

Student Center Becomes In Use

The newest completed building on campus is the Student Center, located north of the Learning Resource Center, overlooking the campus lake. The ground level contains the bookstore, offices for counseling and testing, the journalism department, and the journalism office. A lounge with cable TV is also on the ground level.

The lower level of the three-level building contains the cafeteria. The upper level is a recreation area, featuring ping-pong, pinball machines, and other table games.

The new structure to house the Scurry County Museum, located south of the Administration building, will be completed in January, 1974. Until it is opened, the museum is located in the LRC. Hours are from 2-5 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday afternoons.

The largest of the new facilities will be the Health and Physical Education Building which will contain an Olympic-size swimming pool, a gym, and wind-proof facilities for outdoor sports.

Raku Workshop To Be Held

A Raku workshop will be conducted Oct. 4 by Steve Reynolds, ceramics instructor from Texas Tech. Raku is a soft hand-built earthenware made in Japan and associated with the tea ceremony. Thornton describes Raku as "requiring total involvement; it's almost like a happening."

The workshop will last from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. WTC students may attend free of charge.

Anyone wishing more information may contact Thornton.

A one-man exhibition by Clint Hamilton in mixed media and assemblage will be presented Nov. 1-30.

WTC's art department student show is scheduled for Dec. 3 - Jan. 19. A special print reproduction sale will be held in the Fine Arts Lobby Dec. 14. The reproductions of famous prints will sell for $3.

Proceeds will go to WTC's Art Scholarship Fund. The prints will be obtained from the Shorewood Publishing Company.

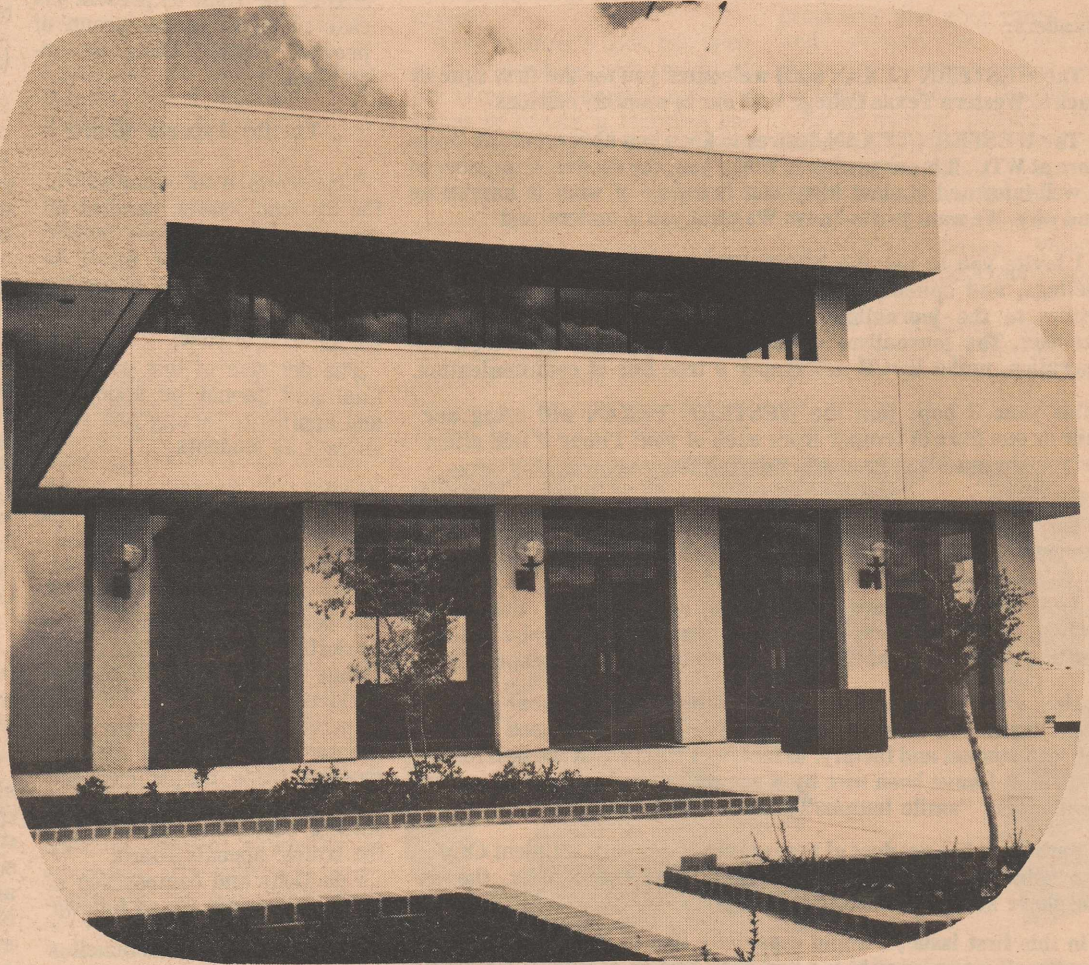

Dr. Blocker Presents Program

Approximately 500 persons attended a concert by Doctor Robert Blocker, pianist, who is the new head of the Fine Arts Division here at Western Texas College.

The Friday night's performance of the Scurry Concert Association launched the most ambitious season in its history.

Dr. Blocker received a standing ovation from the audience at the conclusion of the concert. It was the first of 10 events the Scurry Concert Association will present during the 1973-74 season, in cooperation with Western Texas College, Snyder Public Schools and the City of Snyder. In addition, as many as four bonus presentations may be added to the list, which would make this by far the busiest season ever for the association.

WTC students are welcomed to attend the Scurry Concert Association as long as they have their I.D. card.

STUDENT CENTER IN USE—The completion date for Western Texas College's new Student Center was August 20. The facility contains the campus book store, cafeteria, game room, lounge area, offices for counselors, office for the journalism instructor, testing room, first aid room, journalism classrooms, and activities director's office.

Fine Arts Gallery To Host Exhibits

Throughout this semester, WTC's Fine Arts Gallery will host a variety of exhibits from WTC's own Art Department and other artists, according to Mike Thornton, art instructor.

The gallery presently houses a one-man show by James Campbell, who won the top award from Snyder's Palette

On Your Mark...

Readers:

The WESTERN TEXAN staff welcomes you for the first time or back to Western Texas College with our bi-monthly editions.

The WESTERN TEXAN desires to keep you abreast of the times here at WTC. It is our pledge to make you, the reader, a member of a well-informed student body that is aware of what is happening and why. We want you to know. We want you to understand!

I invite you to use the WESTERN TEXAN to air your ideas, feelings, and opinions through letters to the editor. Take your letters to the journalism department and place them in my mailbox. The journalism department can, only with YOUR cooperation, make YOUR newspaper a true line of communication.

This year, I hope that the WESTERN TEXAN will bring one smile or one flare of temper from each of you! I hope it will affect everyone in some way or another during the year.

The newspaper of WTC isn't just printed words and pictures slapped on a page. It takes quite a bit of planning and work to put those words and pictures in order.

Journalism increases a student's knowledge of the school system, and it introduces the student to new people. It also teaches him how to get along while working closely with other people.

This week's issue was compiled in an exceptional area of friendliness. We seem to have started out with a good rapport between student and faculty. In fact, as I walk down the hall for the first time, I have been met by a sea of happy faces and more accompanying "smile buttons" than ever before.

Perhaps it is a product of the relaxed dress code, Student Center, and subjects, perhaps not. But whatever the reason, the atmosphere seems promising this September.

In this first issue, I would especially like to thank my "24-hour reporters" for proving to me that they have a real nose for news. They can see the importance of seeking out the news and are feeling the excitement that comes from being on the scene when and where things happen.

Only a good reporter can understand this feeling fully, and it's with this attitude of understanding that we hope to transfer the excitement of news coverage to you!

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Problem Can Be Avoided

You've probably already noticed a major problem at WTC—parking. Is this lot reserved? Why are some of the slots yellow and some green? What about the year-long curse—the parking lot hog?

WTC has three parking lots: a reserved lot by the dorms and two general lots south of the academic complex.

The eastern lot of these two has reserved areas in the north side. The green-curbed area is reserved for teachers. Between this area and the flag poles is a red-curbed alcove for the physicallyhandicapped. Tickets will be issued for illegal parking in reserved areas.

Avoid the service road along the south edge of the academic complex whenever possible. If for some reason you must park on this road, please leave room for passing.

The eastern and dorm lots have two one-way entrances. The right entrance lets you in, and the other is an escape route. Theoretically, this applies to the western lot, although no signs say so. This lot has a third entrance branching from the dorm road, but it is closed until the contractor completes the museum.

The parking lot hog is familiar to all.

He is the louse who straddles slots, the boor who parks sideways, the slob who sandwiches your car in three-deep parking, or the leech who parks in the drive.

If you encounter one of the creatures, kindly ask him to move. If he refuses, raise hell. If you are of the opposite sex, flirt. If all else fails, park three-deep on him sometime! For your safety as well as that of others, be careful.

Look before pulling out. Don't block another car. Leave a clear path for traffic, especially in the unmarked western lot. Park in one slot at a time. Respect reservations. Take your keys with you and lock the doors.

Most importantly, drive friendly.

THREE GROUPS FORMED Major Judiciary Changes Affect Student Policies

According to Dr. Hood, these procedures should allow each student involved in any major offense the right to present his case to an impartial group of people, rather than an individual.

Traffic Appeals Board

This group, a subcommittee of the Student Senate, handles all appeals of campus traffic citations. Notice of intent to appeal must be filed in writing within three days of the date of the alleged offense.

The decision of this group is final and cannot be appealed, and applies to faculty and staff as well as students.

Residence Halls Offenses and the Residence Halls Council

The student judiciary system has been changed into a more workable form, according to Dr. Duane Hood, Dean of Student Services.

Included in the system is a greater involvement of students through three major groups—the residence hall council, the student welfare committee, and the traffic appeals board.

Functions and composition of the three groups are as follows

The Residence Halls Council is a group of 12 students popularly elected from each floor of the residence halls by the residents of that floor. They function as an advisory body for over-all improvements in the residence halls as well as this judiciary function.

Major offenses in the Officers Named

Acting President Bill Halbert called the Faculty Association meeting to order at its regular monthly meeting Thursday, September 6.

New officers were elected as follows: Harry Krenek, president; Leslie Albin, vice-president; and Janet Halbert, secretary-treasurer.

Chairmen committees include: Toni Turk, nomination and election; Jesse Long, curriculum and catalog; Ray Robbins, professional evaluation, and Harry Dietz, social.

Regular meeting time is the third Thursday of each month.

Clinton Authors Journal Article

Dr. Robert Clinton, President of Western Texas College, authored a two-page article entitled "New Resources for Learning," appearing in the June-July 1973 issue of Community and Junior College Journal magazine.

"New resources" implies "innovation," a term which has caught the fancy of educators from both new and established colleges," Dr. Clinton stated in his article.

residence halls will be referred to the Residence Halls Council, but this group may decline to hear the case. In this event, the case will go to the Student Welfare Committee.

Other Offenses.

The Dean of Student Services shall have the overall responsibility for conduct of Western Texas College students.

Alleged offenses occurring outside the residence halls will be reviewed by the Dean of Student Services. He shall make decisions and set punishment for minor offenses.

Major offenses will be referred to the Student Welfare Committee for judgment.

The Dean of Student Services will be responsible for the following, relative to the hearing before the Student Welfare Committee:

(1) Notify the accused, the committee members, and all witnesses of the date, time and place of the hearing.

(2) Notify the accused of his right to an advisor of his choice and his right to bring any students, faculty, or parent as supporting witnesses. Notify the accused of all witnesses against him and all documentary evidence and his right to cross-examine each witness.

(3) Conduct a thorough investigation and obtain evidence and witnesses to present at the hearing.

(4) Advise students who are assessed disciplinary suspension by the Student Welfare Committee of their right to appeal and the appropriate procedure.

All alleged minor offenses occurring in the residence halls, whether by a resident or visiting student, are to be handled at the discretion of the residence hall supervisor.

He has the authority to assess punishment himself or refer the case to the Residence Halls Council.

In order to further clarify the functioning of these bodies, major offenses include, but are not limited to: campus violations concerning alcohol or drugs, cheating, plagiarism, malicious destruction of property, falsification of records (including housing, admission, etc.), failure to comply with directives of college officials, firearms or explosives on campus, gambling, hazing or physical abuse, classroom disorder, or any violation of local, state, or federal law.

Offenses may be punishable by reprimand, disciplinary probation, or disciplinary suspension.

The Student Welfare Committee will be the final jurisdictional body in all cases except those where disciplinary suspension is assessed.

The Student Welfare Committee will be composed of a faculty chairman and six members, four faculty members and two students. The students shall include the Student Body President and one student appointed by the chairman of the committee.

"Likewise," he said, "it will save me many hours of unpleasant work. Previously major offenses have been handled completely in my office, with the unpleasant responsibility of being the investigator, judge, jury, and executioner. I think that the college community will be as pleased with these new policies as I am. They will be explained in the new student handbook which should be available in October."

Students interested in serving on the Student Welfare Committee should contact Mr. Jim Palmer, Chairman of the Committee.

MOVIE SCENE 'The Harrad Experiment'

BY KENNETH PARKER

In 1965, Robert H. Rimmer wrote "The Harrad Experiment." His book was read widely by many college students inhabiting our nation's campuses. In addition, his book sold approximately two million copies.

Now Rimmer's book has been into a smashing new movie of the same name dealing with the intent to create a learning environment where young males and females experience, intimately (over a period of several years), more than one member of the opposite sex as a part of their educational experience.

Today, while the idea of Harrad still shocks a vast segment of middle America, it's becoming increasingly obvious that if parents train youngsters to live in tomorrow's environment of loose—open-ended monogamy or approved group marriages, the administration and faculty of our major colleges and universities will have to set in motion undergraduate inter-personal programs that give young men and women an approved, structured pre-marital experience similar to Harrad.

As a moving picture, "The Harrad Experiment" will reach additional millions who will make a Harrad-type undergraduate experience a reality in his lifetime. When it happens, it will be a more joyous world to live!

All WTC students should see "The Harrad Experiment," but remember, this movie is rated R and college ID cards must be shown on demand.

A DIPLOMA, HANDSHAKE, AND SMILE—Dr. Clinton, WTC president, presents a graduating nurse with her reward for completing the requirements to become a licensed vocational nurse. Fifteen graduates were honored recently in the Fine Arts Theatre.

Play Rehearsals Begin; Cast Set For Oct. Run

Rehearsals are underway for the cast of WTC Drama Department's season opener, "Charley's Aunt."

The play, written in 1892 by Brandon Thomas, will open October 24 at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre and will run through October 27.

"Charley's Aunt" is a Victorian farce, a wildly funny play that, in its many stage and motion picture revivals, has never failed to reach a wide and eager audience.

Charles Holland, assistant professor of drama, recently announced the cast members of the comedy.

They include Joe Stubbs of Aspermont as Brassett; Greg Nelson, who was also seen in WTC's first production "The Fantastics," as Jack; and Mack Walker, a veteran of such Snyder High School productions as "Oklahoma!" and "A Cry of Players," as Charley.

Michael Crawford, a recent newcomer to WTC and serving as permanent technical director for the theatre is cast as Sir Francis Chesney.

Other Stars

Two other outstanding male personalities star in the production. Snyder disc jockey Bob Clifton (the "Round Mound of Sound") portrays Spettigue, and Glenn Polk (the "Wild Man of the North Land") will play Lord Fancourt Babberly.

Females in the cast include Donna Messimer as Kitty, Carla McCollum as Amy, Retha Boyd as Donna Lucia D'Alvadores, and Mrs. Warren Cullar as Ela Delahay.

Heads of technical crews have also been announced.

Clayton Black, who served as technical director for WTC's productions last year, will serve in the same capacity for "Charley's Aunt." Mianne Allen, who is attending WTC on a drama scholarship, is assistant to the director.

Stage Manager is Kenny Patrick, and Jay Burney, who toured with last year's "20th Century America" Road Show, is lighting technician. Steve Sallee heads the stage crew, while Steve Grupe and Roger Davis are in charge of scenery construction.

Crew members for "Charley's Aunt" have not yet been chosen, so anyone wishing to help is asked to contact Holland or any member of the cast or crew.

Western 'Texan' Staff Selected

Editor of the newspaper this year is Pam Block, Snyder freshman.

Another Snyder freshman, Benny Ellington, serves as Sports Editor with Pete Canales and Gary Wages as photographers.

Club Elects Officers

Kappa Chi elected officers for the year at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 13, in the Christian Student Center.

Named were Doc Oualline, president; Janet Leavell, vice-president; Melinda Huffman, treasurer; Ruth Tate, secretary; and Mike Hinton, reporter.

Additional officers are Teresa Scott, interclub committee member; Hollye Crenshaw and Mike Kerley, intramural representatives; and Danny Lawrence, devotional chairman.

Regular meeting times for Kappa Chi, a Christian student organization, will be every Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the CSC.

PRACTICING SCRIPTS—Sophomore Carla McCollum, left, and Glenn Polk, discjockey at KSNY, right, practices their parts for the play, 'Charley's Aunt.' Carla has the part as Kate while Glenn plays the part as Lord Fancourt Babberly. Try-outs for the play were September 10-11. The play will be presented October 24-27 in the Fine Arts Theatre. Charles Holland the director.

procedures for community use of the new student center, planetarium and physical education facility.

Provision was made for the public to avail itself of opportunities afforded by these facilities whenever such use does not interfere with the regularly-scheduled activities of WTC students.

Use of the center must be scheduled with the director of student activities. The dean of the WTC learning resource center is responsible for booking programs to be shown in the planetarium. Application forms are provided for scheduled planetarium programs, and a fee of $15 per program is assessed for each program presented for an off-campus group.

Rodeo Club Meets, Plans Initial Trip

With the cowboy boots came the cowboys once again, to Western Texas College, and they have organized their Rodeo Club for the coming year. During their first meeting, the club elected officers, and plans for activities during the semester were discussed.

Taking over the reins as president this year is John Gass of Wilson, Texas. Vice-president is David McLaughlin of Saginaw. Secretary-Treasurer for the organization is Ruth Ann (Rufus) Welch of Merkel. Slatonite Judy Fondy is reporter for the group and Lisa Weaver of Brady will represent the club on the interclub council. The club is about 35 members strong at the present time.

WTC Rodeo Team members will be off to their first National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association rodeo at New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell Sept. 26-29. The team will enter the Eastern New Mexico University rodeo in Portales Oct. 4-6 and the Sul Ross rodeo in Alpine Oct. 18-21.

Good showings at these contests could put WTC in the running for a berth in the national competitions again. Last year's WTC rodeo team placed fifth in the NIRA National Finals in Boseman, Montana.

Community Service Courses Offered

This fall WTC is offering a wide range of community service courses. Courses are offered at the beginning of the semester and held if enough people register for them.

No minimum number is required as the cost of the course is divided among the members, and any class is held if the cost is met.

Courses this fall include interior decorating, defensive driving, aviation ground school, Christian living, powder puff mechanics, food and nutrition for the family, weather for the laymen, geneology, advanced conversational Spanish, sign language for the deaf, anthropology, and adult education.

TEES OFF--Mark Hargrove tees off in a practice session at the Snyder Country Club. Hargrove was runnerup for Medalist Honors at the first conference match in Amarillo with a 68.
