Earliest West Texans Snail-Eaters Were Industrious; Wore Prickly Pear Hats

Shades of delectable dainties! Millions of them consumed by the earliest West Texans were excavated by the Jackson archaeological party who completed exploration of Seminole caverns recently. The caverns are located about 50 miles west of Del Rio.

Snail-eaters were our earliest West Texans. Countless numbers of shells were excavated in the kitchen middens of Seminole caverns, where a priceless collection of anthropological data, including six skeletons, hundreds of arrows and bows, flint knives and ornaments were found. A description of the findings permits a reconstruction of the life of the inhabitants of the caverns 2,000 years ago. Judging by the skeleton and skull of the cave man, he is classified with the race about which very little is known, the Basket Weavers, Flat Tops, or Cud Chewers. He was a short, squatly fellow of low mentality and fierce determination—if the lower jaw bone is to mean anything more than that it was developed to that extent by cud chewing. Of necessity he was industrious.

He hunted with bow and arrow and made his kill of small animals with a rabbit stick, resembling the Australian boomerang. He fished with nets made of lechugia or some corresponding fiber, bits of which were unearthed.

With the animal skins derived from his hunting, which his squaw dressed, the caveman rudely fashioned clothing for the winter months, since no clothing was needed at other seasons in this section. To fasten his garments together he used guanilla fiber, sewed with polished bone awls, many of which were included in the collection. On his feet he wore barrachas made of woven fiber and held in place by strips of fiber between his toes and fastened at the ankle. His headgear was of two flat prickly pear leaves sewed together by sarahuista fibers. About his neck he wore conk shell, a strand six inches long and three inches wide, punctured by five holes drilled at different angles in the shells.

The skeletons, found in sitting position, told of the age-old superstition prevalent among the Indians of a happy hunting ground where one must be sitting ready at an instant's notice to die.

Pinding of a crude egg-shaped abrading stone weighing approximately 300 pounds, indicated that perhaps during the long summer afternoons when heat made hunting impossible, the native passed the time polishing bows, sharpening arrows and filing the awls and flint knives. The ridges and holes in the sandstone identified its use.

Three mortar holes located in triangular position in the bedrock revealed the manner in which corn and wild oats were ground for food. The holes were five inches in diameter, tapering to a point at the bottom. A pestle probably two inches in diameter was used churn-like in grinding.

Deposits were found over the floor of the caverns from a depth of 16 to 18 inches to eight and one-half feet. The exploring party dug an eight foot trench, 200 feet wide and 100 feet long through the flooring, requiring the work of five men for four weeks.

Those making up the party sent out by the archaeological department of the University of Texas, were: A. T. Jackson, head of the expedition; Jack Laughlin, Del Rio; C. A. Mathers, Liberty Hill; Mack Henderson, Llano; and Eddie McCarron, Comstock.

"A $10 Gold-piece for Sale Cheap"

Not so long ago, an interesting experiment was made, to test the "sales-resistance" of the public. Several men paced the down-town streets of a large city, hawking their wares. And the wares, believe it or not, were ten dollar gold pieces—offered for sale at a dollar. No one bought; the price was reduced to fifty cents; finally to a quarter . . . still no sales!

Only after this experiment appeared as news in the papers did those who turned down the bargain gold become convinced of their mistake. They doubted the evidence of their own senses when they were offered something for nothing, but they believed in the opportunity they'd lost when the newspapers told them the story.

In the papers that you read, you are offered a parallel opportunity—equally genuine, and sponsored by people of proven responsibility. What! You've never seen it? Stop for a minute and think. This newspaper cost you a trifle—which you gladly paid to learn what's happening in the world, to read about people and events. But there's other news here of vital importance to you—about things and services, about automobiles, clothing, food, household wares—about all those things which you pay money for, to live.

The advertisements! Your newspaper-pennies buy this news too. If you read the advertisements, let them show you how, where, what and when to buy; they will save you dollars . . . and put money in your pocket just as surely as if you purchased a bargain gold-piece.

IMPORTANT

When you ask for a product by name, as a result of advertising, do not accept a substitute—substitutes are offered not as a service to you, but for other reasons.

City Plans New Ball Park

The Knax City Journal—
The City will probably have a class baseball park and grand soon if the plans of several citizens work out.

Among those interested in putting the project over are Henry and Ed Shaver, who are getting the people's cooperation in the matter.

Knox City has always had an excellent baseball team and especially in the last few years. There is a material here this year for a club than there has been for some time, it is said. And the fans are looking forward to some real games this summer.

You enjoy this sport, there is another way that you could help the games here better than to be in this new park and stand movement. Let's build a stand.

D. T. Mauldin of Munday Named President Waterworks Ass'n.

From The Munday Times—

D. T. Mauldin, city secretary, attended the annual meeting of the Texas division of the Southwest Waterworks Association at Temple last week, and was elected president of the association, which honor came as a great surprise to him, especially so since he had not been an official in the association before, however, he had attended the meeting of the association for a number of years and at this meeting he was on the program for a paper in sewage irrigation, in which he gave an outline of the accomplishments of the local plant.

Sheriffs Meet at Seymour February 9-10.

Plans are rapidly rounding into shape for the meeting of the West Texas Sheriffs' association, which will be held here Feb. 9-10. This is quite an event, and it is probable that 100 or more peace officers from all over this section of the state will be here, according to Arch Holmes, Baylor county sheriff.

Invitations will be mailed early next week, urging attendance of all who can come. The Chamber of Commerce is working to the end that this shall be the best meeting of the association ever held anywhere. At the last meeting, when it was voted to come to Seymour, the officers showed a great desire to meet here and this town was chosen in preference to San Angelo and other places. It now behooves Seymour to show them that we are equally anxious to have them, and to make their visit a most enjoyable one.

While the program has not been fully worked out, the committee, George Plants, Lem Bellows, and T. E. Craddock, have already arranged an excellent bill of fare. Features will be a pistol contest, open to all peace officers, which will be judged by Lott Keffer, formerly of this place, and Capt. Fred Hickman of Wichita Falls; and a big fish banquet to be held at the City Hall on Thursday night, February 9th.

Steps are being taken toward having the town decorated, and everything put in shape. Headquarters will be at the Seymour Hotel.

Five Mules Electrocutated At Anson Saturday.

From The Western-Enterprise, Anson—
Five mules were electrocuted Saturday evening when a sheet iron house, being moved to the Liberty Filling Station, broke the high electric line near Charley Hamilton's home immediately north of Anson, and on the old Stamford and Anson road. Eight men who were with the moving outfit were lucky to come out unharmed.

Four of the mules belonged to S. J. Isbell, and one to J. W. Thomason. Mr. Thomason saved three other mules. The electric line, breaking, fell on or across some of the mules, resulting in immediate death to them. One of them lived about thirty minutes, the current not reaching through contact with a wire, it is thought.

As a result of the accident, electric service was badly impaired for a while in sections of the town in the first part of the night.

Work Started on Gymnasium For Crowell.

From The Foard County News—
Excavation for the Crowell High School's gymnasium was started Tuesday at noon by a crew of men furnished employment by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The construction of this building is being made possible through the cooperation of various sources. The commissioners' court of Foard County recently voted to give the Crowell Independent School district the material in the old jail building on the south side of the square if the school board would be responsible for clearing the lot where this old stone building now stands.

The stone from this building will be used in constructing the walls of the gymnasium. The building will be 30 by 32 feet. The distance from the floor to the ceiling will measure 22 feet, seven feet of which will be underground.

Trainload of Fat Cattle Shipped From Jayton.

From The Jayton Chronicle—
The Jayton Cotton Oil Mill this last week shipped out a full train load of fancy fat cattle to Los Angeles, California. These cattle have been fed at the oil mill feed lots for several months, and have had every known feed in unlimited quantities to make of them cattle that will top the market at any receiving point. The meal and hulls were supplied by the local mill, and other feeds, such as corn and maize were swapped for by the mill in exchange for the feed products of the mill. Before the feed went to the feed lots it was ground and mixed in the feed department of the mill. This department of the oil mill has supplied much work for local people this last fall and winter, and we can say truly that the Jayton Cotton Oil Mill is a valuable asset to Jayton and the surrounding country. Mr. J. B. Overton the efficient local manager of the mill is always looking out for additional improvements and things he may do at the mill in order to give work to as many as possible.

Cotton Acreage to be Increased In Knox County.

From The Goree Advocate—
According to farmers who have been interviewed, the acreage in cotton in the Goree territory will be increased this year. The acreage in grain will be much lower than last year, and it is said that much of the land that was in grain last year will be planted to cotton.

Expect Architect to be Appointed for Graham Postoffice.

From The Graham Leader—
Secretary Ed C. Burris of the Chamber of Commerce has been advised that a Declaration of Taking has been filed by the U. S. Treasury Department for the site offered for the Graham Federal Building, and it is hoped that plans for the building will materialize at an early date.

According to a recent letter from Ferry H. Heath, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, to Congressman Guinn Williams, a copy of which was forwarded to the Chamber of Commerce here, it is planned to appoint a private architect immediately. The letter also stated that the architect, when appointed, will be urged to carry forward the plans as rapidly as possible.

Wheat Growing Rapidly Result of Good Weather.

From The Chillicothe Valley News—
According to a local wheat grower Monday the weather during the past few days is causing the wheat to show a new life in growth. It was also stated that fruit trees were beginning to bud out in parts of the local community. This last piece of news, however, is discouraging, due to the fact that the fruit usually gets killed because of a late freeze.

As for wheat, farmers have been hoping it would show a more rapid growth, and are pleased with the kind of weather being had. It was pointed out, however, that a rain of about one inch would help the wheat along still more.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. DARROW
Extension Service Editor

"During the six years I have owned a steam pressure cooker, canned peas have paid the doctor, the groceryman, the blacksmith, the beauty parlor operator, and even for my husband's tobacco," declares Mrs. Solon Lea, president of Mitchell Home Demonstration Club in Haskell county. "By boarding 11 cotton pickers out of my pantry this year I have paid for a piano. When I need the chicken yard grubbed, hot bed made, or garden work done, I pay for the work with canned products."

Fifty-one farm yards were beautified in Travis county last year by home demonstration club women at an average cost of $5.00 per yard.

Ten Bexar county farm women acting as wardrobe demonstrators in their home demonstration clubs found they could dress becomingly for an average of $32.71 last year. It took planning and wise buying to do it, they explain, but declare the result is worth the effort.

Five Kaufman county farmers who conducted pasture demonstrations last year on 189 acres have made returns averaging $8.15 per acre for an average investment of less than 50 cents per acre.

Seventy 4-H club boys who fed pigs in Childress county last year made slightly less than $1 per animal for their labor and investment even though they produced pork at the low feed cost of 22 cents per pound. Fifteen boys who raised litters of pigs made an average of $17.01 for their labor and investment.

It cost 11 Burleson county farmers $45.54 to bud 580 native pecan trees to improved varieties last year. The buds on 401 trees were successful, and the owners gave to the county agent their estimate that the improved trees are worth $814.20.

Up in Massachusetts, Dorothy Wind married Alfred Storm. And now we may look forward to a lot of little squalls.

A lot of legislators thinks it's a stroke of statesmanship to propose an addition to the gasoline tax.

It looks as though Congress will have to do that budget balancing act all over again.

THE DOOM OF LAME DUCKS SEALED

The present session which is the final session of the Seventy-second Congress will go down in history as the last "lame duck" session, the Norris "lame duck" amendment having been ratified by the requisite number of states.

Ratification broke all records for speed. It took 10 years of fighting to get Congress to pass and submit it. It took less than 11 months for 36 states to act. Not one state has refused to ratify, and it now looks as if the vote would be unanimous. All honor to Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, for this victory.

YOUR HOME TOWN NEWSPAPERS

Russell Kay, in his talk before the Winter Haven, Florida, Exchange a few weeks ago, brought out some thoughts about the home-town newspaper which are perhaps not so generally known, but which are well worth remembering.

"The community," he said, "is judged largely by its newspaper or newspapers, by outsiders, and the type of newspaper produced in a certain community is governed to a large extent by the community it serves."

ADVERTISING AND SALES

In a recent five-day period one of the large grocery chain systems increased its newspaper advertising by $13,000. At the end of the period it found sales had increased by $800,000.

The movement on foot to nonularize homes of steel construction may do a lot to stir up activity for the building trades, which have long been in the doldrums.

Good Luck Pals

The Good Luck Pals met Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Home Economics room. The house was called to order by the president, then the secretary called the roll. The club has not met in some time so in order to remind the officers and members of their duty the president read a proposed constitution. In this constitution the office of a historian was created. Louise Roberts was elected to fill this office. She appointed Louise McAnulty and Anna Belle Stanton as a committee to help her. They will keep the history in the form of a scrap book.

The members voted to have a regular meeting every second and fourth Monday of each month, and to have a special meeting next Monday to plan for a Washington Birthday social. Maxine Quattlebaum, Marguerite Higgins, Geraldine Pouts and Anna Gene Gordon were appointed as members of the social committee.

Monday February the 13th, Ava Grindstaff will have charge of the program. The subject will be "Pioneer Home Economics Work."
