PLAN TO STAGE POSTPONED AUTOMOBILE RACES ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Rain Opening Day Halts Part of Fair Program

DRIVERS ARE ANXIOUS FOR SUNDAY PROGRAM

Automobile races scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, postponed because of rain, will be held Sunday afternoon with the Time Trials starting promptly at 1:30 o'clock. Decision to stage the races Sunday afternoon was reached at a conference between race drivers and Fair officials following postponement of the first day's events.

ACQUITTAL IS VOTED IN GREENWADE TRIAL

Deliberating exactly thirty minutes, the jury which heard the testimony in the trial of R. A. (Fonce) Greenwade in connection with the slaying of John Bearden, Sr., returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Trial of the case was started Monday morning in 39th district court, with jurors selected from a special venire of seventy-five, and testimony of witnesses was heard Monday afternoon and Tuesday.

Jurors received the case at 4:40 Tuesday afternoon and thirty minutes later reported their verdict to Judge Dennis P. Ratliff. The defendant was seated with his daughter, Margaret, 17, who embraced him and joined her father in shaking hands with members of the jury as they passed out of the courtroom.

Self-defense was the plea of Greenwade, former Rochester officer, in the death of the 65-year-old farmer, who was shot through the head last June 20 near the Rochester jail. Greenwade took the stand Tuesday to give his version of the fatal affray. His testimony essentially was this: He met John Bearden, Jr., in Rochester in an intoxicated condition and asked him to go home. Thirty or forty minutes later, the former officer said, he met young Bearden again, placed him under arrest and took him to the city jail. As Greenwade was trying to unlock the jail door, young Bearden began fighting him, and someone else ran up and he felt "two or three licks in the left side," discovered that he was bleeding from wounds and saw the elder Bearden near him with a knife in his hand, he testified. As Greenwade reached for his blackjack, he said, the elder Bearden grabbed it and both the father and son attacked him. The officer said his gun fell off and that he picked it up and shot Bearden. He thought he was "bleeding to death" from the wounds in his left side, he testified. (Continued on Page Eight)

CIVIL CASES ON DOCKET IN DISTRICT COURT ON MONDAY

Five Criminal Cases Due To Be Called for Trial On Thursday

First three days of the fifth week of the current term of District Court, starting Monday, will be devoted to trial of civil cases, including a dozen or more of the "Ferguson cases" which are the result of litigation over the estate of Mrs. Kate F. Morton, who died several years ago.

Criminal docket will be taken up Thursday, October 29th, with five cases appearing on the docket for that date. They include: State of Texas vs. Earl Turnbow, burglary.
State of Texas vs. C. W. McElroy, removing mortgaged property.
State of Texas vs. Hunter Bruce, burglary.
State of Texas vs. Bonnie Gay, failure to stop and render aid.
State of Texas vs. Lewis (Shorty) Bruggeman, charged with assault with intent to murder. This case was tried during the current term, on October 12, and resulted in a mistrial when jurors could not arrive at a verdict.

Youth Pedals Day and Half To See Fair

Hope that he could be present for the twelfth annual Central West Texas Fair was fulfilled for Troy Trout, Chillicothe youth, through sheer perseverance—through having the major attraction of automobile races denied him by the elements.

Troy left his home in Chillicothe Tuesday on his bicycle with perfect-functioning knee action propelling him speedily toward his destination.

He was a "little tired" when he arrived at Vernon, but with (Continued On Page Eight)

Campaign for More Liberal Financial Aid Will Be Conducted

Thos. E. Hayden, Finance Chairman of the Chisholm Trail Council of the Boy Scouts of America was the principal speaker before a meeting of Haskell business and professional men at the Tonkawa Coffee Shop on last Thursday evening.

The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing present financial situation of the Boy Scout work in this territory. In his talk Mr. Hayden explained the necessity of placing the work on a sounder financial basis if the Chisholm Trail Council expected to maintain their affiliation with the national organization.

D. H. Parsons, Judge Dennis P. Ratliff and Emory Menefee were among the Haskell men who made short talks. A. C. Pierson was elected director of the Finance Campaign in Haskell. Fifteen teams, of two men each, were named to conduct the drive in this territory, and an effort will be made to see everyone in the city for contributions.

Rev. Marvin Boyd and Hillian Weaver of Rule were present at the meeting and will have charge of the financial drive at Rule.

Members of the fire department were called to the Henry Barnes Filling Station one block west of the square late Sunday afternoon to extinguish a blazing gasoline pump in the station driveway.

Flames from a small container of oil which had caught fire in some unexplainable manner, spread to the nearby pump.

The blaze was extinguished, with small damage resulting.

Girls Organize Choral Club

The Girls' Choral Club of Haskell High school met Tuesday afternoon and elected officers for the year. The officers are as follows:

President, Anita Jo Simmons; Vice-President, Frankie Doris Bledsoe; Secretary, Eva Jo Ratliff; Treasurer, Louise Pierson; Reporter, Dorothy Larson.

Mrs. Bert Welsh will direct the club this year and Mrs. Wimbush will sponsor it. The girls will receive a half-credit for the year's work and we are expecting to have an outstanding organization.

Gypsy Ramblers to Present Program

On Wednesday, Oct. 28, the Gypsy Ramblers Club will present the program in assembly. The program begins at 12:50 p. m. and the public is always invited.

Senior Habits in 7th Study Hall

Some of the seniors have rather peculiar habits and, especially, in the seventh study hall.

T. J. seems to admire the floor and after counting the boards about his seat finds them to number thirty-two. Jim Roy believes in rest before work and carries out his theory by sleeping that forty-five minutes before football practice. Duffer is interested in football, too, but differs from Jim in that he reads directions for plays. Thomas Lee studies diligently with his book up-side down, and Mary Eleanor draws pictures of different students and teachers, while Delmon stares straight ahead with a bored look on his face.

Them, too, there is one who makes use of the study time, as Mayna Leana, Marie, Geraldine, Norma, Dorothy Mae, Addie Lee, Annie, Jack, Muri, and Don.

Beverly finds it more interesting to read and answer those letters from THAT one in California. Helen Mabel's mind naturally turns from school work and she fills her time with uniting "knick knacks" and trying to see what Elsie is uniting.

Long conversations usually concerning this Friday night, and carried on between Rhea and Lotie Mae, Ed and Clovis and R. V. Albert and W. B. We know Corene is there for we can still see the top of her head. However, comfortable or entertaining these habits may be, they are constantly interrupted by Miss Vick gathering or distributing "wonderbook" material and so it goes.

Miss Winnie Darnell Haskell Sponsor

Miss Winnie Darnell, 17-year-old High School student, was selected as Haskell sponsor to ride in the parade Wednesday.

Senior in Haskell High School, Miss Darnell is secretary-treasurer of the 1936 Class.

Fame of Indians Is Widespread

We are willing to admit that the Haskell Indians have represented our high school quite valiantly for these several years, and we are proud that our name has often been associated with "victory" up and down our class B district. But when we hear of compliments to the Indians from far-off places, we swell with increasing pride.

The story comes from Anabell Stanton (our erstwhile "Pisen Arrow" shooter) who is way up there in Chicago studying Music. It seems that she met a boy and girl there, and in the course of the conversation they asked her where she lived. She told them she was from Haskell, Texas. "Oh yes," they replied with interest, "that where you have those Haskell Indians."

(P. S. This boy and girl were also from Texas, but we thought it would rather dampen the story, so we left out that part. Anyway Texas is a pretty good sized place.

Senior Girl To Be "Miss Haskell"

Winnie Donnell, our popular senior treasurer, will be the hostess on parade day to the girl sponsors of other towns. She was elected by popular vote of the student body last week, and will ride horseback in the parade to accompany the other girl riders. She will not, however, be in competition with other riders.

Home Ec Girls Meet to Organize

Tuesday, October 13, the Home Economics Girls met to organize a club called the Future Homemakers of America. Committee's were appointed to nominate the officers and make suggestions for our programs for the year.

Mrs. Meyer will be the sponsor and the next meeting will be Thursday afternoon.

Hutto H. D. Club Meeting

The Hutto Home Demonstration Club women met Oct. 9th at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. George Williams.

The purpose of this meeting was to make plans for their exhibit at the fair. Mrs. Ralph Ray and Mrs. J. W. Carver were appointed to take the products to the fair.

Miss Peggy Taylor, our demonstrator, gave several points on selecting the choice products for the exhibit.

The club adjourned to meet Friday, Oct. 23, with Mrs. D. B. Cummings. All the club members are urged to be present.

Jossett H. D. Club To Elect Officers

On October 27th all members of the Jossett H. D. Club are urged to be present, at the regular meeting, for the election of officers for the new year.

Students Enter Exhibits at Fair

The time has come for the yearly central West Texas Fair and among those competing for prizes are numerous high school students. Talent is discovered and as a result we have the contest between the best. Entries vary from clowns in the parade to art, livestock exhibits, and individual arm booths. T. J. Cadel will act as clown from H. H. S. and we all know that it comes natural with T. J. luck to him. Several students who have gained recognition for artistic ability will exhibit art and handwork. Among those are Marvina Post, Anna Rose Chapman and Joe Larned. There are quite a number of agriculture boys who will exhibit either livestock on a farm booth. Those boys entering livestock are Virgil Meadows, who will enter a calf, a goat, and goats, and Ed Wilfong who will enter a calf. Due to the fact that not all of the boys reported entering farm booths we cannot give a complete list but those that reported are as follows:

James Roy Akins, Individual booth; Delmont Bailey, Individual booth; Doyle Hisey, Individual booth; Tuinton Bailey and George Decker, farm booth; Paul Crawford and Wayne Laird, farm booth; Sam Henshaw and Fred Barnett, farm booth; Lon McMillan and Thomas Brite, farm booth; Eugene Rogers and Marion Jossett, farm booth; Lynn Pace and J. C. Scott, farm booth; Cullen Heath and Velton Moore, farm booth; and Woodrow Johnson and Velton Moore, farm booth.

Indians Smash Moguls 19 to 6

The Haskell Indians won their third straight conference game last Friday night by defeating the Munday Moguls. In the first half Haskell could not be stopped. From the kickoff the Indians, on successive time plays, pushed over for a touchdown without losing the ball. It was Rogers, Indian Quarterback, who went over for the touchdown. Lon McMillan put the ball between the uprights for the extra point. The Indians seemed to push on and on in the first half and piled up their whole nineteen points. The other two touchdowns were made by Rogers on line smashes. With only a few minutes to play, Munday put on some passing plays that put them in scoring position and on the fourth down Barney Cote passed to Holbert who went over for Munday's only touchdown. The try for extra point was blocked.

Outstanding for Haskell were Akins and Thompson as tacklers; Scott at guard. Rogers was the bright star in the backfield. Holbert and Meers were standouts for Munday.

Freshman Girl Suffers Injury

Eulamae Watson stepped on a rusty nail one afternoon last week while practicing with the pep squad. She was taken home immediately by Mrs. Meyer, the pep squad sponsor and given treatment, but was unable to walk for several days following. She is now able to be back in school.

Gridiron Gab

Well, well, well, we have Munday off our chest and that is a relief too. But there is still more none other than the Roby Lions, trouble to come. The trouble is whom we will play next Friday night on our local field.

Here is a little dope on Roby. They have won one game which was from Merkel 6 to 0. They have been defeated twice by close scores by Snyder and Stamford. They also have played a scoreless tie with Loraine. In this game Loraine threatened Roby's goal-line often but were always held. The Roby eleven have a good running attack and if you ask me, they are going to be plenty of trouble.

Last Friday's game with Munday was heartbreaker although we did win it. No opponent that we had so far had crossed our goal line, but when Munday made their touchdown it meant six points against our good record.

So far we have made 62 points to our opponent's 6. This is a good record but the Indians are going to have to fight to keep it.

Here is a true story in the life of our Captain, James Roy Akins. It seemed that James Roy was not growing so well and he wanted to make the football team. Jim didn't like milk and wouldn't drink it. He was told that milk would help him to put on a little weight. But James didn't believe this. Jim was not so big then and it was football season. He saw all the other boys were big and husky, and wondered if they drank milk. He asked them and they said yes.

Jim went home that evening and sat down at the table and called for milk. Jim's folks wondered why but they brought him milk anyway. It was not only the taste of the milk that Jim didn't like but it was the smell. So every time he would start to drink he would hold his nose. He did this for a week until he got used to the smell and now he can drink without any hesitation. James grew and the next year he earned a letter on the team. This year he was elected captain and is one of the toughest little tackles Haskell has ever had. James attributes his success to the drinking of milk.

Some of the other boys might try this. I don't know but I may get murdered for writing this; however, I don't think so, for James is a real sport.

All of the boys played a good game last Friday night. But there is one more thing that they need and that is more support. Next Friday lets turn out 100 per cent for the game and boost the Haskell Indians. Thanks to the pep squad—they are doing fine.

Senior Rings Are Selected by Class

Last Thursday afternoon the seniors were excused from their classes to select their 1937 rings. For them, this occasion was one of the most important and one of the most looked-forward to of any since school started.

Mr. Breedlove kindly consented to preside and a committee of five seniors were appointed to select one ring from the samples of each of the four salesmen. After this the senior class voted on their choice of the four and all seniors voted for the same ring, which is very unusual. The ring has a beautiful set of mother of pearl, with an H in the center and "Haskell" written under it in gold, on each side there is an Indian-head with the year written over it.

The orders will be sent off Friday. All seniors are proud of this selection and think that the ring for 1937 is the best yet.

PTA Celebrates 27th Anniversary

The week of October 15th to 26th of this year has been proclaimed by Governor Allred as Parent-Teacher Week in Texas, since on this date twenty seven years ago Texas' first Parent-Teacher association was organized. The Parent-Teacher Association, a national organization for many years, has done much for the betterment of the welfare of school children all over our country. Haskell has three progressive Parent-Teacher organizations through whose influence many improvements and conveniences have been added to our schools. We, the student body, wish to congratulate this great organization on its twenty-seventh birthday and urge all parents who are not already members to join it because of the necessity for proper cooperation between home and school life.

Gypsy Ramblers Elect New Members

After nominating and voting, by secret ballot, the Gypsy Ramblers elected the following new members last Tuesday afternoon, October 13:

Dorothy Larson, Corene Laird, Mary Beth Menefee, Marce Rhodes, Dorothy Mae Carr, Phae Riley, Ruby Stodgill, Bonnie Dell Hisey, Doris Parks, Bobby Nell Carr, Billie Doris Murphey, Amelia Beth Hammer, Irene and Pauline Jenkins.

At this meeting six different Ramblers were appointed by the president to sell programs at the football game Friday night.

The County Fair vs. Period Exams

This week should prove to be very exciting and important as it brings with it the annual Haskell Fair as well as this year's first six-weeks period exams.

The fair has always been a successful and entertaining event in Haskell and has grown very much in the last few years. We as students should be proud of it and visit it every year because there are some of us who always participate in its success, especially the Vocational agriculture class and F. E. A. members. Several high school students this year are entering exhibits and livestock.

During all the fun and excitement there comes the six weeks exams and we hope that neither the fair nor anything else will interfere with our making good grades. So let's all attend the fair and pass exams and make this week a great success.

Center Point H. D. Club will meet in the home of Mrs. J. E. Jeter in an all day quilting on Thursday, November 5th honoring Mesdames Alvis Bird and R. T. Jeter in a birthday shower. Those who fail to be there will miss something.

Anyone having rugs or bedspreads or any kind of work, bring it along. We also have the "scoring of salads" a program, we missed in September.

Why shield them from every danger except EYESTRAIN?

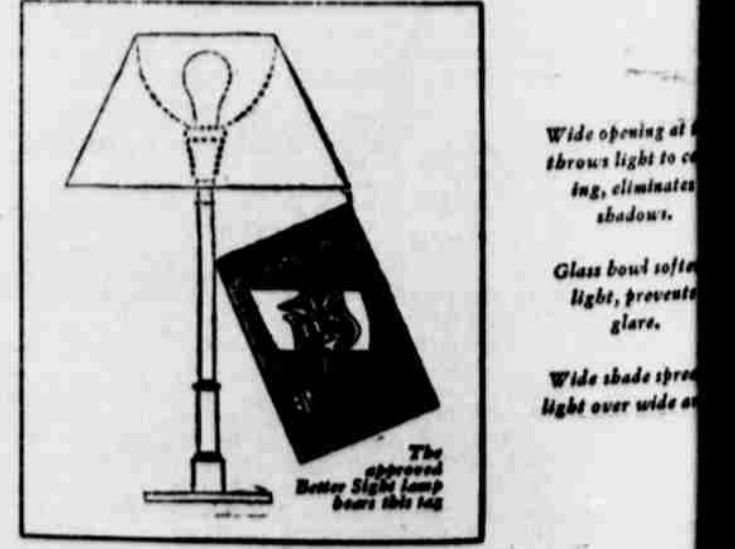

Isn't their sight worth enough to make you find out what your lighting may be doing to it?

You bundle up your children against cold and rain. You see that they are tucked snugly in bed at night. You are constantly on guard lest they be harmed in some way. You try to shield them from every danger . . . but are you sure about eyestrain?

Sight is their most precious possession. Yet do you let them read and play on the floor where the light is never adequate for even simple visual work? Can you say for sure whether the lighting in your home is letting your children's eyes develop normally? Do you know that your child has enough light for his studying tasks?

Don't guess—be sure. There has been too much guessing about proper lighting. And mainly because of improper lighting, one child in every five has defective vision by the time he finishes grade school. The ratio increases to two out of five by the time they reach college age.

The I.E.S. Indirect Floor and Student Lamp is a simple, economical way to be sure that your child is studying under proper lighting conditions. What is more, the entire family can enjoy and will appreciate this modern, better light. See these lamps on display . . . today!

Wide opening at top throws light to ceiling, eliminates shadows.
 Glass bowl softens light, prevents glare.
 Wide shade spreads light over wide area.

SARAH ANN'S COOKING CLASS

Oranges and lemons are valuable and necessary parts of the well balanced diet. Through the use of them we get the protective food elements in a most appetizing way. They fit into any part of a meal from cocktails through dessert.

Lemon Cocktail Sauce for Fruit
1-2 cup sugar.
1 cup water.
1-8 teaspoon each of cinnamon and nutmeg.

1-4 cup lemon juice.
2 cups any diced fruit mixture.
Boil sugar, water, cinnamon and nutmeg for 5 minutes. Cool. Add lemon juice and pour over diced fruit. Serve chilled in cocktail glasses.

Fruit Cup
1 cup orange segments.
3-4 cup orange juice.
1 cup long, slender, red skinned apple pieces, unpeeled, sliced.
1-2 cup shredded dates.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
2 tablespoons sugar.
Combine ingredients and serve very cold.

Bitter Orange Marmalade
1 grapefruit.
2 oranges.
1 lemon.
1-4 cup lemon juice.

Slice unpeeled fruit very thin. Add 3 times as much water as fruit. Boil 20 minutes. Measure. Bring to boiling point. Add 3-4 cup of sugar for each cup of fruit. Boil 30 minutes or until it gives the jelly test. Just before removing from heat add 1-2 cup lemon juice. Pour into sterilized glasses; cover with paraffin when cold.

Baked Whole Oranges
Slightly grate skin of whole oranges. Boil them 30 minutes. Cool. Cut slice off blossom end of each orange, put 1 teaspoon butter and 1 tablespoon sugar. Bake in a closely covered baking dish, filled 2-3 full of water, about 1-2 hours in moderate oven. To make sauce add 1 tablespoon of cornstarch and 1-4 cup orange juice to each and stir until thickened. Serve hot or cold with baked ham, lamb, pork or roast hen.

Harlequin Dessert Salad
Halve large seedless oranges crosswise. Remove pulp and dice. Mix with equal quantity of diced pineapple, quartered marshmallows, shredded almonds and bananas. Moisten with salad dressing, to which you have added 1-4 cup of maraschino cherries, cut in quarters, and 1 cup of whipped cream. Fill the orange skins and garnish with whole raisins. Serve on lettuce.

Orange Salad
4 tablespoons shortening.
1 cup sugar.
2 eggs.
1-2 cup flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1-8 teaspoon salt.
1-2 cup orange juice.
Cream fat and sugar. Add beaten egg yolks. Mix well. Sift dry ingredients together. Add alternately with orange juice. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in 2 layers in an oven 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Put together with orange frosting. Decorate with segments of orange.

Orange Filling
1 egg, beaten.
6 tablespoons cornstarch.
1-2 cup water.
1-2 cup orange juice.
1-2 teaspoon grated orange rind.
Mix well. Cook in double boiler 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add 1 tablespoon butter. Cool before spreading on cake.

Orange Frosting
1 teaspoon white corn syrup.
7-8 cup sugar.
1-4 teaspoon grated orange rind.
1 egg white.
3 tablespoons orange juice.
Put in double boiler, beat constantly with rotary beater while cooking over boiling water 6 to 7 minutes. Remove from heat, add 1-2 teaspoon of lemon juice and a sprinkling of salt. Beat thoroughly and spread on cake.

Lemon Hard Sauce
1-4 cup butter.
1 1-2 cup powdered sugar.
Grated rind of 1-2 lemon.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
Cream butter. Add sugar while beating constantly. Add grated rind of lemon juice gradually.

Lingo of Drug Addicts Yields Insight to Mind

The strange position occupied by the drug addict in American underworld life is revealed by David W. Maurer of the University of Louisville after years of what he calls "academic snooping."

In a publication by the Columbia University Press, Maurer makes the following distinctions between addicts and other underworld characters:

1. Gangsters, racketeers and criminal aristocrats do not use narcotics. When a gangster becomes addicted he is eliminated immediately as he menaces the safety of the organization.

2. Narcotics have little connection with violent crime.

3. The narcotic racket is controlled by gangsters of a vicious type, not addicted themselves, who spread the habit mercilessly to enlarge their market.

4. There is nothing romantic about the life of illusion and misery which the addict leads.

Lingo is Psychological
The lingo of the addict provides insight into his psychology and his underworld life, according to Maurer. "Coasting," "floating," and "to go on a sleigh ride" are all expressions to denote the exhilarating sensation produced by cocaine. "All lit up" also indicates the state of being under the influence of narcotics.

The argot of addicts, one of the "languages outside the law" is the most difficult to investigate, Maurer found. Hostile silence confronted him for several years in his attempt to gain information regarding it.

"If safe-blowers, pickpockets and short-comers and other underworld professions had developed argots," Maurer said, "it seemed logical that addicts and peddlers should have developed one of their own."

After several years of work, with information obtained from stool-pigeons and informers employed by authorities, Maurer was able to weave together a representative cross section of 238 terms of the addicts' professional jargon.

Learns About Circus
He learned that a "circus" was a feigned spasm enacted in public in the hope a physician will administer narcotics.

Other words having related meanings are "Brody," "cart-wheel," "figure eight," "twister," "wind-ding." "To make a croaker for a reader" is to persuade a physician, by one means or another, to write a prescription for narcotics.

Non-addicts, people with no criminal connections, and taxpayers are "go-right-people," and are also designated by terms of "square John." A person, not a confirmed addict, who indulges in an occasional shot of dope is called a "joy popper." However, "joy-popping" is usually the beginning of permanent addiction, comments Maurer. An opium pipe is a "joy stick."

A "panic man" is an addict who is desperate for narcotics because of deprivation.

Body Reaction Explained
"Since the bodily secretions are dried up by opiates, their absence in the system of a confirmed addict causes an intense and unnatural flow which can only be stopped by further application of narcotics," Maurer says. "Furthermore, taking an addict off narcotics suddenly often has a severe aphrodisiac effect on him. Hence he is literally "in a panic" for dope.

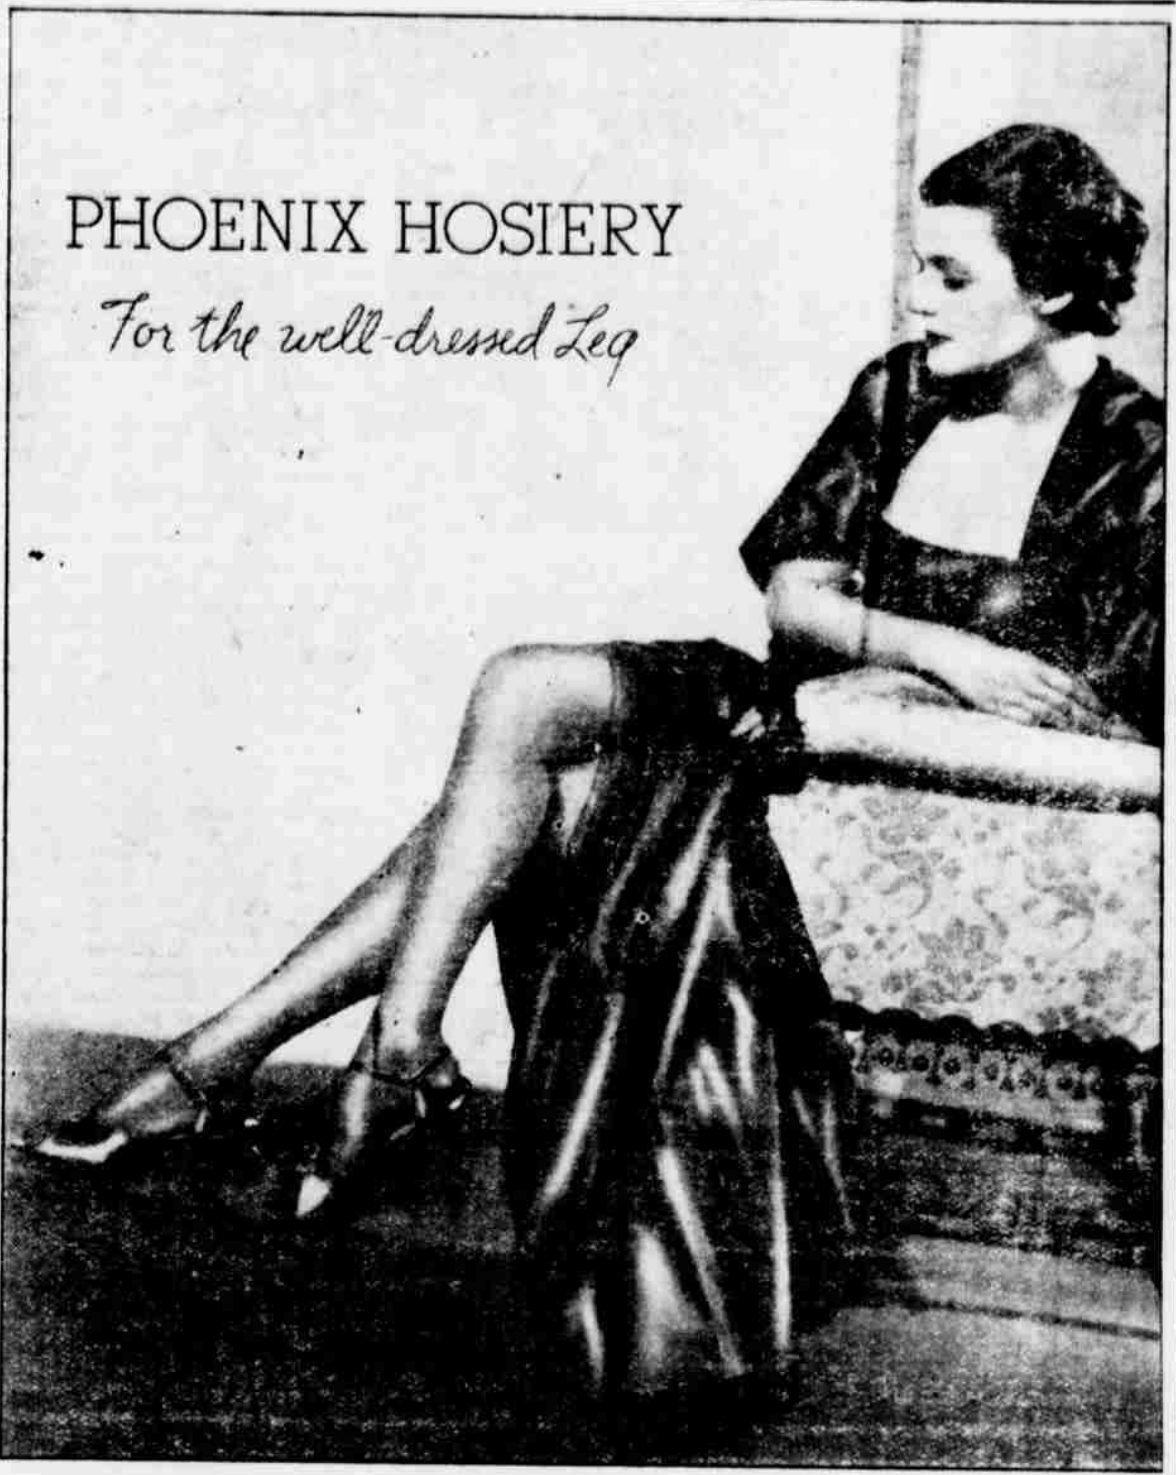

"A 'bank in the arm' is a shot of narcotic, most commonly morphine or cocaine, injected directly into the vein, as contrasted to a 'skin shot.'" The term also appears to be generalized, however, and may indicate any injection of narcotics.

"When morphine is used, the addict is usually conscious of an unusual and very satisfying clearness of the mind. Cocaine and heroin produce tingling sensations of varying degrees, usually of great intensity and extending over the entire body. This type of shot is not used as a rule by the amateur; the hardened addict uses it exclusively."

Judge Roy Bean, 'Law West of Pecos' Interesting Figure

(Editor's Note—Much has been written, both for magazine and book publication, on that legendary gentleman of this part of West Texas, Judge Roy Bean. Among the most readable of all the articles we have seen on this colorful figure is the following, which Max Bentley wrote some months ago for West Texas Today.)

Forty odd years ago the Southern Pacific Railroad was completed from San Francisco to New Orleans. Chinese labor was used by the contractors working eastward from California, while Irish labor laid the track westward from Louisiana. Two lines met at the town of Langtry, West Texas, and amid rejoicing a silver spike was driven into the last tie. The two gangs met, too, and for weeks afterward the chaparral country along that section of the Rio Grande resounded to shouts of battle and cries of alarm as Mike chased Chink from bush to bush.

There was no semblance of order until the strange character the Texas border has ever known moved to Langtry with a portable saloon and pool hall and meat market—the town's first permanent citizen. His first act was to switch his place of business to a siding, "scotching" with oak ties, and the second was to announce that court was open. It was thereupon learned that he had himself designated justice of the peace—by heaven knows whom. Perhaps, like Topsy, he just grewed to the job. At any rate, Justice started functioning that day, with the court room occupying the northeast corner of the saloon.

The man was Judge Roy Bean. A double-fisted personage was he, majestic in appearance, dignified to a painful degree, but filled with grisly humor and a high resolve to make his office pay. The railroad contractors knew him well; perhaps too well—he had been supplying the inner demands of three thousand Irishmen all the way from San Antonio to the Gulf brought with him two pet animals, a lion and a bear, and a past reeking with atmosphere. The contractors gave the border the lowdown on his early life—strange strange tales. But the atmosphere of his past was nothing to be compared with the atmosphere of his present. For twenty years he lived at Langtry dispensing justice with the same ready hand. He ruled officially until he died. He called himself the "Law West of the Pecos" and made it stick, too. The phrase is a classic in Texas today.

Judge Bean has been dead a quarter-century (died March 19, 1903, at the age of 78), but his life and work took root deeply in the colorful and careless West, and the memory of him is as freshly green today as it was the day he died. Lately I walked through the cemetery at Del Rio, Texas, and stood beside two red headstones. There it was, the inscription, "Judge Roy Bean, Justice of the Peace, Law West of the Pecos" and on the other the name of his son, Sam, killed by a Mexican. And then I went to Langtry, to learn what I could about the Judge. And maybe a few of the tales I heard are true—either way, there are many old-timers left to vouch for them. Believe them or not, as you like, as I did.

Langtry is still a frontier town, no larger than in the days of old. Indeed, not one-tenth as large, for on one occasion just mentioned, the meeting of East and West—it numbered 7000 casual citizens. It sits on a sandy hill overlooking the Rio Grande and Mexico. Much of what we read of the old West comes to us highly colored and seasoned, but the Langtry of Roy Bean's day was like a page out of "The Virginian." Except that it was not Langtry then. It was Vinyegaron—the Pecos; very pretty named after a varmint resembling a lobster—the ugliest and smelliest and fiercest little reptile that ever dug him a home in the hot sands of the desert.

Bean was a man of middle age, just under sixty, when he opened his Jersey Lily saloon. The name was a delicate compliment to Lily Langtry, whom he adored from her picture; a much folded and solid lithograph which he kept buttoned just over his heart. When the construction crew left Vinyegaron he moved his saloon to the hill and named the new townsite Langtry. He was a Kentuckian by birth; had run away on the Mississippi as a boy, landing in New Orleans; joined the forty-niners in the California rush; freighted on the Butterfield stage line from San Diego to San Antonio and later followed the same occupation in Mexico; and then followed the Southern Pacific's Irish crew with a saloon built in a box car. Vinyegaron (I mean Langtry) just suited him and so he settled there, doubtless to take life easy in his old age. Here are some incidents of his early career, the days of his rip-roaring young manhood.

He was twenty-four and looking for love and trouble when he landed in California. Both same hastening to meet him. There was a beautiful senorita. When he helped her escape from her suitor, a captain of the Mexican army (who kidnapped her in the good old way) challenged him to a duel. Bean killed the captain, whose companions hanged him to a tree by way of revenge, leaving him strung up with his toes just touching the ground. He thought he was done for—but the soft-eyed senorita slipped from behind another tree (she had been watching) and cut him down. "That was a h—l of a way to treat a fighter's man. Thank you, sister." Giving her a hasty kiss, he decamped, reappearing a few months later in the dairy business at San Antonio.

Being improvident and lazy, he allowed his cows to go hungry, but met the resulting deficiency in production by liberally watering his goods. One day a customer complained at finding a minnow in the milk. "The h—l you did!" he exclaimed. "I guess that cow swallowed that minnow when she got a drink in the river."

The dairy business was no good, anyway. Bean craved action. He took a job as pony express rider on the Butterfield Trail and killed Indians to his heart's content. Later he was employed to run a mule freight line between San Antonio and Chihuahua, Mexico. On his last trip he was providentially accompanied by his employer. He announced his arrival in Chihuahua by mixing in a dance hall fight and killing a Mexican. The dead man's friends were ganging up on him when his employer hid him in one of the wagons under a pile of buffalo robes and got him safely across the border. He was formally challenged to return to Chihuahua for honorable combat, but declined, sending word back that "My horse won't drink water in Mexico." Another classic!

When in his middle age he moved to Langtry, the Texas Rangers were having a terrible time keeping the Irish separated from the Chinese. Both crowds were always getting drunk on Bean's liquor, the Irish immoderately so, but Justice dealt a stern hand, nevertheless. He was Judge Bean now. He adopted the expedient of having the combatants chained by the ankle to iron rods fastened to the wall of his saloon. Often fifty or sixty would be staked out all night. Next morning Bean would have them before him. After a sobering-up drink apiece, he would deliver a learned lecture on the law of homicide, international law, any kind of law. He had only one authority, a dog-eared volume, but he stretched it to cover ever case brought him for decision. Then he would fine the men fifty cents each and collect from the contractor.

Once an Irishman killed a Chinaman. Bean loved the sons of Erin for their free spending and had a corresponding contempt for the more thrifty Chinese. It was a red-handed murder, but the Irishman's friends sent word to the Judge an unfavorable verdict would result in two things: one, loss of patronage, and two, his place being wrecked. He had the prisoner brought before the bar (literally the way to say it—it was both bar and bar) and kept him shifting from one foot to the other while he, the judge, pored through his dog-eared volume. Finally, "Gentleman, I find the law very explicit about killing your fellow man, but there's nothing here about murdering a Chinaman. Case dismissed." The same day he married two Mexican couples, divorced them and remarried each hombre to the other's former wife; for which he collected on three transactions.

Not long afterward a bad cowboy rode his pony into the saloon. Rapping on the bar with his gun, he called loudly for a "drink of pizen." Bean made a dignified entrance. Going to the cupboard he took out a jar containing embalmed centipedes and vinegars, poured the alcohol into a glass and handed it to the customer. When the cowboy protested "I can't drink that stuff, it will kill me," Bean laid his own gun on the bar and said, "Ye ordered it; now ye drink it." Then he laughed uproariously and made his crestfallen customer stand treats for a delighted crowd.

As justice of the peace his principal legal function was holding inquests. In six years he held twenty-five, while in the ensuing eighteen years his successors, Jesus Torres and W. H. Dodd, held only seventeen. One day a Mexican lad rushed into the saloon wailing "El Senor Vaquero (cowboy) es muerto!" Bean took off his apron and, with his law book, repaired to the scene of the late hostilities. A Mexican had killed a cowboy in a drunken brawl that had originated in the judge's saloon. Bean had the body searched—always his first ministrations to the dead. On the person of the deceased were $46 and a gun. No law book was needed here. Bean said: "I fine this man $46 for carrying a concealed weapon."

Big Spring Named for Spring Which No Longer Exists

Big Spring was named for a spring but the spring no longer flows. The spot where once, old timers say, "the roaring of the water could be heard a mile," today is a dry hole 35 feet deep. Fifty years ago it was the only water supply for cattle in the immediate section.

In 1883 a pumphouse was erected and soon afterward the railroad blasted the rock which enlarged the spring to a diameter of 80 feet, and the water filled the deep hole. The spring flowed until city wells were sunk, but after being dry 20 years, it flowed again for a short time in July, 1930.

As nobody understood why the spring ceased flowing, no one could explain the sudden reappearance of the water.

E. A. Kelley, a geologist, however, cleared up the mystery. The spring, he said, had a close connection with a saucer-like depression below the site of the first city wells. The saucer caught and held the underground water.

The spring, he said, represented a "nick" in the rim of the saucer, and for centuries the water flowed through it. When city wells began drawing out the water the level fell below the "nick" and the spring ceased flowing.

More than 80 years ago Capt. R. H. Marcey of the United States army, a pioneer pathfinder of the west, camped beside the big spring. "It was," he wrote, "flowing from a deep chasm in the limestone rocks into an immense reservoir some 50 feet in depth. This appears to have been a favorite resort for the Comanches as there are remains of lodges in every direction; indeed, our Comanche guide tells me he has been here before, and that a battle was fought here some years since between the Pawnees and Comanches in which his brother was killed."

WARNING TO MOTORISTS

A court of appeals in Georgia has handed down a ruling in an automobile injury lawsuit that might well stand as a warning to all motorists. In this case a driver was going along a street near a school. A child darted out from between two parked cars and the driver couldn't stop in time. Suit was filed in behalf of the child and the lower court threw it out, holding that the child's negligence was the cause of the accident. Now the court of appeals has ordered the case reinstated and set for trial. Its decision is that it is up to the motorist to take especial care when driving on a street where there are many children. He knows that children are apt to pop up from nowhere in front of his car; he must take that fact into account, and prepare in advance for such a thing to happen. It's a sound warning for all drivers.

NOT SO UNUSUAL

The Washington cops who pinched a citizen for sitting in a parked car at midnight and kissing his own wife seem to have had a dark view of human nature. They obviously just couldn't believe that they actually had a married couple on their hands; their experience of life, one gathers, was such as to make this doubt natural. But the judge who rebuked the cops and turned the devoted husband loose would seem to have been almost pessimistic. His remarks indicated a tinge of awe at a love so deep and true that it could still warm kisses after four long years of marriage. He seemed to feel that some kind of citation was in order for a couple which could display such unparalleled devotion. We are not ordinarily optimists, but we do feel that both the coppers and the judge ought to get around a little more. There are some millions of married folk in this land who could testify that not four years, nor any conceivable multitude thereof, could be enough to rob married love of its taste for kisses. These Washingtonians must have been meeting the wrong sort of people.

REWARD OF COURTESY

From childhood on, most Americans have drummed into them the precept that it pays to be friendly and courteous. And occasionally they learn of an incident that reveals it not only pays, but pays well. A recent newspaper item deals with such an occurrence. Years ago, a wealthy New York broker anonymously made the rounds of several southern universities, with a view to bestowing his estate upon one as a memorial. While strolling about the campus of a Virginia institution, he was impressed by the cordiality shown him by a student. The lad's affability was said to have pleased him so that, before he died in 1931, he specified that his estate should go to that university after the death of his wife. She died the other day; and the university will be approximately $1,500,000 richer because of the friendliness of one of its students.

WORLD SIGN LANGUAGE

Sir Richard Paget, English scientist, believes that some day there will be a universal sign language, and that a man then will be able to speak to all the races of the world simultaneously. He maintains that an extensive vocabulary can be evolved from appropriate movements of fingers, hands and arms. Thus, hand on heart could indicate "love"; finger on brow, "wisdom"; and so forth. When and if the day arrives that such world language is in general use, Americans conversing with Europeans should find two gestures extremely handy: a tired shrug in answer to reports of a new international incident, and a vigorous shake of the head to requests for war loans. But we doubt if any number of signs will enable Europeans to explain to people on this side of the Atlantic why they can't get along together peaceably.

AN ODD OMEN

One of the queerest harbingers of good times has come recently from no less an institution than the United States army. The army figures that the number of desertions is going to increase this year—and, thereby, deduces that the country is getting back to prosperity. Since 1931 the number of enlisted men who have gone "over the hill" has been far below normal. Times were bad and jobs were scarce; the soldier knew that in the army he would be well fed and well housed and regularly paid, and—recognizing a good thing when he saw it—stuck around. Now, says Brig. Gen. E. T. Conley, acting adjutant general of the army, things are changing, and "it is reasonable to assume that the desertion rate will increase." This may make it tough for the army authorities, whose plans are naturally interfered with by a rise in desertions. But it's a welcome sign of rising prosperity.

A great deal is being heard about the relative voting power of the major parties and the lesser offshoots. But who considers the independent voter? Nobody, apparently, but it appears someone ought to take notice. According to a current poll, some 4,500,000 independent voters apparently have wandered from Democratic pastures since 1932, while approximately 2,000,000 have left the Republican fold. In addition, the pull of the independents is reflected plainly in the Lemke movement. It's about the same story we had in 1928 and 1932, except, of course, that this year there is no wholesale defection. All of which reminds us that, as the independents go, so goes the country.

RADIO MYSTERY

The radio is enjoyed by millions of people who do not understand it, but they need not worry too much about this because there are some things that the experts do not understand either. The other day for nearly an hour shortwave signals from all parts of the world faded and went "blind." Nobody knows why. The same thing was noticed during an eclipse of the sun some months ago but nobody knows whether sun spots were responsible. The fellow with a single-track mind has a lot of trouble keeping his ideas from getting wrecked. The world is still waiting to hear of the man who put a mortgage on his automobile to make a down payment on a home.

CURRENT COMMENT

ANNUAL WARNING ISSUED FARMERS!

With the return of the cotton season comes the annual warning to farmers who continue to drive cotton wagons along the public highways and byways without proper lighting protection. One only has to read a daily state paper, which each day reports numbers of accidents resulting from such action, to grasp the danger signal. Any farmer who has ever met a wagon, without lights, while driving his automobile along the highway knows how difficult it is to see until it is almost too late. It is believed that there are laws regarding farm wagons and other vehicles driving after nightfall without proper lighting and signaling equipment. But laws have never been known to save a life after an accident. The time to save life is before the crash converts the automobile and the wagon into a mass of splintered wreckage.

IEWS AND REVIEWS

Jesse Jones, Chairman RFC: "Business is going to be good—is good and is going to be good—for a number of years."

George Barton Cutler, president, Colgate University: "Gratuitous social security is degrading and degenerating and destructive."

Dorothy Thompson, authoress: "The individual can exist without an aim but he cannot live. For life means growth, expansion, direction, purpose."

Bronislaw Malinowski, British Anthropologist: "It is my considered opinion that the only alternative for us is to abolish war; organize for peace, or perish."

WISE AND OTHERWISE

A Worry For Geneva

The League of Nations seems to be worrying that Germany will take that title, "the Free City of Danzig," too literally.—Goshen News-Times.

Rather Slow In Suing

A lady in Chicago is suing her husband for divorce because, she says, he beat her twice a week for 12 years. Well, she may be justified and all that, but you'd think she'd be used to it by this time.—Appleton Post-Crescent.

Hopper Glares

We've found that in about nine cases out of ten that cold, steely glare the grasshopper fixed upon you is pure bluff. Glare right back at him, looking him straight in the eyes, and like as not he'll go away and try somebody else.—Kansas City Star.

Might Be Worth Trying

Albert Payson Terhune says that if a dog shows signs of attacking you, you should stand perfectly still, with heels pressed together and arms folded, with the palms of the hands flat against your chest. Wonder if that'd work with a bill collector.—Manchester (N.H.) Union.

Always Ammunition

Of course, if the drought continued the political mud throwers would find something to use anyway.—South Bend Tribune.

Convenient

Another nice thing about the modern drug store is that if you like the waffles you are served there you can step right over to another counter and buy an electric iron on which to make them.—Louisville Times.

Haskell County History

As Revealed by the Files of the Free Press 20, 30 and 40 years ago.

Twenty Years Ago—1916
The latest addition to Haskell's business circles is the Haskell Produce Company, which opened for business Wednesday of this week in the old Garnier building, east of the jail. The Haskell firm is a branch of the Abilene Produce Co., and is one of the strongest produce firms operating in this section. Len B. Hammer of Abilene will have charge of the Haskell plant.

Last Thursday night a killing frost fell over this section of the state and at nine o'clock Friday much of the frost was still visible on the grass and buildings. No doubt the frost was sufficient to halt all summer vegetation.

County Judge A. J. Smith and little sons Morris and Gilbert left Thursday for Dallas to attend the Fair.

T. C. Williams, C. L. Womack and R. L. Cooke, trustees of the Brushy school district were in Haskell Saturday conferring with County Superintendent Williams relative to building a new school building at that place. When completed it will be one of the largest in the county.

Ed Fouts and Miss Bessie Mae Glenn were married last Wednesday at 7 o'clock at the home of County Judge Smith, who officiated for the ceremony.

Thirty Years Ago—1906
Mr. D. Scott who got a fall and was rather seriously hurt while working on the Neathery building two or three weeks ago, is able to be out again.

Mr. Joe McCrary, superintendent of the Sherrill Bros. & Co. artificial stone works, showed the reporter a piece of fossilized bone Tuesday and said that on last Saturday while excavating gravel in the pit southwest of town, at a depth of sixteen or eighteen feet, the workmen unearthed what, from its shape evidently was the shell of a huge turtle, four and a half feet long. They tried to get the shell out intact, but it broke into many pieces. From its enormous size, the shell must have been the habitation of a monster sea turtle in ages past.

The report has been out for several days that the Santa Fe proposition was off, but this seems to be incorrect. The surveyors are still at work at Anson locating the line and say they have never received any notice that the proposition is dead. In regard to the Abilene & Northern, the graders both north and south are busily at work moving dirt.

Rev. J. C. Drake, who has accepted the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church at this place, was due to arrive last night and it is expected that he will preach Sunday.

Mr. J. S. Boone returned last Thursday from Fort Worth, where he went with a shipment of cattle.

Very heavy rains fell over this section Saturday evening and night and last Sunday. The precipitation at Haskell measured 3.25 inches. It caused a delay of several days in the work on the new stone buildings, and in the country damaged some recently cut feedstuff and retarded the opening and picking of cotton.

Mr. F. M. Morton returned Monday from Fort Worth, where he accompanied a shipment of cattle made by him and others last week.

Forty Years Ago—1896

Misses Minnie Lindsey and Fannie Hudson, who have been attending the protracted meeting at Throckmorton have returned.

Mrs. E. Cather of Brenham is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Martin of this place.

Uncle Jake Thompson brought us a nice bouquet of roses and chrysanthemums yesterday and said to tell the young ladies that they expected to get any bouquets during the next three years that they had better be sending some to their best fellows. Uncle Jake has bouquets for sale.

Miss Lillie Rike went to Sherman this week, where she will visit friends and relatives for several days.

There has recently been furnished perhaps the severest test ever made of the practicability of bicycles for military purposes. An officer and eight soldiers heavily accoutered and carrying eight days rations, wheeled nearly a thousand miles, including the passage of the Rocky Mountain range, in better time than foot soldiers or troopers could have made a sustained march in a mountainous region.

Roberts

Sunday School and church was well attended here Sunday. Bro. Hinden from Abilene preached for us.

The Roberts singing class sang at Mattson Sunday night. There will be singing Sunday night Oct. 25th at Roberts church.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Force and sons Alfred and Perry, Grover Conner, Mrs. E. O. Chapman and son Jack, Miss Joy Cobb and Emmett Couch, Jr., are in Dallas attending the Centennial over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. King and family spent the week end in Sweetwater visiting Mrs. King's mother and other relatives.

Elbert and Tom Mapes were in Haskell Sunday afternoon to attend the funeral of Mr. Ellis.

Miss Lois Mapes visited in Abilene the past week end. Several people from Cottonwood

HENRY-LESSON RADCLIFFE

CHRISTIANITY AS LOVE

International Sunday School Lesson for October 25, 1936

Golden Text: "Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love." I Cor. 13:13.

(Lesson Text: Acts 18:1-4; I Cor. 13:1-13).

Paul, leaving Silas and Timothy in Berea, proceeded to Athens alone. This famous city at that time had descended from its heights of glory but it was still wonderful for its works of art and other attractions. The Acropolis and the Parthenon are among the outstanding masterpieces of architecture of all time.

Paul's personality soon sensed the contrast between his own inherited faith in the only God and the worship of various deities by the inhabitants of Athens. Pliny states that about this time Athens contained over three thousand statues, commemorating and honoring almost every possible variety of gods and other supernatural beings. A Roman poet remarked that it was easier to find gods in Athens than men. The leading philosophic sects in Athens were the Stoics and Epicureans.

These philosophies have been briefly summarized by Rev. W. L. Alexander as follows: "According to the former, virtue consisted in living according to nature, and the wise man was he who regulated his daily life so as to keep himself in harmony with the great ends and purposes of his being, not allowing himself to be elated with prosperity as if that were a good in itself, or to be overwhelmed with adversity, as if that were an evil in itself.

"To this the doctrine of the Epicureans was to a great extent antithetical. They taught that the great end of man's life and being was happiness, and therefore they counseled men, on the one hand, to avoid all sources of discomfort or suffering, and, among the rest, foolish and wicked conduct, which was sure to bring suffering, if not directly, yet by a retributive remorse; and on the other to cultivate whatever has a tendency to soothe the soul, and make life flow on softly and sweetly."

Into this strange medley of philosophers and gods Paul boldly and courageously proclaimed his faith. He attracted attention and the speculative characterized him as a "setter forth of strange gods," asking to hear more. Luke gives us a brief summary of Paul's address of Athens, in which he skillfully connects the living god and creator of the world with that "unknown god" honored by a monument in the city.

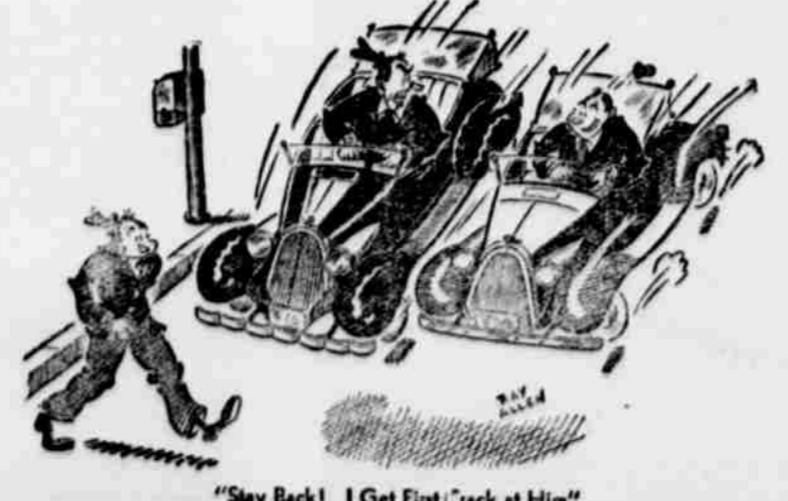

Paul set forth the doctrines of brotherly love and a final reckoning for our conduct, all of which seems to have been received courteously, but when he proclaimed the fact of the resurrection some mocked and others, partly impressed, expressed a desire to hear him again. No great church was established at Athens, although some converts were made.

From Athens Paul proceeded to Corinth, situated on the little narrow strip of earth which united the northern and southern portions of Greece. There is some reason to believe that Paul left Athens under compulsion, although no mention is made of any physical disturbances. Corinth had been destroyed by the Romans about two centuries before this time but had been restored by Julius Caesar about a century before Paul's visit.

Corinth was a large city, of more than a half million people, renowned for its volume of trade and shameless licentiousness.

TODAY'S MASS PRODUCTION PIONEERED BY BLACKSMITH

Mass production which has put so much useful machinery of modern daily life within the reach of millions of our people was born not in the minds of today's great captains of industry, but in the mind of the American blacksmith at his forge fifty years ago, de- clared William S. Knudsen, Exe- cutive Vice-President of General Motors, during visits to the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas and the Frontier Centennial in Ft. Worth recently.

J. F. Kennedy of Haskell was among the business men of the Southwest invited to meet with Mr. Knudsen and other General Motors executives who were in the party visiting the centennial celebrations. The other notables included R. H. Grant, Vice-Presi- dent in charge of Sales; L. P. Fish- er, Vice-President in charge of Style Development; Paul W. Gar- rett, Director of Public Relations, and J. W. Dineen, Director of the Sales Section.

Mother, I can't Study - My head hurts!

AS A USUAL THING, he is "such a regular guy." He comes home from school full of pep and energy. Of course you want him that way always. But are you protecting his health and safety during the few short months of winter when he must spend his evenings indoors?

That uncomfortable "stuffy" feeling . . . dullness . . . lowered vitality . . . headache—these are some of nature's ways of complaining against improper heating and insufficient ventilation. These are the warning signals that America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, has found another fertile field in which to attack. For your health's sake and that of your loved ones do not wait for these definite signs of warning that the air indoors has become stale. Keep the air you breathe constantly purified with fresh oxygen through adequate ventilation in every room in the house.

Without oxygen man cannot live. Without oxygen, fuel cannot burn. Therefore, if your family "huddles" in one or two rooms around an open flame heater during cold weather with the doors and windows tightly closed, you are violating all the rules of nature, good health and good heating. Sooner or later the occupants of the room and the burning fuel reduce the oxygen content to the point where the room air becomes stale. Without adequate ventila- tion and circulation the air indoors may become as foul and unhealthy as that of the tenement slums of large cities, even though your home may be the most beautiful in the neighborhood.

A simple and easy method of provid- ing a constant circulation of fresh air is found by opening a window in each room slightly. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms when the entire house is adequately heated provide a natural circulation of pure warm air from one room to another.

Guard the health of your loved ones with adequate heat and proper ventila- tion of pure, warmed air in every room in the house.

County's Rural Schools Rank Among Best In State

County Board Members Direct Business Affairs

The County Board of Haskell county has been responsible for the present transportation set up of Haskell county. It is this group of men that routes the buses and settles controversies between both district and individual. These men have been elected from their respective commissioner's precincts and direct the affairs of the county school system for the best interest of the county as a whole and not from any one district point of view.

Prejudice and selfish motives have been cast aside in settling minor and major controversies and only the welfare of the child has been considered in organizing the school program for the county. This group of men is progressive, good business men, sympathetic in their dealings and equal to the task of filling one of the most responsible positions in their county.

Library Bus Serves County Rural Schools

The Haskell county rural school library was started a number of years ago with only rural schools as members. The State Department of Education sponsored the movement and encouraged schools to become members by setting aside $10 per teacher to be allowed in their budget for library purposes.

The library was first located in the County Superintendent's office and teachers were able to secure light books every three weeks. When a school becomes a member of the library, the amount of money that it pays into the fund is invested in books. The name of the district is written in the front of the book so that in case the school wishes to withdraw it may do so and get the full value of the money it has spent on the library. Up to this time there has not been a single school to withdraw from the library. The number of schools has steadily increased until all rural schools except 4, and all independent elementary schools except one are members. There are approximately 2500 volumes in this library for the use of the school children. These are only those books approved by the state department and at least one copy of the state approved list of books may be found in the library.

For the 1936-1937 school year a library bus has been added without additional expense for the convenience of member schools. This bus will make a visit every three weeks to the school and each teacher will be allowed ten books for the room. And at the next visit of the bus the teacher may return these books and draw ten more for another three weeks period. This method of distributing books gives each teacher 120 books a year which would be impossible for any school to furnish the teachers of its system. Books are returned through the summer months and rebound and made usable for the next school season.

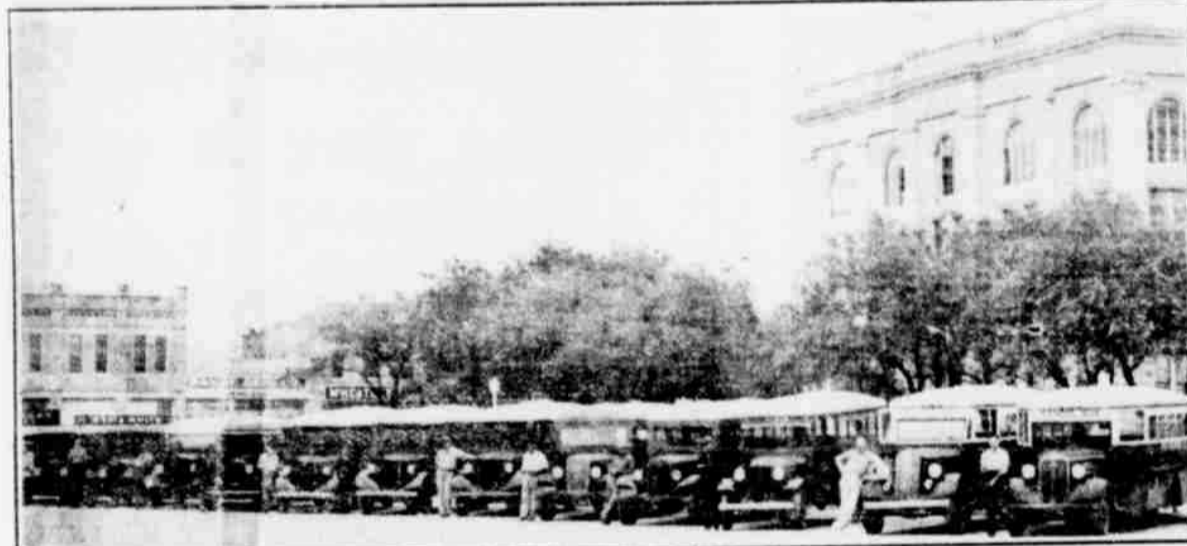

Haskell county has the distinction of being the third county in the state and the only county west of Dallas to furnish this service to all the schools.

21 School Buses Operate in County

Haskell county has made an outstanding record in bus transportation. The County Board has tried to establish bus routes for the accommodation of the high school pupils whereby each child would have the advantage of a nine month affiliated high school without added expense to the parent or the school district.

The number of rural children graduating from high school has steadily increased since these buses have been in operation, and it is hoped that this will be the means of every child staying in school until he has at least a high school education.

Twenty-one school buses are operated in Haskell county, and transport an estimated average of 945 pupils to and from school trips over two routes each day. The picture are shown four buses from Weinert, one from New Cook two from Rochester, two from Haskell, 2 from O'Brien, and one each from Sagerton and Rule.

The school library bus pictured above is the latest addition to the County School Library for rural schools started a number of years ago. This bus was added without additional expense to taxpayers. Approximately 2500 volumes are accommodated in the Library Bus, which will observe a regular itinerary covering all schools in the county.

Matt B. Graham, County School Superintendent since January 1, 1932. He was superintendent of the Rochester schools when elected County Superintendent in 1932.

1934 is recognized as outstanding among the younger educators of West Texas. Accomplishments credited to his administration include the organization of rural schools for cooperative buying, this step alone having resulted in a saving of over $1,100 in one year alone on the purchase of school supplies and equipment. A county teachers organization has been formed to promote united efforts in remedying teaching problems, and to improve methods.

Cost of operation of some schools in the county has been reduced from $138 per pupil per year to $43.

Records also show that not a teacher in the county has gone without pay a single month.

Mr. Graham, graduate of Carpen High School, attended John Tarleton College and the University of Texas, where he received his B. A. degree in 1927.

He was superintendent of the Rochester schools when elected County Superintendent in 1932.

If the Free Press had been published back in the old days, a famous Greek legend would never have been written. Old Diogenes would have put up his lantern, spent his evenings playing pinocle and found his honest man in a jiffy with a two-line Want Ad.

For the Free Press Want Ads are like the famous Mounties. They invariably "get their man", which means that they do what you want and expect them to do. If you're trying to sell your furniture or your home, if you are looking for a renter or a roomer, if you want to buy a business or a band-wagon, remember that a Want Ad will find your man and do the job for you quickly, easily, economically.

Greenwade—

A number of witnesses to the homicide told of seeing the elder Bearden attack the officer and striking him in the left side, and of seeing bloodstains on the officer's side before he fired at Bearden. A pocket knife picked up near the slain man's body was introduced as evidence.

Other witnesses from the stand declared Bearden was a "dangerous" character, either having threatened them personally or been engaged in affrays of which they knew.

Defense attorneys Tom Davis and J. C. Davis argued for Greenwade while the state's case was presented by H. F. Grindstaff, district attorney; Ben Chapman, county attorney; and French M. Robertson, special prosecution attorney.

visions of speeding cars hurtling around the racetrack, he set out for Seymour. Hard luck overtook him. Several miles north of Seymour a pedal broke, forcing him to propel himself into that city with one pedal. The broken part repaired, he was again on his way—only 45 miles to Haskell!

Everything was fine—until the pedal broke again!

Undaunted, he continued with one stout leg furnishing motive power, and reached Haskell in time to see the parade.

Anyway, he'll stay over and see the horse races Friday and Saturday and the auto races Sunday—weather permitting.

And the Fair Association should give Troy a pass to all three events!
