Easter Egg Hunt, Contests Net Fun, Prizes, Plenty Eggs

by J.D. Helm

Easter eggs abounded the afternoon of April 3 as some 50-75 WTC-ites ran around the south lawn of the campus looking for the coveted prizes.

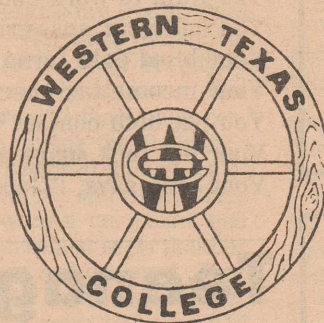

Sheila Sandbothe walked away the winner of the first prize $20 egg. The $15 egg went to James Hutchinson, while Gina Wilman and Pam Crabb walked away with prizes for finding the most eggs. Bonnie Blutworth won the prize for the best decorated Easter basket.

The event, sponsored by the Just For Fun Committee of the Student Senate, was deemed a success by Brenda Weber. "Really, I thought everybody had a good time," she said. "It was just for fun, and that's what it turned out to be," she added.

Another contest sponsored by the same committee pitted people's minds against a jar of jelly beans. The beans numbered 1,153 and the first prize winner with a guess of 1,128 was Debra Stark. When she left, her pockets were $5 fuller.

Easter seemed to have turned into a money making venture here. I wonder what Peter Cottontail would have to say about that.

BEOG Changes Eligibility Requirements; Student Income Counted With Parents'

by Lois Gleason

Changes affecting eligibility requirements in the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant program will make it pay for students not to work in some cases.

In the past, a dependent student's eligibility was determined solely by his parents' income and assets. But for the 1980-81 term, a student's income will be figured in along with the parents'.

In the College Work-Study (CWS) program, WTC appealed a recent $12,500 decrease in federal funding for the 1980-81 school year which would have taken about 20 students off the payroll for the next term.

They have received unofficial notification that within four or five thousand dollars of the funds the college requested will be awarded. "It's within the point that we can live with it," said Glenn Davis, Financial Aids Officer.

Federal funding accounts for 80 per cent of the work-study payroll. The college pays the remaining 20 per cent.

In a budgetary move for the 1978-79 term, the college went from paying students minimum wage to paying 85 per cent of the minimum wage when it was learned that the college was no longer bound by the Fair Labor Act.

As a result, not all the federal funds were used that year, and according to Davis, "If you don't use all the funds, they don't give it to you again."

But requests for federal funding for the work-study program are processed two years in advance. So it was not until the requests for 1980-81 funding went in that the total funds requested were not approved.

The college received $55,000 for the CWS program in 79-80. This amount was originally to be cut to $42,500.

Davis was able to appeal the action because the minimum wage is going up, so work-study pay needs to go up in relation to that.

Student Art Exhibit Here

All full and part time students are invited to enter their art works in the First Annual Student Art Exhibit here. Entry fee is one dollar and entries are due May 1 before 4 p.m. in FA-117.

Cash prizes of $50, $30 and $15 will be awarded for first through third places. Works will be judged on the basis of merit, regardless of medium, by Terry Gilbreth, director of the Diamond M Museum, May 2-3.

Awards will be presented at an opening reception in the Fine Arts Gallery from 2-4 p.m., May 4.

The exhibit will close May 9 and entries may be picked up between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Entry forms for the exhibit may be picked up in the Fine Arts Division office.

For more information, call Mike Thornton, Fine Arts Division chairman, on ext. 322.

Ensemble to Play at SHS

by J.D. Helm

Guy Gamble & Co. have been expanding their repertoire and rehearsing with the WTC choir in preparation for the upcoming Spring Jazz Recital at Snyder High School auditorium, May 9 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Some music pieces slated for the spring concert include: 'Ladies Night,' 'L.I. Express' and 'The Girl From Impanema,' which features Cathy Valdez, and 'The Incredible Slatz Grabnik.'

The group has played for WTC activities in the past including half-time performances at basketball games and a performance at the Tenth Anniversary Celebration in December.

Some original material has been produced by some of the band's eight members. The chances of these pieces being prepared and performed in the future are 50/50, explained Gamble. "Parts of the music are quite good, but there are some sections that will have to be ironed out."

An on-campus, outdoor concert is a future possibility here, as Gamble says, "It could be worked out."

Gamble feels that the group is a virtual non-entity although they have been well received when they play at other places.

"We would like to be known as a group that plays good music. Everybody knows where the basketball team is from, while we stay virtually unknown," Gamble complained.

"We need more student support," said Cathy Valdez, percussionist. "We feel we have everything together as a group."

When asked what the band's goals are as a group, the answers ranged from instant stardom to an album to cash.

With goals like that and the personnel to achieve them, nominal success seems certain.

To Drop Or Not

There's so much importance attached to how many hours a person takes and which classes fit a degree plan that it's easy to forget that schools are primarily designed for learning and degrees are supposed to be only secondary.

The way the system is set up, the more hours one completes, the more pressure one feels to collect more hours and the more hours one takes, the more one hopes to get some "easy" hours.

About this time each semester, I suddenly remember why I decided to go to college in the first place. Everytime the realization hits, I'm disgusted at all the time I've wasted and I have to sit down and evaluate my classes with only one question in mind: Am I learning anything in that class? And if I'm not, it's time to drop.

This semester I have one class that doesn't fit that basic criterion. Forty-five minutes, three times a week, doesn't sound like a lot of time lost. But that's the problem, the time I've spent in that class is lost forever. Time is too valuable to throw any of it away on something worthless, unnecessary, or unimportant. If something is not only worthless but unenjoyable too — it's really a waste.

So I dropped a nice, cushy class, past the mid-point of the semester. That may seem strange, but I've already invested too much of my time in a class that I got nothing out of.

In the words of an old cliché, "Don't throw good money after bad."

Cancer Claims Owens

When Jesse Owens died last week, America lost one of its few authentic heroes. Owens' four gold medals at the 1936 Olympic Games crushed Hitler's theory of Aryan superiority.

But Jesse Owens spent the last few weeks of his life in a hospital dying of inoperable lung cancer, brought on by more than 35 years of cigarette smoking. Owens' death once again bore out the grim fact that 90 per cent of lung cancer victims die within five years of developing the disease.

Along with the high death rate, a spokesman for the American Cancer Society recently stated that chest x-rays, a common diagnostic tool, have almost no effect on the survival rate of patients.

Given these facts, it is amazing to me that the number of smokers continues to rise, especially among women. It can only be hoped that Owens' death will destroy the myth of safe cigarettes just as his athletic feats destroyed the myth of a master race.

Teenage Mothers Face Risks, Economic, Emotional Problems

by Lisa Anderson

Note: This series will include economic problems and a half-conducted interview with a once teen pregnant girl.

The young mother who decides against returning to school after her child is born has the problem of employment or the opposite of that — unemployment.

The mother will soon find that most employers are not willing to hire an undereducated, underaged, unskilled, inexperienced worker.

The teen mother also deals with finding someone to care for her child while she works. Some young mothers are lucky enough to have a relative or close friend to care for the child. Again, the financial weight of trouble of sending a child to a day care center, and some cases where day care centers will not take the children under two years of age is a serious problem.

Many teenage mothers turn to welfare for financial aid, which normally is not enough money for taking care of the mother and her child.

Information concerning financial assistance for unwed young pregnant women was unavailable in Snyder.

Besides placing a financial burden on those directly involved with a teen pregnancy, the overall problem of teenage pregnancy is a burden on the taxpayer as well.

Interview

What age did you become sexually involved? "About fourteen."

Why and were you pressured? "In a certain way I guess I was pressured. My girlfriend told me if I wanted to keep my older boyfriend (18), I had to do more than hold hands."

Did you use contraceptives? "At the time I first became sexually involved I didn't know for sure what contraceptives were all about. But the month I became pregnant I was waiting to start taking my first package of birth control pills."

How long had you been having intercourse before you became pregnant? "Since I was about 14 — but I had been dating my husband, boyfriend at the time, about five months, when I became pregnant."

When did you discover you were pregnant? "I waited until my period was two weeks late and then I had a test run in Lubbock."

How did you feel? "I was happy but I was scared to death. My boyfriend had assured me there was no problem because he loved me and wanted to marry me. I had daydreams all the time of my new perfect little family — that is enough to show my immaturity."

How soon did you want to tell anyone you were pregnant? "Never would have suited me fine! I told my boyfriend immediately and my best friend who had taken me to the doctor. My friend told my mother when I was 2½ months pregnant. My parents had just gone through a bad divorce and I couldn't bring myself to tell her."

Anything Goes

by Terry Green

Well, it's finally here. SPRING! Or almost anyway.

Did you ever stop to think what spring really represents? LIFE! Yes, that's right. Because that's when life really begins. The baby birds are born, trees, flowers, all kind of things beginning. It's like starting all over in a new world. Everything is green. (No pun intended.)

The sun just seems to shine brighter and higher. Everyone seems more friendly. It's a pleasure to wake up and hear the birds sing. Just think how Adam and Eve must have felt in their springtime world.

So take a look in a few days and you will see what I mean. It's the most beautiful time of year — so go out and enjoy it.

NEWS BRIEFS

Firemen were called to the Western Bunkhouse at 26th and Ave. F at 12:30 a.m. Thursday for what one fireman called, "Just a little smoke scare."

A pan of grease was left on the stove and the resulting smoke caused one person to call for help.

No damage was reported.

An Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) course will be offered in Snyder by Texas State Technical Institute beginning in late April or the first week of May.

The class will meet two nights a week from 6-10 p.m. and will run for 100 classroom hours and tuition is $68.

Persons completing the course and passing the state examination will receive a patch and certification of EMT status.

EMT's are qualified to work with patients in the back of an ambulance.

Anyone interested in taking the course is asked to call Kerry Palmer at 573-4333.

A game tournament was held in the game room in the Student Center the afternoon of April 1. The recreation committee sponsored the events. Bobby Mullens, freshman, won the pool competition. Robert Rodriguez, freshman, won the foosball event.

The ping pong event was terminated because the competitors did not show.

Dr. Mike McBride, student publications adviser, led a session entitled "Latest Trends in newspaper Layout" March 25 during the Fifth Annual Press Day at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin in Odessa.

The afternoon presentation was a practical workshop attended by high school and junior college students.

Other session leaders in the afternoon were John Roman,

KQIP disc jockey, and Mike Barker, KMID-TV anchorman.

Morning sessions were led by John McCarroll, Odessa College publications adviser; Kim Yancey, Odessa American reporter; Mike Sherrod, Odessa magazine publisher; Jerry Kight, Josten's graphics consultant, and Dave Lyons, Odessa American publisher.

The affair was organized by Dr. Robert Rothstein, professor of mass communications and education at UTPB.

The Explorer's exhibit by Mrs. Ben Brock's fifth grade class at Stanfield Elementary will be featured at the museum for at least two more weeks.

The annual Snyder public school's art show will open at the museum the first of May.

WTC choir members are in Sweetwater today giving a performance at the high school.

Performing members are: Doni Douglas, Phyllis Erwin, Peggy Highfield, Danny Leonhard, Gary Miller, Noel Nease and Deborah Richter.

Also, Margaret Sherrod, Karen Temple, Deborah Tucker, Kathy Ward, Lynn Wimmer and Rocky Youngblood.

Jane Womack, music instructor, is accompanying the group.

Sheryl Burk, a sophomore accounting major, will be in recital April 20 at 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater.

She will perform three operas from "The Marriage of Figaro," one of which is a duet with Jane Womack.

She will also perform a duet with Noel Nease from "Don Giovanni," one soprano show song and some art songs.

Burke has been a voice student under Womack since her senior year in high school.

Student Profile

Drama Major "Different"

by Lynda Cain

She is all of 4'11" and petite. Her attitude and style are truly unique. Toni Disko, a freshman, prides herself on being different from other people.

"I was known as the 'Plain Brain Jane' at Keller High School in Keller, Texas," said Toni. Her grade point average was 4.0 but she skipped school often. It was boring to her and even though she skipped, she still had this average.

"I wasn't popular, but I was the most talked about student around besides my friend, Todd Odham." Her taste in clothing were different from the styles that the students wore. Her clothes brought about much conversation among the students.

At her senior prom she decided to go all out and really dress up. She wore a tux jacket and pants with spiked heels that her friend Tom had designed. They were at the prom ten minutes before they were told they had better leave. "That one night was the best fun that I had."

While living in Fort Worth, Toni modeled for The Cheri Apple Agency. Because of her height, she did spot modeling such as shoes and hats. She left modeling when she and her husband came to WTC.

Toni and her husband chose WTC mainly because of Mr. Rambo. Toni had met him before and liked him. "He came to WTC and so did we." She is involved in the Drama department.

Toni has acted since the seventh grade. In high school, she was involved in One-Act plays and the All-School plays. Her honors include All-Star Cast and winning District her senior year.

She has been in both plays this year. She plans to major in Theater of Arts. She also works part time in the Fine Arts Department.

She attended St. Hilary's College for Young Ladies in Edinburgh, Scotland for a summer term in 1978. I asked her if she liked going to school where people live differently. She answered, "I fit in better in Europe. Their attitudes are different than here." She wants to go back to live there.

After leaving WTC, Toni and her husband plan to live in Texas for six months and then go overseas. She wants to continue acting professionally. She wants to go abroad and start a theater group or teach acting. For now, Toni wants to continue her studies at WTC and act here.

WT Poll

What Have You Learned?

As a whole what have you learned at WTC? That was the question and here are the responses.

Rena McBroome: "I've met a lot of people."

Marty Terry: "Electronics."

Patricia Biera: "People are nicer."

Susan Williford: "The faculty are more concerned about the student's performance."

Mark Ross: "Nothing."

Larry McQuillan: "I've learned not to put things off to the last minute. Responsibility and confidence."

Doni Douglas: "How to work in drama for 24 hours and miss class."

Dwain Vantress: "Sociology."

Vernon Presswood: "Going to class."

Carolyn Weems: "A further interest in my major."

Kenneth Levens: "I've learned a lot about myself and how to get along with people."

Betty Patton: "Nothing."

Tracey Williamson: "Learned what big schools are all about."

Angela Kolb: "Not to have boys in your room after hours."

Seth Cox: "Realizes the importance of good study habits."

Joann Salinas: "Get along with people."

Folk Singer From the Ozarks "Done It All, Seen It All"

by Tracie Gilstrap

"I'm an angry, young folk singer. I'm American and I'm mean and it ain't been done that I ain't done or seen that I ain't seen," sang and written by Allen Ross, from the Ozarks in Missouri.

"I have traveled most every highway that man has ever been. Been all the way north to Birmingham back South to old Hot Springs. I'm a big folk star and I'm gonna go far."

Ross has traveled everywhere but would kill to make his home in the Caribbean or maybe Nashville or Los Angeles, where most of the music industry is at.

"If you were going to raise sheep, where would you raise them? You'd raise them where they raise sheep," stated Ross.

Spending one hundred per cent of his time on music, Allen rarely sees his wife and 3 year old daughter. "When I have spare time I usually record. Last time I was at home I went rollerskating with my daughter."

At the moment Allen is on a Texas tour of colleges, universities, bars and nightclubs. He performed here Thursday for the students.

"I'm a big folk star and I'm gonna go far. I'll sing out on the issues of the truth. I ain't afraid cause the more I yell Giv'em Hell, the more I'm gonna get paid. I'm a big folk star, in my daddy's car and my Guild guitar. I'll sing for anybody in any restaurant or any bar. I'll tell my jokes and share my smokes."

Allen will be playing at the Coffee House at Texas Tech Friday, then on to Amarillo College.

"And for single men and women, yes. And for rednecks and for freaks. I'm pretty, Elaine, don'tcha know my name? I've been doin this for two whole weeks. I'm a big folk star."

Joyous Westerners After Title Game

Holidome Pep Rally Draws Crowd

Pressey Selected MVP,

Westerners Win Nationals 'Green Machine' Only Third

by Gerald Colbert

Somehow the outcome of the NJCAA National Basketball Tournament was totally predictable as the No. 1-ranked and undefeated WTC Westerners hauled home the championship trophy through a treacherous blizzard which forced them to seek shelter at a local Kansas church.

In winning the tournament in Hutchinson, Ks. March 18-22, Coach Nolan Richardson accomplished two goals he set for himself when he first set foot on Western Texas College soil back in 1977 — to win 100 games in three years and to win the National title.

Richardson almost won the National Championship a year ago, but the Westerners lost to Three Rivers (Mo.) Community College in double overtime. Three Rivers defeated Mercer County (N.J.) Community College for the title. WTC managed a fourth place finish behind Dixie College of St. George, Utah.

The "Green Machine" took the trophy by defeating North Idaho College of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; Lincoln College of Lincoln, Ill.; Tyler Junior College of Tyler, Texas, and Jefferson State of Birmingham, Ala.

N-IDAHO FIRST VICTIM

When the Westerners hit the floor to take on North Idaho in the first round, Pressey, Stewart, and Co. acted content to make the game into just that, a game. Not to take anything from North Idaho, but as the game progressed, WTC out-classed the Cardinals. WTC beat NIC 108-94.

North Idaho took the opening tip and drove down court to tally the first two points.

Bill Patterson then sank the first half of a one-and-one and Phil Spradling sank a couple of two-pointers as WTC took the lead 5-2.

Patterson got in early foul trouble with only five minutes gone. The Westerners lead 15-11 at that point. The two teams then traded buckets until Jerry Brittain of North Idaho knotted the score at 17 a piece with 12:50 remaining on the scoreboard clock.

Greg Wiltier put the Cardinals up by two, but WTC's Paul Pressey tied it again at 19-all. The Westerners made four consecutive trips to the basket, but came up empty every time allowing North Idaho to assume a 25-19 lead.

Not to be outdone, WTC got four points on buckets by Patterson and Pressey to tie the score at 25. The score was tied once more at 27-27 before WTC reeled off nine straight unanswered points, putting them up, 36-27.

Moments later, with 3:10 showing, Greg Stewart tipped in a missed shot by David Brown. Stewart was fouled as he went up, and he hit the free throw to give WTC a 10-point cushion, 39-29.

The Westerners then dropped in six more consecutive points before Stewart was whistled for goal tending.

Freddie Davis then hit two buckets and Stewart hit one at the buzzer to give the home team a 51-35 lead at the intermission.

The "Green Machine" took the second half tip but couldn't do anything with it, and NIC again got the first points of the half. A full minute had expired before WTC got their first bucket on a Brown jumper.

The two teams then traded two-pointers, including a tipped shot by Spradling, to give the Westerners another 10-point lead with 15:00 remaining. Several baskets by Claude Butler and John Bell drew the Cardinals within two, 76-74, with just under nine minutes remaining.

A charging foul by Bell sent Pressey to the charity stripe for two points, and the "Green Machine" was on the verge of taking over control for good. The Westerners' Stewart sank an inside shot, as he was fouled. He then sank the 100th point on a free throw, giving WTC an 8-point lead.

Franklin Bennett, Ronald Portee and Stewart then combined for eight consecutive free throws made to give them a 108-94 win over the North Idaho Cardinals.

Leading scorers for NIC were Butler with 20, Bell with 18, Brittain 15, Wiltjer (the tournament's tallest competitor at 6-11) 13, and Wendell Denton 12.

WTC was led by Brown with 22, Stewart 17, Pressey and Patterson 16 apiece and Spradling, winner of the Sportsmanship award, 14.

In WTC's next three games, the people of Hutchinson and other far-off places, learned why the Westerners were labeled "The Comeback Kids" by Richardson.

'MACHINE' SINKS LINCOLN

The "Green Machine," behind the inside shooting of Stewart rallied past Lincoln College of Lincoln, Ill. 100-79. The Westerners had to bounce back from a 45-45 halftime score to achieve the 21-point victory.

Lincoln took the opening tip, but after taking several shots under the net, they came away with nothing but a Stewart bucket on the other end. Eddie Jones of Lincoln tied it at two. It was tied twice more early at 4-all and 9-all before the Lynx took control of the game.

Fred Watkins and Mike

Goeken helped Lincoln to a 10-point advantage, 21-11, before WTC launched an all-out assault on the scoreboard, bringing the Snyder team to within three, 19-22, on a Patterson jumper from 15 feet.

Lincoln then surged back to an 8-point lead before the Westerners bombed the hoop to vault the "Machine" back into a tie at 41-all with 2:10 remaining. They traded buckets and at 1:21 Patterson hit two to tie the score at 45. The half ended just like that.

"In the first half, our problem was that we were taking long, quick shots which we should not have done," said Richardson.

The "Comeback Kids," thanks to Brown and friends, hit the first five points of the half, before Julius Poinsette notched two points for Illinois.

Pressey, Brown and Spradling hit consecutive two-pointers at 15:15 and, bingo, "The Comeback Kids" owned an 11-point lead, 58-47.

By 13:40 Lincoln had closed the gap to five only to have the lead expanded to 13 when Patterson and Bennett hit three straight baskets, and Dwain Vantress hit both ends of a one-and-one situation.

Watkins hit two buckets to draw the Lynx to within nine, 68-59. Pressey, Brown, Portee, Patterson, Spradling and Stewart all scored one or more buckets as the "Kids" put on perhaps the best scoring surge of the tournament, taking a 21-point lead with 6:40 remaining in the contest.

Richardson let his players know what they had to do. "What we had to do in the second half is get Pressey under the boards to get more rebounds," Richardson added. "We wanted to make them shoot outside, and we did."

Illinois closed the lead to 12, 89-77, Brown hit a jumper and a free throw, Portee sank two one-pointers, Stewart got a slam dunk, Brown hit two more and WTC had a 19-point lead. With just over a minute left, LC went into a stall to prevent the Westerners from scoring 100 on them. However, with just four seconds on the clock, Oscar Alvarado came in and hit a 20-foot jumper to tally the final points of game... and the 100th point.

In a press conference after the game, Richardson made a complimentary statement about his team when he said, "When you start separating the men from the boys, we've got a good group of men on our squad."

High pointers for LC were Watkins with a game high 24 points, Poinsette notched 19, while Alan Bowman and Eddie Jones put in 10 apiece.

The Westerners, who had nine players score, were led by 6-9 forward/center Stewart who netted 22 points, to match Brown's performance against North Idaho. Patterson ripped the nets for 20, while Brown took it to the hole for 17. Spradling again had 14 points while Pressey made 13.

'TEXAS SHOOTOUT' IN KANSAS

When "The Comeback Kids" faced the Tyler Junior College Apaches, also from Texas, it had already been dubbed the "Texas Shootout" by many newspapers and radio stations.

The American Legion, host of the tournament, did a good job setting the mood and atmosphere of the game by playing "The Eyes of Texas," and "The Yellow Rose of Texas" over the loud speakers.

The Westerners registered their lowest scoring output of the season in defeating the Apaches, 67-52. WTC outscored Tyler by 27 points in the second half to record the victory.

It was strictly a TJC first half behind the play of Raymond Bell and Elton Webster. The score was tied at 2-2 and 4-4, then the Apaches began stretching their lead out of proportion. They took a commanding 10-point bulge midway through the first period. Tyler gained its biggest margin of 13 points, 30-17, with 8:30 remaining in the half. Pressey, Bennett and Brown chipped in to bring WTC within 10.

With just 2:20 left in the half, Brown connected with the net to bring it to 29-39. Tyler then got two free throws to give them a comfortable 12-point cushion, 41-29, at the intermission, yet the Snyderites quickly set the stage for the second half when Freddie Davis took a feed from Pressey.

"The momentum changed drastically when we went back into our press, and when you've got a guy like Pressey on the front of the thing, anything can happen," Richardson admitted.

It took the Westerners only three minutes and 35 seconds to knot the score at 48. The Westerners' first and only lead came when Davis hit from 20 feet out with 14:10 showing on the scoreboard clock.

After calling a time out, Tyler thought it best to go back into a zone to prevent the easy inside shot. WTC didn't like the tactics of the Apaches, and they went into a four-corner stall in an attempt to get Tyler out of the zone. The sell-out crowd witnessing the ball game let both teams know that they wanted to see some action out on the court. Thousands of boos rang out, but WTC didn't let it bother them as they continued to hold the ball for nearly eight minutes before Tyler made a serious attempt to get the sphere.

Three thirty-five remained in the game when Tyler fouled Brown. He sank both attempts and WTC lead, 58-50. Spradling sank the back end of a two-shot foul and the Westerners led, 59-52. "The Kids" then scored eight quick ones as WTC rolled to a 67-52 thrashing over the Apaches.

"Freddie Davis came out and hit three straight jumpers. He did it last year and now repeated the same situation. Davis and Bennett really made the difference," Richardson stated, adding, "When you have a game to go down to the wire, conditioning really pays off."

Brown commented on Richardson's halftime talk. "He told us that we were going to have to get out of the press, because it was killing us, and that we were going to have to start hitting the boards. They out-rebounded us 29-19 and they are smaller than us. We had to settle down and start running them, then there was 20 quick points."

Leading scorers for Tyler were Bell with 16, Virdell Howland 12, and Webster and Clarence Swannegan 11 and 10 points, respectively.

One amazing statistic was recorded in the rebound department. TJC won the "Battle of the Boards," 34-22.

Brown and Pressey led the Westerner cause with 14 each, Stewart made 11 points and Bennett, Davis and Spradling notched 9, 8 and 7 points, respectively.

THEN ALL THE MARBLES! When it was all over, WTC had capped a perfect season with an 85-72 victory over Jefferson State, from Alabama, and became only the third team in the tournament's history to win it without a single loss.

The last time this happened was in 1972 when Vincennes did it, 32-0. Coffeyville did in 62, with a 33-0 mark... but WTC had accomplished the longest win streak in one season in NJCAA history at 37-0.

The Westerners didn't look any different in the first half of this game than they did in the others. Jefferson jumped out to a quick 4-0 lead, but WTC quickly knotted the score at 4-all on a bucket by Spradling.

A basket by Pressey at 14:40 of the first period tied it at 10-10 and Stewart later tied it 12-12 with 13:35 left. Fred Freeman, a 5-11 guard, kept the Westerners honest with his patented (fake, dribble around the opponent, and make two points) shot. Donald Warren, who came in for Patterson, Brown and Stewart, managed to keep WTC within five at 5:20 of the first half.

Pressey hit two free shots, Spradling hit a shot, and with just 10 seconds left, Pressey hit a jumper to bring the "Green Machine" within seven, 31-38, at the half.

Stewart, Brown and Spradling brought WTC to within five before the "Fred Freeman Show" went on the air. At 10:50, Brown got a slam dunk that brought the crowd to its feet. The Westerners managed to stay close enough so that Brown could tie the score at 57-57 with 9:11 remaining.

It was tied for the final time at 59-all. The Westerners went ahead for good when Stewart hit a short jumper with 7:15 left.

Spradling, Brown and Stewart helped keep WTC ahead. The Pioneers stayed close to the Westerners until Spradling hit six consecutive free shots, thanks to Coach Bill Lankford for drawing a "T" over on the Pioneer bench when he threw his towel down on the court.

All of the sudden it was a 10-point lead for the team that trailed for over three-fourths of the game. Stewart got a slam dunk that shook the "Arena," and WTC owned the lead, 81-69. Brown hit two free throws, and with 20 seconds left, the chant "We're Number One" rang out from the far end of the gym.

Brown sank one more jumper and BINGO! — its was all over. Who came away National Champions? "THE COMEBACK KIDS"! SEVERAL POST-GAME HONORS

Post-tournament ceremonies were held at the conclusion of the final game. Team trophies were awarded, with Yavapai of Prescott, Az., taking the fourth place trophy, while Tyler capture third and Jefferson State took second.

When the first place trophy was presented, it was accompanied by thousands of plaudits from nearly every JUCO fan in the arena, for they knew that the best team won this time around.

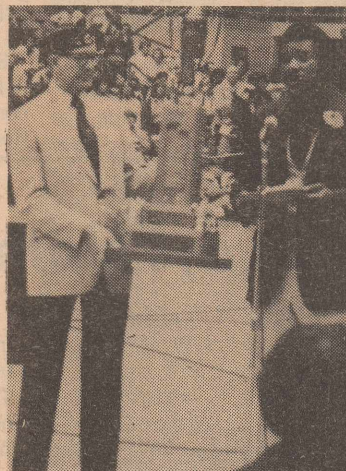

The ALL-TOURNAMENT team was announced, and among the winners were: Claude Butler of North Idaho, Ron Dirden of Yavapai, Fred Freeman of Jefferson State and Marvin McCrary from Three Rivers.

Others were: Calvin Oldham of Middle Georgia, Pressey and Stewart from WTC, Fred Watkins of Lincoln, Elton Webster of Tyler and Tony Webster from consolation winner Monroe, N.Y.

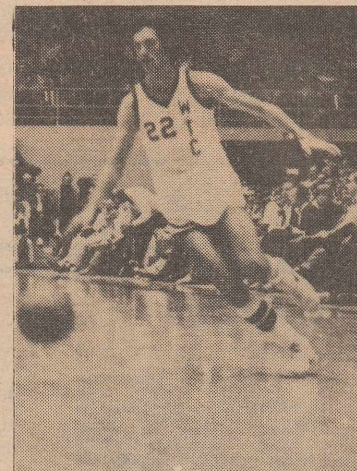

Richardson received the Coach of the Year award, while Pressey won the William E. French Most Valuable Player award and Spradling took the Sesher Sportsmanship award. Casper Ware, from Yavapai, won the Bud Obee Small Player award.

Sportsmanship Award To Phil Spradling

Some of the Westerners and cheerleaders expressed their feelings about being a part of the whole thing... a National Championship. Here is what they had to say:

Rose Richardson: "Big Eyes (Franklin Bennett) did what he promised me."

Virginia Whitson: "This has been one of the greatest experiences of my life — to be a part of the No. 1 Westerners!"

Gina Willman: "Oh! God, we did it. I forgot what it is like to lose. I knew we could do it (go undefeated)."

Belva Marsh: "I knew it was coming and that we could do it."

Rena McBroome: "I knew we could do it from the beginning. I didn't really think of an undefeated season, but I couldn't imagine losing. They're a great team."

Lynda Cain: "It's been the best thing that ever happened. I knew they could do it. I never thought of losing, even though we were 10 or 15 behind."

Tonya Porter: "WE finally did it, we went all the way. I knew we could do it. I had no doubt."

Jim Price: "I can't believe we went the whole year, 37-0. Can't anyone touch us!"

Dwain Vantress: "It's unreal. I'm glad I'm a part of it."

Freddie Davis: "Coach told us we could do it and we did. When a man like Coach tells you you can do it, you know that you can."

Paul Pressey: "Here we are from last year when we should have won it, and I guess that's why we felt so strongly about it."

David Brown: "I knew we could do it. It was just a matter of time. It's one of the best things that ever happened to me."

Oscar Alvarado: "It's the first time I've ever experienced something like this. It's the best moment of my life."

Donald Warren: "It feels great. If we had to do it over again, I would. I've really enjoyed playing with these guys."

Keith Denis: "This is one of the greatest junior college teams ever assembled. We deserve everything we had from day one. I would like to thank the Snyder fans, because they're No. 1 also."

Greg Stewart: "I knew we could do it. I want to thank all the fans for supporting us."

Phil Spradling: "It makes you feel really proud. You know that you're the best in the nation. It's something that I've always wanted because I was here last year and I didn't get to play."

Bill Patterson: "It didn't really hit me at the time."

Perhaps Franklin Bennett summed it up best for all when he said, "It's a dream come true."

Trainer Ronnie Oliver: "All those hours driving that damn bus finally paid off!"

Coach Nolan Richardson: "We played as a team 37 times this year. It's not that I'm a great coach — it's just that we've got a bunch of guys that believe in themselves."

And believe, they did.

CONGRATULATIONS WESTERNERS!!!!

WT Merits First Class, 3 Marks of Distinction

The Western Texan, WTC's student newspaper, received a First Class rating for the fall semester from the Associated Collegiate Press, national critique service headquartered at the University of Minnesota.

The publication earned three Marks of Distinction; one short of All-American, in Coverage and Content, Writing and Editing, and Physical Appearance and Visual Communication.

Judge R. Speilberger wrote, "Excellent job of communicating with your audience. Wide range of subjects to interest any aspect of campus community. Well thought out and constructed pieces."

In Coverage and Content, two "excellent" and two "very good" ratings were given.

In Writing and Editing, three "excellent" and two "very good" ratings were given.

In Physical Appearance and Visual Communication, six "excellent" and two "very good" ratings were given.

Two other categories were evaluated, Editorial Leadership-Opinion Features and Photography-Art-Use of Graphics. In the first, one "excellent" and four "very good" marks were given. In the second, one "excellent," one "very good," two "good" and one "fair" marks were given.

The Western Texan was judged in the commercially-printed, twice-monthly junior college division (all enrollments) nationwide.

Co-editors were Sheila Sandbothe and Monette Sentell. Adviser was Dr. Mike McBride.

Club Corner

The Artisans will be taking a field trip to Santa Fe and Taos, New Mexico Thursday and returning Sunday.

The Judo club will be one of the hosts for the National High School Judo Championships in Odessa May 1-3. May 10 the team will compete in a tournament at A&M.

Popcorn is being sold by OEA members for $1.25 a package. There is also a special price if bought by the case ($12.00 for 12 packages).

The Student Senate is working on several projects coming up soon. They are: the spring formal, a fashion show and Super Stars events.

Several Press Club members will be traveling to Beaumont to compete in the TIPA competition.

Give-Away Winners Announced

The "Great-Give-Away" drawing was held April 1 in the Student Center. The "Great-Give-Away" was a fund raising project conducted by the WTC Press Club.

Boden received a very unique photograph.

According to members of the Press Club, the "Great-Give-Away" was a big success.

Faculty Profile

Elsie Anderson Enjoys Math, Scouts

by J.D. Helm

One might not think so, but interviewing Elsie Anderson would seem to be quite a scary event. This reporter was initially afraid to expose any personal knowledge in her presence, but found on the contrary that she is a pleasant woman, always taking time for a student's needs. "I like to see how a student's mind works so as to make the learning processes clearer," she said.

Mrs. Anderson (she's married to library director Larry Anderson) was born in Rhodesia, Africa. Her career educational background started at Rhodes University, South Africa, where she received her bachelor's certificate and a University Educational Diploma.

The alert mathematician started teaching professionally in 1953 to pay off her educational loans. She has since held positions at Millhill School in London, teaching geography, a subject she states "is a prerequisite to World History, a necessity for us all." She also taught at Desdemona High School and at Holding Institute, a Laredo school for teaching Mexican children English and math.

Mathematics seemed to be "the easiest thing for me to do, so I wanted to try to teach it to others." Although she also enjoys library work, math seems to be the thing she does best.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson met in London and were married in the U.S. in 1961. They have two daughters, both Snyder High School freshmen.

Mrs. Anderson is actively involved in Girl Scouting, serving as a sponsor for over two years.

She relates a recent camping trip at Mary White Girl Scout Camp in New Mexico. "Some senior girls and I were sleeping in a shelter with open sides and a roof. Suddenly the temperature dropped to 18 degrees and it snowed that first night," she said. "But we were prepared with double bedrolls, so things didn't turn out too badly."

Elsie Anderson has the traits of what is said to make a good teacher — patience, sensitivity and understanding.

5 in D.C. for Judo

Five members of WTC's Judo team participated in the National Collegiate Judo Championships at Washington, D.C. last weekend. Those attending included Mark Thomas, Ken Levens, Ken Grimm, Carolyn Weems and Claire MacGarrigle.

The WTC group was the only collegiate team from Texas entered in the contest, largely because this state doesn't offer scholarships in judo.

Team members toured Washington, and visited the sights along the Mall.

Next year's Nationals will be held at Ohio State.

Rodeo

Team on the Move

by Louise Johnson

March 12-15 the WTC Rodeo team attended the New Mexico State University Rodeo at Las Cruces.

Steve Nail, WTC soph. from Dunn won the short go round in the bull-riding and second in the average. James Zant freshman from Odessa won 4th in the long go round of the calf roping. 24 WTC rodeo members competed at this rodeo.

In April the WTC rodeo team traveled to Frank Phillips at Borger.

Billy Grady, freshman from Brownwood, won 1st in the bareback riding. Scott Davis, Sterling City Sophomore, won 1st in bull riding. Tommy Guin Sophomore from Slaton won 4th in the calf roping.

WTC was third in the overall competition finishing with 166 points. Sul Ross won the team trophy with 400 points and Tarleton was second with 188.

The team members are competing at Howard College today and tomorrow.

WTC will host its own rodeo April 24, 25, and 26th at the Scurry County rodeo arena. The rodeo begins at 8 p.m. nightly. According to Bob Doty WTC rodeo sponsor, 12 schools are expected to be represented.

Doty feels that his team has improved since the first of the year. "Frank Phillips has been our best rodeo of the year. The team did exceptionally well at Frank Phillips. Scott (Davis) beat about 60 bareback riders. It takes a lot of doing to win," Doty said.

The best showing for the women's team was by Mandy Tubb Snyder Freshman. Ms. Tubb won the calf roping at the Sul Ross rodeo. This has been the best final finish all year for the girls.

"The girls need more experience. Two girls are freshman. These girls have to compete against four year schools. The girls from the universities have more experience than my freshmen."

Doty also expressed his desire for the student body to come to the WTC rodeo and support the team. Tickets are $2.00 for students and $3.00 for adults.

Krenek Honored by National Guard

Dr. Harry Krenek, history professor, was honored by the National Guard Association of Texas at their annual convention, March 29.

Krenek was presented a plaque by the Association's Military History Committee for his work concerning the Guard's role as the chief law enforcement agency in Texas from 1919 to 1932.

He was also a guest of honor at the Association's banquet, held at the Dallas Hilton.

Much of Krenek's research is incorporated into his book, "The Power Vested." It is published by Presidial Press and is available from the WTC Bookstore.

{ Oilfield, Floral Design, Driving Courses }

Western Texas College is currently offering sessions dealing with oil field production problems.

Topics of discussion involved are: 1. Vessel and Tank Batteries, April 1; 2. Oil Field Pump Problems, April 8; 3. Field Chemical Usage, April 15; and, 4. Sucker Rod Pump and Pump Jacks, April 22.

Industry personnel will discuss individual problems dealing with their particular fields.

The sessions are from 6:30 p.m.-10:30 p.m. at Colorado City's Wallace School.

A tuition fee of $25 or $10 per session will be required. Payment will be accepted at the door.

For more information, contact: Jerry Baird, director of Adult Vocational Education. Also, Randy Mosley, head of Engineering Technology, on extension 227.

A community service course in Floral Design begins April 14 and ends 19. The class will meet Monday nights at 6:30. Cost is $25.

Defensive Driving sessions begin April 21 and end 28. The short course will run two Monday nights from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Cost is $15.

Golfers in Tourneys

WTC's golf team competed in two non-conference tournaments March 13-14 and March 27-28.

Texas University Collegiate Golf Tournament played in Austin at Great Hills Country Club March 13-14 with four low scores for 54 holes — par 72.

WTC received a team trophy for first place in the junior college division by edging Midland college by one stroke. They also placed third in the university division.

In individual scoring, freshman Jeff Wagner was medalist in the junior college division and placed sixth in the university division.

Of golfers competing in the tournament, scores were: Wagner — 222, freshmen Richard White — 228 and Chris Johnson — 228; sophomores Ken Lawrence — 228 and Mike Mahan — 233.

Another non-conference meet in the Sam Houston Inter-collegiate University tournament played at Elkins Lake Country Club in Huntsville.

WTC competed in bad weather conditions and had four low scores out of five players.

Golfers ranked second in the junior college division with 301 — par 228 and third in the university division — scoring a 301 team effort.

WTC's Lawrence placed fifth out of 70 golfers in the junior college division, while Johnson and Wagner tied for sixth out of 70 players in the junior college division.

The golf team left for a fourth conference golf tournament in Hobbs, N.M., yesterday.
