West Texas Utilities Plans Major Project

Abilene, Texas (February 1, 1993) - West Texas Utilities Company announced today that it is participating in a renewable energy project which will include locations in its service territory. The company and the other three electric utility companies of Central and South West Corporation (CSW) are planning the most comprehensive study of renewable energy technologies ever undertaken in the Southwest.

The $10 million, five-year program calls for installing a large photovoltaic system connected to the electrical network, individual photovoltaic panels on customer rooftops, two solar-dish Stirling engines and several wind-powered turbines. This project will increase the CSW system's research expenditures for 1993 by more than 40 percent.

Glenn Files, president and chief executive officer of the Abilene-based electric utility company, said the renewable energy program is designed to lead to alternative sources of clean power for the CSW system's 1.6 million customers.

The multipurpose program will include testing for the best potential sites for sun and wind exposure in WTU's 53,000 square-mile service territory, and in the 100,000 square-miles served by the other three utilities.

Initial tests indicate the best combination of solar and wind resources is located in the Fort Davis area of West Texas. Some equipment will be located in the region.

Files said that research, technological advances and economies of scale could help make the use of sun and wind for electrical power an affordable alternative for customers early in the 21st century.

Using renewable energy in the Fort Davis area will enhance the reliability of electric service there because the community 100 miles from the nearest power plant. "A solar unit and wind farm could provide backup energy during power line maintenance," Files said. "It also could help us meet a significant portion of the electricity demand of the area while reducing the need for new power lines."

The four technologies that will be tested are:

- * A 200-kilowatt flat plate photovoltaic module. The photovoltaic cells are grouped together and convert sunlight to electrical current. The energy from the photovoltaics will be fed into the electric distribution lines that serve the University of Texas McDonald Observatory and other Fort Davis customers.

- * Roof-top photovoltaic units for six commercial buildings or residences in the area. Each unit will provide at least one kilowatt of supplemental electricity to the building.

- * Advanced wind turbines. A 2,000 kilowatt small wind farm consisting of at least six turbines will be installed.

- * Solar-powered Stirling engines, developed by Cummins Power Generation of Abilene, Texas. The solar-dish Stirling engine uses an array of mirrors to follow the sun and focus its energy on the engine, which powers an alternator to generate electricity. The Stirling engine can convert up to 30 percent of the sunlight into electricity, compared to the 10 percent to 15 percent efficiency of photovoltaic modules. The Stirling engine also can be fueled with natural gas. Two sizes of Stirling engines will be tested—a 7.5 kilowatt unit and a 25 kilowatt unit.

Files pointed out that research studies indicate wind power in Texas could supply approximately 10 percent of the electrical CSW project will help determine how much of this resource can be practically used as well as the environmental effects of renewable technology.

Central and South West's electric utility subsidiaries--West Texas Utilities Company, Central Power and Light Company, Public Service of Oklahoma, and Southwestern Electric Power Company--use a variety of fuel sources. For 1992, the system's fuel use by Btu was 40 percent natural gas, 42 percent coal, 10 percent lignite and eight percent nuclear energy.

CARD OF THANKS

APPRECIATION LETTER To All of Our Friends and Loved Ones, I don't know how to start this, but in my own humble way, I'll try to say the way I feel. This is a Thank You letter for the food, flowers, donations, calls, and for the ones that came by and gave me encouragement to look ahead, even though I know the road will be long. I hope I can always remember that so many friends have lost their mates and God has shown them the way. I just can't believe how good the people are in KC and O'Brien, Rochester, Benjamin. I have 24 people in my family. There was enough food to feed them five days. That meant so much to me. Words I can't express! The money that was given to me will help me so much. The flowers, I love. Jim was an artist and if he only knew of all the pretty flowers he would be so proud and grateful. Sue Clayton and staff are the best. They are God's helpers and special type of people. Thanks to everyone. I know you get thank you notes from families - but I felt I had to write an appreciation letter and to say I'm proud to be part of this community.

Thanks to all, Janie Wilkinson and Family 2-4 tfc

Letter To The Editor

Dear Stacy,

Thanks for the write ups in last week's paper. I believe if we share the good times in life with each other, life can be much happier. I'm glad we have a local paper that publishes the accomplishments of the school and community. Hopefully we can more clearly see the wonderful things God does for us each day and spread hope in place of despair.

May it be noted that Todd, Kathy, and Trey Felts of Stephenville also attended the Lions Club Welcome with the Knox City Lions.

Saturday evening Carol, Zo, and T.J. attended the Baptist Association R.A. Pine Wood Derby with the Todd Felts. They entered a race car which incidently stayed in the race for a long time. Unfortunately it came in a little short of placing.

Sunday morning we all experienced a wonderful time in the Lord as we worshipped with the Valley Grove Baptist Church. Todd led the singing as they were observing Baptist Men's day also. Todd and Kathy brought the special music for the service.

Sunday evening Nana and Papa took the three grandsons, Trey, T.J. and Austin to see Batman and the Batmobile at World of Wheels.

Thanks,

Zo

P.S.

May I say thanks to each and everyone who has had a part in making the T.V ministry possible for the First Baptist Church of Knox City. Due to those facilities we were able to pick up the video of Sunday's Baptist Men's Day to see. Therefore we didn't miss out on the wonderful day that was experienced in the F.B.C. of Knox City even though we were gone.

COTTON FINAL DEFICIENCY PAYMENT RATE

The final deficiency payment for 1992 cotton has been announced at 20.3¢ per pound. If you took an advance payment, you have already received 7.5¢ per pound. This means that your final payment will be 12.8 cents.

COTTON WORLD PRICE

The adjusted world price (AWP) for upland cotton is 45 cents per pound with a coarse count adjustment of 3 / 10 cents per pound applicable to certain grades. This makes the loan deficiency payment (LDP) 7.35 cents per pound (7.65 cents per pound if coarse count applies).

This price will remain in effect until 3:00 p.m. Thursday, February 4. Any cotton received in the office after 3:00 p.m. Thursday will be paid at the price in effect for the next week.

DISASTER - DEADLINE

The deadline for filing for 1990, 91, or 92 disaster is February 12. If you filed for disaster under Phase I last spring, you can now file for one more year out of the three listed above if there is sufficient loss of crop production. If you did not file under Phase I, you can now file for only one year out of the three. Each farm stands alone.

All required signatures must be in the office by February 12. There will be no extensions. If you think you will qualify for disaster and do not have your crop harvested, you still must sign up and have all signatures in by February 12.

If you are interested in disaster, call for an appointment since sign-up takes a considerable amount of time.

Today we are inundated with information for doing good. Most any night we can attend seminars for some kind of improvement to our life style or environment. What are you doing to improve our community? Have you planted a wind break? Actually 20 years ago was the best time to do that but today is always a good time to start.

It's interesting that people realized windbreaks were useful to mankind as long ago as the 18th century. Today, various types of windbreaks are used throughout the world to control drifting snow, sand, and soil; to reduce wind damage to field, garden, and orchard crops; to protect livestock and residences from cold winds; to provide screening from road dust and noise; and to serve as a haven for wildlife.

Each year your local Soil and Water Conservation District offers you a golden opportunity to start a windbreak for the kind of protection you may need.

Time is running out to reserve your trees. Many species are still available although many are already sold out. Call today and put your order in. The last day orders will be accepted is February 10 and trees will come in on February 17.

"Who has seen the wind?
Neither you nor I.
But when the trees bow down
their heads,
The wind is passing by."

Social Security
Recipients Must Report Earnings

By Patty Brandt
Resident Representative, Vernon

If you worked and received Social Security benefits in 1992, you have until April 15 to report your earnings to Social Security if you earned over the annual limits. The 1992 earnings limits were $7,440 for beneficiaries under age 65 and $10,200 for beneficiaries age 65-69. The earnings limits do not apply to persons who are age 70 and over the entire year.

The purpose of the annual earnings report is to enable us to compare your actual earnings with the estimate you provided when you applied for benefits or when you filed last year's earnings report. The benefits you were paid in 1992 were based on that estimate. If you earned less than you estimated for 1992, you may have to repay some benefits.

The report should also include an estimate of the earnings you expect to make in 1993. Note that the earnings limits for 1993 are $7,680 for beneficiaries under age 65 and $10,560 for beneficiaries age 65-69. Again, your benefit check will be adjusted to reflect any excess earnings anticipated.

If our records show that you expected to have earnings over the 1992 limits, we will send you an Annual Report of Earnings form in the mail automatically. If you do not receive the report form by the end of February, you should call our toll-free number to have one sent to you.

Failure to report your earnings by April 15 may result in substantial penalties. You can be penalized up to one full month's benefits and be required to repay any overpayment. You should be aware that filing a Federal income tax return does not take the place of filing an annual report to Social Security. Your report may be made by phone if you chose.

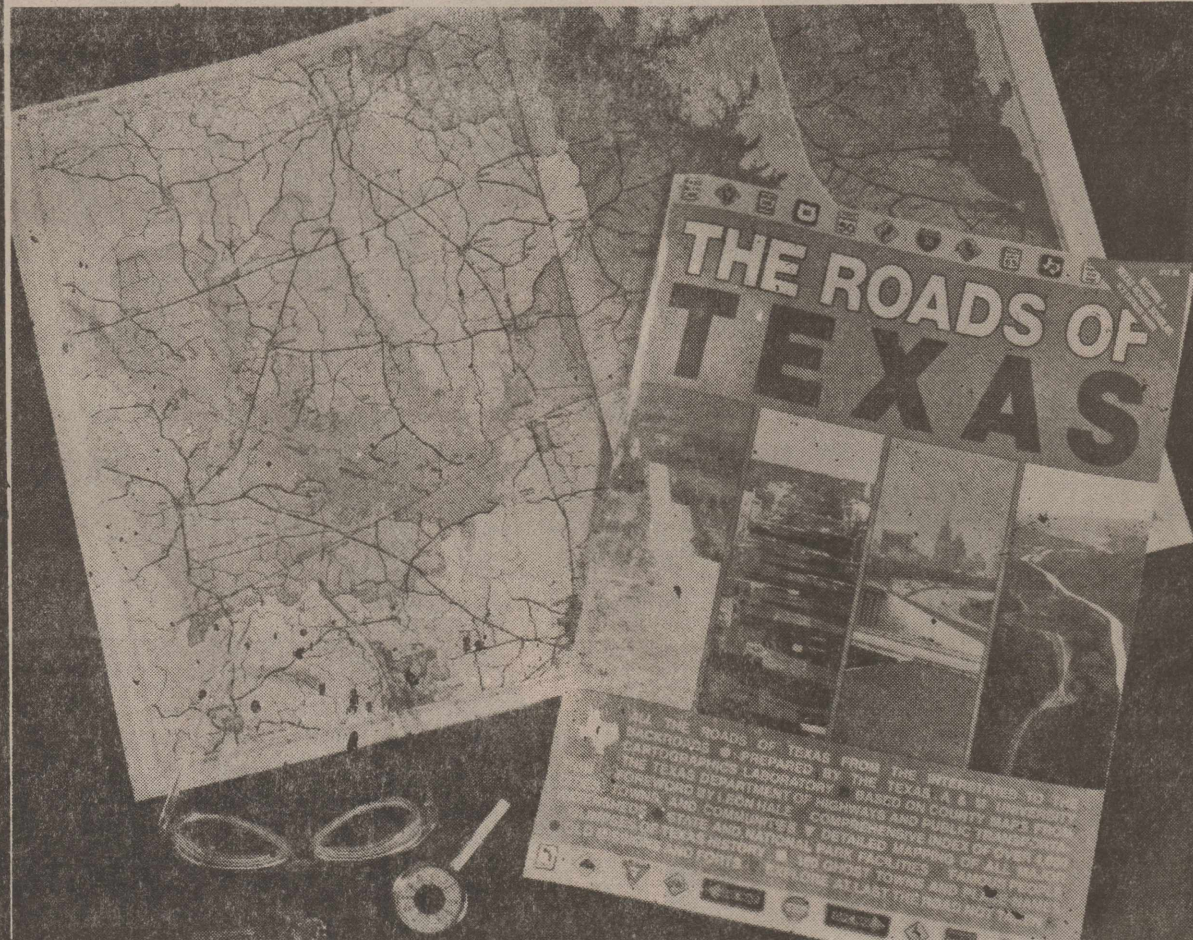

To file an earnings report or to get more information, call Social Security's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-772-1213, any business day between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Stacy,

I would like to take this means to say thank you to some of our fellow citizens of the community. As you know I had a heart attack on a recent Saturday afternoon while I was home alone. I dialed 911 and within three to four minutes the EMS was at my home and transported me to the local hospital. In less than ten minutes from the initial call, I was in the local Emergency Room receiving treatment. Without the dedication and caring efforts put forth by these volunteers I wouldn't have been so lucky.

Now as most of you know, there is a petition circulating to close the local hospital. As a county taxpayer, I feel that the taxes we pay do sometimes seem alot, but I can honestly say I probably would not have made the trip to Haskell or to Seymour if our hospital had been closed.

The quick response of Dr. Casipit and the nursing staff along with the lab techs, their expertise and use of the live saving drug of TPA enabled me to be stabilized before transferring to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, and by the Grace of God, I am alive today.

Sincerely,
Charlie Clarke

Doug Ray To Present Program On Chocolate, Winning Ways

Doug Ray, pastry chef for the Harvey Hotel / DFW Airport, and native of Knox City will be presenting a program on Thursday, February 4, from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at the Perry Patton Community Center in Munday. Doug is the son of Susie and Jerry Ray of Knox City and is a graduate of Knox City High School.

Doug recently returned home from the International Culinary Olympics held in Frankfurt, Germany, with two individual gold medals, an individual silver medal and a team silver medal.

The two hour program will focus on his expertise, chocolate, and his work as a chef.

The program is open to the public and is free of charge. For more information contact the Knox County Extension Office at 454-2651.

'A S-W-E-E-T VICTORY'
By Kathy A. Edgar
Special to the News

Two-and-a-half years of intense Olympic preparation recently paid off for Doug Ray. Last month he returned to his job at the Harvey Hotel / DFW Airport with two individual golds, an individual silver and a team silver, but he didn't need a swimming pool or running track to do his training, just a small bake shop.

Ray is the hotel's pastry chef and the competition for which he spent long hours getting ready was the International Culinary Olympics held in Frankfurt, Germany. He was one of 12 Texas chefs selected for the team.

"We had one guy from San Antonio, but he didn't make it," says Ray over a cup of tea in one of the Harvey's dining areas. "You get knocked off the team if you don't perform, so it kind of keeps you on your toes. You're really stressed out, so I'm glad it's over." Ray created two chocolate sculptures which were several feet high, one of a cowboy and the other of the cowboy's wife. He also did a needlepoint sugar piece atop a 2-foot square chocolate "board." All were made ahead and packed for travel to Germany along with several thousand pounds of food and equipment for the team's displays.

"We set up a southwestern theme since that's what our region is," he explains. "Also, the judges over in Germany were really enthralled with the cowboy. Europeans dig that -- it's interesting to them."

Preparation for the culinary competition began for the Texas team in early 1990. Ray spent many sleepless nights worrying about what he was going to show and how it would go over with the judges.

"Another reason I'm glad it's over is we've done the same thing over and over again," he says, shaking his head. "We've displayed at least a half dozen times the same things we were going to display over there, then we'd fly judges in and get their critique, changing a little bit every show. After you do it for so long you just want to do something new."

Once in Germany, the team worked out of the SAS kitchens (a company similar to Sky Chefs here which prepares meals for the airlines) and spent many long nights creating their entries. Displays had to meet certain nutritional requirements and also be set up by precisely 7 a.m. on the day entered.

"If you're not set up by 7 o'clock, the judges walk right by you, and you see it happen. It's devastating," Ray says. "People work on this stuff for three, four years, then get over there and they're two minutes late and it's 'no show.' I was walking in the back hall one day and there was a cart with platters and everything and that's what happened. The guy didn't make it in time. I just thought how awful that would be."

That nightmare almost became a reality for Ray on one of his show days. Two other chefs were accompanying him to the market center in order to help him set up. They boarded the elevator at 4:15 a.m., already 15 minutes behind schedule and loaded down with supplies and centerpieces. As the elevator started down to street level, it suddenly came to a stop between floors.

"I've never been stuck on an elevator before," Ray remembers with a chuckle. "I was just sitting there and I didn't know whether to laugh or cry. Finally, after about 15 minutes, it just started going down. I don't know why. We got (to the market center) and had everything set up by about fifteen 'til seven, so it was a little bit of a rush."

Competition at the event is against oneself rather than other entries, since judging is done on a point system. It's possible for more than one chef to win a medal, just as it's possible for no one to win a medal. Still, the tough criteria means few gold medals are given out, which makes Ray's two golds that much more meaningful.

Ray was studying journalism in San Marcos when the cooking bug bit him almost a decade ago. He moved to San Antonio and worked 18 months in one of the city's better restaurants before heading for the Culinary Institute of America in New York. By the time he graduated two years later, he had decided on pastries as his specialty.

"Pastries are the fun part," he says. "Everyone gets excited over the appetizers, but with salad, rarely do you see anyone get really excited, and boning a chicken makes me absolutely sick. I've done it and I'm not bad at it, but I hate it."

He's been with the Harvey Hotel the last five years, where he has found a friend in executive chef Rodger Martin. Martin has been a major influence on Ray as well as supporting the pastry chef in both his work and the Olympic competition.

Ray and his staff of 16 produce close to 100 cakes, pies and cheesecakes daily for about 2,300 rooms at five Harvey Hotels in the area. Sculpting in chocolate is one of his favorite activities, partly because of the personal gratification.

"I really enjoy sculpting and then getting it out there," he says. "I love to see the expressions on people's faces if it's really a knockout piece. I love that, but then I get a little embarrassed if they start talking to me and bragging about it."

His sculptures begin with a sub-structure, and in competition that can only comprise 10 percent of the finished piece. The cowboy in his award-winning sculpture, "Morning Coffee Before the Storm," leans against a wooden post through which runs a wooden dowel that is embedded in the sculpture's base. A thin wire also runs through the cowboy itself.

"Then I do it by pieces, actually doing the body, then the clothes, and I actually dress him" he explains. "I tell (one staff member) that you've basically got a nude body there because if the muscle tone's not there and all the features, the bone structure, if those aren't all there, when you go to dress him it's going to be obvious that it's not right. It's got to be a real body."

Chocolate for sculpting is mixed by Ray, with extra wax added for better support. He also thins chocolate with cocoa butter and sprays it on with a paint gun to give the piece a rustic matte finish. The artwork, which will keep five or six years, is edible but meant to be admired, not eaten. That doesn't stop some people, though.

"I do set out centerpieces and then see where people have broken off pieces to eat," Ray relates. "I did a tennis shoe for Xerox to go along with their theme and I went by later and about half of it was gone."

A little over a year ago, Ray and his wife Carol, who works for Bank United, purchased an older home in Van Alstyne, close to the Red River. It's about an hour and 15 minute commute each way, but Ray says small-town living makes it worthwhile.

And, Ray adds, he tries never to take his work home with him.

"I never cook at home," he laughs. "The only time I do is when we have a crawfish boil every year for about 100 people, or if we have a nice dinner for a few friends. My wife's cajun and I love cajun food, so she always cooks, and we eat out a lot."

Relieved to have the pressure off now that the International Culinary Olympics are over for another four years, Ray says right now he can't see himself ever accepting a position on the team again.

"I told myself before hand if I got a gold I wouldn't do it again," he admits. "If I hadn't gotten a gold I would, but I got two, so I doubt if I'll do it again."

Boy Scout News

President Clinton said in his inaugural address speech, "There is nothing wrong with America that cannot be cured by what is right with America." Boy Scout programs are one of those things that are right with America.

Programs like these cannot happen overnight. Neither do they happen through the efforts of a single individual. A community and its people make things happen.

Last week the Boy Scouts had their annual bean dinner and it was a great success. It could not have been so had not businesses made their contributions, our local newspaper doing a good job of our ads, and the people of the community purchasing tickets. Thanks today for a better tomorrow!

Even though President Clinton says he represents a new generation of leadership, he did well with the older generation last November. Clinton got 50% of the 60-and-over vote vs. 38% for George Bush.

Many workers are apparently worried about the future of Social Security. In a recent poll, 78% of employees said they would rather have their retirement funds invested in pension programs than in Social Security.

O'Brien Happenings

By Audie Johnston

Adam Holmes, son of Rhonda and Devey Holmes, celebrated his first birthday last week. Grandma Ileta and Grandpa Grady gave Adam his party. Adam's big brother Jeremy also celebrated. It was his 15th birthday.

Loretta Hewitt spent the weekend with her mother, Edna Davis in Snyder.

Delmer and Glynda McKinney were in Fort Worth over the weekend to attend the funeral for Glynda's sister who died in a care home on Saturday.

Dwight Gothard and Janoma Stephens were in Lubbock to visit O.B. Ratliff and wife. O.B. recently underwent some serious illness and seems to be recovering slowly.

Delbert Hayes has spent several days in the Veterans' Hospital at Big Spring with several different problems but seems to be coming along fine.

Several of us from here were in Springtown Saturday to attend the funeral for Derwin Lancaster, a former O'Brien resident who passed away at his home last Thursday night. Derwin was in and out of the hospital for about three years. Those attending from here were J.O., Charlene and Don Brothers, Orval, Helen and Marvin Manning, James and Pearce Manning, and Craig Brothers and wife and children of Abilene, and Janoma Stephens and myself.

Several members of the O'Brien Baptist Church attended the Evangelistic Conference at Stamford Monday night. Some of those attending were Orval and Helen Manning, Vivian Hendrix, Bernice Rowan, Juanita and Lynward Wilcox, Mutt and Bertie Ivie, Wayne and Corrine McKinney, Veeta Reed, Bessie Duncan, and I.

Grady and Beatrice Ellis left Monday to go to Lubbock for a physical checkup. His appointment is on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

About two weeks before our fifth anniversary, my husband asked me what I would like for a gift. I told him I wanted something impractical and romantic. On our anniversary night, he presented me with a lovely gold bracelet. "A little four letter word made me get this for you," he said softly. "Oh, how sweet," I whispered. "L-O-V-E?" - "No," he replied "S-A-L-E."

Holmes-Dean Vows Repeated

Shan Holmes and David Bradley Dean were united in marriage Saturday, January 30, in Dallas.

Shan is the daughter of the late Gayle Holmes and granddaughter of Ileta and Grady Holmes.

Shan is a dental hygienist in Dallas and Brad is a perdonist.

The couple will reside in Dallas. Attending the wedding were Ileta and Grady Holmes and Jennifer and Bigun Holmes.

Granddaughter Of Local Couple Is Nominated

The search is on to find Texas' most all-around girl. The event to do so will be the 1993 Miss Teenage Texas Scholarship Pageant. Amber J'na Burton has been nominated to participate in that competition. A school counselor or teacher makes the nomination. Young women of all nationalities, ages 13 - 19, compete each year.

Amber, 13, is the daughter of Brenda Burton (formerly Harris) and Donald Burton of Vernon. Her maternal grandparents are Leo and Lee Altus (Sug) Harris of Knox City. Her paternal grandparents are Eugenia Burton of Abilene and the late Willie Burton.

Amber is an eighth grade student at Vernon Intermediate. She is an honor student, first section flute player in band, and is an office aide. This position is achieved through selection of top upper-classmen students who meet certain academic and personality qualities. She is also active in the church youth group at New Life Ministries.

The pageant will be March 5 - 7 at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport Marriott Hotel. The preliminary show will be Saturday, March 6. The state finals will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

The winner will advance to the National finals and receive a $5000 college scholarship.

Child Welfare Minutes

January 26, 1993
(Note: The following minutes have not been approved.)

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Rob Harrison. Those present included Judy Perdue, Judy Lowe, Debbie Sosolik, Jessie Roberts, Dixie Elliott, Lynward Wilcox, and Linda Haynes.

The minutes of the December meeting were read, and approved as read.

Reports were given on the success of the Christmas Gift Distribution throughout the County. Several hundred families were served and the consensus of the board was that the program was a success. Plans for the 1993 program were discussed.

Lynward Wilcox presented a year end financial statement for the funds held at Citizens State Bank in Knox City; year end balance was $1,718.34. A copy of his report is attached to these original minutes.

Judy Lowe presented a year end report for the funds held at the First National Bank in Munday; year end balance was $2,796.76.

The Board discussed the printing of memorials in the county newspapers, and all members felt that this was a positive idea, placing the name of the Child Welfare Board in front of the public, and acknowledging contributors. It was decided that amounts would not be printed, only names, and only with the donors' permission.

While going through some old photos the other day, we found this little poem written by the uncle of Brownie Tackitt, many years ago. Uncle Bud, as we called him, was the brother of Jody Tackitt and lived at Girard, Texas.

Since this is so old, I thought you might like to use it some time just for a laugh. It was probably written some 70-80 years ago:

"A-MAN-FROM-RACONSACK"

give special recognition to Dorethy Harrison for the outstanding job that she has done in assisting the Child Welfare Board, during the various projects and meetings. Her many efforts are greatly appreciated by the Board.

Chairman Harrison presented the posters that have been printed for distribution to the school age children in Knox County. The board discussed the possibility of having Linda Haynes present a program to the different schools, and the board members would distribute the posters at that time. Tentative dates in April (during Child Abuse Prevention Awareness Month) were set, pending approval from the various Knox County schools.

The annual Fish Fry was set for April 28, 1993, at Copper Breaks State Park.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Financial Management, Budgeting Workshop Set

For those finding it difficult or impossible to make ends meet each month or those who have discovered in January that the Christmas Spirit has hit wallets too hard in December, an excellent workshop is being planned for Monday, February 8, from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at the Perry Patton Community Center in Munday.

Dr. Jerry Mason, Extension Family Economics Specialist from Lubbock, will be presenting information on budgeting principles and practices in terms that one can understand and relate to.

The workshop is free of charge and open to the public. Detailed information can be obtained by calling the Knox County Extension Office at 454-2651.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

SENIOR CLASS NEWS

By Amy Deering
Sorry Bills' fans, maybe next time, but until then, how 'bout them Cowboys! That was some Super Bowl. Now that is the way to start the week out. The rest of the week will hopefully be just as exciting for most of us.
This past Tuesday morning, around 8:00 a.m., the KC FFA members headed out for the Fort Worth Livestock Show. Their week should consist of: arriving at Fort Worth Tuesday night and unloading the pigs, weighing the pigs Wednesday night and washing all of them, and showing the animals on Thursday and Friday. If they are lucky enough, some members may get to show Saturday for the "big" money - Grand or Reserve Champion. Good luck to all the Knox City exhibitors and have lots of fun!

The rest of the week will be pretty normal. There will be basketball games Friday night at Crowell starting at 4:00 p.m. All four teams will be playing. We wish all the players lots of luck!!!

SOPHOMORE CLASS NEWS

By Lila Jo Rector
Hi! Yes, it is once again time for some news on the Sophomores. There are a variety of things happening and keeping us busy.
Last Friday night the JV and Varsity Hounds and Houndettes played the Munday Moguls. Both JV and Varsity Houndettes had great success as they defeated the Lady Moguls. Our JV Hounds also won, while our varsity guys had an unlucky night. We are proud of all of you!
February 2 is open date for our JV and Varsity Hounds and Houndettes. They will play Friday night, February 5, against Crowell at Crowell. Both JV and Varsity Hounds and Houndettes are scheduled to play. The games are to begin at 4:00 p.m.

Many FFA and 4-Her's have traveled to Fort Worth this week to compete in the Stock Show. They have all been working hard and looking forward to this week. We hope you all do well and we wish you all lots of luck.
There was a UIL practice meet in Stamford last Saturday, which several students participated in. Everyone is also staying busy in other UIL events as well. Many are beginning to think and start on their science project.

Good luck to the Hounds and Houndettes. Also Good Luck to the FFA and 4-Her's who are participating in the Fort Worth Stock Show. Until next time!
