Mahon Advises Independence For Philippines

Advocating complete independence for the Philippine Islands as a vital peace insurance policy for the United States, Congressman George Mahon last week asked the House of Representatives in Washington to consider legislation making independence possible in 1938 or 1939. The present law provides for complete withdrawal of the United States in 1946. In his address to the House Mahon stated: "We are legislating for neutrality. We are bent on preserving peace for America regardless of war in Europe or Asia. We are far from Europe but as long as we maintain our sovereignty in the Philippines we are liable to be in the middle of a conflict in the Orient. This is most unfortunate, and this untenable position should be terminated at the earliest possible moment. It is one of the major threats to peace of the United States."

Department Hopes For River Dam

For a dam across the river near Vernon faded officials of the Peace and control district request the war department to take the project.

Interested parties of the group, comprising representatives from Wichita, Wilbar, Hardeman and Ford counties, stated, "The resolution by congress has been and is unfavorable to the United States improvement or further the flood control measure which the war department is responsible for." The reverse conclusions are reached by the over-all general improvement to be expected from the desired flood control project would not be complete with the cost of the project.

Rats Account For Huge Loss In State Yearly

Texas sustained a fifteen million dollar loss last year, on account of rats, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The figure is a very low estimate based upon the probable number of rats in the State, two for each person. No doubt many suffer losses that would pay their taxes, and thus does not take into consideration the losses from diseases, time and money, caused by the rat.

Typhus fever is on the increase in Texas, said Dr. Cox and the rat is the cause of its spread. Old World typhus fever has a high death rate, while the type we have in Texas, sometimes called Brill's Disease, has a low death rate. It occurs among persons who work or live in rat infested buildings. It was the observation of this fact that led to the discovery that rats are carriers or transmitters of the disease. It appears that the rat suffers attacks of this form of typhus fever and that the fleas harbored by the sick rat bite man, and thus human infection results. Although this disease is not commonly fatal, it cannot be considered lightly. The intense headache, the high fever and the great mental depression are its most unpleasant features. Like in sea sickness, the patient's greatest fear is that he is not going to die. The illness lasts about two weeks.

The control of typhus is very difficult and it depends upon the extermination of rats and this is no easy matter. Trapping and poisoning help, but the best results are obtained by having all buildings clean where food is stored rat-proofed.

Unsolved Mysteries of Big Bend Studied By Geologists

Unsolved mysteries of the Big Bend area are being wrestled with by geologic detectives seeking the answer to such riddles as the source of extensive volcanic beds in the Chisos mountains, and the story behind remnants of prehistoric monsters that have been found in areas of the proposed Big Bend National Park. These include a petrified oyster that measures more than four feet in length and three feet in width. Six of these on the half-shell it is estimated, would have provided a fair-sized meal for one of the dinosaurs that inhabited the region in the long, long ago.

National Park service geologists, after more than six months' work, have just completed restoration of one of these giant bivalves, believed to be the largest ever found anywhere. It is housed in a temporary museum in the proposed park, in the southern part of this county.

National Park service geologists, after more than six months' work, have just completed restoration of one of these giant bivalves, believed to be the largest ever found anywhere. It is housed in a temporary museum in the proposed park, in the southern part of this county. Dr. Charles N. Gould, who found some of the larger fossils, believes that some of even greater proportions may be unearthed in the same locality. He expressed the view that conditions which prevailed when these oysters lived in fargone prehistoric seas were particularly favorable to the development of marine life. The various forms of clams and oysters grew to immense size. Myriads of them are found in the Big Bend country today. By far the greater number occur in the geological formation known as the Boquillas Flags. One may walk for twenty miles along the base of the Dead Horse mountains and frequently tread on petrified oysters.

Elephants are said by scientists to have inhabited the earth at least fifty thousand years before man, and dinosaurs lived thirty million years before the elephant. Both elephant and dinosaur bones have been found in the Big Bend country in which some of the rocks are estimated by geologists to be more than sixty million years old.

The area also contains what is believed to be the largest tree in Texas, either living or petrified. It is a section of a petrified tree trunk ten feet in diameter and forty feet in length. "From the standpoint of geology," Dr. Gould said, "the Big Bend is unique. Rarely can there be found in the United States an area of similar size which combines so many outstanding geological features. Problems on sedimentation, structure and paleontology (both invertebrate and vertebrate) are all crying for solution. "Our greatest problem at this time is to locate the source of the volcanic beds. No one seems to know where the source of the material may be found. There are a few if indeed any plugs or stocks visible to the observer anywhere near at hand. The vast amount of material which covers the high peaks of the Chisos and other mountains came from somewhere. But just where, no one seems to know." — Alpine Avalanche.

Individuals May Be Given Benefits of Insured Mortgages

A bill is now before congress, introduced by Senator Arthur Harry Moore of New Jersey, is open to individuals as well as banks and similar institutions the right to seek FHA insurance for their mortgage loans they make on homes. The bills reads very simply: "Subject to such terms and conditions as the administrator shall prescribe individuals shall be approved as mortgagees."

Nearly a fifth of the home mortgage lending of the country, according to the best available figures, is transacted by individuals who lend their own funds and who buy and sell mortgages on their own account. There is no reason why such lenders should be excluded from the benefits of mortgage insurance should they desire the servicing of the mortgages. Since only "approved mortgagees" may buy FHA insured mortgages, it is obvious that the wider the group who may become "approved mortgagees" the wider the market for insured mortgages and the greater will be the element of liquidity in mortgage holdings given us by the FHA plan.

Exclusion of individuals from use of the plan has of course tended to throw the mortgage business more and more to chartered institutions, who are now the only group that can qualify. In practice it has tending most notably to shift home mortgage making to banks.

No distortion of lending groups was intended in the idea of home mortgage insurance. Senator Moore's bill to enable individuals to hold FHA mortgages would create a provision that those most familiar with the financing of the home buyer have asked for since the national housing act was proposed. It is a measure in which home buyers and home owners, present and prospective, have a direct interest.

The bill is now before the senate committee of banking and currency.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Taylor of Bowie, Texas, are here visiting friends and relatives.

Estimate That 3-4 of the 1937 Crop Has Been Harvested

According to reliable estimates, Haskell county farmers have harvested three-fourths of the 1937 grain crop, largest grown in the county since 1914.

Estimates place the yield for the entire county at approximately 720,000 bushels, based on an average yield of 18 bushels per acre from 40,000 acres in the county. At noon Tuesday, 117 carloads of wheat or approximately 163,000 bushels, had been shipped from Haskell, according to Henry Dobbins, Wichita Valley agent, and local grain buyers and farmers believe that at least 160 cars will be shipped from Haskell this year. Total shipments of grain from Haskell for the 1936 crop amounted to 80 carloads, Mr. Dobbins revealed.

Farmers Receive Around 90 Cents Bushel

Prices being paid locally will average around 90 cents per bushel, and based on this figure farmers have received $147,420 for the grain already harvested and shipped from Haskell. Last year's crop brought an average of 79 cents per bushel on the local market.

With ideal weather prevailing, farmers believe the remainder of the grain in the county's fields can be harvested within the next two weeks.

PLUGGING THE SOURCE

Judge J. M. Braude of the Chicago boys' court declares that the "three G's"—gin, gas and girls—are bringing more erring youngsters into his court these days than ever before. More important, he announces that hereafter, when juveniles are brought in for driving while under the influence of liquor, he will proceed against the tavern owners and saloon keepers who have been selling them booze.

No one can fail to wish him success in this campaign, or to hope that he deals out the stiffest penalties the law provides. It is impossible to think of any excuse for the man who sells liquor to a minor. A joint where such sales take place should be closed permanently in short order. It is about the worst kind of public nuisance that can possibly exist.

'CAREERS' IN WPA

Whenever the administration has made a cut in its list of WPA relief clients, a mighty howl has gone up from families and individuals who believed they were getting a raw deal. In some cases, this protest was justified. In others, where the WPA jobs had been turned into lifetime careers, no sympathy was called for.

New York's works progress administrator Lieut. Col. B. B. Somervell, has drawn plans for replacing WPA "career" workers with jobless men and women more eager to equip themselves for a return to private employment. As a start, Colonel Somervell has ordered a thorough analysis of "the life on work relief" of those receiving federal aid.

Properly handled, this is fair procedure to those WPA workers who honestly want to make their way independent of the government. And though tardy, it might do much to overcome the fear that work relief is creating a national class of unambitious drones.

Some men who think they ought to be elected to public office should at least be given credit for an original thought.

BOLT HELPS FISHERMAN

Portland, Ore.—While practicing casting in the Willamette river, Mitchel A. Cloninger made an unusual catch. Lightning flashed as a storm suddenly broke. Cloninger heard the honking of geese overhead, and after a particularly sharp flash of lightning, saw several grey objects tumbling from the sky. He rowed to the spot where they fell and picked up twelve fat geese.

Simple Meals Save Time For Early Summer Sunshine

Who wants to stay indoors when green fields, open roads, golf and tennis call to outdoor living? But since families must be fed, a certain amount of precious time must be spent in the kitchen. But you can cut it short by utilizing fewer and simpler dishes and choosing those that may be at least partly planned in advance. Here are some menu suggestions for the cook who wants to put her kitchen hours on a budget of time saving.

 1 cup sliced peaches
 1 cup sliced bananas.
 Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, add peach juice and lemon rind. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in peaches and bananas. Spread lightly over maraschino cream in cake shell. Chill.

Cucumbers Mold
 This salad may be made ready the day before it is to be served.
 Add 1 cup crisp cucumbers, diced to 1 pint lemon gelatin, as the gelatin begins to thicken, add 3 teaspoons minced pimento and 3 teaspoons finely cut onion. Chill in small molds and turn out on thick slices of tomato arranged on lettuce lined plates.

Coconut Crisps
 Mix together 1-2 cup sweetened condensed milk, 2 cups shredded coconut, 1 teaspoon rose water or vanilla and the stiffly whipped whites of 1 or 2 eggs. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered or waxed paper and bake in moderate oven.

 Salt
 Pepper
 Celery salt
 Onion juice
 Lemon juice
 1-4 cup cracker crumbs
 1 egg slightly beaten
 Stock
 Tomato Sauce
 Line mold with cooked rice. Chop meat and season to taste. Add cracker crumbs, meat stock or water to moisten and egg. Put in center of rice. Cover meat with rice and steam 45 minutes. Turn out and serve with tomato sauce.

Savory Salad
 1 head lettuce
 2 cups thinly sliced cabbage
 1 cup diced celery

"In scoring bread there are four things to consider, first general appearance, second flavor, third, crumb, fourth lightness," said Miss Mildred Vaughan to members of the Midway Home Demonstration Club at their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

"Good bread should be a two pound loaf, creamy white in appearance, flavor should be of parched grain, and crumb should be fine, tender, moist, and elastic," continued Miss Vaughan.

Members answered roll call with "Why I Strive To Make Quality Bread."

Mrs. J. B. Smith's resignation as council representative, was accepted with regrets.

Visitors In Mexico Should Know Their Signs; Mastery of Few Gestures Comes In Handy

(In the United States the sign reads the same way.)

Belisario Quiroz, manager of the Mexican Automobile Association at Laredo offers to give a little free instruction to American tourists whose Spanish is limited to "adios", headquarters of the organization at Monterrey, Mexico announces. Lessons will be in signs, not words—Mexicans being highly qualified in gestures.

"Although one may find someone in almost every store, hotel, and gasoline station in Mexico who speaks English," Quiroz said "the tourist who wishes to be able to make himself understood need only master a few standard Mexican gestures." Here are a few he suggests tourists paste in their hats:

Food: Press all the fingers of the right hand together into a point, then, holding them not far from the mouth, make a few short, sharp gestures toward the opening in the face. This means "Let's eat," or "Where do I eat?"

(The American Indian rubs his diaphragm and the army bawls "show" for equivalents.)

Drink: This should be easy for any elbow-bender. The rule requires balling the fingers of the right then straightening the thumb and little finger. Next jerk the thumb toward the mouth with an upward movement of the elbow "and anywhere in Mexico," Quiroz said, "it will be immediately understood" that the jerkee wants a drink.

Mrs. L. H. Schroeder and Mrs. C. L. Schroeder were joint hostesses for the meeting of the home demonstration club Friday June 18 in the L. H. Schroeder home.

The meeting was opened by the president and the roll call was answered by each member present with different opinions on "Why I Strive To Make Quality Bread."

The business of raising money for the expenses of our delegate, Mrs. Rathgeber to Short Course was brought before her house and $5.50 was quickly donated by the members.

The girls clubs and their sponsors were duly praised by the women and two of the winners, Edna Schroeder who won first place in cooperatives and Ruthell Clark who received honorable mention, were present and displayed their dresses. A very interesting talk on judging the quality of home made bread was made by Miss Vaughan after which score cards were passed around and all proceeded to the dining room where bread, rolls and cinnamon rolls brought in by different members were judged and generously sampled. Punch and cookies were served after which the meeting adjourned to meet July 2 with Mrs. Cecil Schroeder.

The following ladies were present: Mrs. R. N. Sheid, Mrs. W. P. Caudle, Mrs. G. A. Diers, Mrs. E. R. Rathgeber, Mrs. L. K. Kinsey, Mrs. G. A. Leach, Mrs. Wilson Gibson, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. G. A.
