According to the sheriff's department, the arresting officer confiscated approximately ten gallons of liquor which was found in the car which Porter was driving at the time of his arrest.

Two complaints, one for transporting intoxicating liquor, and one for possession for the purpose of sale, were lodged against Porter. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace D. T. Dotson.

GLENN MERCHANT IS INJURED IN GAS EXPLOSION

Glenn Merchant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Merchant of this city, an employee of the Whitham Construction Company on road work in the west part of the county, received serious burns about the arms and face Tuesday night in an explosion which followed his entry into a gas-filled room where he had been staying at Rochester.

According to reports, Merchant had gone to his room in a private residence, and was carrying a lighted kerosene lamp. A faulty gas connection had allowed escaping gas to accumulate in the room, and upon Merchant's entry an explosion occurred, hurling him from the room and igniting his clothes, burning him seriously. He was immediately carried to the Knox City sanitarium where his condition is reported serious.

H. C. King has been named chairman of the Roll Call campaign for the Haskell County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The campaign opens on November 14th and closes on Thanksgiving Day. The goal of the chapter is to have 200 members by the national organization, but they believe that the membership should and can be brought to 1000 or 2000 during the drive—as the assistance the Red Cross has been to a portion of the population of the county during the past two years. Large Attendance at Eighth Annual Haskell Co. Fair

Despite unfavorable weather on opening day, attendance at the eighth annual Haskell County Fair last week exceeded expectations of fair management, with the attendance on Saturday, the last day, probably equalling that of any previous year.

Legion members in effort to wipe out the deficit sustained in last year's performance, are planning to stage another Rodeo on Armistice Day, November 11th.

Considerable interest was shown in the unusually large number of exhibits in all departments. In one Textile Exhibits—entries were so numerous that additional space in the uptown building was necessary to accommodate the entries.

The American Legion Rodeo and Jubilee on opening day, although at a success financially, provided no high entertainment for all who attended, and attracted a score or more of the best rodeo stars in this section.

Announcements of all awards for exhibits in the Fair will also be given next week.

Legion members, in an effort to wipe out the deficit sustained in last year's performance, are planning to stage another Rodeo on Armistice Day, November 11th. If these plans materialize, complete details of the coming event will be given next week.

SOCIETY

Mrs. J. D. Montgomery Entertains Golf Widows Club.

Mrs. J. D. Montgomery entertained members of the Golf Widows Club with a few guests at her home on Tuesday night. Baskets and vases filled with a profusion of fall flowers were placed about the rooms where three tables were arranged for games of "84." A yellow and black color scheme was stressed in the house decorations. After a series of games the hostess passed a lovely salad plate to the following:

Messrs. and Mesdames: Jno. A. Couch, Sam A. Roberts, R. C. Couch, Jno. W. Pace, A. C. Pierson, Roy Killingsworth, B. M. Whiteaker, Leo Southern, O. E. Patterson, Jno. V. Davis, F. L. Daugherty, Mrs. Nina Young and Mr. J. D. Montgomery.

A SHOWER

On Friday evening from three to five o'clock Mrs. J. A. Savage assisted by Mesdames Charlie Dye, John Reeves and Oran Howard, honored Mrs. Hugh Green, who was formerly Miss Irene Ward, with a miscellaneous shower.

The guests arrived promptly at three and Mrs. Green and Mrs. Jno. Reeves entertained the crowd with the violin and mandolin.

After the music games were played and just when everything began to quiet down, a little boy dressed as a colored boy (Clifford B. Dye) entered the room pulling a little wagon and calling, "Mrs. Green! Mrs. Green! My mammy sent yore washing home."

Imagine Mrs. Green's surprise when she untied the washing and found gifts of almost every description.

After the gifts were unwrapped and viewed the following guests were invited to the dining room which was decorated in "green" to partake of cake and hot chocolate: Mesdames Paul Green, Arlie Howard, Al Marr, Jerry Kane, Oran Howard, Ed Brown, R. H. Jones, I. J. Duff, C. P. Oman, Mary E. Cogins, J. W. Medley, J. C. Capps, J. F. Cadenhead, Hazel Medley, J. M. Williams, G. D. McClaran, Lily Medley, John Reeves, Charlie Dye, C. A. Ward and Misses Jen Williams, Edna Howard and Margie Howell.

The following sent gifts, but for various reasons were unable to attend: Mesdames Newsom, P. B. Baker, Joe Williams, W. H. Ward, M. F. Medley, Edna Jones, Fred Ford, C. H. Adams, H. F. Monke, Bill Pickering, Miss Essie Medley and Mr. Paul Green, Mrs. E. O. Stout and Mrs. Duncan Head.

It was decided to serve lunch to the teachers attending the Teacher's Institute Thursday, the charges to be thirty-five cents. After the business Mrs. R. C. Montgomery directed the lesson on the Mission study: "The Future of Indian Missions." This proved an unusual and most interesting program. Miss Juanita Stone, whose parents teach on the Hopi Indian Reservation, gave an interesting talk on the education and customs of the Indians. Mrs. Hill Oates sang "The Land of the Sky Blue Water." Miss Catherine Rike played an Indian number on the organ. Mrs. Montgomery read an appropriate scripture lesson.

The previous Monday Mrs. Sanders directed the program from the Mission study book. The Beautiful Garden of Prayer was sung. Mrs.

Wallace Cox talked on Health Problems. The roll was called and each one had something interesting to tell about the Indians. There were 20 present last Monday and 25 this Monday.

Cecil Lancaster Circle.

The Cecil Lancaster Circle met Monday afternoon Oct. 24th in the home of Mrs. R. J. Paxton with six ladies present. The meeting was opened by singing "Take Time to be Holy." Mrs. Paxton led the devotional, reading the 37th Psalm. Humility Good or Bad Humility is good when it stimulates, it is bad when it paralyzes, the active powers of a man. It may do either. We have noble examples of humility as a stimulus; the sense of weakness making a man all the more ardent to use all the strength he has. But if conscious weakness causes a man to believe that it makes no difference whether he works or not, then his humility is his curse.—Phillips Brooks.

Great Smoky Mountains Old
It is said that the Great Smoky mountains in eastern Tennessee and western North Carolina are the oldest mountains on the western continent. That is to say that during the formation of this planet the highest peaks of that galaxy of stupendous mountain bulks were the first dry land to appear above the raging seas.

British Museum Treasures
The exact number of books in the British museum cannot be definitely stated—probably 3,200,000 printed books, including newspapers, maps and music; 53,650 manuscript volumes, 85,000 charts of seals, 18,000 seals and casts of seals, 2,850 papyri, 120,000 oriental printed books and 16,400 oriental manuscripts.

Lief Ericson's Discoveries
According to sagas, Lief Ericson was the discoverer of Iceland. He was the son of Eric the Red and at the beginning of the Eleventh century discovered a transatlantic country which he called Vinland. Facts concerning Lief Ericson are almost entirely legendary and no definite information is known about him.

Folding Bed Not New
Folding beds, which are generally considered a modern invention, have an antique lineage. During the reign of William and Mary of England there was a folding bed known as a "turn-up" or "press bed," that shut against the wall, resembling a clothes press, and our forefathers had one much similar.

Monaco in History
Previous to the French revolution, when the reigning prince was deposed, Monaco had existed as an independent principality for 800 years. The line of princes was re-established in 1814 and Monaco continued as the absolute monarchy until 1911, when a constitution was promulgated.

Opinion of the First Six Weeks by a Few Seniors.

From time to time this year different Seniors will be asked to give their opinions of certain things. Here are a few Seniors' opinions of the first six weeks of school:

Emma Kate Richey: "The school year started off with a bang this year. We have the peppiest Senior Class in the history of Haskell High School. These first six weeks have been packed brim full of fun (and work, too). We have already done a great many lively things but are looking forward toward doing others."

Lucile Akins: "In this first six weeks we as Seniors have experienced some things which Seniors before us have experienced, but in our sight they have dawned in an entirely new, exciting light."

Norma Ann Gilstrap: "Haskell High School Seniors of 1933-34 have written upon the pages of history this past six weeks facts and events that will excel all the Senior classes that time shall bring forth."

Rozelle Jones: "In my opinion the first six weeks of this year were the most enjoyable I've spent since I entered high school three years ago, because this year we have a livelier class than ever before and expect to make this year a memorable one."

Mary Frances Collier: "Detention slips and eraser slingers have certainly helped to keep the atmosphere of Haskell High in a stir these first six weeks!"

Maxine Simmons: "I think the first six weeks of school have been very successful as far as the Seniors are concerned. We have already done many things and intend to do more. I hope the rest of the school year will continue as the first six weeks started off."

relieved by Black-Draught

"I decided to take Theodor's Black-Draught, as I had been having bilious spells," writes Mr. Chas. E. Stevens, of Columbus, Ind. "When I got bilious, I feel sleepy and tired and do not feel like doing my work. I get awfully dizzy. I know then that I had better take something. After I found how good Black-Draught is, that is what I have used. I guess it rid me of the bile, for I feel better—don't feel like I am dropping off to sleep every time I sit down. That, to me, is a very bad feeling. How do you get rid of Black-Draught in the form of a 25 cent jar?"

Turtle's Amazing Instinct

On the shores of the Amazon lives a species of turtle which lays its eggs in the sand a few feet above the line that will denote high-water at the time when the young are due to appear. The eggs are laid weeks ahead of the actual rising or falling of the river, and in some seasons there may be a margin of at least three miles in its width, but this tortoise or land turtle never makes a mistake, always depositing them in a secure spot just the right distance above the line which later will show the high-water mark.

Odd Bahaman Tree

Among the many attractions for American tourists at Nassau, in the Bahama Islands, is the famous silk-cotton tree, which rises seemingly like a pyramid, then, at the top, branches off in clumsy shoots. The trunk of the tree flares out curiously into ribbon-like formation. There are believed to be only three silk-cotton trees in existence.

The story of "Romeo and Juliet" was not originated by Shakespeare. The story was very popular in Italy before Shakespeare wrote his famous tragedy. It is possible that the original plot was taken from him.

Too Many Meanings

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty. And feels like forty. At the age of 62. That's the happy state of health and pep a man enjoys when he gives his vital organs a little stimulant! When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy, half-alive—don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. This appetizing syrup is made from fresh laxative herbs, active mena, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, constipation. But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better. You will never need another laxative. Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds. Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way.

ONLY AN EQUAL VOICE

West Texas, composed of 130 Texas counties, with thirty-three per cent of the state's population, should have one-third of the total representation from Texas in the National Congress.

In actuality, West Texas has 5 congressmen out of a total of 21 in Texas. It should have two more.

East Texas, with forty-five per cent of the state's population, has thirteen congressmen—forty-five per cent of the population, but sixty-two per cent of the congressional representation. East Texas is not wholly to blame. Three of the congressmen were recently elected at large—but they all live in East Texas. Normally, East Texas would be entitled to nine congressmen. It has ten districts, one more than to what it is entitled.

South Texas has three congressmen. It should have five. With West Texas, it is faring badly by virtue of the failure of the constituted authorities to properly redistrict Texas for congressional representation purposes.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is for redistricting strictly according to the population. Present district lines would have to be forgotten to bring this about. Redistricting that will give each and every citizen in Texas an equal representation in Congress cannot be brought about so long as we respect present district lines, and our authorities charged with the responsibility of redistricting attempt to carve out district areas that will suit their own political ambitions. Personalities and present district lines should be forgotten. After the areas are created, it is time enough for saying who shall represent them. There is plenty of good congressional timber in any area that could be defined in Texas.

The West Texas Chamber wants to have an equal voice with other sections in the affairs of the government—nothing more. It is not interested in the personal ambitions of any man—but always in measures.

An East Texas daily paper recently undertook to give West Texas a rhetorical spanking for being clannish—voting for West Texans regardless. Having to constantly war again unequal representation in governmental affairs—such as here described—is it a wonder that we are inclined to vote for our West Texas citizens for public office? We are certainly justified in doing so even more than we actually do.—West Texas Today.

CHEATING OURSELVES

The story is told of a dishonest worker. He and his family were roofless, whereupon a certain good Samaritan decided to surprise this poor man with a comfortable home. So, without telling his purpose, he hired the builder at a fair wage to build a house on a sunny hill, and then went on business to a far-away country. The builder was left at work with no watchman but his own honor. "Ha," said he in his heart. "I can skip the material and scamp the work." So he went on spinning out the time, putting in poor service, poor nails, poor timbers.

When the good Samaritan returned, the builder said: "That's a fine house I built on the hill." "Good," was the reply. "Go move your folks into it at once for the house is yours. Here is the deed." The builder was thunderstruck. He realized that, instead of cheating his friend he had been industrially cheating himself when he did not know that it was his own house he was building.

The illustration reminds us vividly of the predicament our voters and taxpayers find themselves in today. They suffer under a burden that has become almost unbearable. They wail loud and long about the burdens of taxation, wasteful and foolish governmental expenditure, graft and cheap politics. But are they not criticizing the house they built themselves?

Back a short time ago when most of us had more money than brains and when we were drunk on the power of the almighty dollar, we openly voted for and supported candidates of a spendthrift character, knowing when we did so that we were "slipping in shoddy materials" in the governmental structure we were building. We knew that government, justly and economically administered, required our sober thought and honest action, yet we dismissed the thought with the snap of a finger and went right along with our own selfish pursuit of the dollar. We didn't have time to vote intelligently.

Now we are reaping the rewards. Of course the house we built leaks and cracks and threatens to collapse. But we can't blame it on the other fellow. We built it ourselves.

Let us profit by our lesson and build the next house as it should be. Our democratic government isn't at fault. The fault lies with we voters who built it. We have been cheating ourselves.—Guide, Batesville, Ark.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

At last we know why the nation has 11,000,000 unemployed workers, why thousands of banks have failed and why we continue in the grip of industrial and economic stagnation.

Of course it would have been a different story had Al Smith been elected four years ago. It would have been a Democratic panic, proof indisputable that the Democratic policies are wrong.

In his recent Des Moines speech President Hoover did devote one sentence to the speculative boom which "had weakened our own economic structure," but he proceeded at once to add that "the critical dangers and assaults swept upon us from foreign nations." Referring to these foreign countries he spoke of "the last twelve years of frantic political and financial policies of foreign nations."

THE BOOGIE-MAN SPECIALIST

FARMS

(By Joe C. Williams)

The county agent has a number of requests for help in putting on beef and pork killing and curing demonstrations for the fall and winter. Those who want these demonstrations should get in touch with the County and Home Demonstration Agents, or better still, see your President of your local school board and find out whom they have appointed or have had elected to represent your school district in the County Agricultural Board meetings. Some time ago letters were mailed to the presidents of all school boards asking them to get elected one man and lady to represent your school at such meetings of the County Agricultural Board, such meetings to be held to help organize the work of the county and home agent, in order to reach as many farm people as possible with our beef and pork demonstrations for this and the coming year.

A good ration for your calves that you are planning to put in cans or cure out, using home grown feeds: Milo or Hegari heads, all they will eat each day plus from one to two and one-half pounds of cotton seed, provided that the cottonseed feeding is done gradually, beginning with a small handful of seed and increasing until the full two and one-half pounds is reached. A calf to make the best meat for canning should be fed at least thirty days, as the fatter the calf the more tender the meat is. Tender meat is more desirable than lean, stringy meat for canning. The coarse meats are O. K. for chili and soup stock but poor meat for your choice cuts that could be made from a calf or yearling that is in good condition and fat.

Mr. Jack Merchant of Cottonwood community reports that his calf which they plan to kill has already been on feed for thirty days and is rounding out nicely. He plans to feed the calf at least thirty days more before killing and canning.

During the past canning season over two hundred men and women were taught how to cut up the beef for canning. Several hog killing and curing demonstrations were given, in methods of killing and use of the popular sugar cure for pork.

These demonstrations will be arranged so that the most people can see and learn how to do the work.

The Eyes of the Nation Are Turned Toward Texas

Three hundred Texans, battling against a thousand Mexican regulars, fought their way, inch by inch, for four days (Dec. 5 to Dec. 9, 1835), into San Antonio. The gallant Don Milam was killed, but the victory was complete.

Let's Hold "Open House" and Invite the World in 1936

Texas has a right to be proud of the heritage of heroic tradition which is theirs. And they justly take pride also in the record of progress which Texas has made since its independence was established on the battlefield.

The events of the Texas Revolution stirred the hearts of all Americans a hundred years ago. Today the whole nation is turning its eyes toward Texas because of the remarkable growth it has been achieving.

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Texas independence provides a fitting occasion to invite the world to visit us and see what we have done with our freedom and to behold the immense resources which still remain to be developed.

The Centennial Exposition will leave many permanent and worth-while monuments. The roads which will be laid to conduct our visitors over the State will endure for years to come. The buildings and grounds themselves will doubtless remain as public parks and community centers. And the visions of Texas' splendid future will bring us a rich heritage of men and women moving here to become adopted Texans in a State of so heroic a past and so glorious a future.

8 COLUMN BALLOT WILL LOOK HARD TO VOTERS NOV. 8

The "final edition" of Haskell county's election ballots for the year 1932 is off the press and is almost big enough to make a creditable daily newspaper "final".

Carrying eight party tickets in as many columns, and the "for" and "against" on nine amendments, the ballot measures two feet deep and a foot and one-half wide. It was designed to accommodate everyone from members of the two major parties, democrat and republicans, to independents and people without a party.

Democrats get the first column, of course, with a full ticket from presidential electors to precinct officers, republicans are next with electors and state candidates, then comes the socialist, communist, Jacksonian, Liberty and Independents, in the order named. The last column is for persons who have no party, and those who want to write in the names of candidates of their own choice instead of voting for any party nominees.

Then there are the nine proposed amendments to the State constitution to be voted upon. There is where a lot of the voters are going to scratch their heads if they undertake to pick out the amendments they favor and scratch the ones they do not favor. Voters are being urged by officials to give some careful study to these proposed constitutional changes between now and the time they receive their ballots.

TRIAL OF YOUNG SEYMOUR ATTORNEY RESET FOR NOV. 7

Continuance of the trial of Temple Dickson, 23, of Seymour, on a murder charge, to Monday Nov. 7, was granted by Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court at Wichita Falls Monday morning upon motion of the defense.

Dickson is charged with murder in connection with the death of C. S. Plunkett just June 23 at Seymour. The shooting allegedly resulted from a quarrel over a minor traffic accident to which Dickson was a party several days before Plunkett was shot to death. The defendant was a candidate for election as county attorney in Baylor county when the shooting occurred, but withdrew from the race immediately thereafter. The case was assigned to Wichita county on a change of venue.

POULTRY

PLAY TO PREVENT POULTRY LOSSES

Poor Production Usually Due to Unsanitary Methods.

Successful poultrymen realize that practically all heavy losses in poultry are preventable, according to Charles N. Keen, assistant professor in poultry at the Colorado Agricultural college.

Heavy losses and poor production in poultry are usually due, Mr. Keen says, to some of the following factors: Failure to have clean houses, clean feed, clean water, birds free from parasites and failure to remove sick birds from the houses.

The fact that one changes the straw regularly does not mean that the house is in a good sanitary condition. Regular cleaning of the dropping boards must go with it. When you enter a poultry house during cold weather and the odor is such as to make you halt when you open the door, it is evident that the air is not sanitary.

The practice of feeding in open hoppers, dishes and the like, allows droppings to get into the mash feed. This spreads disease and causes a great deal of waste. Stagnant water left in the house for 24 hours, to three or four days at a time, is not a sanitary condition.

Birds which are affected with lice and mites become weakened and subject to disease. The following system used at the Colorado experiment station while birds are housed during the winter has proved very satisfactory, and we have very little trouble with disease.

Dropping boards are cleaned three times a week or more and sprayed often with a spray consisting of 50 per cent crankcase oil and 50 per cent kerosene or turpentine with one-half pint cresote disinfectant added to five gallons of the mixture. This spray is used from once a week to once a month, depending upon the amount needed. The dropping boards are oiled from this spray. This helps in cleaning them during cold weather.

A good disinfectant mixed with water is used for nests and other parts of the house several times a year. For lice the perches are painted with nicotine sulphate four or five times a year, or more often if necessary. Whenever colds appear a good disinfectant is used in the water, and any birds appearing weak or showing a tendency to cough are removed. All birds which become sick are killed. It is surprising how much the killing of a few diseased birds will save.

The Eyes of the Nation Are Turned Toward Texas

Three hundred Texans, battling against a thousand Mexican regulars, fought their way, inch by inch, for four days (Dec. 5 to Dec. 9, 1835), into San Antonio. The gallant Ben Milam was killed, but the victory was complete.

Let's Hold "Open House" and Invite the World in 1936

Texans have a right to be proud of the heritage of heroic tradition which is theirs. And they justly take pride also in the record of progress which Texas has made since its independence was established on the battlefield.

The events of the Texas Revolution stirred the hearts of all Americans a hundred years ago. Today the whole nation is turning its eyes toward Texas because of the remarkable growth it has been achieving.

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Texas independence provides a fitting occasion to invite the world to visit us and see what we have done with our freedom and to behold the immense resources which still remain to be developed.

The Centennial Exposition will leave many permanent and worth-while monuments. The roads which will be laid to conduct our visitors over the State will endure for years to come. The buildings and grounds themselves will doubtless remain as public parks and community centers. And the visions of Texas' splendid future will bring us a rich heritage of men and women moving here to become adopted Texans in a State of so heroic a past and so glorious a future.
