

Students to be polled Tuesday on mascot choices

By Lynn Moseley
Texan Staffer

A poll to determine student preferences for the WTC mascot will be conducted this Tuesday before Thanksgiving break, according to Student Activity Director Mickey Baird.

The poll is expected to center around two basic questions: should WTC keep both of its current mascots—"Westerners" and "Dusters"—or should only one mascot be adopted.

Once this decision is made, the question of what the mascot should look like will have to be determined.

Members of the Mascot Committee include Rebecca Massie, Neally Hernandez, Benji Felan and Ginger

Alexander. These individuals are working in conjunction with the Student Senate Executive Committee, consisting of Debra Burke, Hernandez, Shawna Davidson and Stephanie Matlock.

The committee was formed to gather information from the student body regarding its preference about the mascot. This information will be presented to the WTC Board of Trustees.

The current effort to revamp WTC's college mascot was prompted by a suggestion from board trustee Carolyn Barbee.

At a board meeting in October, Barbee said she feels that there is not enough spirit geared toward WTC athletic organizations and that a mascot—which would appear at WTC athletic contests—would boost this.

Barbee previously stated that she believes that a mascot would draw attention to the college.

She also feels that there is a need to concentrate on recruiting area youth to lend additional community support toward the college.

Christmas events Tuesday will feature Yuletide voices singing, 'Bells Ringing'

By Julie Miller
Texan Staffer

Christmas festivities will begin Tuesday night at 7 p.m. in the WTC Central Courtyard.

Everyone is invited to join the WTC Community Chorale and Handbell Choir as they perform Christmas carols during the annual Tree Lighting Ceremony.

There will be a sing-a-long featuring songs such as "O Tannenbaum" and "Deck the Halls." These will be accompanied by the Handbell Choir.

Immediately following the ceremony will be the annual WTC Christmas Concert in the Fine Arts Theatre. Its theme this year is "Christmas Bells A Ringing."

The Community Chorale and Handbell Choir will also be featured at this event along with individual musicians. The music will include sacred and secular Christmas selections.

The Community Chorale will perform:

—"A Christmas Cradle Song."

—"Mary Mary," featuring flutists Andrea Garner, Diane Flippo and guitarist Jon Palomaki.

—"Go Tell it on the Mountain," featuring soloist Susan Smith.

—"Nun danket alle Gott," by J.S. Bach, featuring guitarists Robert Ballard, Shane Heffernan, Dylan Moore and Ruben Moreno.

—"Cradle Song," featuring Jon Palomaki on guitar.

—"God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," featuring guitarists Shane Heffernan and Jon Palomaki.

—"What Child is This," featuring guitarists Jon Palomaki and Robert Ballard.

—"Silent Night," featuring a guitar duet by Dylan Moore and Jon Palomaki.

—"Jingle Bell Rock."

—"I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day."

—"White Christmas."

Palomaki directs the chorale and piano accompaniment is by Doug Fishel. Members of the Community Chorale are Jennifer Beard, Paula Bowden, Rebecca Coffman, Lloyd Cummings, Marci Dennis, Doyle Gilliland, Laura

Founder's honor to Endy

By John Campos
Texan Staffer

Michael Endy, drama instructor at WTC, was honored for service to the students at the annual Phi Theta Kappa Founder's Day reception last Thursday in the Student Center.

The event honors the founding of PTK in 1918 at Stephens College in Missouri. The WTC PTK Chapter, in conjunction with the Student Senate, uses the date to honor an employee of WTC for their outstanding service.

The name of the individual was kept a secret until the announcement last Thursday. Endy was honored with a reception and his name is to be placed on a plaque displayed in the trophy case in the Student Center.

Winners of the Founder's Day honor are nominated and voted on by members of PTK and the Student Senate.

Endy is in his second year at WTC. He has been involved with the Lubbock Repertory Company since 1990, as a director and most recently as an actor in the fall production of "Dracula."

He earned his bachelor of fine arts degree in theater in 1983 from Pennsylvania State University. He received a Simeon and Elizabeth Gule

Pool adds new chair-lift for disabled

By Neally Hernandez
Texan Staffer

A new addition has been added in the college swimming pool, an automatic chair-lift for the handicapped.

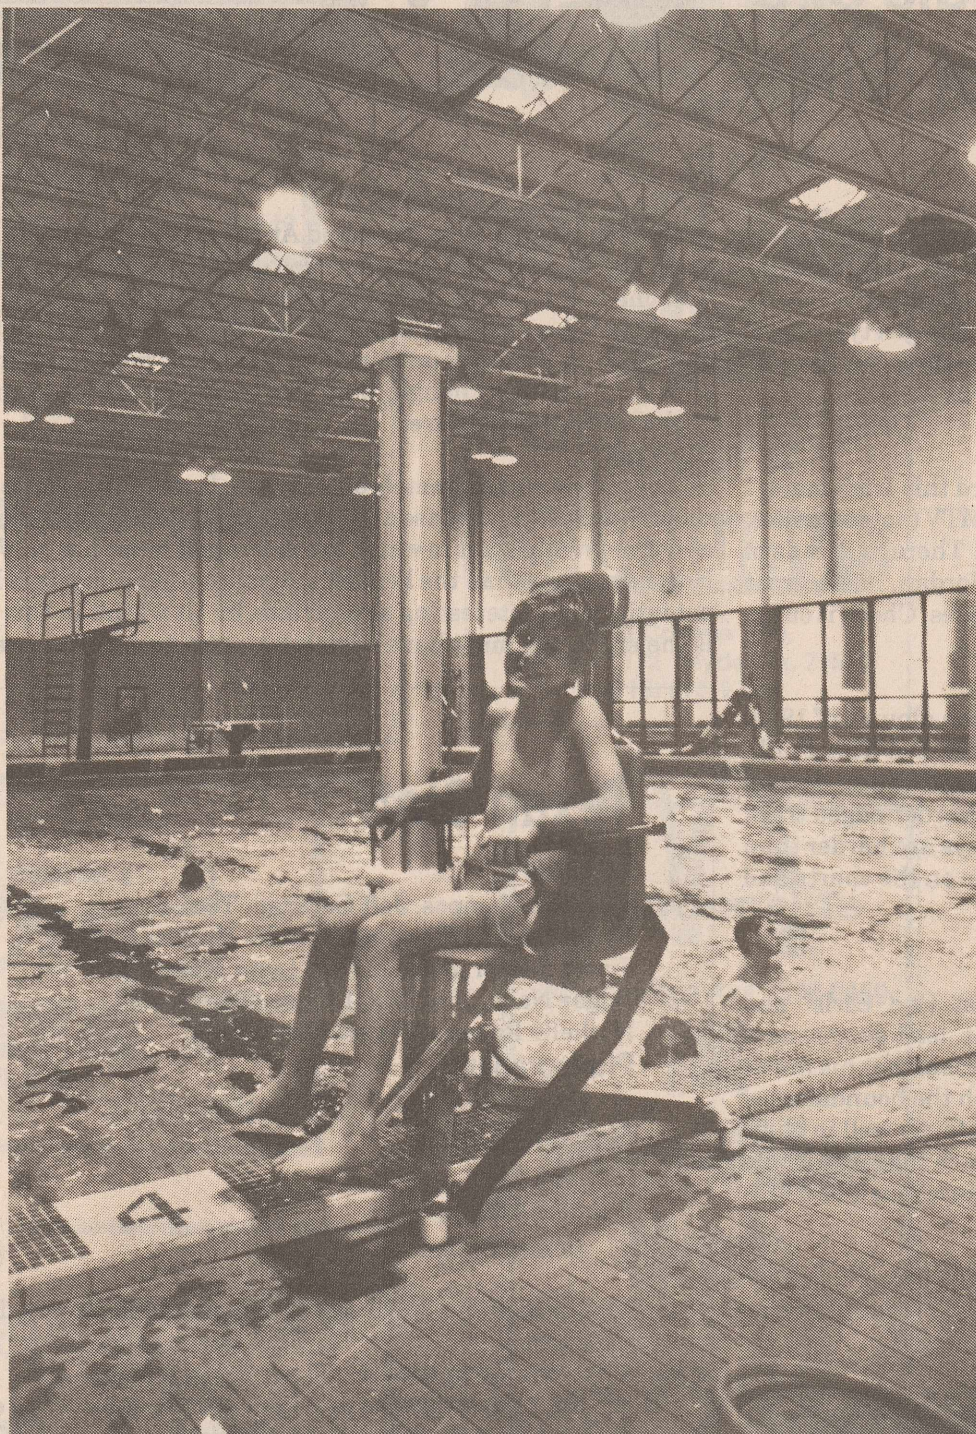

The chair-lift is raised and lowered by water hose pressure. It can easily be removed or placed in the pool. When needed, it is hooked to the side of the pool and then the person is lowered into the water.

Currently, it is primarily used by the students attending Snyder ISD's Humble-Smith School, a special education group which includes handicapped members. These individuals come to the pool every Monday and Wednesday mornings. Humble-Smith also shared the cost of the chair-lift with WTC, which was $3,000.

According to Mike Harrison, assistant professor for physical education, "the pool had been difficult to use because handicapped persons had to get out of their wheelchair and be assisted in." He noted the Humble-Smith officials are very pleased with the addition.

The chair-lift also contains a backboard, which could be useful in case of a swimming accident. The chair-lift and backboard could be used to support and raise an injured person, adding both speed and a lower risk of further injury.

One reason to install the chair-lift was new government regulations included in the American Disabilities Act (ADA). The lift also "opens up possibilities for more people to use the pool," Harrison added.

Museum Christmas event has Mexican Fiesta theme

By Toni Evans
Texan Staffer

You better watch out because Santa Claus is coming soon to the Scurry County Museum for the annual Christmas Happening on Sunday, Dec. 5.

The museum will carry the Fiesta Christmas theme again this year.

"I started it (the theme) last year to celebrate our Mexican heritage," said Shirley Leftwich, museum director. "We decided to carry it again this year because it was so popular and everyone seemed to enjoy it. Last year we had approximately 400 people attend."

The celebration will include individuals and businesses from the community selling items in booths set up like a Mexican market place.

Craft tables and games will be set up, costing a dime or a quarter so the children can sit and make their crafts. Games and crafts will include pin the nose on the reindeer, decorating pine comb ornaments for the Christmas tree and making miniature pinatas. A pinata breaking will take place outside the museum at 3 p.m.

Santa arrives at 1:30 p.m. in Santa Lane. Santa Lane is a sleigh set up in the back of the museum for Santa with snow surrounding it.

Holiday photos will be taken throughout the day.

The museum will have two Christmas trees set up and decorated. One of the trees will be traditional, while the other will have Mexican ornaments.

The museum staff will decorate with streamers hanging from the ceiling, displays of Mexican-style clothes and pepper lights across the counter.

According to Leftwich, an annual Christmas dinner will be held for members only who will be able to see the decorations then.

Refreshments will be served, and there will be food booths throughout the museum.

The events begin at 1 p.m. and the general public is invited with admission being free.

Gallery gains new art show

By Lisa Nix
Texan Staffer

Sculptures by artist Martie Geiger-Ho, currently a graduate art student at Texas Tech University, are on display in the Fine Arts Building. The exhibition, "The Labyrinth of Fire," will remain on campus through Dec. 3.

The artist's work includes different types of ceramic masks, sculptures referred to as "Beasts" and small clay creations called "kiln gods."

The Beast sculptures reflect the emotional tug-of-war between the conscious and subconscious minds of their human counterparts, notes the artist in information provided with the show.

Some of the Beasts are coupled with masks which represent the symbolic divisions between the rational self and the deeper, more intuitive subconscious or animal self.

The kiln gods, not to be confused with Beasts, are clay figures made by potters and placed on the roofs of kilns to insure successful firings.

Geiger-Ho says she believes that the "Kiln Priestess" is her alter ego. "She" is Mascot must be resolved--Westerner or Duster, skinny or 'fluffy'...

By Neally Hernandez
Texan Staffer

The way I see the mascot issue, there are two things we, as the students, have to decide. What do we do about the Duster/Western issue and what will the symbol of the mascot be?

I have been approached by numerous people wanting to know what the progress is and asking who is actually deciding the real issue. Is it decided by the senate, students or faculty? They want to know the progress partly because they are interested in trying out for the spring semester.

I am the vice president of the student body and a cheerleader, so I think I see this issue in two different aspects. There is a lot of pressure about our possible decision. Whatever we decide now will affect the students at WTC from here on. I'm not sure if anybody likes to make a decision like that.

What is a Westerner? Students have come up with a tall, skinny cowboy. What the heck is a Duster? Some have jokingly suggested a long coat or a vacuum cleaner.

As of right now, it seems pretty assured that we will be getting a mascot. I think the most important issue is if it will be a Duster, Westerner, or both.

One thing in favor of the Westerner, it could represent both men's and women's teams since it can be converted to Lady Westerners. If this happened, we wouldn't have to worry with the two different mascots. Some of the basketball girls indicate they would prefer it to be changed.

As for some of the students, they are still confused exactly how we ended up with the Duster name.

A mascot would be useful for the athletic programs since they are primarily for entertainment and promoting a lot of spirit. I can just picture it now, a big fluffy Westerner. (I can't really picture a big, fluffy tornado. Can you?)

I picture a mascot as something really big, a comic figure of what the mascot really is. I'm not sure someone dressed up in cowboy attire only would be the "most spirited" a person could possibly be. If a person "hides" behind a mascot suit, they might tend to do crazier stunts for the audience.

If the mascot should be a Westerner, could a woman portray the mascot or would this be limited to only males trying out for the position? If it is a tall, skinny male, it seems it would be limited to males only, but if it is a fluffy Westerner, it could be portrayed by both males and females. These are some questions that we might want to ask ourselves.

Of course we have to remember the other schools which have a big fluffy mascot. One of the major schools that comes to my mind is Texas Tech's Red Raider. Most of the teams in our conference have a mascot. South Plains has the Plowboy, Howard College has the Hawk, so how will we, WTC, represent the college? Boy, that's a tough question to answer since it's taken us a whole semester to just define the problem.

The senate has had many meetings and there have been many interviews to see what the student body feels about the mascot situation. Have we decided yet what it is going to be? The answer is no. The senate has elected a committee that will work with the executive board to further investigate the mascot issue.

I'm beginning to wonder if we will decide before 1993 is over.

A possible option is to combine forces with the art department and have their students create what a mascot might look like. Once we have all the entries, then the student body could choose which one they liked the best.

If we decided that, then we would have to figure out where would the money come from to buy the costume? Would we have to have it made special? I need to stop while I'm still ahead.

I really dread the decision because it will affect many aspects of WTC and I for one don't want to be blamed for making the wrong one. I do hope that we come to a solution to the two decisions we have to make and act on it as soon as possible. After all, we want a mascot for the spring semester. Don't we????

Talk about controversial issues, let's get behind gun control...

By Toni Evans
Texan Staffer

Every 14 minutes in the United States, one person dies from a gunshot wound.

For young adults, there are more deaths related to shootings than there are in any other age group.

Gun control is beginning to be an extremely popular issue among American citizens. I, for one, am all for it.

I was watching "Prime Time" last week as they were focusing on gun control, and I realized how bad things were getting. The majority of people committing the crimes were young adults. Should I even call them adults? Probably not.

On "Prime Time," statistics reported indicated only 34 states have some kind of gun control law. There are two dozen cities that pay $50 for every gun turned in.

Statistics show that 48 percent of Americans have a gun at home, and people are 43 times more likely to have suicides and accidental shootings in their own home.

Two states, Colorado and Florida, have passed laws prohibiting people under the age of 18 to have a gun. Virginia has a law limiting handgun purchases to one a month.

In Albuquerque, N.M., people are turning in their guns for free concert tickets. Yes it's true, from Peter, Paul and Mary to Guns n' Roses, the tickets are free.

On Nov. 3, Sen. Daniel Moynihan said that he would insist that President Clinton's health-care plan include a high increase in Federal taxes on handgun ammunition that would make the especially destructive bullets unaffordable.

Mr. Moynihan's idea would raise the current tax on the wholesale price of ammunition to 50 percent, in most cases from 11 percent. It would not raise taxes on .22 cal. ammunition typically used for target shooting. It would raise the tax to 10,000 percent on the Winchester 9 mil. hollow-tipped Black Talon cartridge. Black Talon cartridges wholesale for about $16, with the 11 percent tax, and retail for about $24. The 10,000 percent increase would push the price of a single box to almost $150,000. The tax would not apply to people in law enforcement or military.

The high tax rate would also apply to all .50 cal. ammunition, which is used in very large handguns.

Instead of gun control, he argues, restrict the sale of ammunition. This is another good idea I would have to agree with. This could mean a decrease in drive-by shootings, and possibly murders. If it works then I say go with it.

On Nov. 10, the U.S. House approved the Brady Bill, a five-day waiting period for gun purchasers before they can take possession of the weapon. The only problem I see with this is it is due to expire within five years. Five years, though, is better than none at all.

Another problem with the bill is the Senate keeps killing it. Since it was first introduced six years ago, the House has approved it twice with the Senate killing it both times. Since the rising rate of crime was a central issue in elections, the chances of it passing this time have increased.

If anything can be done to control murders, suicides and accidental deaths, then I am for it. There are too many children being killed.

I hope that one of these many new methods will be an answer to America's problem. I think that if more people (parents and all) get involved, then something can be done to decrease the death rate.

It has got to come to an end one way or another.

The Juliana Hatfield Three-"Become What You Are"

I have a couple of alternative albums for you this week. Both have female lead singers with a male backup band. The first, "Become What You Are," has been going strong all fall on college charts and has finally moved into the mainstream (Q100) with the first single, "My Sister." Juliana Hatfield's voice is what will either turn you on or turn you off with this band. She has that grown-up/little girl type voice, and her style might be compared somewhat to Belly's Tanya Donnelly. This album is really great if you're into the softer, poppier side of alternative rock, but it's definitely not for everyone....

The Cranberries-"Everyone is Doing It, So Why Can't We?"

I originally bought the first single off of this album, "Linger," having never heard this Irish band. I liked it immediately and then came to see that the video for it was being featured on MTV (not in Snyder, of course!) and it has now begun to get regular airplay on the local radio stations. There are loads of reasons to like this album, the main one being that the lead singer, Dolores O'Riordan, has a great singing voice. This album really stands out in this fall of so many excellent new releases. Check it out....

Souls of Mischief-"93 Til Infinity"

What we have here, ladies and gentlemen, is another one of those momentous rap albums of 1993. This is one of the most truly interesting collection o' tunes this year. Along with Del Tha Funki Homosapien and Casual, the Souls are part of Oakland, California's Hieroglyphics, throwin' down a style unlike any other. The first single off of this album, "That's When Ya Lost" is a harder-edged track that plays wit' ya mind some with its Egyptian horn riffs and lyrical style. These boys are harder than De La Soul or Dig' Planets, but this ain't no hardcore for sure. It hasn't gotten huge on the charts and probably won't but is definitely worth a listen if ya' need some fresh vibes.

Pet Shop Boys-"Very"

Ah yes, the Pet Shop Boys, creators of such radio staples as 1986's "West End Girls" and "Opportunities" as well as a string of other British ultra-pop tunes. Neil Tennant, lead singer, once described the Pet Shop Boys' music as striving to be "perfect pop" in countering criticism that his music was too slickly produced and overdone. Very is another collection of songs that push the boundaries of "pure pop." The first single, "Can You Forgive Her," released in early summer, did fairly well in clubs and on the radio, but the second, just released single, "Go West" promises to be much bigger, with its male chorus and uplifting theme. It really is a simple decision to make—if you like dance music and PSB earlier work, you will like this album. If not....

Stuff to Watch For

Snoop Doggy Dog's album is due out Tuesday, Nov. 23 [It's gonna be huge!]
White Zombie will be in Lubbock Dec. 4 at Fair Park Coliseum.

WEEKEND AT BERNIE'S 2

Did you like the first "Weekend At Bernie's?" It seems that most people either liked or hated it, I've never met anyone who loved it. If you did like the first one, then you'll probably like this one. I liked the first one and I liked this one, but not because it is a particularly good movie. Instead, it is simple and predictable because it is supposed to be. How can it not be predictable with the plot involving a dead guy walking around and dancing to tropical music and meeting voodoo witches and evil financial officers? I will say, though, that this movie probably has great potential to end up on USA's "Up All Night" in the near future.

SLIVER

This movie was extremely over-hyped. It was supposed to be another "Basic Instinct" but didn't even come close to the suspense and "thriller" quality of the former. Granted, Sharon Stone is in both movies and if you really want to watch the movie just to see her or William Baldwin, this is a great flick for you. However, other than the beautiful Ms. Stone, this movie is lame. The whole plotline probably had the potential to be interesting at one time, but it wasn't in this movie. The absolute worst part of "Sliver" is the ending. It must have been a last-minute decision to end the movie in a way that is this stupid.

Fatal traffic accident claims WTC student

By Justin Lester
Texan Staffer

A WTC freshman was killed Nov. 5 when the pickup he was driving turned over several times on Texas Highway 208 north of San Angelo about 7 p.m.

Services were held at Park Heights Baptist Church for Bobby Ullrich, 18, of Wall. He was buried at St. Joseph's Cemetery in Rowena on Sunday, Nov. 7.

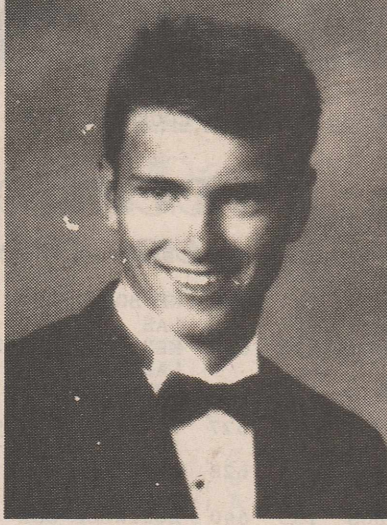

Jon Seilhart of McCamey, a freshman here, was one of the pallbearers at the funeral.

Ullrich was born Feb. 4, 1975, in San Angelo. He was a 1993 graduate of Wall High School, where he was a member of the F.F.A., and Wall Hawk football, basketball, baseball and tennis teams in which he received numerous district and state honors in sports.

He was a freshman dormitory student at WTC, majoring in Golf Course Landscape.

Survivors include his father, Allen Ullrich of Miles; his mother, Patsy Madewell of Checotah, Okla.; two sisters, Kathi Chitsey of Wall and Dannielle D'Elosua of Wall; his adopted sister, Kelli Chitsey of Wall; his guardian parents, Jerry and Martha Chitsey of Wall; his paternal grandparents, Frank and Ruby Ullrich of Miles; his maternal grandparents, Ray and Dorothy

Services held Nov. 7

Bishop of San Angelo; his great-grandmother, Nora Braden of Rowena; and many aunts, uncles and cousins. The family requests memorials to the Bobby Ullrich Scholarship Fund of Wall High School.

First 'Aquifer' submission deadline nears

The end of the fall term is the first deadline for works to be included in the spring edition of "Aquifer," the WTC literary magazine.

Poetry, short stories and essays are now being sought and all WTC students may submit works.

Two typed copies of the work should be submitted. These should be double-spaced and each page must be numbered with the student's name on all pages.

There will be a second deadline a few weeks into the spring semester, giving new students a chance to enter.

The editors for the "Aquifer" are instructors Bill McGlothing, Donny Brown, Janet Halbert and Richard Lancaster.

Light show slated Dec. 4 depicts Christian themes

The Christian Student Center (CSC), located on the WTC campus, will sponsor Dec. 4 a Visual Light Show depicting the life of Christ.

The show will be in the Snyder High School Auditorium beginning at 7 p.m. Admission will be free.

Fall '93 marks last term for Otto

Resigns science position to enter private business

Mike Otto

By Toni Evans
Texan Staffer
Mike Otto, a science instructor at WTC for the past 15 1/2 years, has announced his intent to resign effective at the end of this semester.

Otto plans to start working for Reef Chemical, a Snyder-based oil field company. He will assume his new post Dec. 15.

Otto has worked part-time for Reef for the past two-and-a-half years, he noted. He normally worked as a full-time staffer for them during the summer months.

Regarding his decision to change jobs, he commented, "It's a better job and more money."

Otto started working for WTC in 1978 as a part-time instructor. He was elevated to a full-time position in June of that same year, teaching physical science and chemistry.

"I enjoyed (teaching) here and I enjoyed the kids. I will miss the students, I promise you that. That's what I really enjoyed," Otto said.

He noted he had considered leaving the teaching profession for several years and had planned to retire in another year, even before the job offer came from Reef Chemical.

Otto has a son, Bert, who is now a college student in Missouri.

He is married to the former

Connie Springer, and has three step-sons, Thad, Ty, who attends Texas Tech, and Thance, who attends Angelo State.

Otto received his BS and MS degrees from Sul Ross State University.

Otto graduated high school from his hometown of Pecos. He was a graduate assistant teacher at Sul Ross, and then he moved to the area teaching science at Fluvanna and then Ira before coming to WTC.

GLT ad interested new teacher

By Justin Lester
Texan Staffer

Stephen Tate was a landscape architect working for the city of Odessa when he read in a magazine about a new job at Western Texas College.

He applied for the position and, today, is the college's newest full-time instructor, teaching in the Golf and Landscape Technology (GLT) Department.

He instructs classes in horticulture, landscaping, exotic plants and irrigation.

Tate and his wife, Debbie, have four children, Heidi, Heather, Hunter and Heston. Currently, he and his family live in Midland, where he graduating from Lee High. He earned his undergraduate degree at Texas Tech in 1978.

He said he enjoys hunting quail and fishing as hobbies.

When asked how he became interested in landscaping, he said "I've been an outdoor enthusiast all my life."

Several individuals also rank in placings...

Meats team places at 1st contest

By Lynn Moseley
Texan Staffer

The WTC meat judging team recently competed in its first outing of the year at the Beef Empire Days judging contest in Garden City, Kan.

Ten teams from five states competed in the competition. As the only inexperienced team at the contest, the WTC team placed 3rd in grading, 5th in placings, 4th in carcass pricing and 5th in the overall competition. Tarleton State University placed 1st overall with West Texas A&M placing 2nd.

Individual placings out of 70 competitors for WTC were:

—Les Sanders of Snyder placed 6th in the overall contest. He was also 5th in placings and 7th in questions.

—Jennifer Beard of Snyder was 8th in the overall contest and placed as the highest individual in questions. She also was 8th in placings.

—Stephen McDonald of Roscoe was 7th in carcass selection as well as pricing and placed 18 in the overall contest.

—Chris Meador of Snyder was 11th in quality and yield grading.

—Ronda Parker of Roscoe was 11th in carcass selection and pricing.

Other team members were Justin White of Snyder and Jennifer Trevey of Snyder.

Star gazing blended into English class

By Michelle Romero
Texan Staffer

A star gazing party was held last Tuesday in the east parking lot by class members in Marilyn Lancaster's ENG 135 and DEN 032 classes.

"The class wanted to do this so they could learn more about how man used the stars," said Mrs. Lancaster. The class is reading the book "Coming of Age in the Milky Way," written by Timothy Ferris.

The book tells how people in the early days studied the stars to navigate, tell time and measure space.

Mrs. Lancaster noted that ancient people studied the stars to predict and determine the movement of planets by using the constellations.

"From ancient times man has felt a connection to the stars and heavens, an example is the stars seem to point man toward the future," said Mrs. Lancaster.

Joe Carter, science department instructor, helped with the event. Carter ran the former planetarium here at WTC for several years. The stargazers used a reflector telescope.

Mrs. Lancaster noted also on Sunday, Nov. 28, there will be a lunar eclipse between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m.

The WTC Lady Dusters traveled last Thursday night to Midwest City, Okla. where they defeated Rose State College 82-63.

Tonight is the Lady Dusters' last home game for the fall. The Dusters will play Cisco Junior College for the second time.

The Dusters defeated Cisco Nov. 16 by the score 76-62.

The game will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Scurry County Coliseum.

In Thursday night's game, Coach Ron Jones said WTC started slow with the score going back and forth for the first 10 minutes of play. After that, WTC led the entire game.

At halftime, the score was 37-26.

Shrae Johnson and Tammy Wilson were top scorers for the Dusters, both having 15 points, followed by Paulita Murrell with 12 points.

LaMeshia Roland lead the Dusters in rebounding with a total of 14 rebounds followed by Johnson with 8.

Jones noted that the Dusters out-rebounded Rose State as a team, pulling down 54 rebounds compared to their opponents 29.

Jones stated, "I was a little surprised with out inconsistency. We had the opportunity to take the game completely away a couple of times. I think it's just inexperience. Maybe we're not mature enough to play a complete game yet."

Jones noted that the Dusters were 5-1 last year at this time, "but we're playing a lot harder teams this year."

The Dusters were to play in the St. Gregory's Classic Tournament in Shawnee, Okla. this past weekend.

In the Duster's first meeting with Cisco Nov. 16, WTC came out on top with the final score 76-62.

The team was led by Carri Moss and Paulita Murrell. Both players ended the night with 14 points each. There were two other players in double figures, LaMeshia Roland and Erika Thompson. They each had 12 points for the night.

The leading scorer for Cisco Junior College was Brandi Muirhead. She ended the night with 17 points.

At the half, the game was tied at 32 each.

The Dusters traveled to Altus, Okla. for the Western Oklahoma Classic Nov. 11-13, winning two of the three matchups they faced there.

The Lady Dusters played the first of three games Nov. 11 against Temple Junior College. The Dusters came out on top with a score of 101-67.

The Dusters had four players in double figures. Leading the team with the most points was Paulita Murrell. She had 19 points for the night.

Erika Thompson and Shrae Johnson followed Murrell with 16 points each. The fourth player in double figures was Carri Moss with 10 points.

The Lady Dusters brought down 27 rebounds on defense and 22 on offense for a total of 49 rebounds. There were four players tied for the top rebounder.

They were Murrell, Johnson, Kim Keepers and Stephanie Vietenhiemer.

They each had 8 rebounds for the night.

The second game of the three-game series was played the 12th against Eastern Oklahoma.

The Dusters suffered their only loss of the classic with the score 76 to 73.

The Lady Dusters had four players in double digits. The leader and top scorer of the game was Erika Thompson with 15 points.

The Dusters played the third game of the Classic on Saturday, Nov. 13, against Garden City, Kan., winning it 91-82.

The leading scorer for the Dusters was Christy Cates. She had 19 points for the night.

The WTC women's and men's rodeo teams finished 1st and 2nd respectively as Leslie Greer and Trey Griffin both of WTC won all-around honors at the Texas Tech rodeo Nov. 11-13.

The women tallied a total of 250 points, more than doubling their closest competitor Tarleton.

Greer and teammates Mandy Harsh and Brandye Bitters swept the top three places in goat tying. Harsh posted a two-head 16.4 for first place followed by Bitters' 16.7 and a 16.8 from Harsh.

Greer won the breakaway roping event with a 6.3 clocking on two head. Jonell Cardwell of WTC was third in the event with a 6.9.

WTC finished 1st with 250 followed by Tarleton with 120. Third place went to Odessa with 80 points.

The men finished second behind Vernon Regional Junior College.

Trey Griffin was the bull riding champ with 144 points. He also finished third in saddle bronc riding, scoring 131 points. Just 7 points behind him was teammate Bronc Collier, who scored 138.

Travis Whiteside scored 136 on two bareback rides, good enough for 2nd place in the event. WTC's Tye Maben combined with Howard's Wayne Fulmer for 3rd in team roping with an 18.5 time.

Fifth place position at NMJC tournament ends fall golf season

By Mike Hughes
Texan Staffer

WTC finished their fall golf season with a fifth place finish at the New Mexico Junior College Invitational held Nov. 8-9.

"It was a pretty good fall season," said WTC golf coach Milton Ham.

"We got 14 freshman some tournament experience," which Ham said is what you look for in the fall season.

The Westerners 585 team total was led by sophomore Isabel Soto's 70-73 (145.) He was followed by sophomore Chris Rogers' 72-73 (145); a 73-74 (147) by freshman Monnie Soto; freshman Michael Hernandez' 76-75 (151); and sophomore Jimmy Flores' 75-78 (153).

Odessa College won the tournament with their 565 tally.

They were followed by a tie of 569 between NMJC's White team and Midland College. NMJC's team total of 577 was good for fourth.

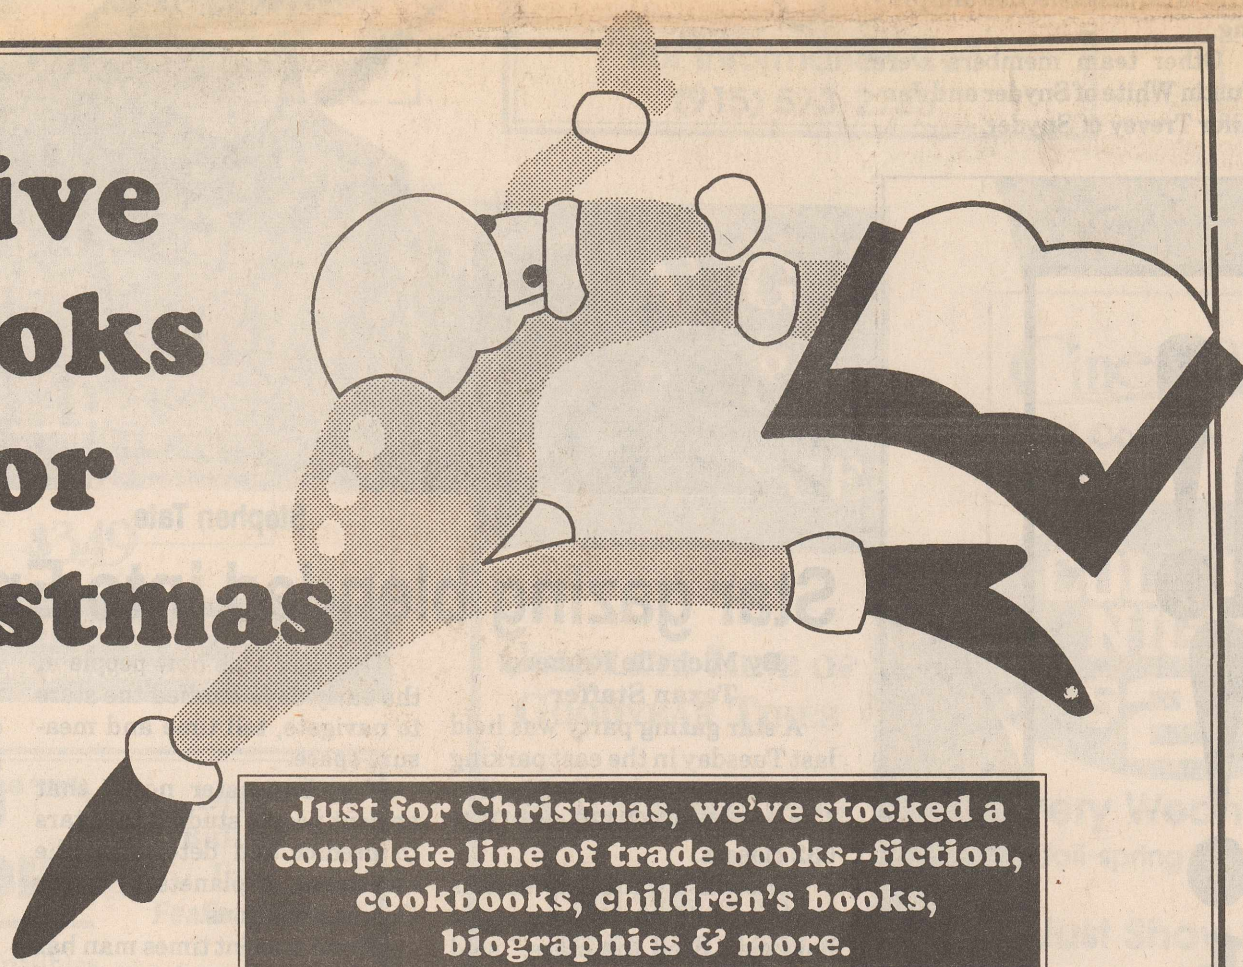

Ham said he thinks this team is better than last year's team was going into the spring season.

"We improved as a team from the first of the season," Ham said. "Seeing a lot of improvement is important as a coach," he added.

Ham said the teams' goal is to place in the top three at the regional tournament, giving them a chance to compete at the national tournament.

"Midland, Odessa, New Mexico Junior College and WTC will be fighting hard for the conference title, all capable of winning it."
