oil price controls by Wednesday, a White House official said

The White House had planned to announce the action today, at a brief ing at 1.30 p.m. EST. But late in the morning, deputy press secretary Karna Small said, without revealing the subject of the planned briefing, that any announcements planned for this afternoon would be delayed until Wednesday

There's too much going on," she said, referring to the visit to the White House of the freed American hostages

Controls are still in place on about 25 percent of domestic crude oil, all gasoline and propane. Removal of the controls could hike gasoline prices by up to 12 cents a gallon but add as much as $7 billion to the federal Treasury at the same time through increased tax revenues from oil com

One industry analyst said he doubted consumers would feel the impact of the action soon on gasoline prices because competition and relatively low demand are likely to delay some of the increases at least until spring However other analysts said heating oil users may feel the full impact of crude oil decontrol this winter

With decontrol domestic crude oil prices would be allowed to rise to world market levels. The latest Energy Department estimates are that domestic crude oil has an average price of $23 a barrel, while foreign

The source who asked not to be named, echoed comments earlier in the day by Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., who indicated after a White House meeting with Reagan that an announcement on the subject was imminent

The Republican leader called to a hastily scheduled meeting, said the removal of oil price controls was discussed

He said an announcement stemming from their discussion may be made this afternoon. Asked whether the subject of the announcement would be decontrol, he replied possibly Others invited to the meeting were House Republican Leader Bob Mi chel Treasury Secretary Donald Regan and David Stockman, director desig nate of the Office of Management and Budget Stockman said last week that the administration was likely to move up decontrol of oil prices, saying such action was needed to spur domestic production The control had been imposed by President Richard M. Nixon as part of his wage price control program and were continued through several periods of oil shortages

Congress gave the president power to lift the controls in 1975, but that authority was not exercised until Carter decided to lift control gradual is over 15 months, eliminating the unwieldy controls while not spurring

Islamic leaders declare 'holy war' against Israel'

TAIF Saudi Arabia (AP) King Hassan II of Morocco and Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat today urged the Islamic summit to wage a Jihad or holy war," against Israel and its backers to regain Arab. sovereignty over Jerusalem of these bond issues if the city keeps growing said Humes. The last time a new school was built in Midland was in 1965. How has your business changed since then?" he asked the chamber directors

He predicted that if the bond issue fails, the school board will have to resort to half-day classes to ease the classroom crunch.

The exact amount of the bond issue and how it would increase the tax rate hasn't been determined, he added. Questioned as to why additional wings couldn't be added to current elementary buildings to ease the space shortage. Humes replied that De Zavala has had six wings added to it since it was built in the late 1920s. It's a Mickey Mouse thing and the school is rundown now

The school board isn't adding much more to this planned bond issue, he said. We're running scared because a $10 million bond issue last year went down in flames "

That bond issue would have provid ed for building a new elementary school in north Midland

Collecting 'bad bills'

Because the federal government has an apparently neverending source of money from taxes, and borrowing, or printing, it seems no more concerned over defaulted debts owed the U.S. Treasury than it is over an average multi-billion-dollar deficit.

Little effort is being made to collect billions of dollars owed to Uncle Sam by all too many citizens who have no conscience when it comes to repaying the

As the Reagan administration takes a bead on reducing the deficit, the waste and the needless spending, it should lose no time in going after delinquent debtors. For example, the General Accounting Office recently discovered 14,000 audit reports gathering dust that showed at least $4 billior due and recoverable from contractors and grantees who misspent government funds.

According to the Office of Management and Budget, a staggering $175 billion is owed the government, of which $47 billion is currently due, and $25 billion is long overdue. A recent OMB report estimates debt losses as high as $9 billion. The losses from defaulted loans would pay all the operating costs of the Justice and State Departments, the Congress and still leave $500 million left over.

Surprisingly, the Internal Revenue Service, which most taxpayers regard as the ravaging tiger of all bill collectors, is owed almost

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has 55,000 delinquencies in its loan programs. The GAO recently found 58 percent of those whom the Veterans Administration had written off as bad debts were, in fact, sufficiently affluent to have paid in full. Myriad farm and student loan programs are awash with uncollected receivables.

Washington is so careless as a lender that many of its loan programs have come to be outright giveaways.

There are some simple but effective remedies for recovering much more of the money owed to the U.S. taxpayers and these should be enacted by this Con-

Changes can be enacted to put some teeth into existing laws. The government should aggressively pursue - and prosecute, if necessary - those delinquent in repaying government loans.

With the national debt standing at almost one trillion dollars, it is preposterous for Washington to lend out money at very low interest rates that it must first borrow at very high interest rates and then carelessly forget about collections. The little-noticed rip-off of the taxpayers from bad debts

Bankers, multinationals de-industrializing U.S.

History does indeed repeat itself. Barring a war, the hottest debate in the early 1980s is probably going to be the old question of free trade versus protectionism.

A free trade policy is when you don't erect many barriers to imports. This is more or less what we are operating under now. Protectionism is when you put high taxes called tariffs on imports or bar them altogether. The idea is to protect domestic businesses from foreign competi-

Most of the 19th Century was spent arguing the question. The South which lived off cotton exports argued the free trade position. Exporters usually do since when one nation erects barriers to another's products, there is almost always retaliation: The North where most of the manufacturing was located favored high tariffs. Its market was primarily domestic and it wanted to keep the foreign competition out.

Today, the growing mood of protectionism is also coming from manufacturers and from some unions with some important exceptions. The multinational corporations and the international banks are free traders with a riers against American products. Trade agreements are negotiated by politicians and as usual, ours aren't the best in the world when it comes to negotiating. We almost always lose our striped pants.

The free trade argument is that more efficient industries justly drive less efficient industries out of business, thus giving the consumer the best product at the lowest cost and making sure that capital and labor are utilized where they are most efficient. Nice theory, but it doesn't apply to the world as it really is.

For the theory to apply, the world would have to be one big United States so that industries, with everything else being equal, could compete on the basis of efficiency. Such, of course, is not the case.

American industry cannot compete with slave labor or with coolee labor. Any product coming out of a communist or totalitarian society is made with slave labor. There are no free trade unions. The people work for as long as for as much as they are told or they get shot or go to prison. Furthermere, the government which owns the factory as well as the workers does not have to price its products on the basis of market costs. It makes its pricing decisions on the basis of poli-

Other socialist or corporate states differ only in degree. Japan, for example, willingly dumps products in overseas markets at or below costs rather than lay off Japanese workers. In nations where there is an excess of labor and a minimum of social legislation, capital can bid the price of labor to the dirt cheap level.

No American can compete with a Chinese in Hong Kong - especially when American capital is financing the Chinese. Which brings me to the multinationals. They love to move their money overseas, employ the cheap labor, and export the product to the United States at a bigger profit than if they manufactured the product here. That's why they support free

I think the situation is a scandal The multinationals and their banker buddies are de-industrializing the United States. They have lobbied through special interest legislation to make the taxpayers help them. And dumb conservatives who can't tell the difference between a theory and reality are defending them

Rise of Al Haig began with a 'presidential directive'

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Within hours of his confirmation as secretary of state, Alexander Haig put final touches on a document for President Reagan's signature that would enthrone the State Department and its new boss as undisputed foreign policy makers in the Reagan administration.

The document, drafted by Haig and his staffers on the seventh floor in Foggy Bottom, would end 12 years of National Security Council (NSC) staff dominance over U.S. foreign policy. Specifically, it would establish two working committees to be chaired ordinarily by high State Department officials instead of, as in the past, by the NSC staff director.

The document is doubly significant because of its authorship. Though a presidential directive, it was written not by the new presidential assistant for national security (the NSC staff director), Richard V. Allen, but by Secretary of State Haig.

Haig knows more about how the NSC apparatus works than anyone else in the Reagan administration. Having gained that knowledge during the Nixon years as NSC director Henry Kissinger's top aide, Haig knows what he wants from Reagan: a return to the system of 20 years ago when State Department officials, not White House operatives, ran the committees that control national security communications to the Oval Office.

The rise of Al Haig and the decline of the NSC staff system draws mixed reviews within the Reagan administration. Allen himself utters no dissent. Reflecting the president's wishes, he is helping Haig. Eyebrows lifted when Allen hired Maj. Gen. Robert L. Schweitzer, one of Haig's lieutenants at NATO command in Europe, as a key NSC staffer. That gives Haig a potent ally in the White

Novak

House. But Haig as potential Cabinet strongman generates distrust in higher elevations of the Reagan administration, Edwin Meese, the president's closest aide, is said by insiders to consider California Supreme Court Justice William P. Clark as a counterweight to Haig. Clark's selection as deputy secretary of state, despite his lack of foreign policy experience, was based on loyalty to Reagan proven in service as the president's first chief of staff as governor of Califor-

Even with Clark at State, however, Haig's rise will not be stopped quickly. That was affirmed when Haig sent his unprecedented proposal to the White House reconstituting the NSC, not along lines laid down by Allen but fitting his own desires.

Such a concession by Kissinger or Jimmy Carter's NSC director, Zbigniew Brzezinski, would have been unthinkable. The very fact that at this writing the new president has not yet issued his first directive on his desired NSC setup is revealing.

By Dec. 30, 1968, Kissinger had completed the most elaborate study ever made of the NSC structure, which was quickly approved by Richard Nixon in a series of directives that opened his presidency. On Jan. 19, 1977, Brzezinski got Carter's signature on changes he wanted in the NSC system, with Carter's approval going out Jan. 20 as Presidential Directive

Allen's failure to perform with the same dispatch demonstrates the sincerity of Reagan's often-expressed dislike for the NSC's staff system of the last dozen years. Reagan simply does not regard the NSC as an invaluable tool of presidential policy-making, as did Nixon, Gerald Ford and Carter. Instead, known for his like of uncomplicated bureaucratic structures, Reagan has said he was appalled at infighting between State Department and NSC that accompanied the dominance of Kissinger and, to a lesser extent, of Brzezinski.

Reagan's attitude is Haig's launching pad, and few here doubt the secretary of state's capacity to exploit and expand his influence over foreign policy in the months ahead. Yet, beside

Meese's caution, stemming from his desire to protect the president, there are skeptics of Reagan's decision within the national security bureau-

They say privately that whatever confusion the old system caused, it guaranteed the Pentagon and the intelligence community equal, sometimes superior access to-the Oval Office. To give the State Department so much control over the national security system, they contend, could block that access, by accident or design. If they are correct, national security could suffer. Haig shows no such concern. Yet, his ability to deal with the critics and make the new system work will decide just how high will be the rise of Al Haig that began with a presidential directive drafted in the State Department.

Disneyland is going foreign

TOKYO (AP) - Disneyland, which 25 years ago pioneered a new form of amusement park, is soon to be recreated yet again — this time in a Tokyo suburb. It is the company's first overseas venture.

But Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, unlike other members of Walt Disney's cast of thousands, won't get Japanese-speaking roles.

managed to succeed against the odds. Today is a continuance of that list:

Have a thalidomide child born with a dwarfed, twisted body without arms, and you have a Terry Wiles, who, with the aid of mechanical devices, learned to play the electric organ, steer a motorboat and paint.

Amputate the cancer-ridden leg of a handsome young Canadian, and you have a Terry Fox, who vowed to run on one leg across the whole of Canada to raise a million dollars for cancer research. (Terry was forced to quit halfway when cancer invaded his lungs, but to date has raised about $20

After having lost both legs in an air crash, let a British fighter pilot fly again with the RAF, and you have a Douglas Bader, who, with two artificial limbs, was captured by the Germans three times during World War II-and escaped three times!

Blind him, and you have a Ray Charles, George Shearing, Stevie Wonder, Tom Sullivan, Alex Templeton or Hal Krents.

Label him "too stupid to learn," and you have a Thomas Edison. Make him a "hopeless" alcoholic, and you have a Bill Wilson, founder of Alcoholics Anonymous. Tell her she's too old to start painting at 80, and you have a Grandma

Afflict him with periods of depression so severe that he cuts off his own ear, and you have a Vincent Van-Gogh.

Your list would not be complete without a smiling Max Cleland, who lost both legs and an arm in Vietnam and now heads the Veterans Administration in Washington, D.C.

Don't forget Patricia Neal, the fine actress who suffered a severe stroke, but rehabilitated herself against overwhelming odds. Blind him at age 44, and you have a John Milton, who, 16 years later, wrote "Paradise Lost." Call him dull and hopeless and flunk

Punish her with poverty and prejudice, and she may survive to become another Golda Meir.

Pit her against sexual discrimination, and you have a Madame Curie. Tell a young boy who loved to sketch and draw that he has no talent, and you have a Walt Disney.

Take a crippled child whose only home he ever knew was an orphanage, and you have a James E. West, who became the first chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

Couple to wed in Del Rio

DEL RIO - Marilyn Bell of Del Rio announces the engagement of her daughter, Kimberly Ann Bell of Midland, to Larry Dean Cade of San Angelo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Clay Cade of Sonora.

The couple will marry at 7 p.m. Feb. 14 at the First United Methodist Church in Del Rio.

The bride-elect is a 1976 graduate of Del Rio High School and was graduated from Durham Business College. She is employed by Midland Atlantic Richfield Credit Union.

Her fiance is a 1974 graduate of Sonora High School and a 1978 graduate of Texas Tech University. He is employed as a petroleum geologist by Tucker Drilling in San Angelo.

Iranians reacted strongly to hostage's suicide attempt

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) - One of the American hostages tried to commit suicide while being held in Iran and the militant captors took steps to prevent other attempts, according to former hostage Moorhead Kennedy

"I don't know how serious it was or whether it was just somebody demonstrating something to the students.' Kennedy said Monday in an interview with Barbara Walters of ABC televi-

Kennedy said he knew who had made the attempt, but would not reveal the person's identity

He said he learned of the incident in February 1980 after the Iranian militants rousted him and several hostages fom their rooms and forced them into a cold hallway, where they were lined up before a mock firing

Afterward, Kennedy said, the Iranians would not let him have his belt back and he discovered that his room had been ransacked and his tie

'We didn't know then that there had been a suicide attempt. And what they were doing was shaking us down for anything which might be used to help somebody commit suicide, Kennedy said.

A hostage suicide, he said, "would have been very bad for the students. They didn't want any suicides.' In an interview with The Associated Press, Kennedy said the "only mistake" America made during the hostages' captivity in Iran was the rescue attempt last April

"Even if it had succeeded, a lot of us would have been killed," Kennedy said. "Even if the planes got in, we would have been shot up on the way

Kennedy, of Washington, D.C., also said he thinks the United States should honor its agreement with

"It's terribly important that we honor it," Kennedy said. "It's important to the Third World that we main tain our position of leadership. We're a great nation because we're morally

'We heard torture, uh, long howls and the little yelps at the end as the pain was eased," he said. "Whipping's bad, you hear the crack of the whip, and then this uh, the person lets out his or her breath - ahhhh!

In the AP interview, Kennedy said that except for the aborted rescue mission, he approved of the way former President Carter handled the

"I think President Carter's way of handling it, not panicking, was the right one," Kennedy said. "Our restrained posture gave us credit. We. should have used this restrained posture all along.

Kennedy, who was an economic attache to the embassy when it was seized, was spending his second day of freedom relaxing with his wife. Louisa, who has been a spokeswoman for the hostage families and their four Exhausted but exhilarated, he said he was overwhelmed by the reception the hostages were receiving: "I have been terribly, deeply touched.

Bani-Sadr using settlement in power struggle

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr is trying to use the hostage settlement with the United States as a weapon in his power struggle with the ultra-conservative Islamic clerics who dominate Iran's Parliament and its government.

In newspaper editorials and interviews, Bani-Sadr, the leader of the Westernized moderates among the Iranian revolutionaries, is attacking the hard-line clerics and their man Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai on four counts:

1. That the agreement negotiated by Rajai and his associates will return to Iran only $3 billion of the $11 billion in assets it claims were frozen by President Carter in retaliation for the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and its staff.

2. That Iran could have reached a much more favorable agreement earlier.

3. That the agreement does not conform to the conditions set for the release of the 52 captive Americans by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of the revolutionary regime

4. That the seizure of the hostages and their imprisonment for 444 days by militant young supporters of the clerical faction was responsible for most of Iran's present difficulties, including the war

'It stimulated anti-Islamic, anti-Iranian feelings on an international scale, spread a culture of deceit and hypocrisy in domestic political contentions and quarreling, caused the economic boycott, the draining of our remaining free foreign exchange and consequently the stagnation and downfall of national economic growth, and finally provided the grounds for the Iran-Iraq war under unequal economic conditions and their unavailing results," said an editorial in Bani-Sadr's newspaper Enghelab Islami, Iran's best-selling daily.

Bani-Sadr also divorced himself from the agreement as well as the hostage-taking by accusing Rajai and his government of failing to keep him informed of the progress of the negotiations with the United States during the final two weeks in which the settlement was worked out

Colleagues block appointment

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Traditionminded senators rallied behind one of their colleagues Monday in blocking the appointment of a Pan American University regent the senator called 'personally obnoxious.'

As a courtesy to Sen. Carlos Truan, the Senate voted 28-0 against the appointment of Billie Pickard of Raymondville, a former school board president in that Lower Rio Grande Valley city.

Traditionally, governors clear appointments to state boards and commissions with the hometown senators. Truan, D-Corpus Christi, said Gov. Bill Clements named Mrs. Pickard to the board although the governor 'knew full well" Truan was opposed Truan said Mrs. Pickard as a member of the Raymondville school board in 1968-77 was "beyond a doubt... insensitive to the needs of children."

The rejection was a political defeat for Clements and a personal loss for Tobin Armstrong, the governor's special assistant for appointments and a close friend of Mrs. Pickard.

Although Armstrong was quoted last month as saying "there's not much we can do about" Truan's opposition, Truan maintains that Armstrong's "parting shot" to him was, "We'll run over you on this Truan said Mrs. Pickard consistently opposed federally funded bilingual education programs as well as other remedial programs and school lunches for children from low-income families. He noted most of the school children in Raymondville are Mexican-Americans.

Sen. John Leedom of Dallas stated in voting with other Republicans and the Democratic majority that he was doing so as a courtesy to Truan and not judging Mrs. Pickard's qualifications

The Senate voted 28-0 to confirm the appointment of former Gov. Preston Smith to the Texas College Coordinating Board. Smith was named to fill the unexpired term of Tom Rhodes of Dallas, who resigned to accept Clements' appointment as a University of Texas regent. The Coordinating Board term extends to Aug. 31, 1985. Smith, 68, was governor from 1969

Senators delayed a vote on the ap-pointment of Dr. S.L. Abbott of El Paso, a former GOP state representative, to the Texas 1986 Sesquicentennial Commission. Sen. Tati Santiesteban, D-El Paso, asked for the postponement.

"I want to meet personally with Abbott and ask him a few questions," Santiesteban told a reporter. He said he had no plans to call Abbott before the Senate Nominations Subcommittee for a public hearing.

By a 28-0 vote, the Senate confirmed the following Clements' appoint-

Officers quizzed on alien's death

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A state grand jury has begun questioning police officers who were at the scene where a Piedras Negras, Mexico, man was shot to death by a police officer on Christmas Day. Police patrolman James Cammack reported he shot Hector Santoscoy, 25, because the burglary. suspect threatened him with a brick after seeking refuge beneath a house. Cammack and his police dog went beneath the house where Santoscoy was hiding after officers saw a man run from a fast-food restaurant whose windows were broken, police reported.

The Bexar County grand jury is expected to take several days to complete its investigation. On Monday, the panel began interviewing nine police officers who were at the scene when Santoscoy was fatally wounded.

A trio of local civil rights attorneys, who said they were employed by the Santoscoy family and the Mexican government, also lined up witnesses to support their claim that Cammack used unnecessary deadly force in subduing Santoscoy.

Attorneys Ruben Sandoval, Augustin Mata and Vicente Gonzalez, of the local Civil Rights Litigation Center, said Eusebio and Adelia Castillo, residents of the house beneath which Santoscoy was hiding; and police buff Paul Hernandez, a member of the local REACT citizen's band club who was at the scene, would support their contention that Cammack was unwarranted in firing at least four bullets at Santoscoy in the cramped 18-inch crawl space MIDLAND recommended the reduction, citing the possibility Gov. Bill Clements would veto anything higger than 5.1 percent 'I don't know what the governor will sign or won't sign," Presnal said

Both the Senate and the House committee versions of the bill set a $50 a month minimum on the emergency pay raise to protect employees in the lower job classifications. The governor recommended a 3.4 percent raise, add $86 million to this year's state government expenditures Clements indicated Monday afternoon he would not accept anything above 5.1 percent but would not costing about $54 million. A 6.8 percent raise would

The bill must be passed this week and signed into law by Saturday if the pay raises are to take effect in February

Senate Republicans failed, 20-7; to cut the increase to 5.1 percent before senators passed the pay raise bill, the first measure of the 67th Legislatureto clear either chamber.

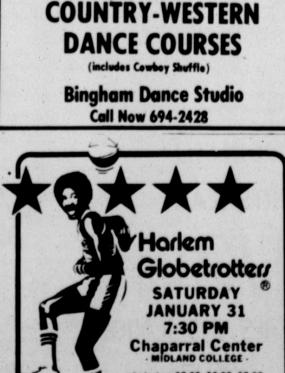

Sen. John Leedom, Dallas Republican, and others argued that Clements would be more likely to accept the 5.1 percent

Later, most of the Republicans joined with Democrats in giving final Senate approval, 25-2. 'My bill is a compromise," said Sen. Lloyd Doggett. D-Austin. "Statistics show that the actual cost of living increase for our employees is 7.6 percent just to keep up with inflation." 'This is false economy," said Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, about Leedom's 5.1 percent amendment. 'The state has become a training ground for private industry just because we have chiseled a little bit here and there from our state employ-

Human Rights director kidnapped in El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, (AP) - Unidentified gunmen kidnapped Victor Medrano, director of El Salvador's Human Rights Commission, a spokesman for the commission announced. The spokesman said Medrano was abducted Monday, but no details were available. Police could not be reached for confirmation.

The commission incurred the enmity of the rightist side in the leftistrightist war raging in this tiny Central American country by blaming rightists for 80 percent of the 13,000 political killings last year: A member of the commission, Magdalena Enriques, was kidnapped, tortured and killed in November, and the president, Marinela Garcia, is living outside the country.

At least 1,000 more people have been slain in El Salvador this year, most of them in a leftist guerrilla offensive against the mod tary civilian junta. The national staged warning strikes in southern and central Poland today, the state radio reported, while labor sources in the northeast said factories there shut down to protest a ban on the publication of of an idependent union news-

In Warsaw, Politburo member Mieczyslaw Moczar called for a widespread purge of functionaries who wielded power and influence under Edward Gierek, the party chief ousted after last summer's crippling strikes that gave rise to the independent union movement.

As the possibility of a general strike in southern Poland's industrial heartland loomed, Solidarity leader Lech Walesa traveled to the southeastern city of Rzeszow for talks with private farmers demanding recognition of their independent union.

Polish state radio reported work stoppages today in Lodz, the nation's second largest city, where students continued a sit in to protest compulsory classes in Marxism. The radio said city transport was temporarily shut down.

The broadcast said workers in the Katowice area in southern Poland also laid down their tools for a few hours. It singled out the Tichy car factory that makes Polish Fiat 126 autos and said other enterprises in the Podbeskidy region were affected.

The work stoppages were to press demands for a five-day work week and implementation of other government-labor accords reached last year, the radio said.

The broadcast emphasized that railways were operating normally. Some observers saw this as an attempt to assure the Soviet Union that lines of supply and troop movement were in order The continuing labor unrest in Poland has raised the possibility of a Soviet-led military intervention similar to that in Czechoslovakia in 1968. In Bialystock, in northeastern Poland near the Soviet border, most

Politburo member Moczar commented on continuing labor unrest in the Communist Party newspaper

'Obviously we could have avoided such great social tremors. They had long been forecast by political seismographs. Those signals were ignored and the accumulated conflicts led to a mighty quake," he wrote.

"I believe that in this great historic renewal of social life there is and there can be no place for the enemies of socialism, who prey on great social movements, seeing them to be the field for their destructive activity.

"I also believe that the renewal of personnel must continue. Not only those who out of thoughtlessness or depraved by power showed destruction and damage around them must leave. Also those who do not understand the new times and the new tasks must change jobs."

Moczar, a former interior minister who suppressed worker riots in 1970 under then party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka, is a long-time political survivor who was elevated to Politburo rank Dec. 2, roughly three months after Stanislaw Kania replaced Gierek, Gomulka's successor.

Rebels face grudge match while Bulldogs hit the road

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

For the first time in the District 5-5A basketball season, the Midland High Bulldogs are finally looking down at the rest of the league while Odessa Permian and Abilene Cooper are cast in the suvivor's role.

The Bulldogs may own the big onegame advantage with its perfect 4-0 record in the first half race with only three games left to play, but after going through Friday's 80-78 last ditch triple overtime win against San Angelo, the league lead must still seem a little shaky.

Permian and Cooper, both at 3-1 in loop action, have to hope for an MHS slip, but their own schedules are worry enough.

For instance, Permian has to visit the unfriendly confines of Chaparral Center at 8 p.m. today to face the revitalized Midland Lee Rebels, who are fresh off a big 60-42 revenge victory over Big Spring. That's the biggest game on the slate tonight.

Lee is not entirely out of the first half race with a 2-2 record, but they are hanging onto a slim thread of hope. Still, the Rebs would like an-

Chap in the last few seconds last year. It was a game the Rebels let get away and they remember that contest. It was one of the best district games last

Permian, however, still has visions of at least a share of the first half crown, and will not be taking the Rebels lightly. Lee possibly could be in better shape in the first half race if it hadn't been hit by the flu bug, but Lee appears to be a fully recovered team and they feel they can com-

The Bulldogs can earn a share of the first half title by winning two of their last three games regardless of how the rest of the loop performs. One of those victories should come tonight when they face the 0-4 Odessa High Bronchos at the OHS gym. The Bronchos are in the midst of a 12-game losing streak and that in itself makes MHS a big favorite with its gaudy 21-3 record to go along with a Top 10 state ranking.

Cooper should also remain in con-the first half race. Both teams are 2-2 in district play.

WTC coach banished to showers before 2-minute mark

BY TED BATTLES Sports Editor

Midland College treated old nemesis Western Texas with disdain in loping to a 111-76 victory at the Chaparral Center Monday night, but Westerner Coach Larry Dunaway missed the 38 minutes and 43 seconds of the game after being banished by three technical fouls that came so fast, it was like a Joe Louis knock-

Scotty Tutwiler hit a jumper from the circle to make it 4-0 and umpire Dennis Cunningham called an inten-

'All I said," Dunaway related later, "was that that was the first time in years I'd seen that foul called. And he said, 'That's one technical. He and Nolan Richardson (TWC's coach last year) almost had blows last year and I think he has it in for TWC. Anyway, I said, 'I guess what I've heard about you is true' and he said 'That's two technicals."

AS TUTWILER sank both free throws resulting from the field goal Dunaway shouted, "You better make a bunch. You'll need them." He explained, "I was yelling at the shooter, trying to fire my kids up. I wasn't even talking to the ref, but he came over and said, 'That's three technicals. You're gone.

As Cunningham came to the scorer's table, he told Dunaway, "We aren't going to take that stuff tonight." Dunaway responded, "Neither are we going to take that stuff."

Cunningham settled matters quick-"You've got 30 seconds or it's a

By the time Tutwiler finished shooting free throws it was 10-0 and the Chaparrals were off and running toward their 19th win in 21 starts in bringing their WJCC record to 7-2.

AFTER THE game, Dunaway apologized for the incident. "I hated for that to happen. Perhaps we couldn't have beaten Midland, but it soured the whole evening for the fans and the teams. I didn't even say 'damn' or 'hell' on the first two technicals and I wasn't even talking to the official on

Midland, coming up with its second straight 100-plus offensive effort, led 59-29 at half against the team that handed it four of six losses last year and led by 40, 99-59, at one point in the final half.

Puntus Wilson pumped in 21 points to lead the Chaps while Virgil Slay, 6-for-10 long rangers, and Charles Johnson, scoring all of his points in the final half, each had 14. Also in double figures was Kevin Willingham

DENIS KEITH was 8-of-14 from the field and 10-of-13 from the line to lead WTC with 26

While Coach Jerry Stone was pleased with a free-wheeling offense that hit half of its 82 field shots, he said, "We are trying to get the defense going again. We won big like this early in the season, but then began to read about how good we are and lost our concentration. Now we are trying to get them to play hard again. So I can't get excited about beating somebody bad," not even if

Houston edged Baylor, 53-51, to move into first place for the first time this season; Southern Methodist surprised Texas Tech, 58-48; Arkansas beat Rice, 57-52, and Texas had to go into overtime to beat the slumping Texas Aggies, 67-63.

With the score tied at 51-51, Houston coach Guy Lewis ordered the Cougars to go into the spread offense. He didn't intend for it to be a stall, but that's what it turned out to be.

The Cougars tried for a shot by Rob Williams as the clock wound down, but Baylor's Pat Nunley grabbed the rebound only to have it stripped from him by David Bunce. Freshman Michael Young's uncontested layup with two seconds remaining gave the Cougars the victory and the top spot in the SWC roundball standings.

'He picked it up and stuck it in the hole for the win. Maybe not too artistic, but it got the job done," said Lewis said he didn't intend to stall away more than seven minutes. "I felt like we'd score off of it (the

David Gadis had 18 points for SMU Jeff Taylor had 12 for Tech and Bubba Jennings had 10.

Texas coach Abe Lemons was pleased with the 67-63 Longhorn victory over Texas A&M, but doesn't think the Horns "are out of the woods

"I thought we played better than they did and deserved to win it. We shouldn't have let it go into overtime. We needed a win tonight, we needed it bad." Lemons said.

It was another night of disappointment for the Aggies and coach Shelby

'We had the game won. We had the ball and a 2-point lead in overtime. I was real proud of our team up to that point," said Metcalf, who described the loss as the most disappointing of LaSalle Thompson was the leading scorer for Texas with 32 points. Reggie Roberts had 18 for the Aggies.

Scott Hastings had 18 points to lead the Arkansas Razorbacks to a 57-52 victory over Rice. Ricky Pierce had 18 for the Ow's.

Sutter inks hefty pact

ST. LOUIS (AP) - The St. Louis Cardinals feature the highest-paid leagues after following the signing Monday of relief ace Bruce Sutter agreed to a four-year

Although specific terms of the contract were not disclosed. Sutter's representatives said it would put the right-hander "right there" with fastballer Nolan Ryan Ryan reportedly gets $1 million a year from the Houston Astros.

I'm very happy with Sutter said, "It gives me security, and now I can relax and concentrate on my job.

Sutter, a former relief star with the Midland Cubs, is expected to formally sign the contract at spring training.

When Sutter tosses his split-fingered fastball at catcher Darrell Porter. the pair will represent nearly $8 million in talent. The Cardinals are paying Porter, signed as a free agent from Kansas City earlier, $3.5 million in a five-year pact.

'Sutter is the best relief pitcher in the history of baseball, according to (Whitey) Herzog, and we're delighted to have the contract matter settled," said August A. Busch, Jr., Cardinals president. "We feel this makes the Cardinals definite contenders for years to come.

The former Chicago Cub, obtained in a trade for Ken Reitz, Leon Durham and Ty Waller, may well prove to be the salvation of a club whose bullpen led the way to a fourth-place finish in the National League East last year. Sutter has 133 saves in five years with the Cubs. He equalled a league record in 1979 with 37 saves and led all league relievers with 28 last year.

In 300 appearances, Sutter is 32-30 with a 2.65 earned run average. His strikeout-walk ratio is nearly 4-to-1.

Oil shale abounds

enough oil shale in central Montana to meet the nation's petroleum needs for 28 years at the current level, but commercial extraction isn't yet possible, according to a preliminary report by the U.S. Geological Survey. Officials in this coal-rich state said they were surprised by the agency's announcement Monday that newly surveyed shale deposits contain an estimated 180 billion barrels of recoverable petroleum. "If this is true this is a tremendous amount of oil," said S.L. Groff, head of the state Bureau of Mines and

USGS geologist Forrest G. Poole of Denver said the Montana shale contains significant amounts of valuable. metals and is therefore "worth a whale of a lot more" than shale deposits in the Green River Formation under parts of western Colorado. southwestern Wyoming and northeastern Colorado, The oil shale deposits in Montana have been known for years, but their extent and association with valuable metals has only recently been established, the USGS said.

Testing of commercial-scale extraction methods has begun in Colorado but industry observers estimate that it will be impossible to produce significant quantities of oil from shale until 1985.

The USGS preliminary report, prepared by Poole and two other scientists, says oil shale deposits are in about 2,700 square miles in Garfield, Petroleum, Musselshell, Fergus, Golden Valley, Judith Basin and WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Rep. Richard Kelly, declaring "I have not been a crook," is vowing to press his challenge of the propriety of the FBI's Abscam investigation as he appeals his bribery and conspiracy convictions.

"The war goes on," the former Florida congressman told reporters after a jury deliberated 6½ hours Monday before convicting him and two co-defendants of taking part in a $250,000 bribery conspiracy.

U.S. District Judge William Bryant set sentencing for Feb. 23. Each defendant faces a maximum prison term of 25 years, including 15 years on the most serious bribery charge.

Kelly, 56, the only Republican mem-ber of Congress indicted in the Abscam probe, was convicted of taking a $25,000 bribe from an FBI agent posing as a representative of two Arab sheiks seeking legislation to immigrate to the United States. He testified he accepted the payoff only to conduct his own investigation of men he said he regarded as shady charac-

Kelly, ... lormer state judge, said he will continue to press that assertion and expand his own probe of Abscam to include the government, which he claimed entrapped him by inducing him to take the money.

The government "has not proved that I've been involved in any kind of corruption," Kelly insisted. "The story of my life has been that I have not been a crook. I have not tried to save my own hide at the expense of the people.

Vowing to appeal, Kelly said the verdict was disappointing, but he added: "The process is a good one, and the trial part is an important part but that's only one part.'

The government is now six-for-six

Kelly returned $24,826 of the payoff to FBI agents who questioned him 24 days after he took it.

The government said Kelly's co-defendants, businessman Gino Ciuzio of Longwood, Fla., and accountant Stanley Weisz, of Smithtown, N.Y. were middlemen in a scheme in which Kelly eventually was to receive a total of $100,000.

Kelly was convicted of bribery and Weisz and Ciuzio of aiding and abetting bribery, punishable by up to 15 years in prison. All three were convicted of conspiracy, which carries a maximum term of five years. And each was convicted of a separate count of traveling across state lines to further an illegal activity, a crime punishable by up to five years' imprisonment

Attorneys for Weisz and Ciuzio said they would base their appeal on arguments of government misconduct in the Abscam investigation.

Weisz, 54, was shown on videotape taking a $50,000 payoff from the FBI agent posing as a representive of the fictitious Arab sheiks at a hotel at New York's Kennedy Airport. Weisz testified he regarded the money as a legal finder's fee for introducing Kelly to the supposed Arab sheiks'

Judge at Billie Sol's trial took 'bad rap'

TYLER, Texas (AP) - For almost 16 years, Judge Otis T. Dunagan was convinced he took a "bad rap" at the hands of the U.S. Supreme Court for his conduct of Billie Sol Estes' state criminal trial, that he was merely ahead of his time.

Monday, the Supreme Court agreed - in a way.

Dunagan, retired Chief Justice of the 12th Court of Civil Appeals, was a district court judge when he presided at the 1962 trial where Estes was tried on state swindling charges. He permitted live television and Estes used that as the basis to successfully appeal his conviction to the Supreme Court. Justice Tom Clark wrote for the majority that radio-TV coverage of criminal trials "will inevitably result in prejudice."

On Monday, however, in a Florida case, the high court changed that opinion, ruling that television and still-photography coverage does not automatically violate a defendant's constitutional right to a fair trial.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Watchful waiting may be best course of action

Dear Dr. Solomon: My father is 79 years of age and wondering if these annual visits to the doctor are so has been living alone since my mother died three important. It seems to me there isn't that much for years ago. His home is in another city, about 250 the doctors to check. What would you suggest?miles from where I live. His main concern seems to Mrs. D.L. be that his children not worry about him, and he has a habit of withholding information that he thinks

He recently told me that his doctor has found some problem with his prostate and that there is a possibility of malignancy, but that nothing has to be done about it and that I should not worry. It seems to me bowel, ovary, and lung - as well as to heart that if there is a possibility of cancer, something should be done and done quickly.

I know my father has my best interest at heart, but I find his tendency to withhold information aggravting. I don't want to ignore the situation, but I don't know exactly what I can do. Do you have any suggestions?-Mr. T.L.

Dear Mr. L.: One thing you can do, with your father's permission, is to call his physician and discuss the situation with him. However, it is very possible that your father is telling you everything there is to tell. Even assuming that tests have shown that your father does have prostate cancer, if there are no symptoms he may not require immediate treatment for the condition.

According to doctors at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Research Institute in New York City, prostate cancer in two-thirds of asymptomatic men who have a malignant nodule up to one centimeter in diameter does not progress for at least eight to 10 years. In your father's case, therefore, watchful waiting may be the best course of action.

I should emphasize that this assumes that the cancer is in its early stages and that your father is without symptoms. Of course, very close followup is essential to detect any change that would indicate the cancer is growing. You might want to speak with your father to impress him with the importance of staying in close touch with his doctor, and keeping any appointments arranged for him.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I've made it a point to have yearly physical examinations without failure, and they seem to have paid off in terms of good health. Now that I'm in menopause, however, I'm

Incredible Home Spa is portable water purifier

Everybody is talking about the incredible Home Spa water purifier, distributed locally and nationally by Tony Rogers, president and manager of Acme Marketing, located at 3103 E. 31st St. in Odessa. And it is no sur prise the Home Spa with the activated charcoal filter is one of the most efficient, economical, portable and simple to operate water purifiers on the market today.

House plants, pets and goldfish will thrive on Home Spa filtered water. The U.S. Public Health Service has established that ordinary tap water is hazardous to the health of humans and contains chlorine, pesticide residues and other pollutants that could kill house plants, aquarium fish and pets as well as people

Before Home Spa; in order to get decent drinking water, one had to buy expensive, distilled bottled water with minerals added. Now, with the Home Spa, one can get nature's refreshing pure, healthful water with over 95 percent of all impurities removed for less than two cents a gal-

Chlorine in water causes cancer. Dr. Robert Harris, associate director of the toxic chemicals program for the Environmental Defense Fund, a non-profit consumer interest group, declares that "except for cigarette smoking, we haven't identified anything that accounts for potentially as much cancer as drinking water and chlorination.

The Home Spa water purifier with the activated charcoal filter removes practically all of the chlorine; over 97 percent of the sulphates, close to 99 percent of the rust, most of the algae, iron, turbidity, asterionella and all of the foul taste from tap or well water. All this, for less than two cents a

Your house plants will thrive on Home Spa filtered water. Flower shops in the Permian Basin and nationwide are using water filtered through activated carbon for the health of their plants and flowers. According to Gene Hurt, the Old Pro of Horticulture, "Odessa and Midland water kills more plants than all the insects combined." (article appearing in the Odessa American, Dec. 28, 1978, page 1, section D)

Factory suggested retail price of the Home Spa is $24.95, but West Texas residents can get the Spa for only $19.95 from Acme Marketing. Replacement filters for the Home Spa are also on sale: one for $7.95, two for $14.95 and three for only $19.95.

If you have an automatic ice maker on your refrigerator, an AP300 filter is a must. It will not only purify your ice cubes, it will keep your ice maker from clogging up, saving repair bills. Call Tony for more information. Acme Marketing also has filters for drinking water fountains and coffee makers in restaurants and offices. Going on a vacation? Do you own a motor home? Going fishing? The Home Spa water purifier should be your constant companion. It is portable. Take it with you wherever you go. It will make clear, drinkable water even out of muddy water. Call Tony for free home delivery. If his girls are too busy to deliver, Tony will personally deliver anywhere in Midland and Odessa. Remember, for purified, healthful drinking and cooking water, call Tony Rogers at Acme Marketing, Inc. at 367-6977, or stop by 3103 E. 31st St. in Odessa

LEE HIGH CHATTER

Lee gymnasts shine; Rebelee court presented

By DEBRA FOSTER and MARTHA WENTWORTH

Our girls gymnastic team got the season off and running with a 68.2 to 59.7 win over Odessa High last Saturday at Midland College.

Dayna Dixon really made Dixie shine as she took home first place in the beam, uneven bars, floor exercise, and a second place in vaulting. Lynn Sanders added support with a second place finish in the all-around, third in floor exercises and fourth in the balance beam. Also scoring for the Rebels was Risa Reddell, second in the uneven bars; Pam Gordon, third in vault; Lori Brower, fourth in floor exercise; and Gay McClelland, exhibition in vaulting.

Lee and Odessa High's boys gymnastic teams squared off in their first District 5-5A meet Saturday afternoon at Midland College with the Rebels winning, 73.65 to 53.9. Our three outstanding Rebel men were Phillip Smith, Tod McDaniel and Gary Boren. Congratulations goes to all these gymnasts. Lee's next district meet will be with San Angelo Central at 3 p.m. Saturday in Chaparral Center.

Our men rebel roundballers start action Friday night in Chaparral Center against the Abilene Eagles. JV action starts at 6:15 p.m. and varsity at 8 p.m. If you can make it to Abilene, come out and support our women Rebel roundballers.

Our Rebel swimmers will be traveling to Amarillo this weekend to compete in the Amarillo Invitational Tournament. Good luck to these girls and boys.

As you all know, the annual presentation of the Rebelee Court was held in the Lee Auditorium last Thursday night. Congratulations to Mr. and Miss Courteous — Barry Corley and Ana Garcia; Mr. and Miss Talented — Wade Colburn and Ravona Smith; Mr. and Miss Congenial — Scott Stovall and Kim Willis; Mr. and Miss Integrity — Mel Douglas and Lori Breeding; Mr. and Miss Valuable — Keith Brown and Stacy Lewis; Mr. and Miss Academic — Scooter Ross and Linda Brown; Mr. and Miss L.H.S. — Robert Schooler and Debra Foster

B.C. Comments: All Padre-bound seniors should see me before Friday Jan. 30. Bring money and note.

Thanks to those few who helped get ready for the Junior Assembly dance Friday. Thanks to Tina Harrington, Kelli Enis, Caroline Richardson, and Julie Taylor. Thanks Greg and Andy for setting up the stage.

Project manager named for new office complex
