SPEEDWAY RECORD IS LOWERED ON THE FIRST DAY

Treat Track With Five Tons Chemicals On Wednesday

Roaring racers with champions speeding for $1,500 purses thrilled audiences here opening day of the three-day race meet under the auspices of the Southwestern Auto Racing Association. In time trials Wild Bill Morris from Lincoln, Neb. broke the track record in his D. O. Crager with time of 31.7 seconds, two seconds faster than the record set in 1936.

Morris won event No. 2, eight laps for the fastest six cars against champion Red Hodges and Buck Buchanan and his high speed on the curves gave him another first place in the final 20 lap event, although he drove the last half lap on a flat tire.

Only mishap of the afternoon occurred in the time trials when a racer blew out a rear tire high on the south curve, but skillful driving stopped the auto after plowing dirt for a hundred yards.

Treated at first with sodium chloride but not too successfully, workmen poured five tons of calcium chloride on the track all night Wednesday and two water wagons sprinkled the track. Water trucks were operated all night to lay the dust for Thursday's races and again for final events Saturday.

Johnny Holland, grey-haired veteran of the tracks from Austin won first in the third race, with Miss Frances Walling close behind. Red Hodges, leading contender for championship of the Southwest, was first in his D. O. Hal in the fourth race.

Haskell Sponsor

CITY TAX RATE FIXED AT $1.50 FOR 1937 LEVY

Prevailing Rate of Previous Years Is Allotted To Various Funds

City Alderman, in their regular semi-monthly meeting Monday night, set the city tax levy for 1937 at $1.50 on the $100 valuation of real estate and personal property. This rate is the same that has prevailed during past years, records reveal.

Slightly more than one-third of the tax levy is required for interest and sinking fund to retire bonds and funding warrants issued several years ago. Fifty-eight cents of the 1937 levy will be set aside for this purpose, divided as follows:

To retire 1909 Water Works Bonds, 3 cents; 1926 City funding warrants, 2 cents; 1926 City Hall bonds, 5 cents; 1933 refunding warrants, 40 cents; 1936 street equipment warrants, 8 cents.

Funds for maintenance of the various city departments during the coming tax year were set aside in the 1937 levy in the following amounts:

For general purposes, 25 cents; for street maintenance, 30 cents; fire department, 19 cents; library fund, 3 cents; park fund 15 cents.

Payment of 1937 city taxes started October 1st, according to city secretary Austin Coburn, and payment may be made at any time before January 1, 1938 without penalty or interest, the official added. After that date, the regular past due penalty and interest allowed by State law will be added to the tax total, he said.

Time Limit Is Extended For Certificates

The time limit for turning in Sale Certificates has been extended according to information received by county agent, B. W. Chesser. For cotton sold before October 15, 1937 the Sale Certificates must be turned in by October 30 in order to qualify for the subsidy on the 1937 cotton crop. For cotton sold after October 15 the certificates must be turned in by the county agent's office within 15 days after the date of sale. As these slips come in the date received is stamped on the back and if the date is more than 15 days after the date of sale the certificate is of no value to the producer.

Producers who are operating more than one farm will be asked at a later date to show which sales certificate represents cotton sold from each farm. Some kind of record should be kept of these because "any misrepresentation of facts made on or in connection with the cotton sale certificate for the purpose of defrauding the United States will be subject to the criminal provisions of the United States code."

Midway, North Ward, And Sayles Win In School Division

The grand parade, opening the thirteenth Central West Texas Fair here at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday was witnessed by seven thousand visitors who acclaimed it the most colorful and spectacular ever staged in the history of the Fair association. Packed throngs lined the blocks of the business section for views of the mile-long parade of beautiful floats.

Schools portraying "Mother Goose Rhymes" and fairy tales and the twelve "Months" floats were outstanding.

"March", artistically designed float sponsored by the Farmers & Merchants State Bank with Miss Mary Pearsey as sponsor won first prize in the parade; "January" with Miss Frances Walling, representing the Haskell Motor Company, second; and "August", with Miss Vada Thomas representing the Public Chevrolet Company third. Fourth winner was "February" with Miss Geraldine Fouts representing Gates Drug Store.

In the school division Midway with their "Baby Bunting" float placed first, North Ward school second with the "little red school house scene", and Sayles school third with "the Dutch mill." Weimer, portraying the "three bears" won fourth.

CORONATION OF QUEEN OF MONTHS CROWNED PAGEANT

Entertaining Program Is Staged At Indian Field

Presented in a natural setting under glowing flood lights at Indian Field a packed audience saw the climactic event of the opening Fair day, coronation of the "Queen of the Months", surrounded by eleven princesses and their escorts.

Highlight of the two and a half hour program was trick roping acts by Rex Felker, home town youth and young Phillip Cadenhead in cowboy regalia, of Weimer singing "Empty Saddles".

School pageants, portraying fairy tales of childhood days, showed the audience unique costumes and dressings. Weimer with the "three bears" placed first, Post, representing the "old woman who live in a shoe" second, and Sayles, with "dutch children" in folk dances and song won third prize.

In the pep squad division Haskell won first with a tribal fire and Indian dance. Rule second, and Weimer Choral Club third.

Cowgirl sponsors from neighboring towns were presented: Miss Mildred Davis of Rule, Miss Jim Frances Gordon of Anson, Miss Wanda Dakeen of Weimer and Mrs. Roy Jacobs as Miss Douglass.

Princesses were Frances Walling as Miss January, Geraldine Fouts as Miss February, Ann Taylor as Miss April, Martha Head as Miss June, Mrs. Ruby Smith as Miss August, Eva Joe Ratliff as Miss September, Kinsey Tucker as Miss October, Marielle Clifton as Miss November, and Anita Jo Simmons as Miss December.

Under the capable direction of Mrs. W. L. Richey and her assistants is credited the success of the pageant and parade.

LARGE FIELD OF ENTRIES IN FARM ANIMAL EXHIBITS

Keen Competition In Livestock And Farm Entries

Individual agricultural exhibits, and livestock entries in the Fair this year show the keenest competition in any previous fair.

Hundreds of visitors that thronged the exhibit hall saw well prepared agricultural exhibits that judges will find a hard time deciding the winners. Home Demonstration booths, non-competitive exemplified the progress and development of the farm home.

Livestock entries of FFA boys from Rule, Weimer, Haskell, and Roby and other exhibitors filled all available space. Outstanding in the show is the beef cattle department where rivalry is keen among the youths.

YOUTHS CONFESS TO CRIME COMMITTED THREE YEARS AGO

"Once a thief always a thief" says society but the two youthful prisoners returned from Huntsville penitentiary here for trial for burglary committed almost three years ago differ. "Once outside, and we hope it'll be soon, its the straight and narrow for us", as all convicts say.

But their records on the Harlem Farm No. 1, where all first timers under 25 are placed, has been marred by attempted escapes and continuous breaking prison regulations, and it may be a long time before they are admitted outside.

Raymond Wilkerson, 19, now on his thirty-fifth month in jail has been convicted of burglary, robbery, theft and kidnapping and it was on the latter charge that he was sentenced from Fort Worth for thirty years. When only fourteen he was sent to the reformatory for theft, his first offense he claims.

Grady Hubbard, red-headed, with a smiling babyface that, belies his record, is doing a five year hitch for burglary. Both acknowledge they have been partners in various crimes.

"When you once get on the black list its hard to get off" said Hubbard, when asked why he had been in solitary so many times. "And you have to do time on the 'stool', after working in the fields all day if guards think you've loaded." Punishment on the stool is meted out to criminals who have broken rules. They are forced to stand for various periods of time on a circular stool and when they become too unruly its the black snake, a whip about three inches wide and three feet long administered by a guard. Twenty-one licks is the usual dose.

Both will be tried in Federal court here Thursday for burglary.

"We confessed to this crime because we wanted to get our records clear, get a vacation from the farm and rest up," frankly stated Wilkerson.

FINES ASSESSED FOR DRIVING OVER FIRE HOSE

ST CONFERENCE GAME FRIDAY NIGHT

The Indians, in full strength, have been polishing pass defense and blocking in the major portion of practice this week. "We are better prepared than we've been this season and I believe we'll win", stated Mason, after an early morning workout Wednesday.

Anson has the highest percentage in preliminary games winning four out of five, but Haskell in three victories and two losses has met stronger clubs. Both clubs, with coaches from the same college, use identical formations part of the time report scouts.

Starting lineup will be the same as last Friday.

INDIANS OPEN CONFERENCE FRIDAY

TO BEGIN WINNING DISTRICT BY DEFEATING ANSON IN FIRST CONFERENCE GAME

The Haskell Indians are going to make a bright shiny mark tomorrow night when they beat the Anson Tigers. This being the first conference game it ought to make us fight plenty hard. Even the fans ought to help.

The Anson Tigers took us for a loss last year at a score of thirteen to nothing. They boomed and hissed us, in fact they got a big kick in winning over us Indians. Not only Anson but all the other teams in the district had rather beat us than anyone else. You know why? It's because we've always had such a fighting spirit they didn't have. They wanted to break that year—they did—So what? We intend to come back twice as hard this year, and a good reason is revenge. We're going to grab that Tiger by the tail and turn him every way but loose. We intend to hit him so hard it will knock all the stripes off him.

We call on the fans to help get the spirit of the game. It's hard for the boys on the field to get in a very good spirit unless they can hear the cheers of the crowd. When a boy makes a bad play, don't boo him, maybe he can't help it—maybe it wasn't his fault anything can happen out there on the field. Who doesn't like to hear a crowd cheer him. If a player does something good and gets a cheer from the crowd, it makes him fight just a little bit harder. Just give us a little help in yelling and watch our football team go down the field.

Students Hear Mahon Speak

"Out-point the opposition and you will have victory" is the apt phrase which Congressman George Mahon of the 21st Congressional District used in a short talk given to the student body Monday afternoon. Introduced immediately after a short pep rally, Mr. Mahon quoted the Duke of Wellington and applied his remarks to our chances of victory in the next football game. "We remained the French," they pointed out, we pointed them the harder, are the words of the Duke of Wellington following the battle of Waterloo. Further remarks of Mr. Mahon adapted these words to our endeavors in high school and life.

Congressman Mahon was introduced by Mr. Brecklove as being the man who more than any other one man, aided in having the present school by securing federal aid for us. In his talk the speaker commented very highly on our school superintendent and school authorities. Also he commended the school spirit which was manifested before his address by a freshman's and a senior's remarks about our coming football game.

Everyone's Wondering

Why so many red-heads want to go with Gerry Adams.
 How Foy McKosken had a certain blond as getting along. Remember this, Foy? "Dat—here's where we left off last night."
 If the new agriculture teacher will be as well liked by the students as everyone thinks he will.
 Whether high school is what Freshmen thought it would be.
 Why Woodrow Gay got so popular all of a sudden. What have you to say to that Martine, Patcy, Beunis Faye, and Myrta Bob?
 How Anita Jo feels about being F. F. A. sweetheart. G-g-goh, Nellie, aren't you thrilled?
 Who Lon went with not long ago. It couldn't be Kenzie, could it, Eva Jo?
 What the sophomore party will bring forth.
 Where Roy Wiseman's thought are during study hall. It's not Denton, I'm sure.

Senior Class Has Class Meeting

The senior class met Thursday in a very important meeting. It was called to order by our vice-president, Labry Ballard in the absence of Bob McAnulty, our president. The class decided on gladiolus as the class flower and pink and white as class colors. It was suggested by our sponsor, Mrs. Wimbush, that we sell Christmas cards to make money in order to meet our necessary expenses later on. This being agreed upon, a committee of the following was appointed to take the matter in charge: Elizabeth Huckabee, John Guest and Robbie Jo Burson.

Also, Lynn Pace, who is a very popular member of the class, is in the hospital at Stamford. He is not seriously ill, but the members of his class wanted to do something for him. It was agreed upon that each member write him a short letter and pep him up some and let him know that we, as a class, really are missing him.

As this is our last year in high school, and since our class is one of the largest in the history of Haskell High School, we decided to really make the senior class of 1937-38 show on the map by being the peppiest class there has ever been or ever will be. It was made in the form of a motion and seconded that we have a party in the next two weeks. Since Halloween is very near at hand, it was suggested that we have a Halloween party or more than that—a masquerade party. A committee of the following was selected to plan for the occasion: Roy Wiseman, Hazel Foote and Melba Cullum.

If you don't believe that we have the best senior class that can be had, you just wait and see!

H. H. S. Students To Take Part in Parade

Haskell High School will be well represented in the parade Wednesday afternoon. The parade will mark the opening of the Central West Texas Fair. Bearing a black satin banner the pep squad will perhaps be the best represented. Second to their number will be the Future Farmers Association. Several of the Farmers will ride horses and the rest will ride in a wagon. Although the band is not made up entirely of high school students, a great number of them are in the band and it will be an added attraction. Haskell High School girls will also represent several of the Haskell business firms.

Boy Scouts Buy Pop Corn Popper

The Boy Scouts of Troop 36 have bought a pop corn popper. They will sell pop corn at all the football games of the season and on Saturdays. The money made will go to help pay for the scout house which was built during the summer.

Anita Jo Simmons Elected Sweetheart

Anita Jo Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Simmons, was elected sweetheart of the local chapter of the Future Farmers of America in a recent election. Miss Simmons, a beautiful natural-blond, is seventeen years old and an outstanding member of the senior class in the local high school. She is one of the most popular girls in the high school, attested by the facts that she is also pep squad leader, and a leading member of the Gypsy Ramblers.

Football For Little Girls—And Some Big Ones

 A "pass" is one of the most thrilling plays in football. The term "pass" usually applies to what is technically known as a "forward pass" and is made in the following manner: The center snaps the ball back from the line of scrimmage to the backfield man who is the best "passer". On catching it (and he usually does) he "fades back" or run backward the length of time it takes for one of the end players, or one of the other backfield men, to run toward the spot where he is to throw the ball. At just the right moment he must throw it, and take care not to throw it too high for his "receiver" to be able to reach it. But at the same time it must soar above the reach of the opposing players who may be running between the passer and the receiver.

If the receiver catches the ball and doesn't drop it, the pass is "completed" and if the receiver is lucky he may be able to run several yards with it—even to a touchdown—before being brought down. If the receiver fails to catch the pass, or drops the ball, the pass is called "incomplete". In this case the ball goes back to the same line of scrimmage and the team attempting to make the pass has lost a down with no gain. Sometimes the pass is caught by an opposing player and the other team gets possession of the ball. This is called an "intercepted" pass, and is the reason why a team does not resort to passing play unless in considerable need of gaining ground.

Only an end player or a backfield man is eligible to receive a pass—while it may be intercepted by any member of the opposing team. The spectator who is not familiar with this ruling will soundly criticize a guard or a tackle who "could have caught that pass as easy as not if he had tried!" But the poor lineman hasn't any chance to cover himself with glory in that respect.

A pass is not attempted on the first down, nor on the fourth. Frequently when a team is near the goal, they will try to complete a pass for the touchdown. Occasionally too they will pass instead of kick for their extra point after a touchdown.

The "aerial" game—that is a game in which the ball is passed frequently—seems to be more or less a speciality of Southwest teams. It may be because teams of the southwest have fair weather through most of their playing season. A passing game doesn't work so well in a snow or rain, when the ball is slick and footing is insecure. However, we don't exactly have a monopoly on the "aerial attack" (or "razzle-dazzle" football) it is sometimes called.

ELSIE GHOLSON ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT AT TECH

Miss Elsie Gholson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gholson of Haskell, has been elected vice-president of the home economics freshmen at Texas Technological College.

This organization of classes in the home economics division according to classification is to further interest in home economics projects and to create more intimacy between the girls.

Students Embody Talent for H. S.

Surely every student has seen and admired those artistically designed prints of our school song and our "love song" to our Indians, that have appeared on our bulletin board lately. It's the work of Mary Louise Curry, and we all should thank her for her effort in preparing such attractive copies. Why not get them framed?

And again we remind you of the untiring efforts of Billy Alsbrook in preparing posters each week to stir up the old spirit. This poster for this week is a "dilly", isn't it? And we can see it took a lot of care and work to produce it? Yes, Billy!

Pep Squad Gives Unique Drill

That was a fine performance the pep squad gave us last Friday night. We could see the work and careful planning behind it all, and we think that sparker idea was great; they just couldn't help it if the wind blew out their matches. Don't be disappointed, pep squad—that it didn't "click" so well. Better luck next time and we just hope you will try it again some time. Also we'd like to see that arrow figure again some time. Some of the things you do are so good that once isn't enough for them.

Get a Yardstick!

Once there was a man who went into a store to buy some celluloid collars for his boys, because his boys, he said, would "rather be dead than out of style". So would the most of us I suppose, "rather be dead" than not able to wear things approved by style. Likewise it causes us real grief to have to wear something that "isn't worn" or isn't in accord with the latest details of fashion. Indeed style is a great factor in modern life.

From here on, this is an editorial on style, addressed to the older and taller girls of high school. Get a yardstick and measure fifteen inches from the floor in the direction of your knees. If the hem of your dress is above the fifteen-inch mark you are not exactly in style. Fifteen inches, according to the McCall's Magazine is the highest high for women's dresses and anything above that is just not about that at all. Westminster Abbey Returns to Normal

Reopened to the public recently, for the first time since the coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, Westminster Abbey showed the results of some renovating and restoration work. For the first time in centuries, parts of the abbey were cleaned and portions of it restored. View shows the choir and the crossing. Many of the stained glass windows have been freed of the heavy coating of dust which had obscured them for generations.

Paris dressmaker that uses the fifteen inch length.

McCall's Magazine is a tried and tested style indicator, and we can well afford to observe the quotations on style which it brings us from all the style centers of Europe and America.

We high school girls ought to be careful how we wear our dresses. If we get them too short, the first thing we know, some of the older girls beyond high school age, who must keep looking young will be thinking they'll have to get theirs up to their knees—and think how deluded they will be! It's a big responsibility, girls, but we must consider it seriously. After all, keeping up with the style is an important thing in this old world.

Comments On This And That

How many have noticed the playhouses the seniors are bringing to school? They are small triangular affairs in the shape of pyramids. Well that's what geometry will do for you.

Warning! Students please avoid going around Crack Skull corner at such high speeds. The literal name may become a reality if more caution is not shown.

It seems some students took a certain announcement of Mr. Wimbish too much to heart. The next day several junior boys (and others) were sitting with friends—but they weren't boys.

Those attending the football games most likely have seen the new "director" with his "Zuka horn", drum, cap and baton. He has been rooting for H! H. S. His name is Robert Bruce Reynolds and he says his ambitions are to be the band director, pep squad leader and captain of the football team. Some going!

Now that "Macbeth" is over, Bidge M. can settle down in peace—he thinks. But it is the old, old saying, "Out of the freezing pan, into the fire." The next six weeks will bring up that never ending subject-grammar. Some fun, eh, Bidge?

Why don't they just go ahead and choke us is the thought of many an unhappy and gagging student. Our only consolation is that the radiator fumes won't last much longer. I hope—I hope—I hope.

The main topic of conversation the last six weeks was not English, Spanish, Government, no not over Geometry but Physics! It may be said more than one student was glad when that review was over.

"Hurry! Hurry! Hurry right over this way? We present Madame—the world's fattest lady, and zula the cannibal who eats raw meat and humans if he can get one, bla, bla, bla, bla."

This is what we will be hearing and more this week. Then too won't we have fun watching someone run into nothing (they think) and find out it's a glass wall.

The Voice of Experience

This week is better known as hockey week. Of all the weeks in the nine months school term, more high school students play hockey or stay out with permission this week than during all the rest of the weeks together.

I remember one afternoon about three years ago when I came out for football how a person was dealt with that played hockey during fair week. About four of us boys decided we would play hockey and go to the carnival and see what we could find to do. About four-thirty, Mr. Wimbish and Mr. Richey circled the grounds once and caught us all. For punishment we had to come out for football one hour after everyone else had gone, for a week.

I remember another time during the fair that a certain two boys, played hockey thinking they could get away with it. Mr. Wimbish changed their minds when he gave them thirty days in detention. So boys and girls, take my advice and if you want to stay out get permission from your parents. This is the voice of experience. (And How!)

Squawks and Flutters

Mary Louise Holland has caught Dorothy J.'s old Stamford flame. Is Dorothy disappointed?

Frances Lucille saw a very cute boy from Crowell last Friday and what do you think? She flips her finger and he says yes.

Patsy Pate still has a back talk, but sometimes it's useful, isn't it?

Gerry Atkins steps out with C. C. from Stamford every once in a while.

Tenie L. certainly does "blow up" when you mention Vernon S. He doesn't live here but as usual at Stamford.

By the way, just about one fourth of all pep squad girls go with Stamford "guys."

We haven't been able to find out anything on Ella Mae; but you watch the "Warhoop" and one of these days you'll see what you see.

Well I've given up the idea of Martha and Parramore reopening their little episode for a while, anyway.

When we talk about Martha we think about Henry. Henry and Martha are twins but the difference is, Henry isn't in the "pep squad."

 Frances—I didn't touch one.

 Stranger—Don't kid, I'm in a hurry.
 Joe—Then turn right and you'll be left.

Mrs. Simmons—Did you say there was something the matter with my hot water bottle?
 Nellie—Yes'm. I put some water in it, yesterday and it isn't hot yet!

Kaigler's Studio

Last year Mrs. Kaigler taught her class a few things about private and public conduct, but this year she has added to her speech course etiquette as taught (largely) by Mrs. Price Post (Emily Post).

The first month's lessons have been on introductions and titles. We may not thoroughly understand yet just when to stand and when to sit, while receiving or making an introduction, but when are given a written examination on titles and who is introduced to whom, every member of the class will answer: "The man is always introduced to the woman, even though the man be distinguished and seventy-five years old and the lady is a little seventeen-year-old girl. The only exception to the rule is when the president of the United States, or the heads of certain churches, such as bishops and popes and foreign crowned heads—here Mrs. Kaigler reminds us that none of us need worry about introductions of that kind.

The formal manner of introduction is: "Mrs. Worldley. I would like to present Mr. Long—or just as proper, "Mr. Long, may I introduce you to Mrs. Worldley?" In our younger group, Emily Post (Mrs. Price Post) allows us to say, "Bob this is Mary" without the least formality.

The one and only proper response to an introduction is "How do you do". And we don't think any member of the class will ever (again) say: "Glad to make your acquaintance" or "Pleased to meet her".

Every member of the class has committed the following to memory: "A Woman never shares her husband's title". Colonel Harrison's wife is never called, "Mrs. Col. Harrison" or Dr. Brown's wife is never called "Mrs. Dr. Brown" any more than Groceryman Smith's wife is called Mrs. Groceryman Smith.

Also we have learned that a woman retains her husband's name even after he is dead; she should be called (so says Mrs. Post) Mrs. Robert Neal Smith and never Mrs. Mary Louise Smith. If the woman is separated from her husband, she retains his name until she marries another man. Although it is proper for her relatives and friends to call a woman who is married, Mary Louise—all newspaper accounts of her, her personal cards, addressed envelopes and year books are printed or engraved as the case may be, Mrs. Robert Neal Smith and never Mary Louise Smith.

And to be sure that we don't say the wrong thing to a formal introduction, we're going to risk only: "How-do-you-do" and when we get ready to leave—we're going to say merely "goodbye".

When our new auditorium is finished we will be ready to initiate it with two one act plays and quite a number of skits, readings and pianologues.

Teachers Club Entertained Monday Night

Mrs. R. O. Pearson, Mr. George Wimbish and Mr. Perry Mason were series managers for a group of outstanding football teams who met Monday night at the Library to determine the winners of the Rose Bowl game. Admittance was gained by telling one's favorite team and their next opponent. Programs were given to those answering correctly questions on the game asked by Referee Mason and they were admitted to the stadium. Signs at frequent intervals warned against hard drinking in the stands, throwing soda pop bottles, etc., and stickers representing Southwest teams were available for all enthusiastic football fans.

At eight o'clock the whistle was blown and the teams went into action. Rules were explained by Pearson, and in each stadium a rough and tumble game of "34" was played for five quarters with the outstanding teams of the day scoring touchdowns and safeties until the series was called to a halt.

During the games, referee Mason settled all disputes although he was "boxed" almost from the game. Water boy Wimbish and Peanut Seller Pearson cheered the teams on, by appearing at all games at just the opportune time. In the Rose Bowl game, the mighty S. M. U. was downed by the more powerful Aggies who played a brilliant game and managed to turn back the Mustangs, even though the air was filled with the gallant strains of Peruvia coming from the stands. The members of the A. & M. team were presented with silver loving cups decorated in their colors. The championship team was composed of Sproles, Post, McCullum, and Whitaker.

A line quickly formed when Manager Pearson invited the entire group on to her Coco Cola stand and the tired and exhausted onlookers were cheered by the Coco Cola and cakes.

A short business meeting of the club was held in which the president informed the club that the executive committee had made a rule that a fine of one cent is to be imposed upon members addressing others in the club as Miss Mrs. or Mr. Following this the club was delighted to learn some of the heretofore secret names of the members. A list of the social committees for each month was given out by Mrs. Mayoy, after which the weary players decided to call it a day.

Following are names of members of various teams: Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Murphy, Miss Sproles, Mr. Garrison, Miss Hambleton, Mrs. Rike, Miss Latham, Miss Fitzgerald, Mrs. Crow, Mrs. Mayoy, Miss Fields, Miss Phippen, Miss Hunt, Miss Taylor, Mr. Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Breedlove, Mr. and Mrs. Wimbish, Mr. McCullum, Mrs. Meyer, Miss Vick, Mr. Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Mason, Mr. Vannoy, Mrs. Marvin Post, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Persons, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Chapman, Mrs. Wallace Cox, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Graham.

This review met with so much favor when given before the Rule local P-T-A. that Mrs. Steele has been asked to give it again so all the organizations will profit by this excellent book.

Let's have a good representation from each organization in the county.

Mattson H. D. Club Meets In Miles Home

There must be an agreement of lines, shapes and colors to produce an effect of harmony, stated Miss Vaughan to Mattson Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. Ellis Miles Thursday, October 14.

Too many decorations give a room a restless appearance. If we have more possessions than can be used at one time, we should put some of them away. In the attempt to make our room quiet and restful, we should not go to the extreme of having them bare of decorative accessories or arrange the furniture and rugs in too severe or formal a fashion. The luxury of living among beautiful things is not dependent upon money but upon good taste, careful intelligent selection and arrangement and good standards of housekeeping. It is well to bare in mind the upkeep of the room in choosing rugs, pictures and other accessories.

Three well chosen pictures are better for any room than having a nondescript collection of small and large pictures that do not harmonize with each other. A wise mother lets her daughter or son have a part in choosing and making the furnishings for their rooms. Often it is desirable to place the small pieces of furniture, such as chairs and small tables at slight angles to the wall. It is not always necessary to use articles that are exactly alike, in order to maintain perfect formal balance. Another principal we must keep in mind when arranging the furnishings of a room is proportion.

Those enjoying the meeting were: Mesdames Jim Stanford, Vern Derr, Grandmother Weaver, Floyd McGuire, Ellis Miles and Miss Mildred Vaughan.

Mr. Guines spoke on the need for safety on the part of pedestrians and drivers of cars. He urged that the school children be taught safety in the crossing of streets and that bus drivers be drilled even more in the art of correct and safe driving.

27,500 people were killed last year in Texas as a result of automobile accident.

Speed killed 31 per cent of those killed or a total of 7,240. Driving on the wrong side of the road killed 3,940. Failure to give the right-of-way caused death of 3,800 and injured 191,000. Reckless driving cause 10 per cent of the accidents. Defective brakes killed and maimed 18,600.

The highway patrolman said that if things were accomplished they would greatly aid the Safety program in Texas. They are these:

1. Mass education of motorists and pedestrians.
2. Impartial enforcement of traffic laws and the people must be good jurors and witnesses.
3. Uniform traffic regulations.
4. Removal of physical hazards on the roads.

The president, Mrs. Welsh, presided at the business session. The treasurer, Mrs. Smith reported 74 paid up members, more than the North Ward P-T-A. has had for many years.

 FAMOUS AVIATRIX ONCE DROVE A TRUCK
 THIS is a note of encouragement for "tom-boys" and particularly for parents who may not understand them. Girls who fall into the classification of "tom-boys" usually simply have a stronger spirit of competition or a greater streak of adventure than other little girls. Their greater activity may be early expression of a sense of leadership which may later lead to fame.
 Amelia Earhart, queen of aviation, was a tom-boy. Born in Atchison, Kan., in 1898, she was an unusually active little girl. She loved rough and tumble games, and she could beat most of the boys her age in sports and contests. She graduated from Hyde Park high school in Chicago and went on to a girl's school in Rydal, Pa. From school she went to Canada where she worked as a nurse's aide in a Toronto war hospital. Stories of World War pilots appealed to her sense of adventure and daring; and Amelia made her way to California, determined to learn to fly.
 Here her self-reliance and "tom-boy" courage was helpful, for she had to earn the money for her instruction. Amelia Earhart worked for the telephone company and even drove a sand and gravel truck. Later, she attended Columbia university. She held 23 different jobs while perfecting herself in the art of flying. In 1928, she won the plaudits of the world by being the first woman to fly the Atlantic. As a result of this flight she gained recognition as the foremost woman flyer, became aviation editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, and vice president of two important commercial airlines.

COTTON SURPLUS

(Semi-Weekly Farm News)

Saturday the Government predicted the second largest cotton crop in the history of the country 17,573,000 bales. Sunday an unofficial report of the New York Cotton Exchange put the foreign cotton production at an all-time new high figure of 20,000,000 bales, indicating a total domestic and foreign production of 37,573,000 bales. World consumption will be about 30,500,000 bales, leaving a carry-over of about 7,000,000 bales in addition to the surplus brought forward into this year. The new world high figure on production brought the market down to 7c, almost an all-time low figure if the 58c dollar is taken into consideration.

It is possible that the Government estimate is too high. A crop of half a bale an acre is phenomenal. Possibly the estimators have their sights too high. Or possibly they have underestimated the acreage. The fact remains that an enormous crop at home and abroad, has been produced. There will not be enough downward revision to affect the market to great extent.

Some will lay the present desperate strait of the cotton farmer at the door of those who nullified the AAA acreage control plan. Others will blame the AAA for having encouraged foreign producers to increase their production from 10,500,000 to 20,000,000 bales annually. Looking to the long-time program needed for the cotton farmer, there is more force in the latter than in the former argument. In a period of generally sagging industrial production and weakened commodity markets, foreign cotton production has almost doubled because the Government of the United States, beginning with the operations of the Hoover Farm Board, has attempted to control world price by manipulation of domestic price and supply through loans, subsidies and acreage regulations. Secretary Wallace proposes a new program based on return to acreage control, but giving cognizance to the need of foreign markets. The alternative facing the farmer is reduction of his crop to about 7,000,000 bales annually so that cotton may have tariff protection, or adoption of a plan to regain foreign markets. A system that would guarantee the farmer a domestic price for a given number of bales and permit him to dump the surplus on the world market would not be sound as a long-time economic program, but it is the most plausible expedient to meet the present emergency.

WALLACE'S COTTON PROGRAM

After the South has lost about half of its foreign cotton market, Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, arrives at the decision that it might be well to make some concessions in the 1938 control program by which lint production would be adjusted to both foreign and domestic demand. Had this policy been adopted in the adjustment schemes of the last five years, Texas and other export States might not have lost markets for some 3,500,000 bales now supplied by foreign countries.

Texas as the Nation's greatest cotton producer and exporting State has the major share a stake in a cotton adjustment program. Southeastern cotton States have their cotton mills, but Texas has few of these and must look to Japan, England, Germany and other nations, which because of restrictive measures imposed upon the South and because of high tariff and other reasons, have come to depend increasingly upon foreign cotton producers.

"The United States intends to keep its place in the world cotton markets"—These are bold words coming from the Secretary of Agriculture at the Memphis conference, but they have a hollow sound. That conclusion should have been an integral part of the agricultural adjustment program since 1933 as the paying of benefits to complying farmers. One wonders how in the name of common sense the South and Texas can hope to displace foreigners who in five short years have managed to increase their cotton crops from a ten-year average of 10-25,000,000 bales prior to 1933 to 19,500,000 this season.

Mr. Wallace in his writings has shown himself to be a thinker, but in action he has pursued a vacillating course. After the horse has been stolen he would shut tightly the door. Encouragement of greater cotton consumption is nothing new. That has been talked for years but little has been accomplished. Increased production of food and feed will not provide the cotton farmers with badly needed cash to take the place of cotton income. Texas cotton must go into export. That is its normal outlet.

A NEW INDUSTRY

Speaking before the recent convention of the American Soybean Association at Urbana, Ill., a leader of the industry made the interesting statement that ninety per cent of the soybeans processed go into livestock feed, the high merit of which has been proved repeatedly by experiment station tests.

The development of the soybean industry was brought about, the speaker declared, not by promoters, but by farmers with visions of a new cash crop, aided by bright-minded and determined government and college research experts, by business men and processors, who risked and sometimes lost fortunes in buying crops and selling the converted products.

Processors have kept ahead of the crops, and mills at key points now have a total crushing capacity double that so far required, it was said. It is no doubt true that few products in history have so quickly attained scientific handling.

In the laboratories new uses have been evolved new markets have been created, and new sales forces have been employed to break down the walls of opposition in highly competitive fields. This step by step the soybean industry is expanding, to the great benefit of farmers and users of its products.

Causes of crime

In their efforts to find an explanation for the increasing prevalence of crime, many thoughtful persons have concluded that the tendency to burden the public with a multiplicity of laws may account for much of the lawlessness which now prevails.

Speaking before an international convention of police chiefs, Dr. Carlton Simon said: "We can limit and harass human freedom to such an extent that even the normally balanced individual feels that he is oppressed and will seek unlawful means of expressing his personality."

Through the operation of innumerable laws and the activities of government agencies employed thereunder we are restricted, inspected, spied upon, investigated and caused many unnecessary annoyances which are resented by a people who love freedom.

If more attention were paid to apprehending and punishing real criminals, while allowing greater freedom from harassment to respectable citizens, we should doubtless have a more law-abiding and happier citizenship.

CAUSES OF CRIME

Well, to celebrate his election, the Aga Khan gave the most gorgeous banquet ever staged in Geneva—1,500 bottles of champagne and 300 pounds of caviar.

Thus did the league justify its right to existence. There were but few flies in the ointment. Ethiopia's delegates were either deceased or missing, the league having drawn the color line, so to speak, which was more than Mussolini did when he wiped out their country last year. Spain's delegates likewise were absent, being mostly dead or else fighting one another.

Sick Calls De Luxe.
PAT O'BRIEN, the actor, tells this one about an Irish cop at the crossing who waved a car containing three priests to proceed after the stop signal had gone up and then, with harsh words, checked another driver who sought to follow along too.

"But you let that other car with those three clergymen in it go through," protested the halted one.

"They was on their way to a sick call," stated the officer.

"Now wait a minute," said the citizen. "I happen to be a Catholic myself and I know about those things. Who ever heard of three priests going on one sick call?"

For a moment only the policeman hesitated. Then he snapped:

"Say, young feller, tell me this, you that knows so much—did you never hear of a solemn high sick call?"

French Slickers.
POLICE are still trying to round up the slickers who, in one day, raided twenty-nine banks scattered all over France. This reminds a fellow of 1931, when the bank examiners were coroners simultaneously sitting on the mortal remains of an even larger number of American banks, the main difference being that these French banks were looted by outside parties.

According to dispatches, this job was accomplished through fraudulent credentials for strangers presenting forged drafts. But I beg leave to doubt that part, remembering when I turned up at various outlying points over there with proper identifications and a perfectly good letter of credit. What excitement then on the part of the cashier (spade beard) and what deep distress for the president (trellis whiskers) and what stifled moans from the board of directors (assorted beavers) when, finally, they had to fork over. Why you can wreck a perfectly good bank here in less time than it takes to get a certified check for $275, less exchange, cashed in a French provincial bank.

But should it develop that any of these recently stolen francs were earmarked for payment to us on account of that war debt—brethren, that would indeed be news.

Escort Agency Offers Service Of Young Lads

New York, with its new fangled escort service, has nothing on Washington. There the dies is so old and has been worked for so many years that they have it down to a fine point.

In the big town the boys squire a lady around for an evening and get paid for it. In Washington footloose young lads do the same thing year in and year out and don't get paid for it.

The Washington system is apparently intriguing because the boys seem to like it, even without financial remuneration.

There is a woman here who, for a consideration, will arrange any kind of a party one cares to pay for—that is, a society shindig (she doesn't bother with the small fry), flowers, food, music and what not, but arranges for the men as well.

Should, for instance, some fond mother wish to give her daughter a suitable debut, it is practically mandatory in maintaining her social standing that she call the arranger and asks her to please throw this shindig. In Washington, there is a severe shortage of men in comparison with the number of eligible young ladies. Consequently many a maiden is left in distress with no man to show her around. Following out the same idea, her "coming out" party is likely to flop for lack of men.

Here, then, is where the lady party-thrower comes in. She maintains a standing army (perhaps 800 or 1,000) of eligible young men upon whom she can call in any emergency requiring valor, such as a $50,000 debit. Like a good general she marshals her forces, sends a couple of hundred to this party, 50 to that, 150 to another and so on.

Really, on the surface it is not quite so crude as that. The arranger furnishes the prospective hostess with a list of names and the hostess end each of the boys an invitation like everybody else gets.

The boys like it. They debate the pros and cons of this and that party and discuss whether or not they should go to a particular party—just like they had a choice which they don't.

There is some competition to get on the list. Here is what a likely lad must have to have his name placed thereon:

- 1. A "tux."
- 2. Dancing ability.
- 3. A clean slate.

In other words, the applicant must have dress clothes and be used to wearing them. He must know how to dance more or less well. His reputation must be good and his family runs back to a granddaddy who was a fifth cousin of Robert E. Lee he becomes something of a lion in this society.

Although the boys get no pay now (it used to be that occasionally some father would slip a lad a fiver on general principles) they get into the town's swank parties which they read about in the papers. They meet the society swells meet an occasional admiral or cabinet officer and a few senators. They can drink free all the champagne they can hold. Once in a while, but not often, the thing leads to the altar with a rich man's daughter.

In New York a lady calls up and gets a man to take her to shows, etc., for pay. The lady calls up, gets the boy and comes out with the dinner tickets or invites him to dinner or a night club.

It all works out on the same "blind date" theory like we used to do in university days—call up and say "Prepare five girls, please we're coming over."

That worked fine until one of the boys got a plump, short Alpha Phi with a corset.

This Washington system, while on the same principle, is safer. Each boy, while generally a "blind date," as it were, is thoroughly checked over by the arranger. That way, a dandel or her party is sure not to get "stuck."

The race track at the Round-up grounds is being put into shape this week.

Ask Jim Pratt why there is no stock water in this country. He says it is either laziness or stringency is the reason why we have no good tanks. Jim is about right.

Mr. T. J. Lemmon has returned from the fair and a trip to Ellis County. He says they made a good cotton crop in Ellis, but people there are in worse condition than in the west.

Mr. J. A. Clark realized $32 from sale of tomatoes grown in five rows thirty steps long.

Messrs. Foster and Anthony have returned from the Dallas fair and returned that Haskell county has reason to be proud of her exhibit.

Miss Buna Wilbourn and Mrs. Hughes have been running Mr. Wilbourn's business during his illness.

Mr. Forbes of Throckmorton is looking after his stock interest here this week.

The cattle quarantine will be raised Nov. 15 and parties who want to bring their cattle north of the line can move their cattle.

The plow contest on the Round-up grounds is certain to attract all the farmers of the Abilene country. Every plow manufacturer knows his plow is by all odds the very best in all creation, but somebody is going to have the special laugh on the other fellows. Jim Webb is the "boss" of that part of the show.

The Free Press is already in receipt of inquiries for farm lands. The fair exhibit is doing the work.

The alarm was given by several lusty youths and the firing of guns and a number of citizens and members of the W. O. W. lodge, which was just adjourning at the time, were promptly on the scene, but were without buckets or a convenient supply of water and could do but little toward fighting the fire and it gained headway rapidly. Soon however, the two fire companies with their chemical engines arrived, but the fire had gained so strong a hold on the building that it was useless to turn the engines on it and they confined their efforts to trying to save the wooden buildings on either side. Fight colds! Protect yourself and your family against becoming overheated or chilled. If you do "catch cold" consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.

ONLY "a cold" . . . . but serious disease may follow

YOUR doctor will tell you that "common colds" are dangerous. Fifty per cent of all disabling diseases start with this all too frequent winter illness. Many "colds" result from sudden changes of temperature such as occur to occupants of the home as they go from a warm room into an unheated part of the house.

Winter months, more than any other season of the year, require careful protective measures against "the common cold." If YOUR family is constantly "catching cold" HEAT YOUR ENTIRE HOUSE THIS WINTER FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE - it's a simple precaution to avoid the dangers of sudden changes of temperature.

Observatory Is In Operation In Davis Mountains

The McDonald Observatory, situated on top of Mt. Locke in the Davis Mountains is already in operation, several observers having begun activities some months ago. The observatory built by the University of Texas with a $1,000,000 bequest from the late W. J. McDonald of Paris, Texas, is staffed by the University of Chicago, under the direction of Dr. Otto Struve, who is also director of the latter institution's Yerkes Observatory.

During the summer, as one of the first steps toward making the reception and consulting room in the observatory a memorial to Mr. McDonald, an inscription containing an excerpt from his will was painted on its circular wall by Paul Pressler, architect from the Brownwood State Park. Mr. Pressler is a graduate of the University department of architecture. The illuminated manuscript inscription, painted on the slate gray wall in tones of light blue, dark blue and terra cotta reads: "Excerpts from the will of the late William J. McDonald of Paris, Texas, making provision for this astronomical observatory. All the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, I give, devise and bequeath to the Regents of The University of Texas, in trust to be used and devoted by said Regents for the purpose of aiding in erecting and equipping an astronomical observatory to be kept and used in connection with and as a part of the University for the study and promotion of the study of astronomical science. The bequest is to be known as W. J. McDonald Observatory Fund. The Regents shall have full power and authority to handle, use and appropriate this bequest, the only limitation on their authority and power being that the bequest is intended solely for the use and benefit of an astronomical observatory. In handling the notes due my estate the Regents are requested to use the utmost liberality and leniency."

It is proposed that an oil portrait of Mr. McDonald shall grace one wall of this room, and that a display case shall contain some of his books.
