CRIMINALS ARE WEEDS OF OUR OWN GROWING

Perhaps the best lesson we could learn is the fact that the mysteries of human society aren't half as mysterious as we like to pretend they are.

For some 10 years, a woman named Leona Marie Esch was operating director of the Association for Criminal Justice, in Cleveland.

"There is too much theory about the crime problem. We have tried to make crime the mystery of the Sphinx. In this day of sociological research, we have forgotten the homely teaching of the horse-and-buggy age—As the twig is bent, the bough will grow."

In other words, the criminal is what he is because his childhood started him in that direction.

cause his childhood started him in that direction. The twig was bent in the wrong way, and he matured as bent twigs always mature. He became what his youth decreed that he would become.

City slums, depressions that break homes, common tolerance of the "divorce evil," lack of play spaces, public acceptance of the theory that human success can be measured by the amount of money a man makes, glorification of gangsters and get-rich-quick grabbers, tolerance of crooked politics and its alliance of crime with respectability the ever-present contrast between vast wealth and dire poverty—these are a few of the things that bend the twig.

And who is responsible for these things? Who but—all of us? We accept the kind of world in which those things exist. We are too inert and unimaginative to take the action that might end them.

No, there is little mystery to this "crime problem." We live in the kind of society that produces criminals. Until we are willing to make some drastic readjustments we shall continue to HAVE criminals.

GAMBLING CLUBS

A gambling club in a midwestern city is being sued by a widow who was embittered by the fact that her husband would not give her a dollar for food after she had lost almost $10,000 at the club's gaming tables.

brings in only $400,000,000 a year about 7 per cent.

How much of each of these taxes you pay depends on whether you are a farmer, a salaried worker, a merchant, a corporation official; it depends on the amount of your income; it depends on the State and the community in which you live.

The Twentieth Century Fund experts estimated, for example, that under certain conditions that might be considered average, a New York farmer with a $2,000 income would pay more tax than an Illinois farmer with the same income.

When all your taxes are rolled into one, the resulting $12,500,000,000 is estimated by the Institute of Distribution—a research and propaganda organization financed by chain stores—to be greater than the Nation's food bill (set by the institute at $11,500,000,000 a year).

Approaching the problem from a different angle, the institute says $1 of every $4 earned by 75 per cent of the people is spent for taxes.

It traces the tax burden of the average man from the cradle to the grave, beginning with soap for the baby's skin to the post-mortem levy on his estate.

For soap and tooth cleansers, $4,530,000 a year.

For medicine, 172 "hidden" taxes.

For milk and wheat—the twin staffs of life—"more taxes for the consumer than profits for the farmer," the institute states.

For meat, 11 cents tax on a 40-cent pound.

For bread, 53 taxes totaling 2 cents a loaf.

For shoes, 112 "hidden" taxes.

For rent, 30 cents on every dollar.

For a train ride, $3 on a $10 ticket.

For liquor, 85 per cent of the retail price.

For cigars, 6 cents a pack.

For theater tickets, 10 cents on every dollar.

For tennis racquets or golf clubs 1 cent in every 10.

For death, 157 "hidden" taxes.

For funeral and flowers, 120 "hidden" taxes.

And that doesn't include your inheritance tax.

No, no one likes the tax collector.

Soviet Flag Flies at Pole; Four Men To Remain A Year On An Unanchored Ice Floe

An intrepid group of Soviet explorers last week established the first permanent base at the North Pole as a preliminary to the proposed Moscow-San Francisco Air Route over the top of the world.

The expedition of 11 men was landed by airplane on an ice floe 13 miles from the Pole proper, successfully concluding plans that had been worked out in secret for more than two years.

Dr. Otto Schmidt, director of the Soviet "Northern Sea Route" headed the party which took off from Rudolph Island at dawn. Six hours and 10 minutes later Pilot M. V. Vodopyanoff set his heavily loaded, four-motored craft down on the ice.

Messages which came trickling down by radio indicated that the thrilling landing was achieved with lack of incident except for temporary damage to the expedition's radio-sending apparatus.

"We send you," the first message finally crackled out, "through the Dickson Island Radio Station, greetings from the North Pole."

Soviet Flag Unfurled The red and gold flag of the Soviet Union with its hammer and sickle was unfurled immediately, and the expedition set to work preparing for plane-loads of equipment and supplies to be flown from Randolph Island.

Four craft at the new airfield on Rudolph Island, about 560 miles from the Pole, were being loaded with supplies and instruments for their air base and weather observatory essential to the working 10 feet long and 6 feet 9 1-2 inches wide, equipped with many of the comforts of home.

The four men will have 48 different kinds of food, including concentrated meat from 5,000 chickens, concentrated eggs, milk and sausage.

Over heavy woolen underwear, they will wear shirts of reindeer fur, wolf for stockings and fur trousers.

No effort will be made by the quartet to keep the some 1000 miles of ice floe that will be their "yard" anchored to the pole. They plan to let it drift as it will, making their observations over as large a region as possible.

Nation's Annual Tax Bill Estimated At Twelve and A Half Billion Dollars

The tax collector is perhaps the most imposing figure on the American scene today.

Everybody talks about him; no one wants to see him; yet everybody meets him daily many times.

His total yearly bill is estimated by the New York Twentieth Century Fund—a nonpolitical institution proclaiming no pet economic theory—at $12,500,000,000, the highest in history.

How much of that do you pay? It all depends on who you are and where you live.

If you are the average person—this is virtually impossible because the average person is not believed to exist—your annual bill is $100 for your local, State and Federal Government.

You may never see a tax collector, but that is your bill just the same. You pay it in the prices of the food you eat, the cigars you smoke, the movies you see, the rent you pay.

Of the $100, the biggest share goes to the Federal Government, which gets $5,500,000,000 of the tax collector's total. Local government gets the next biggest share, $4,500,000,000. The States take at least $2,500,000,000.

17,000 Different Units The money goes to 175,000 different units of government, from the school board in your hometown to the Federal Treasury in Washington.

It comes from many sources, ranging from your pay check to the house you live in.

That house, with the lot it stands on, is responsible for the biggest slice of the whole tax pie, the Twentieth Century Fund's researchers reported after a two-year study.

Local governments operate almost solely on property taxes, and their bill is one-third of the total. It runs your schools, your police department; it pays your firemen, it installs your sewers, it paves your streets.

The States also collect 5 to 10 per cent of their revenue from property; about $200,000,000. Some States define property as real estate. Others add tangible personal property, business, stocks, and bonds.

Maybe you own no property. Maybe you rent your home. If so, you pay your property tax in your rent. Your landlord is the tax collector.

Income Tax Next

Next to property, income pays the biggest part of the tax bill. In 1936 it supplied $1,400,000,000 to the Federal Government, about one-third of the total federal tax.

In more prosperous years it paid two-thirds of the total. Part of this came from income of corporations, for exemptions on personal income levies are high enough to exempt most persons who have incomes.

Two-thirds of the State also tax income—personal and corporation—usually as minor sources of revenue. Last year they got about $250,000,000.

If you escape the income tax, you are almost certain to be hit by the payroll levies inaugurated by the payroll levies inaugurated to pay for old-age pensions and unemployment insurance. They haven't brought in much money yet, but federal budget estimates say they will produce $300,000,000 in 1937, 6 per cent of the Federal Government's aggregate revenue.

The payroll tax makes your boss an unofficial tax collector, but his role in this respect is picturesque compared to the fellow who fills your auto tank at the corner gasoline station.

Largest On One Article The gasoline tax is, in point of revenue, the largest tax in the country levied on a single article. It gives $200,000,000 to the Federal government, and between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000 to States and local governmental units. And you pay it all to the filling station attendant as part of the price of gas.

It remains for the motor vehicle registration tax, however, to reach the most people in direct form. All the States have it. They collect $300,000,000 from it. It is paid by 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 of the 30,000,000 families in the United States.

Your cocktails, highballs and Scotch-and-sodas account for 11 per cent of the Federal Government's tax total. Liquor taxes give Uncle Sam $600,000,000 yearly spending money, and the States get another $200,000,000.

Cigars and cigarettes and other forms of tobacco nick you and your fellow smokers for more than a half billion in taxes a year: $500,000,000 federal and $50,000,000 state.

The sales tax—on most everything you buy—gets you in 22 States for a total of $400,000,000.

Miscellaneous Taxes The so-called "death taxes" levied on inheritances and on gifts intended to circumvent the inheritance tax, amount to $100,000,000 for the States and $50,000,000 for the Federal Government.

Miscellaneous taxes, ranging from automobiles to chewing gum and movie tickets and stocks and bonds, supply another $700,000,000 to the Federal Government.

Customs duties, which kept the average man's tax bill down by paying nearly half of the federal tax bill before the war, now

Ranger Quartermaster Is Ready For More Rough Riding At Age of 67

Years with the fast riding rangers ought to prove hair raising experience for man but Capt. R. A. Aldrich, quartermaster of the rangers, is ready to go on duty as a ranger.

largely confined to the work, the former cowboy, lumberjack and field work such as "cutting off" a gambling house. It comes his way.

1915 Mexican bandit

Approaching a town one night, the train lights extinguished as was customary, the passengers were panic stricken by a volley of shots.

Aldrich and a fellow officer dashed to the door. Suddenly cries of anguish came from beneath his feet. He could not locate the source because of the darkness. Finally he made out the crumpled form of a man—a salesman who in attempting to crawl under a seat for protection found the ranger's heeled boots squarely on his neck.

Somehow that stands out as the most ridiculous thing that happened to him as a member of the force. Incidentally, the source of the shots was never determined.

Capt. Aldrich's inclination for action never has died. He's ready at a minute's notice to mount a horse or handle a sixshooter.

Ranger duty now is largely routine," he says. However, he's not objecting. He finds plenty to do. When not at work he tends scores of animals in his private zoo or delves into thousands of volumes in his library which deals mainly with animals and Texans.

June 3, 1922

A transaction was consummated this week whereby the American Public Service Company of Abilene became owners of the Haskell Ice & Light Company of this city. The new owners took charge Thursday June 1. The present management will probably not be changed at present, it was announced.

Contract for garrelling of the street from the end of the pavement to the depot was awarded last week to St. Clair and McDavid, contractors of Seymour.

O. W. Young of Eastland purchased the T. J. Johnson & Son candy kitchen and took charge the first of the week.

George Page, a farmer living near O'Brien, was killed and C. Matura, a Bohemian living in O'Brien is in the county jail as a result of a cutting affray Saturday night at the home of a farmer living several miles west of O'Brien.

The brick work on the new garage and filling station being erected by R. C. Couch on Depot street has been finished, and workmen are busy on the roof and interior of the building.

Prof. C. C. Mintra, for the past three years superintendent of the city schools, has accepted the position as superintendent of the Ozona Public Schools, in Crockett county. Mr. Mintra will probably leave for Ozona next week.

A county-wide bond issue of $1,500,000 for building highways in the county will be voted upon at an election to be held August 6th. It is proposed to hard surface every State and Federal highway in the county if the proposed bond issue carries in the election.

On last Friday evening at the Haskell High School, commencement exercises were held for the graduating class of 1927. There were thirty-four graduates in the class.

Press dispatches announce a statement given out by Henry Ford at Detroit Wednesday evening announcing a new model car to be built by the Ford factories.

Rev. H. R. Whately, pastor of the First Baptist Church in this city, preached the Baccalaureate sermon at O'Brien Sunday afternoon to a large and appreciative audience.

Elmer Lawson, star athlete of Crowell High School, was instantly killed when struck by lightning Monday at 6 p. m. while chopping cotton on his father's farm.

A general ran, which in Haskell amounted to one and one-half inches, fell over the entire section Monday evening. Some damage from high winds and rain of almost cloudburst proportions was caused at O'Brien and Knox City.

C. M. Francis, general manager of the Rule-Jayton Cotton Oil Company, announces extensive improvements in the company plant at Rule and Jayton. At Rule a contract was let May 25th for a building, the estimated cost of which will be $20,000, together with replacing of machinery.

Dallas Exposition Amusement Spot Two Continents

American vacationists to the Pan American Exposition which opens in Dallas June 12 will converge upon the amusement spot of the two American continents—the Pan American Casino.

Housed in the largest single-unit, air-conditioned building at the 1937 international fair, the Casino offers the foremost in American entertainers.

Opening with Ted Fio-Rito and his band, the international revue will present a brilliant musical revue in a colorful Latin American setting. Special music for the show is being written by Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal, and rehearsals have started in New York under the direction of Chester Hale, one-time director for Major Edward Bowes' Capitol Theater in New York City, and now dance director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios.

The revue will also feature Stan Kavanagh from the post-humorous edition of Ziegfeld Follies, and Lynn Murray and his 24-voice male choral ensemble.

Ravel's internationally famous "Bolero" will be the musical background for the brilliant finale to a scintillating revue.

Sets for the Casino revue and the interior of the building are being designed by Jo Mielziner, Broadway scene creator.

Following the engagement of Ted Fio-Rito, Rudy Vallee and Company will open in the Casino on July 10 for two weeks. After the appearance of the genial Rudy, Phil Harris and his band long a favorite of Southwesterns, will play an engagement. Other bands including those of Benny Goodman and Ozzie Nelson, are under consideration for appearances at the million-dollar play spot.

Luncheon and tea will be served each day at the Casino. Although performances of the revue will be held only at night, the featured orchestra will play for dancing at luncheon and tea-time. George Marshall, director of entertainment for the international fair, announced recently.

Dining facilities in the Casino will accommodate 1,800 persons. Several hundred seats will be available for spectators who wish to see the international revue but not dine.

ATTACKS TEACHER

New York.—Because A. Louis Lieberman, a teacher, had punished her 13-year old son the day before, Mrs. Mary Azzarite, 38, attacked him, scratched his face and tore his clothing. Taken to court she was fined $10, which was suspended on her promise not to annoy Lieberman further.

SMOKE BEES; BURN WOODS

Tarboro, N. C.—While attempting to smoke bees out of a tree so that they could get some honey, Roland Kenny, North Kenny and Claude Bellamy, colored youths, started a woods fire which burned over eighty acres of forest. They failed to get any honey.
