OFFICERS GET STILL AND STOLEN CAR IN RAID LAST WEEK

Investigations of complaints of petty thievery which had been prevalent in the Rochester section for several weeks led to the recovery of an automobile stolen last Christmas in Globe, Ariz., the arrest of two men charged with the theft, and the seizure of a complete still and the arrest of a third man in connection with the finding of the liquor-making apparatus.

Members of the sheriff's department, following an investigation of several days, had gone Sunday morning of last week to a house near Rochester to question two men under suspicion. The men, Joe and Aris Mann, ages 24 and 26, were arrested on complaints charging them with operating an automobile without license, and with affray, there, officers inspected the car, a model T Ford, and secured the car and engine numbers. Bringing the men to Haskell, a check-up on the car numbers proved it to have been stolen from Globe, Ariz., from Fred Triplett.

Monday night, after learning that the car had been stolen, Sheriff Sarrels returned to the farmhouse to get the automobile, and upon his arrival there, he found a complete still of about 30 gallon capacity, loaded in the car. Jess Fulcher, at whose house the car was at the time, was arrested and charged with possession of a still. Fulcher was brought to Haskell and Justice of the Peace Dotson set his bond at $500, which was perfected, and Fulcher was released to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Sarrels took charge of the automobile and notified its owner, and Mrs. Triplett, who was visiting in Hillsboro, came to Haskell to identify the car and return it to their home. Arizona officers were notified, and Deputy Sheriffs J. L. Whitaker and W. E. Tuttle of Globe came to Haskell and returned the two Mann brothers to Globe, where they will face charges of automobile theft. Both men arrived extradition.

HASKELL CLUB TO IMPROVE COURSE FOR TOURNAMENT

Under the direction of F. L. Daugherty, president, the golf association of this city has been at work this week in an attempt to make the nine-hole course here most attractive when the Tri-County association holds its annual tournament in August. Baylor, Knox and Haskell counties will compete for honors.

Earlier in the spring the succession of the fairways was changed to make the course a two-way tee-off which enables crowds of golfers to start at the same time with the distance of three holes between them. The old cottonseed hulls have been removed from the greens and new packing is being laid, enclosing the greens. New bunkers and sand traps have been added and the old ones enlarged.

This course has been conceded to be one of the best in this section by visiting golfers, having seven water hazards. Plans will be drawn up at an early date to make the course an 18-hole course. This work is being done under the direction of the greens committee with J. A. Pugh, H. M. Whiteaker and Hollis Hession as members.

The tourney this year will be the third held by this Tri-County association and the first to be held in Haskell. Seymour was host city the golfers last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gatta left the city of the week for Fayetteville, Kansas to visit Mrs. Gatta's mother and family.

Mrs. C. O. Morelock from Pampa and I. D. and Lena May from Wichita Falls have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. May.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dunham and son are visiting this week with Mrs. Dunham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Rogers of Brookhaven.

Splendid Program is Being Arranged for Encampment

The Lueders Baptist Encampment, meeting from July 13 to 19, is arranging for a splendid recreational program. The grounds are being prepared for golf, baseball, tennis, volley ball, and croquet in the afternoons from three to six o'clock. Fishing will also be a diversion for these hours, as well as swimming. After services in the evening, various recreational games will be played. Those in charge of the recreational features are: T. T. McCasland, Educational Director, First Baptist Church, Sweetwater; Miss Grace Conn, State B. Y. P. U. Secretary; Miss Leitha Saunders, Coleman; Leo Waite, Educational Director, Broadway Baptist Church, Fort Worth; Joe Mims, Abilene, who will have charge of swimming. The grounds are being placed in first class shape, and there are plenty of tents, cots, and mattresses on hand for those who wish to rent them.

Every effort is being made to put the cafeteria prices down to such a point that nearly every one attending will take charge of them. There is every promise of a very large attendance.

Mr. Loran is endeavoring to interest the farmers and ginners of this section in using this bagging for wrapping cotton instead of the jute, which has been used heretofore.

Mr. Loran states that he has sold this product to several ginners of this section and he hopes to be able to interest many others before the opening of the ginning season.

OFFICERS SEIZE LARGE STILL IN STONEWALL COUNTY

Between 200 and 300 gallons of whiskey mash, a 100-gallon still and other liquor manufacturing equipment were seized and destroyed by federal officers accompanied by Sheriff W. T. Sarrels and Deputy Olen Dotson last Thursday when they raided a secluded location in northeast Stonewall county. No arrests were made.

J. M. Price, department of justice of Abilene together with his assistants, and Sheriff Sarrels and Olen Dotson conducted the raid. Officers state that the still had been in recent use, operators of the outfit apparently departing a short time before the officers arrived.

Federal men acted on information from Sheriff Sarrels, who notified Chief of Detectives W. S. Britton of Abilene.

SANITARY ENGINEER NOW AVAILABLE IN HASKELL COUNTY

To assist the health committee of Haskell County in their work during the summer, the United States Public Health Service in co-operation with the State health department has appointed Willis E. Collins, District Sanitation engineer to work with the local committee.

Dr. D. L. Cummins, County Health officer who is at the head of this work in Haskell County states that there was never a better time to make improvements in home surroundings to prevent a scourge of typhoid fever and dysentery during the coming summer. If you are using water from a shallow well, 10 to 40 feet deep, see to it, that the curbing is tight and surface water does not run back into the well. Also discard the old rope and bucket and install a pump if possible. These improvements may be made at a very small expense and may be the means of saving a life.

Another feature that is being advocated by Dr. Cummins and the local health unit, is the sanitation program to improve the method of disposing of sewerage. At a great many homes the old surface toilet is still in evidence. This may be replaced with a sanitary pit toilet at the cost of only a little labor and perhaps a few boards. Mr. Collins states that he will be glad to furnish blue prints or plans for toilets and will instruct in their installation. He will also show you how to protect your well and will gather samples of the water to send to the state laboratory for examination. Mr. Collins has been detailed especially to assist the small towns and rural homes in this county and you should take advantage of his services.

It is planned to hold a meeting in each community in the county during the summer to acquaint the people with the work and assist them in their problems. In this way an organized program may be planned and put into effect for the entire county.

If you would like to have Mr. Collins' services he may be reached through Dr. Cummins, Judge Joe A. Jones or the City Secretary at Seymour.

TEXAS LIONS CLUBS TO SEND DELEGATES TO TORONTO MEET

"Texas Night." Elaborate preparations have been made for "Texas Night" including the appearance of internationally known entertainers such as Romanelli's orchestra.

The election of officers of the Association will be held on the last day of the Convention. Julien Hyer by his outstanding record of service to the organization, to his own club, his District and State, and by order of succession in the international offices, is the logical successor to Earle W. Hodges of New York City for the office of President.

Texas claims to be the state of birth of Lionism since the first Lions Club ever organized was the Lions Club of San Antonio. Dallas entertained the first International Convention of Lions Clubs and also gave the young Association one of its first International Presidents, Mr. L. H. Lewis, now of San Antonio.

It was sixteen years ago, two years before the founding of the International Association of Lions Clubs that the first Lions Club at San Antonio came into existence. In the succeeding two years other Lions Clubs were formed, and after formal organization of the association in June of 1917, the first Convention of Lions International was held at Dallas in the same year. Lionism not only found its birth in Texas, but has shown a consistent growth—until at the present time there are 244 clubs in the state—more than twice the number of clubs of other service organizations combined. There are now approximately 2600 Lions Clubs in the United States and Canada with a membership only slightly less than 100,000.

Delegates from 244 Texas Lions Clubs will attend the Lions International Convention in Toronto, Canada, July 14-17 in support of Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth for International President of the Association. Mr. Hyer has served the International Association as First Vice President during the past year. Texas Lions have completed arrangements for a special train to take them to the International Convention in Toronto. The train, according to present arrangements, will be made up at Dallas at 4:30 p. m. July 11. Unit cars will be spotted throughout Texas. Included with the special train for Toronto will be a car of Texas products and produce for distribution on the opening night of the Convention. It has been set aside by the International Convention Committee as an unusual musical service, consisting of Echo Singing, will be a feature of the Sunday night service at the First Methodist Church. R. D. Baughman will sing, and the song service will be one of the best of the year. Services begin promptly at 8:15 and continue for exactly sixty minutes. Sermon subject will be "The Man Who Trifles."

Second Dose of Diphtheria Toxoid Given at Weinert

The second dose of diphtheria toxoid was administered at the High School at Weinert by Dr. Jas. F. Cadenhead, with the able assistance of Miss Susie Durden last Friday afternoon, June 12. On June 12th, 82 more doses of toxoid were administered for the first time, 57 children received the second dose and 19 more were vaccinated for smallpox. We are very pleased with the response being given by the parents of Weinert and vicinity, and feel sure that this is one of the greatest assistances ever offered by the Health Department.

The Price of A Clean Home

Most women take a distinct pride in their homes. They insist on keeping them clean and attractive. They realize the true value of cleanliness and wholesome surroundings.

It takes a vigilant woman to keep the home pleasant and comfortable.

The cleaning of a home is not merely a matter of sweeping out the dirt and dusting the furniture. These days it means keeping out vermin and insects.

An infestation of insects will render the most attractive home a place of doubtful comfort. No one likes the "creepy" feeling that goes with bugs.

Those housewives who have gone through an experience with insects need no urging to constantly use a good type of spray insecticide as they clean. It has been but a very few years since some of the large oil refining companies have developed this spray-type of insecticide, which has been a boon to housewives and has simplified their problem of keeping the home insect-free.

Disease lurks wherever there are insects. Flies carry many dangerous diseases, so do mosquitoes and bed bugs. Roaches contaminate and destroy your food. They embarrass you before your friends.

Most any insect infestation can be readily controlled by the regular use of a good insecticidal spray, which can be easily purchased from any hardware dealer, grocer, druggist or department store, and, which are at present being advertised in this paper by some of the large oil refining companies.

Secretary Lamont says that business is slowly beginning to improve. Everyone will agree, at least, that he used the right adverb.

ROOSEVELT FAVORITE FOR NOMINATION SAYS POLITICAL WRITER

But Sees Good Opportunity For Dark Horse In Coming Campaign.

Roosevelt, Ritchie, Baker, Smith? We don't care a pin. What we want 's inside lookin' out 'stead of outside lookin' in.

Not a doubt is expressed that if the national convention were to be held tomorrow, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, would be the Democratic candidate for President. Naturally, Roosevelt is not without opposition, but that opposition is not unified, it is leaderless—or "over-leadered," as you prefer, it is without convincing specific ground.

Unfortunately politics is one field in which the early bird, far from being assured of his breakfast, is at an actual disadvantage in his quest for the coveted worm. Actual or tacit announcement of his candidacy by an aspirant brings to bear upon him all of the big and little guns of the supporters of other aspirants. To that extent he faces a unified opposition. His every act, private and public is made the subject of minute scrutiny and if not universally approved is distorted, magnified and broadcast in an effort to create doubts as to his qualifications and availability and weaken his candidacy. The earlier he gets up the longer the time for hammering.

Conventions are rarely if ever stampeded. It has been said that William Jennings Bryan "stampeded" the Democratic convention in Chicago in 1896, but as a matter of fact the delegates had more than ample time for sober second thought between Bryan's famous "crown of thorns, cross of gold" oration, which made him a national figure, and his nomination for the presidency on his own free-reefer platform.

But it does sometimes come to pass that a deadlock occurs, as a result of which a dark horse wins. His political record may or may not have been well known—in such circumstances there is no time for public consideration of and judgment upon his qualifications. In 1920, when Gen. Leonard Wood and Gov. Frank O. Lowden locked horns for the Republican nomination to the point of mutual annihilation, Senator Warren G. Harding, darkest of dark horses, was nominated. In the 1924 Democratic convention it became clear that no candidate could be nominated until the two leaders, McAdoo and Smith, had worn each other out. This took a couple of weeks of balloting, and on the 103rd ballot John W. Davis, of West Virginia, another somber-hued equine, qualified for the Coolidge-Davis sweepstakes in November.

In view of an alleged undercover relationship with Tammany; in view of somewhat moist personal tendencies, it is by no means out of the question that opposition to Roosevelt may concentrate on a deadlocker. Two questions arise: Who is going to be the deadlocker, and who is going to bust the dead lock?

Of course, there is Bert Ritchie, of Maryland. The only trouble about Bert is that the blamed old fool places statesmanship before politics. Didn't the poor fish read about what happened to James G. Blaine in 1884? Blaine was so outstanding a statesman that having entered the Senate as a result of executive appointment, to fill a vacancy, his subsequent election for the succeeding six-year term is unique in American history in that he was chosen by the unanimous vote of the State Legislature, Republicans and Democrats uniting in the choice.

In the case of Blaine, he lost to another statesman. Possibly you might say that it was a case of dog eat dog, and the professional politicians were flabbergasted. In-so-far as Albert E. Ritchie is concerned, no use for him to fish in presidential waters until he learns at least three things. First, he must give up his side-saddle and learn to ride astride; secondly, he must be inoculated with serum of tongue-tiedness; thirdly, he must readjust his birthplace and be accredited to a State with a more impressive electoral vote.

Then there is ex-Secretary Newton D. Baker, of Ohio, who seems likely to have the support of the Ohio delegation to the next Democratic National Convention. It is said that ex-Governor James M. Cox, who is still a power in Ohio politics, favors committing the delegation to Mr. Baker. Ohio's large delegation to Mr. Baker. Ohio's large delegation, together with such support as Mr. Baker is likely to pick up in other States, will put him up among the two or three other leaders, at least in the early stages of the next Democratic National Convention. And he is clearly one of the three leading candidates for the 1932 Democratic nomination for President. Apparently he has the ex-soldiers of the World War with him. That is a factor in national conventions not yet tested—from which it does not follow that it might not be important.

"Why not Newton D. Baker?" asks the Northwest News, one of Ohio's outstanding Democratic weeklies, at Napoleon. But even the News concludes its editorial with "The greatest drawback in the Baker-for-President movement is the profusion of favorite sons in his own State of Ohio, which boasts at least four outstanding hopefuls. One must fall back on the old saw that 'anything can happen in a Democratic convention. The question, 'Why not Baker?' is still a pertinent one."

In spite of his overwhelming defeat in 1928, the name of ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith remains persistently in the foreground of the Democratic presidential picture. If the race is looked upon as between Gov. Roosevelt and "the field," more bets by politicians today would be placed on the field than on the New York Governor. In "the field" may be included ex-Governor Smith, Newton D. Baker, Owen D. Young, Governor Ritchie of Maryland, ex-Governor Cox of Ohio (the candidate in 1920) and, possibly, the two outstanding duds, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas and ex-Governor Byrd of Virginia. And with in this "field," among the names other than Roosevelt, the one most often mentioned is Smith.

MRS. W. W. FIELDS LAID TO REST

"I cannot say and I will not say, that she is dead; she is just away."

We cannot think of "Mother" Fields as being dead for saints do not die, they are transplanted to be with Jesus for ever more. And so she is just away in that beautiful land where she awaits the coming of her children and friends. She walked with God and in the deep twilight of her life passed through the dark valley guided by the shadow of His wing, into the everlasting city not made with hands, eternal in the skies. And she lives in our midst today as truly as she did yesterday, we can not think of her without visualizing her on the way to the church she loved so well, to worship, to teach, to render some service to God or her fellow man. Quiet, unassuming, efficient, she went about her Master's business, putting first things first always. She was a loyal member of the Christian church, where she taught a Sunday School class and was a prominent member of the Women's Missionary Society, and during her last illness, when she would feel strong enough, was preparing a lesson for her program. A saintly mother in Israel has gone from our midst, but her influence will live forever.

Olive Ann Taylor was born Feb. 12, 1847, in Marshall, Texas, the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Jas. F. Taylor. She was a graduate of the Masonic Institute of Marshall and married William Wallace Fields on June 19, 1866. To this union were born eleven children, only six survive, both the mother and father, Mr. W. W. Fields, who preceded his wife about fifteen years.

Children are: J. U. Fields, Haskell; Ernest Fields, San Antonio; Hollis Fields, Dallas; Mrs. Elam Parish, Haskell; and Louis Fields, San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fields moved to Haskell in August, 1890, and have been prominent in civic, church and social life since that time.

Rites for Mrs. Fields were held in the First Christian Church Friday morning June 5th by Rev. G. R. Forrester former pastor of the church, after which the body was laid to rest in Willow Cemetery.

HORNED TOAD EGGS FOUND IN GROUND

John A. Lee of Rule has established a new industry, according to his friends, provided that he finds an outlet for his products. Sunday he saw a horned toad digging a hole in the ground, which excited his curiosity to the extent that he kept an eye on the frog. When the hole had been dug about ten inches deep, the toad laid thirty-four eggs in the hole, then filled it. The eggs are about four times the size of a blackeyed pea. Mr. Lee is just wondering whether he will find a market for the product when the little frogs are hatched out.

A LAUDABLE WORK

Among the many humanitarian activities which engage the support of benevolent societies and individuals, the restoring of crippled children to health and happiness is one of the most commendable.

The work of modern surgeons in this connection is effective almost beyond belief. At a recent convention of the International Society for Crippled Children it was stated that "modern science has healed all manner of diseases and we are happy to say today that practically every type of malformation, if taken in early childhood, can be cured."

Among the organizations which have given special attention to crippled children, the Shriners have been particularly active, each member of the order contributing regularly to the maintenance of homes for these unfortunate little ones, who would otherwise go through life with deformed bodies and limbs. Other societies are rendering a similar service.

The hearty encouragement and support of this labor of love should be extended by every person who is in a position to lend a hand.

LAWS AND CORRUPTION

Remarking upon the tendency toward the regulation of every phase of human conduct by law, a recent speaker quoted an aphorism of Cicero: "In the most corrupt nation you have the most laws."

There probably has never been in all history a people burdened with so many laws as exist in the United States today.

Still the reformers are clamoring for more laws. Where it will all end no man can tell. Every new law for the regulation of this and that adds to the battalions of officeholders already feeding at the public crib.

Thoughtful men are beginning to realize the seriousness of the situation. Only by an aroused public sentiment can we hope to stop the orgy of lawmaking and law-breaking which threatens our social structure and makes of liberty a mockery.

TIME FOR ACTION

In discussing the present economic crisis the New York World-Telegram frankly presents the situation in the following article:

"Continued large-scale unemployment and wage cuts have created a serious situation which the Hoover administration can no longer evade.

"The administration's efforts of the last eighteen months have failed to check the depression. The federal construction program has proved only a minor benefit. Congress was adjourned with the idea that business men and the President could find the solution. But conditions get no better.

"Therefore, new and more drastic action by the government is called for.

"The American Federation of Labor now threatens strikes to stop the wage cuts which employers are making in defiance of their agreement with the White House.

"The American Legion has just petitioned President Hoover to call a non-political conference to deal with national unemployment."

"Senator LaFollette, in the name of the progressive conference, has requested the president to call a special session of Congress immediately to provide federal aid through an increased construction program or direct federal appropriations to state and municipal relief agencies.

"According to the American Legion's national survey, unemployment has now increased beyond the official 6,000,000 figure of last winter.

"According to the experts' report made for the progressive conference, and announced by Mr. LaFollette, there is no evidence that unemployment will decrease this year. At the present rate of industrial progress the number of unemployed to be provided for during the coming winter bids fair to remain close to the 6,000,000 found by the Census Bureau last January, it reads.

"This experts' report stresses the fact that the municipal and state funds which supplies three-quarters of relief distributed last year are now depleted, and that federal aid will be necessary to prevent wide starvation."

THE ANTIQUE SWINDLE

An amusing incident is reported from the New York custom house where a wealthy American sought to bring from Europe a shipment of "antique" furniture under the duty free provisions of the tariff law.

Government appraisers questioned the genuineness of the furniture and assessed the regular duty. The owner protested and had experts called in to give their opinions as to whether the furniture was more than 100 years old, as had been represented by European dealers. These experts agreed with the government officials that the furniture was less than 25 years old. Thus the "easy" purchaser found that he had been swindled and had to pay the duty besides.

This illustrates the gullibility of many Americans who ransack Europe for "antiques", often paying fabulous prices for stuff that has been manufactured expressly for this sucker trade.

LISTEN SON

I am saying this to you as you lie asleep, one little paw crumpled under your cheek and the blond curls stickily wet on your damp forehead. I have stolen into your room alone. Just a few minutes ago, as I sat reading my paper in the library, a hot, stifling wave of remorse swept over me. I could not resist it. Guiltily I came to your bedside.

"These are the things I was thinking, son: I had been cross to you I scolded you as you were dressing for school, because you gave your face merely a dab with a towel. I took you to task for not cleaning your shoes. I called out angrily when I found you had thrown some of your things on the floor.

"At breakfast I found fault, too. You spilled things. You gulped down your food. You put your elbows on the table. You spread butter too thick on your bread. And as you started off to play and I made for my train, you turned and waved a little hand and called, 'Good-bye Diddy!' and I frowned and said in reply, 'Hold your shoulders back.

"Then it began all over again in the late afternoon. As I came up the hill road I spied you down on your knees playing marbles. There were holes in your stockings. I humiliated you before your boy friends by making you march ahead of me back to the house. Stockings were expensive—and if you had to buy them you would be more careful! Imagine that, son, from a father! It was such stupid, silly logic.

"Do you remember, later, when I was reading in the library, how you came in, softly, timidly, with a sort of hurt, hunted look in your eyes? When I glanced up over my paper, impatient at the interruption, you hesitated at the door. 'What is it you want?', I snapped.

The Good-Night Kiss

"You said nothing, but ran across, in one tempestuous plunge, and threw your arms around my neck and kissed me, again and again, and your small arms tightened with an affection that God had set blooming in your heart which even neglect could not wither. And then you were gone, pattering up the stairs.

"Well, son, it was shortly afterwards that my paper slipped from my hands and a terrible sickening fear came over me. Suddenly I saw myself as I really was, in all my horrible selfishness, and I felt sick at heart.

"What has habit been doing to me? The habit of complaining, of finding fault, of reprimanding—all of these were my rewards to you for being a boy. It was not that I did not love you; it was that I expected so much of you. I was measuring you by the yardstick of my own years.

"And there was so much that was good, and fine, and true in your character. You did not deserve my treatment of you, son. The little heart of you was as big as the dawn itself over the wide hills. All this was shown by your spontaneous impulse to rush in and kiss me goodnight. Nothing else matters tonight, son. I have come to your bedside in the darkness, and I have knelt there, choking with emotion, and so ashamed!

"It is a feeble atonement, I know you would not understand these things if I told them to you during your waking hours; yet I must say what I am saying. I must burn sacrificial fires, alone here in your bedroom, and make free confession. And I have prayed God to strengthen me in my new resolve. Tomorrow I will be a real daddy! I will chum with you, and suffer when you suffer and laugh when you laugh. I will bite my tongue when impatient words come. I will keep saying as if it were a ritual: 'He is nothing but a boy—a little boy!'

"I am afraid I have visualized you as a man. Yet as I see you now, son, crumpled and weary in your cot, I see that you are still a baby. Yesterday you were in your mother's arms, your head on her shoulder. I have asked too much, too much.

"Dear Boy! Dear little son! A penitent kneels at your shrine, here in the moonlight. I kiss the little fingers, and the damp forehead, and the yellow curl.

"Tears came, and heartache and remorse, and also a greater, deeper love, when you ran through the library door and wanted to kiss me!"

The Shrine of Sleeping Childhood

I do not know of a better shrine before which a father or mother may kneel or stand than that of a sleeping child. I do not know of a holier place, a temple where one is more likely to come into closer touch with all that is infinitely good, where one may come nearer to seeing and feeling God. From that shrine come matins of love and laughter, of trust and cheer to bless the new day; and before that shrine should fall our soft vespers, our grateful benedictions for the night. At the cot of a sleeping babe all man-made ranks and inequalities are ironed out, and all mankind kneels reverently before the living image of the Creator. To understand a child, to go back and grow up sym-

Plases the Most Particular

EVERYONE has experienced that little feeling of nervousness when entertaining certain particular guests—the sort who "notice things"; the ones who are a bit fussy about the flavor of their coffee, and the way it's served.

When you entertain your "particular" guest, just plug in your gleaming Electric Percolator—you'll be surprised at your confidence—the little flourish and the smug little smile with which you pour. You'll receive the congratulations just a little complacently, for you knew success was assured—the electrical way.

Are you making the fullest use of your Electric Percolator?... The surety of always perfect coffee—always faultlessly served? There's not a chance of anything going wrong when you make your coffee in one of the delightfully convenient and attractive Electric Percolators.

pathetically with it, to hold its love and confidence, to be accepted by it, without fear or restraint, as a companion and playmate, is just about the greatest good fortune that can come to any man or woman in this world—and, perhaps, in any other world, for all we know.

And I am passing this "confession" along to the fathers who may be privileged to read it, and for the benefit of all the "little fellows"—the growing, earth-blessing little Jimmies and Billys and Marys and Janes of this very good world—of ours.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF ASPERMONT DIES

Hahn complained of being ill when he left the house to inspect his fields members of the family said. His body was found by his small son, J. B., and G. A. McCaslan, 15 year old boy. No evidence of foul play was found by officers investigating the death.

Mr. Hahn was a pioneer resident of Aspermont having been reared in Stonewall county. He is survived by his widow, several children and three brothers.—Rule Review.

NEWS FROM OVER WEST TEXAS

To Celebrate Completion of Free Bridge

From Ford County News.
The people of Crowell and Ford County have been invited to attend a basket picnic, midway between Quanah and Red River, on July 4, according to a letter received by The News from the Quanah Chamber of Commerce.
The site for this picnic is El Vivian Pool, on Highway 51 and the event is being held to celebrate the completion of the free bridge across Red River, between Hardeman and Jackson counties.
The people of Eldorado, Olustee, Altus, Crowell, Benjamin, Knox City and Truscott, as well as the highway commissioners of Oklahoma and Texas, and all of the citizens of Hardeman County, Texas, and Jackson County, Oklahoma, have been extended a special invitation to attend and bring well-filled baskets.
Highway 51 in Texas extends from Red River, north of Quanah, to Sagerton in Haskell County.

Fire Destroys Wheat

From the Fairbairn Post.
Last Friday some Mexicans were working in a field close to a wheat field on the home place of B. Lennis Smith, in the Ogden section. It was said they were doing some grubbing.
All at once a fire was discovered in the wheat field. The blaze was going good, and the Mexicans made a run for the scene of the trouble, leaving off their shirts, taking off their hats and fighting frantically the raging flames. With the assistance of neighbors the fire was finally put out, but not before about 7 acres of the wheat had been destroyed.
It was reported that fire from the place where the Mexicans were at work blew over into the grain field and caused the damage.
Things looked rather bad in that section for a few minutes. There were several wheat fields which were joining the one on fire and if the blaze had become unruly there is a likelihood of a great amount of damage having been done.

Former Knox County Woman Murdered in Castro County

From the Gove Advocate.
Press reports Tuesday gave an account of the killing of Mrs. Nora Barrett of Castro county Monday. Mrs. Barrett was formerly a resident of Knox county, she being the step-daughter of W. T. Oliver, who formerly lived in the Heifer community.
The family moved from here some three or four years ago and since that time the girl was married to a Castro county farmer. Mrs. Barrett was the mother of a 10 months old baby.
A later report states that J. P. Barrett, father-in-law of the murdered woman, had admitted the killing and had been formerly charged with the crime.

Spur To Have Sunday Shows

From the Texas Spur.
Following the repeal of the ancient statute of fifty years standing which forbids the showing of picture shows on Sunday in Texas, the manager of the local theatres announces that pictures have been booked and that Spur will hereafter have a Sunday show. The first entertainment of this character to be given here on Sunday will be a matinee showing of "Cimmarron" at the Palace Theatre, June 14.
Horton Barrett, local manager of the Spur Theatres, in commenting on the inauguration of Sunday picture shows in this city, states that regardless of the fact that there is no law preventing it, only matinee programs will be given.

3 Suits Against County Seized by Compromise

From the Munday Times.
The damage suit of Tom Adams against the county, and a companion suit for injunction brought by the McFadden Trust, was settled out of court at a meeting of the commissioners court at Benjamin last Saturday when the court granted practically all of the demands made by the complainants.
The litigation grew out of the opening of the highway between Benjamin and the King county line.

Right of Way For Haskell Road Thru City Being Sought

From the Throckmorton Tribune.
Citizens of Throckmorton are anxious to have the location of the highway leading to Haskell settled through the city. The state highway department has named the street south of the court house as the street to come into town and there is a move on to petition the department for a change and have it on the street North of the Donnell Service Company.
All that the city and county are required to do to have the paved road into town from the west is to secure the right of way that is satisfactory to the highway department. The right of way cost will be all the cost there will be to getting the paved road and citizens should take steps as quickly as possible in getting the desired location for the highway.

Believes Negroes Met Foul Play

From the Lynn County News.
Henry Bivins, Drew Farmer alias Drew Hill, and Charles Etta Cade, all colored residents of Tahoka, who were drowned in the Guadalupe River near New Braunfels a few weeks ago, are now believed to have been victims of foul play, according to local negroes.
The only member of the party who escaped was Steve Brown of San Marcos, who recently committed suicide by poison. He had been accused of having robbed the other occupants of the car, taking quite a sum of money from Drew Farmer, and then deliberately running the car into the swollen river, leaping from the car before it entered the water. When officers began an investigation he committed suicide, local negroes say.

Bus Is Robbed Near Shamrock

From Wellington Leader.
Rivalling the thrills of a stage-coach robbery in the early days of the Old West, seven unmasked highwaymen halted a Pickwick-Greyhound bus nine miles east of Shamrock early Sunday morning and robbed its 18 passengers of $688 in cash and jewelry valued at $275.00. The holdup was staged on a 13-mile detour off the U. S. Highway 66. Two of the robbers were on the bus and the other five were in two automobiles, one preceding and one behind the bus. When the bus was stopped, the victims were ordered out, one at a time and searched. The bus driver was making his first run on the bus line, which runs from El Paso to Tulsa. He was the first to be searched. He was cursed by the bandits when they found he possessed no money or valuables.
An interesting sidelight upon the robbery is the fact that the highwaymen asked each passenger from whom they secured money, where she or he lived, and gave back enough for them to wire home for more money and to buy their breakfast. The "refunds" varied from 70c to $1.50.

Lamesa Youth Killed Shot Friday

From the O'Donnell Index.
Jimmie Hurst, seventeen year-old Lamesa youth, was instantly killed last Friday morning when the 22 which he was examining was accidentally discharged, the shot striking him in the head.
The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hurst, well-known newspaper people of Dawson county, had just closed a conversation with his mother, and gone in his room. Mrs. Hurst heard the shot in a minute or two and rushed into the room, finding her son lying on the floor. Coroner's verdict was that death was accidental.

Brother of Woodson Woman Killed in Car Accident

From the Woodson Record.
M. Mitcham, brother of Mrs. J. W. Foster, was killed last Sunday morning in a car accident near Wichita Falls. The details of this accident have appeared in the daily newspapers. Owing to illness, Mrs. Foster was unable to go to her brother's funeral, but her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Christopher, immediately went on receiving the news. They returned home late Sunday night accompanied by J. W. Jr. and Mr. Foster went Monday morning.

The SANDMAN STORY

ABOUT TATTLETALES

MOTHER GOSSIP, as you probably know, has curled lips and a very ugly expression to her ugly face. Sometimes, though, you don't see how ugly it is at first.
You may think it's an attractive face. But you won't think that if you talk to her long. You'll begin to see the lips curl and the ugly expression, and you'll say to yourself:
"Oh, you ugly, mean-looking hag!"
Mother Gossip can never really be herself. She has a number of children, but the Tattle-tale Twins are her pets.
She loves to hear stories children tell on each other. She lives where the mountains are made of mole hills, and among her other children are the Hearsay Triplets, the Exaggeration Boys, and her daughters, I-make-a-point-to-repeat-mean things, as well as her twins, I-heard-something-bad-some-one-said-about-me-but-I-stood-up-for-you. Mother

Master Thoughtfulness, who hates cruelty above all things, and who considers saying mean things a form of cruelty, tried to do all he could with her.
"What is the good of making people unhappy?" he asked her. "You know it makes them unhappy when you say mean things and when you repeat mean speeches others have made."
"People may try to be sensible and say to themselves:
"I won't let it hurt my feelings. Anyone who is going to repeat mean speeches doesn't deserve to be noticed to that extent."
"But just the same it is hard not to have one's feelings hurt."
"I know it," sneered Mother Gossip.
"It seems so long ago," she said after a little. "You know how people speak of idle gossip?"
"It is certainly idle enough to gossip," Master Thoughtfulness sighed.
"There were a lot of people with nothing to do, nothing to think about, nothing to be happy about, nothing with which to play, nothing for which to care.
"There was just a group of these people. They had been brought up by a nurse employed by all of their mothers, whose name was Nurse Whine.
"Nurse Whine didn't play with the children, nor read to them, or do anything with them, for she was interested in a person whose name was Master Complaint, and she was going to marry him as soon as the last of these children grew up.
"Well, the children grew up. They'd no idea how to be happy. And they only knew—or thought they knew—that there was nothing to do.
"Out of this lack of doing anything they began to scold each other, and then talk about each other. And the habit grew, and grew so that the only times they found anything to do were those times when they talked about each other.
"Then I came along and I was the same way. If people want to be happy they should avoid me. I am never really happy.
"I only got excited over gossip. I just can't help it. I come from a lot of idle ones, and so I'm often called idle Gossip. It means that I don't count for anything—I'm idle."
"That's my nature. By the way, Master Thoughtfulness, you know I heard some one say they thought you were stinky."
"But Master Thoughtfulness had said the best thing to do was to keep me away from Mother Gossip. (Copyright.)

Other Gossip Can Never Really See Herself.

She is fond of this twin, too, for Mother Gossip thinks it is nice to repeat the mean speeches, and then blame one's self by saying "I heard you say it."

The kind of person who wouldn't repeat a mean speech but who would stand up for a friend without having to tell the friend on, is the kind Mother Gossip likes. She has such curious tastes.

Well, one day Mother Gossip was gone. All her children were wandering about, causing unhappiness and sadness. They were being so mean, they were making people so mad because of mean, bitter, and bad speeches, and they were so just those things that they were mean Mother Gossip was told her about it.

COWBOY REUNION AT STAMFORD JUNE 26, 27

Every town in West Texas, and all the important cities of the state are being asked to have official representation at Stamford, June 26, 27, and 28, for the second annual Texas Cowboy Reunion, at Stamford in the form of a young lady representing the cattle interests in the districts served by those towns and cities.

Approximately 75 feminine sponsors are expected by Warren B. Tayman, chairman of the reunion's program and parade committee. He has sent special information on the selection of the sponsors and the part they will have in the celebration program to over 100 different communities, and reports that he already has received several messages evidencing that there will be a large number of girls here for this event from various towns.

This group of young ladies will lead the opening day parade of the reunion, to be staged at 1:00 p. m. June 25, and will participate in a number of other features of the program. They will act as sponsors for the pioneer cattlemen in their respective communities and be given numerous courtesies by the reunion association.

Each of them will be from a family interested in the cattle business and will bring her own horse, saddle and ranch costume with her. Special social events for the sponsors will be arranged on each day of the reunion, Tayman says. The affair is being staged for the entertainment and enjoyment of the pioneers of the cattle range days of this area and reports coming in from over the country indicate that the attendance this season will be double that of last year, when the first reunion was held here.

At a dinner on one occasion a professor thought he would ask a colored coat-room attendant a few questions about his memory.

As the attendant handed him his hat he said: "How do you know this one is mine?"

"I don't know that, sub," was the answer.

"Then why do you give it to me?" queried the professor. "Cause you gave it to me, rht!"

As the farmer would revise it: Say it with shovels.

GIANT ZEPPELIN ATTRACTS THOUSANDS OF VISITORS

Thousands of persons, more than 60,000 on Sundays, are each week inspecting the progress of construction of the USS Akron, which the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation is building for the U. S. Navy, according to R. L. Burton, local Goodyear dealer.

The USS Akron, the world's largest airship, now has nearly half its fabric outer cover in place, and seven of its eight 560-horsepower engines have been installed in motor rooms in the hull. Doping is also in progress, and the nose of the ship has been covered with the aluminum dope which gives lighter-than-air ships their silvery appearance as they glide through the sky. Provisions for visitors have been made, and one end of the dock and a portion of the west side of the structure have been made available for persons wishing to inspect the ship.

With its length of 785 feet, the USS Akron will be but nine feet longer than the famous Graf Zeppelin, but its greater diameter gives it a lifting gas capacity of nearly twice the German ship. The Akron will have a capacity of 6,500,000 cubic feet of helium. America's non-inflammable, non-explosive gas, as compared with 3,700,000 for the Graf, and 2,400,000 for the USS Los Angeles, present Navy dirigible.

Use of helium eliminates fire and explosion hazard and allows installation of the motors inside the hull itself, instead of in separate gondolas, as has been the practice in previous ships. A specially designed outrigger with a rigid drive shaft will deliver power to the propellers outside the hull.

One of the most interesting features of the ship will be its airplane compartment, Mr. Burton states. This compartment will house five pursuit planes, which may be released and picked up in mid-air, and which will be used for scouting, or for offense and defense of the mother ship.

While visitors are interested in the airship, the mammoth dock is in itself a major attraction. A semi-paraboloid in shape, the dock is 1175 feet long, 325 feet wide and 211 feet high, the largest structure in the world without interior supports. The floor area of 384,000 square feet is unobstructed by pillars or posts. More than 7200 tons of steel were used in the building and its doors, and because of this immense amount of metal it was necessary to place the girders on rollers in order that the structure might expand and contract with changes in temperature.

It has been estimated that 10 football games could be played simultaneously under the roof of the dock, that six miles of standard railroad track could be laid on the floor area, and that the great Woolworth building could be laid inside and the Washington monument thrown in for good measure.

Mr. Burton has installed an attractive window display showing the airship dock and a Zeppelin of the USS Akron type, giving a visual impression of the immensity of both.
