulty in finding dry juries.

The Methodist women had as special guests for the afternoon members of the Missionary Society from every church in Haskell and members of the Rule Methodist Missionary Society, and Mrs. James Lindsey and W. D. Westbrook of the Rule Presbyterian Society. The church was beautiful with her soft lights, exquisite stained glass windows and lovely Spring violets.

The spirit of worship was intensified as the soft strains of the organ music were played by Mrs. O. E. Patterson. Take Time to be Holy was sung. Rev. E. G. After the lecture Mrs. J. U. Fields invited every one present to the young people's department of the church for a social hour as her guests. ATTENTION! NO PARKING!

The "NO PARKING" sign has been placed on several lines of merchandise in our store. The merchandise in question has been in the habit of doing just as it pleased—but a new ordinance has been passed, which decrees that it must keep moving. There is no longer room for it, as it is in the way of new goods that are arriving. It is a new day and this merchandise must move on regardless of former price.

NO PARKING — For These — LADIES SHOES

We have an assortment of ladies shoes, many of them are good styles and all are good values. Some formerly sold as high as $7.75, but in order to keep them from parking longer in our store they will be sold during the next few days, or as long as they last, $1.95 at only.....

MENS AND BOYS SHOES AND OXFORDS

Will not be allowed to park longer in this store—they must move out and in order to do it quickly and with as little fuss as possible we are going to sell them—values that formerly sold as high as $7.50 for only..... $1.95

SPRING SHIRTS

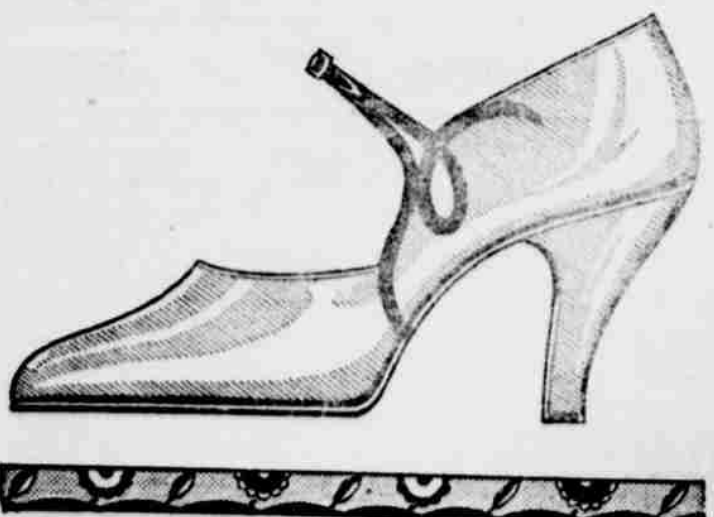

While the majority of these shirts are new and have been with us only a few days we have decided they must keep moving. The "NO PARKING" sign includes them and they must move on. These shirts are the very best in all colors and whites and would be considered a good value anywhere at $1.95 but we are offering them as long as they last at:

One for $1.75
Three for $4.50

There are other items of merchandise in our store that have received the "NO PARKING" order and you will be pleased with the savings offered.

Grissoms'

"All God's Chillun Got Shoes"

"Got shoes, got shoes, all God's chillun got shoes." You've heard that old negro spiritual many times, of course.

But what inspired those words?

It was the simple fact that the darkies who sang them didn't have any shoes. Therefore, their vision of heavenly bliss was a place where everybody wore shoes. It represented one of their fondest hopes.

Accepting this as a standard then, we here in Haskell are enjoying a literal heaven on earth. We all have shoes.

When we need a new pair, we have access to eight enterprising shoe stores, where our foot requirements are given careful attention. We have wide selections to choose from. If we don't like one shoe, we can ask for another. If one price doesn't suit our pocketbook, we can find other qualities that will.

As a community, we take such service for granted. But what if we lived in an age where a large proportion of the population were forced to go without shoes? Then, the words of the old spiritual would mean something. Verily what privileges and luxuries are ours!

BUILDING A GREATER TEXAS

Business leaders of Texas have set in motion machinery for the up-building of Texas industries. The plans call for a statewide organization, with local units in the leading centers. There will be a cooperative advertising campaign designed, we are told, not to tell the world about Texas—but to tell Texans about their own State—and to teach Texans about things Texas, about the industries we have, about what it means to patronize these industries.

"Foreign cows have long horns," and "Distant pastures are always the greenest," are two age-old phrases which aptly describe inherent traits of human psychology. They are the "X" that mark where the body fell, fails, or will fail. So long as we allow ourselves to believe that a product made in Timbuctoo is better than one made in Waxahachie our State will continue to be pre-eminently agricultural, rather than profitably industrial.

Texas people must come to have "Texas pride," comparable to New England pride. A Boston business man once told us that New Englanders think products manufactured in the New England States are better than products of a competitive nature made anywhere else in the world. To this he attributed the success of the New England States in the manufacturing field.

Texas must become industrially minded. Instead of looking for captains of industry to come riding out of the East with bulging bags of gold to build factories and develop our resources, we must do this ourselves. The history of all great industries and great industrial centers shows that they were developed by home boys. If we have latent acres of diamonds, we ourselves should know better where they are and how to mine them than any "furrerer."

Texas have done many fine jobs of building new industries and new businesses. Take the life insurance business, for example. Texas insurance companies are now writing a majority of the life insurance bought by Texas people, and are expanding into other States. And this life insurance money is put to work right here in our own State, building our State and making it a better place in which to live.

The campaign, when it gets under way, will utilize the facilities we have in Texas and tell Texans what it means to build up our own industries and institutions. The benefits should become quickly apparent.—The Southwestern Ambassador.

THE WHY OF TRADE-AT-HOME

In common with most of the citizens of Haskell the Haskell Free Press believes most sincerely in the advantages of "trading-at-home."

It is a doctrine that is often misunderstood, in that some people would go so far as to demand a blind adherence to the theory without regard to the facts of the situation. The essence of such a course of conduct, if it is to be a community success, requires the intelligent co-operation of Haskell merchants as well as Haskell buyers.

It is the paramount duty of local merchants, or sellers, to be alert in their business, to present to their customers attractive goods, fairly priced in line with modern competition, and to keep up with the best modern merchandising practices elsewhere. This does not necessitate, or expect, the elaborate displays of metropolitan stores, but it does mean meeting the prime essentials of trading that make buying profitable to the buyer as well as the seller.

The obligation which rests upon local citizens, as buyers, demands that, before purchasing merchandise or service out of town, they give Haskell business houses the opportunity of handling the business. No buyer should, through sheer laziness, or a careless idea of economy, thoughtlessly send money from Haskell. The foolishness of such conduct can be easily demonstrated to any reader who has the slightest doubt of its correctness, or of its value to a civic community.

Fortunately, we have had a generous observance of the "trade-at-home" idea. Haskell boasts many progressive business houses, where service to the buyer is a much the keynote as profit to the seller. Of course this policy exists because, in the long run, business men know that it is an adjunct to profit-making. Our local buyers, as a rule, do patronize local businesses, and, we are convinced, in the majority of instances, with pleasure and profit.

GOVERNMENT BY BUREAUS AND COMMISSIONS

For the past ten years or more we have been listening to the promises of politicians, that if elected by the people and sent to Austin, every effort would be made to abolish some of the many Bureaus and Commissions, thereby cutting off some of the needless expense of operating our state government. This line of talk has had a strong appeal to the voters because it is now generally recognized that the growing expense of our government is largely attributed to the policy of establishing a new bureau or a few new commissions every time the legislature meets. Despite the fact that an unusual number of such proposals have been dumped into the legislative hopper during the first thirty days of this session, it now appears from press reports that there is a strong sentiment in this legislature against creating any new bureaus or commissions. It is to be hoped that this policy will prevail.

THE NATIONAL COMEDY

An interesting and almost comic situation in Congress is commented on by Wm. L. Daley, Washington representative of the National Editorial Association, in a recent news letter. It concerns control of the new Congress elected last fall which seems within reach of either of the two parties that wants it.

Strangely enough, according to Mr. Daley, neither party appears to want control and its accompanying responsibilities. If the Republicans organize the new Senate and House, a coalition of Democrats and Insurgent Republicans can thwart their legislative plans, as has been demonstrated in certain recent instances. If the Democrats gain control, a Republican President could easily defeat any legislation not to his liking through the veto power.

So, whatever happens, it is very likely that the next Congress will be a rather futile body, incapable of any great accomplishments upon which to appeal to the country in the elections of 1932. And neither party seems desirous of taking the responsibility of leadership when prospects of making political capital seem so remote.

Seldom, if ever, in the history of the country have national politics been in a more chaotic condition, and leaders of the various groups are all at sea with respect to the outcome. Therefore we may see, unusual and even frantic efforts at buck-passing at Washington during the next few months. And buck-passing is an indoor sport at which politicians are past masters.

Their antics in this line between now and the next presidential election will assume the aspect of a national comedy.

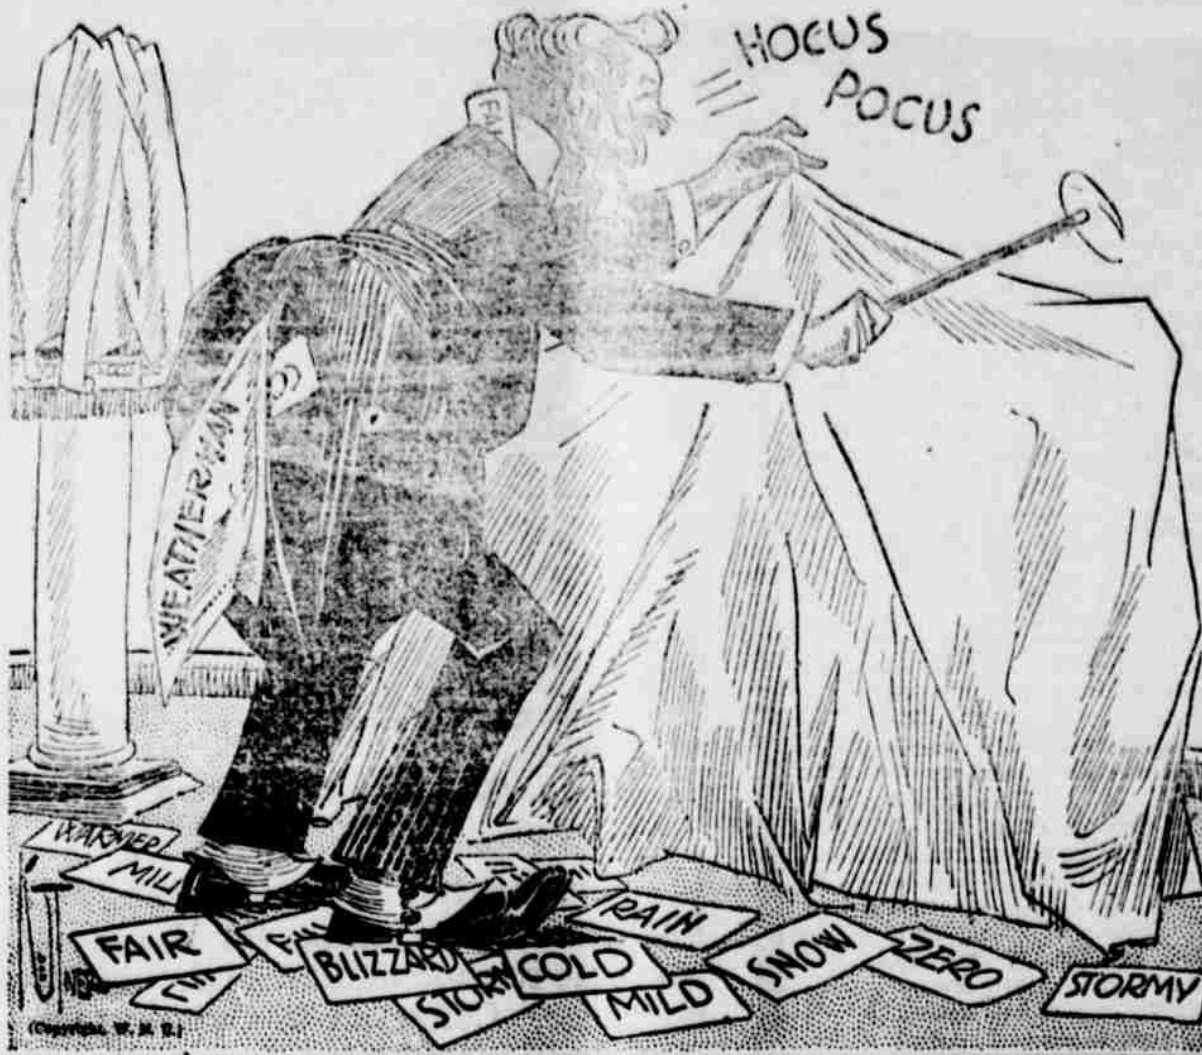

BEGIN CHARITY AT HOME

In spite of the present unfavorable economic situation, there is still heard in some quarters continued agitation for the cancellation of the war debts owed to the United States by various foreign nations. There is no justification for such cancellation at this time, when our own people are laboring under heavy taxation and other burdens that cannot be escaped.

Compromises with the nations which owe this country have reduced the principal of these debts to less than one-half of their original amount and to that extent these obligations have been cancelled already. In making these compromises Uncle Sam has been most generous both in determining the sums to be paid and in permitting payments to be made over a long period—62 years.

The money which these debts represent was borrowed by the United States government from its own people and loaned to the Allies. It must be paid from the Federal treasury whether foreign nations pay or not. This means that any further cancellation of war debts will increase the burden of domestic taxpayers accordingly.

Economy in government administration is just now the outstanding need. Congress and other legislative bodies are giving away a lot of money as it is, but when it goes to aid our own people it is not entirely unjustified. Under present conditions, especially, charity should begin at home, and it would be well to draw the line there, and let the foreign debts ride awhile.

WEAVER ELATED OVER RESULTS

"I've spent lots of money on different medicines—but Sargon and Sargon Pills did me more good than everything else put together."

A. C. WEAVER

declared A. C. Weaver, RFD No. 1, Dallas.
"As far back as I can remember I have suffered with dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness; finally got so nervous and rundown I could hardly work. Sargon was the only medicine that ever mastered my troubles. Now everything agrees with me perfectly. I'm not nervous either, sleep like a log, and get on the job feeling fine.
"Sargon Pills are so far ahead of anything I ever used for constipation and biliousness there is no comparison. They are effective, but mild at the same time."

...With the selection of Mathew Bets and Thelma Todd in supporting roles, the cast of "Her Man," a new Pathe dialogue picture directed by Tay Garnett, which will be on view at the Texas Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next, is said to be exceptionally imposing.
This picture, based on the famous characters of Frankie and Johnnie, serves to introduce Marjorie Rambeau, celebrated stage star, to the talking screen. Helen Twelvetrees and Ricardo Cortes play Frankie and Johnnie, respectively. Phillips Holmes, son of Taylor Holmes, who recently scored in "Devil's Holiday," has the romantic male lead.
The comedy of "Her Man" is provided by James Gleason, Harry Sweet and Fanklyn Pangborn. Others in the cast are Mike Donlin, Stanley Fields, Patricia Caron, Blythe Daly, daughter of Arnold Daly, Ruth Hiatt and Eva Rosita.
While "Her Man" deals with the characters of Frankie and Johnnie, it is an original story written for the screen by Howard Higgins and Tay Garnett. The dialogue and adaptation is credited to Tom Buckingham and two song numbers in the production are the work of George Green, Monte Collins and Mr. Garnett.
The locale of "Her Man" is Havana, the fastest, hottest metropolis in the world. The heroine is a sailor. Their love romance is one of exceptional appeal.

FIGHT LOW PRICES BY FEEDING YOURSELVES FARMERS ARE TOLD

Farmers who feed the world and sometimes starve themselves are urged by J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, to try to feed themselves first this year.

"More than ever before in the recent history of Texas agriculture," McDonald said, "the need should be impressed upon the minds of all thinking persons that farmers must raise their own foodstuffs in preparation for the coming winter."

"There is no occasion to be optimistic over the agricultural outlook in Texas; we start with surpluses of grain and cotton and with practically all major crops sub-normal in price. Few enterprises promise the farmer a profit."

"Regardless of what may develop during this year, farmers should judge future conditions by the present and make ready for the winter in the way closest at hand. The best preparation the farmer can make is to store up food—potatoes, canned fruits and vegetables, cured meats."

"Haskell farm prices stage a comeback, these efforts will not be a waste. I believe that every can of fruit or vegetable, every jar of pickled meat, every case of canned goods, every pound of prepared food, every bushel of wheat, every bushel of corn, every bushel of soybeans and fall will be eaten and utilized more wisely, in preparation of the general condition of agriculture."

"Land owners, with tenants, should especially look to the future. They have a decided responsibility in the feeding of persons on their lands. They should not only urge their renters to have garden plots, raise a few hogs, a yardling or two, but should also demand it."

POULTRY AS A PART OF COMMON SENSE FARMING

(By E. N. Hoimgreen, A. and M. Extension Service.)

The chicken is the smallest of domestic animals, yet its size little indicates its value. During the past season's drought and low priced cotton the farm flock prevented many farm homes from facing an actual food shortage.

While egg and poultry prices in 1930 did not escape the general depression, good profits were still made by hundreds of farmers in Texas who kept a flock of well-bred hens carefully cared for as a part of their common sense method of farming.

About 287 such farmers, acting as poultry demonstrators of the Extension Service and working with their county and home agents in keeping accurate records throughout the year tell the story. They are but a small part of the many farmers who have found that chicken money is as good as any other money.

Little but loud as far as profits go would be an apt expression as the year's records on all these flocks reveal a profit of $180 per hen above feed cost. Some are higher, some are lower, but all of them showed a profit and the profits were mighty welcome.

At all we had to depend on during the drought, some of them remarked, "brought in as much as the cotton crop," said others, while they all agreed that a good flock of hens on the place is only common sense farming.

Present egg prices leave little profit and many thousands of hens are being marketed daily. Hatcheries report chick sales much reduced. With fewer hens on farms and fewer chicks being raised, fall prices should return to normal. The farmer with a good flock of pullets will be in position to secure a nice profit.
