HASKELL SCHOOLS TO OPEN FOR NEW TERM ON MONDAY MORNING

Only Two Changes Made In Teaching Corps; Supt. Breedlove Again Leads Transfers Heavier

Schools in this city will open Monday morning for the 1935-36 term with a substantial increase in enrollment expected. A total of 178 students had enrolled in high school up to Wednesday night, according to Superintendent C. B. Breedlove. Seniors are registering today. Approximately 200 were enrolled in the entire high school last year. An increase in transfers to the local schools has been shown this year over 1934, with 100 pupils already enrolled up to this time in comparison with about 60 last year. This will mark the sixth year of service for Superintendent Breedlove, who has given his time and effort unceasingly for the betterment of the local system. A fine corps of teachers will again be ready, with most of the instructors veterans in services here. Two changes were made in the faculty which brought Miss Helen Mae Camp as teacher of home economics and Miss Willie Riley as teacher of intermediate grades in the South Ward. Miss Camp took her bachelor's degree in the North Texas State Teachers College in 1934 and spent the last year doing graduate work in C. I. A. Denton, while Miss Riley holds an A. B. degree from the University of Texas. Teachers in Haskell's school system are as follows: High School: George V. Wimblish, principal; W. L. Richey, Perry Mason, Miss Helen Mae Camp, H. T. Sullivan, Miss Donna Davis, Mrs. George V. Wimblish, Miss Jessie Wick. North Ward: Miss Madalin Hunt, principal; Miss May Fields, Miss Mattie Letha Phippen, L. S. Ramsey, Mrs. O. W. Maloy, Mrs. S. R. Rike, Mrs. Cretia Brooks, Mrs. M. D. Crow, Miss Ruby Fitzgerald. South Ward: Mrs. Irene Ballard, principal; Miss Velma Hambleton, Miss Willie Riley, Miss Patsy Lou Koonce, Miss Alma Sprowls, Mrs. W. M. Murphy.

All of the people who are interested are invited to attend the County Home Demonstration Council in the district court room at 2:30 p. m. Sept. 7. Mr. and Mrs. Matt Arbuckle of Waco, Texas, are here for a few days with their mother and brother, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Arbuckle and family.

The office will be open and all who are able to come to the high school building are requested to do so Friday or Saturday morning.

J. E. McDONALD TO SPEAK IN HASKELL

State Commissioner of Agriculture to Be Here for "Jubilee"

J. E. McDonald, Commissioner of the State Department of Agriculture, will be in Haskell on October 16 to officially open the Central West Texas Fair he has written local officials in response to the invitation which they extended to him. Commissioner McDonald will address visitors to the Fair at 2 p. m., on the opening day, and although the invitation was worded to include the five days, the commissioner expressed his regret in letters to Judge Dennis P. Ratliff and Walter Murchison over the fact that he could not be present more than the first day, but the department was ready to render any possible assistance to the people of Central West Texas.

Local Theatre Loses To Knob-Knockers

Knob-knockers who looted a safe in the office of the Texas Theatre of approximately $200 during the early hours Monday, to date have not been apprehended. City and county officers who investigated the burglary, describe it as one of the "smoothest" ever staged in Haskell. The loss was discovered Monday morning by Miss Frankie Brooks, theatre cashier, when she went to the upstairs office about 9:30 o'clock, and officers were notified. Miss Brooks stated that the amount taken included Saturday's and Sunday's receipts. Entrance to the office had been gained through a window opening onto the front awning of the building. Thieves evidently worked unobtrusively, and by flashlight, as officers found the floor littered with burnt matches. Only tangible clue left was a small steel punch. Robbery of the theatre safe was followed within two weeks the similar burglaries of five other business houses. Two men were arrested and charged with the previous crimes, and officers recovered practically all of the money reported taken at that time.

New Pharmacist At Reids' Drug

C. J. Crutcher of Albany has accepted a position with Reids' Drug Store and entered upon his new duties last week. Mr. Crutcher is a registered pharmacist and formerly was connected with the Reid Drug Store of Breckenridge. He has a wife and two children, and will move his family here as soon as a suitable residence can be secured. Mr. Crutcher stated that he was well pleased with Haskell and was likewise glad to be connected with the Reid Stores again. Alvy Couch, Jr., is another new employee who has been added to the Reid sales force during the past two weeks.

Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will assume his duties as supervisor for District 5 about September 1. Dr. Shepherd succeeds Miss Nell Parmley, who has been transferred to Houston.

ADJUSTMENTS TO AAA ACT OUTLINED

Bankhead Cotton Control Act Extended by Means of New Amendments

COLLEGE STATION.—A special release from Washington, D. C., outlines the amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act which have met the approval of both houses of Congress and have the signature of President Roosevelt. The amendments have two major purposes. One is to give the Secretary of Agriculture added powers in carrying out the farm program and the other is to erect bulwarks around the program against the time when provisions of the Act will have to meet the crucial test in the Supreme Court. "The new amendments," Secretary Wallace commented, "will permit increased adjustment of production by permitting benefit payments for increased production." Wallace was careful to point out that there is little likelihood of this provision being put to use except in cases of grave emergency. On the most controversial point, the section barring suits by processors to recover processing taxes in event the levies are held unconstitutional, a compromise was reached. Processors can sue for recovery, but only after they have submitted their claims to the commissioner of internal revenue. However, the processors must show that they have not passed the taxes along. The amendments also permit the Secretary of Agriculture to draft marketing agreements with the consent of the majority of producers or processors for the following: milk, fruits, tobacco, vegetables, soy beans, pecans, walnuts and naval stores. The recent act of Congress also extends the Bankhead cotton control act and authorizes a similar program for potatoes. It also permits start of the "ever normal" granary plan under which the Government could make loans to producers to induce them to hold surplus crops on farms. Other provisions in the amendments authorize use of 30 per cent of customs receipts to finance export of crop surpluses, except cotton, under the export debenture plan; and authorize use of part of the $4,000,000,000 works fund to buy up sub-marginal farm land.

New Lunch Room Is Opened by Mr. and Mrs. Alvy Couch

Mr. and Mrs. Alvy R. Couch are opening a new lunch room across the street from the high school building this week, where they will be prepared to serve light lunches, sandwiches and drinks to the students of the high school and North Ward during the coming term. In addition to the lunch room they will also carry a complete line of school supplies for the convenience of the pupils. The building has been remodeled and Mr. and Mrs. Couch expect to be ready for business when school opens Monday.

COUNTY FARMERS PLAN TO POISON COTTON WORMS

Extensive Campaign Begins In County Soon; Most Fields Now Too Wet

Poison Available

An extensive campaign of poisoning worms will be made throughout county cotton fields this next week, or as soon as weather permits, in an effort to save the crop, which at the present stage, appears to be one of the best here in years. Some damage has already been done to a few cotton fields in the county by worms, but no correct estimate as to the total damage can be ascertained at this time. Most farmers will wage their battle against the crop-destroyer just as soon as it is possible for them to work in their fields. Plenty of poison will be available for Haskell county farmers, according to B. W. Chesser, county agent. Fear was expressed by a number of farmers that the heavy rain which fell over the county this week would cause the worms to become more active, but other growers were more optimistic, believing that "the cotton will now grow so fast the worms can't catch up." The downpour this week, which exceeded two and one-half inches in Haskell, was fairly general over the county although some places recorded a greater rainfall than the county seat, while others had to be content with less. Feed crops, which had reached a deteriorating stage according to some farmers, were greatly helped, and it is expected by many that some feed, which appeared almost burned up, will now make. Visitors from other sections of the state are unanimous in saying that the cotton crop of Haskell county appears to be one of the best in the state, and predictions, which range from 15,000 to 35,000 bales for the county, are now being made by local citizens.

INDIANS PLOWING INTO DEEP GOING

Coaches Bill Richey and Perry Mason Putting All Lads Through Paces

Fighting and groaning, the 1935 squad of Haskell Indians have buckled down deeper into football play this week, with Coaches Bill Richey and Perry Mason outlining the work. An added interest was created in the local schedule with the signing of the Abilene Eagles (class A) to play here during the Central West Texas Fair in October. And although it may be too much to hope for, the local lads say that they intend to beat Abilene—or hold them to a low score, at least. Prospects appear fairly bright for a successful season here, local observers believe, although it is known that the coaches have their work cut out for them in molding a fast, hard-hitting outfit. Nine lettermen were lost to the squad by graduation and other reasons, and much new timber will have to be welded into machine-smoothness. The new men are practicing faithfully alongside veteran squad members, and it is believed that a scrapping aggregation will be at hand. Reserve material, with which the team was heavily insured last year, is lacking to a great extent, unless many of the new players, or last year squadmen, develop faster than is expected. Haskell's "House of Kimbrough," which has existed in Haskell since Frank Kimbrough, now Hardin-Simmons mentor, set opposing players on their respective ears, will feature "Jack and John," which will not be "of good tidings" to the other teams of the conference. John, 107 lbs., half last year, will probably function as fullback in the coming games, while Jack, 175, will serve as quarterback. The Kimbrough boys will, naturally on account of their outstanding play, draw "headlines," but there are other lads on the Indian squad who are going to be heard from with a vengeance—and incidentally make it possible for the Kimbrough brothers to "start their stuff." Ernest McMillian, 189 lb., co-captain, who walked off with top conference honors for that position last year and received honor.

Berry's Pharmacy to Open Saturday

Haskell's newest drug store, Berry's Pharmacy, will be open to the public by Saturday, according to Cliff Berry, manager. New fixtures were installed this week and merchandise arranged. A color scheme of green and black has been used throughout the building. Berry's Pharmacy is located in the Hotel Tonkawa building. A complete line of standard drugs, magazines, cosmetics and toiletries will be handled. A modern-equipped soda fountain was also purchased, and sandwiches will be served to the trade this winter, Berry says. Berry, who has been employed at Reids' Drug Store for the past five years, is a registered pharmacist and is a graduate of the Baylor University School of Pharmacy. Eltis Cox and Ernest McMillian have been employed by Berry to serve the fountain trade.

D. H. (Duncan) Head has assumed the management of the Haskell Electric Gin Company of this city. Mr. Head was formerly in the gin business at Rule and Weibert, but during the past two years he has been located in Oklahoma. He is an experienced gin man, and has many friends throughout Haskell county who will be glad to know that he has decided to return to this section. An announcement from Mr. Head will be found in another column of this newspaper.

Haskell Business Men "May" Raise Whiskers for 'Fair'

Pity the ladies—and barbers—if this plan matures: Whiskers, beards, sideburns or mustaches—for the business men of Haskell until the staging of the Golden Jubilee celebration here on October 15 to 19 in order that the "Spirit of '85" shall prevail. The plan has been suggested, and has been approved enthusiastically by many men who wish to "do their part," and may be broached to all and sundry within a few days. Other men to whom the plan has been suggested, were noncommittal regarding the proposition—probably on account of the fact they raise red whiskers, or so few sprouts they would display only a "mere attempt." Whisker, or not to whisker, is the question.

BOY SCOUTS HAVE PART IN PAGEANT

Ed Shumway, Scout Executive of Council Will Direct Jubilee Act

Plans which call for the staging of a Golden Jubilee pageant here during the Central West Texas Fair in October were outlined at a meeting of the directors Thursday night of last week. Ed Shumway, Abilene, scout executive of the Chisholm Trail Council, who has had wide experience in this line throughout the southwest, will be director of the affair. Nights for the pageant, which will depict Haskell county from the year 1885 forward, have not, as yet, been selected. Scouts of the Chisholm Trail Council will encamp at the fair grounds and will have leading parts in the Golden Jubilee Pageant, according to fair officials. One of the features of the Boy Scout Scene in the Haskell Golden Jubilee Pageant will be the investiture of one hundred new Scouts who will be presented with their Tenderfoot pin, Shumway says. Prominent Scout officials of the Chisholm Trail Council from Haskell, Rule, Rochester, Weibert, Sargent and other Chisholm Trail Council cities will take part. Hundreds of Scouts will be in uniform. Every Scout and official will wear the official Boy Scout neckerchief and the 30 Scouts previously selected for the Washington trip will wear the National Jamboree neckerchiefs and other

Names of Eugene Tonn and J. L. Tubbs Inadvertently Omitted From Fair Catalog

Quantity Cigaretts, Believed Stolen, Found by Officers

Eighty cartons of Camel cigarettes, believed by officers to have been stolen, are being held at the Stamford city hall, after they were found Monday afternoon by City Marshal Al Cousins, Sheriff Giles Kemp, Haskell, and Jay Johnson, member of the Stamford police department. Officers found the cigarettes bundled together in a burlap bag, cached underneath a bridge several miles south of Stamford. Wholesale value of the cigarettes, officers say, will exceed $100.00.

Shipments of Eggs And Poultry Over State in Decline

AUSTIN, Tex.—Poultry and egg shipments, interstate, from Texas during July were 45 cars, against 58 cars during the like month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The shipments for July of the current year were composed of 12 cars of poultry and 33 cars of eggs. Last year during July there were 40 cars of poultry and 18 cars of eggs. There were only six cars of eggs brought in from other states, five from Kansas and one from Illinois. Last year thirteen cars were shipped into the State, all of them from Kansas.

HASKELL VOTERS O. K. BOND SALE

Stamp of Approval Given in Election Saturday For New School Building

The voters of the Haskell Independent School district approved the $25000 bond issue last Saturday by a vote of more than two to one. The vote was much lighter than expected by those interested, as only 237 votes were cast. 156 of those expressed their approval, while 71 opposed the issue. Very little campaigning was done on either side of the question. The proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be added to a $20,000 grant from the Federal government under a WPA project and a new North Ward school building will be erected. Present plans call for the erection of a twelve-room structure of modern style, with all rooms on the ground floor and an additional space for a gymnasium-auditorium. It will be steam-heated and furnished with new furniture. Drawings of the new building may be seen in the show windows of several downtown business houses. The present building which has been in use for about 30 years will be torn down and the available material will be used in the construction of the new building according to the plans of the school board. Just when actual work will begin on the building has not been decided, as the contract will not be let until the WPA grant is approved and the money available. Officials are hopeful that the necessary preliminaries may be speeded up and a contract let by the first of the year, or sooner if possible.

Stolen Ardmore Car Found Here

Arousing the suspicions of local officers when they abandoned a car which they were driving in an alley here Wednesday, two Oklahoma men will face charges of automobile theft in that state, according to Ardmore officers. Bill Gregory, 33 and Jeff Sarrells, 16-year-old youth, were detained by Sheriff Giles Kemp and City Marshal Al Cousins after officers had notified that the two men were seen hastily leaving a car which they had driven into an alley in the rear of the Tonkawa Hotel. Officers found in the automobile, a 1933 Plymouth coupe, papers and letters belonging to Hugh McIntire, Ardmore contractor, and when the two men told conflicting stories regarding possession of the car, Sheriff Kemp telephoned Ardmore officers, and learned that the car had been stolen in that city Tuesday morning. Gregory and Sarrells were placed in the county jail to await Ardmore officers, who will extradite them to Oklahoma, Kemp stated.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

There are many reasons for the increasing popularity of cheese. One is that it is a concentrated food, rich in protein, fat, calcium, phosphorus and sulphur. Next, cheese fits into any meal and helps the home-maker in creating varied and interesting menus. After trying these recipes I'm sure you will be an ardent advocate of more cheese dishes in the home.

Cheese and Rice Croquettes

1 pound soft cheese.
1 egg.
2 cups cold boiled rice.
2 tablespoons melted butter.
Add egg, butter and a dash of salt and pepper to rice and mix well. Form cheese into small balls. Cover these with the rice mixture on all sides so the cheese will be inside the rice covering. Form into balls. Dip in fine crumbs, egg and again in crumbs. Fry in hot deep fat. Serve with cheese sauce.

Cheese Sauce

Melt two tablespoons of butter, add two tablespoons of flour. Cook to a paste, add one cup of milk. Cook until it thickens and add one cup of grated cheese. Season with a little Worcestershire sauce and a touch of prepared mustard.

Cheese Pinwheels

Turn soft biscuit dough out on a floured board and knead slightly. Brush with melted butter. Spread one cup of grated cheese over the dough and sprinkle with a little salt and paprika. Roll as a jelly roll. Cut into 1-4 inch slices. Place on a greased baking sheet and bake in an oven 425 degrees for 15 minutes.

Vegetable and Cheese Surprise

1 1/2 cups macaroni.
1 can of asparagus.
1 can tomato soup.
3/4 cup grated cheese.
Bread crumbs.
Paprika.
3 slices bacon.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water. Drain and place in a baking dish. Pour over it a can of tomato soup, lay the asparagus on top. Sprinkle with salt and add grated cheese. Cover top with the bread crumbs and sprinkle with paprika. Cut strips of bacon in two and lay on top. Bake in an oven 375 degrees until heated through.

Roquefort and Crackers

Mash 2 ounces Roquefort cheese and add slowly to 1/4 cup heavy cream. Beat until light. Freeze in a small rectangular pan. Serve in thin slices with hard crackers and black coffee.

Roquefort Cheese Ring

Dissolve 1 package of lemon flavored gelatin in 1 cup of boiling water, add 1 tablespoon of vinegar. Mash 1 package of cream cheese and an equal quantity of Roquefort cheese and add to the partially cooled gelatin, mixing to a smooth paste. Add 1 cup of crushed pineapple, and when almost cool fold in 1/2 cup of whipped cream. Turn into a ring mold and set away to chill. Unmold on lettuce and fill the center with a salad of grapefruit, orange, pineapple and cucumber cut into cubes. Decorate with maraschino cherries. Serve with mayonnaise.

Cheese and Green Pepper Sandwiches

2 tablespoons mayonnaise.
1 package cream cheese.
1 tablespoon green pepper, chopped.

Blend the mayonnaise, cream cheese and green pepper. Butter thin slices of bread, spread with green pepper mixture. Garnish with bits of pimento.

Cheese Entree

4 cups milk.
3 eggs.
3 cups bread crumbs.
1/2 lb. cheese.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 teaspoon salt.

Scald the milk, pour over bread crumbs, add cheese cut in thin pieces. Cool. Add melted butter, beaten eggs and salt. Season with pepper, paprika and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Bake in an oven 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Practical Parent-|| Teacher Help

At the beginning of the school year there are a number of ways in which parents can cooperate with the school, according to a writer in the Christian Science Monitor. It isn't enough that Johnny and Mary are neatly dressed and provided with luncheon money or nourishing lunches. Schools naturally want to do all they can for the pupils, but from the school point of view, a great deal more can be accomplished if parents will take a more active interest.

Sometimes parents feel that they are not wanted in schools. Of course, Johnny may prefer that Mother or Dad should not come! But administrators and teachers who are sincerely trying to do the best possible thing for Johnny, are genuinely anxious to talk with his parents. With the load that teachers carry in our modern American system, it is almost impossible for principals and regular classroom teachers to visit any but special cases. Hence parents should make an effort to contact the school.

Definite Advantages

There are a number of definite advantages from such contacts. First of all, parents can make sure that the child is taking the right course. All too often at the end of the junior or senior high school period it is discovered that certain subjects have been missed which were prerequisites for the future course. Certain colleges require Latin; others accept French. Different colleges require different numbers of units in languages, mathematics and history. Parents can secure from colleges the lists of required subjects and check up with the school.

It is always helpful to the school to know of each pupil's strengths and weaknesses as the parent sees them. Teachers can then cooperate to overcome weaknesses. The writer, a school principal, recalls talking with one mother whose daughter was very shy and diffident. The girl was an excellent student, co-operative and dependable in every way. She was outstanding in her written work, but obviously found it difficult to do her best in oral recitations. The mother said that her daughter would like very much to take part in dramatics, but she was so shy that she hesitated to "try out" for plays. As a result of the conversation, the girl was given small parts in classroom dramatizations in social studies. Gradually her self-confidence was established. Two years later this girl took the leading part in the final school play of the year, and gave a splendid performance. If the mother had not told the school of the girl's secret ambition, the school would not have given the girl all it could. Let the school know about your child.

Home Background

A third point is that after the teachers have talked with a parent, the teachers have an idea of the pupil's home background. This is always very helpful.

We sometimes hear that modern schools expect too much of pupils. It is to be suspected that the opposite is more often true. We do not expect enough of our children. We each may have different talents, but schools and parents are not doing all they might unless the talents are fully used.

Principals are frequently asked, "Is it advisable for a parent to visit a class of which a son or daughter is a member?" Probably most children do not do their best if a parent is listening. But here is a helpful solution—or partial solution. Visit a similar class group. Then the parent gets an idea of the type of work, the questions asked, and what is expected of the pupil.

Livestock Situation In Texas

(By C. A. Merchant, Caretaker of State-Owned Jack, Haskell County.)

January 1, 1934 found literally thousands of farms and ranches over the State of Texas void of both mules and horses—others claimed a few brood mares—but colts were a scarcity. Registered and high grade stallions and jacks were seldom found anywhere in the State. The breeding and raising of horses and mule colts had declined during the past few years until the Federal Census of 1930 gave the average age at 18 years plus.

The above condition had not only affected the livestock industry, but had in a manner thrown the real farming program, on almost every farm, entirely out of order. Land that had been formerly used for pasturage and raising of feed was now planted to cotton—directly adding to the ever growing surplus and gradually bringing the price down to starvation levels.

It was obvious that something had to be done, not only for the livestock situation, but to help correct the program on Texas farms. And to this end Hon. J. E. McDonald, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, devoted days of time and hard work in bringing about relief; seeing in the future the bringing back of horses and mules to Texas farms and ranches and an awakening to the real farming program of diversification.

The opportunity came at the time of the passage of the Horse Racing Bill, and Commissioner McDonald demanded and received for use by the State Department of Agriculture, 25 per cent of the State Tax to be used for the purchase of jacks and stallions to be distributed over Texas.

The first funds for this purpose became available in January, 1934, and immediately the purchase and distribution of jacks and stallions was begun. The first seven months of the program found the State Department of Agriculture had delivered over Texas, one hundred and fifty Registered and high grade jacks and stallions, consisting of Belgian, Percheron, Saddle and Morgan Stallions, and high grade jacks. September 1st, 1935, find the State of Texas the largest purchaser of jacks and stallions in the United States; having purchased and delivered to this time, two hundred and twenty-four head, at an average cost of $376.00. In the 106 head of jacks owned by the State of Texas is to be found "General Linden," the three times Grand Champion Jack of Tennessee, and which at this time is one of the five outstanding jacks in the United States.

Also prominent among the jacks owned by the State of Texas and which are proving their worth in many counties are "Black Hawk Chief," "Brigadier General," "Colonel Taylor" and many others. Eighty-six head of registered and high grade Draft Stallions are now located on Texas farms and ranches, through the efforts of Commissioner McDonald. In these stallions the foundation stock for more and better colts will be had for the raising of better brood mares is very necessary. In portions of the State needing saddle type horses, Commissioner McDonald has placed thirty-two head of registered saddle stallions.

For the period ending August 31, 1935, approximately 11,000 breedings have been reported by the caretakers of these jacks and stallions. Figuring on the basis of a seventy per cent colt crop there will be 7,700 horse and mule colts grazing on Texas farms and ranches within the next few months at an estimated value of more than $450,000.00 increase in livestock for

Texas. And it is evident that each year will find this program growing until once again Texas will find her vast acres used for the purpose for which it was intended, and Texas should within a few short years be one of the foremost livestock producing states of the Nation.

Figures show that in thirteen Southern States, sixty-five per cent of all work stock are mules. In some states eighty-five to ninety per cent are mules. With the exception of Tennessee and Kentucky, practically all work stock used in the South is raised outside of the Southern States. Statistics show that we have in 1935, two million one hundred and ninety-six or 26 per cent less work stock than we had in 1920.

Commissioner McDonald states that efforts will be made to place Jacks and Stallions in every county of the state as fast as funds accrue for this purpose, and to show the interest of Texas in this program, there is on file with the Department of Agriculture more than 2,000 applications for jacks and stallions.

Dictionary Games Prove Instructive

Did you ever try dictionary games? For a rainy day or evening it is great fun, and the minutes fly by on wings. On a recent rainy evening as a group sat about the fireplace munching popcorn after an hour or two with dictionaries, notebooks and pencils, a lad of 14 said, "I didn't know words were such fun! I've learned more words this summer than I did all last year. We ought to do this in school."

Naturally there arises a practical question. Where can one secure a dozen or more dictionaries at reasonable cost? Usually the school department of any fair-sized community buys some new dictionaries each year and discards used ones. These latter may be purchased at a trifling sum, compared to the cost of new ones. A bit of work with mending tape will restore them. The writer used one book for pages to replace lost ones in other books.

One jolly game is to select "most-est" words: the most beautiful words, the most descriptive words, the softest-sounding words, the harshest-sounding words, the funniest words, the most peculiar words. Set a time limit and watch the pages and pencils fly!

A 15-year-old girl selected these as her 10 "most beautiful" words: Mother, dawn, love, baby, whispering, anemone, dusk, starlight, mist and moonlight. A lad of the same age made this list of descriptive words: moldy, popinjay, poop-poop, catwalk, chipper, frolic, frizzly, picayune, reptilian, and sapsucker. Another game that furnishes fun is to choose a subject and make a list of words that naturally accompanies it. And youngsters will give adults a hard race for honors. For example, the word "cloud" (if illustrated, and for this game one chooses illustrated words) in our dictionaries was illustrated by sketches of the following types: cirro-stratus, cirrus, cirro-cumulus, alto-cumulus, nimbus, and cumulus. Can you look up those words and write a definition of each in four minutes? In whatever time you do it, you'll learn much about the common cloud types.

An exciting memory game is played by studying the words on a chosen page for a certain number of minutes. Then in a given time limit write down all that are remembered. And anyone has the right to ask another the meaning of a word that the latter has written! If the writer cannot define the word, it is ruled out.

"Unknown Words" is a contest in which each strives to get unknown words that no one in the group can define. It's embarrassing for the adults, but very educational!

Along with these games, it is fun to make one's own notebook dictionary. An inexpensive loose-leaf notebook with lined pages is convenient. It is interesting to build up various vocabularies, such as picturesque words, historical words, and foreign words in common use.

Picked Up at Sea
LONDON—A small Portuguese fishing boat, without wireless, waited eight days in the steamer line in order to deliver an injured sailor to some liner. The Berengaria picked up the man whose hand had been crushed, gave him emergency treatment and passengers raised a purse of $300.

Miss Mary Ben Chapman left last Saturday for Abilene where she entered training at the Baptist Sanitarium.

Foundation Decay Cause of Losses

Inadequate or decaying foundations are the most costly impairments to a house, in the opinion of contractors, for they constitute a constant drain on the pocketbook for repair sin almost every part of the home.

Weak, crumbling foundations mean sagging, cracking, and falling-down process of the house generally which affects every floor and wall. Many home owners pay out hundreds of dollars for floor and wall repair work without realizing that the same amount of money expended on the foundation would stop the cause of the continual financial drain.

Good, permanent foundations can be given every house easily and economically. Using jacks as supports for the house, workmen excavate for a basement. Then concrete or other permanent walls can be built. Home owners should not overlook the recreational opportunities opened up by the excavated space under the house. This space, instead of being allowed to remain idle, or be used as a depository for refuse, may with but little expense be turned into a recreational center for the entire family.

To begin with, the basement walls may be finished. New partitions can be added which will divide the basement into various recreational rooms, such as children's rainy-day play room, lounge, study, and workshop combinations. Interesting and charming designs in interior finish may be effected.

Much-needed foundation improvements are now made possible by the plan established in the National Housing Act. This law enables the home owner to go to his bank, trust company, or building and loan association and, with no red tape, borrow up to $2,000 for the renovating of his home. These agencies make these loans, because they are insured by the Federal Government up to 20 per cent of the total credit they extend. The Government itself lends no money.

Contractors agree that one of the best improvement investments is that designed for the strengthening of the foundation, for in this way the life of the entire house is lengthened, repair bills for other parts of the home are lowered, and in many cases wiped out entirely, and livability is also increased by the recreational use of the basement resulting from the improvements.

YOUR HEALTH

By John W. Brown, M. D. State Health Officer

AUSTIN, Texas.—About nine out of every ten persons in the United States have something wrong with their teeth. At least eight of each ten have caries, or dental decay. A long list of other maladies, including the famous "pyorrhea" is to be discovered in even a casual examination of the teeth in any community.

Why do so many people suffer the misery of bad teeth? Dental research in recent years has revealed that the real trouble is the diet and other health habits of civilized folk, and not civilization itself. We may be both civilized and have good teeth.

The teeth are living organs, and must be nourished, like any other part of the body. They are composed principally of calcium, a mineral found in great abundance in milk. Hence the insistence of dental scientists on the use of greater amounts of milk in the diet.

It is also important to preserve the general bodily health, for dental decay often begins during periods of general ill health. Teeth of mothers are also particularly liable to decay during pregnancy, hence at this time particular attention should be paid to the diet, after consultation with a physician.

Another important time for teeth health is in infancy and early childhood. Children should have plenty of milk, should receive some Vitamin D food, and should be permitted to play in the sunlight as often as possible.

For dental decay is not a simple disease; it has many causes, and its treatment does not depend on the dentist alone, but on every person who wants to improve the health of his teeth.

Mr. Willie Baccus is visiting relatives at Red Springs this week.

Cotton Growers Being Urged To Keep Up Records

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration today urged cotton producers who may wish to sell their cotton immediately and whose crop is already being harvested and ginned for sale to obtain and keep sales slips from buyers, so as to be sure to have adequate sales records on which the government will be able to make adjustment payments under the new loan and payment plan.

The necessary forms upon which payments of the difference between the average price and twelve cents will be disbursed are being prepared. In the interim producers who desire to market their crop are advised to compile a careful record which will include a description of the cotton sold, the buyer to whom the cotton was sold, the date of sale and the names of the parties, including tenants, who have an interest in the cotton sold. It is especially important that producers should obtain from the buyer a memorandum of sale which contains the date of sale and the gross weight of the bale or bales sold.

"We are proceeding as rapidly as possible to prepare and make available the necessary forms which will be used under this new plan," Chester C. Davis, Administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, said, "and provision will be made for those producers who either have already marketed their crop or who desire to do so before these forms are available. We recognize that there are buyers and merchants who have immediate commitments on the new crop and it is our desire to place producers in a position to market their crop as soon after ginning as they choose. However, it is important that complete information be available which may be transferred to printed forms when they are completed for distribution."

HENRY-LESSON RADCLIFFE

International Sunday School Lessons for September 8, 1935

Golden Text: "Give her of the fruit of her hands: And let her works praise her in the gates." Proverbs 31:31.

Lesson Text: Acts 16:11-18; 18:1-3; 24:25

Answering the famous Macedonian call, Paul and his missionary party sailed from Asia for Europe, apparently stopping first at Philippi, a Roman colony founded where Anthony and Octavius had defeated the republican Brutus and Cassius.

"Paul arrived in Philippi about twenty years after the foundation of the church at Jerusalem after the Pentecostal effusion," says G. Campbell Morgan. "Rome had small cities that day that the van of the army of its ultimate Conqueror had taken possession of one of its frontier defenses. On that day the flag was planted in a frontier colony of Rome, which, eventually, was to make necessary the lowering of her flag, and the change of the world's history."

As was customary, Paul attended the religious services of the Sabbath, where he came into contact with Lydia. "Lydia was in the place, at the right time, and with the right people," says Frederick A. Noble. "Had she been absent from that little meeting on the Sabbath, she herself would not have found Christ. Her name would not have figured as it has for all these centuries for a sacred role of honor and influence." So, this woman became the first convert to Christianity in Europe.

"How unlike invention in the story," says William Furneaux. "What an insignificant result after the double prohibition in Asia, the vision of Troas, the long voyage, the high expectation! One solitary convert, a woman, and she already a seeker after God, and a native of that very Asia where they had been forbidden to preach! But that the first convert in Europe was a woman was a prophecy of the happy change in the lot of women which Christianity was to effect. A new era had dawned for that half of mankind which had been neglected and oppressed through the ages. If man owes much to Christ, woman owes in no sense even more. He delivered her from being man's drudge or plaything, and raised her to be his friend and equal, to enter the Kingdom by his side. And woman has acknowledged the debt by sweetening homes and purifying social life."

Lydia became the hostess for the missionary workers. "Paul and his companions shared her hospitality," says F. C. Hogarth. "Christianity owed much to such hospitality and support. The missionaries were 'birds of passage,' hibernating from place to place, and homes such as Lydia's, with a spare bed for the preacher, and all the kindly ministrations of a true home, were an invaluable aid. Journeys were long and the ways of life hard for Christian pioneers, nor were they strangers to persecution and imprisonment. How good it much have been to know there was a home

F. C. A. Course At Fort Worth Great Success

The second sectional short course of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston, held at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, August 26 and 27, was a great success, according to W. H. McCandless, secretary-treasurer of the Rule and Haskell National Farm Loan Association, who, with F. E. Hines and Martin Arend, directors of the association, have just returned from the meeting. All who attended had an opportunity to learn more of the operations of the various units of this large financing system for agriculture that has, through its operations, helped thousands of Texas farmers and ranchers to carry on through the period of emergency.

Among the principal speakers at the meeting were A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston and General Agent of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston, who spoke on the work of the Federal Land Bank in making loans on its own behalf and as Agent for the Land Bank Commission. Mr. Williams also told of recent legislation which permits Land Bank Commissioner loans to be made to worthy tenant farmers to enable them to purchase farms of their own. The objective of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston in coordinating National Farm Loan Associations and Production Credit Associations was discussed by Mr. Williams. Of this he said:

"Our ultimate goal is to have credit centers accessible located where farmers and stockmen can secure both long and short term credit service according to their needs. In these local credit centers the National Farm Loan Associations should be linked together as closely as administratively feasible in order to render the maximum service at the minimum cost. Problems related to credits, collections, management, territory and improved services to borrowers will be worked out on a basis of mutual advantage to both systems."

Unexpected Profit

NEW YORK. — When General Motors Corporation, during the banking crisis of 1933, subscribed half of the twenty-five million dollar capital of a new bank in Detroit, it did not expect to have a paper profit of more than 100 per cent. The $9,720,350 worth of stock which it acquired was worth $23,238,840 on December 31st of last year.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS, Jr.

AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—Speculation as to the range of legislative subjects to be submitted by Gov. Alfred, which will determine the length and the number of special sessions, filled the atmosphere in Austin as the solons prepared to answer the Sept. 16 call for an extraordinary session. Financing a state old-age pension program, authorized by the voters in the special election by an overwhelming majority, may reopen the entire subject of state revenue. This would be an opening for the governor to resubmit all or part of his extensive tax program, most of which fell by the wayside in the regular session. Such highly controversial subjects as chain-store taxes, sales tax, state income tax, liquor taxes and others doubtless will be offered and debated at length, if the governor's message opens the way.

The governor has clearly indicated he considers liquor regulation under repeal the paramount subject. He has advised against hasty action. The legislature is probably as closely divided upon the liquor question as were the people, who registered less than 10 per cent majority of votes cast, in favor of repeal. Bitter controversy is forecast by the lengthy battle that was necessary for the legislators even to get the matter before the voters as a constitutional amendment. Opinion ranges all the way from state monopoly, from the bone dry bloc, down to minimum restrictions and free flow of hard liquor by the extreme liberals. It will take many hours of committee sessions, hotel room caucuses and floor debate to enact finally a state law to license the sale of liquor and enable dry communities to protect themselves by local option.

Behind every man who has achieved greatness in history, there is usually the shadow of a good woman. Close friends of United States Senator Tom Connally, 2000 of whom gathered at Marlin to pay their last respects to Mrs. Connally, say this is true to an unusual extent in the case of the distinguished junior senator from Texas. Possessed of a remarkably keen mind, and a sure instinct for the right, which hurdled easily the hazards of politics, Mrs. Connally was not only the constant companion, but the influential adviser of the senator. From every corner of the state friends came to the family home at Marlin last week, to extend their condolences to Sen. Connally and his young son, Ben, and to express their conviction that all of Texas, as well as her own family, had suffered a great loss in her death.

Many men live on "borrowed time" as the saying goes, but to Fred Glassie, Tarrant county farmer, goes the distinction of having lived for six years on borrowed blood. Every six weeks he has to undergo a blood transfusion, due to aplastic anemia, a rare disease about which doctors know little. Relatives have furnished the blood, his wife having contributed hers three times. Between times, Glassie goes about his work normally, and feels no ill effects, except for a few days prior to each transfusion, when he becomes weak and tires easily.

'Relief Business' in Texas Numbered

AUSTIN, Tex.—Sounding another reminder that the days of "relief business" in Texas are numbered, the Texas Relief Commission has informed district administration offices that the school lunch program which last year aided in providing lunches for 51,000 children weekly, will not be resumed this year.

Following up repeated suggestions that citizens look to their own resources, officials have urged that Parent Teachers Associations, men's and women's service clubs, church societies, and other organizations continue the school lunch program in communities where it is needed.

"With our funds definitely limited, we would not be justified in making plans for a year's program for needy children when we probably could not carry it out," Mrs. Val M. Keating, Director of Social Service, said in recommending that private, local organizations continue the lunch program.

Last year the Relief Commission sponsored projects in 94 schools, furnishing daily lunches for 9350 children a week, and jointly sponsored projects with local organizations in 721 other schools, furnishing lunches for 42,001 children a week.

By Caponizing Chickens, Weight Gains Are Shown

Caponizing causes chickens to make rapid gains in weight, states Mrs. W. J. Kendrick, cooperator in the Rose Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Kendrick has 18 chickens that have been caponized. Eight of these were caponized five weeks ago and they now weigh 4 pounds. These chickens were six weeks old and they were kept up without food for 36 hours before being caponized. Mrs. Kendrick is so well pleased with them that she is caponizing all of them as they are old enough.

Tried and True--

Before a man can qualify to be a private in an army, he must be able to pass some rigid tests.

Many men are not accepted. They cannot qualify.

Before those who are taken on trial can be promoted, they must have proven their merits.

In examining recruits for aviation and other specialized forms of service, most thorough and exacting tests are required. Some of those who have tried have proven true.

These principles apply to advertising. Tests are made. Some have tried mimeographed circulars and found them fallen by the wayside. Others have tried folders. These go to the wastebasket. Others have proven that the newspaper—an invited guest in the home—is given most reader consideration. STILL OTHERS have tried and found true a specialized combination of direct mail and newspaper advertising.

May we help you work out a campaign of action to help you gain your own particular objectives?

FALSE ECONOMY

True economy is entirely praiseworthy, particularly for those who have difficulty in making ends meet, but there is a petty sort of skimping which is not economy, and which is really wasteful in the long run.

Time and effort expended to effect the saving of a penny here and a nickel there often is a source of loss instead of gain. Shopping around for an hour in the hope of saving a few cents on a trivial purchase is one example of this. Another is to buy an inferior article when a good one would cost but a little more.

The same principle applies in business management. To deny oneself the use of a reasonable amount of up-to-date equipment in an effort to curtail expenditures is not economy because such equipment will usually pay for itself many times over in time and labor saving.

Spending money wisely is one of the surest means of making money. Skimping is not always economy and stinginess is not always thrift. Too many of us are "penny wise and pound foolish."

CHILDREN'S THREAT

Josiah Boyden thought it was good for people to go to Sunday School. He thought ice cream cones were good for them, too. And so, seven years after Mr. Boyden's death, the money he left in a trust fund for the purpose has been buying ice cream cones for faithful Sunday School attendants in the Massachusetts town where Josiah Boyden lived. Often men have made strange bequests, devised unusual means of disposing of their wealth after death. Some endow universities, establish memorial funds, erect monuments. Some give fortunes to odd cults that have aroused their interest. Against such projects the ice cream cone trust fund is extremely small—only $1000—and unpretentious. Yet boys and girls attending the Massachusetts Sunday School will not forget those ice cream cones, and it is doubtful if the finest building or monument could perpetuate the name of the donor in a more lasting way than has this fund. Here is another example of the fact that often the simplest acts are best remembered, exert the greatest influence.

NO RABBITS, NO CURE-ALLS

A healthy attitude is apparent in the special cabinet committee studying the textile industry. The full report of this committee, which has gone into every phase of the ailing textile industry, is due soon. It should be the most enlightening study yet made. An anonymous member of the group is quoted by the United Press as saying, "We will pull no rabbits out of a hat, nor suggest cure-alls for problems which even the government can not solve." That is encouraging. We are becoming used to expecting miracles from governmental planning. This can help, but the final victory over the ills that beset us can be won only by patient, persistent effort on the part of all, each doing his job a little better, and with a little more regard for the other fellow and his problems. It will be a long pull, but it must and can be done.

A CHANCE TO LEARN

Commander Charles E. Rosendahl asks the Navy to permit the decommissioned dirigible Los Angeles to be used for an extensive series of test flights while the government is determining its future policy with regard to lighter-than-air craft. Commander Rosendahl declares that the Los Angeles was removed from service as an economy measure and not because it had ceased to be air-worthy. It is his idea that the big ship would make an excellent "flying laboratory" in which the Navy might find out many things that would enable it to decide wisely about the future of dirigibles. There seems to be a good deal of sense in his proposal. There is still reason to suspect that our airship tragedies might have been prevented if we had known as much about building and flying the big ships as the Germans do. Properly used, the Los Angeles might help us to gain that knowledge.

DROUGHT DESTROYS CIVILIZATION

Every year a growing tree puts on a "ring" whose width is largely determined by the moisture available and experts by counting the rings can tell the age of the tree. Moreover, by observing the width of the various rings they can tell whether the tree had normal moisture or suffered from dry weather when the ring was formed. By the use of living trees in a particular locality, plus the observation of trees used in construction, the experts by a system of overlapping, can, with reasonable certainty, tell what kind of weather a given area enjoyed in any year that is covered by the tree rings studied. Using this method Dr. A. E. Douglas, of the University of Arizona, has decided that drought caused the decline and fall of an ancient American nation. In the Chaco Canyon region of New Mexico a settlement of forty villages was abandoned six centuries ago and today the area is a treeless waste where agriculture is impossible, although evidence indicates that earlier pine trees grew and the soil produced crops.

-CURRENT COMMENT-

HITCH-HIKER CRIMES

(Fort Worth Star-Telegram)

Recently the police at Wichita, Kansas, got curious about hitch-hikers and their possible connection with crimes. The Topeka Capital reports that the police took in all the hitch-hikers they could lay their hands on, and fingerprinted them. They found that two out of every five had criminal records.

The paper reports no less than six recent murders in Oklahoma involved killing of motorists by hitch-hikers. Other recent killings of the same sort were reported in Oregon, Virginia, Nebraska and New Mexico. It might also be remembered, the paper reminds, that when Pretty Boy Floyd was finally hunted down he was hitch-hiking across the country.

The ordinary American is a good-natured person; the pioneer tradition of rendering assistance on the road is still strong in the West. It is upon these two facts that the hitch-hiker trades. He collects a good deal of free transportation, promotes the existence of a vagabond class which does the country no good, and creates a fine opening for a lot of old-fashioned highway robbery.

As an individual, the hitch-hiker may be a likeable chap. As an institution he is a menace.

A VIVID LESSON IN CRIME

(Wichita Falls Record-News)

Finding the body of John Hamilton in a gravel pit near a small town in Illinois seems to write "finis" to the story of the Dillinger gang; and if there ever was a story which ought to dispel the glamour which is supposed to invest the lives of outlaws, this surely is the one.

It is hard to recall any outlaw gang which was as completely and ruthlessly crushed as the Dillinger mob. Dillinger was shot down in an alley, Pierpont was electrocuted, Nelson and Makley and Van Meter and heaven knows who else were killed by officers . . . and now, at the end, we get this picture of Hamilton, dying from gunshot wounds as the gang fled frantically from the law, buried hostily in a gravel pit by the wayside as Nemesis closed in on the survivors.

It's a dark picture. Any impressionable youth who can study it and still feel that there is something gay and dashing about an outlaw's life ought to have his head examined.

Bill Fox may well be called the champion optimist. He was sitting on the roof of his house during a flood, watching the water flow past, when the neighbor who owned a boat rowed across to him.

"Hello, Sam!" replied Bill, pleasantly.

"All your fowls washed away this morning?"
"Yes, but the ducks can swim."
"Orange trees gone, too?"
"Yes, but everybody said the crop would be a failure, anyhow."

"I see the river's reached above your windows, Bill."
"That's all right, Sam," was the reply. "Them windows needed washin'."—Montreal Star.

"THE LAST ADVERTISEMENT WAS PRINTED YESTERDAY"

What would the World be like if it were true?

The last advertisement was printed yesterday. You have cut it out and put it away to show your grandchildren. With it, a way of living as you knew it, has passed forever.

Tonight you will want to see a movie. You pull up to one—saw it last week. At another—but no, you don't like So-and-So's acting. Let's go home. It's too much gas and time to waste on a show. Next month half the theaters will close. Poor attendance.

Tomorrow you will want some groceries. You will go to the nearest grocery store and buy some. Rib roast, perhaps, and lima beans. You won't hear until tomorrow night at the bridge table that the store just next door was having a "special" on rib roast and lima beans. Pretty soon your husband will wonder why the food bills are so high. The last advertisement was printed yesterday.

Next month is Aunt Jane's birthday. Well, if you think I'm going to spend half a day tramping from store to store looking for a gift that I used to find by turning a page—can't afford gifts anyway. We're spending money like water and living like poor folks . . .

Old car's wearing out. Can't afford a new one . . . Chevies and V-8's are both $1600 . . . demand's fallen off . . . they've had to up prices to meet plant expenses. Most of the others have closed down . . . don't know how the government will feed all the new unemployed.

Fellow in Milwaukee is inventing an air conditioner to sell for $50. No one will hear of it. You will never see it. What is air conditioning anyway? The last advertisement was printed yesterday.

Advertising has brought us many things. Finer cars, better homes, silly fads and wonderful inventions that have made life easier—and longer. Advertising is no unmixed blessing. But it has helped give America a standard of living unmatched in any other place and time. That standard of living should persist as long as people have wants to fill and money to spend and eyes to read with.

It will persist only so long as the presses keep rolling.

Texas Livestock Shipments Decline

AUSTIN, Texas.—Texas livestock shipments declined sharply in July in comparison with the like month last year, reflecting the huge government drought relief purchases a year ago, it was pointed out by Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director and livestock expert of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Total shipments for the month were only 3,903 cars, against 8,539 cars during July last year, a decline of 54 per cent. Cattle shipments of 2,831 cars represented a decline of 47 per cent; calves, 509 cars, a decline of 41 per cent; hogs, 128 cars, a decline of 60 per cent; and sheep, 345 cars, a decline of 3 per cent. Aggregate shipments of all classes of livestock during the first seven months of the year were 33,399 cars against 39,795 cars during the corresponding period last year.

"There are two main reasons for the wide disparity between shipments during July this year and the similar month last year," Dr. Buechel said. "First, the number of head of livestock on farms and ranches has been greatly reduced as a result of the government's livestock destruction program last summer induced by drought, and second, the remaining livestock furnishes the best medium for marketing the abundant feed and pasturage which prevails throughout most of the State. The result is that this year livestock will be held on the farm and ranch as long as it is economically feasible, in order to market the maximum of this abundant grass and feed crop through a limited number of livestock and at the same time to improve the quality of the cattle as a result of the better 'finish' which adequate feeding gives."

"Farmers and ranchers, moreover, are justified in their confidence that prices of livestock will hold up well for a good many months. If present prospects for the continued upward trend of business materializes, as seems highly probable, consumer demand for meat promises to strengthen, which is the most healthful sustaining force any commodity can have. Moreover, feeders from the Middle West will bid aggressively for the Texas cattle."

"The falling off in shipments of cattle in comparison with last year is greatest in those districts in which drought conditions were most severe a year ago, as might be expected."

"Shipments of cattle and calves to the Fort Worth market showed only a moderate decline in comparison with the sharp decline of Texas livestock to the other large markets. The number of sheep to the Fort Worth market increased substantially over last year. Shipments of Texas cattle to Illinois, Iowa, and Nebraska are running well ahead of a year ago."

part in the Scout scenes, said Ed Shumway, who will direct the pageant.

Not only will several early Haskell historical events be portrayed during the Golden Jubilee Pageant but several colorful scenes of early Texas history will also be portrayed, including groups costumed as the Spanish, French and Continental soldiers and explorers were formerly dressed. These old time costumes are very unique and historically correct.

The Spanish Explorers will be dressed in the famous costume of the DeSoto period, helmet, armor, etc. The French Explorers will add to the color plan in their colorful and plumed hats, brilliant colored cloaks and breeches and of course the colonial dandies will wear the powdered wigs, silk and satins and ruffles typical of the Colonial days.

The Golden Jubilee Pageant is creating considerable interest throughout Haskell county and it will probably be necessary to put on an advance sale of tickets to accommodate those who desire to obtain choice seats.

able mention for all-state, is in his second year of football, and is now ready to corral more honors.

The McMillian family is well represented, with Lloyd, a guard, and Lon, tackle, threatening to crowd into the ranks as starters.

Artie Phippen, all-conference end, is the subject of an experiment this year on the part of Coach Richey, who hopes to convert the flashy end into a back. Bill Reeves, another letterman, will be back as a dependable guard, and S. A. Moser has his position as an end almost cinched again.

Among last year's squadmen certain to crowd in among the regulars are Weldon Smith, who played in a few games last year, and Albert Barnett, a speedster. Both are tackles, and are showing up well.

Other squadmen bidding for places are Eugene Rose, guard James Roy Akins, Robert Thompson, tackle; A. J. Pinkerton, end; Claude Jenkins, back; Duffer Crawford, center; Thomas Kaigler, end.

Head-shaking on the part of Coach Richey has failed to conceal his interest in the work of two new men—Marvin Huff, a 187 lb. tackle from the Midway community, and Carl Henshaw, 163 lb. end. Huff has already demonstrated his power in the few practice workouts, while Henshaw has gone at his work viciously—to the consternation of second-stringers.

Other new players whom Richey and Mason will watch closely are Robert Wheatley, Henry Stanton, J. C. Scott, C. E. Burson, Jimmie Crawford.

And about an even dozen freshmen who entertain "hopes."

"Farmers and ranchers, moreover, are justified in their confidence that prices of livestock will hold up well for a good many months. Building Farm Bins and Granaries

(By M. R. Bentley, Extension Agricultural Engineer)

The main consideration in constructing a grain bin is to provide protection against excessive moisture. Other factors are the strength of the structure and protection against insects, and rats and mice, and against fire hazards.

Moisture damage to grain may result from its storage with too high a moisture content, or from the condensation of moisture on the walls and roof of the bin, as well as from rainfall leaking through into the bin. Protection against rainfall water is the easiest to manage.

When grain as it comes from the thresher is too damp to store in farm bins, it is usually most economical to put it in an elevator where it may be moved by power machinery until it is dried out. Small quantities may be handled on the farm if space is available to spread the grain only a few inches deep where it may be stirred with a shovel. Sometimes the particles of green weeds in grain coming from a combine are sufficient to make ordinary farm storage hazardous even though the grain be dry. Condensation is more likely to occur on sheet iron or concrete walls than on lumber walls. It is, therefore, less hazardous to store grain suspected of being a little high in moisture content in wooden bins on the farm. Any bin should have a vent above the grain to permit the movement of damp air out of the bin. Vents in the walls and through the grain will aid in getting rid of excess moisture.

It is well to keep in mind in storing damp grain that it is advantageous to put it in a cool place as well as a ventilated place. For example, if a grain bin is exposed to the hot sunlight, the tendency of the grain to spoil is increased in proportion to the heat transmitted through the walls and roof into the bin. Dry grain is not damaged by the sun's heat on the granary walls and roof.

Threshed grain sorghums are apparently more difficult to keep in storage in the more humid regions than are wheat and oats, due probably to the greater amount of cracked grains and foreign material present which tend to prevent the circulation of air through it. If the grain sorghums are to be stored in considerable quantities, it is safer to store the unthreshed heads which form a mass through which the moist air may escape more easily than through threshed grain. A few dry poles thrown in the crib with grain sorghum heads will aid in preventing their heating. Cribbs made of woven wire or slat fencing are suitable for ear corn or grain sorghum heads particularly from the point of providing ventilation, and from low cost of construction.

The prevention of serious damage by insects to stored grain requires some additional expense in construction especially if excess moisture in the grain must be considered. To satisfactorily kill insects in grain with gas fumes, tight bin walls are required. To ventilate such a bin to prevent the heating of the grain if it should be moist, the use of ventilating doors and possibly ventilation flues, are required. The cost of such a bin is therefore increased through the necessity for good tight walls and the need for ventilating doors where tight walls are used.

In escaping damage from rats and mice in inexpensive structures it is advisable to set the floor high enough above the ground to permit cats and dogs to get under the bin. If the bin is to be made rat and mouse proof, it must be a little more expensive structure than would otherwise be required. The most economical way of protecting a bin against rats and mice is to eliminate all perches on the floor sills where they might sit and gnaw, and if this is impracticable, keep them from gnawing into the bin through the floor and walls by means of strips of sheet iron about 8 inches wide, placed around the bin about 3 feet high.

Concrete floors will be too damp for grain storage on them unless they are properly constructed. The bottom of the concrete floor should be above the surrounding ground level, and the contact between the ground and the concrete above it should be broken by means of a layer of packed gravel or cinders, and a layer of tarred paper is also advantageous.

The space per bushel required for grains will vary somewhat with different samples and particularly is this true with grain sorghums in the head, and corn in the shuck. Threshed grains will require very close to 1 1/4 cubic feet of space per bushel; shucked corn on the cob about 2 1/2 cubic feet; corn in the shuck about 3 1/2 cubic feet; and grain sorghum heads about 4 1/4 cubic feet, each per bushel of shelled or threshed grain.

Farmers' Bulletin No. 1636, "Farm Bulk Storage for Small Grains" contains so much useful information, that anyone contemplating the construction of storage places should get a copy.

There may be some question about providing storage space on the farm where such space does not already exist, in order to speculate on an increased price for grain to be marketed but there is little question about the advisability of storing as much of the grain crop on the farm as will be needed for feed until more is produced.

Simmons Resigns As Penal Head

Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas prison system since 1930, tendered his resignation to the State Prison Commission Monday. The resignation will be effective Nov. 1.

Simmons said he regretted leaving the prison system but that he had been making a personal sacrifice since he had been in office. The position pays $6,500 a year. When Simmons first took office it was $8,000, but was reduced several years ago.

"I wasn't looking for a job," Simmons said, "when I took this one and I'm not looking for one now."

He said he would return to his home at Sherman, where he formerly served as Sheriff and later as manager of the chamber of commerce. Simmons has friends said, large holdings in Sherman and probably will resume the management of his business affairs.

Now Is Time to Plant Gardens in State for Success

COLLEGE STATION.—Most of the success of the fall garden depends on preparing the soil correctly, according to J. F. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist.

"All weeds and vegetation must be removed before planting," Rosborough said, "or the soil will dry out quickly and possibly carry diseases."

The Extension horticulturist recommended a heavy application of summer manure before plowing is started. He explained that summer manure, which has no acids or burning ingredients, is used to increase the water holding capacity and to prevent the soil from becoming hard and crusted following the fall rains.

He recommended that as soon as the soil is plowed, it should be pulverized. "Select vegetables that are resistant to heat to plant in the fall garden from the last of August to the first half of September," Rosborough continued, "such as onion sets, Swiss chard, tender greens, Irish potatoes, carrots, beets and collards. Later, plant such vegetables as lettuce, radishes, mustard, spinach, and cabbage which will withstand cold weather. Bush beans will grow unless the weather turns too cold."

He went on to say that in many gardens, hardy vegetables such as pepper, egg plant, okra and tomatoes, which have survived the summer heat and are ready to produce a fall crop, should be fertilized. In sandy soils, the addition of one to two tablespoons per plant of 6-12-6 commercial fertilizer will be beneficial.

"Wise gardeners do not stake all in a fall garden by just planting a turnip patch," he said, "but they plant other vegetables such as Swiss chard, tender greens, loose-leaf turnips and other leafy things of this type along with the old stand."

"Before cold weather sets in, pumpkins, cushaws, summer squashes, and other vegetables of this type should be stored in a protected place," he continued. "In the western part of the State, store these vegetables in the cellar; in the southern part, store them where ventilation will absorb the vegetable moisture and keep rot fungus down."
