HASKELL BRAVES TO PLAY WESTERN STATES HERE SUNDAY 3 P. M.

With practically every member of the team in good condition, Manager O. W. (Mack) Maloy will send his Haskell Braves against the Western States club here Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the first baseball game of the season.

No selection has been made by Maloy for slab duty, but the chores will probably be divided between Tanny Jones, of Rule, and Archie Pittman, speedball artist. The roster of the Braves was further strengthened Wednesday when Sam Johnson, Rochester infielder, was signed. Johnson played part of the 1934 season with the fast Munday aggregation.

New Uniforms Secured for Local Baseball Team; Players Galore

The Haskell Braves, local entry in the Wichita Valley baseball league, will appear on the field this season in brand-new uniforms.

New suits for the Braves were made possible through the cooperation of several Haskell business firms, whose names will appear on the back of the shirts.

Orders were placed for the new "dress" Tuesday by Manager Mack Maloy. A swanky combination was chosen in the form of black caps, white shirts, black pants and black and white socks. An Indian head will appear on the front of the shirt and an "H" on the sleeves.

Maloy hopes to have the uniforms here by Sunday, April 28, when the first official league game will be played in Haskell.

The Braves' roster was further strengthened Tuesday when the local management signed Sam Johnson, infielder of Rochester, who played part of last season with the first Munday aggregation. Johnson will vie with Bradley, Leonard, Dud Pittman and Chapman for the remaining infield positions. First base, held down by Adkins, and second base, capably covered by Norman, late of Rule, are "cinched." Johnson, Leonard and Chapman are also good outfield material.

The Haskell club will be an improved organization over the 1934 entry, many fans believe, although a terrible loss was created in the local ranks in the death of Ely Thurman, ace hitter, catcher and third baseman, who died at the close of last season.

Buford Cox, former professional, will again catch, and this will give Haskell some of the best backstopping in West Texas.

The pitching corps is, as yet, incomplete, although the signing of Tanny Jones, of Rule, has improved the situation. Archie Pittman, speedballer, is expected to hurl for Haskell again. Dud Pittman will also be available for mound duty.

J. T. Adkins, a fine defensive infielder, is meeting the ball better this season and a few extra points on his batting average will help considerably.

Roy Norman, defensively good, is hitting the ball hard and fielding sensationally. Norman's presence at second base gives Haskell a player at a position which was not handled properly last season.

Cecil Bradley went "great guns" in practice Sunday and "clicked" one-two-three with Norman on double plays. Bradley is fighting to cinch the shortstop position and, in the opinion of some fans, has a slight edge over his rival at this time, although Drew Leonard is pressing him closely. Hitting ability will probably decide whether Bradley, Leonard or Johnson will be placed at shortstop.

Manager Maloy is on the "spot" in making a choice at third base with Chapman, Bradley, Johnson and Leonard to choose from. Chapman looked great Sunday and his arm, which has bothered him in the past few years, apparently did not bother him. He whipped the sphere around the diamond effortlessly.

Doc Patterson will be in left field. Isaac (Sackem) Edwards, Chick Henshaw and Roy Cook will be given competition in center and right fields by those players not used in the infield.

"Boss" Cox may also try his hand at outfielding, and may make the grade.

CHORAL CLUB OF HARDIN-SIMMONS PROGRAM TONIGHT

Thirty-five pupils from the fine arts department of Hardin-Simmons University of Abilene will present a play and musical program tonight at the High School auditorium, sponsored by the Gypsy Ramblers Club of the local High School.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock tonight (Thursday) and the Gypsy Ramblers Club urge that the public hear the program, promising a real entertainment.

MODERN SHERIFFS KEPT BUSY ON A 24-HOUR SCHEDULE

Haskell County Officer In 108 Arrests Since Assumed Office Jan. 1

The varied duties of a West Texas sheriff present full 24-hour daily schedule, records in the office of Sheriff Giles Kemp of Haskell county reveal for the first quarter of 1935.

In this 90-day period 108 arrests have been made by the sheriff's department for law violations running the gamut from simple misdemeanors to capital offenses. This does not take into account numerous "pick-ups" of suspicious characters for questioning, or detention of suspects for investigation over the 30-hour period allowed by the criminal statutes, but covers only arrests made in cases where complaints have been duly filed or persons taken into custody to await outcome of trials or Grand Jury action.

Duties of the sheriff's office in three months have occasioned automobile trips totalling more than 11,000 miles—an average, Kemp figures, of slightly more than five miles per hour, day and night, since he assumed office January 1, 1935. Longest trip made to date by the Haskell sheriff was to Hohenwald, Tennessee, in February, to return a former Haskell county resident, who had been indicted by a district court grand jury.

Max Bentley Outlines Needs of West Texas for WTCC Convention

By MAX BENTLEY
Chairman Editorial Board
West Texas Today

The 1935 general convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is five weeks away. Dates are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, May 13-14-15. Host city is Plainview.

Plans are maturing on a half-dozen fronts to make the convention notable, in the number of paid registrations, number of towns represented, in color and—most important, in quickly getting to the heart of what West Texas needs most for its prosperity and development and in formulating a program of work calculated to meet these needs. The organization's 1935-36 year, from convention to convention, then will be devoted to carrying out the program laid down as the membership's mandate at Plainview.

The Westex Chamber is now a full-statured organization of service. Through its remarkable life it has come through the various stages from (1) organization to helpfulness, (2) helpfulness to testing under stress and (3) successful testing into its present era of vigorous maturity. Since 1918, year of its birth, it has had only one goal: To be of service to its territory. There is no denying that it has accomplished greatly and that today it is at the peak of its strength and efficiency and usefulness. With enormous prestige, completely staffed, paying its way as it goes along, there is no reason why it should not serve us for many, many more years, growing bigger and better as its years increase.

The convention will major this year on the following three points, all fundamental in the life of West Texas:

TAXATION. A clear-cut program will be devised with the objective of obtaining needed relief for the sorely pressed property owner who pays 75 per cent of the taxes of Texas although holding only 33 1/3 per cent of its wealth. On an average, ad valorem or real estate taxes in this state total an annual assessment of 3.75 per cent of the investment, and property is not earning 3.75 per cent or anywhere near it.

Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, state senator, will be chairman of the Taxation group conference. Duggan is a member of the Senate's tax program committee, considered one of its authorities in the field of taxation.

PROPRIETOR OF ALLEGED POOL HALL HERE IS ARRESTED

Officers Close Newly Opened "Recreation Club"; Trial Set May 6th

Charged in county court upon four separate cases with operating a "pool hall," Charles McMullan, proprietor of the stockholders Recreation Club, who recently moved here from Abilene was arrested and placed in jail here Tuesday afternoon by officers Bond, which had been set at $150 for each case, was made by the accused Tuesday morning. The club was open for four days.

Trial has been set by Judge Chas. M. Conner for May 6, and B. C. Chapman, county attorney will prosecute. F. M. Robertson will represent McMullan.

In a statement Wednesday, McMullan denied that he was the proprietor of a "pool hall," and claimed that clubs, such as he has opened in Haskell, are being operated in various towns in this state, and that he managed a club in Abilene for three years.

Regarding his management of the recreation club in Abilene, McMullan exhibited a letter which was signed by T. A. Hackney, assistant chief of police, Abilene, which attested to the fact that McMullan was of a "sober, honest and law-abiding character," and that "he had never given any trouble while in Abilene, and had always been willing to cooperate in keeping law and order."

Chapman, when questioned, declared that such clubs had been found by the state supreme court as only "subterfuges" for "pool halls," and that the recreation club did not come under the heading of a club with a charter, limited membership and other necessary qualifications.

This year, the 1935 Ford V-8 gives you traditional Ford low prices, traditional Ford operating economy—and, in addition, riding comfort, body roominess, new beauty and new safety features that will satisfy the requirements of almost everyone.

Consider some of the major improvements in the Ford V-8 for 1935. Take Comfort: From this standpoint alone, what a completely rounded car this is! Comfort Zone Riding that gives "front seat comfort" even to rear seat passengers. Deep cushioned, high-backed, wider seats. Big, air-balloon tires. Easier steering and a newly-designed clutch that responds to the touch of your foot.

Consider safety: There's safety glass all around—on all models—at no additional cost. A new, welded all-steel body. New, more powerful brakes, with an unusually high ratio of braking surface to car weight. And a lower center of gravity that gives increased safety and stability on curves!

Why be satisfied to receive less than this for your money? Examine this new 1935 Ford V-8. Ride in it. You'll realize that it is truly a new automobile value.

$495 AND UP. F. O. B. DETROIT. Standard accessory group including bumpers and spare tire extra. Easy terms through Universal Credit Co., the Authorized Ford Finance Plan.

SENIORS TO GIVE CLASS DAY PROGRAM

Every year the Seniors try to present something unique and different for their class-day program. Last year's class gave a radio broadcast, with the special feature of quest numbers; and another year had a burlesque literary meet. Some of us still remember that debate, and those declamations! Well, this year it isn't going to be like either of the former, or like anything you ever saw before—but it is going to be good, we think, and we hope you like it. Wednesday, April 17 will be Senior Class Day, and the program will be given at the usual assembly hour, 12:45 p. m.

NOTES FROM THE P. T. A. CONFERENCE

As a page at the District Conference of the Parent Teachers Association, I had a good opportunity to hear what was said by the people who attended. They said, "Haskell is certainly putting this over in a big way. It is one of the most enjoyable I have ever attended."—Page.

I think the P. T. A. Conference was the most outstanding event that has ever occurred in Haskell.—Boy Scout.

After listening to all the reports given by the delegates, I think that a Parent Teachers Association is a worthy addition to every community.—Page.

Intense interest and cooperation was shown by Scouts in our Troop 36. We not only helped visiting delegates find their places to stay, but also helped them to park their cars and rendered services in many other ways. We were proud to help show them the hospitality for which Haskell is noted.—Boy Scout.

Every high school student who helped in the Conference was benefited in many ways by coming in contact with the delegates of the Parent-Teachers Association.—Page.

I feel that coming in contact with the leaders of the work and seeing their attitude really gives a person courage and inspiration.—Student on program.

The special thing about it was the order in which it was held. Everything ran smoothly and calmly, and it really taught me a lot in that way.—Page.

Many interesting reports were given concerning the work in the various organizations over the district. Just because they were reports, some gave them in rhyme to make them better, or devised other unique methods of making them interesting.—Page.

One of the most interesting talks was made by Mrs. J. U. Fields on "Historical Homes."—Page.

It was a pleasure to help them with their cars, and run errands for them. They were very kind to us and we tried to return their kindness.—Boy Scout.

From hearing talks made by different representatives from all over the 13th District, I learned what the different associations were doing. This convention made me realize more than ever before what an important organization the Parent-Teachers Association really is.—Page.

SENIOR SKETCHES

Louise Roberds was born in Haskell in the year 1917. All her education has been obtained from the Haskell schools with the exception of one year when she attended junior high school in Knox City. She is a senior member of the Gypsy Rambler club, having been a member all four years. When a freshman, she was a member of the baseball team and this will make the fourth year she has been a member of the volleyball team. She aspires to be a stenographer.

Fred Sanders was born March 27, 1917 in Haskell. His entire education has been obtained from the Haskell Schools. This year Fred was elected vice president of the Senior Class and reporter of the Future Farmers organization. He takes expression and entered the declamation contest this year. As a pianist and accordion player, he is excellent and is a leader in young people's church work. His greatest ambition is to be of service to mankind by being a doctor.

Dorothy Sego was born January 11, 1917 in Haskell. After attending Midway one and one-half years, she became a member of the North Ward. In the seventh grade she was an honor student and secretary-treasurer of her class. She has been on the volleyball team four years and in her freshman and sophomore years she was a member of the baseball team. She is a senior member of the Gypsy Rambler club. She hopes to be a stenographer.

HOME ECONOMICS GIRLS MODEL DRESSES

The Home Economics girls now announce the results of six weeks of work and study, worry and discouragement, mingled with quite a bit of happiness and surprise as things turned out right. Our tailored dresses, and are we proud of them! When we put them on we really feel like a quite "dressed up" class.

With this "accomplishment" in mind we decided to model them. As each girl modeled her dress, the class voted on the three most attractive, or outstanding, dresses in the class. Helen Mabel Baldwin's dress, very unusual and individual, was first in our estimation. The second best was Janice Tate's, and Beverly Gilbert's was third. It was hard to choose the ones we did, because they were all so much like we wanted them to be. We also discussed the accessories to wear with them—altogether a very interesting class period.

WHAT IS GOING ON.

Many people in Haskell have been somewhat worried by what is going on in the country and have wondered what it is about. They realize that we are living in a period of change, that innovations are crowding upon accepted theories and that new conditions have upset the old order.

The idea is excellently stated by James Rowland Angell, president of Yale University, who says the nation has "been passing from a nominally individualistic and competitive economic system, increasingly in fact controlled by great aggregations of capital, to a system of controlled finance, commerce and industry, with governmental agencies furnishing the framework for such control."

Read it over again, if you didn't get it all. The question whether "a nominally Jeffersonian democracy" can "accomplish this miracle" remains to be seen but, says the educator, "if it fails something far more drastic may well succeed it." And the reason is because "men will not indefinitely tolerate the continuation, much less the repetition, of the hopeless mess our earlier economic and political system have landed us in."

The encouraging factor, to our minds, is that many men of both political parties have sensed the issue, and while differing considerably in the methods to be adopted, have proclaimed the common ideal to be attained.

TAXES COST MORE THAN FOOD

If you asked the average citizen which is the largest item in the family budget the answer probably would be food, clothing, rent, or similar expenses, and he probably would profess surprise that he spends more each year for taxes than he lays out for any other family expense. Food, one of the vital necessities of life, costs the nation $7,600,000,000 a year while clothing takes $3,600,000,000 out of the nation's pocketbook. A similar sum is spent for rent and automobiles dent the bankroll to the extent of $2,900,000,000. The nation's tax bill, in comparison, is nine billion dollars per year—a billion and a half more than is spent for food.

That being the case, it would appear that the cost of living could be reduced best by paring down the cost of government. A cut in the cost of government would be reflected immediately in a corresponding reduction in the cost of living. No other cost weighs so heavily on individuals and business alike, and it is a historical fact that governmental extravagance breeds depression and discord.

TRAINING IS NEED OF ORPHAN

The orphaned child, like the poor, is always with us; and in these times when demands on the public purse are almost innumerable, we do fairly well when we provide such children with board and lodging.

But to go that far is only to scratch the surface of the problem. The orphan eventually will become an adult and take his place in the complex human society, that has supported him; and if he is to be as useful a social unit as we want him to be, we must give him a great deal more than food and shelter while he is in our care.

All this was brought out not long ago, when members of the Welfare Council of New York City gathered for a conference on the care of dependent children. And these people agreed that society is only doing part of its job when it removes the orphan from the fear of hunger and cold.

READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS: IT PAYS.

The Free Press will appreciate it very much, if after looking over the advertising of the local merchants represented in this issue of the paper you will compare their merchandise with others. We believe you will find them much lower in price and quality higher. You will also find that selections offered will compare favorably with larger cities. They are doing their part in making Haskell a live, up-to-date merchandising center.

When you go into a store to buy an advertised article, tell the merchant that you saw his advertisement in the Free Press. He will appreciate it, and it will encourage him to keep the public informed regarding the new products on the market at money-saving prices.

One of these days we are going to be in a position to tell the world that we don't want to be bothered with anything anytime.

The trouble with most organizations is that they have a lot of hot air aces who can talk a lot without undertaking anything.

A lot of lowbrows get by temporarily by wearing a high hat.

Uncle Sam has done a lot to re-establish the public faith in Santa Claus.

And we might suggest that the cartoonists might picture him dressed to suit the part.

It's safer to guess that the headlight nearest you is the one that's out.

We would suggest that the efficiency experts try doping out some practical use for the left over advice.

To err is human, and with some people it's about their only human trait.

The argument that space is non-existent can be readily believed by anyone who tries to find a parking place in Haskell's business center on a Saturday afternoon.

Americanism: Doing the daily dozen for health and then passing a car on a blind curve.

With the big league season about to open the mortality rate among grandmothers is due for a sharp increase in a lot of our cities.

LOST COTTON MARKETS

(Semi-Weekly Farm News)

Commissioner J. E. McDonald's alarm over lost cotton markets is borne out by recent statistics. These show that Texas exports for the first seven months of the season are just 50 per cent below last season's, or roughly 1,900,000 bales against 3,800,000. Since the Federal government is committed to its present policy of restricted acreage and exports, and farmers are well satisfied with the operation of the Bankhead law, there is little likelihood of any new plan getting the attention of Congress, no matter how workable it may seem.

The features of domestic allotment are fairly well known. They have merit in that they would open foreign markets to such producers of cotton who may wish to sell abroad in competition with growers in all parts of the world. But the superior advantages of large areas of Texas for low-cost production are entirely disregarded in the present Federal policy. In a time of emergency drastic measures may be necessary and one is willing to overlook regimentation, but a continuing policy of reduced cotton crops for Texas and loss of export markets on which 90 to 95 per cent of the State's cotton depends, would disrupt a great industry, without adequate benefits to all who may suffer harm.

Whether the McDonald or any other plan be adopted in an effort to save part of the foreign cotton market there still remain other unsolved problems. Chief of these may be considered to be the Government loan policy, which attracts a large part of the annual crop and holds it above world prices in line with the policy to raise the domestic price. Cotton really needs some able spokesmen in Congress who have sufficient vision to look at the industry as a whole and to deal fairly with all phases of it. Regardless of the forward steps which Texas may take, cotton is destined to remain its most important commercial crop for some years to come and must be reckoned with. Conversion of cotton acres into food and feed crops would only tend to create other surpluses and other problems.

Sunday School

CHRIST THE SAVIOUR
International Sunday School Lesson for April 14, 1935.

Golden Text: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life."—John 3:16.

(Lesson Text: John 3:14-17; Romans 5:6-10; Phillipians 2:5-11.)

In continuing our course on great Christian teachings we are given this week various biblical references to consider. In addition to those named in the lesson text above are: Luke 2:11, 30-32, 15:37; John 10:9-11, 14-16, 27, 28; Acts 3:14-18, and 2 Timothy 1:9, 10.

The parable in Luke concerns salvation. "It is God who suffers," says Marcus Dod, "and not the heartless sinner, who, without a thought of the wounds he is inflicting, goes his own wretched way and courts the destruction which Christ died to save him from. All the broken-heartedness of parents who year by year watch the failure of all their efforts to lead some misguided child to well-doing; all the crushing anguish of wives who see their husbands slowly hardening in vice and sinking out of reach of their love; all the varied misery that love must endure in this sinful world, is after all but the reflection of what Infinite Love suffers in sympathy with every sinner who spurns it and chooses death. Look at the sorrow of God in Christ, and say whether the loss God suffers in your separation from Him is true or feigned."

Salvation comes through Jesus as R. P. Horton says: "And 'saved from our sins' does not, of course, mean merely saved from the guilt of sin; nor does it mean saved from the penalty of punishment of sin; but it means what it says—'He shall save his people from their sins.' The sins are conceived of as a disease, a disorder, or a torment. The habits which fetter us, the passions and indulgences which defile us, these are what is meant. He shall save his people from these, their sins. He died on the cross in order to bring men into the state of being saved; but he lives in order to save them; he lives to deliver them from their sins, as a direct, personal, all powerful Savior."

One must believe, however, in order to receive this salvation. "Believe," appears ninety-nine times in John's gospel. "This one word 'believe' represents all a sinner can do and all a sinner must do to be saved," says Lewis Sperry Chafer. "It is believing the record God has given of His Son. In this record it is stated that He has entered into all the needs of our lost condition and is alive from the dead to be a living Savior to all who put their trust in Him. Saving faith is a matter of personal consciousness. 'I know whom I have believed.' To have deposited one's eternal welfare in the hands of another is a decision of the mind so definite that it can hardly be confused with anything else. On this deposit of one's self into His saving grace depends one's eternal destiny. The greatest problem for the infirm God was to provide the reconciliation of the cross; the greatest problem for man is simply to believe the record in its fullness."

There are some people who doubt and question because they can not understand. "I do not understand the Atonement, and it is not necessary that I should," says Dr. Maltbie D. Babcock. "For I believe and accept it, and that makes it operative for me. The man who has the most perfect and satisfactory theory

I cannot grasp it. I am limited. I cannot think immensity, nor is my mental power great enough to grasp the infinitesimal atom. I can comprehend neither the glory of God nor the Glory of man until I see it in Christ. God had to be translated into terms man could understand. God was in Christ translating himself. Men felt tenderness and strength, love and compassion, forgiveness when they had sinned; they saw the seeds of mercy, saw life without thought of self, and began to understand. God was living in Christ, and in Christ helping the world to understand him, leading it to love him. The only way the Personality—God—becomes real to me, limited as I am in my humanity, is through Christ.

"It was given to no other great religious teacher to foresee the extent of the influence of his own faith," says Charles Carroll Albertson. "Buddha never dreamed of being the object of the adoration of millions. Mohammed never hoped to extend his conquests beyond the desert peoples. But Jesus was serenely confident during his life, even in the presence of death, which should include all the promises."

What We Have Learned from FARMERS

For years we have discussed the political and financial side of farming with our friends.

It would be strange indeed, therefore, if in this exchange of views we had not gained valuable first-hand information. This has helped us to provide better banking service, more closely adapted to the needs of this section.

We are still learning, and constantly trying to make our cooperation more helpful to our patrons generally.

Haskell County History

 county raised about 56,000 bales of cotton last year. This was two bales for every man, woman and child in this county. Haskell has forged to the front as one of the biggest cotton producing states.
 We have heard of several auto wrecks. Mrs. Pierson has an auto. T. E. Ballard has a car. Mr. S. L. Robertson has a car. C. D. Grissom has a car. and Courtney Hunt, Hardy and J. C. Harvey have each a car. Mitchell, Courtney Hunt, Dallas Tuesday with Bill to drive his new car back. was closed Thursday where Jones, George Scales and son of Abilene took over electric and bottling plant.

college at Lexington, Ky., which passed him out as a full-fledged bookkeeper.
 Mr. Bennett, a grain dealer of Seymour was here this week talking up a scheme to connect this place and Seymour by telephone. We understand that the proposition was to run the line via Throckmorton.
 The Haskell public schools closed Friday. This was earlier than it was expected to close but a failure to collect interest on school land precipitated the end.
 Col. J. H. Caudle of this county died Monday night the 18th inst. at the residence of Mr. Tom Lanier. Mr. Caudle was 63 years old.
 Haskell, or this section of the state did not have the sandstorm last Friday all to itself. We gather from the newspapers from over the state that it covered the state and was much worse a hundred miles east of us than it was here.

 third place at district. The first game played, in which Haskell won, was with Breckenridge. In the final Throckmorton beat Haskell.
 In County Meet our volleyball team was victorious over Sagerton, which was a very hard team. Sagerton had played thirty-three match games this year, and ours was the second team to beat them. Our team had practiced only two weeks before the County Meet.
 The girls sold soda pop all day one Saturday in order to make money to pay the expenses of the trip. Mr. Nichols and our coach, Mr. Wimbish, provided the cars for the trip. The girls that went to Breckenridge were: Janice Tate, Helen Bland, Vida Lee Nichols, Maggie Lee Piland, Dorothy Segal, Lottie Mae Thompson, Loree O'Neal, Beverly Gilbert, Louise Roberts and Louise Zahn.

GYPSIES "RAMBLE" TO THE CONCERT!

With the aid of six "proxy" members, Artie Phippen, Winston Watson, Carl Maples, Hugh Shelley, Covell Adkins and Lewis Hamilton, the Gypsies are beginning their ticket-selling campaign for the concert to be presented by the Fine Arts Department of Hardin-Simmons University. The twin sergeants-at-arms, Era and Vera, have mobilized their forces, and each is ready to keep order in her regiment and win the campaign by Thursday noon with the words, "Attention!" "Work!" and "Cooperation!" The losing side will have to give a picnic for the victors, but with the assistance of three loyal, hardworking braves on each side it may be a tie. In that case each regiment will have to go 50-50.
 This is one of the most unusual, most outstanding, and one of the cleverest programs ever to be brought to Haskell. It is the most outstanding project the Gypsy Ramblers have ever undertaken, but with your cooperation it can be carried out in true "Gypsy Rambler" style. Remember that half of the proceeds will be used for the benefit of your school, so do your part to increase that half!

open to entries, with indications that they will be larger than ever. Amarillo was first to sign its entry blank in the My Home Town contest; El Paso second; then in order, Floydada, Pampa and Spur, which has named Tommy Glasgow as its entry. Dumas is No. 1 entry in the Poster contest, followed by Munday, Electra and Floydada.

Fight for the 1936 convention apparently is between Amarillo, last year's runner-up to Plainview; and Wichita Falls, the 1927 host city. Lines have been closely drawn and each city is sending a large delegation. There may be other contestants, among them Brownwood, Mineral Wells, and El Paso. Usually a city has to put in its bid at least one year before it comes a close contender.

As to music, ten bands are expected with twice as many quartets and floor show attractions that will participate in the annual Revue. No. 1 band of course is Ralls' New Deal Band under director Tommie Thornhill, since it is the organization's 1935 official band. Others are expected from Lubbock (two), Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Tulsa, Anton and other points. The orchestra and floor show entertainers from North Texas State Teachers College, Denton, will be on hand again; and strong probability exists that the convention will entertain the National Orchestra of Mexico. It will be on Texas tour in May, and is being invited to Plainview.

Put the ham in a deep pot and cover with cold water. Heat and remove the scum which rises to the surface. Bring to a boil and reduce the heat so that it will boil very slowly. To cook properly will require about 20 minutes to each pound.

A half hour before the boiling will be finished pour off practically all the water and add half a bottle of dry white wine. The white wine, diluted with the water will serve to make the sauce. Slice an onion and brown in butter, add flour to thicken, about 1 tablespoon to 1 cup of liquid, and make a sauce with the wine in which the ham has been boiled. Cook for 10 minutes, remove the onion and add a few mushrooms cut in thin slices. Cook for another 10 minutes. Season with Cayenne pepper and add a glass of cognac. Serve the spinach with the sauce in a separate dish, to be added as the ham is served in slices.

Ham Omelet Chinese Style

1 1/2 cup boiled minced onions.
1 1/2 cup diced cooked ham.
3 eggs.
1 1/2 teaspoon pepper.
1 tablespoon cream.
1 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Drain the onions thoroughly and combine with the ham, the eggs (slightly beaten), the cream and the seasonings. Fry the mixture in fat, using 2 tablespoons to each cake. Serve with soy bean sauce.

Ham Roll with Hard Cooked Eggs

Mix one pound cured ham, 1 1/2 pound ground fresh pork, 2 cups of rice flakes, 1 egg, 3 1/2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and pepper. Form half the mixture into an oblong layer. Arrange 3 hard cooked eggs on the meat, end to end, then cover with remaining meat and pat into a loaf. Bake in a moderate oven for 1 1/4 hours, basting with a small amount of water as needed. Serve with tomato ketchup.

Ham Stuffing for Bread Loaf

Hollow out a loaf of bread from which the crusts have been removed after cutting a slice lengthwise from the top about 1 inch thick. Butter the loaf all over the outside and fill with the following stuffing:

Ham Stuffing

1 small onion chopped.
1 tablespoon green pepper, chopped.
2 tablespoons bacon drippings.
1 cup canned cream of tomato soup.
3 cups cooked ham chopped.
1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs.
3 sprigs parsley minced.
1 tablespoon prepared mustard.
1 1/4 teaspoon pepper.
2 eggs beaten slightly.

Brown the onion and green pepper in bacon drippings. Add creamed tomato soup and chopped cooked ham. Stir in bread crumbs and heat. Then add minced parsley.

mustard, pepper and eggs. Stuff the bread loaf and adjust the cover brown.

Ham Follows An Old Tradition For Nation's Easter Dinners

For some reason a great roast ham, shining with its glazed crust, and made piquant with cloves and fruit is the favored Easter meat. Whatever the origin of the tradition, the choice is a happy one, for ham, properly prepared has a flavor that is superb. And ham is an adaptable meat, too, it may appear in many different guises, each appealing and satisfying. If you plan to serve a whole roast ham on Easter you will want to follow the method suggested here for best results.

Baked Ham

10 pound ham.
4 quarts cold water.
2 bay leaves.
2 onion slices.
12 whole cloves.

Wash the ham thoroughly and add rest of the ingredients. Cover with lid and cook slowly 4 hours or until ham is tender when tested with a fork. Remove ham from stock and cool until it can be handled, then remove excess fat and cut off rind. Fit ham, fat side up, in small roaster. Cover with sugar mixture.

Sugar Mixture

18 whole cloves.
1 cup dark brown sugar.
1 cup spiced peach juice.

Stick cloves in ham, spread with sugar and add juice. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven. Cover with lid and bake 15 minutes. Serve hot or cold. If spiced peach juice is not available use water to which 2 tablespoons of vinegar have been added.

Ham Baked in Cream

Have a slice of ham cut 1 1/2 inches thick. Leave the fat edge on the slice. Saute the ham lightly on both sides and season by rubbing in a little brown sugar. Lay the slice in a baking dish and cover with half milk and half cream. Bake in a moderate oven for about 2 hours or until the ham is tender. The sauce will be quite thick when the ham is done. It may be that additional milk and cream will have to be added, but should be cooked down to the proper "sauce" consistency before serving.

Boiled Ham With Spinach

Soak ham in water overnight.
