New Maps -- A New World

Your world, young friend, will be different from mine. You'll have different problems—bigger problems.

After this war will come the day of reckoning—the due date for the payment of our bad judgment, recklessness, extravagance, and sheer foolishness have to pay up.

Getting along in the world will be no simple problem. It will call for the very best ability, the very best training, and the very best things of all available to men and women.

You have a chance now to get the type of training and education that will help you over the difficult period you are facing. In twenty years there will be more bosses than there are now; why don't you resolve to be one of them?

Don't forget the fact that behind intelligent action is intelligent thinking. Either action without thought or thought without action is fruitless—even when it seems foolish.

You'll Have To Take Over....

Thousands of young men are saying to young lady assistants — actual substitute employees—"I'll show you the routine and tell you as much as I can about some of the fundamental principles that run through the work in this office. You'll have to take over and do the best you can. I may get back after the war and I may not—but as part of our effort for human freedom, the world of business must go on." It hardly seems necessary to say that the thousands of young women who will be called in the business offices to take responsibility for the places vacated by men should at once make the very best preparation they can to do well the important work that will be placed in their hands.

We have said again and again that production will win the war, and that the young lady who takes a position in a civil industry may know that she is contributing to this all-important matter of production—whether the concern be dealing with raw materials, manufacturing, distributing, or whatnot.

of the seniors of their scholastic careers at either South Ward or East on September 4. All of these students have completed all their school work. At the close of time, this group have gone to a different school. During those first years of their scholastic careers, they have followed the alphabet with the intricacies of arithmetic and the intricacies of writing and the intricacies of mathematics. They have learned to enter the seventh grade. They have learned to enter the eighth grade. They have learned to enter the ninth grade. They have learned to enter the tenth grade. They have learned to enter the eleventh grade. They have learned to enter the twelfth grade.

Class Prophecy of '42

I'd like to read you a part of the morning paper, "Read This and Weep," of Haskell, Texas. It is dated May 14, 1952. The column is entitled "Present Occupations of Senior Class of '42." This class was given this honor because it was the most outstanding class since H. H. S. has existed—what? No Protests?? And now on with the story.

Freida Wheatley and Sam Smith are chasing little playboys all around their farm west of town. They've been married nine years and have seven children—all boys.

Roy Clay Brock is the proprietor of the "Lovey Dovey" dance hall located about 2 1/2 miles north of Haskell.

Rachel Carr, Jean Menefee, Frances Bolin, and Doris Minick are working for Mr. Brock. They are known as the "Hawaiian Swing Quartet." They wear grass skirts and boy, do they swing it!

Janette and Vivian are famous baseball players. They play every Saturday in this order: 1st, Paint Creek; 2nd, Rule; and 3rd, Weirnet.

Hughie Watson, Charles Reeves and Hank Snellings are in the rubber business. They are the most well-known Seniors of the class of '42. To be more explicit, they are in the business of removing tires from cars without the permission of the owners. They know every jail keeper and sheriff in seven counties by their first name.

Frances Chapman, Ginger and El Vira have been most successful in the bowling business. They own a bowling alley and to everyone who plays five games they give one kiss. The line usually extends past the post office.

Bud has become known as the second "Benny Goodman" and has an orchestra of his own. This orchestra consists of Garene Head, Pete Hester and J. W. Holland.

Billy Hester went along for a couple of years just to be near J. W. so Bud put her to work. Now she does a strip tease act during intermissions.

Sister and Dan are still on the same old corner selling cold drinks. And little Oatsie peddles papers too.

Carrol and Vernay now own their own ranch, and are getting their fill of boots and spurs and town once a week.

Ross is Haskell's big politician. He has an excess of the one quality needed to assure success in this field—hard headedness when he's decided to be on one side of an argument.

Vera and Juanita, Pauline and Inez, those inseparable four, are now contentedly married and living within shouting distance of each other.

Bev King is a famous dress designer and Florence and Mary Heien are her models.

Billy Clifton is now the proud possessor of a sports roadster but he looks back with envy on the collapsible he took on the Senior trip.

Lomeda and Goldie are fellow-scientists in New York, and have become quite famous for a remedy for spring fever.

Gilbert is the proud owner of a string of theatres and for his cashiers he has Anna Mae, Sue Pate and Ladelle Welch.

Our most handsome boy, Alton, is still running from pursuing females. He has been casting eyes at a cute girl who graduated in the class of '44.

Hess and John Miller went to Rule so regularly that they were given the postman's job, and are now working for Uncle Sam.

A. H. and Snort have revived vaudeville and are a slapstick comedy team, but I fear vaudeville is due a serious relapse.

Maurine and Ladelle are barkers for a side show. In this same carnival Marjorie Covey is the bearded lady and Onella is the snake charmer.

Annie Bess is teaching chemistry in H. H. S. as Miss Kennedy's partner.

Allan also turned to the teaching profession for the future. But he went a little higher than Annie Bess. He's lecturing at Texas University on the subject, "Why Texas U is a Better School Than A. & M. This lecture is dedicated to one of his old classmates, David Patterson.

Roy McClintock is making good as a professional tennis player, but he's still disappointed over the fact that he doesn't have his little brother's "charm with the women."

And last but not least, we come to little Josephine Parish. She is still running after John H. Ada-buerry but now he's serving in the peace-time army, and she is entertaining all his buddies with her famous tap-dancing routines.

And new for our dear sponsor, Miss Couch—she is residing permanently in the State Hospital at Wichita, poor thing. She never got over the Senior trip, the play and Senior Day of '42.

Although these students of the class of '42 have scattered far and near, they have retained the companionship they had with their fellow students, and they will always have their love for Haskell High School.

School Reaches 100 Per Cent In Stamp Buying

Last Friday the students of Haskell High School proved that they were every one loyal Americans. Every student bought at least one stamp, making our school 100 percent in war stamp buying. Several bought bonds; the total sales for the day amounted to $138.00.

In an announcement period earlier in the week Mr. Ramsey suggested that we resolve to be 100 percent on one of the two remaining Fridays. When it came to a vote the student body voted unanimously to try to be 100 percent both Fridays left. Half of this goal has been accomplished and we'll all be trying to accomplish the other half next week.

Haskell High can surely be proud of this accomplishment not only because it shows true patriotism among our students, but because it shows complete student cooperation. In fact, if we were "Drip", we'd say: cheers, and cheers, and cheers to us!

Let's make a sincere effort to be 100 percent next Friday and more than that raise the amount of the sales—because we resolved to, and because our country needs support from all of us, 100 percent.

Sophomores Go On Hayride

The members of the Sophomore Class enjoyed a wonderful hayride and picnic Thursday evening May 14.

Two trailers, laden with hay and loaded with boys and girls, left the Activity Building at seven thirty. The trailers were drawn by a tractor furnished by one of the sophomore boys. This procession proceeded to a pasture four miles east of town where everything was unloaded for a magnificent weiner roast.

After eating, everyone enjoyed games furnished by the entertainment committee.

The ride back consisted mostly of a "super" hay fight between wagon No. 1 and wagon No. 2. The sophomores arrived at the activity Building at 9:45 p. m., where they disbanded and went their separate ways. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey and Mr. Horton.

Senior Memories (Class Poem)

I'd like to turn back the pages of time
From the book of our senior year,
And re-live the things that happened then;
Those memories, all so dear.

I'll never forget registration day;
We felt so superior then.
Now I'd like to be placed in a lower place,
And be a freshman again.

We had football, basketball, tennis and track,
And sports of every kind.
We didn't always win, but to the very end
Our teams were the best you'd find.

A new building we had, and a beauty it was
A shrine to a wonderful year;
We may all go many miles away,
But our hearts will be anchored here.

We'll remember our Student Council
And never forget the good they've done.
We'll remember our buying of stamps and bonds,
So this war may be won.

The flag we presented to the school,
Our hayride in the moonlight mellow,
And we'll never forget our senior play,
"All on Account of Luella."

The banquet the Baptist ladies gave,
And our trip to Cisco, too.
Our Junior-Senior banquet,
And the dance—too good to be true.

This has all been in the past,
Memories—good and true.
Before us lie our final exams,
Graduation, and then we're through.

Of course, it hasn't all been sweet
Like perfume, lavender, and lace,
But now we find when we have to leave,
We rather like the place.

We're glad to be alive, we say,
To laugh, to love, to cry.
And the softest spot in our hearts we give
To our own dear Haskell High.
—Billie Jack Speer.

The Gypsy Ramblers of Haskell High School presented a program Tuesday, May 19, which was on "Gypsy Rambler Day." In charge of the program was Freida Wheatley. The student body enjoyed first, two numbers, "A String of Pearls" and "The Boogie-Woogie Bugle Boy" played by the "Silent Swingsters of H. H. S." Carolyn Williams gave a reading, which was followed by a dance by Josephine Parish. The Haskell High School Trio, dressed in Hawaiian costumes sang "Hawaiian Sunset." The old officers of the club introduced to the student body the new officers who will serve during the school term '42-'43. Josephine Parish introduced Patsy Pearsey as the new president; Betty Jo Hester introduced Betty Jane Isbell as the new vice-president; Sue Pate introduced Marie Adams as the new secretary; Garene Head introduced Velma Alice Ballard as the new treasurer; Virginia Smith introduced Annette Laird as the new sergeant at arms; and Freida Wheatley introduced Shirley White as the new reporter. To conclude the program Betty Jo Hester led the Gypsy Ramblers in their club song.

Seniors Present Program On Senior Day

In celebration of Senior Day, the seniors presented a program to the student body, May 14. Ross Lowe, president of the senior class was master of ceremonies for the program, which was prepared by Gilbert Wheeler, Garene Head, and Florence Hammer. Gilbert took charge of the assembly in a perfect imitation of Mr. Ramsey. First, Josephine Parish read the class history, which was written by Florence Hammer. "Too Late" and "Worried Mind" were capably sung by those four senior canaries, J. W. Holland, Dan Oates, "Snort" Patterson, and "Playboy" Sam Smith. When the students had recovered from this, David "Snort" Patterson read the class will, which was written by Sue Pate. Dale Bartlett read the prophecy of the class, and Billie Jack Speer gave an original poem. Roy Clay Brock, vice-president of the Senior class, gave Jerry Cahill, junior class president, the seniors' flag to be used by the future Senior class of Haskell High. Roy also expressed a wish that the flag would bring much luck to the next class.

Through the Looking Glass

Finals are here! And after these terrible things, school is out! Three months of loafing around, absorbing "Old Sol". Of course the finals are not to be regarded lightly. But look what happens afterwards. So I guess the best policy will be to grin and bear it. Cause, as the old saying goes, "It's always darkest before the dawn."

Junior boys—calling all junior boys—look out for a big rush from the senior girls. The secret is that the majority of the senior boys are leaving to attend some school in June. So of course these cuties are not to be left alone. So take your pick. Of course Dan will be here through the summer, so that eliminates Sister and Anna Mae. Dan eliminated Dan McClintock long ago, but with the exception of these people, the rest is easy going.

The fish are certainly acting big lately. Me thinks it's because after this year, they will have someone to pick on, and they won't have to take all the razzing. You see, there will be the seventh graders coming up next year. I feel sorry for the poor creatures, because the sophomores were rather hard on the present fish, and I suspect that they will take it out on the fish of '42 and '43.

Hooray for Haskell High! Every student and teacher bought a Defense Stamp in last Friday's sales.

The gifts were selected by a committee composed of Freida Wheatley, Maureen Johnson, Carrol Bledsoe, Rachel Carr, and Ross Lowe, and the presentation was made by Ross. After the program the seniors enjoyed eating their lunch together.

Seniors Entertained By Methodist Young People

The seniors were guests of the Methodist Young People Friday night at a lawn party, which was held on the church lawn.

Mr. Copeland and several members of the League planned the games. With Mr. Copeland in charge, a number of fun making games were played and there wasn't a dull moment for anyone. After playing a couple of hours, the guests were led into the basement of the church where they sang old songs and played a few more games.

The boys were given names of famous men and the ladies the famous women. After matching these together they were eligible for refreshments: Pimento cheese on hi-ho's, cookies and punch were served buffet style.

In addition to the seniors and League members present, the following faculty members attended: Miss Riley, Miss Vick, Miss Kennedy, Miss Couch, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Horton and Mr. and Mrs. Stone. Several of the seniors were also

Glimpses of the Hayride

Students, let's organize a cavalry for Billy Decker. On the ride home he kept blowing a bugle and hollering "Advance!" Believe it or not everyone scattered.

During that "swell" hay fight which we have spoken of, a few pieces of bread began to fly. We wonder where the idea of bread balls originated? Could it have been the freshmen, Mr. Stone?

Some of the boys preferred walking to riding. It couldn't have been they couldn't find a place to ride. How about it, Pete?

I suggest, members of the sophomore class, that we all contribute to a fund for the purchasing of a new hat for Pat. He jerked cricks in our necks stopping to retrieve his lost hat.

Cookies crumbled in your hair must be a new recipe for beautiful hair. At least Hartzell and Margene think so. They gave each other a cookie shampoo.

The members of the sophomore class wish to express their appreciation to Pete Heath for the trailers, to Claude Helwig for the hay, to Pat Speer for the tractor, and to others who took part in planning the ride.

Uncle Sam Calls Upon Small Towns to Mobilize Initiative And Assets to Help Win War

The federal government today called upon the thousands of small communities throughout the nation to mobilize their initiative and their assets to help win the war.

With all the pertinent facts in hand the next logical step is a plan for action, the manual points out. The group making the survey may not be equipped to get results when the action stage is reached. A citizens' community development board tied in with all war and organized group activities is proposed to take over the job at this stage. Its membership should include local leaders with the initiative, ability and interest to get things done. This would bring into the picture newspaper editors, ministers, political, social, business and educational leaders.

The importance of a definite plan is strongly emphasized. In fact, any plan is said to be better than no plan at all. Suggestions are made for the development of whatever plan is adopted, together with steps to insure cooperation by all community groups. Various special war and promotional activities are outlined, with a number of specific examples of what has been accomplished by communities along this line.

When the manual was prepared, last summer copies were sent to the department of commerce regional business consultant in each of the 12 regions into which the country has been divided by the department for administrative reasons.

A typical reaction was, "Why didn't we think of this before." One town uncovered an immediate need for an electrical repair shop with business waiting for it. It also added a place for farmers' wives to pack their youngsters while shopping.

The manual has been revised in the light of the experience. A limited number of copies are available for distribution to energetic leaders of small communities. A printed edition is planned if there is a demand for it. Already the department of commerce has upward of 2,000 requests for the manual from persons who have learned of the work in the test towns.

The manual offers no special magic for the solving of all small community problems. On the contrary, it points out that lasting progress for a community must be based on the earnest thought and hard work of its own people, and affords ready reference to methods of community action for war purposes.

The first step in any program for community betterment, the manual points out, is to take inventory and then to make careful analysis of the assets and shortcomings of the town and surrounding country. The plan set forth does not require the expenditure of money or the services of an expert. On the contrary, a committee of civilians, a service club, a woman's organization, or any other civic group can make use of it. High school classes can be used to do much of the work.

Much Up to Citizens
 Every small community is largely dependent upon the surrounding rural area. For this reason, the plan includes cooperation with farmers as partners in town and community building activities.

The survey covers all important factors in the life of the community, including converting community effort to war work. It must be purely objective because to locate and remove weak spots is as important as discovering assets that may have been neglected. The natural trading area would be mapped and ways and means sought for bettering conditions as a whole, thereby benefiting individuals through growth in community strength. If retail trade has been falling off, those making the survey would seek the reason. The educational, recreational and amusement facilities of

Texas Women — Intrepid Defenders of the Hearth

As women all over the country today are taking on themselves tasks formerly exclusive to men—aircraft manufacture, ambulance driving, munitions-making—in their zeal to speed up the nation's war effort, they are but following in the footsteps of Texas women who a century and more ago displayed a hardy spirit of adventure and courage in emergencies of frontier life which would have amazed their sisters "back home."

Several incidents of Texas feminine gallantry are recounted by one of their number, the famous Mary Austin Holley, cousin of Stephen F. Austin, father of the new nation, in her book, "Texas" published in 1836. A copy of the now rare first edition of this volume is in the University of Texas Library's voluminous Texas Collection.

A Texas Riflewoman

"The use of the rifle... is not confined... to the ruder sex exclusively," Mrs. Holley wrote. "Mrs. M., the Texas Diana, has killed with the rifle eight deer and one buffalo. Her canting husband wanting industry and capacity, she was compelled thus to support him and her children. She now lives along with her children in the prairie near Chocolate Bayou.

"She was an illiterate woman, having never been to school in her life; but the same independent spirit which placed the rifle in her hand for the support of her family, prompted her to study and improve herself by learning to

Bluffing The Indians

Mrs. Holley tells of another undaunted Texas woman whose isolated farm was plundered by foraging Indians. She remonstrated, "gently at first, then more vehemently." The ranging savages would not desist. She "buckled on her breastplate of courage, if not of righteousness, and with her children and women servants, all her household around her sent for the chief and very bolding exhorting him to depart on the instant at the peril of his tribe, or by a signal she would call in her whole people, numerous and formidable, and exterminate his race. She was no more troubled with the Indians."

"Living in a wild country under circumstances requiring constant exertion, forms the character to great and daring enterprise," Mrs. Holley reminded. "Women thus situated are known to perform exploits, which the effeminate men of populous cities might tremble at. It is not uncommon for ladies to mount their mustangs and hunt with their husbands, and with them to camp out for days on their excursions to the sea shore for fish and oysters."

"All visiting is done on horseback, and they will go fifty miles to a ball with their silk dresses, made perhaps in Philadelphia or New Orleans in their saddle bags. Hardy, vigorous constitutions, free spirits, and spontaneous gaiety are thus induced, and continued a rich legacy to their children, who, it is to be hoped, will sufficiently value the blessing not to squander it away, in their eager search for the luxuries and refinements of polite life."

"Women have the capacity for greatness, but they require occasions to bring it out. They require perhaps, stronger motives than men—they have stronger barriers to break through of indolence and habit—but, when roused, they are quick to discern and unshrinking to act."

Texas women, she added "have not yet been called upon to shoulder the rifle and mount the warsteed, but with the occasion will come the spirit to do so."

GEMS OF THOUGHT
How much better is it to get wisdom than gold and to get understanding rather than to be chosen than silver? —Proverbs 16:16

Nemesis of Dictators

The term "free enterprise" should have a new and deeper meaning for all the people of this nation. For the free enterprise system has been given the job of producing the incredible quantities of weapons which we need to defeat enemies whose avowed purpose is the absolute destruction of everything this country stands for, including "free enterprise."

Recent reports indicate that the vast production goals laid down by our government are being generally realized. Plane, ship, tank and gun production is greater by far than the most sanguine visionary would have dared to forecast two or three years back. Every plane, every ship, every tank, every bullet, is an example of free enterprise at work.

The men whose money built our industries and the men whose labor keeps the wheels turning aren't frightened subjects of an all-powerful ruler. They're free men who intend to remain free men. They can and do speak their minds on any subject under the sun. Their livelihood doesn't depend on liking the boots of the clique in power. They can criticize the government, industry, the labor system, the tax system, or anything else without having to worry about being thrown into a concentration camp or lined up against a wall and shot. This kind of freedom exists only in the nations where free enterprise exists. For free government and free industry go together—you can't have one without the other.

The Axis nations devoted all their resources over a period of many years to preparing for their brutal war of conquest. We've had only two years to meet their challenge. We've wasted time, money and energy. We've been guilty of indecision. We've been moved this way and that by pressure groups. But we're getting the production—simply because free enterprise doesn't know what it is to admit failure. We're getting it because the kind of people who have the right to be heard, Americans have decided that they're going to win this war, and make the kind of peace that will keep liberty alive and flaming in the world.

All you have to do to see free enterprise at work is to look around you. You see it in the great motor plants, which have forgotten about cars for the duration and are intent on making more instruments of war than all the rest of the world combined can make. And you see it in little factories in little towns which are making bullets and gun parts and sub-assemblies.

You can see it in those enterprises which underlie all industrial effort. Oil comes out of the earth in an ever-increasing stream, to be refined into a hundred kinds of essential fuels and lubricants. The trainloads of coal roll to all points of the nation to feed the insatiable furnaces of industry. The dynamos whirl 24 hours a day in the electric industry's generating plants, and the power flows through the lines to turn the factory wheels and light our homes and serve the farmer.

You can see it in finance—in the banks which are supplying the money and the thousand and one essential services which war industry and peace industry both must have. You can see it, in short, in every American activity—in every nook and cranny of the vast American countryside.

The greatest issue of all time will be decided by this war. That issue is whether we shall have a free world when it is over, or whether we shall have a world ruled by a handful of brutal autocrats who hate everything that freedom means. American free enterprise is fighting that war on every battlefield and sea lane of the world. American free enterprise is giving everything it has to the magnificent troops who carry the instruments of war into battle.

Once the war is won, this nation must face vast new problems of reconstruction and readjustment. We will think again in terms of production for human happiness, and for the higher standard of living. And then, again, the jobs will be up to the free enterprise system. That system, and that system only, can give us stability with freedom in the world of tomorrow. Let us never forget that free enterprise is the force of victory in time of war—and the course of strength and progress in time of peace.

Spring Time May Be Bomb Time

It is not probable that bombs will fall on our communities. Enemy bombers would have to fly a long way to get here. Nevertheless, it could happen and we know that such things have happened in many parts of the world. Since it is possible, it is necessary for us to prepare to minimize the damage that would result. No forward-looking town wants to be caught unprepared.

What we usually think of at this time of the year is spring clean-up. And we could not act on a better thought this year. Says the engineers of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, who have studied the possibilities of bombing damage. They say that every citizen should give his premises a thorough spring cleaning. In this way chances of accidental fire will be cut down, and in addition, we will be safer if an enemy attack comes.

It is suggested that attics, especially, be cleaned out thoroughly. Even trained firemen would have difficulty putting out fires ignited by incendiary bombs in an attic cluttered with discarded furniture, piles of paper and old clothing. The National Board also recommends that each citizen prepare to extinguish fire bombs. For this purpose it is best to have a suitable connection and a hose long enough to reach the attic. Only a spray of water should be used on the bomb itself. Another recommendation is to cooperate fully with air raid wardens. Comply with all their suggestions and rules.

This year America must be prepared for any eventuality. Spring clean-up is more important than ever.

Australia's Defenses Improved

Reports indicate that in recent air raids on cutting Australian positions, Japan has lost close to 40 per cent of the aircraft employed.
That shows two things. First, American supplies in real volume have reached "down under" and have been put to work. Second, MacArthur has done a superb job in organizing his defenses in a very short time. Tremendous strides are being taken in readying Australia as the take-off point in a gigantic Pacific counter-offensive.

Your Scrap Metal Is Needed For Victory

A critical shortage of scrap metal now exists in United States War Industry. Unless more scrap is forthcoming at once, war production will slow down and months, even years will be added to this fearful battle.

It is of the utmost importance that every pound of scrap metal on your farm start moving now toward America's steel mills and foundries to make more war material.

To help you get your scrap moving, this store will cooperate in every way possible. Canvas your farm from the attic to the farthest fence corner. Gather every bit of old metal into a convenient located pile and drop a post card to this store telling us approximately how many pounds you have collected.

Your card will be turned over to a scrap dealer who prepares scrap for the mills. His truck will be routed past your farm to pick up your scrap and get it started toward the fighting front.

This store collects this information and passes it along as a patriotic service without commission or profit of any kind. Our work in this campaign at the cost of this advertising is our contribution to victory.

It is your patriotic duty to collect your scrap and notify this store at once.

Use of Soil Conservation Districts Gained In Extension Service Pamphlet

With the election of May 23 on the proposed extension of the Soil Conservation District, which covers all of Knox and the northern part of Haskell county, an explanation of the Texas Soil Conservation Act under the extension of the act, has been issued in form by representatives of the Extension Service, Agricultural Teachers, and the State Soil Conservation Districts, and other agricultural agencies. The pamphlet is intended to be connected with those who are called on to explain the act.

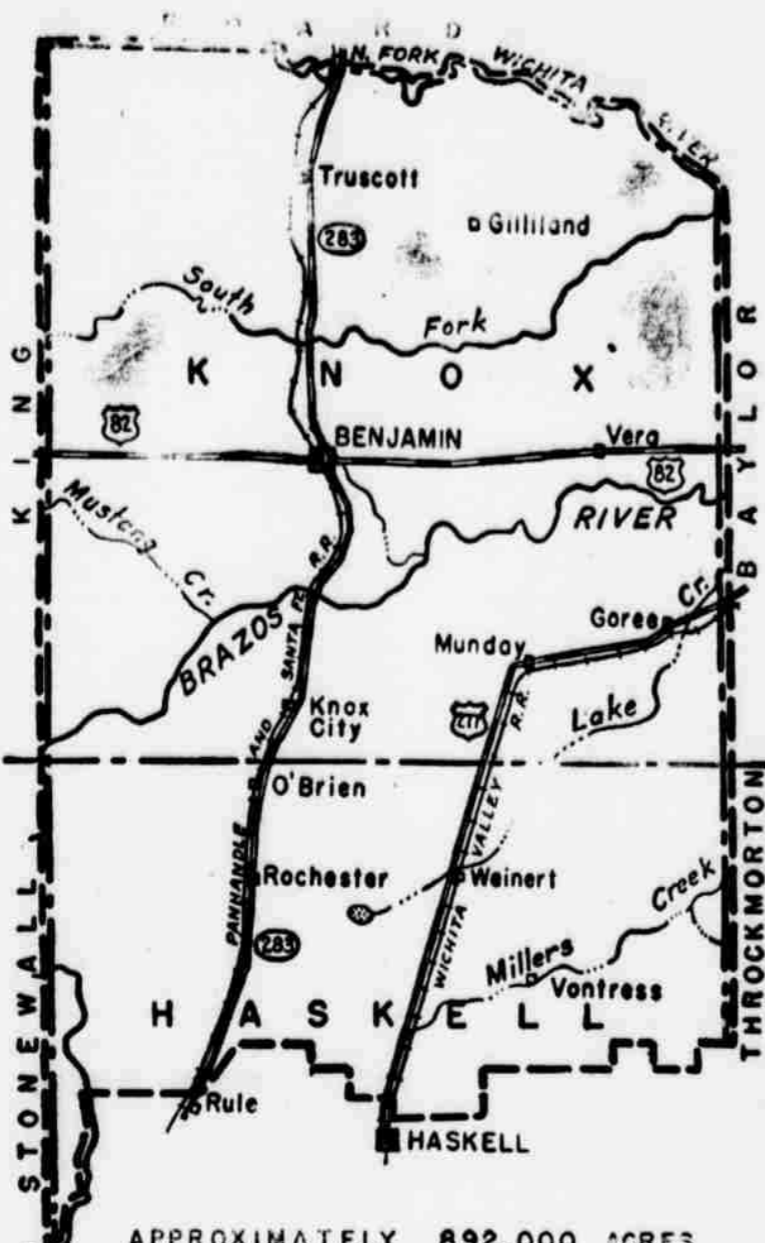

neighbors may request assistance of the district in making necessary maps and surveys and in adapting the district plan to individual and groups of farms and ranches.

"What Advantages May Be Derived by Farmers and Ranchers From a Soil Conservation District?" Among the advantages listed under this heading are: "It gives them a better opportunity to solve their soil and water conservation problems by working together. It makes available a district program and plan that is set up, approved and supervised by local farmers. If the district requests assistance in preparing a program and plan, from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, a memorandum of understanding will be entered into between the department and the district. Such a memorandum will be dependent upon the adequacy of the district program and plan and availability of funds and personnel."

Another advantage of having a district is that "It makes available to framers types of assistance from government agencies which can be made available only through organized districts. One such kind of assistance is the services of trained technicians of the Soil Conservation Service. The services of these men are available only to those farmers and ranchers within soil conservation districts. The services that may be made available through the district by these agencies include every kind of technical aid, surveys, maps, etc. that may be needed."

On the material side it sets out what may be done under normal conditions by grants of labor such as C.C.C. and W.P.A. to a district, the development of water facilities, loans to districts of available materials, etc. In this connection the State Soil Conservation Board has recently pointed out that, while there doubtless will be curtailment of public labor programs during the war, it is highly desirable to develop a reservoir of worthwhile programs for the use of labor following the war. Soil Conservation districts are given a high rating in this respect.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Our army spells and pronounces it ponton, not "pontoon", as you do. Ponton bridges cost all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal pontons is pictured here. The largest ponton bridge is 1,080 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.

One small bridge has a weight capacity of 25 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pontons. The smallest is used only to take troops over smaller streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest ponton, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 percent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

Continuous production, you see, is nothing new to us. We've always worked that way. It's one big reason why we were prepared to serve the army training camps, the flying schools, and the new war plants in West Texas—all in addition to serving your home and business. We are proud that our service to you has not suffered despite the unforeseen problems created by the war. We believe that it is a credit to the American way of doing things... a tribute to the American system of free initiative and free enterprise. The electric industry throughout the nation is providing power where it's needed, when it's needed... more than the combined total of all the enemy nations! This is in contrast to claims by proponents of socialization who, many months ago, predicted an immediate and disastrous shortage of electric power—and calling for political management rather than business management. Hundreds of millions of tax dollars were diverted from useful production to subsidize political projects in competition with electric systems already owned by the public (through millions of small stockholders) and regulated by the government. leaders, and each neighborhood leader will serve approximately 10 to 15 farm families. The 21 communities have been broken down in 101 neighborhoods, and 207 neighborhood leaders have been selected and have agreed to serve. Each neighborhood leader has made a list of the farm families he or she will serve, and the list of farm families compiled by these neighborhood leaders show the names of 2,006 Haskell County farm families. Every farm family in Haskell County should know the names of his or her community and neighborhood Victory Leader. This is very important in case of an emergency.

The County and Community Agricultural Victory Councils will: 1. Transmit and receive messages of an emergency nature. 2. Transmit information to all rural families which will help them in carrying out our national war program, and so that farm people can make their maximum contribution in the war effort through such activities as scrap iron collection, production of more food and feed crops, repair and maintenance of farm machinery, purchasing war bonds and stamps to help understand the why and how of various adjustments rural people must make to meet wartime situations, conservation of resources, assist in relieving labor shortages and other emergency problems.

Urges Farmers To Buy War Bonds In Their Home County

"Although I frequently shop in Munday because of its convenient distance, I have made it a point to come to Haskell whenever I am able to invest in War Bonds and Stamps, because I am a resident of Haskell county and want to do my part in helping meet the county's quota of War Bond purchases." This was the viewpoint expressed by a prominent farmer living in the north part of the county near the Knox county line, who came to Haskell Monday to purchase an additional War Bond at the local postoffice.

Fresh Vegetables Stressed as Food for Better Health

Today, as never before, America is diet conscious—not in the sense of diets for certain special conditions. Today they have a very definite reason for insisting on a well-balanced diet, fostered by the national nutrition program.

"Whether it be children, workers or soldiers, the first step toward a happy, confident attitude is an abundant supply of the right kind of food. On a foundation of good food, we can build almost anything. Without it we build nothing."

Wholesalers and retailers are cooperating with the Department of Agriculture and the national nutrition program in obtaining the widest possible distribution of fresh fruits and fresh vegetables. "Protective" foods so essential to good health. Nutrition-wise consumers appreciate the importance of more fresh fruits and vegetables in the daily diet.

Fresh fruits and vegetables offer most economical nutrition. Current best buys are those fresh fruits and fresh vegetables at peak production, such as Texas Tomatoes, new crop Pre-cooled fresh green corn, and Salinas Valley Iceberg Lettuce.

An unusually large crop of lettuce is being produced in the Salinas Valley of California. Lettuce is being featured nationally as a "Victory Food Special" because it belongs to the family of green, leafy vegetables. Nutritionists think so highly of lettuce that they recommend a serving of one kind a day, more if possible.

According to the Bureau of Home Economics, green lettuce is a good source of carotene, which the body can change into vitamin A. It contains some vitamin B1, riboflavin and vitamin C. It is also a good source of iron and calcium.

TEXAS OUT-O-DOORS

Austin—An increase of 13 per cent in the number of Hill Country deer placed on cold storage during the 1941 hunting season, as compared to the 1940 season, was reported today upon completion of a check of the deer kill in that region by Game Department biologists.

The turkey kill in that section also increased last year, as is indicated, the Executive Secretary of the Department said, by a jump of 144 per cent in the number of gobblers placed on storage during the open season in three of the principal cities located in the Hill Country deer and turkey range.

The scarcity of rain during the early months of this year already has been broken and if additional rain falls in abundance over the wide-spread deer and turkey ranges of Texas, a food and cover supply for these excellent game species equal to that of last year would result, and the deer herds and turkey flocks would show an additional increase. Field Biologists of the Department are encouraging ranchers and farmers not to overgraze their land that wild game may hold its own in the Hill Country, and in some instances ranchers have cut down large numbers of live oak trees in an effort to produce more browse for deer. Many of the best deer hunting grounds in the Hill Country are badly overgrazed by sheep, cattle and goats, with the result that deer in some localities are lucky if they get minimum food requirements.

Heep Big Fish
J. C. McGlothlin had a lot of fun the opening day of the fishing season, reports the Wood County Record of Mineola.

First he caught a five-pound bass. Then, with a fly rod, he hooked a nine-pound grindle that according to all the evidence put up one whole of a fight.

The evidence is McGlothlin's broken fly rod.

New Dope on Bullfrogs
In wartime all sources of food are important, and the bullfrog, never held in disrepute by food fanciers, has assumed even more importance as a vital natural resource.

For years many Texans have advocated a shortening of the season on taking frogs, which now may be giggered at any time of the year. Two local bills introduced during the last two sessions of the Legislature failed to pass, however.

The supply of frog-legs at Texas restaurants and hotels is in danger of diminishing because, in the opinion of Game Department biologists, the supply of these cold blooded animals is being rapidly depleted because of over-hunting.

Bullfrogs will not thrive in captivity. This has been demonstrated time and again. But if their native marshy habitat is properly managed the frogs will multiply and the landowner can get a fancy price for his product.

Officers From Dept. of Safety On HHS Program

Last Thursday afternoon during the third period two officers from the Department of Safety entertained HHS students with singing, talking and a motion picture.

Mr. Gassaway sang several bass solos. He sang two classics "Asleep in the Deep" and "Road to Mandalay"; then he sang some of the popular songs. The students expressed appreciation for the singing by calling for several encores.

The motion picture was entitled "Screwdrivers of 1942." The "screwdrivers" were not little instruments for inserting screws, but people who just drive where they pleased without regard for anyone. The officers expressed the hope that none of the high school students were in that group.
