Havoc In A Nursery Rhyme

The laundry industry in New York state is in a pretty chaotic condition, all on account of an old nursery thyme. Since the first Pilgrim mothers turned out the family washing with one hand and shooed off Indians with the other, so to speak, Monday has been wash day in accordance with and keeping to that childhood line which goes: "Monday morning we wash our clothes." The Monday habit plays hob with the laun-dries which have a peak load early in the week and little or nothing to do the last half. So they will try to re-educate New York state housewives that it's just as good and maybe even better to send the laundry on Wednesday and get it back Saturday. And, presumably, the laundries will turn out some new nursery rhymes.

Rules Nicknames Out

Probably no decision that retired Supreme Court Justice Willie Van Devanter ever made during his long judicial career will be more favorably received than one he delivered from the New York federal bench the other day-that a nickname should have no bearing on the reputation of the person

How many friends do you have whose nicknames have clung from an unabashed boyhood through an often-embarassed middle-life? Being called "Stinky" over that stolen perfume episode didn't matter much in grade school. And "Snake" applied because of a peculiar clusive talent on a football field, was all right in college. But they do sound funny out in company without benefit of background

Justice Van Devanter, who may logically have had a nickname or two of his own in younger days, might have gone still further and started a move to officially abolish nicknames that have survived

More Living Motorists

R is good news that comes out of the United States Census Bureau with the revelation that during the first five weeks of 1938 there were 214 fewer deaths from motor vehicle accidents than during the same five weeks in 1937.

More than 40 persons each week-six in a day -owe their lives to any cause that you may care to ascribe. It may be the almost nation-wide safety campaigns which have been instituted during the year. It may be more carefully enforced traffic laws throughout the nation. Or it may be a return to sanity on the part of any number of crazy

But during those five weeks there still were 855 persons killed in auto accidents. That is 171 a week, 24 a day, one each hour. We still have a

Economists Aside

Economists don't know everything. They don't see everything. They aren't always right about what they see. Neither is anybody else.

But there are certain aspects of the recession or depression or whatever it is, that the economists might look into. It took the very acute sports com-mentator, Harry Grayson, to pick them out. Among other things Grayson notes:

That 264,070 people attended the New Year's Day football games. That 36,300 jammed into New York's Madison Square Garden in two nights to see some boys play basketball. That 7,800 did the same in Cleveland in one night-all the hall would

That New Year's Day attendance at Sant Anita racetrack was 60,000 compared to 35,000 a year ago, and that these people bet $939,520 as compared to $631,258 on the same day of 1937.

For learned economic comment go to the economists. But there would certainly seem to be farm eight miles southwest of R. Couch, Weinert State Bank quite a few people in this man's country who are unwilling to usher in 1938 by crying the blues.

Better Meat Animals

Great livestock expositions are primarily dedicated to production of better meat, although this ed. basic aim is sometimes shadowed by the glamou. of horse shows and excitement over high bids for grand champion steer.

Everyone connected with the industry, points out the editor of a leading feed journal, wants the average grade of beef, pork and lamb so improved that the consumer will be glad to pay more for it. Thus the livestock farmer would prosper. Scrubby underfed livestock offered in public stockyards daily show lack of feeding care by many producers.

Total United States farm income from meat animals in 1936 is placed at two and one-half bil-lion dollars. Some experts assert the net profits wood community and assisted in to producers from meat animals could be doubled the organization of an H. D. Club if quality were raised and consumer returns en-

Subject For New Volume By Dobie

Southwest and Mexico are being studied by Prof. J. Frank Dobie of The University of Texas for another book of romance on legends of these regions. Dobie has been able to unearth and assemble a voluminous amount of lore of mysterious mountains and ledges of gold and silver which but for energetic efforts would in ourse of years be lost to memory. Last summer he spent several ceeks delving into the legendary Adams Diggin's' story - a vivid legend of a vast mountain of gold, deep in the recesses and little explored mountain region to the north of Silver City, N. M. It would appear that there is more evidence and testimony to establish the truth of this alluring tradition than is attached to most stories of "lost" mines. While much has been written about "Adams" Dobie has given the subject elaborate treatment, to the extent of thirty thousand words in

He has also devoted much space famous "Toyopa" lost mine of the Sierra Madres in Mexico, This legend stirred the imagination of Mr. Dobie so deeply that a few years ago he made a mulc-back trip into the Sierra Madres of western Chihuahua (guided by an old-time prospector, and they were able to locate what was believed to be the exact spot where the legendary mine with its stupendous fortune of gold was sup-
