FIFTIETH YEAR

25,000 SCHOOL BOND ELECTION IS CALLED BY BOARD

For Aug. 31 and PWA Loan from Government Is Applied For

Modern Structure

A petition signed by a large number of citizens was received by the school board at their meeting this week, and in response thereto an election was called upon the question of issuing school building bonds in the amount of $25,000.00. This amount is to be spent only if the Federal Government grants the request for a gift of $100,000.00, which was placed with the board about three weeks ago. Should the bonds be issued and the grant received from the government it is the purpose of the board to raze the old North building and construct in its place a new one story building consisting of twelve classrooms and a gymnasium-auditorium. The latter feature will be a modern building of ample proportion in its playing and seating capacity. A splendid auditorium with a seating capacity of from six to eight hundred people. The building will be one story and equipped with steam heating and modern school equipment throughout. The board, along with a large number of citizens who have been urging them to take this step, like they are under obligations to give the people a chance to vote on the $25,000 in bonds to be matched by the $100,450.00 grant from the government if it should be made. The buildings in the east and west parts of town will not be disturbed, the school in the South continuing as heretofore. The election is being called at this time in order that the bonds may be ready and ready for sale should the $25,000 grant be made. If the grant is not made, no bonds will be issued. Hence, there will be practically no expense caused by the election.

New Supervisor Of Vocational Rehabilitation

W. E. McGlamery, who served as supervisor of Haskell's schools from 1917 to 1919, but who now resides at Eastland, and is connected with the State Department of Education as supervisor of vocational rehabilitation throughout West Texas, was in Haskell Friday in connection with his work. The rehabilitation work, which is to help crippled people over the age of 16 years, is jointly undertaken by the state and federal governments, according to McGlamery.

Employments of Poultry and Eggs Show A Decline

AUSTIN, Texas.—Interstate shipments of poultry and eggs in Texas for June totaled 70 carloads, a decline of 28 cars of poultry and 2 cars of eggs against 87 cars for the corresponding month last year, which 81 cars were poultry and 6 cars were eggs, according to the Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Employment In State Decreases During Past Year

AUSTIN, Texas.—Reports from 1,881 Texas establishments covering the week ended July 13 showed that a total of 75,760 employees were employed, a decrease of two-tenths of one per cent from the like week of the previous month and five-tenths of one per cent from the corresponding period last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Funeral Rites For W. D. Smith Will Be Held In Tuxedo

Funeral services for W. D. Smith, 75, who died this morning at the home of a son, D. O. Smith west of Haskell, will be held tomorrow at Tuxedo, former home of the deceased. Funeral arrangements will be in charge of the Kinney Funeral Home, Haskell.

'Junior' Chamber of Commerce Schedules Meeting Tonight In Basement of Tonkawa Hotel

VALLEY LEAGUE ROSTER REDUCED

The roster of the Wichita Valley League was changed from a six-club organization this week to only four teams when the Munday Moguls and Seymour Stars fell by the wayside and dropped out of the running. Neither team had more than a mathematical chance of opposing the Haskell Braves in the playoff. The membership of the Valley League is now composed of teams from Stamford, Hamlin, Goree and Haskell.

Basement Tonkawa Coffee Shop Is Scene of Regular Get-Together Affair

Club Has 40 Members

With approximately 40 men and young men as active members, the Haskell Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the basement of the Tonkawa Coffee Shop. New members are being added daily. The members of the new business and civic organization in Haskell contemplate holding two regular meetings monthly, and although the get-together tonight will be a meal affair, it will be the last unless a majority of the members so elect. Purposes of the body, so the members state, are varied and many. Anything furthering the cause of Haskell county and Haskell will be backed and, where possible, the organization will assist in making Haskell's annual fall fair a success. Projects which the members will favor will be of a local character, and suggested by the members. No state, or national affiliation is contemplated, as the local organization departs in many ways from clubs of a similar name over the nation. Haskell's problems will be considered, members also say, and no project will be considered too trifling to be put over.

MOSQUITOES BREED IN MANY PLACES

Premises Should be Cleaned of All Receptacles Where Water Stagnates

The question of mosquitoes has been brought to the attention of the doctors of Haskell and the City Council, according to Roy A. Sanders, city sanitary commissioner. Experts on the habits and causes of mosquitoes state that it is very seldom and only in case of strong winds that mosquitoes travel over two hundred yards from the place of their birth, so if you are bothered by mosquitoes, the source of your trouble is probably caused by breeding places on or around your premises. It is likely that you can rid yourself of mosquitoes by taking some of the following precautions, so doctors say:

Empty all barrels which you have set out for the purpose of catching rain water. These vessels are ideal hatching places for mosquitoes. Pour kerosene oil or crank case oil upon stagnant ponds or ditches near you. Cut all of the tall weeds near your house. See that you have no leaking hydrants around in your yard. Do not allow water to stand in your flower beds or gardens for any length of time. Keep fresh water in your cow and chicken lots. Do not throw tin cans or buckets on your trash pile without first knocking the bottoms out of them as these vessels will catch rain and the result will be more mosquitoes. If you have a large pond or ditch near your premises or belonging to your neighbor, contact the man that owns it and try to get him to pour kerosene upon it. If the pond or ditch is on city streets or lots, please report it to the City Secretary and proper precautions will be taken to eliminate mosquitoes from it.

Funeral Rites For W. D. Smith Will Be Held In Tuxedo

Funeral services for W. D. Smith, 75, who died this morning at the home of a son, D. O. Smith west of Haskell, will be held tomorrow at Tuxedo, former home of the deceased. Funeral arrangements will be in charge of the Kinney Funeral Home, Haskell.

Baptist Leader

THE REV. S. F. MARTIN, Wichita Falls

BAPTIST REVIVAL BEGINS SUNDAY

The annual revival meeting for the First Baptist church here will begin Sunday morning, with the Rev. S. F. Martin, pastor of the Lamar Baptist church of Wichita Falls, in charge of the services. The Rev. H. R. Whately, local pastor, will be present during the series of meetings and will assist. George Wilson, nationally known Indian baritone soloist, will be in charge of the revival music.

"Brother Martin is one of the outstanding pastors and evangelists of all Texas," said the Rev. Whately today, "and we feel fortunate that we have been able to secure him. His messages will be plain, yet forceful. He will preach great spiritual truths with power. His audience will love Brother Martin, and Christ will be magnified in every service."

"People look forward to these meetings every year because of the preparation the church always makes for the occasion," the Rev. Whately also said, "but we've probably eclipsed past preparations this year. We've spared no effort to make it the most worthwhile revival the church has ever had."

Mr. Wilson is a full-blood Indian and is recognized as one of the greatest singers in the United States, according to Rev. Whately. People are thrilled by his great messages in song. Before his conversion, he was a concert artist, appearing in nearly all the large cities of the United States. He has had the best of training, having been a student in the Fine Arts department of the University of Kansas and also of Horner Institute. Since his conversion, Mr. Wilson has devoted his time to evangelistic work throughout the Southern Baptist Convention. For several years he was employed by the Home Mission board as an evangelist among the Indians.

Former Pastor To Preach in Morning Here Next Sunday

The Rev. J. P. Patterson, of Seymour, will preach the morning service here Sunday at the First Methodist Church, according to an announcement today, by local church leaders. No evening service is being held at present.

Haskell Merchants Trek to Markets For Benefit of the Buying Public

Trips to clothing markets for the purpose of purchasing new fall merchandise are now being made by various Haskell merchants, and new styled goods are beginning to arrive. Stress is being laid on quality merchandise, so it is claimed, but care is being taken that the prices shall be "right" in order that buyers in Haskell may receive merchandise as good, or better, than other towns, and at the same time be able to save money.

INCOME OF COTTON CROP THIRD LARGER THROUGH PAYMENTS

Benefit Payments Help Tide Over Farmers During Year of Cotton Failure

Less Than in 1933

While the cotton income of Haskell county farmers was much less in 1934 than in 1933, and even less than in the disastrous year of 1932, it was more than a third larger than it would have been had there been no adjustment program, it is announced by B. W. Chesser, county agent. The statement is based on official three-year county cotton figures just received from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Haskell county farmers last year received a total of $1,511,576.10 for their cotton of which only $1,142,707.67 came from market value. Benefit payments, which are designed to help bridge the gap between market price and parity price in normal years, served as crop insurance to Haskell county farmers in 1934. They received in this way a total of $368,868.43 through April 30th last.

These cotton income figures do not include the value of unsold Bankhead certificates of which about nine million dollars worth are held by Texas farmers. Haskell county cotton was valued on the farm at $3,501,855.35 in 1932. It increased sharply in 1933, the crop-up year, to $4,194,039.55, including benefit payments. These values are based upon yields and prices as furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture. The benefit payments include all those to April 30, 1935.

Commenting on Haskell county cotton income for the last three years as revealed in these official figures, Mr. Chesser points out that crop insurance benefit payments for 1934 enabled farmers to receive a total of $368,868.43 more than would have been possible without a program. It is difficult to see how farmers could have maintained their farms and homes and remained customers of merchants last year without the program, he concludes.

DEATH CLAIMS J. J. PACE AT HOME HERE

Funeral services for J. J. Pace, prominent farmer-landowner who died suddenly Friday afternoon at his home here, were held Saturday afternoon from the First Methodist church. Rev. O. W. Carter, local pastor, officiated and interment was made in Willow cemetery.

Born in Bell county June 18, 1871, J. J. Pace was married to Miss Eva Van Ness in 1901. They came to Haskell county in 1911. Deceased had been a member of the Methodist church for more than 25 years. Survivors are his wife, two sons, Lynn Pace of Haskell and Theodore Pace of Gladewater, a daughter, Mrs. J. S. Cullum of Stamford, two brothers, Joe and Will Pace of Haskell, three sisters, Mrs. C. L. Killingsworth of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Ed Waggoner and Mrs. D. M. Cogdell of Los Angeles, Calif.

Active pallbearers were: Courtney Hunt, Hill Oates, R. C. Couch, M. B. Watson, Mart Clifton, John A. Couch, F. L. Daugherty, John P. Payne. Honorary pallbearers: L. F. Taylor, G. W. Mullino, M. S. Shook, T. C. Cahill, T. E. Ballard, F. G. Alexander, C. A. Merchant, W. H. Herren, Jr., C. G. Burson, Jesse B. Smith, F. L. Peavy, C. W. Goodwin, W. H. Overton, J. D. Montgomery, George Fields, Dennis P. Ratliff and John S. Rike.

Ladies assisting with the flowers were Misses Mildred Shook, Mary Couch, Sue Couch, Mrs. Jim Darden, Mrs. C. C. Maples, Mrs. Guy Mays. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Jones Cox & Company.

Haskell Golfers Win Top Honors

Honors in two of the flights were captured by Haskell golfers in the Tri-county tournament held at Munday, which closed Sunday. Raul English won the second flight by forfeit from Loveless, of Seymour, and John A. Couch triumphed 1 up on W. H. Atkinson, Munday, over 18 holes in the third flight. Byron Shupe, Seymour, was winner of the first flight after a hard struggle with Budd Wheeler. Shupe finished 1 up after a grueling 37-hole battle.

NEW RELIEF SET-UP NOW BEING OUTLINED

PIONEERS ARE NOW REGISTERING

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carter of Sagerton, First to Affix Names on Honor Roll

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carter of Sagerton, Texas, were the first old settlers of Haskell county to register with the Fair Secretary for the Golden Jubilee Fair to be held in October commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of Haskell county. Mr. Carter came to Texas in 1881 when sixteen years of age, riding horseback the entire way from his old home near Bowling Green, Ky., to near Paris, Texas, where he first settled. The trip took a little over a month to make. Later, in 1887, Mr. Carter moved to Haskell county and shortly afterwards purchased the farm upon which he now resides, paying $3.00 per acre for it. Mrs. Carter, a Carothers before her marriage, came to Texas when a girl, from Tennessee. She first settled with her people in Collin county, and later moved to Coryell county, coming to Haskell county in 1888.

The second-old settlers to register were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jeter. Mr. Jeter moved to Texas from Rapide Parish, Louisiana, settling first in Coryell county and later moving to Haskell county in 1886. Mrs. Jeter, Delia Ashley bore her marriage, was born in Tyler, Texas, and moved to Haskell in 1897.

All old settlers in this section are urged to register for their passes, by the fair association, and it is planned to present all of them with a bronze medallion which will serve as their pass to all the fair attractions and will be a souvenir of the Golden Jubilee in addition.

Hatfield Funeral Rites Held Friday

Last rites for J. N. Hatfield, 67-year old farmer who died suddenly Thursday night, August 1, were held at the graveside in Willow cemetery Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. J. C. Nelson, Haskell Assembly of God minister, conducted the services.

Death of Mr. Hatfield was attributed to a heart attack. Complaining of feeling ill, he had retired early Thursday evening. Members of his family who went to his room later in the night found him dead, apparently the victim of heart failure while asleep. Born in Palo Pinto county May 20, 1878, he was married to Miss V. Dickinson Oct. 6, 1906, in Parker county. The family moved to Haskell county in 1926, and resided on a farm several miles southeast of Haskell. Immediate survivors are his wife and three sons, Bunch, Ted and O. B. Hatfield. Pallbearers were N. G. Larned, Ross Odum, J. A. Newby, John Scheets and Horace Hilliard. Ladies who assisted with the flowers were Mrs. N. G. Larned, Mrs. P. G. Kendrick, Mrs. J. A. Newby, Mrs. Sterling Edwards. Funeral arrangements were in charge of the Kinney Funeral Home.

Childress Man Named Director This District; Status of Local Office in Doubt

Will Know Friday

In what manner the Haskell county relief organization is to be changed under the new program will be determined here Friday or Saturday when A. W. Long, Childress, new director of district 12-a, visits Haskell and contacts local officials, according to T. L. Donohoo, Haskell administrator. The new district set-up for the handling of relief is composed of Childress, Cottle, King, Hardean, Foard, Knox, Stonewall and Haskell counties, with the headquarters located at Childress. Donohoo was in Childress Monday for the purpose of securing information relative to the local situation, but Long had just returned from Austin, and was unable to give the matter proper consideration at that time.

Under the new setup, relief will be handled from the 38 district offices of the state, instead of the 250 county offices, with only case and commodity departments left in the counties. All employables will be gradually shifted from relief rolls to the WPA, leaving only unemployables on relief. The entire shift is to be accomplished by Dec. 31.

In the district office, four officials, administrator, commodity supervisor, case supervisor and auditor are appointed by the state office. For this district, Long has been named administrator, O. A. Presley of Paducah, former Cottle county administrator, has been appointed district commodity supervisor; T. W. Covey of Rio Grande City, former case supervisor in Starr county, has been named district case supervisor; and Fred E. Wallace of Floresville, former certifying officer of Wilson, has been named district auditor. Each will have a complete staff, named locally. Only one appointment has been made so far, that of Louis E. Cearley of Childress as district certifying officer.

Transfer Students May Be Subject To A Tuition Fee

In order that no misunderstanding might arise among parents of students who are transferred from various districts of the county into high schools, Matt Graham, county superintendent, has issued the following statement explaining state requirements in this connection:

"Under the general requirements set out in the rules and regulations adopted by the State Board of Education in regard to distribution of equalization funds for 1935-36 we find this section: 'No high school tuition aid shall be paid over to a receiving high school if children whose grades are taught in their home districts are allowed to go free. This ruling applies to all high schools in the state and means that every child who transfers must pay tuition after his apportionment money is used up. The apportionment for the coming year will be $17.50. This applies to children whose grade is taught in their home district. In the case of high school pupils who cannot attend school in their home district, the state will pay their tuition if the home district is not able to pay it but the receiving district will look to the parent of the child for the remainder of his tuition if his grade is taught at home. The tuition per month that a district will charge will be set by the state department after they have filed a budget for that purpose. No school will know just how much tuition they will have to charge until this has been acted on by the department. Since this information did not reach me in time to be explained before transfers were made, I will not approve any transfer that this might affect if you will see or write me by August 12th. If you do not let me know by this date, I will approve your transfer as you have made it.' Matt Graham, Co. Supt.

Precautions Against Smallpox Should be Taken Before School

Although care is being taken by health authorities that no spread of smallpox may occur in Haskell county, parents are being urged to have their children vaccinated against the disease before school opens, according to Dr. L. F. Taylor. No chances should be taken with the health of any child, Dr. Taylor says, and any indications of smallpox should be reported at once to health authorities located within the county.

The WOMAN'S Page

Magazine Club Scene of Two Morning Bridge Parties.

Two of the most delightful social affairs of the midsummer season were the morning bridge parties given Thursday and Friday of last week with Mrs. William G. Forgy and Mrs. Roy A. Sanders hostesses.

The entertaining room in the Magazine Club was decorated with a profusion of zinnias, crepe myrtle and other summer flowers. The color motif of pink and green was used effectively in the bridge accessories, prize wrappings and again in the refreshment plate which held a delectable salad and an iced beverage. Pink sweet peas were used for plate favors.

In the games Thursday Mrs. W. H. Chapman of Munday was given high score prize and Mrs. Courtney Hunt the floating prize. Friday morning Mrs. Ralph E. Duncan received high score prize and Mrs. Ben Bagwell the floating prize.

Thursday's guests were Mesdames Wallace Cox, Courtney Hunt, B. B. Bartram, F. T. Sanders, J. U. Fields, Joe A. Jones, T. C. Cahill, H. Dobins, C. L. Lewis, John P. Payne, C. V. Payne, Carl Powers, Dennis Ratliff, W. P. Trice, Hugh Smith, Marvin Post, Bailey Post, J. V. Hudson, Lynn Pace, John Couch, R. C. Couch, A. H. Wair, A. A. Hood, Earl Holt of Abilene and Mesdames H. A. Pendleton, W. R. Moore, T. H. Haney and Mrs. W. H. Capman of Munday.

Contract Bridge Club.

Mrs. Barton Welsh entertained members of the Contract Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon at her country home. At the end of the games Mrs. Raymond Leggett was given the prize for highest score. Mrs. Welsh served a delicious refreshment plate to Mesdames Raymond Leggett, Ralph Duncan, Bert Welsh, W. G. Forgy, Roy Sanders, J. L. Odell, Jr., Foster Davis, B. C. Chapman, Clay Smith, Virgil Reynolds, French Robertson and Miss Mary Couch.

Mr. Henry More, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. W. E. Pittman and other relatives here has returned to his home in Baylor county. He intends to leave for San Francisco, Calif., this week.

Helen Bagby Circle.

Mrs. R. J. Reynolds was hostess to the Helen Bagby Circle Monday afternoon in a Mission Study of Japan. Meeting opened by singing "Send the Light," and Mrs. J. B. Bailey gave the first prayer.

Our beloved teacher, Mrs. Gilstrap being absent on account of illness, Mrs. Taylor directed the lesson and gave the Bible Study from 1st Cor. 15:1-8 verse, following with prayer. Our topic for this month was "Lifting the Banner in the Land of the Rising Sun" and interesting parts were given by Mesdames Reynolds, Gates, and Glenn. On the islands of Japan, so beautiful and so teeming with life, six hundred million people whom have been in touch with the world for only about eighty-two years. Before that for over three hundred years she had been a closed nation. So now let us see that these people whom we both love and fear march under the banner of the Cross so that the leadership of Japan may be in the right direction. Of course we know what Japan needs is Christ and let's hasten to remove her wooden idols and replace with the preparation of the Gospel of peace. Millions there know nothing of Christ and must be reached if Japan is won to Christianity. They need more missionaries and let's hasten to send them and place the banner of the cross high above the fires of nationalism, imperialism and heathenism of Japan, then fight to keep it there, moving supreme over every phase of Japanese life.

Family Reunion

Sunday, August fourth, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Oates of near Rochester, Texas, had as their guests all their children, grandchildren and the former's mother, Mrs. N. A. Temple of Brady, Texas. This proved to be a very rare as well as enjoyable occasion, since the entire family of eleven children had never all been together before.

Pictures were taken throughout the day. A bountiful lunch was served at the noon hour. Many friends called to wish the family a pleasant day together. In the mid-afternoon the host and hostess had ice cream served to all.

Those present were: Their children, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Oates, Melvin, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Shockley, Spur, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spraberry, Spur, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Oates, Pampa, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Oates, Groom, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Oates, Pampa, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Conner, Rochester, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Oates and Mr. and Mrs. George Oates, both of Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tanner, of Houston, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Oates of Haskell. Grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, Wanda and Lydia Oates, G. B. Hazel, May and Albert, Jr. Spraberry, Tommie Roy Oates, Joan Marie Oates, Leo Oates, Charles Wayburn Oates, Jack Slater, James Clyde Oates and Ray Teal.

Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bud Clark and children, Ina Joe, Ina Bud, McRea, and Mahota Bell, Franklin Baer of Pampa, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sego, Mary Ruth Clark, Raymond Smith of Spur; and Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Clerk.

Ruth Bible Class.

The Ruth Bible Class was entertained with a kid party on the lawn of Kate Perdue last Thursday, Aug. 1st.

It was very amusing to see the ladies dressed as children.

A diversion of games was directed by Lula Smith and Kate Perdue. Cecile Roberts was prize-winner for being the cutest little girl.

Ouida Johnson won in the paper relay; Cordelia Duncan won in the whistling contest. Wilma Brown won first place in the goat contest, and Stella Josslet won in giving the best nursery rhyme.

Kodak pictures were taken of the entire group. Refreshments were served by the two losing sides.

Those present were: Ruth Taylor, Cecile Roberts, Lula Smith, Collie Robison, Anna Neill, Laura Lou Trammell, Faye Woodson, Maude Lee Jones, Opal Haynes, Thelma Howard, Nora Ammons, Agnes Oilphant, Ruby John Hallmark, Ouida Johnson, Bessie Peek, Stella Josslet, Wilma Brown, Flossie Rogers, Minnie Stuart, Frankie Gay, Ruth McAfee, Edna Patterson, Eva Curry, Kate Perdue, Ivy Gilstrap, Ruby Fay Powers, visitors, Nova Gilbreath, Wichita Falls, Texas; Cordelia Duncan, Amarillo, and Lora Ford, Cisco.

RECIPES AND MENUS

By Department of Home Economics
Texas State College for Women
CASA

DENTON, Tex.—In the summer months beverages play a large part in the daily diet, so why not make them as nutritious as possible. Often in hot weather one totally loses his appetite and lives, it might be said, for a few days in nothing but beverages. Every one knows the great value of milk in the diet with its great store of vitamins and minerals, especially calcium. There are many delicious and appetizing beverages that can be made from milk.

A plain milk shake may be made by beating an egg thoroughly and adding to it iced milk and vanilla. For variety, caramel or coffee may be used to substitute the vanilla. To make it foamy a milk shaker should be used. This makes a simple but appetizing drink.

Beverages
Milk Punch: 1 1/2 cup cream, 3/4 cup milk, 1 egg, 1/2 cup fruit juice or pulp, and 1 cup sugar. Place all of the ingredients in a shaker except the fruit juice and mix thoroughly until foamy. Freeze the mixture until thoroughly cold and then add the fruit juice or pulp. Pour over cracked ice and sprinkle over top cinnamon or nutmeg.

Some people enjoy drinking ordinary cold buttermilk. Many delicious beverages may be prepared from it by adding different flavorings to it. Buttermilk is valuable for its lactic acid bacteria which creates a flora in the intestines and prevents undesirable bacteria from being formed there.

Milk Egg-Nog: 1 egg, 1 tablespoon malted milk, 1 tablespoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon cream. Beat egg yolk with the sugar and add to the milk mixture. Beat egg white and stir into the rest of the ingredients. Pour into shaker and shake with cracked ice until thoroughly chilled. The cream may either be beaten into the egg-nog or placed on the top.

Plain Malted Milk: 1 tablespoon malted milk, 1/2 tablespoon sugar, few drops of vanilla, 3/4 cups milk, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Heat milk nearly to boiling and mix with malted milk which has been stirred in a little cold milk or water, stir into hot water well, add sugar and salt and serve with or without cream.

Chocolate Malted Milk: Mix 1 tablespoon cocoa or chocolate with 1/4 cup water and boil 3 minutes. Then heat 3/4 cup milk in double boiler and mix with 1 tablespoon malted milk which has been dissolved in a little water and stir into hot milk. Add the chocolate paste, 2 tablespoons sugar and a few drops of vanilla. Beat the mixture and serve with or without cream.

Another effective beverage is thin, flavored, boiled custard with pineapple in it. Iced cocoa with whipped cream is often served as a drink and is very delicious.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

If you are a modern housekeeper you'll have on hand the ingredients to make a cooling drink at a minute's notice. Be sure that the chilled drink is appealing to the eye as well as to the palate. Colored ice cubes (made by adding vegetable coloring to the water for your cubes) add a slice of lemon stuck with a clove, or add cherry to each cube, all these are popular in making drinks. Try some of these drinks on your thirsty friends.

Fruited Tea
2 tablespoons black tea.
1/2 large can sliced pineapple.
3 lemons.
3 oranges.
2 cups sugar.
Steep the tea in 2 cups boiling water. Strain, add the sugar, mix well and cool. Add lemon juice and orange juice to the tea. Boil the lemon and orange rinds for fifteen minutes in enough water to cover them. Strain, cool and add to the tea. Add the pineapple juice. Strain all through a double thickness of cheese cloth until clear. Cut the sliced pineapple in small pieces and add to punch. Chill thoroughly. Add cherry ice cubes when ready to serve.

Mint Delight
Mix together 4 cups of cold water, 1/2 teaspoon of green coloring and

1/2 teaspoon of peppermint flavoring. Pour into a freezing tray, put the metal divider in the tray for making ice cubes. Freeze. Combine 2 cups lemon juice, 1 1/2 cups of sugar and 3 cups of cold water. Stir until the sugar dissolves. Pour into a freezing tray. Freeze to a mush-like consistency. Mash with a spoon and mix with 2 cups of water in a pitcher. Partly fill each glass with the icy lemonade mixture, add a green mint ice cube and decorate with a sprig of mint.

Orange Ginger Ale
For each person served, combine 2/3 cups orange juice with 1/3 cup of ginger ale. Pour over ice in a glass and serve immediately.

Grapefruit Punch
1 quart of water.
2 cups sugar.
2 cans of grapefruit.
Juice of 2 lemons.
1 small bottle of minced mint cherries.
Crushed ice.

Boil the water and sugar together for 7 minutes. Cool, add fruit and fruit juices. Chill thoroughly and serve in small glasses half filled with crushed ice. Place a whole cherry on top of each glass.

Fruitedade
1 cup apricot puree.
1 cup water.
2 cups pineapple juice.
3 cups cold green tea.
1/2 cup lemon juice.
1/2 cup grape juice.
2 cups ginger ale.
Prepare apricot puree by cooking dried apricots in water to cover until they are soft. Rub through a sieve. Combine puree with the water and sugar. Boil until sugar is dissolved. Strain and chill. Add fruit juices, ginger ale and a few grains of salt. Mix thoroughly. Chill. Serve in tall glasses.

YOUNG MODERN
TEXAS STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN (CIA)

DENTON, Texas.—While Dame Fashion is making up her mind whether to force her followers into fall clothes or to be lenient and consider the heat, Young Moderns at Texas State College for Women (CIA) triumph over the problem by choosing warm, fall colors in cool materials.

Those women, particularly the blondes, who moan that they cannot wear yellow, should try that new shade which can best be described as a gold beige. It gives high-lights to blonde hair, and yet, still shows off a brunette with the usual success. A combination especially suited to flaxen heads is that of pale yellow and navy blue, which has been more than popular this summer and should last through the early fall.

While we're on the subject of navy blue, which has reached the stage of being always with us, we might mention that it is a better tie-over from one season to another than any other color. Trim it with white, yellow, checks, stripes, light blue, or prints; or make it changeable and trim it with all of them alternately, but be sure to have this indispensable dress in your wardrobe.

For those who chafe at the robustness of navy blue, we recommend the warmer, though still steady, color of brown. For the past five years brown and white have been tops with the sport world and have even invaded the evening wardrobe. One can be safe then, in restocking on a complete brown and white outfit to carry through the remainder of the summer and a little into fall. A careful choice of materials, including those cottons that look exactly like silks and wools, will decide the smartness of your attire.

Take mildness for one thing—how does it measure up for mildness? Chesterfields are milder—not flat or insipid, of course, but with a pleasing flavor.

Then take taste for another thing—does it have plenty of taste? Chesterfields taste better—not strong but just right.

Harnessing Electricity to Make Radium

Experimental Laboratory at Round Hill, Mass., Tests Hugo Comarover

SINCE the discovery eighteen months ago by French physicists Jean-Frédéric Joliot and his wife Irène Curie-Joliot, daughter of the late Marie Curie, of how to make some ordinary elements radioactive, physicists and chemists have attempted to produce sufficient quantities of these elements to try their value in treating malignant diseases such as cancer.

The difficulty, reports The Literary Digest, is that only a few atoms of the element become radioactive under the bombardment of atomic bullets. Two things are needed: higher voltages to increase the number and power of the bombarding particles, and a quick method of separating or concentrating the radioactive atoms after they have received the activating treatment.

Electrostatic generator discharge at the experimental station, Round Hill, Mass.

World's Largest Vacuum Tube

At Round Hill, Mass., a huge high-voltage generator, built by Dr. Robert Van de Graaff, of M. I. T., and his associates, Drs. Lester and Chester Van Atta, will undergo signed metal shields to act like lenses in focusing the highly-charged particles passing through the tube.

Starting from one end, particles, swept along by the enormous voltage, will strike at tremendous velocities a target of the substance to be bombarded at the other end. Electrical pressure up to 7,000,000 volts will be at the command of the physicists.

Hog Found In Tree Four Days After Flood

From the San Saba News: Many stories are being told of flood freaks but one of the most wonderful is being told by J. D. Carter and others who witnessed the scene. Mr. Carter lost some 45 head of hogs in the high waters of Simpson creek. One of the hogs was found high in a pecan tree, about one mile below where the hogs were penned, eating a bundle of oats which had lodged in the tree with him. The hog was found and rescued by Mr. Carter after it had been marooned in the tree some four days and ten feet of water still remained under the tree.

Haskell County History

As Revealed by the Files of the Free Press 20, 30 and 40 years ago.

20 YEARS AGO TODAY

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the Haskell Independent school district it was decided that school would start Monday Sept. 11th. All grades will be taught including the eleventh, at the North Ward. South Ward will include the sixth grade and the East Ward will have first, second, third, and probably fourth.

Wednesday night about 10:30 the fire alarm was sounded and a big blaze discovered in the vicinity of Sherrill Bros. Elevator. The fire proved to be a large stack of weeds on the adjoining lot and no damage was done.

Marriage license issued from the County Clerk's office since last report are: J. T. Bell and Miss Vernie Plumlee, J. W. Williams and Miss Ruth E. Veasey, N. C. Welch and Miss Emma Letz.

I. D. Killingsworth returned on Wednesday morning from a week's sojourn down at Corpus Christi. He put in his time fishing and visiting his son, Chas. Killingsworth, who is a resident of the "Naples of the Gulf."

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

Quite a crowd from Haskell attended the Confederate reunion at Stamford this week.

S. L. Johnson, after trying the pleasures of one winter on the Plains has returned to Haskell county and purchased the farm of Dr. A. G. Neathery.

There was quite a gathering of the Couch families in Haskell two or three days this week. The visitors were the guests of our townsmen, Messrs. G. R. and J. A. Couch, Jr. There were thirty-five relatives present.

Messrs. J. P. P'Poole, W. A. Baker, C. A. Mayes, Jesse Smith, and Dr. Lee of Munday passed down the road Thursday going to Stamford to meet Major Beasley and other committee members from the other towns to close the contract for the new railroad.

40 YEARS AGO TODAY

Messrs. A. C. Poster, G. R. Couch, W. B. Anthony, J. W. Middleton and J. N. Jasper attended court at Anson the past week.

Dr. Lindsey reports the arrival on last Saturday of Master T. J. Lemmon, Jr. He has taken up his residence with Mr. Tom Lemmons, in consequence of which Tom wears a smile.

The delivery horse of W. W. Fields & Son became frightened the other day and turned around the square at a lively canter. No damage was done except to the public water trough on the square. Last Tuesday Mr. G. F. Garrison and Miss Dora May were united in marriage at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bell.

Court Voids Counterpart of the Frazier-Lemke Farm Act, Passed By 43rd Legislature; Grissom Ruling

EASTLAND, Texas—The eleventh court of civil appeals has ruled in a case which was unnoticed until the significance was learned this week—that of rendering the Texas counterpart of the federal "Frazier-Lemke" act void.

The case was that of Cattle Raisers Loan Company, et al of Tarrant county vs. John Dean, et al. The opinion was written by Judge Clyde Grissom, associate justice.

The case came to the Eastland appellate court from the Palo Pinto county district court.

The law, declared invalid, was passed by the 43rd legislature, third called session, entitled "An Act for the Reorganization of Distressed Debtors." The court held the law impaired the obligation of contracts in contravention of the constitution of Texas, and of the United States.

The opinion is the first interpretation of the statute by an appellate court. In construing the act, the court stated that "this statute turns the contract and security for debts over to the court for it to make a new contract for the parties and to parcel out the assets of the debtor when and as it may seem advisable. Under this statute, the rights of the creditor under the contract, and under the law at the time of the execution of the contract, in the event of default by the debtor, to have the personal property described in the chattel mortgage and the real estate described in the deed of trust sold and applied on the debt, and the further right, if the property did not sell for enough to satisfy the debt, to obtain a personal judgment against the debtor for the deficiency therein, are not delayed, but are permanently taken from him. This cannot lawfully be done."

Attention was called in the opinion to the similarity of the provisions of the state act, and Frazier-Lemke act (federal farm moratorium), which was recently declared unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. The court also relied upon two recent decisions handed down by the supreme court of Texas, in which the "state emergency moratorium act" and the "anti-deficiency judgment act" were held unconstitutional, as legislation attempting to impair the obligation of contracts in violation of the constitution of Texas and the United States.

Mrs. R. G. Klunkert and daughter Martha Frances from Austin, Texas, are here for a short visit with her mother and brother, Mr. Tommie Parks.

S. S. Europa Makes Century Voyage

Lloyd Express Liner on 100th Transatlantic Round-Trip

MAINTAINING from the first a clock-like regularity of schedule, the North German Lloyd express liner EUROPA celebrates the first lap of her 100th transatlantic round-trip with her arrival in New York on August 1st. Completing this festive voyage, she sails again for Europe on August 3rd.

In the five years since her first appearance in New York harbor on March 25, 1930, when she set a new mark for speed over the Atlantic, the EUROPA's running times between here and Cherbourg have been remarkable not so much for sporadic and variable speed as for consistency of performance. At Cherbourg and at Southampton, too, (for westbound crossings) she docks at modern piers with waiting boat trains immediately alongside. Similarly her arrivals at New York and the prompt disembarking of passengers at her mid-Manhattan pier a few hours later, have become notable items of comment.

Built at the shipyards of Blohm & Voss in Hamburg, the EUROPA was launched August 15, 1928, by U. S. Ambassador Jacob Gould Schurman. She sailed from Bremen on her maiden voyage March 19, 1930, and arrived in New York on the 25th, setting, despite contrary winds and heavy seas, a new mark of 4 days, 17 hours and 6 minutes, thus breaking the record of her famous sistership, the BREMEN. Since then the EUROPA has several times bettered her record until today when it stands at 4 days, 16 hours and 43 minutes with a speed in knots of 27.92.

Named for the mythological

Princess EUROPA, (a bronze replica of whom decorates a foyer of the ship) carried from her home in Asia, by Zeus disguised as a bull, to a new domain across the waters and subsequently giving it her name, the liner EUROPA plays a similar role in the linking of two great continents. During these hundred crossings, she has carried 215,000 passengers, or an average of 1,000 passengers a voyage.

Four times the distance from the earth to the moon has been the actual count of sea miles traversed by the EUROPA. "Coming down to earth," let us note that she has traveled 750,000 miles, or the equivalent of 35 times round-the-world. The EUROPA is a veritable floating city with her 49,746 tonnage, her 120,000 horsepower, her 2,000 passenger capacity and her 1,000 personnel.

The EUROPA, like the BREMEN, maintains the fastest service for the dispatch of mail between the United States and Europe. From her decks an airplane is catapulted from 600 to 900 miles offshore on both eastbound and westbound passages, bringing Europe one to two days closer to the United States and vice versa.

Under command of Commodore Nicolaus Johnsen, the EUROPA was the flagship of the Lloyd fleet from March, 1930, until December, 1932. Since the spring of 1933 the EUROPA has been commanded by Captain Oskar Scharf.

The Lloyd flyers EUROPA and BREMEN are the famous Twins of the Atlantic. Both have now completed their Century Voyage.

Sunday School Lesson

HENRY-LESSON RADCLIFFE

THE STORY OF DANIEL

International Sunday School Lesson for August 11, 1935.

Golden Text: "Know ye not that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which ye have from God?"—1 Corinthians 6:19.

(Lesson Text: Daniel 1:8-20.)

Our lesson today is taken from the Book of Daniel. We suggest that our readers run over the entire book. At least, read the first half of the book which tells several interesting stories about Daniel and his fellow exiles in Babylon.

Daniel stands out in the scriptures as one of the few comparatively perfect men, for we have no record of any great fault in this splendid figure. His story and character reminds one of that of Joseph, both having been young men of firm principles and constant loyalty to convictions, regardless of personal danger or fortune. Both Joseph and Daniel attained to great distinction and authority under foreign kings, who recognized their fidelity to duty, that they would be trustworthy in any enterprise.

"Dare to be a Daniel" has become proverbial, and Shakespeare in his "Merchant of Venice," uses the phrase, "a Daniel come to judgment," indicating the surprise which would follow an error or fault—so traditional had become Daniel's reputation for righteousness.

The Book of Daniel, like several others, has been the subject of much difference of opinion. The conservative viewpoint is that it was written by Daniel himself, which is supported by references in Ezekiel, First Maccabees and Josephus. St. Paul in his writings refers to Daniel and in one well-known passage Christ refers to a passage spoken by Daniel. Therefore, until comparatively recently, the book has been generally accepted as of Daniel's authorship.

The opposite, or radical, attitude to the book is that it was written during the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, about 165 B. C. This Greek king ruled in Syria after the downfall of the Alexandrian Empire and oppressed the Jews rigorously, as related in the Apocryphal book of Maccabees. The king captured Jerusalem by attacking it on the Sabbath when the men would not fight him, and in every way possible sought to destroy their religious faith and worship. To reinforce the determination of the Jews against this oppressor, it is said, the Book of Daniel was written—as God saved Daniel, so would he save the Jews from their persecutions.

We are not given very many details about Daniel and his life. He came from a noble family of Judah and was carried away from Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar about 605 B. C., along with other captives. The book tells us nothing about his lineage or other personal history, nor does it give us many facts regarding the captivity. Its purpose is to show how God supervises mankind and directs the course of history and illustrates this by giving instances of God's miraculous interventions and everlasting power.

The complete confidence in God which runs throughout the book is one of its significant themes. Here it is revealed how kingdoms rise and fall in accordance with God's purpose, working out His divine will in regard to human affairs.

Our lesson opens by telling how the king of Babylon selected certain favored Jewish youths for instruction so that they might serve him. During the process of this training, which lasted for three years, occurred the well-known incident when Daniel and his friends avoided eating the king's meat, which was forbidden by their religious ideals, because it had been offered to idols.

Subsequently, at the conclusion of their training, when the king examined these candidates for imperial service, he found Daniel and his friends superior to all in sagacity and intellect—a fact often used to recommend temperance and obedience to conscience.

Daniel soon established himself at the court of the Babylonian monarch as an interpreter of dreams, like Joseph, his famous predecessor. Nebuchadnezzar called upon his wise men to reveal and interpret to him a dream which he had forgotten. In those days, dreams were considered ered divine revelations, hence the importance of discovering the message sent to the king. When the magicians and astrologers confessed their inability to do anything but interpret dreams as stated to them the king, in his wrath, decreed their deaths. After an appeal to God the vision and its interpretation was revealed to Daniel, who, thereupon conveyed to the king the interpretation of the great image, which was made partly of gold, and of silver, brass, iron and clay. Daniel acknowledged that his wisdom came from God and interpreted the dream to declare the power and eternity of the true God.

To Study Faith Healing
BRISTOL, Eng. — A committee of doctors, ministers and laymen of the Methodist church will study the question of spiritual healing. Advocates of the work maintain that a large number of persons suffer from ills which are not physical but the result of disharmony between the soul and God.

SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. SHEVANN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Hilton Hotel, Abilene, Thursday and Friday only, August 8 and 9, from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but will increase the circulation, strengthen the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired.

Address 638 N. Talman Ave., Chicago. For 12 years assistant to F. H. Ashley, famous rupture expert of Chicago.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they find results such as Mrs. Mary W. Hunt, of Abilene, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health was good. I suffered from a rupture, but this would be a broken condition. My pain would be so intense that I could not get on my feet. I took Cardui and in ten days I was free from my trouble. I feel like a new woman now."

WILL BUSINESS REALIZE ITS OPPORTUNITIES?

Virtually everybody has been a little surprised at the signs of some degree of business revival for this fall. Even some of the more optimistic business prophets have seen their predictions undone by a series of unexpected developments. Auto production, instead of falling off, held up well into late July, despite imminence of new models. Steel production hasn't fallen off to the usual seasonal extent. Electric power production stays around the high point achieved in 1929. Private building construction has risen steadily since last February. It is still low, but the improvement is marked and unwavering. There is even evidence that the "strike of capital" may be breaking, as security issues have been mounting, and not all of them for paying off gold issues with money borrowed at today's low rates. A small dribble is beginning to go into new enterprises.

To cap all this, the stock market has been rising steadily for many weeks to the highest point of the year, and in many cases the highest point in several years. Rising stock market prices in themselves won't feed anybody. But they are a barometer of a more hopeful feeling on the part of the scores of thousands of people who invest in the country's enterprises. So many people feeling hopeful all at once has in itself a stimulating effect. Such people spend money. The stock market rise does not seem attributable to fears of inflation, but to a remarkable series of reports from large companies whose profits are rising. Definitely better statements have just been issued by such firms as General Mills, Westinghouse, Chrysler, General Motors, Radio Corporation, U. S. Steel and General Refractories, to name only a few. Speaking broadly, scores of these big businesses are right now either increasing profits or climbing out of the red for the first time in several years.

Business leaders have chorused "let us alone." Many of them are getting this fall the first opportunity to demonstrate the business statesmanship they claimed to have learned during the depression years. They will have opportunity to see that wages and hours in their plants keep pace with advancing cost of living, which is admittedly causing concern. On the ability of business to rise to such statesmanship, depends the question of whether what looms before us is a "false dawn" or the real beginning of day after darkness.

BEHIND THE BATTLE LINES

One of the greatest services rendered by the Department of Justice in the war on crime is the work done by its bureau of identification. The exploits of its sleuths are widely known; less publicized but perhaps even more valuable is the way in which its files can provide any local police organization with swift and sure identification of an arrested person. An example is provided in the arrest in New York of Merton W. Goodrich, who was wanted in Detroit for the murder of a child. Goodrich was arrested in New York for disorderly conduct. The New York police had no way of knowing that he was wanted in Detroit for an atrocious crime. In the ordinary course of events he would have served a week or so in jail and then gone his way. But New York sent his fingerprints to the Department of Justice—and Detroit's long hunt for him was over. Here is a service any police or sheriff's force can use. It is one of the most valuable of all services in the fight against crime.

BIG BOY DISAPPEARS

From a somewhat careless reading of the press we gather that a certain high official of a large holding company could not be located last week in Washington. It seems that the Senate committee wanted to hear how he spent something like three-quarters of a million dollars to convince Congressmen that the people were about to faint over the proposed elimination of "unnecessary" holding companies.

The brother just disappeared. His close business associates "hadn't seen" him and didn't know where he could be found.

Worse than this. The Senate committee, in the absence of the brother, intimated that through some sideline companies he had managed to collect a million or so dollars while the companies, in which "widows and orphans" have invested, were unable to pay dividends but able to buy the service, etc., from his subsidiaries. Maybe, the Senators wanted light on this phase of the intricate equities of holding company ethics!

WHAT WAR DOES TO CREDIT

Just what war does to a nation's credit is apparent when it is noted that in January Italian 7 per cent bonds were selling in New York at 83. The other day, with thousands of Italian soldiers ready to march through Ethiopia, if nothing stops them, the bonds of the Italian government were selling for a fraction above 64. There is no telling what they will be selling for after the warfare has been underway for about six months.

ANOTHER PACIFIC GAME

A few months ago the United States fleet engaged in extensive war games in the Eastern half of the Pacific Ocean.

Now, the Japanese Navy, almost two hundred warships, is engaged in its war game in the Pacific, against an imaginary foe menacing the Empire from the North-east.

Both fleets are practicing for what their leaders think will face them in the next few years.

Armament Is Sland

PARIS.—French police are trying to solve the mysterious disappearance of 310 cases of armaments which were shipped from Havre to Buenos Aires, but not being accepted, were brought back to France. When the shipment returned inspectors were amazed to find the boxes loaded with sand and rocks which scientists declare came from near Paris.

ADVERTISING IS NEWS TO READERS
(Clarendon News)

Paradoxical as is the statement in that headline, it is true nevertheless. Advertising is information and as such it is a kind of news. Business information is business news and people subscribe for newspapers to get that business news as well as to get other kinds of news.

An advertisement which contains no news isn't much of an advertisement. Even if it contains nothing more than the name of the advertiser and the location of his place of business, that will be news to someone. If the advertisement speaks specifically of certain goods and tells the reader where those goods may be obtained, that certainly is news, and if it names an attractive price, then it is interesting news indeed.

There is the classic story of the merchant who didn't believe in advertising until a resourceful advertising man prevailed upon him to try an experiment. The merchant had a large supply of brooms which had cost him $3.00 a dozen. The advertising man told him that it would be good business to advertise a special offer of one broom at nine cents to each of the first 100 customers entering the store.

The merchant was dubious but agreed to try it. When he opened his store the next morning he found several hundred women waiting to get a nine-cent broom. He not only sold the 100 brooms at that price in record time but the women had been made "broom minded" enough so that most of his stock was sold at the regular price. Besides that they bought many other articles before they left the store—all because of the "news" of the nine-cent brooms in that merchant's ad.

P. S.—After that the merchant was a believer in advertising—advertising which is "news."

OPPOSES TEXT BOOK AMENDMENT

Amendment No. 7, on the ballot to be voted upon August 24, reads for or against, "The amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas permitting and furnishing free text books to every child of scholastic age attending any school within this state." This amendment seems from this reading to provide for free text books for children attending private schools. In principle, I think this is wrong. Free text books are available for every child who attends our public free school system in the State of Texas. One who has not sufficient citizenship to mix with the common herd in attending the public schools should not call upon the citizenship to furnish him with free text books. Not only does this amendment provide for this, but there are in the body of the amendment itself some obscure lines which provide that the school funds of the state should be distributed in some manner other than that now used. This will leave the matter entirely in the hands of the Legislature, and will make it possible, should a majority of that body so desire, to distribute more of the free school money to some sections of the state than to others. Thus, we see there are really two amendments in one. That which is hidden, to my mind, is more pernicious than the one which is shown. It is my honest opinion that voters who are interested in the welfare of our schools should vote against Amendment No. 7.

REPEAL A FAILURE

Two years ago the opponents of prohibition promised us that if we would vote for repeal that there would be less drinking, bootlegging would be eliminated, the tax burden would be lightened by revenues from the liquor traffic, the unemployment situation would be relieved, the open saloon would not be permitted to return, and dry States would be protected. Statistics show that these promises have not been fulfilled.

Arrests for drunkenness in the United States has increased 26 per cent since repeal. Institutions for the care of alcoholic patients reported an increase of 40 per cent during the first year of repeal. The Northwestern Life Insurance Company reports a gain of 77 per cent in the number of those reporting the use of intoxicants during the last two years. People killed in the United States as result of drinking drivers has increased 33 1-3 per cent during the first two years of repeal. These facts prove conclusively that instead of there being less drinking as promised by the repealists, there has actually been an increase in drinking.

The problem of bootlegging has not been eliminated as promised by the advocates of repeal. Mr. Joseph H. Choate, Jr., head of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration, estimates that we are consuming a quantity of bootleg whiskey which cannot be much less, and may be more, than we drank during prohibition.

The tax burden of the people of the United States today, instead of being less, is actually greater than it has ever been before. The repealists promised us that the revenues from spirituous liquors would produce at least two billion dollars per year. Statistics show that the Federal Government has received only one hundred and fifty million dollars a year from this source. Statistics further show that the cost of enforcing the liquor law is greater than the cost of enforcing the prohibition law. Congress recently asked for an additional $3,678,738 for the support of the Coast Guard to prevent rum ships from transporting spirituous liquors into the United States. The unemployment situation in the United States has not been relieved by repeal, for Government statistics show that there are more people unemployed in the United States today than ever before. The repealists promised that the saloon would not be permitted to return. Statistics show that there are nearly one half million retail liquor places in the United States and that one-half of these are nothing but open saloons. The protection promised dry States by the repealists has not only been unfulfilled, but has been flagrantly violated as shown by the fact that the Federal Government has issued 1742 licenses to sell hard liquor in the State of Texas, contrary to the laws of this State. Therefore, the only logical conclusion to be drawn from the above facts is that repeal has failed. In the light of these facts, I earnestly appeal to the voters of the Twenty-Fourth Senatorial District to go to the polls on August 24th and vote to keep our State dry.

A Combination that brings home the bacon!

If you've something that is worth having, and are willing to part with it on reasonable terms, there's one sure way in this community to do it—through advertising in the Free Press.

Advertising cannot do the job alone—you must have something worth advertising and be ready to trade on live-and-let-live terms. Then, if you use liberal space in The Free Press, with a well worded, well illustrated advertisement, such a combination will bring home the bacon.

In order to better serve its advertisers, The Free Press provides Meyer Both illustrations—the highest type and most versatile line of advertising illustrations available to any newspaper, large or small. These are exclusive to the Free Press in this field.

Trained advertising people help you lay out and word your message, to make it attractive and appealing. Thus dressed up it goes into 1825 homes to tell its story to 9,125 people. No wonder it gets results.

The same policy prevails in the Free Press' commercial printing. Well assorted stocks of papers and inks are always available. Modern machinery insures the job will be done well and economically. Care is taken to insure effective typography and accurate handling in every detail. And you get the job on time, done to your approval, and at a minimum cost.

The whole service of The Free Press is planned for effectiveness. It is constantly under study for improvement. It has that adequateness and satisfaction about it that only long experience and ample capacity can give.

Patronize your home paper, both advertising and commercial printing, and you will find the results most agreeable.

No, it isn't extravagant to use this much white space in a newspaper advertisement. After all, the desired end in advertising is reader attention. The liberal use of white space is one very effective method of attracting the eye to the message you wish to put across. Free Press advertising is not only attractive but interesting.

$1,000,000 Hall of State Is A Feature

DALLAS, Texas.—Central unit of the Texas Centennial Exposition, the Texas State Building, will cost $1,200,000. Designed by a committee of Texas architects, the building will be a massive structure of Texas limestone with a frontal width of 488 feet, a depth of 238 feet and 80 feet high at its center, where the Niche of Heroes will be located. The two front wings will be occupied by regional rooms, devoted to the four geographical divisions of the state—East, West, North, and South—while at the extreme ends will be the Halls of 1836 and 1936.

Forming a third wing, extending to the rear from the Niche of Heroes, will be the Great Hall of Texas. This hall will be a large room with six semi-circular bays in which will be displayed flags of the six governments that have ruled Texas.

The walls of the Niche of Heroes, behind its columns, will bear in relief heroic figures of the major heroes of Texas, while under the windows in the side colonnades will be placed smaller figures of other historic Texas characters.

The interior of the Hall of 1836 will be a replica of a Texas mission, while that of the Hall of 1936 will be modern.

sometimes merely as trimmings, and often as a termination of a conventional face veil.

Other Trimmings

Grosgrain ribbon, velvet ribbon, and belting are proving themselves handsome media. They are much used for bands around crowns, but their most interesting application is to form panels or sections which are let into some portion of the hat. An example of this is shown in an off-face, brimmed model. Gradations of color in grosgrain ribbon are played up effectively in this model by Lloyd, against black velvet. Ribbons of these types are employed also to form looped passages of interesting color across crowns and brims.

Metal and composition ornaments are given importance. No longer are they thrust into the finished hat as an afterthought or touch of supererogation, but serve as the basic plot for the drapery, which may twist from, let us say, a star in the back to a comet in the front, or from a butterfly in the back to another in some side fold. In every instance the line followed by the material is determined by the silhouette of the ornament.

Quills, real and simulated, are used both for high, dashing decorations and for supine areas which create rhythmic and brilliant patches.

The Moguls of Munday are no longer in the Wichita Valley league, but they didn't quit before the Haskell Braves could administer a 4-2 beating Sunday afternoon at Munday.

Hambright, with the exception of the ninth inning, set the Moguls down in rapid order, and displayed more "stuff" than he has shown at any time this season.

Cox, Adkins, Norman and Cook of Haskell, and J. Myers of Munday, were credited with two bingles each. Adkins, Norman, Patterson and Hambright, of the Braves, hit two-base blows, while J. Myers, of the Moguls, contributed a like base-knock.

Selecting Your Autumn Bonnet

NEW YORK.—The qualities which a woman should definitely eschew for her own character are those which, this fall, must date her hats, writes the fashion editor of the Christian Science Monitor, Boston.

These should be sharp, forward, haughty, angular, crooked, irregular, with veiled designs and readily manipulated intentions! Yes, puckered looks, pointed thrusts (even cuffs!), narrowed vision and one-sided views are all to the good in millinery.

But we are putting the cart before the horse, the moral before the tale, having got our thoughts decidedly askew from studying so many forward scurrying brims and tipped crowns. Let us go back, then, to the fundamentals.

Shapes for Every Mood

The reigning shapes are the shovel brim, carried over from summer, but developed in more angular ways and stressing triangles, bicornes and tricornes; off-face brims, typified by Agnes' aureole model, but carried on as an idea by the posing of berets and ripple-brimmed hats far back on the head; high crowns of the postillion, cossack and fez shapes, and also lower sports crowns which have a tendency to curve outward at the bottom like an inverted flower pot, and which often carry uneven brims with the forward thrust. Berets there are in great variety, beginning with the extreme type which shows an immense side drap, and dwindling through several graceful modifications down to a diminutive pancake; and shapes which while remaining berets, yet go off on a tangent of their own, such as those built of wide-spreading side wings of the material which radiate from a forehead band. Turbans, peaked and coned; toques, pill boxes and half-hats; skull caps; Florentine caps; and hybrid shapes with padded, double, triple and rippled brims, and perhaps two or three tiers of brims, have also joined the parade.

Materials and Colors

Felt is more important than is usually the case in the first fall styles. In fact, at the moment, it is leading all materials, and it may be plain, stitched, patterned or tweeded. Velvet, a dominant material for costume this season, does not monopolize, as it has been wont to do, all heart interest at the time when straws are cast aside and new romance solicited. No, despite the fascinating novelty weaves in which velvet is presented—with glistening cellophane threads and with patterned and marbled effects worked out in contrasted ground and pile—it divides honors with velours, antelope, flat furs, pershams, lightweight novelty woollens, faille, grosgrain, chenille, duvetyn, georgette, and crepe. Some of these materials are double-faced and when draped show contrasted surfaces. Fabrics are all much used, also, in combination with one another.

Colors are rich and various and it means one and the same thing when they are described as "stained glass," "Renaissance," "Italian," or "Venetian." According to whether we remember most poignantly cathedral windows, Florentine frescoes, or Venetian canvases, we shall use one term or the other, but in any case we shall know that the blues are vibrant, that the reds are of the vintage range, the greens often browned to olive and as often blued to peacock; and the browns burned to gold and copper. Contrasts are the essence of the color story.

Ostrich is the newest note in trimming and its versatility has never been more manifest than now. Medium-sized plumes are dyed in variegated colors and sweep from the front of the crown down the nape of the neck; fringes of ostrich are twisted into toques and are used like sprawling tassels over crowns and are sometimes knotted together, which gives them a smocked effect and plumes, curled or uncurled, tower on turbans like Hindu ornaments.

Veils contrasted in color with the hat's body, or vibrating with multi-colored chenille dots, or plaided with stitching, are used completely to drape crowns or brims or the entire shape. Veils also trail like misty clouds from the backs of hats.

The driver, thinking quickly, cut the ignition and jammed on the emergency brake, while a minister overpowered the maniac. The bus stopped four feet from the edge of the lake.

Shipments of Livestock Over State Increases

AUSTIN, TEXAS.—A moderate increase was recorded in livestock shipments from Texas to Port-Worth stockyards and interstate points during June as compared with the similar month last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said in its monthly report on the livestock trade. Forwardings totaled 4,465 cars against 4,182 cars a year ago, an increase of 7 per cent.

The greatest increase occurred in shipments of sheep, 596 cars against 449 cars last year, an increase of 30 per cent; followed by cattle, 3,197 against 2,861 cars, up 12 per cent. Shipments of calves totaled 507 against 505 cars, practically no change. Hog forwardings dropped 82 per cent from 387 cars a year ago to 175 in June of the current year. Aggregate forwardings during the first half of 1936 were 20,473 cars against 28,265 cars during the corresponding period last year.

"Shipments to the Fort Worth market were characterized by a sharp drop in the number of hogs and an equally marked rise in the number of sheep. Los Angeles received about one third as many
