FIFTIETH YEAR

30-PIECE BAND, COMPOSED OF MEN, ORGANIZED HERE

Practice Is Now Underway
Under Direction of Joe
Meacham, of Haskell

Well-Known Leader

Organization of a 30-piece municipal band is now underway in Haskell under the leadership of Joe Meacham, well-known band leader in this section, and approximately 20 men have already enrolled and are practicing.

The band will be available for sports and other occasions throughout Central West Texas. Bandmen already enrolled, with type of instruments they play, are as follows: R. C. Couch, John Cook, cornets; A. Schroeder, Harry Johnson, Howard Whalley, George Fouts, clarinets; Duffer and Bill Reeves, baritone; Harvey Simmons, Floyd Taylor, Parnell, Theron Cahill and George Kinney, saxophones; Bruce Wilson and O. U. Conley, drums; Felix Frierson and Cecil Reeves, bass; Hubert Bledsoe and Melvin Miller, alto; James Mullins, trombone; Clinton Herring and Robert Barnett, trombones.

Other members will be added soon, Meacham says.

Meacham has been in Haskell for about nine years, but prior to that was connected with some of the finest bands in the United States.

The local band director was educated in the Quinn School of Music, Chicago, which John Quinn, soloist in the Chicago Symphony Orchestra directed. Meacham took postgraduate course in instrumentation at the Vandercook School of Music, also of Chicago.

His first bid for a position was when he accepted a place in the Meacham Bros. Circus band. The average length of this nation was four years.

Meacham later became identified with the Liberty Concert Band and served every state in the union, Canada, Mexico and Europe. Following this engagement he became "Scotchman" and enrolled with the Scotch Kilts, of Montreal, Canada.

Bill following his bent for a thorough training, Meacham left the Scotch Kilts later and went back to Chicago where he joined with the Commonwealth Edison Symphony.

In the forepart of 1917, Meacham secured Sousa's Band as trumpeter, and not long afterward he enlisted in the U. S. Army, and soon became assistant director of the 124th Artillery Band, with which organization he again went to Europe for overseas war service.

After the close of the World War, Meacham went to Dallas, and later to Haskell, where he has resided since on account of his wife's health.

Winners-Farmers Plan Fight To Uphold Process

DALLAS.—Texas cotton ginners who are also farmers announced today that they would lock horns with ginners who are not farmers in the federal court battle that has developed over the Bankhead act.

C. K. Bullard, attorney for the Texas Cotton Growers' Gin company, a farm cooperative that runs gins, said that his organization would ask to be exempted from the terms of an injunction against collection of the ginners' processing tax. On July 10 the Texas Cotton Ginners' association, an entirely different organization, obtained an injunction to prevent collecting of the ginners' tax until a suit attacking the constitutionality of the Bankhead act can be heard on its merits Sept. 11.

The controversy between the two groups of ginners developed after the Texas cotton advisory committee warned in a statement issued at Washington that the injunction might tie up two-thirds of the Texas cotton crop. Because of the injunction, the committee said, the federal director of internal revenue may refuse to issue bale tags which must be placed on all cotton before it is shipped.

In applying for their injunction, Bullard said today, "the Texas Cotton Ginners' association posed as representatives of all the gins in the state."

"We want the government to understand that they do not represent gins and that we are willing to cooperate with the Bankhead act. I believe that if the government will issue tags to our gins and allow us to move our cotton, the other gins will have their order relieved."

Spokesmen for the Texas Cotton Ginners' association denied that the injunction should tie up the state's cotton crop.

Indians May Stage Football Practice Away From Haskell

Preliminary stages of the 1935 Haskell high school practice will be held away from the local field if plans now being made by officials mature.

With at least 30 boys expected to report for first practice, the same mentioned officials desire a place where thorough training may be given so that each boy will receive the necessary consideration.

No particular site has been selected for the fall practice sessions which are expected to begin about ten days before opening of school, but the facilities offered at Leuders are being considered in addition to some place on a nearby creek. At Leuders plenty of cabins belonging to Haskell people are available, while any location on a creek would, of a necessity, be "camping out" and thereby exposed to the elements.

The public is cordially invited to hear these messages.

Cases of Smallpox Being Reported in Haskell County

Several cases of smallpox have been reported to city and county authorities in the county, and prevention is now being taken by physicians to halt any spread of the disease.

The homes of L. J. Smith, Lamon Smith and P. M. Mullins, who lives about one and one-half miles east of this city, have been quarantined, and visitors to those places are being warned.

Other homes will be quarantined. Dr. L. P. Taylor, city health physician, says, in any case where a breaking out occurs on the residents. No chances will be taken.

Dr. Taylor has issued a warning to citizens to report any case where they think smallpox may develop, and the physician urges that vaccinations be made in all cases where the disease might take effect.

ROCHESTER MAKES APPLICATION FOR PWA APPROPRIATION

Public Works Grant Totalling
$10,000 Is Applied For
On School Building

ROCHESTER.—Following weeks of planning, an application for a government PWA grant has been made here for an addition to the present high school building by the board of trustees.

The project calls for a gymnasium-auditorium combination unit which is to include a 45x75 playing floor for basketball with a seating capacity of over 300. There will be a stage and two dressing rooms. Storage space and other dressing room space will be provided under the balcony of the gymnasium. The new addition will also include one extra classroom which will be equipped for the teaching of Home Economics and a superintendent's office.

The present auditorium is to have the sloping floor removed and the room partitioned into a study hall on the south, two classrooms on the north and a library on the west. A hall will divide the study hall and the classrooms and the library will open into the study hall.

The auditorium is to be equipped with four hundred folding chairs and with the balcony, will seat seven hundred persons.

This project, if approved, will give the people of this school the best gymnasium in the county and the best auditorium facilities. With the extra classrooms two hundred students can be taught with ease.

This project also calls for an expenditure of $23,000. 45% of this, or $10,350, will be an outright grant from the Federal Government. The remaining 55%, or $12,650, must be furnished by the school district in the manner of general obligation bonds. These bonds are bought by the government and run for a period of thirty years at 4% interest. Although this bond issue must be floated by the district, this will mean no raise in taxes, it is claimed. Bond rate here for the last several years has never been more than 25 per cent of the tax dollar, and last year it was only 18 cents on the dollar. The additional bonded indebtedness can easily be taken care of by a slight increase of bond rate.

Returns From College Station

Matt Graham, county superintendent, returned from College Station Tuesday night, after a two weeks stay, and while there met several Haskell county people who are attending the annual Short Course.

While at the college, Graham studied problems of rural schools, school management and public school laws under Prof. W. L. Hughes, who is considered the "father" of the Texas rural school system insofar as constant work in their behalf is concerned.

Morris will also speak at Rule at one o'clock; Knox City at 2 o'clock and Munday at 3 o'clock.

Morris is a forceful speaker and his Haskell friends urge that the public hear him Saturday afternoon.

Plans of Fall Celebration Here Will be Completed In Meeting Tonight Directors Named

Receipt of a new charter for the Central West Texas Fair Association, of Haskell, was announced Wednesday by the fair officials, and plans for the annual fall festival, in conjunction with Haskell's Golden Jubilee anniversary, are being pushed rapidly. The various directors and superintendents of exhibits were also announced.

It is the hope of the directors that one of the finest fairs that has ever been held in this section will be staged this year in Haskell.

A clearer idea of what the annual celebration will be made up of in the way of features will be gained tonight when the directors hold their business meeting.

Tentative plans call for a mammoth pioneer and county progress celebration which will be staged under the supervision of an experienced pageant director. At least 300 people will be used including sponsors, or princesses, from other counties and cities.

According to H. T. Sullivan, new secretary of the Central West Texas Fair, the various directors and superintendents of exhibits are as follows:

Street Grader Is Conditionally Bought by City

Purchase of a used Austin grader at a cost of $350 was made by members of the city administration at Abilene Friday in an attempt to provide a means of placing Haskell's streets in a better condition. The grader sold for $1460 slightly over one year ago, officials claim.

In addition, the city officials say that they have had a Best 30 caterpillar tractor, which has lain unused in storage here for several years, reconditioned at a small cost and placed at the disposal of the street working crew.

City officials estimate that the purchase of the grader and re-using of the tractor means a saving of about $1000 to city taxpayers.

A mowing machine which will be used to destroy weeds in many inaccessible places on the streets is expected to be another purchase soon by the administration, and it is believed by the officials that Haskell's streets can be maintained easily and kept in good condition.

Mayor pro-tem Roy A. Sanders, Ed F. Fouts and Eugene Tonn were the city councilmen making the trip to Abilene Friday.

NEW LIVESTOCK LAW EFFECTIVE AUG. 10

Animals Will Not Be Allowed to Run at Large on Public
Highways in State

Because livestock have been allowed to roam at large on the state highways, making it a dangerous menace to the traveling public, and for the further reason carelessness and neglect of those who own or control livestock have shown little interest, a law, passed at the last session of the Legislature, plans to end such a practice immediately as it becomes effective on August 10, 1935.

The gist of the law reads as follows: "Any person owning or controlling any horse, mule, donkey, cow, bull, steer, hog, sheep, goat or any livestock, who permits the same to run at large unattended on that portion of any designated state highway in this state which is enclosed by fences on both sides shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Each day such livestock are allowed or permitted to run at large is a separate offense. The punishment for each offense shall be a fine of any sum not more than $200.00. The law further provides that state highway patrolmen as well as local sheriffs and other local officers shall have the power to enforce said law."

Authority Claims Cotton Crops of Texas Endangered

COLLEGE STATION.—Cotton crops of Texas are threatened with destruction, unless immediate measures are taken against leaf worm infestation and other parasites, according to R. R. Reppert, Extension entomologist at College Station.

"Frequent showers for the past couple of weeks have been favorable to leaf worm infestation multiplication and spread," he stated. Reppert claims the pest is easily controlled by using calcium arsenate, otherwise known as arsenate of lime. He explained that this chemical is the same as is ordinarily used for control of boll weevil.

"Under ordinary conditions and where dusting machinery is available this chemical should be applied in form," he stated. "Five pounds per acre applied in an even dust cloud should be sufficient except where there is an exceptionally large growth of cotton, then apply 10 pounds per acre. It should be applied early in the morning while there is dew on the plants, although it is effective when applied in mid-day provided there is no wind."

He continued by saying that those who are equipped with some kind of spraying machinery, where the chemical is applied with water as a spray, should mix the poison with the water in the proportion of 3 pounds to 50 gallons of water. "If the application is not constantly stirred while applying," he said, "the poison will settle out of the mixture. It should be applied in sufficient quantity to get a reasonably even covering of the mixture on the foliage."

The Extension entomologist suggested that in case there is a shortage of calcium arsenate, Paris green may be used.

"For dusting," he said, "this Paris green should be thoroughly mixed with some 3 to 5 parts of hydrated lime or cheap flour to one part of the poison and applied in the same quantity as the calcium arsenate or possibly a little more heavily. If it is sprayed, use 3 parts of lime to one part of Paris green and mix so there will be one and one-half pounds of Paris green in 50 gallons of water."

Reppert added that mixtures of white arsenic and sal soda or lye are apt to injure the foliage.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brock are the proud parents of an 8-pound girl, Billie Daffene, born July 31. Mrs. Brock is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes of Haskell.

Over $600,000 Will Be Paid To Haskell Farmers

Slightly over $600,000 was poured into the pocketbooks of Haskell county farmers from various government cotton projects and through corn-hog contracts.

Portions of the vast sum have already been received during the past six months, including $5,000 from 1934 corn-hog contracts. Other amounts will continue to arrive during the coming months, according to the assistants of the government program in the county agents office.

The money which came to county citizens was listed as follows: Rental benefit, of which $73,026.94 was received in May and June, $284,195; parity payment, $127,371.50; tax exemption certificates in national pool, of which the second payment of $60,788.12 was received in June, $174,272.90; corn-hog contracts, $5,000.00; special cotton pool, $5,287.25; 1934 corn-hog contract balance, $5,000.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Successful in sponsoring designation of an American Legion Memorial Highway across Texas and its improvement with wayside parks for rest and recreation, the Texas department of the legion is pressing a movement to have other cross-state roads so designated and improved to the Canadian border.

Oklahoma authorities have indicated approval of the project and favorable action is expected from Kansas, Nebraska, South and North Dakota, Texas legion leaders announced here following a recent tour over the 700-mile highway in this State.

The road is Texas Highway No. 66, but state officials agreed to its designation as American Legion Memorial Highway, while the state highway department, state park board and other official agencies lent their co-operation with the legion in promoting establishment of more than 60 little parks along the route.

TO REDUCE COSTS OF RELIEF WITH DISTRICT BOARDS

38 Regions Mapped Out In State—County Men Hear
New Plan Outlined

Effect Far-Reaching

Delegates from fourteen counties in the Wichita Falls WPA district assembled in that city Tuesday to hear the leaders under the new set-up explain the workings of the organization that will replace the CWA at the end of this year.

Among those in attendance from Haskell county were: T. L. Donohoo, Joe Brooks, Jo Willoughby, C. B. Breedlove, O. L. (Jim) Darden, Roy A. Sanders, R. Theis, Anton Theis and Sam A. Roberts, Haskell; J. C. Davis, O. Cole, J. C. Davis, Jr., E. B. Harris and Jim Lindsey, Rule; A. M. Reeves, D. L. Ligon and Bob Speck, Rochester; Oscar Gibson, Fritz Stegemoller, T. K. Price and Billie Tabor, Sagerton.

E. A. Baugh, state director of work projects, from San Antonio, was the principal speaker at the morning session and explained in his talk that the man on relief comes before the job or project—and warned the delegates present that the project that any city or county might have in mind, must furnish the kind of work that the men on the relief rolls are qualified to do in that particular locality.

Those listed on the relief rolls last May will be given preference over other workers when a county project is approved, Mr. Baugh said.

Haskell county has been tentatively placed in a district with the counties of Childress, Cottle, Hardeman, Foard, Knox, King and Stone-wall.

Braves to Battle Monday Aug. 4

With the line-up shaken up in more ways than one, the Haskell Braves will invade the lair of the Munday Moguls next Sunday for the last regularly scheduled game of the season between these two teams. Munday has won two games to Haskell's one in the clashes this season of regularly scheduled games, and all encounters have resulted in 2 to 1 scores.

Gaut (Lefty) Hambright has yet to win an argument over his last year's teammates, but he is spoiling for another chance, and claims he'll win, if he's given a few runs.

Munday's pitching selection has not been named. Archie Pittman has only pitched against the Braves once this season and won, while Lefty Robertson handled the chores in the other two games. Robertson's local lads easier than Pittman's "high, hard one," and the Wichita lefty may get the call.

Talks 15 Hours With Crazy Desperado
ALLIANCE, O.—John B. Boyd, banker, came home the other night to meet a man on his front porch who wanted to talk "business". The stranger was J. B. Cox, an armed fugitive from the Lima State Insane Hospital who insisted that the banker rob his institution and deliver the money and threatened to kill his wife and daughter, who were in the house fervently praying for relief. The strange conversation continued for 15 hours on the porch when Mrs. Boyd invited the man in for a cup of coffee. Glancing out of the window, Cox saw a patrolman, then another and a car stop at the curb. Four patrolmen with shotguns piled out. He ran into the kitchen and killed himself.

It is peach time again, and how we enjoy fresh peaches. Three times a day is not too much to serve them during this short season. There are many ways of using them in your menus, sliced peaches and cream, peach shortcake, peach dumplings, peach pie, peach torte; cold and frozen desserts, and salads. Try them all.

Peach Torte
Sift 1 1/3 cups flour with 1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder. Work 1/2 cup shortening until soft, add 1/2 cup sugar and heat until fluffy. Add 4 egg yolks, one at a time, beating briskly after each addition. Then add alternately the flour and 5 tablespoons of milk. Stir in 1/2 teaspoon almond flavoring. Spread in two 8-inch layer cake pans lined with wax paper and oiled, having mixture higher on side than in the middle. Beat 4 egg whites until stiff, add 1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar and beat well, then add 1 cup of sugar. Spread evenly on top of the two layers of batter. Bake in an oven 250 degrees for 25 minutes, then increase heat to 350 degrees and bake 20 minutes longer. Cool and put fresh peaches, combined lightly with whipped cream, between the layers. Serve in wedge shaped portions.

Peach Mousse
1 tablespoon gelatin.
Juice of 1 lemon.
1 1/2 cups peach pulp.
2 tablespoons boiling water.
3/4 cup of sugar.
2 cups whipped cream.
2 tablespoons cold water.
Soften the gelatin in the cold water and dissolve in the boiling water. Add the lemon juice, peach pulp and sugar. Chill. Fold in the cream. Freeze.

Peach Salad
Remove skin from peaches. Cut in fourths. Sprinkle with French dressing. Arrange on lettuce. Mix soft or grated cheese with an equal amount of toasted nuts. Moisten with mayonnaise and shape into balls. Make a pile of balls in the center of each salad; garnish with chopped green pepper.

Peach Honey
Peel 12 firm ripe peaches, remove seeds and put through the medium knife of a meat grinder. Add one medium sized orange and put through the grinder. Measure the fruit pulp and add 1 cup of sugar to each cup of fruit. Boil for 20 minutes or until the proper consistency is reached. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Angel Cake and Peaches
12 egg whites.
Pinch of salt.
1 teaspoon cream of tartar.
1 1/2 cups sugar.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 cup cake flour.
Sift sugar once; measure and sift 6 times. Sift flour once; measure and sift 6 times. Put salt in egg white and beat a little before adding the cream of tartar. Beat until stiff. Fold in sugar slowly. Add flavoring and fold in flour gradually. Bake 45 minutes in 2 layers in moist ungreased pans, in a medium oven. Put together with: whip 1/2 pint of cream, add 1/2 cup powdered sugar. Put between layers with sliced peaches.

Peach Custard
Arrange a layer of thinly sliced stale cake in a bowl. Then put a layer of fresh peach halves on top and pour boiled custard over all. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Mrs. Bert Davis and children of Paso Robles, Calif., returned home the first of the week after a six weeks visit here with Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Jno. V. Davis.

Important Notice
Mrs. Jim Crawford has been officially appointed Secretary-Treasurer of the Haskell Cemetery Association. Mrs. Crawford has graciously consented to assume the unpleasant task of collecting dues. She receives no remuneration for her duties, but out of the goodness of her heart has relieved Mrs. T. J. Arbuckle, who has long been a faithful Secretary-Treasurer.

If you are delinquent in your dues don't wait for Mrs. Crawford to see you but send or give her at least a partial payment. On account of continued rains, Mr. Crawford had to put on extra help, so we need your cooperation. The Association is fortunate indeed in having Mr. and Mrs. Crawford as Sexton and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively. Everyone appreciates their interest and loyalty and the work they have done.

Kitchen Kinks
Homemade Starch
I have found that water saved from cooked macaroni, spaghetti, dumplings or rice, after they have been strained, makes good starch for clothes. The rice should be cooked in a kettle of water and drained to get this starch, which is my favorite.
Knotty Thread
Knots in thread may be avoided when hemming table linen by running each needle of thread through a piece of paraffin before using.
Worn Places in Linoleum
I use finely chopped cork mixed with liquid glue to fill holes in the linoleum. When the mixture has set, I rub down with emery paper and paint to match rug.
No More Hunting
Piece bags should be made of mosquito netting or of lace curtain. When you want to find a certain piece of material, it can be seen from the outside, and there is no necessity for emptying the entire contents.

Cutting Quilt Patterns
Quilt patterns are easy to cut if a piece of sandpaper is placed with the rough side next to the material. There is then no danger of either the pattern or the material slipping.

Not Quite So Tough
I have found that tough steak can be made more tender by rubbing first with a piece of lemon then with olive oil.

Lettuce for Salads
I have found that the most solid head of lettuce may be opened up without waste or tearing if the heart is cut out from the bottom—cutting up into lettuce quite deeply—and then held under a strong stream of water, which forces its way down into the opening thus made. Gentle manipulation will readily separate the leaves.

Spreads Easily
Fudge frosting for cake can always be made the consistency desired for easy spreading by cooking to the soft ball stage, as for candy. Beat until thick and then thin back with thin cream until it spreads readily.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui
Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less'. My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to feel that tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." If Cardui does not help you, consult a physician.

HENRY-LESSON RADCLIFFE

A RELIGIOUS REFORMER

International Sunday School Lesson for August 4, 1935.

Golden Text: "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve."
(Lesson Text: Kings 23: 1-5; 21-23)

Our lesson today concerns the heroic effort made by King Josiah to reform the people of Judah. This ruler came to the throne when he was a child, eight years old, during a period of international calm as the power of Assyria decreased and the strength of Chaldea grew. For thirty-one years he ruled.

Josiah was the son of Amon, a very wicked ruler, who was assassinated after a brief reign of two years. Before him was Manasseh, likewise a ruler who was wicked and whose influence was bad, notwithstanding a period of reform which came too late. However, it seems Josiah's early training must have been under strong religious influence, for in his boyhood the tendency of his life originated. His mother, Jedidah, the Prophet, Zephaniah, and, possibly, Jeremiah are supposed to have been the powerful influences which caused him later in life not to turn aside.

When the young king was sixteen years of age he instituted his first great reform effort, directed to eradicate idolatry, which had been growing since the time of Solomon. Altars and pillars to Baal, temples and groves for Ashtaroth, and even the sacrifice of children to Molech were not unknown then. By forceful measures Josiah attempted to entirely eliminate these heathen places.

Attention was next directed to the shameful condition of the once beautiful temple, which had been neglected for generations and was sadly in need of repair. Josiah realized that this was the house of Jehovah and should be in keeping with its purpose. Money was collected and turned over to the High Priest Hilkiah so that a large number of workers were restoring the ancient edifice to a presentable and attractive condition. While engaged in this work a wonderful discovery was made.

Hidden somewhere amid the temple ruins a manuscript roll containing the "Book of Law" was found. No one knows exactly what books of the Pentateuch this included, probably only a good part of Deuteronomy. Some think it was a newly written record of the traditional law. At any rate, the new volume was regarded as a great religious discovery and it was soon carried to Shaphan, the Scribe, and to the King himself. The finding of this ancient document was nothing unusual as there have been many cases where long lost documents have been found, such as some of the writings of Aristotle, Dante, Milton, and other well-known authors.

When this document was read to the King it had an instantaneous effect. As he contrasted the expectation of Jehovah for his people to live righteously with the impure and evil conditions which existed among his own people, Josiah was instantly moved personally and determined to remedy the situation if he could. Huldah, the prophetess, frankly declared that the approaching punishment by Jehovah could not be averted, but because of Josiah's personal fidelity and worship, the impending ruin would not occur in his lifetime.

The people were summoned to a general assembly, to which the newly found law was read, and the King took the initiative in having his people pledge anew their covenant to Jehovah. A renewed purging of heathen ideas and worship followed. The Passover was observed at Jerusalem, all being summoned to that central point and every detail was carried out as prescribed by law. Josiah was industrious in his efforts to bring his people back to a true and genuine obedience to Jehovah.

Josiah's life comes down to us as a record of strenuous exertion to avert the approaching calamity to Judah, and notwithstanding the failure of his efforts his life stands out as one of the great examples of history. His death came as a result of international complications, for when Pharaoh Necho sought to march his Egyptian army through Judah to attack Assyria, Josiah declined to acquiesce but gave battle with his own army at Megiddo. Defeat followed and the King received a mortal wound.

"Bathing" in Ye Old Days Not A Debated Matter

A Spanish lady of sixteenth century society wrote to her daughter cautioning her against two frequent ablutions. Her letter, as relayed by Lady Marion Phillimore in the National Review, London, follows: "It is permissible, and even advisable, my dear daughter, to wash your face once or even twice during a week. To do so is said to be cooling and refreshing, and is less questionably desirable at times for the purpose of removing marks and stains which if neglected, might make it doubtful whether your friends would always succeed in recognizing you. But to wash more often than once in every four days would be to expose yourself to the evil tongue of the malicious. It would very naturally be said that you did it for the purpose of making yourself attractive to the men, and I confess that I, your own mother, might be at a loss to know in what manner to defend you from the charge."

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

U. S. HAS VAST STORES OF GOLD AND SILVER

There never was so much treasure assembled under one flag anywhere in the world at any time in history as is held by the Treasury and the Federal Banks of the United States at the present time.

The stock of monetary gold in this country last week reached the enormous total of $9,016,000,000. At the same time the monetary stock of silver held by the Treasury and the banks reached the total of $815,661,914. This is figuring gold at the present price of $35 an ounce and silver at the long-established rate of $1.29 an ounce.

Secretary Morgenthau reported a few days ago that since the passage of the Silver Purchase Act of 1934 the Treasury has bought 421,497,000 ounces of silver. It has not paid the monetary price of $1.29 an ounce, but an average of about 73c an ounce. Under the law the Government must continue to purchase silver until its stock of silver bullion amounts to one-third as much as its stock of gold.

No other nation has ever had as much gold in its treasury and its bank vaults as we have; probably no other nation has ever had as much silver, although the British Government in India is supposed to have on hand something like 500,000,000 ounces.—Exchange.

FARMS

French silos are getting filled this month in Texas. Corn, red top cane, seeded ribbon cane, hegari, kafir, milo, and a few more such crops are going into them.

E. R. Eudaly, Extension dairyman, says these crops had better be ripe because if they are cut too green the silage will contain a surplus of acid and as a result scour the cattle if fed liberally.

He says that the leaves on the upper half of the stalk should be green—but the riper the crop the greater the feed value of the silage.

A trench silo six feet wide at the top, four feet wide at the bottom, five feet deep and 100 feet long will hold 30 tons of silage. That makes three tons per cow for a ten cow herd. Eudaly says three tons is just about what a dairy cow needs.

But that isn't all. Each cow should be supplied with one ton of hay and one of feed per year. He says cannily, "Remember, the more roughage a cow will consume, the less of grain mixture will be required. Hay and silage are cheaper than corn and cottonseed meal."

On a recent trip to the Gulf coast territory spreading the gospel of trench silos or "canning the cow's winter food supply," Eudaly found that Refugio county had only one trench silo. Since he spoke there two months ago, 100 silos have been dug and filled.

YOUR HEALTH

By John W. Brown, M. D. State Health Officer

AUSTIN, Texas.—Now is the time, according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, that every parent should ask himself if his child is physically ready for school. A visit to the family physician and dentist will answer this question and give time for the correction of minor defects before time for school to open.

A child with defective vision cannot be expected to do the required work in school until this handicap is removed. Inflamed, watery eyes, granulated lids, chronic styes, nervous actions as habitual winking, may be caused by defective vision and should be attended to immediately.

The far reaching effect of infected tonsils on the system has been recognized by health workers for many years. Many of the ills of later life such as heart disease, arthritis, deafness, etc., are directly traceable to tonsils that became infected during childhood and were allowed to remain untreated.

Dental defects are found in more children than any other imperfection, and for this reason children should be taken regularly to the dentist for examination and cleaning of the teeth. This precaution keeps the mouth clean and makes it possible to discover dental defects as soon as they appear.

Postural defects appear in the life of a child much sooner than we formerly suspected. Have your family physician see if your child's shoulder blades project and if his arches are low. Simple exercises, diligently adhered to, when the child is young, will prevent later serious developments in many cases.

AMENDMENTS TO BE VOTED ON IN SPECIAL ELECTION

The following brief summary of the proposed Constitutional Amendments to be voted upon by the people of Texas on August 24th, is being published by the Free Press for the information of the public. Our interest is strictly that of striving to acquaint our readers with the contents, rather than the merits of each of them.

Proposed Amendment No. 1—Old Age Pensions

The first proposition to be found on the ballot in the August 24th Special Election on Constitutional Amendments is the so-called Old-Age Pension Amendment. This year, for the first time, the amendments will be numbered, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann.

The Old Age Pension Amendment proposes to give the Legislature the authority to pay these pensions to persons over the age of 65, who are not habitual drunkards nor habitual criminals, nor inmates of any State supported institution. Those who are eligible must have lived in Texas at least 5 years during the time immediately preceding application and in the State continuously for one year.

All other restrictions and limitations would have to be set up by the Legislature.

The Amendment authorizes the Legislature to accept money from the Federal government for the same purpose. It is presumed that Federal funds would match State funds. The maximum amount to be paid by the State would be $15 per person per month. It is presumed that the Federal government would match State funds. The total pension per month per person in this case it is presumed would be $30. The amounts might be smaller, however; but not larger.

It is estimated that the cost of this pension to the State would run between forty and fifty million dollars annually. No provision is made for the income. It would be up to the Legislature to determine where the money would come from. The Legislature would have to enact such laws as it deemed proper to utilize the right granted by the amendment. The Legislature might do this at once, or some time later—or for that matter not at all. The amendment is permissive and not mandatory, though few doubt that some form of old age pensions would be enacted if the amendment is adopted in August.

Proposed Amendment No. 2—Temporary Commitment of Insane

Proposition No. 2 on the August 24th special election ballot has to do with the temporary commitment of insane persons, preliminary to a trial by jury.

Under the present Constitution whereby everyone is guaranteed a jury trial, it is impossible to commit a mentally ill person to an institution for treatment or observation without the necessity of a jury trial. It has been pointed out that this is often very inconvenient and embarrassing.

The proposal, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann, if passed, would authorize the Legislature to pass such laws as would permit mentally ill persons to be confined by County Courts in institutions, presumably, or under the care of physicians or experts for a period of ninety days prior to a jury trial. It is presumed that the ninety day period of confinement would be for the purpose of observing such person.

The provisions would apply only to persons not charged with a criminal offense.

The Amendment specifically sets out that the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, but that in the particular case of insane persons a confinement period of ninety days for observation may be prescribed without the necessity of a jury trial. At the end of that time a jury trial would be had.

Proposed Amendment No. 3—Repeal of Liquor Prohibition

Probably chief interest in the August 24th election on the seven proposed Constitutional Amendments will center on Proposition No. 3 on the ballot—the repeal of Prohibition, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann.

The Constitution, at present, prohibits the sale, manufacture and transportation of alcoholic liquors (except 32 beer). This prohibition would be stricken out by adoption of the Repeal Amendment.

The proposed amendment specifically prohibits the return of the open saloon—and it would be up to the Legislature to define the term "open saloon."

No machinery is set up for the sale of liquor. The Legislature would have the authority to determine just who and just how liquor is to be sold. This could be done by State monopoly or through private channels. The Legislature would have the authority to pass laws regulating local option elections.

If the amendment is adopted all counties, cities and precincts that were dry in 1919 when statewide prohibition was adopted would be dry now—at least until local option elections were held to determine otherwise.

It is well to remember, Secretary Mann points out, that there will be an election next year in November to determine whether the State shall sell liquor through a State Monopoly system. If the repeal amendment is adopted in August the State MAY establish a state control and monopoly system. If the repeal amendment is defeated in August, it will in effect be submitted again in November, 1936, in the State Monopoly Amendment which says the State SHALL have a liquor monopoly. To retain the present dry status both the August 24th Amendment and the November, 1936 Amendment must be defeated. Passage of either will repeal the present prohibition section of the Constitution.

Proposed Amendment No. 4—Submission of Amendments at Special Sessions of Legislature

At present the Legislature can submit proposed changes in the Constitution only at regular sessions—held every 2 years.

Proposition No. 4 on the ballot for the August 24th election would revise the Constitution to permit the submission of amendments at special sessions. It is pointed out that in emergency cases, particularly on relief matters, that it might be necessary for Texas voters to vote on an emergency measure at a time, when the regular session of the Legislature is quite far distant in the future.

The original purpose of the provision which makes submission possible only at regular sessions was to make the fundamental law hard to amend and change. Two schools of thought are at variance here. The one believing that the Constitution should be easy to change—particularly in emergency cases, and the other that every safeguard should be placed around it to make it difficult to change.

If the proposed amendment is adopted the legislature in any special session can submit proposed amendments to the voters—provided such amendments are submitted by the Governor for the Legislature's consideration. If the amendment is rejected the present system will obtain; that is, constitutional amendments can be submitted to the people only at the regular sessions of the legislature.

The 44th Legislature submitted thirteen amendments to the voters—seven in August of this year and six in November of 1936. These were all submitted during the regular session. Under the proposed change the 44th might yet submit additional amendments for the voters' consideration.

Proposed Amendment No. 5—Suspended Sentence or Probation Amendment

Proposition Number 5 on the ballot of the August 24th special election reads: "For (and Against) the Amendment to the State Constitution authorizing the Courts to place defendants on probation."

Proponents claim that if this amendment is passed, many who are now sent to the penitentiary for first offenses will be permitted to enjoy suspended sentences under restrictions of the court.

The only restriction under the present suspended sentence law is the fact that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony—that is, a crime punishable by confinement in the penitentiary. The judge or court has no control nor can it set up or impose any other restrictions.

It is the understanding of those who have studied the amendment that if passed it would permit the Legislature to pass laws giving the courts the right to suspend sentences and place defendants on such probation as the court might deem proper. It other words the court could suspend sentences subject to certain limitations. If those restrictions or limitations were not observed the Court would have the authority to have the defendant committed to the penitentiary without further ado. Many courts now refuse to grant suspended sentences for the reason that they have no control over the defendant after the same is granted. It is pointed out that this would prevent many first offenders from having to go to the penitentiary and reclaim many of them for society.

If a suspended sentence is given under the present law the only limitation is that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony. The court has no control over him nor can it impose other conditions.

Proposed Amendment No. 6—Abolishing Fee System for Paying Officials

Two years ago a Senate investigating committee discovered a number of flagrant abuses of the fee system as practiced in Texas for recompensing certain public officials. The fee system was established and written into the Texas Constitution at a time when it was impossible to pay salaries and the theory was that an official was entitled to "all he could make." Since the Senate committee discovered and revealed the malpractices existing under the system there has been a demand for a Constitutional change on this score, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann.

Proposed Amendment No. 6 on the ballot provides that the fee system as a method of paying certain precinct, county and district officials shall be abolished in counties having 20,000 or more population according to the last Federal census. The Legislature will, if the amendment is adopted, set the salaries for officials now receiving fees in such counties. In counties of under 20,000 population the Commissioners Courts may put their county and precinct officials on a salary basis if they so desire. The Amendment does not specifically state who shall set the salaries of such officials in this case.

If this amendment is adopted all district officers must be compensated on a salary basis. The amendment provides that fees shall continue to be collected as at present but they will go to the county instead of the officer. The evident purpose of this amendment is to place as many public officials on straight salaries as possible and thus abolish, insofar as is possible the payment of officials through the present fee system.

Proposed Amendment No. 7—Free Text Books for Private and Parochial Schools

The Texas Constitution at the present time provides that the State is without authority to furnish free text books to other than public schools. Proposed Amendment No. 7 on the ballot for the August 24th election would permit the State to supply free textbooks to all schools, private and parochial. Such textbooks, it is presumed, to be the same as used in the public schools.

Advocates of this Amendment state that this would entail no additional expense because the State now purchases more books than are necessary. However, this point is merely one of the claims made and has not been substantiated by the Secretary of State. Advocates point out that they pay taxes to support public schools but that if they choose to send their children to private or parochial schools the least the State can do is to supply the textbooks free.

Probably the most important and less publicized provision of this Amendment is the fact that it proposes to rewrite Section 5 of Article Seven of the Constitution so as to permit the apportionment of school funds on some other basis than scholastic population.

For many years there has been considerable agitation in certain quarters to abolish the "school census" or scholastic population of apportioning school funds and substitute in lieu thereof the "average attendance" basis or some other basis. The Legislature would determine just how this was to be done, if this Amendment is adopted.

If adopted this proposed Amendment No. 7 would mean, in effect: (1) that the State would furnish free textbooks to pupils in all the schools of Texas; and (2) that a new basis for apportioning school funds other than the scholastic basis, could be set up.

THE HALF-CENT AND THE MILL

It begins to look like the old-fashioned half-cent piece is coming back and, more to the point, that it will be accompanied by a new device, known as the mill, or one-tenth of a cent.

Washington reports a demand for these coins from states which have adopted the sales tax, requiring the payment of small amounts on certain transactions. At least two states have attempted to meet the demands of the tax by the use of tokens, which are illegal.

The half-penny, it is said, will be smaller than the copper. The mill will be a light-colored coin easily distinguished from other loose change.

SERMON ON HOLLYWOOD

Any young woman who has been bitten by the moving picture bug would do well to meditate over the tragic message left by Julia Ann Graham, the former West Virginia choir singer who committed suicide after a vain attempt to gain stardom in the movies. Miss Graham wrote: "Had I known what faced an inexperienced girl without dramatic training, I would never have left home for Hollywood. The fight is terrific—it forced me to choose death rather than carry on." That brief note is a sermon in itself. Any girl who has dreams of rising to fame on the silver screen should read it and meditate over it before buying her ticket to Hollywood. The odds against the untrained nobody in filmland are nothing less than overwhelming.

REDUCED FARES AND PROFITS

Some time this fall the Interstate Commerce Commission will hear arguments about the rate which American railroads may charge for passenger transportation. A report prepared by Irving L. Koch, examiner for the commission, suggests that the current basic rate of 3.6 cents a mile is unreasonable, and that a rate of 2 cents a mile in day coaches and 3 cents in Pullmans would be much better. The ordinary citizen may well wonder if such a reduction would not be in the best interests of the railroads themselves. A number of western and southern roads have adopted a flat 2-cent rate, and as a result, have netted healthy increases in business. At a time when the railroads are fighting tooth and nail to win passenger traffic back from buses and autos, a reduction in fares might prove the best weapon they could lay their hands on.

JOB IN NEW INDUSTRIES

The solution of the unemployment problem seems to lie in the development of new industries, to a very great extent. By creating a series of entirely new jobs, our technological civilization does its best to provide openings for workers dispossessed of their jobs by the decline in older trades. Figures compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board, for instance, show that in 1929 fully one-seventh of all American workmen had jobs in industries which did not even exist half a century previously. The auto industry, for instance, employed some 450,000 men—not counting garage men, filling station operators, etc. The electrical machinery industry employed 328,000 men. From there the list scales down to smaller industries, with 4,500 finding jobs in the making of fountain pens. Just how all this applies to our present problem is not quite clear—unless, indeed, it means that a complete recovery must await the development of brand-new, large scale industries to provide a yet unheard-of set of jobs.

A CRITIC'S VIEWPOINT

Georgia's Governor Talmadge has had a great deal to say about the way in which the national administration is spending money. Some of his complaints about extravagance have been very well put, and all of them have been pointed. But it makes a difference, even to a homespun critic, where the money is going to be spent. And so Governor Talmadge took his hat in his hand and went to the White House the other day to ask President Roosevelt to spend some $19,000,000 in government highway funds in Georgia through state rather than federal auspices. Any alert Governor, of course, will do all he can to see that his state gets a fair break in the distribution of federal funds, and Governor Talmadge's idea that the Georgia State Highway Commission ought to supervise highway expenditures in Georgia is sensible enough. But there is something faintly odd in the spectacle of one of the most vociferous critics of federal spending hurrying to Washington to see that his state gets its $19,000,000 to spend in its own way.

SALT "BUILT INTO" ROAD TO MAKE IT DUSTLESS

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — Twelve tons of salt to every mile is being used in a new road being constructed near here by the Kansas highway commission. The salt is mixed with sand, clay and gravel, producing a road which it is claimed is dustless and free from weeds on the shoulders, and will stand heavy use. It costs only $600 a mile. Hutchinson is in the center of a large salt mining district.

PAPER "PANAMAS" SOLD IN GERMANY

BERLIN—"Panama straw" hats are now being shown in many of the millinery shops in Berlin—but they are made of paper. So great is the government demand for hemp and such materials that paper is now being used in great quantities for general purposes. "Fish Supply Subject of Investigation"—Headline. -CURRENT COMMENT-

RUMORS ABOUT PRESIDENT

(Canonsburg Daily Notes)
Vicious rumors have no respect for individuals be they high or low or in public or private life. One or another of American presidents have found this true. A "whispering campaign" of slanderous or insinuating stories passed from a loose tongue to a suspicious ear and often enlarged in repetition has been a recurrent abuse in American politics.

The injustice and tragedy that can be wrought by such irresponsible and malicious gossiping was exemplified poignantly enough in one of its first instances—in the campaign which is generally held to have cost the life of the wife of Andrew Jackson. But it began earlier with the false imputation of atheism to Thomas Jefferson, and has continued since in the times of Van Buren, Garfield, Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, to crop out in the "poison pen" writings against Herbert Hoover.

News reports last week brought into the open a similar circulation of rumors purporting to deal with the physical condition and mental ability of President Roosevelt. These have been promptly labeled absurd by Washington correspondent who have the privilege of meeting with the President twice a week to observe and question him, almost at will.

However heartily one may disagree with a man on questions of political judgment, it is certainly a graceless business to be led by this to impugn his rationality instead of arguing out the issues on their merits.

There is no reason to fear that an old affliction, generally conceded to be entirely overcome, will occur again to incapacitate an individual.

Rather it is the true part of all citizens to pray that divine support and guidance may continually surround all officials in whose hands the common welfare lies.

Braves Stumble Again—Lose To Hamlin 4 to 3

The Haskell Braves lost another baseball game Sunday afternoon to the Hamlin Pied Pipers by a score of 4 to 3.

The score would indicate a hard-fought battle, with the best team winning, but figures do lie—sometimes.

Intermittent showers delayed the game, and caused misplays, but Haskell lost the ball game simply because the "old base-knock," which has been sadly missing in every game since the close of the first-half, was not to be observed as present Sunday afternoon.

Four bingles were made off Lefty Courtney, Hamlin mound caretaker, who, despite the statistics again, pitched one of the poorest games this writer has ever seen him hurl. Courtney whiffed eleven Haskell batters, which has a pleasant ring so far as hurling ability is concerned, but the gentleman who pitches with the wrong arm simply threw them in there, when he could control the ball, and that was about all that was necessary. Courtney gave up eight bases on balls, but that didn't endanger his chances of winning because Haskell batters, with one exception, couldn't do anything about it.

Gaut (Lefty) Hambright, who pitched the Braves into the first-half championship on 2-to-1 games, again led the mound for Haskell Sunday after an absence of several weeks—and deserved a much better fate than that which befell him. Hambright has never claimed to be a strikeout king, but it would have helped Haskell's chances Sunday considerably if he had struck 20 batters out—especially on the plays where miscues resulted.

Hamlin was credited with about three hits which were of the scratchiest of the scratch variety. To show the lack of driving power in Haskell's bats Sunday, a close up of the box score shows that only three balls were driven out into the outfield. Norman's two-base drive, Sam Johnson's outfield fly and Cox's outfield fly. All other hits and batted balls were of the infield variety.

Passive handling of the ball and poor base running were prime factors which destroyed any hopes Haskell had of winning. On two different cases the Braves had the bases choked and several times a runner was on third, but lack of hits and unsteady base running chopped off scoring.

Bradford, Hamlin catcher, picked off four Haskell runners, which is unusual, to say the least.

A change in the Haskell lineup which will again bring "Little-bit" Murphey, Haskell second-sacker last year, into the fold is expected for the game next Sunday. Murphey sat on the bench here last Sunday and his introduction means a shift-

U. S. Shells "No Good"

LONDON. — Ammunition manufactured in the United States during the world war was more dangerous to the British than the enemy, according to a recent statement of Lord Marley in the House of Lords. Marley, who won the distinguished service cross, insisted that his unit was careful to be as far away as possible from the artillery because the American shells had the habit of bursting at the muzzle.

Smooth Going For This Texas Town

ANAHAUAC, Texas.—Anahuac's century-old snore is drowned today in the joyful yelps of barefoot citizens who gleefully prod each other with their toes and talk about oil wells spouting in their back yards.

Rice land that brought $6 an acre at outright sale a few months ago now is being leased to oil companies at as much as $1000 an acre.

Men who used to think in terms of pennies and nickels, now talk boldly of sums written in four or five figures.

Cobwebs have been rudely removed from purses, and there's considerable discussion of building a courthouse, a school and a network of roads.

All this has come about through the completion of eight new oil wells at the edge of this unincorporated county seat of 500 population.

Seven of the wells, which are producing around 700 barrels a day each, are close together, but the eighth is two miles away, indicating a pool of some consequence. Only once before has Anahuac been awakened from its slumbers in the gulf coast sun.

That was just 100 years ago last month, when Col. William B. Travis, later a hero of the Alamo, fired the shot here that preceded the capture of Fort Davis during the Texas revolution.

After the battle of San Jacinto, a year later, Anahuac settled to dreams and the twiddling of bare toes again, not to awaken until the flow of liquid wealth spattered virtually on its dusty streets.

Great oil bonanzas of the past—Goose Creek, Barber's Hill and Lost Lake—all were discovered in this vicinity, but it took a backyard pool actually to awaken Anahuac.

Guy C. Jackson, a 30-year-old former ranch boy who is now county judge, county school superintendent and head of an abstract firm here, is the driving force in the move to put shoes on Anahuac feet and bring about the civic improvements.

"Bathing" in Ye Old Days Not A Debated Matter

A Spanish lady of sixteenth century society wrote to her daughter cautioning her against two frequent ablutions. Her letter, as relayed by Lady Marion Phillimore in the National Review, London, follows: "It is permissible, and even advisable, my dear daughter, to wash your face once or even twice during a week. To do so is said to be cooling and refreshing, and is less questionably desirable at times for the purpose of removing marks and stains which if neglected, might make it doubtful whether your friends would always succeed in recognizing you. But to wash more often than once in every four days would be to expose yourself to the evil tongue of the malicious. It would very naturally be said that you did it for the purpose of making yourself attractive to the men, and I confess that I, your own mother, might be at a loss to know in what manner to defend you from the charge."

Player Astonishes Fans POPULAR BLUFF, Mo.—Fans at a baseball game were recently surprised when an outfielder chasing a long fly suddenly commenced to dance and quickly emerged from his trousers. Teammates gathered around and discovered that he had been stung five times by a wasp.

Land Pays For Itself—Educates Children of Owner

ROSCOE. — His confidence in West Texas land values was justified recently for C. E. Long, pioneer Nolan county farmer, when he sold 200 acres for $50 an acre, the price paid for the land in 1920, the year after the second highest land prices in the history of this section.

Not only did Long receive his original purchase price of the land, but he made $10,000 cash from the farm in 1923 and has educated six children from the rent of the land during the fifteen years of ownership. After the place paid for itself in three years, the land was rented out to pay for educating Long's children, six of whom graduated from State colleges.

Crowd Calls Doctor; Pronounces Son Dead

NEW YORK.—Spectators made way for Dr. Nicholas Arabian as the physician shelled off his coat and went to work for four hours on the still form of a boy lying on the beach. After working calmly with all the professional skill, the doctor pronounced the boy dead. A policeman asked who could identify the body, and the doctor said "I can. It's my son, Nubar."

Hollidaysburg, Pa.—William Erb, 5, has broken his leg thirteen times. Physicians say his bones are brittle due to lack of calcium. The last fracture occurred while he was waiting in the car for his mother to return from a shopping expedition. When she got back he said: "I have broken my leg again."

Prisoner Escapes Trap

Bordentown, N. J.—Warned that Charles Bufano, a prisoner would be rescued, police at the State Prison Farm were all set, but he got away in an automobile driven by an accomplice. The prisoner braved the fire of troopers and guards stationed along the road, and made good his escape through a hail of bullets.

They Satisfy

—that's just the 1935 way of saying what Chesterfields have been saying for years . . .

Chesterfields do about everything a cigarette ought to do.

Chesterfields have TASTE—yes plenty of it. But not too strong.

And Chesterfields are MILD—but they're not insipid or flat.
