In choosing an automobile, buy a new one if possible-but if not, select a good used car from Haskell dealers who will warrant your purchase to be as represented.

A goodly portion of your delayed pay will be spent for clothing, more than likely - and Haskell merchants who have been "through the grind" of depression's realities right along with you offer as wide a variety in stocks at prices as low as can be found anywhere.

Whether its building a new home or buying a life insurance policy, choosing a new suit of clothes or a late model car-your money when spent in Haskell will buy just as many bargains-and help your town and county

THERE IS NO ESCAPE

The inside stories of Alvin Karpis, Campbell, Mahan, and Robinson as now revealed are notable for this fact-that these public enemies could buy everything but happiness. Karpis, for example, rented the finest apartments. He had choice rugs and expensive furniture, and ordered hothouse flowers for his living room. Good food and entertainment were at his command. But there was one thing he could never acquire-escape from himself. Every where he turned he faced the demon of fear. It was laughing at him, taunting him, reminding him of the hot seat in the death house, telling him that every footstep outside the door was the law catching up with him. And, of course, the law did catch up with him. For Karpis was the biggest feel in the world-a fool who thought he could lick the game and then forget about it.

THE ECKENER PARADOX

Among other things, it appears now that the epochal flight of the Zeppelin Hindenburg was notable for the fact that it brought Dr. Hugo Eckener further "disgrace" in his home country. By "disgrace" it is meat that German newspapers persistently failed to mention Dr. Eckener's name in official accounts of the airship's recent voyage. He already was in "disgrace" because he refused to cooperate in the last Nazi Reichstag election campaign. Such Nazi revenge is particularly incomprehensible to Americans, because newspapermen at Lakehurst filed 300,000 words on the arrival of the ship and the famous airmen. In view of this fact, the German attitude looks silly and absurd-if not a bit psychopathic.

FLOURISHING INDUSTRY

Economically, the country may be a bit slow in emerging from the depression, but educationally it appears to have rounded the corner. That is so because adult education in the United States can claim a clear 50 per cent gain in the last 10 years. Never before has this movement recorded such phenomenal progress. All in all, it is estimated that 23,000,000 grownups have returned to their schoolbooks. Today every normally intelligent person with ambition it would appear, is trying to boost himself along through further education. The old days-not so long ago, either-when a man considered he had learned enough at 20, fortunately are gone. Nowadays we have adopted the new outlook that it is vital to keep pace with the times. That is a step forward, individually and nationally.

MOTORIST PSYCHOLOGY

Reduce the causes of most automobile accidents to psychological factors, scientists tell us, and the real trouble can be traced to inattention, lack of judgement, recklessness, thoughtlessness, love of speed, slow wits, or excitement. It makes motoring on a busy highway these days a dangerous business. What to do about it? The psychologists offer several suggestions. They would, for one thing, prohibit some persons from driving at night because of peculiarities of vision: they would require others with high accident records to practice driving under the supervision of a trained "specialist in accident prevention"; and, finally, they would inaugurate schools for drivers, attendance at which would be compulsory for offenders and ultimately required for obtaining a license. At the same time, these psychologists would modernize traffic regu-lations in accordance with the findings of scientific research. Their suggestions merit a trial.

hopes of the great bulk of men are blasted. Out of every 100 men 65 years old or older, five have independent incomes of sufficient size to entitle them to retire and live comfortably.

Twenty-eight out of the hundred must go on working to exist, well knowing that in a few years their period of earning power will have been passed. Sixty-seven out of the hundred are dependents.

Their relatives, friends or charity must support them. Many of the men who fall are no less able, no less honest, no less aggressive than the men who succeed. Many may have accumulated fortunes, only to lose them. They may have seen investments reduced to nothing over night.

Today thousands of men are resolving that they will be among the small percentage of men who Tysinger, "Smoky Joe" mons and Wirt Smith. succeed in winning old-age independence. They are adopting savings programs, such as those offered by life insurance, that put safely and security above all. They look forward with hope and optimism to their declining years. The harsh experience of others has taught them an invaluable lesson.

MAN CAN CONTROL HIMSELF

We get accustomed, in an automatic age, to thinking that everything can be controlled automatically, by law or by mechanics. Somehow we get the idea that a law, or a mechanical restriction, will protect us from ourselves. But it is in ourselves that the final resource always lies. A year ago, horrified by the mounting toll of the streets, more terrible in many ways than war, a great cry went up: "Put mechanical governors on all cars to govern their speed! Pass stricter traffic laws!" But at the same time, newspapers, magazines, and radio throughout the country applied themselves to a more fundamental side, that of showing people what was going on, telling them of the traffic toll, urging them to be careful for their own sake. Up to now, automobile deaths have been 9 per cent fewer this year than they were during the same period of last year. That is a splendid, worthwhile showing. It is probably greater than would have been registered by any new set of laws, any set of mechanical restrictions.

LEAGUE PROBABLY PRVENTED WAR

Critics of the League of Nations in this country will probably not deny that it demonstrated its value as an instrument of peace in the recent crisis in Europe, when Hitler smashed the restrictive clauses of the Locarno agreement and re-armed the Rhineland.

What happened shows very plainly the difference between 1914 and today. Instead of brisk notes from France to Germany, with ultimatums and mobilizations as the routine development, the French government took the matter up with signatory powers, there was an airing of views, a period of delay and the postponement of vital measures.

We do not say that war has been avoided in Europe. We merely point out, that under League genesis, there existed among European powers a machinery that afforded the opportunity to seek settlement by other than warlike means, and that prior to the League's existence, no such avenue of escape from the imponderables of nationalistic diplomacy existed.

The League, it appears, will have to get along without participation by this country in its affairs, but " it does nothing but aid in the development of peace in Europe, its contribution to the welfare of the useds the sufficient to give it a high place among the reasonable interests of nations.

ANNOUNCEMENT

There will be a county wide meeting of the World War Veterans in the American Legion hall on Friday night. June 5th. Postmaster J. M. Diggs will meet with the veterans and give instructions in regard to securing and cashing their Government Bonds. The law is very strict on this matter and for each veteran to know the details of procedure will save much time and trouble. He will also inform the Veterans just when and where to find him on the day the bonds arrive. This is important and all veterans of the county are urged to be present and secure the necessary information. Do not forget the date, June 5th., Friday night. A. C. Chamberlain Post Com-

BANKERS_

(Continued from First Page) "Bankers Part in the Progress of Our State" by Hon, Jas P. Stinson of Abilene was the principal address of the morning in which the speaker detailed the part that pioneer bankers had in early deelopment of Texas, and the need or their continued conservative leadership in future. A round table discussion on "Metered Service Charge", led by A. C. Pierson, Haskell, provoked a general discussion of this new phase of banking which is being generally odopted. Talks were made by Malcolm Meek of Abi-lane, George S. Plants of Sey-mour, W. E. Braley of Munday, Oral Jones of Wichita Falls, and Champ Clark of Fort Worth.
