Man recalls months of torture

WASHINGTON (AP) - One of two Americans freed after months in a North Yemen prison says he was tortured into signing a false confession that he was an Israeli spy and the other man was a CIA agent.

'They beat me so badly that I lost four toenails," said DuWayne Terrell, 24, of Colorado Springs, Colo., adding that on several occasions he was beaten on the soles of his feet until he lost consciousness.

North Yemen officials gave no explanation when they finally released Terrell and William Thomas Jr., 60, an American citizen who lives in Madrid, Spain, on Feb. 8, the State Department said.

In an interview Monday night from Colorado Springs, Terrell said he repudiated the statements he was forced to make about himself and Thomas, whom he described as a salesman. He said Thomas also was tortured while in pris-

Terrell said three Jewish and three Moslem Yemenis also charged with being part of the alleged spy plot remain imprisoned in North Yemen, a country located south of Saudi Arabia and on the Red Sea.

Terrell said that before his arrest he had spent about a month in North Yemen researching Yemeni Jews, a subject he became interested in while living in Israel. He said he was arrested Feb. 4, 1980, at the burial site of a Yemeni Jewish poet, Salaam Shabazzi.

He said the Yemenis became suspicious because he had several letters written in Hebrew and addressed to friends in Israel. Even though the letters contained nothing incriminating, the Yemenis refused to believe he was in the country for research, he said.

Terrell, who said he lost 20 pounds during his ordeal, said he was imprisoned for two months in Taiz before being moved to the capital city of San'a.

"I was put in a small cell with little lighting and with no other prisoners. My mind went bad on me. I cried out several times. I thought they were going to kill me," he said.

His first contact with the U.S. government was last November, when a U.S. consul was allowed to visit him. Until then, U.S. officials were not told why he and Thomas were being held, he said.

Terrell said he went before a tribunal on Dec. 23 and was formally charged with being a spy. "We never heard the verdict," Terrell said. "I did manage to speak up and I did tell the court that I was forced to say things contrary to the truth.

"I showed them scars all over my body as a result of the torture, and they realized they had no case and did not pursue the charges. They probably were feeling embarrassed," he said.

The release of the two captive Americans, culminating months of negotiations by the State Department, came only after U.S. Ambassador George Lane met three times with Yemeni President Ali Abdullah Saleh, Terrell said.

U.S. may complete deal with Iranians

By KEVIN M. COSTELLOE Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Charles Percy said today that Secretary of State Alexander Haig had told him the administration will implement the agreement with Iran that won freedom for 52 Americans held captive 444 days.

Percy, an Illinois Republican, said he thinks it was a wise decision to "take such steps as necessary to implement these agreements.

Administration officials had said Monday night that a review of the complex agreement found no legal obstacles that would prompt Reagan to renege on it.

The administration has made a decision, I think a very wise one, to do all of those steps neessary to imple ment the agreements reached by the Carter administration," Percy told one administration official of the comprehensive review, adding there are "no inconsistencies" with U.S.

law The pact, negotiated by former President Carter, has been challenged in several lawsuits and is under scrutiny today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Appearing before the committee, former Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie said the agreement must be kept and maintained that it will not encourage international terrorism.

"We should fulfill the agreement because we are a great power with interests...in keeping our word," Muskie said.

Two of Muskie's former top assistants told congressmen much the same thing.

Former Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher told the Senate panel that reneging on any part of the deal would damage "our reputation for keeping our commitments." And Harold Saunders, a former assistant secretary of state, said that failure to carry out the deal would "cast doubt on the readiness of the U.S. government to honor its agreements, a basic principle of international conduct." Justice Department officials said Monday night they had never changed their position that the pact was legal. Justice officials, along with those from the State and Treasury departments, conducted the task force study.

Reagan has said he intends to honor the agreement, but his aides stressed last month that they wanted to study the terms "very closly" before following through on them.

The next deadline spelled out in the agreement is Thursday.

The United States is obliged by that time to establish an account in the Bank of England that would receive over the next six months $1 billion in now-frozen Iranian deposits held in domestic branches of American banks

The hostage agreement was negotiated, with the help of Algerian intermediaries, in the waning days of the Carter administration.

There is a desire on the part of the administration, for a variety of reasons, to be fully supportive of taking such steps as necessary to implement these agreements," he added.

"There's no legal problem that they've been able to find with implementation of the agreement," said

Among other things, it bars the former hostages and their families from suing Iran over their captivity and blocks several hundred legal proceedings by American businesses seeking about $3 billion from the Iranian government.

Reagan's 'straight talk' will call for tax cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan, disdaining any "cutesy acronym" to symbolize his assault on the nation's economic woes, will use "straight talk" in his televised address to Congress to call for immediate action on cutting taxes, the budget and government regulation, his chief spokesman says.

'We have no choice," presidential press secretary James S. Brady said Monday as Reagan and his aides completed a "page by page, line by line" review of the speech in the White House library. "We have to deal with inflation. He is saying the system will work if we let it work."

The speech, to be delivered at 9 p.m. EST Wednesday, will be the centerpiece of a six-part package detailing Reagan's economic program of tax reductions and approximately $50 billion in budget cuts

The package also will contain:

-His actual budget message revis ing the Carter administration's fiscal 1982 spending proposal of $739.3 billion.

expanding on points in the speech. -A two-part tax document containing specifics of his proposed cuts in individual income taxes and accelerated depreciation schedules intended to reduce business taxes. The New York Times reported today the administration will propose that highincome Americans - individuals earning at least $42,500 and couples earning at least $60,000 - receive less regulations.

'This will be the information base from which we begin the offensive," Brady said. He outlined a multi-front approach that will have top administration officials appearing on television news programs and 125 executives of major newspapers from across the country visiting the White House to be briefed by the president. Brady said the speech will focus on the budget and tax cuts, the need for a stabilized monetary policy and the regulatory revisions

"There's a lot of 'making the people a partner' in the plan," Brady said. 'It's not simply the Reagan plan. It's going to be 'our plan.

The speech, Brady said, will be "a clarion call saving it's not going to be business as usual.

Reagan "has rejected the thought of a cutesy acronym. These are serious times. It is a serious mission. The descriptive title of this will be as straight as the straight talk" of the speech, the press secretary said.

'There will be no 'WIN.' " Brady -Proposals to revise government > said, referring to the slogan of Gerald R. Ford's economic program, an acronym for "Whip linflation Now."

He said Reagan, attempting to correct "some misapprehension," will promise "equal treatment for business subsidies as well as other government programs."

This would appear to be aimed at alleviating fears that the president will seek to stem government spending increases by cutting social programs without reducing government aid for business

Digging out of a sewer trap

Metropolitan Sewer District workers excavate city streets Monday in an attempt to come to grips with the rubble left by a series of explosions that damaged the Louisville, Ky., sewer system last Friday. Some feared unexpected rains would wash away what little of the system remained and city officials ordered the digging of emergency sewage trenches. That work is expected to be completed in about 10 days. See related story, Page 10A. (AP Laserphoto)

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Legislators got their first glimpse Monday of what it might cost to improve state prisons, prompting one senator to talk of trying to find a "bottomless well." Texas Department of Corrections Director W.J. Estelle told two panels that the $668 million two-year budget was prepared before U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice's opin ion criticizing many aspects of the prison system.

'We may have to come back, I don't know" after Justice's final ruling, Estelle told a subcommittee of the House Committee on Security and Sanctions.

Justice has not issued his final ruling in a civil rights suit brought by inmates aganst TDC

In testimony to the House subcommittee and the Senate Finance Committee. Estelle laid out a point-by point list of why he considers the $561 million recommended by the Legislative Budget Board to be insufficient. The budget requested by the Department of Corrections might solve some of the problems Justice has said need solving, Estelle said. "I'm convinced ... it would moot out a bunch of the issues in the lawsuit, but we have nothing to go by," he said.

TDC's proposal calls for $33.4 million for medical expenses. LBB recommended only $25 million. Estelle said the money TDC wants would end a medical system that depends on inmates to distribute drugs and do medical procedures. It would pay for 278 new medical assistants. We are vulnerable, and we are liable and we are going to be as long as we have inmates in that area," he told senators.

The requested money could lead to American Medical Association accreditation, he said, which could be a defense against lawsuits.

Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, was not impressed.

"I'd rather buy some more tractors," he said.

Throughout Estelle's presentation, Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texarkana, pointed out that the requests were large increases over TDC's current budget. Howard said a "bottomless well" would be needed to meet all the requests.

Estelle laid out a plan to end overcrowding in the 30,000-inmate system. He said a combination of his work-release proposal, Gov. Bill Clements' $35-million plan to build space for 2,880 inmates, and the construction of the Grimes County prison could end overcrowding.

Clements wants the Legislature to appropriate $35 million for new buildings at existing prisons. The Estelle plan calls for the release of 2,500 inmates to work and live at home. Overcrowding would end in November if both programs are initiated.

Chairman Grant Jones, D-Abilene, suggested Parker speak to Justice. Parker replied, "If we had hired a good lawyer maybe we wouldn't be in this mess.

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, TUES., FEBRUARY 17, 1981

Some $17,430.18 in pledges was col-lected during the fifth annual Midland College Dance-A-Thon for the Midland Chapter of the American Heart Association last weekend.

The total far surpasses last year's record of $6,300 and the 19 dancers who made the entire 50 hours also was a record.

Dancers, who were backed by pledges for each hour they danced, started at 7 p.m. Friday and continued until 9 p.m. Sunday with only occasional breaks and rest periods.

The participants now have until 5 p.m. Monday, Feb. 23, to turn in their pledges in order to be eligible for the prizes. First prize, which goes to the couple which collects the most money, is the choice of a Zenith color television set or stereo system for each person. Also included in the grand prize is a dinner for two at Midland's new French restaurant Lionel Daury and tickets for the Oak Ridge Boys concert at Chaparral Center March 1.

Jennifer Neisig and Kevin Sparks have the greatest pledge count, $4,-546.70. Ange Brinkley and Joe Williams have pledges of $2,540, Jodie Hinds and Jamie Brunett have pledges of $2,200.08, Pam Greer and Bill Moore have pledges of $2,147.90 and Kevin Cook and Shannon Kiefer have pledges of $1,949.

Film crew makes pit stop

By GEORGIA TEMPLE Staff Writer

Packing a week's worth of organizing into an overnight trip is not impossible if those involved know what they're doing.

Such was the case with producer Denis Sanders, cameraman Al Taylor and soundman Chuck Lewis. They made what could almost be referred to as a pit stop in Midland Sunday and Monday before they begin actual filming of the Midland-Odessa Symphony next Monday and Tuesday.

The purpose of their visit was to check out the facilities, be alert to possible filming difficulties and to ensure they bring the necessary equipment with them when they return.

The symphony is being filmed as part of a documentary on the life of Mia Slavenska, prima ballerina assoluta.

'What we film here forms a portion of a much larger project about Mia Slavenska and the restaging of 'A Streetcar Named Desire,' which was a ballet she commissioned many years ago that changed ballet history," said Sanders, who holds two Academy Awards in documentary film making. Sanders is currently the president of SRS Productions.

Taylor, who started his career working for J. Arthur Rank Studio in England which filmed the James Bond films and has just recently worked on the "Paper Chase" series for 20th Century Fox, will be in charge of the camera crew. Lewis, who for years did the Bing Crosby and Bob Hope specials and is one of the most important soundmen in the country, is in charge of sound.

Marcos told human rights violations not justified

MANILA, Philippines (AP) - Pope John Paul II, in a face-to-face meeting with President Ferdinand E. Marcos tday, told the Philippine president that human rights violations cannot be justified "even in exceptional situations."

In what Roman Catholic Church officials said was the pope's strongest statement to date on human rights, the pontiff declared that basic rights cannot be curtailed even for "legitimate concern for the security of a nation, as demanded by the common good.'

Marcos has lifted martial law but is still under attack for continued detention of political prisoners and other human rights violations.

John Paul, on the first day of a six-day visit to the Philippines, spoke at a reception at Malacanang presidential palace. Marcos discarded his prepared welcome remarks and in an emotional extemporaneous speech Cologized for what he called "petty and small" church-state differences. "Forgive us, holy father," Marcos said. "Now that you are here we resolve we shall wipe out all conflicts and set up ... a society that is harmonious to attain the ends of God."

In the Philippines, Asia's only predominantly Roman Catholic country, the church has been a leading critic of human rights violations under the Marcos' government.

'Social organization exists only for the service of man and for the protection of his dignity, and ... it cannot claim to serve the common good when human rights are not safeguarded," the pope told Marcos, who has ruled the Philippines for 16 years, the last eight under martial law which was lifted only last month.

In an apparent reference to the ending of martial law and the announced plan to hold presidential elections in May, the pope said:

'Recent initiatives that are worthy of praise augur well for the future since they manifest confidence in the capacity of the people to assume their rightful share of responsibility in building a society that strives for peace and justice and protects all human rights."

John Paul said the Philippines has a special obligation "to bear witness to the values of its Christian culture before the world.

"It is my hope and prayer that all the Filipino people and their leaders will never cease to honor their commitment to a development that is fully human."

From the palace, the pope went to the residence of the Vatican's diplomatic representative, where he is staying. There a young woman relative of a political prisoner surged through the crowd and reached over the heads of security officers to hand the pontiff a letter. It informed John Paul that 28 political detainees are on a hunger strike to protest what they claimed was their "unjust continued detention despite the lifting of martial law. A religious group working to free political prisoners claimed last Satur day that the number of political prisoners still in jail has reached 1,014 with at least two dozen on hunger strikes since martial law was lifted.

The pope was welcomed to the Philippines by some 1.6 million cheering people en route from the airport to Manila Cathedral, where he told an assembly of bishops and priests, "The church must indeed be attentive to the needs of the men and women of our time. She cannot be indifferent to the problems which they face or to the injustices they suffer.

The pope told the priests they have assurances of his prayers and encouragement as they seek "new ways of furthering the Gospel and promoting human values.

Then quoting from a speech he made in Mexico in January 1979, he said: "You are priests and religious, you are not social or political leaders or officials of a temporal power ...

It was basically the same position the pope has taken in his previous trips to Latin America and Africa. Church workers in the Philippines have been in the forefront of the protests against Marcos' authoritarian rule.

The 3,738 voting members chose from the smallest number of eligible films in memory.

Only 189 features this year met the Academy's requirements of being in English or having English subtitles and being "publicly exhibited by means of 35mm film or larger for paid admission in the Los Angeles area during the calendar year 1980.'

Last year, 225 films were eligible. Besides the smaller number of films to choose from, quality is down, according to several critics in their year-end reviews. This has been reflected in the small number of films that dominated the early awards: "Ordinary People," "Coal Miner's Daughter, "The Raging Bull" and "Mel and Howard."

No new curtains

It looks as though when President Ronald Reagan spoke of sacrifice in the interest of the nation's economic health, he wasn't kidding. Even First Lady Nancy Reagan's budget apparently will suffer under the budget-cutter's blade.

Plans by Mrs. Reagan for the restoration of the White House, Blair House and a government guest house have encountered a roadblock: There apparently isn't enough money to do all the things the first lady had hoped to do.

One would think that austerity would be fine until the cutbacks began to hurt ol' Number 1. Will it be that way in the Reagan administration, though?

Apparently not. The first lady is said to be considering trying to organize a private fund-raising effort to redecorate the White House family living quarters. That seems compatible with the president's conservative approach to government and, most particularly, to economic matters. At some other point in our history, redecorating the White House might have been more important than it is viewed today.

President Reagan has created something of a "conservative spirit" financially in the nation, both in his words and actions prior to his election and in both since his election. It would be hypocritical for the Reagans to not live by the philosophy the president has been preaching for several years.

Mrs. Reagan is to be commended for her actions. She is helping to trim the federal budget and, thus, keep taxes at a lower level. We appreciate that because some of those tax dollars happen to be ours.

Federal procurement system boosts costs

Re-establishing relations

Secretary of State Alexander Haig said the United States will not carry through its agreement to sell arms to Iran, even though they have already been paid for. Iran will get its money back, but no arms.

Tehran is angry at this breach of contract. It wants the arms, not the money.

The flip side of the coin is that Iran is also angry at France, for exactly the opposite reason - living up to an arms sales contract. France has turned over four F-1 Mirage fighter bomber jets to Iraq, which is at war with Iran. The planes are part of a 1977 agreement in which Paris agreed to sell 36 Mirages to Iraq, as well as other sophisticated arms. The French foreign ministry said, "The government has made clear that its obligations under the agreement will be carried out."

move economic sanctions against the Iranians despite the criticism and previous cancellation by Iran's revolutionary government of $2.17 billion in French contracts, including those for power plants and a subway system at Tehran.

Agence France-Presse called the move "more a formal diplomatic measure than a signal for a fresh start in economic relations with Iran."

As a footnote, the press agency

WASHINGTON — As the taxpayers await their annual plucking, they can cheer President Reagan's determination to cut the fat out of the federal budget. But this cannot be accomplished effectively just by slashing appropriations with fervent abandon; it will take a remodeling of the whole federal fuddle factory.

The government procurement system, for example, is designed to make large expenditures out of small ones. My staff followed a tiny, 32-cent replacement part through the acquisition process. By the time it was delivered to the Marines who ordered it, this trivial item wound up costing a whopping $114. It wasn't the Marines fault; all they did was go by the book. The item in question was a diode a little black silicon cylinder about a quarter of an inch long and an eighth of an inch in diameter - roughly half the size of a newborn baby's fingertip. The Marines needed one as a replacement part for their simulated flight trainer at the Marine Corps aviation center in Cherry Point, N.C. Now, there's nothing particularly sophisticated about diodes. The one the Marines needed, my reporter Julie Kosterlitz was told, is not fundamentally different from those that can be bought at an electronics supply store for anywhere between 25 and 50 cents.

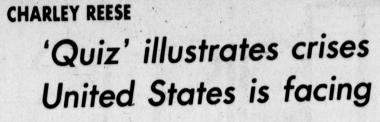

little tube with the government's procurement agency - the Defense Electronics Supply Center in Dayton, Ohio. Hopefully, the agency would have the item in stock; but it didn't. In compliance with federal grinating plane part is bad enough. But at each stop along the way, the price to the Marine Corps went up like a moon shot. Decision Data's price to AAI was 32 cents. AAI's price to K Electronics was $88. K Electronics' price to the Marines was $114.

Spokesmen for the Defense Logistics Agency, which oversees procurement, claim a computer warned the government of the overcharge. But the warning, alas, got lost between the bureaucratic cracks. Now the agency has launched an investigation into the firms which handled the Marines' little diode, which will add still more to the cost of the incident.

Meanwhile, the middlemen involved in upping the price for the Marines' tiny replacement part insist that their markups were reasonable. They say the small size of the order entailed unusually high charges for processing and record keeping.

Here's a little true-false quiz for American citizens.

The U.S. is far ahead of the Soviet Union in technology. True or false? If the U.S. had to, it could mobilize its great industrial base to meet its defense needs just as it did after Pearl Harbor. True or false? U.S. education meets the technological needs of the 1980s. True or false?

The answer to all three is "false." The United States no longer enjoys a clear edge over the Soviet Union in technology. In some areas we are ahead. But in others we are behind and the momentum is with the Soviet Union.

The great industrial base which produced the miracle of World War II no longer exists. The defense industry, far from being the ominous military-industrial complex boogie man leftists claim, is a state of disarray. The chronic cuts in defense spending of the past few years have taken their toll. Environmental and other federal regulations have driven many industries, like foundries needed to produce tanks, out of business. The U.S. steel industry, to cite another example, cannot meet U.S. domestic needs if it's producing all out.

As for education, there too you will find a crisis. The United States is simply not producing enough engineers and applied science people. There is already an existing shortage of engineers and the projected shortages are even more ominous.

In terms of engineers per capita,

EDITORIAL

Soviet Union, Germany and Japan. Japan, with one-half our population, graduates 50 percent more electronic engineers every year than the U.S. Overall, the U.S., according to the National Center for Educational Statistics, will see a 30 percent engineering shortfall during the next two decades.

There began, in the 1960s a massive shift toward social science and humanities. We have, for example, 20 times more lawyers per capita than Japan. I dare say we far exceed the world in sociologists, psychologists, and political scientists, all of whom are non-productive.

We have a crisis in the defense industry that is on a par with crisis in our military capability. We have a crisis in productivity which in turn produces, in part at least, the crisis in inflation. And we have a crisis in education.

In 1965, only 17 percent of U.S. pa-tents were issued to foreigners; in 1979, foreigners were accounting for 38 percent of all U.S. patents. In 1960, only three percent of total consumer electronics were imported; by 1979, 51 percent were imported.

The education problems begin in the secondary schools. In the Soviet Union, college-bound students are required to take five years of physics, four years of chemistry, one year of astronomy, and five years of biology. In the United States, only one-third of our secondary schools require one year of social studies

The Soviet Union graduates about 300,000 engineers per year while the U.S. graduates about 55,000 engineers a year. Nearly half, however, of all students in U.S. engineering graduate level programs are foreigners.

In terms of employment, in the U.S. there are about 500,000 full-time research and development scientists and engineers at work while in the Soviet Union, the number is 800,000. A much, much higher percentage of the Soviet R&D people are in defense.

As a nation, we've been one dope and it's time to sober up.

The Iranian Embassy in Paris denounced the shipment, saying "the Iranian people will never forget this act by the French government."

The French, who are often amused rather than angered by human contradictions and foibles, did little more than shrug, although they have their own reasons for not being happy with Iran.

France took steps Jan. 24 to re-said that "despite the embargo, all the Western partners of the United States increased their trade with Iran last year. French exports, half of which were food products, almost doubled, for a total value of $650 million."

The Country Parson ® by Frank Clark

Unfortunately for the taxpayers, the Marines couldn't just send a supply sergeant out with some loose change to buy a diode at the Radio Shack in Havelock, N.C. They had to go through proper procurement channels.

What this meant was that the Marines had to put in their order for the tions, the Marines' order had to be filled by competitive bids. The only response was from K Electronics, a company handily situated in Dayton. K Electronics, whose owners describe themselves as "military packaging specialists," didn't have the little diode in stock either. But they knew where to get one. From the government's own list of hardware sources, the folks at K Electronics found that the AAI Corporation of Cockeysville, Md., was the supplier of

The Marines eventually got their little electronic gizmo - after it had traveled from Youngwood to Horsham, Pa., to Cockeysville, Md., to Dayton, Ohio, and finally to Cherry Point, N.C.

Footnote: The diode wasn't the only replacement item that cost the Marines an arm and a leg for their flight simulator. More than a dozen parts were subjected to similarly astounding markups. All told, the Marines paid some $6,000 extra for one piece of equipment, thanks to artificially inflated prices.

ENERGY SPOOKS? - Energy Secretary James Edwards' counselor, Armand "Rock" Reiser, apparently tried to turn the Energy Department's consumer affairs office into a domestic branch of the CIA. He suggested that, fina Hobson, the con-sumer affairs hencho, send DOE "op-eratives" in blue jeans and lumber-jack shirts to infiltrate meetings of a Chicago community organization and report back to Washington about what was going on.

The group that Reiser wanted to spy on is the National People's Action Coalition. It seems that he had heard the coalition was misusing federal grant funds for political purposes which was true.

Reiser, who characterized the coalition as "wilted flower children," suggested the undercover operation, which later was dropped.

SPONSORS AWEIGH - The most hotly contested appointment at sub-Cabinet level in the Reagan administration was for the secretary of the Navy. Reason: Two Republican Senators, John Warner of Virginia and John Chafee of Rhode Island, are both former Navy secretaries, and each had his own favorite. After a lot of senatorial splashing around, Warner's candidate, John Lehman, got the coveted berth.

BONUS FOR BODIES - The Veterans Administration Medical Center in Coatesville, Pa., a psychiatric hospital, has hit on an incentive system for getting nurses to work at the facility. Until March 31, any employee who recruits a nurse for the hospital gets a $50 bonus. If the nurse stays on for six months, the "recruiter" gets an additional $75.

Rehabilitated 'whistleblower' eyed for Commerce post

WASHINGTON — In a politically symbolic rehabilitation, President Reagan has decided on a top post for Lawrence Brady, the New Hampshire businessman whose hard line on technology exports to the Soviet Union cut short his Commerce Department career in the Carter administration.

Brady left as deputy director of the department's Export Control Office in January 1980, after a series of run-ins over Carter administration policy. Brady informed Congress regulations designed to block the export to Russia of technology - particularly computers - were being undermined.

Praised in the press as a "whistle-blower," Brady left Washington for his Bedford, N.H., home. While campaigning for Reagan in the New Hampshire presidential primary, Brady was told by Reagan he would be offered a Commerce Department job in a Reagan administration. The job now under consideration: assistant secretary for trade, a step up from Brady's old post.

CABINET HITS AND MISSES

After a month in office, senior White House aides have graded the Reagan Cabinet: Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis and Interior Secretary James Watt on top, Energy Secretary James Edwards on the bot-

Lewis, a skilled professional politician as well as a millionaire business consultant, has outdistanced all other Cabinet members in getting his department in working order. Watt, a onetime senatorial aide who ran a non-profit foundation fighting, environmentalists, has been ahead of his colleagues in putting Reagan doctrine into practice.

Edwards, a dentist who was governor of South Carolina, has lagged in staffing the Energy Department. He is also on a collision course with budget director David Stockman on several energy issues, including whether to restart a nuclear spent fuel processing plant at Barnwell,

THE SENATE CLUB

Nonpartisan loyalties within the Senate club were apparent when Washington lobbyists received a fund-raising appeal for the legal defense fund of New Jersey's Democratic Sen. Harrison Williams, the last Abscam defendant, signed by former Sen. Clifford Case, his erstwhile Republican colleague.

Case's letter coincided with a hushhush fund-raising reception for Williams held at the Washington home of a lobbyist with strong Democratic ties. The invitation suggested to the lobbyists that other U.S. senators would be on hand to help Pete Williams, the former chairman of the Senate labor committee, in his hour of need.

They were not. Even the ties that bind members of the Senate club have a limit. Former Sen. William Hathaway of Maine attended, but not one incumbent senator showed up.

DICK ALLEN'S INFLUENCE Jamaica Prime Minister Edward Seaga's visit to President Reagan immediately after the inauguration showed that reports of Richard V. Allen being downgraded as the president's national security assistant were greatly exaggerated.

It has been stressed that Allen reports to the president through presidential counselor Edwin Meese III and is clearly subordinate to Secretary of State Alexander Haig in the national security field. Nevertheless, it was Allen who convinced Reagan that the first foreign guest at the White House should be Seaga, symbol of free enterprise in the Caribbean after ousting Socialist Michael Man-

Haig next submitted to the president the State Department bureaucracy's cautionary recommendations not to encourage Seaga when he asks for help. But Allen recommended that Reagan go as far as possible in offering hope to Jamaica. The president took Allen's advice and rejected Haig's.

INVESTIGATING GOP LABOR As chairman of the Senate labor committee, Sen. Orrin Hatch of Utah did not ask for White House clearance

when he sent investigators to seek out corruption in unions that backed President Reagan in the last campaign

"I have no idea," said the indepen-dent-minded Hatch when asked what the White House attitude was toward targeting the nation's most pro-Reagan union, the Teamsters, for a corruption probe. Others on Hatch's list are the International Longshoremen's Association (also pro-Reagan), the laborers union and the hotel and restaurant employees union.

Hatch earlier showed he is no agent for the administration when presidential counselor Edwin Meese III telephoned him to complain about the labor committee's delay in confirming Raymond Donovan as secretary of labor. Hatch responded with a lecture on constitutional separation of powers, making it clear that further calls from Meese would postpone consideration of Donovan indefinitely.

Jesus turned to His disciples and said, "What happiness there is for you who are poor, for the Kingdom of God is yours!

"What happiness there is for you who are now hungry, for you are going to be satisfied! What happiness there is for you who weep, for the time will come when you will laugh with joy!

"What happiness it is when others hate you and exclude you and insult you and smear your name because you are Mine!

"When that happens, rejoice! Yes, leap for joy! For you will have a great reward awaiting you in heaven. And you will be in good company--the ancient prophets were treated that way too!

"But, oh, the sorrows that await the rich For they have their only happiness down here.

"They are fat and prosperous now, but a time of awful hunger is before them. Their careless laughter now means sorrow then.

"And what sadness is ahead for those praised by the crowds--for false prophets have always been praised.

"Listen, all of you. Love your enemies. Do good to those who hate you. Pray for the happiness of those who curse you; implore God's blessing on those who hurt you.

"If someone slaps you on one cheek, let him slap the other too! If someone demands your coat, give him your shirt besides.

"Give what you have to anyone who asks you for it; and when things are taken away from you, don't worry about getting them back." Luke 6:20-30

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Behavior modification is not full answer to weight control

Dear Dr. Solomon: I am enrolled in a psychology to know how reliable the test is. - Crarg course at a local community college, Last night the instructor gave a lecture on the uses of behavior modification. From what he said, this form of therapy is being used in a number of areas, from curbing smoking to curbing appetites. Although I don't smoke, I do eat - and sometimes I eat more than I should. Is behavior modification as a means of losing weight a gimmick, or is there really some value to it? - Mabel

Dear Mabel: Behavior modification can be a valuable adjunct to a program of weight control, but it is not the complete answer. With my overweight patients, I stress the importance of a well-balanced diet limited in calories, but one that provides them with the proper proportions of protein, carbohydrate, and fat, as well as all essential nutrients. The basic 1,200-calorie-per-day diet I generally recommend is subject to modification in accordance with the needs of the individual patient. As I note in my book "Dr. Solomon's High Health Diet & Exercise Plan," I also stress the value of exercise for patients seriously interested in losing weight.

In the same vein, I look upon behavior modification as one part of a total approach to weight control. For example, I recommend that my patients eat slowly. However, this would be of little value for people who continue to eat the wrong foods.

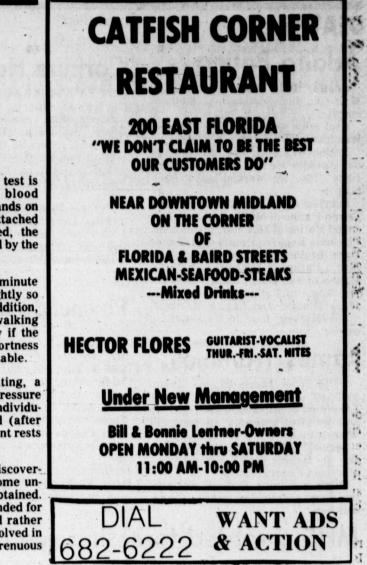

Dear Dr. Solomon: I've heard and read a lot about the purpose of stress tests, but I'm not clear about what they actually do. Can you explain? I'd also like

Dear Craig: A patient undergoing a stress test is hooked up to a machine that measures blood pressure and heart rate. The person then stands on a narrow platform while holding on to a bar attached in front. As the treadmill motor is started, the patient begins to walk at the speed determined by the rate of the treadmill.

After two minutes and continuing at two-minute intervals, the treadmill rate is increased slightly so that the person must walk more rapidly. In addition, the treadmill may be tilted to simulate walking uphill. The machine is stopped immediately if the patient begins to experience chest pain or shortness of breath, or simply begins to feel uncomfortable.

During the time the treadmill is operating, a cardiologist monitors the patient's blood pressure and heart rate, and evaluates how the individual is feeling. After the treadmill is stopped (after from five to 15 minutes of exercise), the patient rests until the heart rate returns to normal.

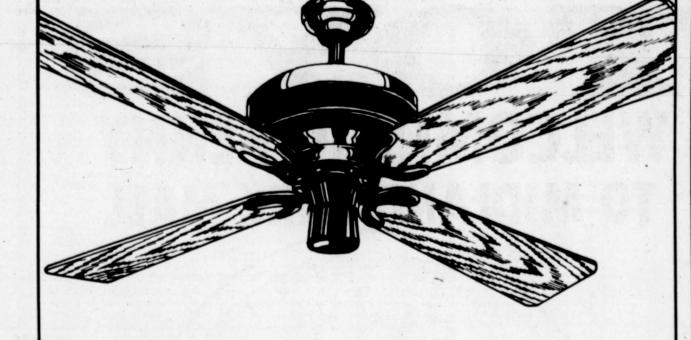

The stress test is not a perfect means for discovering heart disease; occasionally, often for some unknown reason, a false-positive reading is obtained. Nevertheless, the test generally is recommended for persons of middle-age or older who have led rather sedentary lives, but who want to become involved in an exercise program or some other kind of strenuous athletic activity.

Prosecutors agree Tarnower 'not so bad'

By RICK HAMPSON Associated Press Writer

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) - About the only thing prosecutor George Bolen and defense attorney Joel Aurnou agreed on in final arguments in Jean Harris' murder trial was that the victim, Dr. Herman Tarnower, wasn't such a bad guy after all.

Although some testimony at the trial had portrayed Tarnower, developer of the "Scarsdale Diet," as a callous, self-centered snob who twotimed Mrs. Harris almost as long as he knew her, it was a different Tarnower who appeared Monday in the lawyers' summations.

Bolen, whose case was based on the premise that jealousy over Tarnower's affair with another woman drove Mrs. Harris to murder, reminded jurors that, "Everyone has a right to pursue his own life .Herman Tarnower chose the single state.'

In Bolen's view, it was Mrs. Harris who ran out on Tarnower when she moved to Virginia to become headmistress of The Madeira School for girls.

Aurnou also was conciliatory, occasionally referring to the victim as "Dr. T.'

"Don't let Herman Tarnower's life be tarnished by a guilty verdict," he told jurors, reminding them of the defense contention that the cardiologist had died while trying to save the woman who loved him from suicide

The story of Harris and Tarnower was "a story of love, love gone wrong," Aurnou said. In the end, he said, Tarnower's tragic flaw was that "he was incapable of accepting the greatest gift a woman has to give...her love."

Indiana State Prison keeping Judy execution under wraps

By DEBORAH ZABARENKO Associated Press Writer

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) - Security surrounding the scheduled execution of convicted murderer Steven Judy is so tight that Ed Cohn, assistant warden at Indiana State Prison, hasn't even seen the witness list.

In fact, a photograh of the electric chair where Judy, 23, is to die March 9 probably won't be released to reporters until a few days before the execution, said Warden Jack Duckworth.

"I am keeping silent (on the Judy case)," Duckworth told The Associated Press in a recent interview. "The Indiana statute restricts the information and access to the prisoner, and consequently I restrict any discussion concerning it.

Judy, an Indianapolis construction worker, was convicted of the rape and strangulation of a young mother and the drownings of her three children. He repeatedly has asked to die rather than face a life sentence in prison.

He could become the first person to die in Indiana's electric chair in 20 years, and Duckworth wants to minimize the publicity.

The execution is to be witnessed by 10 observers of Judy's choosing, but Duckworth said the list of witnesses may not be released.

"Every attempt will be made to guarantee the privacy of the individual and the event," Duckworth said.

"We are trying to remain cordial to the press," he said. But he said so many inquiries have come in about the event that "I'm thinking about typing up some canned replies to questions, just to save time.

Last week, Judy kidded his foster mother about preparations for his death, telling her the prison "was in a stir." But Duckworth denied there was any unusual tension.

Larry Wright, a prison trustie serving a 10-to-25 year term for armed robbery, said Judy has been a loner.

"The only time I ever saw him was when he was transported here, and I saw him walk in the gates," said Wright.

Although Wright lives in a minimum-security dorm at the prison, he said he can understand mounting stress on Death Row as Judy's exeuction approaches.

"There's gonna be a lot of guys back there that's not going to want him to be executed, because that'll clear the way for them to be executed," Wright said. "I'd hate to see a life taken in any kind of way."

The first prisoner executed in the United States after the U.S. Supreme Court upheld capital punishment was Gary Gilmore before a Utah firing squad in 1977. John Spenkelink was electrocuted in Florida in May 1978, and Jesse Bishop died in Nevada's gas chamber several months later.

Jury to begin debating tale of Harris' 'love gone wrong'

By EILEEN PUTMAN Associated Press Writer

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) - Jean Harris, former headmistress of an exclusive school for girls, a woman of silk and pearls, loved Dr. Herman Tarnower for 14 years. Today a jury was beginning deliberations on whether his death at her hands was a case of murder or an accident born of her suicidal depression

The panel was to start its discussions after hearing instructions from Judge Russell R. Leggett.

The 57-year-old lover of the millionaire cardiologist who developed the "Scarsdale Diet" spent eight days on the witness stand, describing her career and her long-distance love affair with Tarnower, often snapping angrily at the prosecutor, sometimes weeping uncontrollably.

A string of witnesses - society matrons, educators, school colleagues and students - testified about her character and the emotional turmoil she was in

The three-month trial, marked both by high-society drama and by complicated medical testimony, reached its climax Monday with five hours of impassioned closing arguments.

Defense lawyer Joel Aurnou recapped a story of 'love gone wrong" for the eight women and four men on the jury. The thought that her children were grown, her job was fraught with difficulties and her relationship with Tarnower "could no longer sustain her" had pushed Mrs. Harris to the brink of suicide. he said.

On March 10, the night she came to say a final goodbye, the 69-year-old doctor was shot accidentally while he was trying to stop Mrs. Harris from killing herself, he contended.

'There is no direct evidence that Jean Harris ever intended to kill or harm Dr. Tarnower. She loved him," Aurnou said.

But the prosecution insisted that an "all-consuming preoccupation with Lynne Tryforos," Tarnower's 38-year-old office assistant, drove Mrs. Harris to murder

She "had no objection to the doctor's seeing other women as long as he didn't get too serious about assistant district attorney George Bolen them." said.

Tarnower's announcement on the morning of March 10 that he intended to marry Mrs. Tryforos was the "final humiliation" for Mrs. Harris, Bolen argued. "It was finished. It was over," he said.

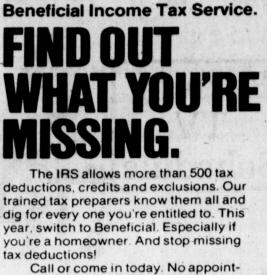

That night, Mrs. Harris drove through a rainstorm from The Madeira School for girls in McLean, Va., to Tarnower's luxurious estate in Purchase, N.Y.

Aurnou said she intended to pay a farewell visit before killing herself; Bolen described it as "one last, desperate attempt to change the situation."

When she found Mrs. Tryforos' nightclothes and curlers in Tarnower's bathroom, she angrily shot her lover to death, Bolen contended.

Her first shot pierced his hand as he held it out to ward off an attack and then entered his chest, Bolen said. She shot him two more times, began "throwing things" and left him for dead, he argued.

When Tarnower tried to buzz his telephone intercom for help from his two servants downstairs, Mrs. Harris shot him a final time, Bolen said.

Florida student wins Hearst's January writing competition

NEW YORK - David Dahl, a University of Florida senior, has won first place in the January Investigative Writing Competition of the Wil-liam Randolph Hearst Foundation's Journalism Awards Program.

Dahl, who was a finalist in the 1979-80 Journalism Awards Program, will again receive a $1,200 scholarship and the chance to compete in the final competition this coming May in San Francisco. His investigative article on the waiving of academic rules for athletic reasons presented the pros and cons of this practice as illustrated by the case study of W. Wilder, a former University of Florida athlete.

University of Florida received a matching $1,200 grant as did all schools of scholarship recipients. Second place went to Matt Alger, a California State University at Fresno senior. He received a $600 scholarship for his article that presented the problems of head football coach Sweeney accepting one quarter of his salary for teaching a course that should meet three times a week but that Sweeney has only attended four times all semester.

In the Intercollegiate Writing Competition, based on the number of judging points awarded to- each school, the University of Florida is in first place followed by California State University at Fresno, University of Kansas, University of North Carolina and California State University at Northridge.

Building may stay closed

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) - Health officials trying to clean toxic soot from every nook and cranny of an 18-story state office building say the job could take years. An explosion Feb. 5 spewed more than a thousand gallons of chemicals containing polychlorinated biphenyls, or PCBs, into an electrical utility room at the three-building govern-ment complex. The state office tower's ventilation system picked up smoke from the blast and distributed it throughout the structure.

Authorities at first hoped to be able to reopen the building today, but said Monday the problem was more serious than first thought.

Dr. Arnold Schecter, Broome County Health Commissioner, said the cleanup effort now appears to be a "multi-year, multimillion-dollar job."

"Every hidden space on all 18 floors is contaminated - every desk, every light fixture, in the air conditioning system and the air ducts - just everything," he said.

ed West with only a four-card heart suit. Since it is normal for the defenders to attack a no trump contract by leading from their longest and strongest suit, declarer's first deduction should have been that West held no suit longer than four cards. If that were the case, then West had to have at least one club. Thus, if either defender was void of clubs, it had to be East.

Once that conclusion was reached, it would have been a simple matter to start the club suit by leading low from the table. If East follows, declarer could be sure that the suit would break no worse than 2-1, and thus produce five tricks. If East shows out, declarer can win the ace and take the marked finesse for the queen, and still have time to knock out the ace of diamonds. In due course he will come to two heart tricks, two diamonds and five clubs.

The auction was straightforward. At his second turn North had a choice between a jump to three clubs or three no trump. Since he held stoppers in every suit, and in view of the limited nature of his partner's opening, he had no interest in slam, so he opted for the nine-trick game.

West led the three of hearts and dummy's jack won. Declarer called for the king of clubs from dummy, and East's failure to follow was a distinct shock. The contract now proved to be un-manageable.° When West won the queen of clubs, he continued with the king of hearts, and declarer had only six fast tricks. As soon as the defenders gained the lead with the ace of diamonds, they cashed three heart tricks and the ace of spades for a two-trick set.

Declarer was unlucky to find a 3-0 club split, but he had only himself to blame for failing to make his contract. The opening lead told the whole story of the hand, so there was no need for South

The store, measuring about 98,743 square feet, will mark its grand opening Wednesday. It opened its doors to the public last Saturday.

Fashion will be emphasized throughout the store's 48 departments, and shoppers will be able to select clothing in the latest styles from such buying centers as Dallas, Miami, Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and Europe.

Other new departments include fine jewelry, cosmetics, sporting goods, auto accessories and tires.

Other features of the new store will include a catalog order center where customers can choose from more than 100,000 items in person or by telephone a layaway service, giftwrapping and credit department and a styling salon.

Sunday said the new store represents a major investment in the economic growth of the Midland area.

"The new store will represent more than 79 years retailing experience of the Penney Company and its person-nel," he added. "And, while we continue to grow, the emphasis will remain on quality merchandise and customer service.

Sunday started with J.C. Penney in 1961 in Kansas City. He transferred to Dallas in 1972 and to New York in 1974, where he was on special assignment. In 1980, Sunday was sent to Midland as store manager for the Midland Park Mall facility. Other managers include:

Senate ready to delay drinking age

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Senate has voted to make teen-agers wait an extra year to buy booze or beer in an attempt to cut down on high school drinking.

Senators voted 26-2 Monday to raise the legal drinking age from 18 to 19. They refused to make an exception for 18-year-old military personnel, who can still drink on base.

"I think your motives are noble, but I think the bill may be unconstitutional," Sen. Carl Parker told the sponsor of the proposal, Sen. Bill Sarpalius.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, predicted "some smart lawyer is going to come in and have this (bill) declared unconstitutional.'

'That may be," replied Sarpalius, D-Hereford.

The passage of Sarpalius' bill miffed Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, who admonished him not to "horn in" on legislation that other senators have worked years to develop.

Mengden, a senator since 1973, told the freshman Sarpalius that Mengden's bill raising the drinking age to 19 was approved by the Senate in 1979 after he had spent 18 months on it. The same bill was on the Senate agenda Monday, but Mengden did not attempt to bring it up after the Senate approved Sarpalius' measure.

If approved by the House, the Sarpalius bill would leave only 10 states with a legal drinking age as low as 18.

Texas' drinking age was lowered from 21 to 18 in 1973 when the Legislature voted to endow 18-year-olds with full adult rights.

Parker asked if under Sarpalius' bill an 18-year-old "go-go" dancer "bare as a yard dog" could sell drinks between dances although she could not drink herself.

"That's right," said Sarpalius.

Similarly, an 18-year-old could work in a package store selling whiskey and beer.

Sarpalius said the bill would prohibit anyone under 19 from holding a license to own a liquor store. Otherwise, he said, "There would be nothing to keep an 18-year-old from buying a liquor store and selling to his friends.

A bill summary stated that raising the drinking age by one year would be important because a smaller percentage of high school students are 19.

Texans interested in interest

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas financial institutions say they can't lend money under the state's current interest restrictions, so two legislators plan to introduce a bill that could raise the ceiling as high as 30 percent.

Rep. Bill Messer, D-Belton, said he and Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, probably will introduce the measure Wednesday - the same day that several lobbying organiza-tions of lenders plan a news conference.

"The object is to allow people who want to borrow money to have it available to them." Messer said in an interview Monday.

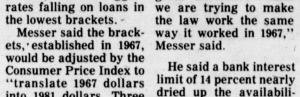

Mortgage loans would not be affected since Texas' 12 percent ceiling already has been preempted by a federal law Messer's and Jones's bill would create a floating ceiling equal to double the interest on sixmonth treasury bills, with an outside limit of 30 percent. The current Tbill rate is 14.45 percent this month but it plunged to 7 percent last summer.

Messer said he doubted lenders would charge anywhere near the proposed limit.

Among the groups that reportedly will join in pushing the bill are bankers, credit unions, savings and loan associations, auto dealers, retailers and consumer inance companies

Fire extinguished

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) - Coast Guard crews were boarding a Greek oil tanker today to survey damage caused by a fire that burned for more than two weeks before it was extinguished.

Firefighters reported Monday they had put out the blaze aboard the 800-foot Aikaterini anchored 20 miles east of Chincoteague.

A week ago Monday, the Houstonbased specialists had said the fire on the Aikaterini was dead, only to have it begin smoking anew a day later for still unexplained reasons.

Bad weather halted firefighting operations for several days, but the firefighters got back on board Friday and spent all weekend pouring foam on the smoldering engine room.

The fire, blamed on faulty wiring in a service generator, began Feb. 1 and forced the 36 crewmen to evacuate.

Open meetings move snagged in committee

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A Senate bill to require tape recording of closed state government meetings has hit a snag in committee, and will be changed before it comes up again.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, sponsored the proposal to make state government bodies tape record closed sessions, keep the tapes for two years, and make them available as evidence in "any action involving an alleged violation of (the Open Meetings) Act.

"Right now you can't tell whether a meeting was properly closed because there's no way to know what went on behind closed doors," said Austin lawyer Robert Heath, testifying in favor of the bill.

Officials may properly hold secret meetings if they are, for example, consulting an attorney about litigation, discussing personnel or security matters, or buying real estate.

But some senators on the State Affairs Committee, which considered the bill Monday, objected that the measure did not define who could have access to the tapes Doggett said he believed only a judge would be able to listen to them, but Sen. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth, said making pirate copies would be simple.

"You're setting up situation more fraught with danger than the present," Mrs. Andujar said. "I can see these tapes being listened to in back rooms and hotels, and J can see the headlines and everything else.

Doggett agreed to make changes covering access to the tapes.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - A country club on the west side of Indianapolis was shut down overnight after nine children and three adults were treated for exposure to chlorine from the club's swimming pool, officials said.

Miller

The children, aged 10 to 12, were apparently part of Westwood Country Club's swimming team, according to the club manager, who declined to give his name.

He said the incident Monday was the result of an equipment malfunction.

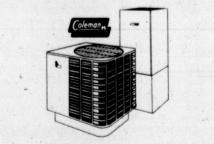

"There was an accident in changing the (chlorine) cylinder," he said, declining to provide further details.

"A valve was loose or there was a leak of some kind which got into the pool area where the children were," a fire department spokesman said. The fire department suggested the pool be closed. Officials said the children were " all complaining of chest pains, trou-ble breathing" when 86 firefighters and nine emergency units responded to the call.

Farmer, friends finishing task of recovering own soybeans

farmer fearful of losing his land while a court battle doing to us was right. drags on was returning today to a bankrupt grain elevator with an army of angry supporters to finish taking back 30,000 bushels of his own soybeans.

Federal marshals backed out of the way Monday as Wayne Cryts and some 500 other farmers used crowbars to pry holes in the sides of the grain elevator, then inserted vacuum hoses and began pumping out soybeans into trucks.

The defiant farmers promised to leave once they had all 30,000 bushels, valued at $250,000, belonging to the stocky Puxico farmer.

Cryts harvested the soybeans in 1979 and stored them in anticipation of better market prices. He had the warehouse receipts, but the beans became tied up in court proceedings as federal judges tried to determine their ownership. Cryts was told to stand in court.' line with the rest of the bankrupt company's creditors

So he and other farmers ignored warnings of federal marshals and, after arriving in a 10-truck convoy, broke into the Ristine Grain elevator in southeast Missouri to recover the soybeans. More farmers were expected to join the grim harvest today.

The farmers invited the FBI to monitor the operation so there would be no question how much grain was removed. FBI agents were handed weight scale tickets as trucks loaded with soybeans left the

The battle began eight months ago when the owners of the elevator and four others in southern Missouri - the James Brothers of Corning, Ark. went bankrupt, leaving an estimated $5 million to $8 million worth of grain in legal limbo. Howard Safir of the U.S. Marshal's office in Washington, D.C., attempted to block Cryts' convoy, warning the farmer that taking the beans could result in felony charges against him.

"We are here today to carry out our duty and enforce this court order," said Safir, holding an order from the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals directing marshals not to give up the grain.

"I have decided the court order is without weight of law," replied Cryts.

'We don't want to see innocent people hurt," said Safir. "We're going to let them come in if they force the issue."

Cryts said he realized the gravity of his decision to defy the federal courts. "We agonized over this decision," he said. "We've challenge both for cook and pocketbook, so some friends of mine had a better idea: share the responsibilities and the costs.

These wine enthusiasts stage a traditional dinner they call "best of the cellar," in which each participant contributes one of the best bottles of wine he or she has in a collection.

The idea includes a contribution of efforts on the dinner, too, in which each invitee prepares a dish, and the cost of all the food is shared equally. First, here's our most recent dinner. Later we'll discuss guidelines for staging one of your own. The hors d'oeuvre were a crab-cheese mold, a bleu cheese log, vegetables with hummus, hot artichoke squares, and two quiches — spinach and mushroom. They were served with 1978 Stony Hill Riesling and 1978 Stony Hill Gewurztraminer.

First course was fresh scallops with emerald hollandaise sauce, served with two different 1975 Chateau Montelena Chardonnays - one designated Napa, the other Napa and Alexander Valleys - and a basket of homemade bread. Entree was a rib eye roast with Madeira and mushroom sauce and rice pilaf. The vegetable was Broccoli a Crudo, an Italian-style dish.

The wines served with the main course were a 1945 Chateau Calon-Segur, 1961 Ch. Lynch-Bages, 1962 Ch. Pichon-Longueville-Baron, 1970 Ch. La Mission-Haut-Brion, 1970 Ch. Les Ormesde-Pez, 1969 Caramignano (Contini-Bonacossi).

A light salad with fresh mushrooms and more homemade bread followed.

The after-dinner ports were two 1963 Quinta da Novals, a Portuguese bottling and an English bottling.

The dinner was superb because of excellent planning and coordination and that's part of the secret to staging an event like this.

A first rule for wine afficionados is to decide on a theme for the meal based on the wines available. In this case, the theme was Bordeaux (the Caramignano was a bonus - more about it later). Then the dinner was planned around the wines, not vice

The second thing to do is to assign each participant a dish. That leads to rule No.2: Assign dishes to the cooks' strengths. If someone makes great vegetable dishes, don't ask them to make the main dish. Let the best baker bake, the best saucier make the sauce, etc.

Glassware is important. At our dinner, we had six red wines per person and in order to compare them, side by side, we needed six identical glasses for each person. We borrowed a large set of stemware from a local restaurant not open for dinner, but it's simpler to ask each person to bring a set of glasses, carrying them in an empty cardboard wine box with separators. To make certain each person gets an equal amount of the wines, use a small glass measuring cup to parcel out the portions. We used small laboratory beakers.

Forty scholarships were presented for 1981.

Phi Mu adopted Project HOPE as its national social service in 1963. Since that time, Phi Mu members have contributed over $420,000 toward HOPE's teaching and health care programs.

spoiled, it was dumped and our 'backup'' wine was produced, the '69 Caramignano from Italy. This excellent wine is still available in some stores at under $10.

Older wines such as those we had should be assembled well in advance, to stand up long enough to permit any sediment to settle.

Ideally, get tasting notes on each wine to determine (1) a bit about how they're likely to taste, and (2) how long they should be decanted.

Mom solves twin trouble

DEAR HELOSIE:

As the mother of twins, I was having difficulty remembering who ate what and when!

I began writing down when I fed one of the babies but, of course, I was always searching for a piece of paper

I finally got the idea to use my TV schedule book it's always on the table next to my rocking chair, so all I have to do is circle the time I feed the baby and put the baby's initial next to the circle. If need be, I can keep track of how much each child eats or the number of ounces taken.

Dear Heloise: When painting with a brush and having to use a stepladder around rambunctious kids or pets, I have a peaceful suggestion. Take a two- or three-pound coffee or shortening

Fill the can with as much paint as you dare, then set it into the inverted plastic lid. The grip good enough to hold the can against any impact short of one which upsets the ladder. You can even move the ladder along without worrying about dropping the paint can. - Alan

'FLOURING' CAKE PANS

Dear Heloise: At my job, it's best not to use the telephone except in emergencies, so I instructed my children to call their father, who is self-employed, if any "little" emergencies arose.

One day my daughter called her father to inform him she was baking a boxed cake but had no flour to dust the pans. To her, this was an "emergency." My husband turned to his secretary in despair of a solution. She asked my daughter if there was any pancake mix or biscuit mix in the house. Luckilv there was, so the cake was finished. Good thing she called them instead of me - I'd never have thought of that! - Mom

Next time, tell her she also can sprinkle the cake pan with sugar after greasing it or, if you know ahead of time that you're out of flour, dust the cake pan with a little of the cake mix, then put the extra back into the bowl with the rest of the mix. -Heloise

Senator says teachers can't afford insurance

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas public school teachers cannot afford health insurance premiums and need help from the state, the Senate Economics Development Committee was told Monday.

Four bills proposing state funding of group health insurance for teachers were sent to a subcommittee Monday in an effort to recommend one compromise bill for Senate debate. Similar bills are pending in the House.

"We all agree that teachers need an insurance program," said Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, author of one proposal. "We all agree that any plan should have freedom of choice, where a teacher could belong or not and that local schools could keep their present programs if they wish." He said the state already has a plan established six years ago for state employees and a second plan set up four years ago for state college teachers

Traeger's plan to set up the teachers' group insurance plan statewide with administration by the Teachers Retirement System drew support from the Texas State Teachers Association.

Dora Scott, Houston, president of TSTA, said a TSTA survey of 649 districts showed 59 providing partial payment of premiums and 34 full premium payments. The remaining 556 districts had no local health insurance plan and made no contributions to teachers' insurance.

"The broad-based participation in a statewide plan should help provide for a lower rate," she said.

Sue Guinn, Corsicana teacher, said Traeger's plan would help locally because Corsicana teachers could not afford commercial plans. She said 63 percent of Corsicana's teachers have moonlighting jobs "from nursing to grave-digging."

He maintains he doesn't understand the fuss being made over his continued appearances in the class-rooms of the Highland Park Independent School District.

"People think it's amazing I'm still teaching, but I don't," he said. "I love it. I feel good and have lots of energy. If I didn't have something interesting and exciting to do, I'd feel bad.

'That's the secret. Keep yourself busy."

He'll be 90 on March 22. His daughter plans to give him a party at Highland Park High School, but Story says the celebration is not to be a retirement party

"I plan to keep on going as long as the kids get something out of what I have to teach them," he said.

Eversince his formal retirement in 1962, Story has been doing mostly substitute teaching. But, he said, 'they keep me pretty busy.'

At a sixth-grade class Friday at McCullough Middle School, his students persuaded him to stop teaching math and talk to them about the days when he taught their parents, their grandparents and, in some cases, their great-grandparents.

Mike Morrow, executive director of the Texas Association of Professional Educators, and Garland Davis, representing the Texas Association of Community Schools, said they preferred a plan by Sen. "Friday 13th Bye Bye John Tyler said he was JT, signed ?." was scrib-bled inside a large drawn two male students when heart.

The fire in the band hall at Boulter Middle School burned itself out, causing only minor damage, but the message caused officials to suspect a connection with the break-in and fire that gutted John Tyler High School early Saturday, causing damages estimated at between $4 million and $6 million.

Three teen-agers were among the first suspects in the high school fire, officials said. They were among the first spectators at the blaze and one of them was overheard to say, "Ain't that pret-ty?"

"They came to watch us put it out. It's just sad. That's all I can say," Fire Chief Gerald Weaver said.

Two of the three suspects accused of setting the high school afire -Arthur Gene White, 17, and Martin Dale Wingard, 18 - had been suspended from John Tyler High School two months ago and had also earlier attended Boulter Middle School.

Wingard and White were charged with firstdegree arson and were arraigned Sunday before Justice of the Peace Ray Day, who set bond at $50,000 each.

A 15-year-old youth is in the custody of juvenile authorities. White and Wingard were suspended indefinitely by the Tyler school last Dec. 12 in which

Connally points finger at OPEC

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) - Former Texas Gov. John Connally says it's the influence of OPEC that's causing rising gas and oil prices in the United States. not the supposed greed of the oil companies.

Connally, speaking Monday at the winter convention and trade show of the New Mexico Petroleum Marketers Association, said industry must get its message across to the average person.

He said today's energy problem goes back to a 1954 U.S. Supreme Court decision allowing price controls on natural gas at the wellhead. He said that paved the way for what he termed government interference in the free market system

Through the Federal Power Commission, which wanted cheap prices for the consumer, natural gas prices were set at a third of the price of competing fuels, which increased the use of natural gas and basically destroyed the coal industry. Connally said. Then, he said, came two events that indicated the United States' energy vulnerability - the closing of the Suez Canal in 1956 and an embargo on shipping oil in 1973 Connally said nothing was done to compensate for dwindling oil and gas supplies. And, he said, since 1973. the strictest mining laws and environmental constraints in history have been passed, making it difficult to mine and burn coal.

He also said Saudi Arabia is becoming the spokesman in the Palestinian conflict in the Middle East, and down the road we may see more severe action on the crude oil supply until the Palestinian issue is settled.

Rebel girls force district playoff

district 5-5A girls basketball title Monday night with a 61-34 win over the Big Spring Steers.

The win gives the Rebs a perfect 7-0 second half mark and 20-10 overall record. Big Spring went 0-7 in the second half race an ended the season 4-25

Lee's season will last at least one more game. Thursday at 7 p.m. the Rebels square off against first half district winner San Angelo in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum in Big Spring. San Angelo, 25-3 overall all and 5-2 in second half district play, warmed up for the the playoff tilt by getting upset, 41-38, by Midland High

Monday night in the Tall City. The winner of the playoff will ad-vance to the state bi-district playoffs next week at sites still to be determined. The four bi-district winners in this region will hold a regional tournament in Midland at Chaparrel Center, Feb. 27-28. The winner will advance to a berth in the state tournament.

The District 5-5A champion will face Lewisville, who has already claimed its district title in a bi-district battle. Last year, Lewisville won District 6-5A and defeated Lee in a bi-district clash.

Lee Coach Shirley Stephenson said, "I was afraid the girls might be looking to Thursday and not have their mind on the game tonight. But we played pretty well."

BIG SPRING — In the final regular season game of the year, the Midland Lee Rebels clinched the second half year to rack up the win. The Rebels netted 27 of 59 from the floor while holding the befuddled Steers to 7 out of 43 from the field.

Big Spring managed to keep the score close until halftime by hitting well from the charity stripe. For the game, the Steers dropped in 20 of 28 freebies while Lee connected on only 7 of 25.

Maudie Akins and Suzanna McGaha tossed in 11 points each to pace the Rebel scoring. Elsa Wheat tallied 10 for the Steers in the losing effort.

Lee started slowly and managed only a 12-8 advantage after one period of play. At intermission, the Steers were still in the chase, 27-21, despite netting only three first half field goals.

In the second half, coach Stephenson's deep bench and the overall talent of the Rebels begin to take its toll on the outmanned Steers.

In the decisive third quarter, the Rebels outscored Big Spring 15-2 to turn the close game into a run away. After three quarters Lee was on top 42-23.

Using her reserves almost the entire fourth quarter, the Rebels still outscored the confused Steers 19 to 11 in claiming the victory.

Chaparrals plug Howard, 79-66

of its two losses this season by beating Howard College, 79-66, here Monday night, Midland College can clinch at worst a share of the title by beating Frank Phillips College at Borger Thursday night, "But in that bandbox up there, it won't be easy," worries

In notching its eighth straight and 25th in 27 starts this season, the Chaps did it with a hot shooting hand that got them out in front early and a defense that saw them over a ragged final 10 minutes of the first half.

"It was a pressure game for us," Stone said, "and we played a good game. When we started making mistakes, they made the same ones."

MIDLAND HIT eight straight shots from the field to open the game as Puntus Wilson, Virgil Slay and Scotty Tutwiler gunned in seven of those shots from outside to take an early 20-10 lead. The Chaps never trailed and the closest the 20-8 Hawks, now two games back of MC with an 11-4 Western Junior College Conference record, came was 22-19 with 3:33 left in the half after a six-minute stretch in which Midland committed nine turnovers after going 10 minutes without making any.

IT WAS a game of attrition, the kind the Hawks could ill afford to play against the talent-deep Chaps. Unhappily, Midland (13 of 26) was awful at the free throw line. Happily, Howard (6 of 20) was even worse.

Although MC led by eight to 11 points through the early part of the second half, the Hawks hovered close enough to make Stone uncomfortable, but then as the game wound down to the final eight minutes, MC suddenly broke it open as the MC zone forced the Hawks into several turnovers.

It was 52-41 when Derrick Wilson scored on a fast break after a steal, then Puntus tipped a pass away and Charles Johnson was loose for a fast break dunk. Another swipe and Wilson scored to make it 58-41. After a retaliatory HC basket, Virgil Slay and Lance McCain hit jumpers and it was 62-43 and Stone could have light up his victory cigar, if one had been handy.

PUNTUS WILSON and Johnson each hit 16 for MC, although for a while it seemed as though the 6-6 pivot would never get started. He had only four points at half and had missed five lighting a fire under the Chaps in the second half.

But defensively, is where the Chaps were most solid. Randy Corker, who had 27 and 22 points against MC in two previous games, had only two shots the first half. He had shots blocked four times, twice by Kevin Willingham, who went all the way in the absence of Ernie Tate, sidelined by an eye injury; once by Scotty Tutwiler and again by Puntus Wilson.

Ron Akins kept HC in the game with 13 first half points before Corker came back with 16 second half points. Akins had a game high 22, but it was expensive, only 10 of 27 from the floor and two of 10 from the line.

Willingham, in addition to his defense, contributed 10 points as did Tutwiler.

CHAPSTYQUES-The Chaps will depart for Borger Wednesday, working out and spending the night in Amarillo. As a result, the weekly Booster barbecue at Conner's has been cancelled...Derrick Wilson learned after the game that his father had died and he flew to Chicago Wednesday to be with his family...The Chaps opened the game with an 8-for-8 streak and went 0-for-9 and hit only 7 of its final 21 shots in the first half ... Overall the percentage wasn't too bad with a 33 for 57 night ....

Cub meeting switched

The Midland Cub Meet-the-Manager Night has been switched from Thursday to Wednesday, it was an-nounced by General Manager Bill Schammel, because of a change in Manager Roy Hartsfield's travel plans.

Hartsfield will be introduced to the Juan Munoz of the Odessa Boxing Club during the 41-bout finals. Coach Rick Fleetwood was disappointed in the losses suffered by Abila, Munoz and Bates. "Whenever we come over here, we have to either win by a knockout or TKO or not win at all," said Fleetwood afterwards.

decision to the more experienced

Bates, who lives in Odessa and fought out of Odessa for the past five years before chosing to train and represent the Midland Boxing Club, put on a courageous show in losing his title to Deanda. He suffered a broken nose Saturday night in his semifinal victory over Robert Pendleton of the Pecos Optimist Club and then rebroke it again in his loss to Deanda.

BLOOD WAS streaming from his nose the final two rounds, but he made a great comeback and refused to go down under a heavy barrage by Deanda.

"I don't understand why Bates had to fight three fights and Deanda only one after being the regional champion last year. He (Bates) was tired and sore from his two previous fights while Deanda was fresh, naturally," said a disappointed Fleetwood. "Anyway, it was Bates' last amateur fight, because he is turning pro next month and will have his first professional fight in a month and a half," commented Fleetwood. Fleetwood will train Bates and Alvin Dominey in the Tall City as professional fighters. Munoz, who just turned 16 recently, also put up a great fight against the more mature Juan Munoz of Odessa. "Felix had a 51-8 record as a Junior Olympic Division fighter and was 3-0 as an Open Division boxer going into his fight with Juan tonight," said Fleetwood. Munoz lost his narrow decision to the older Munoz, because the Odessan was more agressive and usually when the fight is close, it goes to the more agressive fighter.

000, came in the Regular High School Division where Odessa Permian's Tommy Notley knocked out Odessa High's Dustin O'Banion with 45 seconds left in the third round. Notley had scored a knockdown with his first punch of the fight in the opening round, but O'Banion came back to score well in the second round and it was close until Notley's KO punch late in the fight.

Midland's Jerry Collazo, fighting out of Midland High School, took a decison over Joe Krapf of OHS in a High School Football Division bout.

JOEL ABILA, Benny Long and Edward Bara of Midland, all scored victories in the finals of the Special Division while Kevin Taylor, 150pounder from Midland Lee, took a

Pirates sign Moreno

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The Pittsburgh Pirates say they've signed center fielder Omar Moreno for the 1981 National League baseball season.

The 6-foot-3 speedster, who was runnerup in stolen bases in the major leagues last season with 96, signed a one-year pact, although the club gave no details. His signing was announced Monday by a Pirates spokesman.

Moreno, 28, underwent hand surgery after the 1980 season ended.

The Panama native batted .249 last season, down from his .282 mark in 1979, the year Pittsburgh won the World Series. An injury to his hand during the 1980 season contributed to his batting slump.

He led the league, however, in trips to the plate last season, with 676 at-bats. Moreno hit two home runs and had 36 RBI as the Pirates' leadoff man.

'Dogs face 'Cats in 5-5A shootout

The Midland High Bulldogs can all but put their stamp on the District 5-5A basketball championship tonight when they hit the road to face the San Angelo Bobcats and the Midland Lee Rebels will try again to match their first half performance against the Big Spring Steers in an 8 p.m. matchup at Chaparral Center.

The Bulldogs, winner of the first half district race with a perfect 7-0 mark, could almost put the title in their hip pocket with a victory tonight over San Angelo. If the 27-3 'Dogs win tonight, they would have to lose two of their final three regular season games this year against Odessa High, Abilene Cooper and Lee to force a district playoff. All of those games will be in Chaparral Center. Tonight's contest is the last road district trip of the season for MHS.

However, San Angelo carried the Bulldogs to triple overtime before losing in the first half, and should the Bobcats win tonight, the race could end up in a dog fight. San Angelo still has talented Odessa Permian on the schedule.

San Angelo has been talking about the MHS outing ever since the first half began, but the Bobcats have struggled to its 3-0 second half mark, having close calls against Cooper and Lee.

Midland High, on the other hand, has played its best basketball of the year in the second half and is coming off an 85-62 rout of Abilene High, a game many thought might produce an upset since the San Angelo game was on the horizon. But the Bulldogs have met every district challenge this year. The Purple Pack did lose to San Angelo in San Angelo last year during a heated district race and that loss eventually kept MHS out of the playoffs, despite a gaudy 30-7 record.

The MHS-San Angelo game may be heard locally over KBAT-FM radio

The Lee Rebels, who have lost two in a row, hope to turn things around against an improved Big Spring team. Lee played one of its best games against the Steers in the first half. Lee won easily in the first half, shooting over 45 percent from the field.

Big Spring is also 1-2 in the second half, owning a big upset over Abilene High. The Steers seems to have improved a great deal since playing the Rebels in the first half. They had close games with San Angelo and Cooper.

San Angelo, playing with a little more patience in the third quarter, started getting the ball inside to its big guns. Jeannie Bryant, 5-foot-11 junior, used her height to work the middle for several easy jumpers and offensive rebounds as the Bobcats cut the margin to 31-29 heading into the final stanza.

In the final eight minutes it boiled down to a free throw shooting contest. With 3:03 left in the game and MHS on top 37-33, Larremore stepped to the line for a one-and-one. She missed and the Bobcats rebounded.

Moving swiftly, the Bobcats' Ruthie McDevitt got open at the free throw circle and tossed in a jumper to cut the lead to 37-35 with 2:56 left.

Larremore was fouled again and went to the line with 2:14 remaining. She hit one charity. Littlefield then stepped to the stripe and calmly hit the technical that had been called on Elsa Ornales for complaining about. her fifth foul. The two freebies gave the Bulldogs a 39-35 lead with 1:19 remaining to play.

The Bobcats hit a bucket with three seconds remaining to trim the final margin to 41-38.

Monday night's victory was a total team effort for coach Jane Young's Bulldogs. For the Bulldogs, who have had to overcome illness and injuries all season long, the win over the Bobcats has to been one of the most satisfying of the year.

Coach Young said, "It's always nice to win the last one, it makes the summer go by faster.'

Coach Young added, "It was a team effort. Diane Hogan, Lucy Miller and Shelia Christian did an excellent job on the boards. Littlefield and Larremore played exceptionally well also.

IN THE junior varisty contest, Becky Caton poured in 18 points and Carolyn Krawietz added 11 as the young Bulldogs routed San Angelo 47-34. The win gave coach Brenda Mitchell's JV crew a perfect 6-0 mark in second half district action. Overall, the Bulldog JV finished the season with a 17-6 ledger.

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Eddie Robinson, executive vice president of baseball operations for the Texas Rangers, says he was jolted by arbitrators' decisions on two players who challenged the team's salary offer.

"It's frightening when you have to pay salaries that are not warranted. All this is going to have to come to a screeching halt in baseball somewhere, sometime. There has to be an awakening," Robinson said. Arbitrator Richard Mittenthal of Detroit sided with left-handed pitchers Dave Rajsich and Rick Honeycutt, giving Rajsich $65,000 instead of the $35,000 offered by Texas and Honeycutt $165,000 instead of $110,000.

Robinson was particularly incensed at Rajsich's success, since his chances of making the club are considered only fair. The decision means Rajsich will make his salary even if he is sent to the minor leagues.

"I'm very surprised he received that figure, based on his performance last year. Rajsich's best chance of making the staff this spring is that he's left-handed and if he shows up well this spring he could become our long man in the bullpen," Robinson said Honeycutt said in Seattle he's glad to get the salary dispute behind him, hopes there are no ill feelings, and said he's "ready to start winning games.

this area; this is where I want to raise

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - There comes a time in a man's life when he must weigh the value of monetary compensation for his services against intangibles such as quality of life, friendly neighbors and safe, quiet streets

Roy Smalley got all of that and more on Monday, signing a four-year contract with the Minnesota Twins for an estimated $2.4 million, tying him to the club through the 1984 season.

"There's no doubt about it, there's a lot of money out there," said the 28-year-old shorstop, who was due to go to arbitration in New York the same day he signed his new contract. "But at a certain point it becomes a question of whether you want to be rich or very rich.

ence with his wife, Chris, a native of the Twin Cities, and six-month old son, Jeffrey. He admitted that he waived his desire for a no-trade provision in his contract because the entire package, which makes him the highest-paid player in Twins history, was satisfactory.

"I wanted something I could live with," said Smalley, the American League's starting shortstop in the 1979 All-Star game. "The Twins are affording me a hell of a living. I'll be able to raise Jeffrey in a manner to which he's already become accustomed.
