A noticeably heavy docket greetd the first appearance of District et the first appearance of District Judge Dennis P. Ratliff on the local bench Monday morning. Ratliff, former Representative, was appointed to the judgeship to succeed Hon. Clyde Grissom, appointed in July to a place in the Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland. The new district judge has resided in Haskell for the past 14 years, and has been engaged in the law practice with his father, L. D. Ratliff, and a junior brother, Wm. P. Ratliff. Wm. P. Ratliff.

Opening of the court term Monday was marked by the impanelling of the Grand Jury for the term, composed of Earl Atchison, foreman: C. G. Burson, J. M. Howard, M. E. Carothers, S. J. Reeves, I. A. Leonard, W. D. Gilliland, S. G. Cobb, W. A. Montomery, L. C. Phil-Cunningham and W. A.

the investigation body, Judge Ratliff predicted a busy term, calling their attention to the fact that thirty-eight complaints had already been calendared awaiting their investigation, the category of offenses ranging from assault with attempt to murder, to windling by worthless check.

Special emphasis was given in his charge to the grand jurors by Judge Ratliff, regarding violations of the state of affairs regarding State liquor laws as a "muddled" one, the jurist quoted a recent opinion of the Attorney General which in efect said that "dry" laws were still in force in those counties where ocal option prevailed prior to the National Prohibition Act, and Judge Retliff implicitly charged jurors to teturn indictments where their investigation showed that dry laws had been violated, pointing out that shment rested with petit jurors.

Radford Company Wins Verdict In

A verdict for the defendant was returned late Monday in the case of R. V. McDavid vs. the J. M. Radford Grocery company, which opened for trial Monday in 42nd district court at Abilene. The case had been tried three times previously, resulting in two hung juries and a reversal of judgment.

McDavid sued for an amount which he claimed was due him for handling the sale of the I. Wolf bankrupt stock of merchandise at Eastland and Haskell in 1932. The jury found the company did not make a contract with McDavid and that he had been paid in full for population is still dependent upon the state for relief, it is estimated. By some, this continuation of the memployed problem is cited as indicating the failure of the great new-deal program at its critical point. By the ultimate test of employment, it is charged, Mr. Rooserelt has failed.

But observers who have seen the United States fight its way back from previous slumps and panies have a different interpretation. There is always a lag on the re-covery upbound between business gains and re-employment they say What is happening, they say, is the normal development of the recovery cycle. Machine tool orders in the same period increased 47 per cent. The automobile industry, in the first seven months, sold 600,000 more cars this year than last.

August steel output was 110 per cent above the 1934 period.

The meeting was opened prompt-ly at 3 p. m. Mrs. O. E. Patterson, at the organ, gave a most enjoyable medley of old Methodist hymns.

The director offered a prayer. Mrs. B. Cox gave the devotional, her subject being "Where Love Strives, There Strives God With Us." This was given in Mrs. Cox's own pleasing way and all felt a Spiritual Benediction.

Song, "More Love to Thee," was next sung. The lesson for the afternoon being on Korea, Mrs. Breedlove told of many interesting incidents of life in that far-off country. Mrs. R. C. Montgomery presented "An Adventure in Christian Living." As told by the speaker, this was the exper-ience of a Misisonary teacher who was stationed at Ewha College, Seoul, Korea. In her close association with these Korean girls, this teacher found them to be very much

IS "TRADING-AT-HOME" BUNK?

The idea that "trading at home" is the despairing cry of a provincial settlement, about to lose its growth, is absurd, although there are some citizens in Haskell who classify it in this wise. You, who have lived in comparatively small towns all your lives, probably believe that "town-boosting" is the exclusive art of the small places, and yet, it is assiduously practiced by all the largest cities in the United States.

In regards to Haskell it ought to be apparent to every inhabitant that stores here cannot compete with the variety of choice that is offered in great metropolitan centers. However, they can and do compete with them in offering high quality merchandise at comparable prices, and when our merchants do this they deserve the support of all loyal inhabitants.

If a local buyer will take into consideration the service that backs up a sale made by a local business house, the immediate delivery effected, the convenient terms allowed and the courteous consideration extended, it will be plain that "buying at home" has its advantages. Moreover, merchants in Haskell can widely extend their stocks when people here create a legitimate demand, and they would be foolish to do so before.

PROTECT THE CHILDREN

Every driver of an automobile has a tender regard for the rights of the pedestrian when he happens to be the pedestrian. On such occasions they are in a position to understand that approximately 65 per cent of all persons injured or killed in automobile accidents are pedestrians. They are then willing, after a narrow escape from some driver, to believe that a pedestrian is entitled to safety, and that whether he is in the right or wrong the driver should protect him.

We hope that every automobile driver in Haskell will make up his or her mind to drive carefully, having regard to the presence of children in the streets, the location of schools and playgrounds, and the natural tendency of children to ignore danger of which they are not fully aware. Let's give a thought to the children particularly. They furnish one-third of the fatalities that result from automobile accidents. They are entitled to safety. If drivers do not give it to them, then it is time for the state to step in and, by laws strictly enforced, see that the children of Texas have as near absolute protection as

Government records show that fifty-five cents of every dollar spent by city consumers for ten selected articles of food went to transportation agencies, wholesalers, retailers, and others, who handled the products. Only forty-five cents of the dollar were received by the farmer who produced. While this is still low, it is considerably higher than it was in June, 1932, when the farmer only received a little more than thirty-one cents out of each dollar. The ten foods considered are beef, pork, hens, butter, cheese, potatoes, flour, bread, eggs and milk. While prices for some of these have gone up others have gone down.

The United States Department of Agriculture is constantly making research studies in marketing processes with the idea of lowering the cost of distribution. Efforts are being made to organize wholesale markets more efficiently and to promote direct buying by large organizations, and the development of auction markets at country centers.

FASTER, STILL FASTER

After sitting by meekly for years and watching other forms of transportation take their passengers away from them, the railroads at last seem to be devoting their best brains and money to the job of fighting back. The latest move comes from the New York Central and Pennsylvania roads, which announce that their crack New York-Chicago trains will make the run in 16 1-2 hours, beginning September 29. Until comparatively recently, that trip was a 20-hour run. With the airplanes making the trip in something like a fifth of that time, the crack trains did not look quite so speedy. On the new basis, they will be much better able to compete with planes; and the reduction is simply one more indication of the new energy and ingenuity which the railroads are at last injecting into the competition.

PUBLIC HOLDS THE BAG

The recent fight over the utilities holding company bill gave ordinary Americans a glimpse of the marvels that can be wrought through the judicious investment of a few dollars in the right kind of holding company. Now the announced auctioning by the House of Morgan of the Van Sweringens' railroad securities is a reminder that the holding company is not a phenomenon peculiar to the utility field. The securities which Morgan is putting on the block carry with them control of nine great railroads whose shares have an aggregate book volue of some $3,000,000,000. This control lies chiefly in some 2,112,042 shares of Allegheny Corp., which today have a value of slightly better than $3,150,000. The inner beauty of the holding company thus becomes clear. For a little more than $3,000,000, one can buy control of railroads worth $3,000,000,000!

VIEWS and CURRENT COMMENT.

THE 1936 ISSUE-FDR

(Abilene Daily Reporter)

As the Constitution reached its 148th birthday, it made the discovery that once more the country is constitution-conscious. Ever so often the document becomes a burning issue. Republican spokesmen are promising that in 1936 the constitutional issue will take precedence over everything else.

In this they may be mistaken. In the first place, the Democrats have not proposed a single amendment. In the second place, you can't make a live issue out of a negative one. If nobody is attacking the constitution, how can the opposition muster up enough strength to paramount the issue?

Of course it is claimed that some of the acts of the New Deal are unconstitutional. There is some basis for this claim, as the supreme court has demonstrated.

But the question of constitutionality is the particular business of the supreme court. Campaign orators may rant to their heart's content, but it isn't likely to effect the court's ruling one way or the other.

The big issue of 1936 is likely to be the same as in 1932-economic. The GOP candidate will have a hard time convincing some of the millions who have been the beneficiaries of the New Deal that the Roosevelt administration should be thrown out of office.

After all, the paramount issue in 1936 will be FDR and what to do with him. At this time it looks like opposition has tackled a hopeless problem. The president's popularity is still strong enough to swing the election.

THE STATE OF TEXAS. To the Sheriff or any Constable of Haskell County-Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, that John played an exceedingly prominent part in the experiences of the twelve apostles and as a leader of the early church, living longer than any of the other twelve.

John and James, who were the subject of our lesson last week, were John Mark, the author of the second gospel, relative of Barnabas, and companion with the latter and Paul on the first missionary tour.

John Mark, the author of the secbrothers. They were, apparently, partners in the fishing business with Simon and Andrew. Circumstances of their home life (Mark 1:20, 15:40, known, to be and appear before the 41, John 18:16) indicate that John and James came from a family of some means, which lived in all probability at Bethsaida.

John and James, together with Peter, formed the "inner group" of the disciples of our Lord and as such witnessed the raising from the dead of the daughter of Jairus and the transfiguration on the mount and acompanied Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemane.

While John does not figure quite as prominently in the external acts of the disciples as does Peter, he seems to have been closer to Jesus thereof to be holden in the County of Haskell at the County of H of the disciples as does Peter, he seems to have been closer to Jesus than any other human being, for Jesus told him who his betrayer would be and at his death entrusted his mother to his keeping. Three times we find John in situations calling for criticism. Jesus rebuked his attitude towards one who was casting out demons and at another time when he and his brother wondered if they should not destroy a Samaritan village. Then his mother made the selfish request of Jesus that her two boys be allowed to sit on his right hand and left hand in his kingdom.

After the crucifixion and ascension we find John with Peter in Jerusalem worshipping at the tem.

Haskell High School

High School has always been to most of us just as it is now, but it seems that our predecessors did not attend a school as nicely equipped as it now is.

Once high school was taught in the North Ward school building. In 1921 the present attractive building was erected, due to the efforts of C. Minatra, superintendent, and O. E. Patterson and R. V. Robertson, President and Secretary re-spectively of the School Board at that time. Other members of the Board at that time were F. T. Sanders, Dr. O. M. Guest. Hardy Grissom, John A. Couch, Roy Weaver. J. Dyer was engaged as contractor, and Geo. F. Campbell as architect. But with the completion of the building the beautification program was not yet finished. Mr. R. C. Couch did much to further add to the attractiveness by urging the planting of trees, flowers, and grass on our campus. Sidewalks were laid, also.

The story of how these sidewalks were laid is a whole story within itself. By donating a small amount to the building fund, people were given the honor of having their names placed on the sidewalks, thus providing the school today with sidewalks without expense to the school board or town.

School Trophies Now in New Case

For several years we have been the proud possessors of a very nice trophy case which, with glass sides and plush-lined back, made an attractive setting for our numerous silver loving cups—the tokens of our past victories and achievements. Much to our regret, however, this case could not be kept in the hall where it could be seen at all times, on account of the crowded condition of our halls and the constant danger of breaking the glass. So in order that our trophies might be more fittingly and proudly displayed, a new case has been made in the wall, replacing some lockers just beneath the clock. Finishing work has recently been done, and now the cups are in place, where all may view them as they enter the building by the main entrance. Newly polished and gleaming in their lovely new case, these trophies speak to us of the loyalty of former students, and thrill us with aspiration. We'll be putting more tro-phies there in our turn, won't we, according to the grade and staple State Allotment Board. of the cotton they have for sale, instead of expecting the government to bring the price up to 12 cents for them regardless of their local selling price, County Agent B. W. Chesser pointed out Wednesday.

Under the present loan and price adjustment plan, cotton producers are in a position to bargain, Mr. Chesser said. They have an opportunity to get the benefit of the will also be maintained on the new premiums which are due them on the better grades and longer staple lengths of cotton. Such producers will lose if they sell this cotton for banks this week. the price paid for middling 7-8 inch cotton in the belief the price adjustment payment will take care of them. Under the present price adjustment plan the growers will receive the difference between the av-erage price at the 10-spot markets on the day they sell their cotton and 12 cents a pound on lint on on their actual production not in excess of their Bankhead allotment.

For example, the average price for middling 7-8 inch cotton in the 10-spot markets on Aug. 30 was 10.53 cents a pound. If a producer sold on that day, the government will pay him a difference of 1.47 cents a pound. He would receive this payment of 147 cents a pound even if he sold premium cotton on Aug. 30 which brought him 12 cents a pound or more. On Aug. 30 white cotton of strict middling grade and one-inch in staple length was bringing 100 points more than white middling 7-8 inch at New Orleans and 105 points more at Houston and Galveston.

Therefore, the producer of better than middling grades and longer than 7-8 inch staple length cotton who sold on Aug. 30 should receive. including adjustment payments, more than 12 cents for his cotton. The present plan is an improvement on the loan programs of the last two years, Mr. Chesser said, because those programs made no provision for the producer of premium cot This program enables him to benefit because of his better pro- templates the use of an entire bale
