Top national honors recognize college's Psi Zeta PTK group

By Marci Regalado Texan Staffer

WTC's Phi Theta Kappa chapter and one of its students were singled out for the highest awards given at the national level April 15-17 in Dallas at PTK's 75th Anniversary International Convention.

Winning the 1993 Bierkoe Distinguished Member Award was regional vice-president Anita Brown.

Out of the approximate 1 million PTK chapter members nationwide, only 25 Bierkoe Awards are given to students throughout the organization annually.

"In effect, this says Anita is among the Top 25 PTK chapter members in the entire U.S.," noted PTK sponsor Mary Hood.

Brown was singled out also at the regional PTK convention, winning "most outstanding" member honors for the Texas-New Mexico region.

The campus chapter received also a 1993 Leadership Hallmark Award, an honor given to only five chapters nation-

"This is among the highest national honors we've ever won," Mrs. Hood said.

Contributing entries to the Hallmark Award contest were Fred Sawtelle with a poem and short story; Brown with a poem, art piece and essay; Ginger Alexander with a drawing; Naomi Gutierrez with a pin; Van Scott with a collage; Debra Burke with a photograph; and Naomi and Norma Gutierrez with yearbook work.

The region which WTC's Psi Zeta chapr belongs to was also honored with a 1993 Distinguished Region Award, one of only three given out of the 27 PTK regions in the U.S.

Students Naomi Gutierrez, Norma Gutierrez, Debra Burke, Bryan Mauldin, Greg Combs, Jake Carriker, Sharon Bigham, Wes Hardin, Eddie Onofre, Jeff Corkran, Anita Brown and Van Scott attended the international convention.

Some things different in 'maximum security'

By Rachel Pena

Texan Staffer WTC instructors have grown accustomed to teaching at the "minimum security" Price Daniel Unit here, but only one local faculty member has to date experienced the "maximum security" unit outside Abilene. WTC business instructor Bill Halbert began instructing business courses at the French Robertson Unit in Abilene last semester and the Price Daniel

Unit in Snyder in 1989. Due to the varying levels of security between the two units, different procedures must be followed, he noted, resulting in contrasting environments and teaching atmospheres. The most distinct difference he noted is the rigid environment and surroundings at the maximum security French Robertson Unit. Its con-See PRISON, page 4

Awards Day set tomorrow...

The annual Awards Day ceremony sponsored by the WTC Faculty Association is Tuesday in the Fine Arts Theater. It will begin at10:30 a.m., with a reception following in the Scurry County Museum lobby.

In order to allow students to attend the ceremony, class times will be adjusted that day as follows: 8 a.m. classes will meet from 8-9:05 a.m.; 9:30 classes from 9:15-10:20 a.m.; and the 11:30 a.m. classes from noon until 1:05 p.m.

Highlight of the event is the traditional naming of the Outstanding Male and Female student, indicating the

In a change this year, the association altered the requirements for nomination as the Outstanding Male and Female student.

In the past, nominees were required to be full-time students-12 or more hours—during the spring semester before graduation. With the change, this requirement is waived if the students maintained full-time status for three previous "long" semesters (fall or spring).

The Outstanding Male and Female Student Award is an academic award honoring sophomore students for their specific achievements. The students must

-Attained sophomore class standing and completed three long semesters as a full-time student. -Maintained a 3.75 GPA.

-Completed their freshman year at Western Texas College.

-Been involved in campus and/or community activities and/or organizations. Students are nominated by instructors and then submitted to the Award's Day committee. The committee consists of chairman

Faculty, look out...

Here comes the hat

By Lynn Moseley Texan Staffer

A tradition among faculty members on the WTC campus is one that began nine years ago with the advent of faculty members turning 50 years old.

Upon turning 50, individuals are given a "used" cowboy hat which they must keep until it can be passed to another member of the WTC faculty.

The hat first surfaced in Langtree, Tx. when Jerry Baird, now coordinator for the seniors citizens center, received it as a joke on his 50th birthday.

It was Baird who gave the hat to Ray

Robbins, criminal justice instructor, when he turned 50. With this exchange of the hat between Baird and Robbins, the tradition of passing the hat on to WTC faculty members began.

Since then, at least six other faculty members have been recipients. In 1990, science instructor Mike Otto received the hat. Otto displayed the hat on his desk, but says "It's so awful looking that people want to pass it on to get rid of it."

English instructor Dick Lancaster received the hat from Otto in 1991. Lancaster laid the hat on his filing cabi-

Personal involvement is key first step...

It is really rather a morbid thought to think that trees are what have made mankind's existence possible for thousands of years, yet we choose to destroy these great entities by slaughtering the rain forests for a profit. Very sad. I would also like to implement an accessible and easy recycling program. The main reason most people don't recycle is because it's too much of a hassle. Everyone has to eat, therefore everyone has to shop for groceries. Each grocery store in town needs to set up bins: one for paper bags, one for plastic bags, one for hard plastics, one for aluminum and one for newspapers. Then offer, to their customers who recycle, a 1 percent discount or rebate on their total grocery bill. Another fact is people love money. If a program could be offered that is simple, easy and offered tangible rewards, I feel people would grab on and start recycling.

Something has to be done. Only so much garbage can be dumped into the Earth before the Earth regurgitates it. These ideas are small. But they could make a world of difference in a society whose world will be different if things don't change.

Stereo MC's- "Connected"

"If you make sure you're connected..." you'll get this album. The coolness of this album is in the way it takes several music standards--rap, hip-hop, and plain ol' rock'n'roll--and puts 'em together in a salad fit for a king. Most well-known for their 1991 groove "Elevate My Mind" from the "Supernatural" album with its opening "I wanna go higher," they succeed in surpassing all of their previous efforts with "Connected," the album and the song. The slow deep groove and the ultra-fresh beat of "Connected" are complemented perfectly by Rob's lyrical, cosmospheric imagery. The track just gets better with every listen. The MC's have always had a sort of retro/modern style because of a lot of the samples they use. This album, though, moves faster in bringing in every listener. It's like nothing else out there, but it's definitely got an attitude. (The crew will be in Dallas on May 2 with Jesus Jones for anyone who desires such information.)

The event attracted approximately 3,000 members from across the nation as well as from Canada and Germany.

Brown and Onofre were flagbearers in a presentation of the state flags.

Some WTC alumi were present at the convention also. Pam Holland and Cameron Hopson were both present as well as Dave Appleton, a WTC alumni who was the 1988 World Champion Cowboy.

Appleton was recognized for his charity work for the Cowboy Crisis Fund organization.

Also as part of the entertainment. PTK members had the opportunity to watch conservative Phyllis Schafly in debate with Sarah Weddington, a liberal lawyer who argued Roe v. Wade before the Supreme Court.

The academic honor society for junior college students held last year's convention in Washinton, D.C. and next year's convention will be hosted in Annaheim, Calif.

The next recipient of the hat is to be Gerald Corkran, head of the reading department, who turns 50 this coming May.

Each of the recipients of the hat laugh at its mention and are quick to point out that it is "unusual" looking. Each also says the only way to get rid of it is to wait until one of their colleagues reaches the age of 50.

Men are likely to repeat at national finals rodeo

Latest win is before home crowd...

By Toni Evans Texan Staffer

With two rodeos to go, Rodeo Coach Bob Doty seems assured his men's team will return to the national finals for the 12th time in 13 years.

"It looks real good for the guys. I'm not gonna say positively, absolutely, but it would be quite an upset if we didn't qualify now,' said Doty.

The national finals will be held in Bozeman, Mont. June 14-20. In recognition of his team's present and past performances, Doty was presented a handmade saddle Sunday by his colleagues, students and friends.

Both the men's and women's teams were to compete this past weekend at Hardin Simmons and will compete this coming weekend at Tarleton State University to finish the regular season.

The men's team performances to date have helped them continue a first place ranking in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association's Southwest Region, winning three of the four rodeos they competed in during the fall and all but one of the spring rodeos to date.

This spring, the men won rodeo competitions staged at Howard College, Odessa College and finished second in the West Texas State University Rodeo.

On April 15-17, the men came up winners at their own hometown rodeo, staged in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The Westerners won the local show with a season-high 445 points, with 240 being scored in the bareback event.

Eric Mouton won the bareback event with a first ride 75. and a second ride 74 for a 149 total.

Troy Thomson finished second with rides of 75 and 67 for a 142 total, and Travis Whiteside and 72 for a 132 total.

Jason Runfola won saddle bronc competition with a 75 and a 72 for a 147 total. Also, Fletcher Tigner finished second with rides of 76 and 67 for a 143 total and Thad Little finished third with rides of 67 and 75 for a 142 total. Trey Griffin finished fifth in bull riding with rides of 61 and 68 for a 129 total. Guy Smith finished fifth in calfroping with a combined 20.6.

The women's team tied for second with West Texas State University at the WTC Rodeo. The women were 10 points behind Odessa College's 140 win.

Shawna Davidson paced the women's team by winning All-Around Cowgirl honors. She placed eighth in barrels and third in breakaway roping.

Leslie Greer finished first in barrels with a combined 28.96.

Dusti Beaton finished third in goat tying with an 8.2 and an 8.7 for a 16.9 total.

In earlier competition April 8-10, the men's rodeo team broke a streak of five straight wins by placing second at the West Texas State University Rodeo.

Troy Thomson paced the team with his 75 and 68 rides to win the bareback competition. Travis Whiteside placed second with rides of 67 and 71.

Trey Griffin tied ENMU's Justin Washburn for second place in bull riding with scores of 138.

Thad Little took fourth in saddle bronc riding with total scores of 119.

Vernon Regional Junior College won the rodeo.

The women's team finished fourth with 45 points. Tarleton State University's 195 effort finished first.

Shawna Davidson paced the women's team with her second place finish in breakaway roping. Shawna had times of 3.9 and 4.4 for an 8.3 total.

Shawna also placed fourth in the barrel race with a two-run time of 38.26. Jonell Cardwell finished fifth with a 38.28 total and Dusti Beaton finished eighth in goat tying with two 10.4 runs.
