Haskell, Texas, April 26, 1937.

To The Haskell Free Press: I am one of those who is not fully convinced that the President's plan to increase the Supreme Court is the best for the purpose which he is striving.

(1) The Court would be over weighted by those appointees of a social and political era which no longer represents the will of the people.

(2) The next President to come and the ones to follow (let's hope we aren't headed for a dictator) could have the same reason for adding new judges in order to have a majority favoring the views of the President.

(3) Article V of the Constitution of the United States says, "The Congress shall propose amendments to this Constitution . . . No where in the Constitution is there provision made with words "must" and "now" do and think just as the crowd enact such and such legislation as the President is saying now.

thus boldly usurping the right of the people to vote on questions as vital as the Supreme Court issue.

(4) Germany has no independent judiciary to which a poor man, rich man, laboring man or other citizen may appeal for his life or his liberty. Russia has no independent judiciary; Italy has no independent judiciary—in each country the Government is supreme master over the individual. Do you think the United States will continue to have liberty and freedom for her citizens if President Roosevelt is put on that body of judges to conform their views to the view of one man? Why can't we live in America like Americans for our patriots were Americans who laid the foundation for the most democratic, freedom giving government in the whole wide world in the forming of the Constitution of the United States in 1787. The average person can read the Constitution as it stands now in 45 minutes. The original document as formulated in the Federal Convention at Philadelphia in the summer of 1787 contains 4543 words. Thus it is a remarkable example of compactness, considering the range and importance of points covered in this framework of government. The 21 amendments contain 2214 words and can be read in 15 minutes. So whose idea is this that we need to import a little fascism, communism, socialism, partyism, fatalism and bunk, mix it together and call it a liberal interpretation of democracy? Subtle propaganda, inspired by fear, groups of vested interest and party whips along with mass hypnotism that sways millions of people to do and think just as the crowd had led this nation to its own destruction. If democracy is to survive and life here lose the unrest and upheaval we find ourselves in it will be because more of us become intelligent, public-spirited, morally courageous, unselfish and free-minded citizens. Christianity need be vitalized and a very old law practiced. Consider this: One day we try doing unto the other fellow exactly as we wish he would do unto us. Others folks try this and still some more—what have you? the road to salvation (salvation) is to live that one simple law. It has long been proclaimed but never really followed. So remaking the Supreme Court won't open the way to the millennium or a Utopia so don't fool yourself there.

(5) Amendment I to the Constitution gives religious freedom. How would it be to have our religion suppressed or persecuted or converted into the instrument to justify obedience to distasteful? Would you like that? We better see that we keep the Supreme Court an independent branch of the government so freedom of religion speech and the press is not taken from us.

(6) Amendment VII give any one who is a citizen—black white persons, yellow or red the right of trial by Jury. The Supreme Court enforces this law even though the state might try to deprive you of a fair court trial. All of us want help when we get in trouble so again the Supreme Court is our best friend.

(7) Amendment XV gives citizens the right to vote regardless of race, color. Suppose one is a Jew living in the United States if it were not for the Supreme Court, he might be treated as the Jews in Germany. It might be the Irishman that the ruling party would get it in for in the United States. Then times would be hard on lots of us!

(8) Amendment XIX, "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied . . . by any state on account of sex." A woman's vote cannot be counted invalid, having paid poll tax. This is upheld by the Supreme Court.

Suppose we go ahead and do away with the independence of

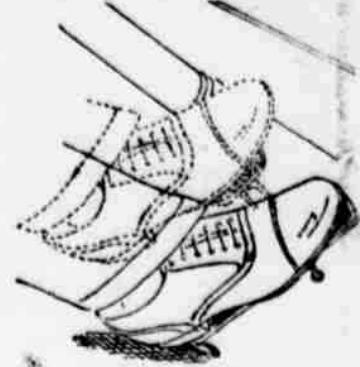

FUN with FACTS

THE FUN

Stand facing your subject, who may be sitting or standing, about two feet away. His feet are together. You have a coin or other small solid object held loosely between your thumb and forefinger, approximately 30 inches above the floor (most tables and desks are 30 inches high). Your subject watches this coin. When, without warning, you drop it, he moves his right foot to intercept the coin so that it will strike his foot instead of the floor. Try several times.

It takes the coin 1/4 of a second to reach the floor. From a height of 48 inches, it will take 1/2 of a second. From a height of 70 inches, it will take 3/4 of a second. Reaction time of 1/4 of a second is very good; 1/2 second is fair; 3/4 of a second is slow.

THE FACTS

You can readily perceive the similarity in movement between intercepting the coin and moving your foot from the accelerator to the brake in an emergency. At 40 miles per hour, you travel 60 feet in 1 second. If your reaction time is 1/4 second, your car will have traveled 30 feet between the time you recognize a dangerous situation and the time you get your foot on the brake. This has nothing to do with stopping the car; the brake action has yet to take place. Four-wheel brakes in good condition may stop your car in an additional 80 feet. Total distance, 110 feet.

At 50 M.P.H., reaction time would consume 88 feet, braking 125; total 213 feet. At 60 M.P.H., reaction time would consume 45 feet, braking 180; total 225 feet.

Note that twice the distance is necessary to stop at 60 M. P. H. as at 40 M.P.H. Now you can see why it pays to be careful at intersections and in congested areas.

the Supreme Court by letting the President get control of it by appointing six new justices. Then the words in our Constitution will henceforth mean whatever any President—good President or bad President, strong President or weak President, intelligent President or stupid President (we have had some of all and shall again) want them to mean. For that body of brilliant justices will no longer have the chance to think independently but will become a tool for the convenience of the President who ever he be.

Do you think Mr. Roosevelt himself would care to take this risk if he were one of us, a private citizen and if John Lewis, for instance were President. Aren't you pretty confident, if this were the case, Mr. Roosevelt would prefer to keep the Supreme Court as it is now? I am sure he would voice his dislike of making a change and exert his influence to prevent a remaking of the court.

"A Constitution ought to be like a beacon, held up to the public eye so as to be understood by every man." These words of Patrick Henry's sum up the crisis of constitutional interpretation connected with President Roosevelt's efforts to revise the Supreme Court.

Lest We Forget

Last Friday the Abilene Morning News carried the news item of the death of Mrs. Dorothy Jane Scroggins of Winters. When reading it my mind began to reflect upon the sacrifices of the Gold Star Mothers during the war, and incidents of late years connected therewith.

It was never by pleasure nor honor to be personally acquainted with this American mother, though due to the fact that I had known two of her boys in school and that for a while I had associated with another, Roy, during the World War, I always felt very tenderly toward her. It is of Roy's service, his death, and the Gold Star Mother's pilgrimage to the Foreign Cemeteries that calls for notes.

It was in August of 1917 that Roy and I were together. Often we talked of where we wished to go. My lot fell to a converted Yacht Roy's to a collier, the Cyclops. The Cyclops went to South American waters, the May to the Bay of Biscay.

The fate of the Cyclops is known to all. That is, all know that it disappeared, where or how is not known to man. At the time there was much speculation as to its fate, but not one bit of evidence was ever adduced to substantiate any theory. The ship with all aboard was lost. Not one word of distress was sent from its radio room, how could it happen? Not one sign of wreckage was ever located. The disappearance of the Cyclops was the baffling mystery of the war. The problem is still unolved, and will ever remain so.

From the fact that Roy died in the service of his country is not enough within itself to distinguish his mother from any other Gold Star Mother. There were thousands of them. The fact that there no mourning for mothers to visit and offer their prayers over the bodies of their heroic sons is what makes the mothers of the crew of the Cyclops a separate body of Gold Star Mothers. That is what makes me feel so tenderly towards the mothers.

The gratitude of our government towards the Gold Star Mothers has been gracious. It organized and paid for the pilgrimage of those mothers to visit the grave of their sons in Foreign lands While the Government was doing this, in every instance of seeing news items concerning the pilgrimage, my heart melted in thought; of Roy's mothers and the mothers of his shipmates. There were no graves for them to visit. Those mothers could be offered no such generosity. All any human knows is that their bodies are safely secured in Davy's locker, where, no one knows. I often wonder how those mothers felt when their more fortunate acquaintances received invitations to the foreign pilgrimages. Through the tragedy that brought lasting grief to her heart there was one consoling thought site cherished, those who knew and loved Roy best, honored his heroic name in christening the name of the American Legion post at Winters as the Roy Scroggins Post. Gone is she, our mother, the mother of all true veterans, may her memory be cherished by all loyal Americans until the end. That she and Roy are now united in that World that knows no heartaches is my prayer.—A World War Veteran.

JOB 20 YEARS OLD

Lead, S. Dak.—It was a disappointed pair of men who drove all night from Pierre to answer an advertisement which they read in a local paper. Advised that there were no jobs, the men looked closer at the advertisement and found that the item was included under the "Twenty Years Ago Today" column.

HARD TO SWALLOW

Schaerding, Austria—A novel way to get his sweetheart to say

yes was tried by a young farm hand, who swallowed something every time she said "No." When operated upon, a surgeon found sixty six pieces of metal in the patient's stomach, including nine hairpins, even nails, two screws and a pocket knife.

DOG'S TRICK FATAL

New York—Patrick Conroy, a policeman, trained his German shepherd dog, Paddy, to attack anyone drawing a gun. Returning home from duty, Conroy removed ed his pistol from its holster, preparatory to putting it away in a drawer. Paddy, upon seeing the weapon, leaped upon his master, causing the pistol to go off, fatal ly wounding his master. Officers, fearing that the trick Paddy had learned might make him a dangerous pet, shot and killed the dog.

Rochester

A fine rain fell here Monday and Tuesday, and planting of feed and cotton will soon be the order of the day. Garden stuff and flowers will soon be in full growth, and we are surprised to learn that a good crop of fruit remains on the trees, despite the late freeze around Easter. Mrs. Sallie Fields received a telegram Tuesday informing her of the death of her sister, Mrs. Walter Wilon at Clarendon. Mrs. Fields was unable to attend funeral services because of the heavy rainstorm. Paul Fields and little son, Joe Paul, Jr., of Abilene visited their mother, Mrs. Sallie Fields, Thursday. Mrs. Henry Burleson and daughters, Mrs. Shelby Worley and Mrs. Millard Wyatt attended the funeral of Mrs. Burleson's father, Mr. John Taylor at Anson Wednesday. Deceased was an early settler of Taylor county. Martin Kress, student in A. C. C., Abilene, was a guest in the home of C. G. Hudson Sunday. We are enjoying the semi-weekly Free Press a lot and are wondering just when it will be a daily. Not too long, I'm sure! J. S. Abernathy of O'Brien visited his son, Clifford and family here Sunday. R. A. Shaver, Jr., and Freddie Hicks attended a Ginner's Convention at Dallas last week. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Corley last week, a fine 10-pound baby boy. Mother and babe are doing nicely. Rev. J. L. Ponder carried his little son to Dallas last week where he will undergo treatment. Mrs. Frank Moore of Stamford is visiting relatives here this week. Bob Speck visited relatives and friends at Lameza last week. Mrs. Bob Speck and little son, Wayne, are visiting her parents at Monahans, Rev. and Mrs. L. F. Frazier.

Leaders Urge More Horses and Mules

Stockmen and farmers of Texas, after careful study, have learned that Texas will have to breed and produce the horses and mules needed on Texas farms. So the leaders in this important industry have organized the Texas Horse, Jack and Mule Breeders' Association and are determined to restore the horse and mule industry from its present alarming condition. Three principal speakers at a big meeting in Fort Worth are, left to right, John W. Carpenter, Dallas; C. W. Green, Sedalia, Mo., and B. A. Skipper, Jr., of Encino. Skipper is president and Carpenter vice president of the association. Carpenter said: "I have imported 200 jacks into Texas during the past four years and the demand continues. But there are no more where these came from. If we are to supply the demand, we must breed them here in Texas. As I see things now, there will continue to be a shortage of mules for at least 10 years." Carpenter, who was born and raised on a Navarro county farm, operates a big stock ranch in Dallas county as well as farms in other parts of the state.

day and played game. The high school teams of boys and girls were both defeated, but the O'Brien junior boys defeated the local school boys. Misses Olga Brothers and Bernadine Carlisle are convalescing from the mumps. Preparations are being made to take care of a large crowd that is expected at the ball tournament May first. A large number of the best teams in this section have already signified their intentions of coming and taking part in the contest. James Carver was absent from school Thursday with illness. Sam Reid is putting down a well to irrigate from this year. We are glad that this is being done as there is considerable area of shallow water in this section and tests will indicate the merits of this irrigation system. In some sections the water is as near the surface as 8 or 10 feet and there are hundreds of acres not more than 25 feet to water. There are three irrigation projects now in the making and we will soon know the results of the experiments. Mitchell school will close May 14.

Latin American Nations Preparing Exhibits for Fair

Fourteen Latin American republics and one American province have been allotted exhibit space in the Pan American Palace, at the Pan American Exposition, which will be held in Dallas June 12 through October 31. Venezuela, the last of the nations to announce participation, accepted space Wednesday, April 21, and Frederic D. Grab, attache, department of commerce, cabled from Caracas that his country will bring a display of mineral and agricultural products to 1937's international fair.

Participating nations with announced programs are: Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, Uruguay, Venezuela, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador and Cuba. Porto Rico is Uncle Sam's province that has joined with the Latin American nations in Exposition representation.

Brazil announces an extensive exhibit of natural resources and a coffee plantation. Columbia's exhibit will include cacao trees and natural resources. Mexico will bring an exhibit, natural resources, industrial and a historical exhibit from its post office department.

Cuba's display will include sugar and tobacco and a similar exhibit will be offered by Porto Rico. The other participating nations will bring archaeological collections and representations of natural resources. Peru will present a very famous archaeological collection.

Through the Middle American Research department of Tulane University, New Orleans, its famous archaeological, ethnological, Colonial and Liberation collection will be presented in the Texas Hall of State. This exhibit deals with ancient Yucatan and the periods of early Spanish settlement in Mexico and Central America.

More than $200,000 worth of exhibit space has been absorbed by industrial and commercial enterprises of the United States. Latin American transportation companies and industrialists have reserved practically 100,000 square feet. Many exhibitors are now preparing their space to move in their exhibits to be ready for opening day June 12.

"Your complexion looks marvelous! Have you had Miss Glenn's grand facial?"

Passing around the bridge table humming through club meetings, and even heard as women pass on the street, the e questions indicate the interest smart women feel in the visit of Miss Auline Glenn who is in Haskell this week.

She comes through the courtesy of Payne Drug Co., the Rexall Drug Store, and Langlois, prominent authority on beauty and charm. Miss Glenn is an expert in the art of teaching the latest methods of cultivating loveliness right in one's own home.

Miss Glenn is so sincerely interested in her work that it is a delight to hear her talk about it. She says, "Of course I believe that every woman can be better looking! Modern beauty is three-fourths good grooming, and any woman can give herself the care she needs to attain this important three-fourths of beauty."

"That is what I am here for . . . to help the keen modern women of Haskell realize their own ideals of loveliness."

"For some of you, this may mean just a matter of the correct lip tick or rouge needed to flatter your type. For others it may mean correction of some skin imperfection."

"Whatever beauty help you need or desire, I want to give you. In the 45 minute consultation period you can relax under my restful, professional facial and talk things over woman to woman."

"You will have an opportunity of trying out, as you've often wished you could, an assortment of make up tints so that you can be sure of having the individualized make up that will minimize imperfections of feature or complexion and accent every good point."

Wind May Erode Soils Without "Dust Storms"

Wind erosion doesn't always mean a spectacular dust storm. Some of the most destructive wind erosion in the country from the standpoint of soil loss occurs without a trace of dust, according to the Soil Conservation Service. At the Cottonwood Experiment Station in South Dakota there has been no spectacular soil drifting at any one time. Yet recently when it was necessary to refer to the permanent concrete markers on the farm, they were found buried under a layer of topsoil from 6 to 20 inches deep—practically all moved by wind.

"Soil erosion by the wind is often an insidious process," says Dr. A. N. Hume, agronomist at South Dakota State College for the past 25 years. "It may sneak in and destroy our soils before we know it. That is one reason why the agronomy department is cooperating with the Soil Conservation Service in making grass tests on the experiment stations."

SARAH ANN'S COOKING CLASS

Most of us know our cooking has gotten in a rut, but we soothe our conscience by thinking that experiments are costly, take too much time and the family probably wouldn't like it anyway. So we keep right on scrambling eggs, frying steak and baking puddings. A simple, yet different menu, perfectly prepared and charmingly served, will take the monotony out of cooking and will make the family feel proud of its house-keeper.

Chipped Beef and Olive Omelet
Use one egg for each person served, and one tablespoon of hot water for each egg. Separate yolks and whites. Season the yolks with salt and with either pepper or nutmeg, according to taste; add water and beat well. Beat the whites until stiff and fold in the yolks. Pour gently into a well greased pan and cook slowly until the underside is a delicate brown, then place the pan in the oven, keeping the temperature between 325 degrees and 350 degrees. When the omelet responds to the touch it is done. Make 2 cut part of the way down into the omelet at right angles to the handle of the pan, dividing it about in thirds. Then tip the pan, slide a spatula under the omelet and fold it over as you slip it out of the pan onto a platter.

Tear chipped beef into small pieces, heat thoroughly in milk; use a double boiler and strain. Spread the beef between omelet folds and dot the beef generously with thin slices of stuffed olives.

Meat Rolls

Sift 2 cups of flour into a large bowl, with 3 teaspoons of baking powder and 1 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cut in 1/2 cup of shortening until the mixture is full of lumps about the size of small marbles. Add enough milk to make a light dough, that can be rolled very lightly on a board. Roll to 1/4 inch thickness and cut rounds of 2 inches in diameter. In the center of each round put a heaping teaspoon of meat filling. Fold rounds in half, pinching the edges together, place folded edge down in a greased baking sheet. Brush the rolls with egg yolk and little water beaten together. Bake in an oven 450 to 475 degrees about 10 minutes.

Meat Filling

Put through the meat grinder 1 1/2 lb. of cooked beef, chicken liver, or ham—or a mixture of these—with 1 bay leaf, 1 small chopped onion, a teaspoon of parsley and a teaspoon of chopped cucumber pickle, with salt and pepper to taste. Brown this mixture in a little fat and blend with enough sour cream to make a paste. One heaping teaspoon of this peppery filling is enough for each roll.

Browned Rice

Cut 6 slices of bacon into narrow pieces, put into a skillet with 2 chopped onions and cook until the onions are tender and well browned; add 1/2 cup of chopped boiled ham, 1/2 cup of grated cheese, 1/2 cup of diced chicken or veal, and 2 cups of cooked rice. Mix together lightly and turn into a hot greased omelet pan. Heat and brown carefully on both sides over low heat. Turn out upon a platter. Serve with creamed carrots and peas.

Egg Plant Balls

Scoop out the inside of an egg plant that has been steamed or boiled without peeling. Mash the pulp. Measure and add half as much soft bread crumbs and half as much cooked meat. Season with 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1 tablespoon of onion juice. Bind with 1 or 2 beaten eggs, form into balls, roll in fine crumbs, then in slightly beaten egg, then again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat.

Beet Ring Mold

4 lbs. beet greens.
8 small white onions.
2 teaspoons salt.
Pepper.
4 tablespoons fat.
One 1 3/4 lb. canned tongue.
2 tablespoons chopped pimento.

Prepare and cook the beet greens and onions separately until tender. Drain well, then add salt, pepper and fat to the beet greens, with additional seasoning if necessary. Arrange the hot greens in a buttered ring mold, packing them down well. Unmold on a hot platter and fill the center with the tongue which has been diced and mixed with the

Sunday School Lesson

HENRY-LESSON RADCLIFFE
THE OBEDIENCE OF NOAH
Golden Text: "By faith Noah, being warned of God concerning things not seen as yet, moved with godly fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house."—Hebrews 11:7.
Lesson Text: Genesis 5:28-9:28.

The text upon which this lesson is based is familiar to everyone who has any knowledge whatever of the Bible. From our childhood on we have heard and read of Noah and his ark. Sometimes we are apt to question in our minds as to whether or not this story is fiction or if it really is based upon actual happenings.

Excavations made in recent years by expeditions sent out from various sources reveal that at some time many years ago there was a disastrous flood in the Euphrates Valley. Whether it submerged the world, we do not know, although there are evidences in widely separated places of such a happening. The excavations show an eight foot deposit of silt, far below the surface of the present valley, which archaeologists agree must have been left by a great depth of water. This clay bank, according to one excavator, marks a definite break in the continuity of local culture, destroying a former civilization.

In the larger lesson, beginning with Genesis 5:28 we have an explanation of the reasons which caused God to send such a disaster upon the world. Sin and wickedness was prevalent, so much so that the earth was described as "corrupt" before God. So tall, so wicked had the human race become that God who then, as now, was aware of what was going on in the world, decided that nothing short of total destruction could keep the small remnant of the faithful and godly from total extinction.

In the midst of this evil environment there was one man who kept faithful to God, living a righteous and unspotted life. This man was Noah, who, according to the text, "walked with God." His walking with God naturally causes us to assume that God knew him and wanted to preserve him from the fate which was soon to befall the rest of the world. Therefore, he "warned" Noah to prepare an ark in which he and his family were to live during the deluge. Into the ark, he was to bring two of every sort of living things—cattle, creeping things and fowls of all kind—"to keep them alive." He was also commanded to stock the ark with food enough for his family and for the animals.

"By faith" Noah obeyed the command of God and began to build the ark according to the minute instructions given him. Although ridiculed by those who knew him, he kept at his task and finally completed it. When it was finished, God again spoke to him, inviting him, his family and all who would enter into the ark and be saved. It is significant to note that it was not until after the ark was finished that Noah was told the purpose it was to serve. He obeyed implicitly, acting on faith.

Our lesson does not go into the details of the flood, which may be found in Genesis 7:1 to 8:12. However, God cared for Noah and his family during the flood and brought the ark to rest on Mount Ararat. When it was possible for Noah to leave the ark, the first thing he did was to build an altar and offer a burnt sacrifice to God, thanking him for his care. This act of Noah's was pleasing to God and, as a result, God made a covenant with him that he would not again destroy the earth. In this covenant, there are six particulars: (1) there would be no more curse; (2) the order of nature is reestablished; (3) the command to multiply is reiterated; (4) man is given supremacy over the animals; (5) flesh which has blood is not to be used as food; and, (6) the law of civil government.

As a reminder and guarantee that God would keep his covenant with Noah and his descendants, God gave a token—the rainbow.—And, "it shall come to pass, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow shall be seen in the cloud. And I will remember my covenant, which is between me and you and every living creature of all flesh; and the water shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh. And the bow shall be in the cloud; and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh that is upon the earth."

Through obedience, by faith Noah not only saved himself but he was instrumental in saving the human race. He obeyed to the letter, not doubting but accepting the commands of God as final. Were we close enough to God to receive his commands, would we as implicitly and unquestioningly obey as did Noah? Our trouble is not that we do not know what to do, our failure lies in the fact that we are unwilling to obey, perhaps because it does not suit our convenience to obey or because the task seems too hard or too unpleasant.
"What is the highest reason for obeying a command?" asks one writer? It is not the need of perfect discipline, still less is it the fear of punishment. It is the love and respect and trust which the giver of the command inspires. If we love and reverence and trust God, we shall wish to obey him.
