ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT OF 4-H CLUBS TO BE HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Members From All
County Will Attend Meeting

Over one hundred girls, representing the different 4-H clubs in Haskell County, will meet Wednesday afternoon in their annual encampment. The first meeting will be held at the Christian church at 3 p. m. where a style show will be given and prizes awarded to the contestants. The girls will make choice of a theatre to visit, the Texas Theatre or a new pool at Rice Park. Refreshments will be served at 6:30 p. m. in the new building. The program for the meeting, beginning at 7 o'clock each club will give a "stunt" and a "skit". Following this the program games will be held until bedtime. The girls will camp in the park on Thursday morning. Breakfast will be served at 7:30 a. m. and the encampment will close.

RECREATION SERVICES SUNDAY FOR ADDIE STONE

Prominent Haskell
Died Saturday
San Angelo

Funeral services for the late Addie Lela Stone, 32, of R. A. Stone of Haskell, will be held Sunday morning at the Shannon Memorial in San Angelo. Miss Stone, who was born in Haskell, died Saturday afternoon at the hospital in San Angelo. She had been in the hospital for several months, and had resisted to a major operation.

Funeral services were held from three miles south of Haskell Sunday afternoon at the Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. J. W. Hamor, pastor of the First Baptist of this city. A special service was held in the evening at the home of the deceased. The funeral was held at the home of the deceased.

Funeral services were held for the late Mrs. T. C. Stone of this city, Sunday afternoon at the home of the deceased. The funeral was held at the home of the deceased.

Mattson School Is Recommended For Affiliation

Mattson Rural High School has been recommended for classification as a 4-year High School, according to information received this week from the State Department of Education by Elmer C. Watson, superintendent of the school. Eight units of affiliation have also been recommended for the school. Mr. Watson was informed.

Cooling System Is Installed at Texas Theatre

At a cost of approximately $2,500, a complete new cooling system has just been completed at the Texas Theatre. The new equipment was purchased from the Buffalo Cooling system and is of the washed air type. A large fan will draw the air from the outside of the building through a cooling device containing about two hundred water jets or nozzles spraying a fine mist under high pressure, the air traveling at about 10 feet through this water before reaching the big fan and discharged into the building. A complete change of air in the building will be made every three minutes according to Mr. Leon, owner of the Theatre.

The entire equipment has been placed on the roof of the building in a house especially constructed for the purpose. The equipment is recommended to lower the temperature from 10 to 20 degrees inside of the building under the prevailing weather outside.

T-P CONVENTION ATTRACTS LARGE CROWDS SUNDAY

Breckenridge Chosen For
1938 Convention; Officers
Are Re-Elected

Singers from a wide area of West Texas filled the Christian Church auditorium to capacity Sunday during the second day of the twelfth annual T-P Singing convention, and several hundred others gathered on the church lawn to enjoy the program through a public address system installed in the building for the occasion. The convention was formally opened Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with a business session attended by a large number of visiting singers and officers of the convention.

Principal business transacted was selection of Breckenridge as host city for the convention in 1938 and the re-election of all convention officers: C. B. Riddle of Abilene, vice-president; and Miss Ola Westbrook of Sweetwater, secretary-treasurer.

Feature of the Saturday night session was a contest between amateur entertainers for three cash prizes totalling $25 offered by the Haskell Chamber of Commerce in which entrants from a number of towns in this section took part. Winners in the contest were: First place, Miss Jacqueline McCoy, Hamlin. Second, NBC Boys Quartet composed of Baron Butler, Milton Reese, Kenneth Day and Wood Butler of Abilene. Third, Joyce Cooper of Rochester.

Mrs. Myrtle Meyer and Mrs. C. M. Kaigler were in Abilene Tuesday where Mrs. Kaigler registered in McMurry college for a course in Speech Arts for the summer term under Mrs. Flora Barrow.

Miss Hassie Davis is home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Davis after teaching school in Dallas, a position she has held for several years.

Billie Williams, Thomas Kaigler and Alva Couch spent the past week end in Lubbock, the guest of George William Fouts.

Headin' for the Big Roundup at Stamford

HASKELL SPONSOR TO COWBOY REUNION TO BE CHOSEN SATURDAY

Selection of Haskell's sponsor to the Texas Cowboy Reunion in Stamford July 1-3 is scheduled to be held Saturday morning at Fair Park, sponsored by the Haskell Chamber of Commerce.

This year's selection of a sponsor will be handled differently from previous years, it was announced. Contestants must appear mounted, and will be judged on their ability to ride as well as general appearance.

Names of several entrants have already been suggested, and all young women who desire to enter should have their names filed in the Chamber of Commerce office not later than Friday.

The contest will begin promptly at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in front of the grandstand, and a committee of competent judges will make the selection of Haskell's sponsor.

The young woman chosen to represent Haskell will ride in the opening parade of the Stamford Reunion and compete for several handsome awards. In addition the sponsor will be accorded a number of special courtesies during the three days celebration.

A description of the man who entered the house and the automobile they were driving was furnished to officers.

Deputy Sheriff Clifton was advised today that an automobile fitting the description of the one being sought had been seen in Monday last night.

Mrs. Bingham to Hospital
Mrs. B. W. Bingham was carried to the Stamford hospital last Friday in a Jones, Cox & Company ambulance where she received treatment and x-ray pictures were made after falling down the basement steps in Hunt's store Friday morning. Mrs. Bingham was able to return to her home here and her injuries proved to be a broken rib and bruises. She will be confined to her bed for several days.

Mrs. Roy Fultz and daughters, Dorothy and Betty of Memphis are here visiting Mrs. Fultz's sister, Mrs. W. A. Duncan and Mr. Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Reynolds have returned from a visit in South Texas. While on their trip they attended the State Firemen's Convention at Park Arthur.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wherling and daughter, Barbara of Goose Creek, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lyles this week.

Geo. Neely of Henderson visited here Sunday.

Three-Quarter Million Dollar Wheat Crop Being Harvested In County

Church of Christ Revival Meeting Begins This Week

Evangelist Fred McClung will start a revival meeting for the Church of Christ on Wednesday night June 16th. He is a well known evangelist. He has done lots of revival preaching throughout all of the Southern States. He is said to be a very able speaker, presenting each lesson in a clear concise manner. He is also reported to have a very pleasing personality.

Minister McClung comes to us from Fort Worth, Texas where he has been working for the past few months. He served as local minister for the North Side Church of Christ in Fort Worth during the past winter.

The members of the local Church of Christ here feel that they are indeed fortunate in securing the services of this talented preacher for their meeting. They have also secured an excellent song leader, Mr. Phillips of Monday, Texas. There will be two services each day. The night services will start at eight twenty p. m. Plenty of outdoor seats are being prepared at the back of the Church of Christ auditorium.

ENCAMPMENT AT LUEDEBS WILL BEGIN SUNDAY

Grounds and Buildings Placed in Readiness For Baptist Gathering

The Lueders Baptist Encampment will open Sunday morning June 20th and continue through the following Sunday June 27th. Rev. I. L. Yearby of El Paso will be the main speaker for the encampment. I. E. Reynolds will have charge of the music and J. S. Tierce will be recreational director.

The buildings have been repaired and the majority have been repainted during the past few weeks. The grounds have been placed in first class condition and one of the best camps in years are being planned for those who attend this year.

Rev. J. Lowell Ponder of Rochester will have charge of registration and anyone who desires information regarding attending the camp may write him at Rochester.

The following program has been arranged:

- Daily Schedule
7:45-8:30, Sing Song—I. E. Reynolds.
- 8:30-9:10—B. T. U. Work (Meeting in Departmental Conferences).

FORMER HASKELL MAN VICTIM OF DIVING MISHAP

Jack Nolen of Anson Dies
From Injuries Received
While On Outing

Jack Nolen, 28, an employee of the West Texas Utilities Company in Anson, member of a prominent Haskell county pioneer family and a former resident of this city, died Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Stamford hospital from injuries received Saturday afternoon when he dived into shallow water in the Clear Fork near Lueders while on an outing.

The injured man had lingered near death since Saturday afternoon, when he was hurt while swimming in the Swenson ranch north of Lueders. His companions said Nolen's injury was caused by a faulty dive after his hand slipped on a swing. He attempted to dive straight and struck bottom.

Nolen was an electrician and had been employed the past five years by the utilities company as a trouble shooter and service man.

Survivors are his wife the former Inez Reeves of Abilene; his mother, Mrs. Leona Nolen of National City, Calif.; his grandmother, Mrs. Alice T. Nolen of Haskell; and two sisters, Miss Loomis Gordon of Los Angeles and Mrs. Gordon Mangie of San Diego, Calif.

After a message late Monday from his mother that she would be unable to attend, funeral services were set for 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. They will be conducted at the First Baptist Church in Anson by the Rev. L. A. Doyle, church pastor. He will be assisted by the Rev. W. T. Hamor of Winters and the Rev. Willis P. Gerhart, rector of the Heavenly Rest Episcopal church in Abilene.

Named as pallbearers were Judge Omar Burleson, Ralph King, Jerry Hampton, Doss Harris, and Rush Lewis. Anson Boys Scouts will serve as honorary pallbearers and participate in the service.

Burial will be in the Haskell cemetery, directed by Barrow-Lawrence Funeral home of Anson.

Jack Nolen, son of the late Dr. Loomis DeCosta Nolen, was born June 20, 1909, at Weinert. He was graduated from the Abilene Christian college academy, attended Hardin-Simmons university one semester and was a graduate of Texas Military institute at Terrell.

An active worker in the Baptist church, he was baptized in 1935 by the Rev. Mr. Hamor. He was sponsor of a Baptist training unit in Anson and had been a scoutmaster the past six years.

Nolen had lived in Haskell, Abilene, and Winters before moving to Anson.

Mother of Mrs. W. M. Reid Dies
In Sulphur Springs

Mrs. M. A. Oliver of Sulphur Springs died Friday and funeral services were held in that city Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Oliver was over 80 years old and has been in ill health for several years. Her daughter Mrs. W. M. Reid of Haskell had been at her bedside almost a week when the end came. Mr. Reid left Friday to attend the funeral services.

Visit in Home of F. G. Alexander
Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alexander of El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bickley and son, Alexander, and daughter Wilma Ruth of Abilene, Henry Alexander and Mrs. Brotherson of Spur, and Wallace Alexander of Seymour visited Sunday with their father and grandfather F. G. Alexander and with their sister Mrs. Ethel Irby.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alexander were en route to the Yellowstone National Park for a vacation.

Mrs. Theron Cahill and son, Jerry returned Monday from Abilene where they had been at the bedside of the former's sister who is in the Hendrick Memorial Hospital recovering from a major operation.

Riley Lewellen, Harvey and Richard Fagan and Raymond Davis were in Amarillo Sunday where they brought 4 G. M. C. pickup ups for Champan & Lewellen, to Haskell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Duncan spent Sunday in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Duncan of Stamford.

One-Half of Crop Is Already Gathered As Combines Run Day and Night

Close to three-quarter of a million dollar wheat crop is now being harvested in Haskell county, according to estimates made by county agent B. W. Chesser. This is believed to be the largest wheat crop ever harvested in Haskell county.

Mr. Chesser is estimating that 40,000 acres is in wheat and will average at least eighteen bushels per acre. Local buyers are of the opinion that the average price paid for wheat here would be about ninety cents per bushel.

About one-half of the crop is already harvested and combines are being run day and night.

More than seven thousand dollars will be lost in Haskell county this year as result of smut. Mr. Chesser says. Local elevator men estimate that about thirty per cent of the grain is infested, and it is docked about three cents per bushel. In badly infested fields the smut damage is estimated at about fifty-four cents per acre in addition to a loss as a result of a lower yield per acre caused by smut.

The seed could have been treated for as little as one and one-fourth cents per acre which, if done correctly, will nearly always prevent smut. The Haskell Grain and Elevator Company are already making plans to treat seed for farmers this fall. One-half ounce of Corecon or two ounces of copper-carbonate per bushel, thoroughly mixed with the seed is very good insurance against smut, even though the seed appear not to be infested, the county agent said.

'BANK NIGHT' TO BE DISCONTINUED BY LOCAL THEATRE

Recent Ruling of Appeals Court Stamps Plan As
"Lottery"

Regardless of any appeal that may be filed protesting the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals, declaring "Bank Night" to be a lottery and against the laws of the state of Texas which was handed down last week the Texas Theatre of this city will discontinue the plan and will not hold the usual drawing tonight, according to Manager Server Leon.

The following statement was issued Monday afternoon by Mr. Leon: "Bank Night has been declared to be a lottery and therefore illegal by the Court of Criminal Appeals of the State of Texas and as a result we are discontinuing the enterprise. We do not wish to be branded as operators of a gambling device, neither do we wish to have our patrons branded as participants in such a device. Such would be the case were we to hold another drawing and we would be laying ourselves liable to prosecution. Therefore effective now, we are discontinuing Bank Night. We earnestly ask the public to understand our attitude in this situation. As a substitute for bank night, beginning Tuesday night we will admit one lady free with each paid admission."

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Bynum of Dallas are visiting relatives here.

Dignity and Charm Blend In Legislature of Texas; Sessions Function Smoothly

The following article, "A Day With the Texas Legislature," written by Paul O. Nafe, Daily Features Editor of The Christian Science Monitor, and appeared in a recent issue of that publication.

Don't look in on the Texas Legislature and expect to find a bunch of cowboys in five-gallon hats and spurs, trying to pass laws to make cattle rustling a capital offense. I have witnessed many an assembly in action, but nowhere not even in the National Congress, have I seen a more gentlemanly group of legislators, or a more decorous session.

The pace is set by Gov. James V. Allred, who is most assuredly headed for honors in national politics. Another personable young man is the Lieutenant-Governor, Walter F. Woodul, who presides with dignity over the deliberations of the 31 State Senators.

The Speaker of the House, Robert W. Calvert, is perhaps the youngest Texan to be thus honored who won the unique honor of serving two successive sessions as Speaker, and is continuing to serve as a Representative, told me that his non-committal attitude may have had some bearing on his two-session distinction. He is known as one of the shrewdest lawmakers of Texas history.

I had been introduced to Mr. Calvert by my old friends W. W. (Billy) Bridgers from El Paso, perhaps the most colorful figure in the Legislature. Mr. Bridgers is worth a story all his own, but he is the one who could best write it, for his signed yarns in West Texas papers have established him as a columnist.

Other House Leaders

Among other distinguished members of the House are E. H. Thornton Jr. of Galveston still in his twenties and one of the keenest young men in legislative halls; Herman Jones of Decatur, who almost single-handedly defeated a recent measure and J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, a silver-tongued orator if there ever was one. One cannot help admiring a young man of such promise who never drinks or smokes; his eulogy on the occasion of the New London school tragedy was a classic.

And, by the way, W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi could probably hold his own against any other debater in the West. Take a vote after he speaks if you want your bill to win.

Speaking of voting the speaker can poll the members of the House of Representatives in a few seconds. Over the speaker's chair is a giant scoreboard, on which the name of each of the 150 Representatives is printed. When a question is put, each legislator registers his vote by pushing a button on his desk. Speaker Calvert explained to me that one push registers a red light opposite a name—this indicates "yes." Two pushes flash a blue light of dissent and three pushes turn on a white light of "present, but not voting." These votes are automatically registered by a set of dials on the speaker's desk, and a check-up is always available, since votes on the scoreboard are recorded by camera.

A public-address system is employed in the House, and a member must come to the front, face his colleagues, and talk into a microphone. Members desiring to question him must approach another microphone, centrally located.

Over on the other side of the 3,000,000-acre capitol (this amount of land was voted to the contractors for building the magnificent pink granite edifice, one of the largest public buildings in America) is the Senate. The only thing that makes the body is the pair of paintings at the rear of the chamber, one depicting the siege of the Alamo ("Thermopylae had its messenger of defeat, the Alamo had none"), and the other the battle of San Jacinto (where Texas won its independence from Mexico in 1836).

The walls are reserved for portraits of the great and near great; and prominent among them is Texas' own Jack Garner, Vice-President of the United States.

I wanted to meet the senior member of the Senate, and I was soon presented to Senator T. J. Holbrook, of Galveston. Almost every legislator has some personal hobby; but Senator Holbrook has none. "My only interest is that of my constituents," he said.

Senate's Busiest Man

My next mission was to chat with the "busiest man" in the senate, and I was soon ushered through a room teeming with typists and secretaries, and then into the sanctum of Senator John S. Redditt of Lufkin, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and charged with all appropriations. Senator Redditt is an immaculately dressed, medium-stout young man with a pleasant, round face, but a genuine smiling exterior is a grim determination to war forever against high taxes and government extravagances. Among his personal interests is the promotion of a paper plant which will turn into newsprint some of the rank growth of pine in his section of the State.

Senator Claud C. Westerfeld of Dallas was my next man. He it was who volunteered to introduce Senate Bill No. 128 this year designed to give to those who heal by prayer full exemption from the State Medical Practice Act. Senator Westerfeld is now embarking on a drive to abolish the Texas poll tax, which, although it is only $1.75, seems to stand in the way of tens of thousands of voters. He would have potential voters merely register. "One dollar and seventy-five cents never qualified anybody for anything," he insists.

If Senator Westerfeld is returned to the Senate for another session, big business and monopolies had better hunt cover. The oil, sulphur and gas combines will have to fight him on a natural resources tax, and the life insurance companies may expect him to campaign for a state savings bank insurance guaranteed by state funds, copied after that in Massachusetts. His political doctrine is summed up in these words, "Laws should not be made to protect the strong from the weak."

Father and Son Legislators

Senator William R. Newton, chairman of the Public Buildings and Grounds Committee and vice-chairman of the Public Health Committee, has a son in the House, Representative George I. Mayo Newton; and this, so far as available records show, is the first time a father-and-son team has been set at work on Capitol Hill. The two of them were leaders in the successful effort to double the State Highway Patrol.

In the so-called "Third House" I met the representatives and lobbyists of a number of important interests. All were very friendly to me, especially Jeff Reese, who for 16 years has been representing the State Medical Association of Texas.

Perhaps the most interesting character who haunts the halls is "Senator" Annet Cooke. For more than 30 years she has been working to establish a State Extension Course so that up-to-date educational methods might reach out to the under-privileged. When she told me that she was now 74 and beginning to feel the effects of her legislative efforts, I reminded her hot when needed. This is the way to prepare them:

Casserole of Potatoes.
Slice potatoes very thin into a casserole adding an occasional layer of mince onion. Cover the potatoes with milk and dot with butter, season with salt and pepper and bake in a covered dish until done.

Broiled Chops or Steak.
Build a good bed of coals, cover with a grill. (One of the grills from the gas stove, placed on rocks works like a charm). When the fire has died down and there is a bed of brilliant coals, place steaks or chops directly on the grill. Turn twice, place on hot plates, season and serve.

Camp Fire Coffee.
When your camp fire has a good start, place an old fashioned coffee pot at one side of the grill with coffee and cold water measured in the quantity desired. As the fragrant coffee will be in preparation, Camp coffee never boils but reaches its full perfection by a slow heating—a gentle simmer—which extracts the full flavor from the coffee bean.

Hot Dishes For Picnics.
If you have large vacuum jars, you may serve any number of varied hot dishes at your picnic. Baked beans, savory stews, creamed chicken or sweetbreads, or spaghetti, are among the favorites. Here is a spaghetti dish that is easy to prepare and delicious.

Spaghetti and Ham En Casserole.
2 cups spaghetti broken in pieces
1 cup chopped cooked ham
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups thin white sauce
1-3 cup fine bread crumbs

Break spaghetti in pieces and boil in salted water until tender. Drain and rinse in cold water. Arrange in greased baking dish alternating layers of spaghetti and ham, dotting each layer of spaghetti with butter. When all is used, pour over the white sauce, seasoned with pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Sprinkle top with fine buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until done.

This dish may be laddled into the vacuum jar just before starting. It is delicious served with tomatoes stuffed with cold slaw. These may be prepared in advance and kept fresh with layers of paper.

Chili.
Soak a pint of dried kidney beans overnight. Brown a pound of chopped beef and a chopped onion in 4 tablespoons of fat. Add 2 teaspoons of flour to a can of tomatoes, mix well, and add to the meat. Add the beans, one-half cup uncooked rice, one tablespoon salt, one tablespoon chili powder, one-quarter teaspoon thyme, one-eighth teaspoon cloves and one and one-half pints of water or meat stock. Cook until it reaches the boiling point. Then pour into a casserole and cook very slowly for three and one-half hours.

Picnic Turnovers.
2 cups flour
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup shortening
4 teaspoons baking powder
3-4 cup milk or water
Sift dry ingredients. Use fork to cut in shortening. Add liquid. Stir. Roll out 1-4 inch thick on a floured board. Divide into 8 squares. On half of each square spread filling. Moisten edges of dough, lap over to form triangles and press firmly together. Bake in a hot oven 20 to 25 minutes. When cold they are delicious for picnics.

Chicken Filling for Turnovers.
Shred cooked chicken or veal to make 1 1-2 cups. Add 1-2 cup thick gravy, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 2 hard cooked eggs diced and 2 tablespoons sliced pimientos.

Ham Filling for Turnovers.
Grind or mince 1 1-2 cups of cooked ham, mix to a paste with 3 tablespoons of mayonnaise and 1-2 teaspoon prepared mustard. Place a thin slice of American cheese in each turnover and cover with ham paste.

Barbecued Sandwiches.
These require 1 1-2 pounds of round steak chopped fine or run through a food chopper, 2 medium size mildly flavored onions, 3 or 4 ripe but firm tomatoes, salt, pepper and a generous supply of butter—at least 1-2 pound. Also baker's rolls which are to be slit in half through the center and toasted if possible. Melt 1-4 pound of butter in a heavy skillet; season the meat, adding just a little grated onion and make up flat loose cakes about the diameter of the rolls. Slip the cakes into the hot butter and sizzle until brown and crusted. Meantime slice the onions water thin and the tomatoes a little thicker; remove cakes, add remainder of butter to the pan and melt. Dip the rolls in this and then put the sandwiches together in this way: First a half roll, a slice of onion, seasoning, meat cake, more seasoning, and top with remaining half of roll. These sandwiches are delicious if you prepare them over a picnic fire, but may be wrapped in paper and eaten cold also.

What Irwin S. Cobb Thinks about

Deporating Alien Criminals.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—
Wouldn't it be lovely if the other states, not to mention the federal government, followed the example set by the governor of New York?

He commutes the sentences of foreign-born, long-term convicts so they may be eligible for parole—not mind you, to go free and sin some more, but to be turned over to the port authorities for immediate deportation.

That is, it would be a lovely idea if only, we could be sure that these same criminals wouldn't come slipping back in again. The present immigration law was devised as a barrier to protect decent citizens, both native and naturalized, against the human scum of the old world, but it appears to be more like a sieve if we may judge by the hordes of nondesirable aliens who somehow manage to get in and stay in and even go on relief, some of them.

In other words, when we give these unpleasant parties a complimentary ride back where they come from, let's make sure it's not going to be a round trip.

Missionaries From China.
FROM Peiping a group of believers in the doctrine of Confucius are sending missionaries to the United States. We've been sending out missionaries to their country for centuries, but that Chinamen should dare to try the same thing on us—well, that's a white horse of a yellow color.

What if, not content with seeking converts, these interlopers inculcated among us certain phases of their heathenish philosophy, such as teaching young people consideration and respect for their elders; and showing that rushing about in a frenzy does not necessarily indicate business energy; and that the natural aim of man is not always to worship speed and—up to thirty-odd thousands a year—to die by it; and that intolerance as between religious creeds isn't invariably proof of true piety; and that minding one's own affairs is really quite an admirable trait?

Why, native Americans wouldn't be able to recognize the old homeplace any more!

Such threats against a superior civilization are not to be borne.

Vanished Americans.
IT'S exciting to prow among the ruined cities of the first Americans, who scattered into the twilight of antiquity when the Christian era was still young. They were our oldest families, older even than old Southern families—and who ever heard of a new Southern family or even just a middle-aged Southern family?

But afterwards, it's confusing to read the theories of the expert researchers who have passed judgment on those vanished cliff-dwelling peoples, because few such learned gentlemen agree on any single point. There is one very eminent authority who invariably insists that all the rest of the eminent authorities are absolutely wrong about everything. He is the Mr. Justice McReynolds of the archeologists.

After reading some of the conflicting literature on this subject, I've decided that a true scientist is one who is positive there are no other true scientists.

Unemployment Statistics.
THANKS to bright young bureaucrats in Washington, we know how many goldfish are hatched every year and what the gross annual yield of guinea pigs is, and the exact proportion of albinos born in any given period, but it never seemed to occur to anybody to compile reasonably accurate statistics on unemployment.

Yet, with depression behind us and business up to boom-time levels, it's estimated that between eight and nine million people are out of work, not counting those on strike, and judging by the papers there must be a couple of million of them. Apparently the more prosperous we grow on the surface, the more deplorable becomes the status of those off the payrolls. It doesn't make sense. Or anyhow there was a time when it wouldn't have made sense.

This curious situation puts a fellow in mind of the old old story of the chap whose wife had an operation, and, every day when he called at the hospital, he was told the patient showed improvement. One morning, as he came away, weeping, he met a friend.

"How's the wife?" inquired the latter.

"She's dead."

"I'm so sorry," said the friend. "What did she die of?"

"Improvements," said the widow.

Marriage of Miss Geraldine Hunt and Mr. Buford Cox Is Announced

Mrs. O. M. Guest entertained a number of friends Friday afternoon for a bridge party and to announce the marriage of her daughter, Miss Geraldine Hunt, to Mr. Buford Cox April 17th which had been kept a secret. The entertaining rooms were very attractive with summer flowers where six tables were arranged for the games. After a series of four games Mrs. French Robertson was given the prize for highest score. The hostess served a dainty refreshment plate of chicken salad, crackers, olives and cookies with iced tea. Plate favors were small bouquets tied with pink ribbons holding a scroll revealing the marriage. "Gerry and Buford, April 17, 1937."

Guests for the party were, Messdames: Virgil Reynolds, Barton Welsh, Al Allison of Loveland, Hollis Atkinson, B. C. Chapman, T. W. Williams, French Robertson, R. L. Lemmon, Geo. Henshaw, Red Henshaw, Beattie Mae Sellers, Bob Herren Jr., Ralph Duncan, Speedy Bell, Jim Williams, Walter Murchison, Jno. A. Willoughby, W. G. Forgy, Hill Oates, Misses Frankie Brooks, Mildred Phelps, Lena Bell Kemp, Louise Warren.

Tea guests were: Mrs. J. U. Fields, Mrs. Elmore Smith, Mrs. Ed Day, Mrs. Mavis Laird, Misses Janie Lyle Martin, Hazel Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Cox were married in Roscoe Saturday, April 17th with the Rev. W. H. Swimm, Methodist pastor, reading the wedding vows at the parsonage. She is the only daughter of Mrs. O. M. Guest and finished high school here with the class of '34. Mr. Cox has lived here several years and is a member of the Cox-Henshaw Plymouth deniers.

Cecil Lancaster Circle

The Cecil Lancaster Circle met Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Ed Fouts.

Opening song, "Come, Thy Almighty".

Prayer by Mrs. Glenn.

Song, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord".

Devotional, Acts 11:1-16 by Miss Ida Crawford.

Mesdames Kuenstler, Oats, Couch and Roberts gave parts on the program.

After the program we had our business meeting and committees appointed, moved and adjourned that we meet on the third Monday in July and study a book on stewardship. Closing prayer by Mrs. Oates.

Those present were Mesdames: Kuenstler, Crawford, Couch, Wright, Jim Fouts, Gannaway, Oates, Glenn, Whitaker, Carr, Herren, Simmons, Watson, Roberts and the hostess.

Blue Bonnet Home Demonstration Club

"By making a bread pudding you can use up all your old bread." Mrs. B. Seltz, told members of the Blue Bonnet Home Demonstration Club at their meeting Thursday June 3, in the home of Mrs. Less Lewis.

Mrs. B. Seltz gave a demonstration on home made bread, sandwiches and bread pudding.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Will Hines Thursday, June 17. All members are urged to be present with some home made bread to be scored.

Refreshments were served to the following ladies attending the meeting: visitor, Mrs. Tom Rowan, Members: Mesdames, A. C. Denson, E. F. Richards, B. Seltz, Howard Balliff, Less Lewis, Will Hines, Miss Nora Walters.

BREAKS NARCOTIC RING

Miss Joyce McAllister, twenty-seven-year-old former Santa Barbara, Calif., college student, whose under-cover detective work is credited with leading to the arrest of seven Chinese and a veteran federal agent in raids on night clubs in the Chinese quarter of Reno, Nev. The sheriff's office and the federal narcotics bureau provided her with $1,000 with which she bought narcotics, thus obtaining information leading to the arrests.

Knitting Circle

Members of the Knitting Circle met with Mrs. Carl Powers Wednesday afternoon for their regular meeting. After several hours of knitting the hostess served ice cream and cake to the following members: Mrs. Geo. Herren, Mrs. Douglas Brown, Mrs. Carl Arbuckle, Mrs. Bob Herren Jr., Mrs. Sam A. Roberts, Mrs. Jno. A. Willoughby, and guests were Mrs. W. J. Green and Mrs. Jack Crutcher.

The Josslet Home Demonstration Club

The personal appearance is the first step in judging bread, stated Miss Mildred Vaughan in a bread judging demonstration given to the members of the Josslet H. D. club ladies Tuesday, June 7th at 2:30 at the club house with Mrs. S. G. Perrin and Miss Louise Merchant joint hostesses. There are several things to know in judging bread. Pleasant odor and pleasant taste counts in everything cooked as well as bread, continued Miss Vaughan. In asking a group of ladies what golden brown color would be for a loaf of bread? There would be four different browns given that would be pleasing to the eye for golden brown. Don't cool bread in a draft and be sure its cool before wrapping for bread cooled in a draft falls and gets wrinkled. Mrs. Perrin won first place on her bread and Miss Maurine Norton won second place.

Miss Eloise Tolliver was appointed assistant reporter and Mrs. Perrin parliamentary Refresherments were served to Mesdames: J. L. Tolliver, Adell Thomas, W. E. Taylor, Larry Bass, S. G. Perrin, Louise Merchant, Lynn Fraley, Jesse Josslet, Opal Alsobrooks, Misses Mildred Vaughan, Eloise Tolliver, Maurine Norton. Visitors: Miss Jane Merchant, Claudia Fraley and Alma Josslet.

Mrs. Virgil Lewis and sons returned to their home in Old Glory Monday after several days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Paxton.

KEYS MISSING

Dallas, Texas.—Showing the intricacies of handcuffs to a young woman visitor, Deputy U. S. Marshal Ralph Marlin demonstrated by placing the manacles on the young woman's wrist. Their interest changed to chagrin when the officer realized that the keys to the handcuffs were in Fort Worth and that they were in Dallas.

AUTO FATALITIES DECLINE

Washington.—Automobile fatalities reported in 86 principal cities for the first twenty-eight weeks of the year totaled 4,039, as compared with 4,440 for the same period in 1935—a slight decline.

Birthday Party in Honor of Robert Marvin Kingston

On Friday evening June 11th at 2 o'clock a birthday party was given at the home of Mrs. D. M. Kingston in honor of her son, Robert Marvin on his 2nd birthday.

The little tots played inside and had an enjoyable evening. After they were tired of playing the gifts were opened and enjoyed by all the children as well as Robert Marvin.

The kiddies were then called around the table and saw a little white birthday cake, decorated in pink, blue, yellow and white with "Happy Birthday" written across the center and two little burning candles. Robert Marvin was asked to blow them out and after some time managed to get one blown out and little Warner Wayne Griffin blew the other one out for him.

Cake and a grape drink was served to the following: Mrs. W. W. Griffin and son and daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Earls and daughter Nancy Carol, Mrs. Guinn Medford and daughter Flossie Laverne, Mrs. Howard Montgomery and son, John Carlos, Mrs. Lena Stanton, Mrs. B. Kingston, Mrs. R. T. Landess, Miss Virginia McLean, Ann Kingston and Hettie Lois Thane.

Former Haskell Boy Weds Grand Rapids Girl

Family Reunion in Kemp Home Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Kemp were host and hostess Sunday for a family reunion of brothers and sisters of their mother, Mrs. W. D. Kemp of this city. The occasion was the first time that group had all been together in forty-five years, and the day was a most pleasurable one for the entire group.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Stubblefield and son of Antelope, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick of Arizona, Mrs. Fred Walker and son of San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Clyde Beskin and daughter of Archer City; Mrs. Clarence Plemmons of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Theodore Pace and sons of Gladewater; Mr. and Mrs. Owen Fouts, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kemp of Haskell.

IN MEMORY OF VIRGINIA KAY GUESS

She was a little sun beam
That shone upon our way,
And cherished us but a moment,
Ere its brightness passed away.

She was a little birdling,
Whose very little song
Was warbled but a little while,
To be remembered long.

She was a little angel
Just on her way to heaven,
And just stayed to say your baby
Was just lent not given.

Dear little Kay has gone to rest,
To reign with God forever blest,
Her little tongue will also praise
A savior's love and redeeming grace.

Dear little hands I miss them so,
All through the day—wherever I go,
All through the night lonely it seems,
For no little hands woke my dreams.

I miss them through weary hours
I miss them as other day's sunshine and flowers,
Day time, night time, wherever I go,
Dear little hands I miss them so.

Now let us strive the prize to gain,
Come to Christ, with him remain
We shall share in Jesus' love,
And meet little Kay in heaven above.

'WAY BACK WHEN

CARL SANDBURG NEVER WOULD SETTLE DOWN

HOW many times have you heard someone say, "I don't know what to do about that boy of mine; it looks like he never will settle down." Carl Sandburg was like that. A boy who skipped from job to job, and gave his simple Swedish immigrant parents many a worried hour: He was born in 1878 in Galesburg, Ill., of people who were uneducated and kindly, simple and poor. Forced by poverty to go to work when he was thirteen, he began the seemingly endless series of jobs that gave him such true understanding of the common people.

He drove a milk wagon in Galesburg and he blacked boots in a barber shop. If you could have looked into the future and said that some day Carl Sandburg would be a great poet, they would have laughed you out of town! He became a scene shifter in a cheap theater, a truck handler in a brick yard, and then a turner's apprentice in a pottery shop. Cheap manual labor, nothing skilled about most of it! He worked as a dish-washer in mid-western hotels, a harvest hand in the Kansas wheat fields, and a carpenter's helper. He begged meals from house-to-house, in exchange for blackening stoves. Hardly a promising boy!

Carl Sandburg was learning the painter's trade when the Spanish-American war broke out, and he enlisted. A comrade persuaded him to go to Lombard college and he worked his way through as a bell ringer, gym janitor and college correspondent for the Galesburg Daily Mail. In college his literary ability developed and he became editor of the school publications. After graduation he supported himself as advertising manager of a department store and sales manager of a business machines firm.

He entered politics, became a reporter, and in 1917, Carl Sandburg joined the staff of the Chicago Daily News, where his work has been outstanding.

A rolling stone, a restless jack-of-all-trades has been Carl Sandburg, but from the time of his literary awakening in college, he has written steadily stories for children, a biography of Lincoln, and hundreds of poems about the mass of people.

So, if that boy of yours is restless, if he skips from place to place, be patient. Carl Sandburg gained fame by knowing many people, many jobs, many problems.

Mrs. W. R. Ruff left Friday afternoon for Dallas where she will visit with relatives.

Household Hints

A teaspoon of ammonia in a quart of water will remove all grease and dirt from combs and brushes, after which they should be rinsed and dried in the sun.

Young, tender parsnips may be scraped, like carrots, but old parsnips should be boiled until tender and then slipped out of their skins. A dull knife is best for scaling fish.

A small quantity of charcoal in a container on the top shelf will help eliminate food odors from refrigerator.

Cayenne pepper sprinkled on pantry shelves is sometimes effective in keeping mice away.

Vinegar added to dry glue will make the glue fit for use again.

A half teaspoonful of baking soda added to boiling frosting will keep it from running.

Too much water will make pastry tough.

Onion juice will remove rust from tableware.

Food should not be stored in the refrigerator while wrapped in paper because the paper prevents the cold air from circulating freely over it.

Keep mirrors out of the sun—it will cause spots and other blemishes.

About one part honey to four parts peanut butter makes a good sandwich spread.

Acid helps keep red color in vegetables. Thus if vinegar is added to the cooking water they will retain more of their natural color.

To prevent tea towels from leaving lint on china and glassware put them through a solution of weak starch after each laundering.

In freezing weather windows can be cleaned with a soft cloth moistened with kerosene.

To restore a waxed surface which has been scratched or spotted first wash with turpentine and then re wax. If the wood is dark, add a little black oil paint to the wax.

Knit garments need blocking instead of pressing. Place woolen pressing block over garment and steam, using very light strokes of iron.

For restoring the popping quality to pop corn that has become too dry to pop satisfactory, place the corn in a large glass jar with a small amount of water, seal the jar and allow to stand for several days.

Some paper lamp shades may be washed. Quickly scrub the shade with a stiff brush which is frequently dipped in warm, soapy water. Then rinse it well with clear water and wipe it drp with a soft cloth. The shade should not be touched afterward until it is perfectly dry if it is to retain its shape.

Convalescents enjoy "surprise" meals. Their food may be arranged in unusual shapes and placed dainty or gay china. Animal cut-outs of bread, toast, sandwiches or gelatin molds will be especially appreciated by a youngster who may be tricked into eating the rest of his meal by them.

Cooking over a camp fire appeals to nearly all youngsters. Foods to carry on outdoor trips should be filling and appetizing and easy to prepare. Raw chops, meat squares, ham, bacon or frankfurters are easily cooked. Placed between buttered bread or buns, with hot chocolate and cookies,

Brown County Named as Result of Indian Horse Stealing Raid; Pursuer First White Hands Across the Rio Grande

Western names of geographical points are notably picturesque and usually historical, recording some person or event in the early days of the West.

Brown county, named after the first white man, or rather the leader of the first band of white men to enter what is now Brown county, was named as a direct result of the theft of a band of horses by Indians.

Captain Henry S. Brown, friend of the Austins, pioneer trader, merchant, Indian fighter and Texas patriot, was the first known white man to lead a party into the territory that now comprises Brown county. Havins' "History of Brown County" quotes Mrs. C. A. Westbrook's record in "Frontier Times" as follows:

"Among the first Americans, if not the first to traverse Brown county were Captain Henry S. Brown and a group of 28 companions who raided two Indian camps in the county in December, 1828. Captain Brown and his band left Gonzales early in December, 1828, with the avowed purpose of recovering about 500 horses and mules belonging to Brown that had been driven off by hostile Indians. Moving northward, they came to the mouth of the Pecan Bayou and crossed the Colorado river into Brown county. Traveling westward, they came to an Indian camp located on Clear Creek. Here a spirited battle ensued.

Recovered Horses

"After a short time the Indians fled and Brown and his party moved on westward and encamped for the night on Home Creek. During the night some members of Brown's group discovered the camp fires of a body of Indians about two miles up stream. The next morning they surprised the camp and succeeded in stampeding the horses of the Indians. A hot fight followed. Only a few of the Indians succeeded in getting to their mounts, and the whites had the advantage in that they were all mounted. Brown and his men retreated hurriedly, taking the horses with them. The few mounted Indians kept up a running fight for three days. Brown kept the horses on the run for four days, allowing them to rest at night, and was successful in driving home nearly as many animals as the Indians had driven away earlier in the month.

Included in Brown's company were nine Mexicans, an Indian named Cherokee Luke, Brazil Durbin, Dan Shelby, Andrew Scott, Jesse Robinson, Mose Morrison, Abram M. Clare, William Bracken, and the others whose names have not been preserved.

Native of Kentucky

Available records show that Captain Brown was born in Mason county, Kentucky, March 8, 1773, but moved with his father to St. Charles, Mo., in 1810. He secured his first war experience against the Indians at Fort Clark, now in Texas, when he volunteered for military service to drive the hostile Indians from the country.

He was married in 1814 and after trading from St. Louis to New Orleans he moved to Pike county, Missouri, and about 1823 visited Texas because of his friendship with Moses Austin. He returned in 1824 with a stock of goods to trade with the Indians and Mexicans. He made his home in Texas and after many and varied experiences including a fruitless search for a brother, who had been captured by Indians but later returned by himself and trading with the settlers at San Antonio and on the Brazos and commanding organized bodies in pursuit of the Indians, he organized a company of volunteers for service in the War of Independence with Mexico.

He was in command at the Battle of Velasco and was an active member of the convention of 1832. He died July 26, 1834, at Columbia, Texas, during an epidemic of cholera.

If he had not been a determined sort of man and if the Indians had not stolen his horses, the chances are very good that Brown county and Brownwood would both be bearing different names than they do today.

ROCKEFELLER'S VIRTUES OUTLIVING HIS FAULTS

The queer contradiction in the life of John D. Rockefeller will probably be giving social historians some bad moments for many generations. If you like to have life wrap up its rights and wrongs in separate packages and hand them out neatly labeled, so that a clear-cut judgment can be pronounced on each act and each life, Mr. Rockefeller's case will be highly unsatisfactory to you. He got his wealth in a way that can not be condemned too strongly. He used it in a way that cannot be praised too emphatically. How is a historian going to strike a balance there?

Until the early 1900's, there is very little in the Rockefeller story that can incline a socially-minded historian to do anything but shake his head sadly. The story of the formation and development of Standard Oil has been told many times. Enough has been printed to reveal it as a jungle battle in which applied acquisitiveness followed its chosen path with utter ruthlessness. In an age when monopoly was riding as a storm cloud on the American horizon, Rockefeller was the king of monopolists. He was hated by the mass of the people as few men have been hated, and the hatred was all the more bitter because it was tinged with deep fear. We do not often realize, at this late date, how greatly the common folk of America were stirred by the rise of the giant corporations in the closing years of the last century. Tremendous pressures were set up by the emergence of our industrial giant people felt that their prized liberties were coming to be at the mercy of the sort of people recently dubbed "economic royalists," and with some justice they looked on Rockefeller as the man who had shown these royalists how to seize power.

But that is only half of the picture. For if this man made people uneasy by showing them that one man can amass more wealth and power than one man can possibly need, he also showed them that great wealth properly used can have enormous social value. The amount of good that the Rockefeller money has done is simply beyond appraisal. The whole world has felt the effects. The best that science can do, supported by all that money can provide, has been put at the service of all mankind. The man who made that possible deserves, surely, some sort of gratitude from the race. So how are you going to strike a balance on that man's career? Its two halves do not jibe. You can't label him with one word or one phrase. Like all the rest of us, he was a mixture of good and bad. We can say, perhaps, that his case reverses the Shakespearean adage—that the good he did lives after him, while the evil looks smaller and smaller with the years.

A RULE OR WAR

The Italian government is going to adopt a new policy in naval construction, according to word from Rome. Heretofore, Italian warships have been designed with speed and armament chiefly in mind. Cruising range has been considered unimportant, because it has been expected that Italian ships would always operate in the Mediterranean, close to their home bases. Now, however, it is announced that the Italian navy is to be made "ocean-going," with long cruising capacity so that it can operate in the Atlantic, if need be, far from Italian shores. This looks as if the Italian navy were to become an offensive weapon pure and simple. But the truth of the matter is that all armaments are inherently offensive, for the simple reason that a nation waging even a purely defensive war must take the offensive at times—as the Confederate States of America did when Lee invaded Pennsylvania. The shift in emphasis in Italian warship design merely recognizes that fundamental strategic fact.

NAZIS NEED GOOD-WILL

The German government would be well-advised if it paid some attention to a warning voiced the other day by Prof. Friedrich Shoemann of the University of Berlin, who feels that the state-controlled press is entirely too free with its blanket criticisms of America. Recalling that the German press goes into a lather of abuse whenever an American says something derogatory to the Nazi government, Professor Shoemann remarked: "I think it is rather foolish and dangerous to indulge in whole criticism and denunciation of American civilization as a whole. We underestimated America once and lost both the World War and the peace that followed as a result." Certainly the German press lately has done little to create good-will toward Germany in America. And good-will abroad happens to be rather important to the German people these days.

STREAMLINED SELLING

A few years ago the railroads began to go back to first principles in merchandizing. Their passenger business was off; they decided to get it back by offering better service at cheaper rates. How this sort of thing is succeeding is shown by a recent report from the Milwaukee road. Its streamlined train, the Hiawatha, has to date carried 350,000 passengers for a gross revenue exceeding $2,600,000. It shows a neat profit, too; some statistician has figured out that every time the Hiawatha passes a mile post—which it does ever minute—it turns in a net gain of $2.49. In other words, it is paying its way and paying handsomely. And it all goes to vindicate one of the oldest principles of business—that better service and lower rates are the best salesmen that ever existed.

"Death Over Miami"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

HERE'S a tale of the high seas, of "Sparky," as the seamen call the radio operator who sits day and night over his set, picking up messages that may mean life or death to some hapless souls.

In this case, thanks to Ray Hutchens of Long Island City, N. Y., it meant life to the victims of a hurricane which had just swept a path of death and destruction over Florida!

Ray tells me the Ward Line passenger ship Siboney, with him on board as chief wireless operator, and a chap named Milton Kitchen as junior, pulled out of Havana, bound for New York, on September 18, 1926. Just before they left the dock at noon, they received a hurricane warning from a station in New Orleans whose call letters were WNU.

Now Ray says such warnings were a dime a dozen, and most of them came to exactly nothing. So when they ran into a gale with moderate sea on passing Morro Castle, they thought little of it. All unsuspecting they turned toward Key West.

Somebody Called the Siboney.

Ray tells us that at 10 p. m. that night he was on watch. Static was bad, the sea was running a bit more heavily, and the wind at gale force threw clusters of spray against the radio-room ports so forcibly it sounded like hail. The passengers, their vacations over, were asleep or preparing for bed, secure in the thought of the trained men in whose hands they had entrusted their welfare. Ray, watching with anxious eyes the rising storm, could think only of the helplessness of even these trained men when Nature goes on a rampage.

Idly running through the 600-meter band, Ray found things dull, with little traffic. At ten-thirty, against a rasping background of static, some fellow called WRN (the Siboney, Ray's vessel) slowly and repeatedly, "Shucks," Ray thought to himself. "This'll be some two-by-four tanker about to ask for a relay."

Unable to send their messages the full distance because of lack of power, the smaller ships occasionally asked help from a ship with better equipment. Ray was certainly justified in jumping to this conclusion, for what else would be sending a signal that was not the clear, musical note of the shore stations, but a weak, straggling sputter, "like someone shaking a bucket of pebbles," as Ray puts it.

But when this puny station signed WAX, which was the shore station at Miami, Florida, Ray was shocked into action! Miami, whose high, clear note always rang with ample volume through the thirty miles of static that separated them. Something was radically wrong, Ray was sure of that. Hurriedly he snapped back a brief "Go ahead." Ray knew the shore station must be able to hear the Siboney much better than Ray could catch the thin signal that trickled in from Miami.

"Ham" Told of Miami Hurricane.

And WAX, Miami, came back with the hottest row of dots and dashes Ray ever had directed toward him in his life! A pitiful appeal for food, clothing and medical supplies for the victims of the Miami hurricane, which had just swept a path of death and destruction across Florida!

There was not a second to be lost! Out there in those waste stretches, battered and swept clean by the fury of a Nature gone mad, were helpless men, women, yes and little children, their homes destroyed, their last link with the world this little ship's radio room, where a horrified man sat over a delicate instrument and relayed the tale of their disaster to the world.

Ray jumped to his feet, ran into their quarters, slapped his junior, Kitchen, on the stomach. For the next twelve hours, while Kitchen stood by and tended the arc and spark transmitters, Ray alternately received from Miami and sent to WSA, in East Moriches, Long Island. A pal of Ray's, Al Kahn, who was on the Orizaba, near Hatteras, helped to keep other ships' signals off the air while Ray was slowly trying to pound through the thousand miles between the Siboney and WSA.

Static Made It Almost Impossible.

You fellow-adventurers who are "hams," as the radio amateurs call themselves, will know what Ray was up against trying to pick up the faint code of WAX with static buzzing, sputtering, crackling, crashing, drowning out the almost inaudible signal that meant aid and succor to thousands of souls. Ray sat there glued to his chair for twelve hours, straining his ears to catch the pitiful appeal, receiving under almost superhuman conditions. "So bad was the static," Ray tells me, "that each dot was a drop of sweat and each dash a moan."

Captain F. L. Miller hove the ship to so as to keep the operators within range of WAX's low-power transmitter. He had been asked to bring his ship into the harbor with food and medicine, but the ship's draft would not allow it even in calm weather.

And all the time Ray was racking his brains wondering how the Miami operators, whose big station was obviously out of whack, were getting even this faint signal through. "Those boys certainly deserve credit," Ray says proudly, "all their towers were down; the roof was blown from their quarters, power and telegraph lines were all out; they were sheltering one hundred men, women and children in the control-room, and even then they rigged up an emergency transmitter, powered with batteries stolen from wrecked cars, to get the first word of the hurricane to the outside world! 'So far as I know,' Ray says, 'it was the first time a land station ever sent an SOS to a ship!'"

I guess we can sympathize with Ray when we imagine the feelings of that operator at WAX, who called the ship so slowly and prayerfully with that pathetic little sending shahang, knowing that the Siboney was due to pass and had continuous watch. Those boys got very little credit in the papers at the time, but Ray will always remember them with pride in his profession.

these happenings of 10 and 15 years ago?
(Taken From the Files of the Haskell Free Press)

June 16, 1927
Everett (Shorty) Horn, formerly a resident of Haskell was killed in Wichita Falls Sunday afternoon, according to advices received here. Horn had made his home here for several years, recently moving to Wichita Falls.

The City Council at their last meeting granted C. O. Moore, wealthy Breckenridge operator, a franchise for the exclusive right to supply Haskell with natural gas for domestic and industrial use. The gas will be taken from the Woodson field in Throckmorton and Stephens counties and in addition to Haskell, Mr. Moore stated that lines would also serve Anson, Stamford and Hamlin. All possible efforts will be made to install lines and begin service to consumers by October 15, the promoter announced.

Tom Samorra, Mexican, was bound over under a $1,000 bond to await action of the Grand Jury on a complaint charging him with assault with intent to murder in connection with the wounding of his wife, Teresa Samorra. The shooting occurred Sunday morning about 4 o'clock at a tent in which the couple were living north of town.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Patterson and little son David left Monday morning via the Wichita Valley railway for a forenight anniversary trip, the couple having been married twenty years this June. They will visit a number of states but will stay longest in Virginia, Washington, D. C. and New York. The following Haskellites have returned from a fishing trip on the Clear Fork of the Brazos: Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Arbuckle and son Carl; Mr. and Mrs. John P. Payne and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Killingsworth and family of Dallas. They were joined at the camp ground by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Killingsworth of Ranger. Lots of fish and a good outing is the report given out.

June 16, 1922
Frank S. Hastings, nationally known cattleman and author, died at his home in Stamford on June 12, 1922.

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the home of R. A. Hays in the northwest part of town early Wednesday morning. The special session of the Grand Jury called by Judge Chapman last week returned thirteen felony indictments, including a murder indictment naming C. Matura of O'Brien, in connection with the death of George Page recently.

Two hundred and forty "frying size" chickens were stolen Sunday night from a poultry farm near Seymour.

The two cotton gins owned by F. T. Sanders of this city will be consolidated and operated under one roof in the future. Workmen have been busy for the past several weeks moving a part of the machinery of the old gin to the new enlarged gin building.

Miss Fannie Post, who has been attending State University in Austin, has arrived to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Post.

Annual election of officers in the A. F. & A. M. Lodge was held Saturday night June 3rd. The following officers were elected: H. R. Jones, W. M.; C. L. Lewis, S. W.; Travis J. Arbuckle, J. W.; Clyde F. Elkins, Treasurer; W. E. Kirkpatrick, secretary; J. P. Payne, S. D.; Wallace H. Cox, J. D.; P. P. Quattlebaum, Tiler.

Lots of people tell us, "Gosh, it must be a hard job to write a newspaper!" Well they're wrong. They're simply all wet. Our big job, getting out a paper, is to gather, edit, set up, print and distribute the news while it is news. It isn't hard to write the news—because real news writes itself! All our reporters have to do is to answer the vital question "Who? What? Where? Why?" Then they let the facts tell their own story.

Now—the text books may not say so, but all that goes for advertising, too! Clothe your advertising message with the fast-moving informative authenticity of a live news-story—and it's our bet that your goods will move quicker! Why? Because readers are hungry for news and every advertiser's story, well told, is news!

TELL 'EM WHO: Make sure the reader sees YOUR name!
TELL 'EM WHAT: Let every reader, every buyer know what your stuff looks like, what color it is, what it's made of—in a word how good it is!

TELL 'EM WHERE: How can a stranger find your store if she doesn't know the address? How can a reader find your merchandise if she doesn't know the department?

TELL 'EM WHEN: If your "special" starts tomorrow tell 'em so and tell 'em how long it will last.

AND FINALLY TELL 'EM WHY: Tell 'em and sell 'em all the reasons why every man and woman ought to own, use and enjoy your merchandise!

As we've mentioned, writing the news isn't hard—when you know how. And our advertising staff does know how. We will help you write your message so that it will be read and understood . . . and acted upon as NEWS!

Plan Is Offered To Aid Tenants

A committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States came out for private financing of farm tenancy aid at Washington Thursday shortly after the Senate Agriculture Committee had approved direct federal outlays in this field.

The chamber committee recommended that loans to help tenants acquire farms be made by local financing institutions, with the Government guaranteeing a liberal percentage of the advances.

Chamber officials said the proposed federal guarantee would be similar to the present government insurance on home mortgages.

Earlier in the day, the Senate Agricultural Committee sent to the Senate floor a bill for federal financing of tenant farm purchases along lines agreeable to President Roosevelt.

Would Receive $10,000,000

Under this measure, a proposed farmers home corporation would receive a $10,000,000 appropriation for the fiscal year beginning July 1, $25,000,000 in the following year and $50,000,000 annually thereafter.

The corporation would retain title to farms sold tenants until full payment had been made.

A different tenancy bill is pending in the House. It would appropriate $50,000,000 annually for five years for long-term loans to selected tenants. Tenant purchasers would obtain title to their farms at once, subject only to mortgages held by the Government.

In its report, the chamber committee said "farm tenancy as an institution is probably only less old than the establishment of property rights in lands, as it is an offshoot of these property rights."

2,149,000 Farm Tenants

The committee said farm tenants numbered 2,149,000 in 1933.

Although asserting this was the largest figure in history, the group added that the percentage of tenants to population advanced only slightly between 1920 and 1933.

The committee said the chamber approved efforts to improve the conditions of tenants "in principle." It recommended a loan system "whereby the Federal Government would guarantee a liberal percentage of the loans to be made by local institutions."

Chamber officials said the local institutions referred to by the committee were banks and similar private financial institutions.

A plea for prompt passage of another farm measure was made to President Roosevelt by M. W. Thatcher, chairman of the Wheat

Major Bowes' Amateurs to Appear at Magnolia Lounge During Pan American Exposition

Magnolia Lounge—Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition, Dallas

Dallas (Special).—The best talent of Major Bowes' amateurs will appear under auspices of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, at the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition which opens June 12. This announcement was made by Fred M. Lege, Jr., vice president in charge of marketing.

The amateurs, to be presented five times daily at the Magnolia Lounge on the exposition grounds, will be selected by Major Bowes personally. Every Thursday night from 7 to 8 o'clock, during the exposition period, Major Bowes will include a Magnolia talent search in with his nation-wide broadcast.

From these programs the best acts are to appear at the Magnolia lounge in the exposition grounds. Wally Sharples will come direct from New York to act as master of ceremonies for the Dallas amateurs of the Major Bowes amateurs. To accommodate the acts scheduled to appear here beginning June 12 when the exposition opens, the Magnolia Lounge has been remodeled to provide an adequate stage, and additional seating capacity. The air-conditioned lounge is located near the Grand Avenue entrance to the grounds.

"The five shows daily will be free and are being offered for the entertainment of exposition visitors," Mr. Lege said. Each unit of four acts will run two weeks; there will be ten entirely different shows during the June 12-October 31 exposition period.

"Magnolia, in cooperation with Major Bowes, is glad to bring outstanding amateur performers direct to Dallas for the entertainment of visitors to the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition," stated Mr. Lege.

Conservation Conference. He urged the President to push the pending crop insurance bill because he said, the time is drawing near by planting Winter wheat in the Southwest.

MOVIES IN SUBWAY

London.—If the suggestion of W. Stancliffe Marsden, London engineer materializes, subway passengers may be entertained by animated cartoons, painted on the walls of the tunnel. The suggestion is that a series of black-and-white cartoons, depicting clear-cut action, be strung along the tunnel walls with blank spaces in between. The light from the trains would be sufficient illumination, he claims.
